

ALL STATE ROADS BILL INTRODUCED.

Senator Harrison's Bill For State Supervision.

Control over all public roads and bridges in the State is vested in the State Roads Commission in a bill introduced on Thursday by Senator Harrison, chairman of the Committee on Roads and Highways. The county roads are now built and maintained by the respective counties. If taken over by the State the Commission may make such changes as it deems best, it being vested with full authority to widen, alter or even close existing roads. This control does not extend, however, to incorporated cities and towns unless the Roads Commission is requested to assume jurisdiction by the proper authorities.

It is believed that the bill will not be popular with the party leaders in the counties, as it would serve to reduce the political influence of county organizations. On economic and practical efficiency grounds, however, the proposition has much to recommend it.

Under the proposed law it shall be the duty of the County Commissioners to submit to the State Roads Commission on or before October 1, in each year their recommendations as to proposed changes, improvements or alterations in roads and also as to character of materials to be used. The State Commission shall adopt the plans, with such revision as it may deem necessary for the public welfare, but it shall not adopt any plans calling for a greater outlay of money than the sum provided by the County Commissioners.

All expenses, except engineering, shall be borne by the respective counties in which the work is done. The State Commission is vested with all the powers in the construction of roads and bridges conferred by existing laws upon the county commissioners or other local officials.

Bounty Paid on Chicken Hawks.

The acts of 1920, Chapter 720, Section 70, provides: "That the State Game Warden shall pay the sum of 50 cents for each bird, or chicken hawk, actually killed in this State, to persons producing satisfactory proof of having killed said hawk or hawks within this State." This bounty is paid out of the fund derived through the sale of hunter's licenses, known as the State Game Protection Fund.

This bounty applies to all sections in the State of Maryland. In order for the claimants to obtain same, it will be necessary for them to make affidavit before a Justice of the Peace or Notary Public, certifying as to when and where said hawk or hawks were killed, and then forward the affidavit to this office for reimbursement. Then again they can make affidavit before any of our District Game Wardens, since each county has a salaried officer. In all cases the body and head must be produced to the Justice, Notary Public, or District Warden in fact. The Wardens are empowered to pay the bounty on presentation with satisfactory proof.

If the farmers, their children and sportsmen of this State, would erect a steel trap on poles, on their property, a large number of hawks could be caught and destroyed. During the month of December we paid out $167. in bounties.

Everybody knows the hawk is most destructive to our game especially bob-white quail or partridges, pheasants and other insectivorous and song birds.

In order to avoid unnecessary correspondence and book-keeping at this office, we urgently request those persons claiming bounty on one or two hawks, to hold the affidavits until they have killed numerous hawks, and then forward the certificates directly to State Game Department 512 Munsey Building, Baltimore.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Record is likely to be well crowded with advertising until the close of the Public Sale season; and as we do not want to issue supplements, unless compelled to do so, we request all who will need additional space, to arrange for same not later than Tuesday of each week; otherwise, they may be disappointed later in the week, as was the case with some, last week. It is decidedly more profitable to leave out a lot of advertising, than to run a supplement, especially when busy with job printing.

An Easy Practical Problem.

The paper on which The Record is printed weighs 65 lbs. to the ream, and costs 7c per pound. Our last shipment contained 43 9/20 reams, the freight and drayage on which amounted to $8.83. What is the cost of 52 sheets, allowing two sheets per 100 for waste. The names of all pupils up to 8th grade, sending correct answers, will be published. No copying, please, and no telling.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, who holds the distinction of the longest service in Congress—46 years—has announced his retirement at the end of his present term on March 4. He is approaching his 86th birthday. There will be a lively contest for the nomination in his district in Illinois.

ANOTHER ROAD HEARING.

Merits of the Harney Road Placed before County Commissioners.

A delegation of about twenty-five Taneytown district taxpayers, interested in the improvement of the Harney road, had a hearing before the County Commissioners, on Monday afternoon. No effort was made to secure a big delegation, such as might be secured; but inasmuch as a previous resolution of the board, passed last year, which proposed laying two miles of road from Taneytown toward Harney, was reported to have been rescinded last week, the Harney road folks felt that it was a matter worth looking into.

It developed at this meeting that the Board had not rescinded the previous action, and that the report was the invention, or guess, of a correspondent. As the matter stands, the Harney two miles still appears to be next for improvement by the State Road Commission, after the New Windsor-Union Bridge road; perhaps depending to some extent on the recommendation to that effect by the County Commissioners.

There were a number of spokesmen strongly in favor of the Harney road, urging it as perhaps meeting the convenience of more Carroll county people than the road to Littlestown; yet there was no inclination to argue the merits of the one road against the other.

Verdict Against Railroad.

Gettysburg, Feb. 13.—Robert E. Sheads, of this place, a student at college, will receive $10,000 awarded him for damages resulting from the loss of his right arm when the car in which he was riding on the evening of December 20, 1918, was struck by a train of the Pennsylvania Railroad at a crossing in Hanover.

The case of Robert E. Sheads was filed in the Adams county court April 28, 1920. It was continued through every term of Quarter Sessions until last month. The trial attracted considerable attention here and in Hanover and a number of witnesses were called by the plaintiff and the defendant. Mr. Sheads sought damages in the amount of $50,000. The jury returned a verdict of $10,000 for the plaintiff after deliberating one hour.

Whether the bell on the locomotive was ringing as the train approached the crossing in Hanover where the accident occurred was the point of contention in the testimony. Witnesses, who were with Mr. Sheads in the car and others near the scene of the crash testified the bell was not ringing, while members of the train crew declared the bell was sounded.

Kent County Farm Wages.

At a meeting of Kent county farmers, held last Friday, the following scale of wages was adopted:

$25 a month, without board for laborer and horse.
$20 a month and board for single man and horse.
75 cents a day and board for day work.
$1.50 a day for special work.

15 cents an hour for short-period work.
10 cents an hour for boys' short-period work.

According to this schedule board represents $10 a month, horse feed represents $5 a month, or 25 cents a day; wood represents $2 a month or six cents. Foremen will get from $5 to $10 a month more at the discretion of the employer. This scale is about a 20 per cent. reduction from last year.

Proceedings of the Orphans' Court.

Monday, Feb. 13, 1922.—The last will and testament of Samuel Miller, deceased, was probated and letters testamentary thereon granted unto Violet Miller, who received warrant to appraise and order to notify creditors.

Mervin J. Harner, executor of Jas. J. Harner, deceased, returned inventory of personal property.

The last will and testament of Edward B. Gettier, deceased, was probated and letters testamentary thereon were granted unto Amanda Elizabeth Gettier, who received order to notify creditors.

Letters of administration on the estate of Charles E. Webster, deceased, were granted unto Samuel D. Webster and Ivan L. Hoff, who returned inventory of debts due and received order to notify creditors.

Walter E. Buchman, executor of Harry C. Wisner, deceased, reported sale of personal property.

Tuesday, Feb. 14, 1922.—George W. Baker, administrator of William L. Harman, deceased, settled his first and final account.

The last will and testament of Jacob Stambaugh, deceased, was probated and letters testamentary thereon were granted unto Abalonia Stambaugh, who received order of Court to notify creditors.

John S. Bushey and J. Harry Koller, executors of James J. Koller, deceased, reported sale of personal property and received order to sell personal property and bonds.

Robert Stewart, Scotch checkers champion, has won the international championship by defeating the American champion, Newell W. Banks, of Detroit, Mich. Over a series of 40 games Stewart won 2 and Banks 1, with 37 games played to a draw.

MORE OPPOSITION TO SOLDIERS' BONUS.

Congress Trying to Agree on Right Course to Pursue.

The opinion is growing stronger, both in Congress and out, that the Soldiers' bonus proposition should be limited to disabled soldiers, and that none should be paid to those who are physically fit. It is claimed that if there is a general bonus, there must be a stinting in appropriations for the disabled soldiers; and it is also being pointed out that this government never has pensioned healthy men, following any war.

There has already been appropriated for disabled soldiers $1,175,000,000 and it is estimated that eventually it will cost the government from seventy-five to one hundred billion dollars for the care of the veterans who came back incapacitated.

The effort to get $500,000 out of the treasury for every man who entered the war, and in addition hospitalize or otherwise care for the present incapacitated, would not be the end of a bonus system, but it would be continuously added to for the next fifty years—another pension system built up—and all of this in addition to the insurance system already being carried on by the government.

The outlook still seems to be that a Bonus bill will be passed, but perhaps no legislation to put it into force through securing the necessary billions of revenue. Some say pay it out of foreign debt payments, others say tax gasoline or something else, others propose a tax on sales, others advocate increased postage rates; then there are just as many to oppose all of these propositions, and will urge postponing the whole matter for a few years.

Senator Borah, on Monday, made a detailed and very forceful speech against the whole proposition, making it clear that it would mean a tremendous burden of new taxation on the people and business of the country, no matter how the revenue is raised, and that it would be suicide to add to tax burdens at this time.

President Harding frankly states that he sees no good in the passage of the Bonus law at this session and puts responsibility for doing so up to Congress. He is in favor of the bonus in principle, but is opposed to drastic methods for raising the necessary funds at this time, nor until National finances are in better shape. He refuses absolutely to "play politics" for the soldier vote, against the greater interests of the whole Nation.

The latest expression on the subject from the President, is, that the best way of providing revenue for the measure is by a general sales tax; and that if the country is not willing that this method should be used, then the proposed legislation should go over until there is a more favorable situation that will justify the outlay.

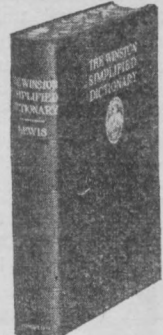

Greatest Farming States.

In the list of states arranged according to the value of farm products in 1920, Iowa ranked first, with one-fifth of the total value. Texas, with a much greater area, ranked second, but the products of either state total over a billion dollars. Next in order, with products valued at less than a billion dollars, were Missouri, Kansas, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Indiana, Nebraska, and California. The average productive value of Iowa's farms in 1920 was fifty-eight hundred and nine dollars per farm.

J. Stewart Annan, of Emmitsburg, has been appointed to a position in the Internal Revenue service, with headquarters in Washington. He was formerly a County Commissioner and for several years was a Commissioner and later Burgess of Emmitsburg. Two years ago his name was mentioned for State Senator. He has been a party leader for many years.

Our Dictionary Offer.

The 1921 "Winston Simplified" Dictionary, that we offer to new or old subscribers at $1.40 at our office, or at $1.50 sent by mail, is the newest and best work of the kind published; in fact it contains many new words not in any Dictionary no matter how large, and hundreds not found in other small dictionaries; for instance—"Soviet," "Camouflage," "Bolshevik," "Camion," "Barrage," "Carburetor," "Czech," "Poilu," "Vitamine," "Fuselage," "Montessori-method," etc.

We are not selling the book, nor handling it for profit; but we know the wide need of a good dictionary in hundreds of families, and bring this one to members of The Record family, exclusively, and to those who will unite with our family of readers.

It is not given with short-term subscriptions—only to those paying by the year, or who subscribe for a full year. The truth is we would like to give it only to NEW subscribers, but we think too much of our "steady regulars" to shut them out on the offer.

A valuable feature of the book is its appendix of "Mythological and Classical names," "Names and Places," "Foreign words and Phrases," "Glossary of Business Terms," etc.

It is a book of 824 pages, extra fine thin paper, contains over 40,000 words, over 800 illustrations, bound in flexible kraft, round corners and blue edges. The cost, in addition to a year's subscription, or to already paid in advance subscribers over 6 months, is—

At Our Office $1.40; Sent By Mail $1.50

The acceptance of this offer is for your profit, not ours, except in so far as it may add materially to our list of subscribers.

$500,000 BOND ISSUE

Proposed For Carroll County Roads and Public Schools.

A bond issue of $500,000 is proposed for Carroll county, the proceeds of the loan to be devoted to new school buildings and permanent roads. The $250,000 for roads will be used chiefly for the county's share under the provisions of the Road law relating to lateral roads and to match appropriations by the State and Federal governments.

A bill to authorize the loan is being prepared and soon will be sent to the local representatives in the Legislature. It is expected that the bill will provide for a referendum.

Two years ago a similar bill was passed by the Legislature, providing for bonds to the amount of $600,000. The measure was submitted to the voters at the election held in the fall of 1920 and was defeated by a few hundred votes. Owing to local conditions, which do not exist at present, the proposed loan was strongly opposed by one of the county newspapers, and the friends of the measure minimized the strength of this opposition and did not, they say, put forth their best efforts. This time, it is believed, there will not be so great opposition to the proposed loan.

Starts Meal with 12-lb. Turkey.

When it comes to eating, William Lee, of Philadelphia, wins the tangle-colored chapeau.

Lee, who lives at 1807 Christian street, has always boasted that he could eat as much as six men at one sitting. Recently, he mentioned his capacity to Michael Yaffee, a druggist at 1818 South Street, and William Smith, of 2211 Lombard St. They would not take his word, but demanded a demonstration with $25 as the stakes in case Lee won. If he lost he was to pay for the meal.

The three men went to a restaurant at Seventeenth and Lombard streets and there Lee, who is six feet four inches tall and who weighs 238 pounds, tucked a napkin under his chin and beckoned to the waiter. This is what he ordered and ate and drank:

A twelve-pound turkey with stuffing, time, forty-five minutes; bones picked clean.

"I haven't started yet," said Lee, and then ate:

Fifty-three prime oysters.
Two pounds of pork chops.
Twelve eggs.
Two slices of ham.
Beef stew, large order.
Twelve cups of coffee.
Three loaves of bread.
Six bottles of soda water.

As the last bottle of soda water disappeared, the $25 was handed Lee. Now the story should end with the man pushing back his chair, arising and saying, "Well, I guess I'll go home to supper," but this is different.

Lee attempted to rise, but was unable to do so. A look of pain spread over his face and he muttered, "Get a doctor! Get a doctor!"

Yaffee telephoned for a physician, who had Lee taken to his home. The eater had a touch of indigestion, but it soon passed, and last night he said he would be ready for another such feed if some one would put up $25 and pay for the food and a doctor.—Phila. Ledger.

She Never Measured It.

In an assault case, last week, at Lime Kiln, Frederick county, in which some cutting was done, some of the witnesses in the case offered amusing testimony.

One woman testified that she was between 300 and 400 yards away when the attack occurred. When she was asked just how far that distance would be, she confessed that she didn't know. To reveal her knowledge of arithmetic, she was questioned further. She was asked how many feet were in a yard. To this she replied that there were twelve. "How many feet in an inch," was the next question hurled at her. She replied, "Deed, boss, I don't know. I never measured it."

PROGRESS MADE IN LEGISLATIVE MATTERS

Two Administration Measures May Fail of Adoption.

There are strong indications, this week, that both the fewer elections bill, and the government reorganization bill, will be defeated; the former is feared, from political points of view, and the latter would throw a number of important offices into the scrap heap.

The hearing against the race track bill has not yet been held, largely because the friends of the race-tracks do not appear in very great numbers; but, the hearing may be held later.

Direct inheritance, heretofore exempt from State taxation, would be subjected to a tax of 2 per cent under a bill introduced by Delegate Taylor, Wicomico. Its sponsor estimates that it would add something like $500,000 to the State's revenue, and declares it in accordance with the present tendency to tax fortunes heavily when they leave the hands of their original possessors.

John N. Mackall, chairman of the State Roads Commission, appeared before the Ways and Means Committee of the House, Tuesday afternoon to explain his gasoline tax measures. There was considerable discussion of the most effective methods of collecting the proposed tax, and how taxable "gas" should be differentiated from non-taxable, but no sentiment was shown adverse to the principle of the tax.

Senator Brady has a bill providing for the erection of a $1,000,000 state office building, in Annapolis, urging that the rentals paid for offices in Baltimore would more than take care of interest and sinking fund on a loan for the purpose of erecting the building.

The only amendments to the "game" laws, so far, are to retain January 1 as the date for closing the hunting season for upland game, and to fix uniform bag limits, open the squirrel season September 1 and provide that a game warden may issue warrants in connection with the game laws at the instance of a deputy game warden or any other person.

Senator Snader introduced a bill authorizing the establishment of an electric light plant for New Windsor.

The House, on Wednesday, voted to make jury service optional, with women, and not compulsory. The debate over the bill was quite heated; the bill as ordinarily presented made jury service compulsory on all.

A bill has been introduced, prohibiting more than three persons riding on the front seat of a passenger automobile.

The Senate, on Tuesday, passed a resolution recommending to Congress "the stabilization of sundry basic farm products"—whatever that may mean. As Senator Mish stated it would "cost nothing to do it," and would be "passing the buck" up to Congress to do something for the farmers. There were only four votes against the resolution, but it was generally regarded as a sort of compliment to farmers and meant very little more. Senator Snader argued that the resolution would at least call attention to the urgent needs of farmers, and that many of them are approaching bankruptcy.

The prohibition enforcement bill, after a hot fight, on Thursday, was postponed until next Thursday, when it will come up as the special order for the day. The outlook is that some minor amendments will be necessary before it can pass.

Several election bills were introduced in the Senate, on Thursday, aimed to conduct elections at less cost in the way of expenses.

HARDING'S STAND PRAISED

President's Attitude on Bonus Is Lauded by Budget Men.

New York, Feb. 15.—President Harding was lauded by officials of the National Budget Committee here today for having put "squarely up to Congress the question of raising money to pay the soldier bonus."

It was the first time a President of the United States had insisted that Congress assume some responsibility, said John T. Praft, chairman of the Budget Committee, at a luncheon meeting. He urged that making Congress raise the money it voted to spend would make that body "more circumspect."

Henceforth, said members of the committee, the question asked of Congressmen would be not "how much money did you get for your constituents?" but "how much money did you save the nation?"

The committee, formed to aid in putting the Government on a basis of efficiency and economy, will hold its first convention here April 18 and 19, it was announced. Every State will be represented, it was said. Fifty-one trades of this city already have joined the movement.

Charles G. Dawes, Budget Director at Washington, will be a speaker.—Sun.

Wheat Price Advances.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—Excited trading and a big jump in prices kept the wheat pit of the Chicago Board of Trade in a whirl today. The scene at the opening especially was one of the wildest witnessed for some time although this disturbance was later somewhat subdued, the market was again seething at the close.

The major part of a rise of 6 1/2c a bushel in the price of wheat, which took place at the outset, was retained, with the market quivering at $1.58 1/2 a $1.38 1/2 a bushel for the May option, and $1.21 1/2 a $1.21 1/2 for July, the two months in which speculative dealings are at present centered.

With knowledge that wheat in Liverpool was being quoted today at equal to more than $1.50 a bushel, American money, whereas wheat in Chicago was recently selling at less than 1, the majority of traders here took at once to the buying side of the market. In a twinkling the price jumped to the highest point yet achieved by the July delivery and to new high figures for May since the recent upward movement of values began. News of disappointment threshing returns in Argentina added to prevailing anxiety about the apparent scarcity of world supplies, and so too did continued adverse crop advices from the southwestern portion of the domestic winter wheat belt.

More Idle in England than in U. S.

A great deal of capital is being made, in some sources, of the fact that there are thousands of people out of employment in this country, and when opportunities offer, there is a strong intimation that Mr. Harding's administration is responsible for the situation.

In Great Britain, the situation is worse than in the United States and the government, making tremendous efforts to deal with it in a way to bring relief. Right now, just under 2,000,000 are wholly idle while 300,000 or 400,000 others are partially idle.

To save these and their dependents from starvation the Government is paying out in so-called doles nearly $100,000,000 a year. This amount exceeds enormously any revenue ever before devoted to a similar purpose. It is believed to be immensely more than any other country ever distributed for unemployment.

Both the State and the municipalities are struggling to provide productive work but can barely touch the fringe of the problem. The Labor party asks that national factories should be set up. The Government replies that such factories would make work for one section of the people and throw another section out of work. It also argues that such factories would be far more expensive than factories managed by private enterprise.

U. S. Relief to Withdraw.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The American Relief Administration expects to withdraw from its undertakings in the famine-stricken Russia by next September 1, Edgar Rickard of that organization said today after he had conferred with Secretary Hoover.

By that date, Mr. Rickard said, the Russians should be able to feed themselves with the proceeds of their harvests. The American Relief Administration is sending to Russia 122,000 tons of seed wheat for planting this spring, he said, which is expected to insure ample crops.

A number of new sales have been added to our sale register, this week, and a number of sales are now advertised in full. Read the Record from now on, for sale news.

The W. M. R. R. had to place an embargo, a week ago, on grain, as its elevators are filled to capacity, with 2,600,000 bushels on hand, and 3000 cars on the way. Insufficient vessels for export, is given as the cause.

The Maryland Lutheran Synod will meet this year, in Manchester, this county, on May 29 to June 1. This will be the first meeting of the body held in Manchester since 1840.

Even National and State treasuries can not hand out gifts, without limit, without showing where the money comes from; and this is pretty apt to create more general interest in the ways and means of taxation. Bonuses, schools and roads are mighty fine things, but they must be paid well for, and there is no use in kicking about the taxes for them.

That Muscle Shoals Henry Ford project is likely to get a good looking over in Congress, as it should, as it would never do to let Henry "put one over" on Uncle Sam. But, just the same, if anybody is to have it, the originator of the idea should have first chance, all other things being equal. Our guess is that Henry will not win out on his offer as submitted.

The discontinuance of war-ship building, repairs and equipment, will mean very materially cutting down the number of men employed at the Navy Yards of this country, as well as in the various administrative offices. The probability is that it will represent the greatest cut in Government employees, ever experienced in this country, and will likely affect most the employees taken on during the past ten years.

The many thousands of railroad men and miners out of employment, means something, and just what it is will likely come clearly to the minds of the men, before long. The time for striking and demanding has largely gone by, and the time is at hand when there must be a genuine getting together of employer and employee—face to face—all cards up—in order that men who want employment may have it, and that business concerns may make money enough with which to pay dividends and make improvements.

Mr. Hoover reports that so far the American Food Relief Association has sent 160,000 tons of supplies to famine stricken Russia, and plans to dispatch 150,000 tons more this month, with cash enough on hand to send 600,000 tons in all; the total receipts being $52,599,000 of which this government gave $24,000,000. This is said to be sufficient to support from six to eight million people until the next harvest comes. We wonder whether the Russian government will stop its army preparations long enough to have a harvest, and whether it will realize that help from this country may have an end?

Feeding the Faithful.

Not the least of the after results of the present session of the legislature, will be feeding the faithful county weekly papers for their support of the party in power, under the guise of publishing a lot of "public general laws" that nobody reads, and for which publishing service no corporation in existence would offer to pay—or be required to pay—one-fourth of the sum that will be paid.

Likely somewhere from $300.00 to $400.00 will be allotted to each county on this little scheme, for not over $40.00 or $50.00 actual service—even if the service was needed—and it would be well paid for, at that. Then, there will be the "Amendments" for extras. It would be a very unsatisfactory legislature, indeed that did not invent a few amendments to furnish "good pickings" for the faithful county organs. To be sure, these amendments ought to be published in all of the papers, for the reason that they will come up for action by all of the voters—but, they will not be, even though this could be done at the same, or less, cost than the few will get.

Publishing these amendments in their exact language and lengthy technicalities, is not only unnecessary, but largely unintelligible, as well. They should be "expurgated"—if that is a proper word—placed before the people in short form and simple language, so that busy men and women, as well as those not familiar with the meaning of what goes as legal phraseology, would easily understand; and if this were done, the amendments would be so shortened, and the cost of publication so reduced, that every weekly in the state could publish them, and the state actually save money on the job. But, the "faithful" are always hungry, as well as watching the job, and the same old ruse on the tax-payers cash will be made.

Ratify the Treaties.

There is apparently no doubt that the American people as a whole want the various peace agreements ratified, and are not afraid of "foreign entanglements," Senator Borah and a few other wise ones to the contrary, notwithstanding. The stunt of capitalizing "irreconcilable" objections to having part in world affairs, has been worked to the limit, and now has but few shouters. The United States is a world power, and must assume its full share of responsibility, not by standing aloof, but by actual participation and responsibility.

President Harding, in his statement, that unless the Senate ratified the conclusions reached there would be no use ever again to have international conferences, stated the truth in a simple undodgeable way; and in general his address to the Senate was conciliatory, and full of direct appeals for ratification as being representative of the best that can be accomplished at present, along the line of guarantees of peace.

Less Elections, and Difficulties.

It seems to us that there need not be so much concern manifested for fewer elections, as for less general expense charged up to our elections as a whole; and this end might be brought about by cutting out the primary law, and through the use of a shortened and simplified ballot, and fewer election officials. There is no popular sentiment back of the primary system, and mighty little for the unwieldy ballots, so why continue either?

The difficulty is likely more political than real. Back of the problems in the way of simplification and short cuts, stands partisan considerations, and perhaps some fear of the "nigger" vote. Therefore, as long as political leaders have the planning for less elections and less election expense, there will be the "difficulties" we now hear about, and the strong probability that nothing will be done at this session, simply because those who plan the doing will never be quite sure that, in some way, they will not lose something, in whatever changes they might agree upon.

If holding elections was a purely business question, a better plan could be decided on in forty-eight hours by a committee of competent business men, who would find ways of overriding difficulties that would not appear as such to them, and easily arrive at the most economical methods.

Accidents Do Not Happen.

Accidents never happen—they are caused. In most cases they are caused by some one's carelessness; in some cases by some one's greed, in other cases by some one's indifference and in a few cases by some one's stupidity. But they are caused—and the cause is nearly always within the control of one or a few human beings.

There has never been a great railroad wreck; a bursting dam that caused flood; a serious fire, a collapsing building; a falling bridge that could not be traced to the person responsible, but that person is not punished, except in very rare cases. The disaster is set down as an "accident," and that is the end of it.

The recent disaster in Washington when the roof of the Knickerbocker Theatre collapsed and snuffed out the lives of nearly 100 persons will be the subject of investigations, solemn meetings of committees, long examination of witnesses, and then long reports that will mean nothing, amount to less, and not aid the victims of the disaster that was caused by neglect on the part of some one. Investigation after the event will not bring back the life of one of the victims, will not restore one that has been maimed nor lessen the grief of those who are called to mourn their loved ones.

More than half the disasters of the country are caused by non-enforcement of laws—and then we pass more laws and yet more laws dealing with the same things. Great fires are the result of lax inspection failure to live up to the law. Collapsing buildings are caused by violation of the building laws; railroad wrecks are caused by evasion of laws on the part of employees—always it comes to the same thing—the law is violated and that violation brings disaster.

If every law on our statute books were enforced to the letter, without fear or favor there would be few disasters. Furthermore it would bring to light the bad laws and they could be repealed. Human lives are paying for our disrespect of law. We are becoming a nation of law breakers and losing all respect for law. It is often said that no man keeps all laws, which is doubtless true. Either enforce them or repeal them. That will tend to prevent many such "accidents."—Ellicott City Times.

A Judicious Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade, says he has often heard druggists ask a customer, who wished to buy a cough medicine, whether it was for a child or an adult and if for a child, they almost invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it and for colds, croup and whooping cough it is unsurpassed.

Starting Something.

Life's capital prizes never go to the timorous. Large enterprises never are put in charge of those who fear to initiate. In every calling there are those so reluctant to assume the burden of executive responsibility that they never will enjoy the glow of satisfaction that comes from carrying through a successful effort to its victorious conclusion.

Men held in honor, and likewise regarded by those tangible tokens that matter less than a good name, are men who were willing to leave the safe, easy, settled things and places and be original. They weighed anchor and spread sail forever to the breath of fresh adventure. They sought not to let go but to take on. They were not looking for those to whom they might unshoulder the burden of command. They rose each day with a gladness to be needed, in counsel and in control, as prime factors in some ongoing work of real and lasting value.

Unskilled laborers may go dully to a task, coming on and knocking off in the mechanical routine of hours bought and paid for. These may leave all thinking to those higher up and reserve for themselves the right to protest against the terms of their employment. The employed who has the slimmest chance of joining the ranks of the employers is the one who is satisfied to mark time in a fixed place on the payroll without doing anything to enlarge his value to the concern that employs him. You need not look to him for a new idea. He does not even wish to be foreman; he would rather blame than take the blame.

A successful young salesman, aggressively on the alert to every chance of putting his wares on an enlarging market, said to an older relative of his who was an office clerk with the same company; "Why don't you go into the factory, in some of the time when you're sitting idle, and learn about what we're making and how we make it?"

The older man did not kindle to the idea. Instead, he looked at his junior and said coldly: "That is not my department; it's none of my business." The clerk is earning less than $2000 a year; the salesman is getting $12,000 a year. But the second man makes it—which is a very different matter from merely receiving it.

Too many of us fail to draw the distinction, and we talk of making money and taking money as though these were one and the same thing.

The money-maker hustles early and late. He rubs up against those who can give him ideas. He figures out the reasons why other men's plans succeeded or failed. When he fires, he fires the no-good or the too-good; when he hires, he hires those who stick at the job and put it over. He doesn't pay men necessarily to think as he does and to agree with him. He is willing to be something of a shock-absorber, if you can show him that the new scheme works.

Business calls for grit and determination and gumption, not for the dreamy lassitude that folds its hands in pious resignation to fate and expects the pigs to appear roasted and the manna to fall from the skies. We get what we go for. We arrive after and not before the start.—Phila. Ledger.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Aids Nature.

Medicines that aid nature are always most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It allays the cough, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Thousands have testified to its good qualities. Try it when you have a cough or cold.

STORIES OF VENIZELLOS' BIRTH

Two Legends Told, One of Them Narrated by the Great Greek Statesman Himself.

There are many legends surrounding the birth of Venizelos. According to one, his mother went to the Monastery of the Virgin near Canea to pray for a son, promising the child should be born in a cattle shed after New Testament tradition. Another tells the same story with this addition: When the abbot christened Venizelos he uttered, following the mother's wish, these prophetic words: "I baptize thee Eleutherios, for thou shalt deliver our long-suffering island from the tyranny of the Turks."

In the "Life of Venizelos," by S. B. Chester, still another story is told, based on incidents narrated by the Greek statesman himself at a dinner party in London. His parents, having already lost three children, decided to follow the local custom and adopt him as a foundling. There was a superstition that the child would survive only if treated in this fashion. Eleutherios was duly taken away from his mother and deposited on a heap of dry leaves outside the house. Passing by soon afterward, some friends, who, of course, played their role in the secret, "discovered" the child, brought him to his parents and urged that they adopt him as a foundling. They did, and Eleutherios survived and prospered.

LAW HAD BIBLICAL SANCTION

West Virginia Mayor Couldn't See Where Autoist Had Any Reason for Complaint.

Law founded on the Bible is good enough for Mayor Gilmore of Morgantown, W. Va. A local man charged with not having the tail light burning on his automobile was arraigned before the mayor, who assessed a fine of $3.

The accused protested, said that it was a poor law under which he was fined and that he did not think it would hold water in court.

The mayor declared any law founded on the Bible was good enough for him. The defendant said he couldn't see where a tail light had anything to do with the Bible. The mayor looked pityingly at the accused and said:

"Do you remember the tale about the ten virgins, five of whom had lights and five of whom didn't? Well, if you do, you will remember that the Lord wouldn't have anything to do with the five without lights, and neither will this court."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Miniature Libraries.

A curious idea in book making is offered by a firm of French publishers. Their plan consists of substituting for the large pages of the average books microphotographic reproductions of them to be read through a magnifying glass.

It is proposed that the size of the plates representing pages should be internationally standardized, so that any one possessing the magnifying apparatus would be able to read any book produced in this way. No technical difficulties are said to be in the way.

It is claimed that the cost of production would be enormously reduced. Also it would greatly reduce the work of libraries now cumbered by books of every shape and size. The plates would be, moreover, of a fire-proof and durable material, while the system admits of an edition being enlarged to any dimension desired in accordance with demand.

Making Library Helpful.

Presuming that a public library is so well conducted that its custodians are able to direct applicants promptly to the volume asked for, the next step for an ideal institution would be to advertise the treasures which it holds in trust for all citizens. It would appear that the Newark (N. J.) library has reached the second stage, for it has been distributing circulars telling how the ambitious worker may educate himself by reading, and how the library can help him to find just the right things to read. Taking a cue from the methods of writers of eye-catching advertisements, the library entitled the circular in large type: "Get Wise Quick."—Christian Science Monitor.

Proud South American Cities.

If Caracas claims the title of "The Paris of the New World"—and so they called the Venezuelan capital in the century past—we ought to remember that Bogota, Colombia's capital, was early in the sixteenth century famed as "The Athens of South America." This city, founded in 1538, was a center of culture, before Harvard university had been thought of. Cartagena Colombia, is fondly known as "The Heroic City," or "The Cradle of South American Liberty."—New York Evening Post.

Engine Wrongly Blamed.

A very nervous man bought a motor car and a friend asked him to give him a lift. They found themselves in a crowded street. The friend said: "Jim, your engine is knocking badly." "Don't be a fool," was the reply. "That's my knee."

Looking Just Ahead.

Hydro-electric developments, totaling 13,500,000 horse power, and a doubling of the present ratings of central station plants, are regarded as probable within the next four years by some American authorities.

Nothing Mysterious

There is nothing mysterious about modern banking methods. Most people know all about how to do business with a bank, but to those still unfamiliar, we offer the following information:

To open an account, merely bring your money to the bank. We will credit you with the amount and will give you a pass book on which the amount of your deposit will be entered. We will also give you a check book. When you wish any of the money or desire to pay a bill, write a check for the amount and sign it. When the check reaches the bank we will pay it, charging it to your account. Every additional deposit of funds will be entered on the pass book which you have. We keep a complete record and do all the book-keeping free.

NO. 5358 EQUITY
In the Circuit Court for Carroll County.

ALFRED D. LEASON, Plaintiff
VS.
ANNA LEASON, Defendant.

The object of this suit is to procure for the plaintiff a divorce a vinculo matrimonii from Anna Leason, defendant, as well as general relief.

The bill states that on the 25th. day of October, 1916, they were married by Rev. J. Walter Englar, a minister of the Gospel of the Church of the Brethren, at New Windsor, Carroll County, Maryland, and that they lived together as man and wife in New Windsor, Carroll County, Maryland, until some time during the month of May, 1918, when the defendant abandoned and deserted the plaintiff and has since said last mentioned date ceased to live with him, and has resided separate and apart from the plaintiff. That the plaintiff is and has been a resident of Carroll County, Maryland, for the past three years. That the conduct of the plaintiff towards his said wife was always kind, affectionate and above reproach, and that his wife some time during the month of May, 1918, without just cause or reason abandoned and deserted the plaintiff, and that she has lived separate and apart from him since said date, and that such abandonment by the defendant of the plaintiff has continued uninterruptedly for more than 3 years, and is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation. That they have had no children born to them as a result of said marriage. That the defendant is a resident of the State of Virginia, and a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon, this 1st. day of February, A. D., 1922, ordered by the Circuit Court for Carroll County, sitting as a Court of Equity, that the plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Carroll County for four successive weeks before the 6th. day of March, 1922, give notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning her to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 22nd. day of March, next, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Make Someone Happy Tonight

THERE are many little things we can do to promote happiness in this old world of ours—things which cost us little in time, energy, or money.

A kind word over the wire, a telephoned invitation, a social call—strengthen friendship and make life worth while.

No means of communication does more to further human happiness than the telephone. A great many people use it to keep in close touch with their friends and home folks who live in nearby cities and towns.

Why not make some out-of-town friend happy tonight by the gift of your voice and smile? There are reduced rates after 8.30 P. M. You can talk over a good many miles of wire for less than a dollar.

Your telephone directory will give you full information.

HARNEY.

Our public school gave a Valentine social on Feb. 14, which proved to be quite an enjoyable affair for all present.

It was especially enjoyed by the scholars, who gave a short entertainment, consisting of dialogues, recitations and music. Every part was well rendered and clearly showed the great interest and the very careful training that can be seen at all times in the work of our school. The entertainment being completed, tables were set and were soon loaded down with cakes, lemonade, candies, made by the good mothers and the many friends of the school. About 10 gallons of good home-made ice cream was also contributed. This was the genuine article. The social was for the benefit of our school ground equipment, and the proceeds amounted to between $34 and $35. Teachers and pupils heartily join in extending their many thanks to those who so liberally contributed the many good things to make it a success. Valentines were exchanged in great number, and all went home well pleased.

In a Tight Place.

The Balance Sheet, published by the Mercantile Trust & Savings Company, of Muncie, Indiana, tells the story of a man who was hunting one day in a forest. A terrible storm came up. He looked about for shelter. There was none. It began to rain in torrents. So he crawled into a hollow log. It fitted snugly.

The rain lasted for hours. The water soaked through the wood. The log began to swell. When the storm was over, the hunter could not get out.

He strained with all his might to free himself. But the log held tight. Exhausted, he gave up. He knew that he would starve to death.

Like a drowning man, he saw his whole life flash before him, especially his mistakes. He suddenly remembered that he had never started a bank account and that his wife and baby, penniless, would starve.

This thought made him feel so small that he was able to crawl out of the log without difficulty.

Somewhat Rough on the Cat, but Five Dollars Is Something These Hard Times.

Expert testimony may be valuable from a scientific point of view, but there are often cheaper ways of establishing a certainty, as the following shows.

An Irish laborer entered a drug store, and drawing a paper bag from his pocket, poured on the counter a number of very sticky and unattractive looking pieces of candy.

"Can you examine this candy?" he asked.

"It looks queer. What's the matter with it?" asked the druggist.

"Pizen, Of'm thinkin'. Did ye iver see such stuff? Dinis McGuire give thim to me b'y, an' Dinis is no frind of mine."

"Well, I can make an analysis."

"All right. It'll come in tomorrow on my way from work."

The Irishman had reached the door, but he suddenly stopped with his hand on the latch.

"And how much will that analysis cost me?" he inquired.

"Five dollars," was the answer.

The man walked over to the counter and swept the candy into the bag, which he replaced in his pocket.

"Niver moind," he said. "O'il feed wan to the cat."—Philadelphia Ledger.

He is survived by his wife and three children; Miss Lulu B., at home; Vernon S., near Kump, and Walter C., on the Taneytown and Keysville road; also by one sister, Miss Sidney A. Brower. Funeral services were held at the home, on Thursday, by Rev. L. B. Hafer his pastor, interment following in the Lutheran cemetery.

In sad but Loving Remembrance of my dear son, who departed this life, three years ago, February 21, 1919.

Three mournful years have banished, Think I, while the tear drops start; But the memory of my dear son, Still is fresh within my heart.

Once my home was bright and happy; Oh! how sad and dreary today. For my dear and loving son Has forever passed away.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord, When love has bound the heart; 'Tis hard, so hard to speak the words "We must forever part."

By his Loving mother, MRS. FRANK BLIZZARD.

Farewell, dear brother, is an awful word, Which pierces through my heart; But oh, it is the will of God. The dearest ones must part, Until the time which God hath given, When, if prepared, as we should be, We all may meet thee safe in Heaven.

There was an angel band in Heaven, Which was not quite complete, So Jesus took my brother, dear, To fill that vacant seat. But time may come to me soon, When I may come to my dwell, By his Loving Sister, BLANCH E. SHADLE.

In sad but Loving Remembrance of my dear husband, who departed this life February 13, 1922.

WARREN M. BROWER,

In my home you are fondly remembered, Sweet memories cling to your name, Hearts that loved you in deepest affection Still love you in death just the same. By his Devoted Wife, LYDIA L. BROWER.

You never will be forgotten, dear father; Never shall your memory fade, Sweet thoughts shall ever linger Around the grave where you are laid. By his Loving Daughter, LULA B. BROWER.

From this land of grief and trouble To a land of peace and rest, God has taken you, dear brother, Where you will find everlasting rest. By his sister, SIDNEY BROWER.

CARD OF THANKS.

I hereby extend my most sincere thanks to all kind friends and neighbors for their assistance during the illness, and following the death, of my husband,

MRS. EDWARD GETTIER.

Hard to Find Buttons.

A kindergarten teacher asked her class:

"Have you warm coats?"

"Yes," was the answer.

Can you take off your warm coats?"

"Yes."

"Has the bear a warm coat?"

"Yes."

"Why can't the bear take off his warm coat?"

This puzzled the youngsters for a moment and then one yelled:

"Cause God only knows where the buttons are."

Easily Explained.

The fancy shop proprietor had ransacked his shop in an endeavor to please the rather exacting woman who wanted to purchase a present.

"Now, are you sure this is genuine crocodile skin," she inquired, critically examining a neat little satchel.

"Quite, madam," was the reply.

"You see, I shot the crocodile myself."

"It looks rather dirty," remarked the customer, hoping to get a reduction in terms.

"Yes, madam," replied the shopkeeper, "that is where the animal struck the ground after it fell off the tree."

LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 19

ELISHA AND NAAMAN THE SYRIAN

LESSON TEXT—II Kings 5:1-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases.—Ps. 103:2, 3.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Luke 4:26-30; 5:21-26.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Little Girl Helping.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Young Girl's Service.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—
Elisha Helping a Foreigner.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—
How to Overcome National and Racial Prejudices.

I. Naaman's Fatal Defect (v. 1).

He was a great man, but a leper. He was held in high esteem by the king, because through him the Syrians had been delivered from their enemies. He was not only a capable general, but was a very brave man—valorous. Every unregenerate man, regardless of his gifts and possessions, has this one fatal defect. He may be a mighty warrior, a great orator, a gifted writer, a man of profound learning, an honorable statesman, but if he is an unbeliever in Christ, he is a lost sinner—a leper. Leprosy is a type of sin. Note its characteristics:

Loathsome, hereditary, infectious, separating, destructive, deceitful, incurable by man.

II. The Faithful Witness (vv. 2-4). This was a Jewish maid who had been captured by marauding Syrian troops who made frequent incursions into Israel's land for the purpose of plunder. Daniel at a later date was carried away captive, and he likewise was used of God to bless many. Joseph is another example of one who was put into a hard place, but became a blessing to others, even to the saving of his brothers, who sold him. This Jewish maid pointed out to this great man the One who could heal him. Many are the persons who have been pointed to Christ as the Healer of souls by children.

III. Naaman Seeking the Healer (vv. 5-9).

1. He goes with a letter of introduction and great gifts (v. 5). In the East valuable gifts are taken along when in quest of some favor. In this case the value was perhaps $80,000.

2. He goes to the wrong place (vv. 6, 7). The maid did not suggest that if Naaman would be with the king he would be recovered of his leprosy, but with the prophet of God. We should be very careful that we go to the right place with our troubles and sins. Neither the king's power nor Naaman's money could avail anything in this case. The prophet of God can bring greater blessing than kings and rich men.

3. Naaman at the door of Elisha (vv. 8, 9). Elisha, upon learning of the king's embarrassment, sent to him, saying, "Let him come now to me." Naaman appeared before Elisha's door in great splendor. He did not come as a suppliant, but as one who could pay a goodly sum for healing.

IV. Naaman Healed (vv. 10-15).

1. Elisha's message (v. 10). Go wash in Jordan seven times.

2. Naaman's anger (vv. 11, 12). He thought that Elisha should have shown deference to him. People today think that their rank and wealth entitle them to different treatment by God. They turn away from the humble way of the Cross, God's method of salvation. Rich and poor, high and low are alike in God's sight. Reasonings of the flesh must be supplanted by the obedience of faith.

3. Naaman's obedience (vv. 13, 14). Through the earnest entreaty of his servants his pride and prejudice were overcome, and he did what the prophet commanded. The result of his obedience was that his flesh "came again as the flesh of a little child."

4. Naaman acknowledges Jehovah (v. 15). After his cleansing he came again to the prophet and said, "Now I know that there is no God in all the earth, but in Israel." The vital point of teaching in this lesson is how nearly Naaman missed being healed. The three enemies which almost kept him from being healed were: (1) Pride (v. 11). He was insulted because the man of God did not come out to such a distinguished man as he was. (2) Preconceived opinion (v. 11). "I thought." Many sinners procrastinate because they have preconceived opinions as to how God ought to save. (3) Prejudice (v. 12). Rivers of Damascus are better than Jordan. Countless thousands are lost by these enemies. God has provided only one way to save men from their sins—the way of the Cross.

The Dove and Jesus. Now when all the people were baptized, it came to pass, that Jesus also being baptized, and praying, the heaven was opened, and the Holy Ghost descended in bodily shape like a dove upon him, and a voice came from heaven, which said, Thou art my beloved Son; in thee I am well pleased.—Luke 3:21-22.

The Unrighteous. The ways of peace have they not known: there is no fear of God before their eyes.—Romans 3:17-18.

Sources of Happiness
John 4:9-14; 13:12-17; 15:11

Satisfaction, service, surrender. These three words sum up the three Scriptures chosen for this topic, the sources of happiness.

"If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink." The thirst of the soul must first be quenched by a drink from the fountain of life. "Jacob's Well" is well enough for its own purpose, but "he that drinketh of this water shall thirst again." There is another water, the water of life, and whosoever drinketh of this water shall never thirst. It shall be in him a spring of water springing up into everlasting life. In other words, the soul shall be satisfied with a never-failing supply. This is the primary and permanent source of happiness. Pause a moment here. It is useless to go further in quest of happiness. Do you know the gift of God? What is it? See Romans 6:23 and Ephesians 2:8. Can you do anything with a gift but take it? Can you do anything for a gift except to return thanks? Have you taken the gift? Have you said, "Thanks be to God for his unspeakable gift?" If not, will you take the gift now and thank God for it? Some things must be settled. Reckon this as a settled matter. There is no permanent happiness apart from this.

Our second word is service—serving God through serving others. The lesson is so obvious that comment is unnecessary. Another and a deeper lesson concerning the necessity of constant cleansing is contained in the verses from John 13, but the surface lesson of humility and service for others must be regarded as one of the sources of happiness. The Christian believer knows it is more blessed or happy to give (service) than to receive.

The closing word is that of surrender to the position that is ours in Christ. This position is symbolized by the vine and the branches. We are united to Christ as branches in a vine. By a spiritual union with Him in death and resurrection, we are severed from the old Adam vine, which is corrupt and unproductive of good fruit, and united to the true vine in order to bring forth fruit unto God.

The Insecurity of Office.

"A public career has its compensations."

"What are they?" asked Senator Snortsworthy suspiciously.

"Well, you enjoy a certain honorable distinction, you are much in the public eye and your fellow citizens pay you the respect due a statesman."

"Maybe so, but I'm never the center of an admiring crowd of my constituents that I don't wonder which one of them cherishes a secret ambition to stand in my shoes and is figuring out a little combination that may in a few years have me back in the home town practicing law."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Poisoned by Matches.

Cases of poisoning from safety matches seem to be common in Denmark. Dr. C. Rasch reports to the Ugeskrift for Laeger (Copenhagen) on thirteen recent cases in his own practice. The trouble took the form of a severe inflammation of the skin on fingers, neck and face, with badly swollen eyelids. In men it appears below the pocket in which the matches are carried; in women on the fingers with which they light their cigarettes. Dr. Rasch ascribes it to the use of phosphorus sesquisulphide when amorphous phosphorus was not to be had.

Take Views From Airplane.

For the first time an American archaeologist has used aerial photography to obtain bird's-eye views of the oldest man-made topographical features of America, the Indian mounds. David I. Bushnell, Jr., is using such photographs of the mounds near East St. Louis to illustrate a report of the bureau of ethnology of the Smithsonian institution at Washington.

GOOD HEALTH OF CHILDREN FROM RICH BLOOD

Health, Strength and Vigor
Built Up by
Gude's Pepto-Mangan

You see one child strong and robust; another child pale and thin. One eats practically the same food and takes the same exercise as the other. What is the difference? Nearly always it's a difference in the quality of the blood. The strong child has rich, red blood and plenty of it. You love to see him eat so heartily. If your child is thin and weak, give him Gude's Pepto-Mangan to build up the blood and see the difference between a sickly, unhappy childhood and a bounding, healthy childhood.

Get Gude's Pepto-Mangan at your druggist's in liquid or tablet form. Be sure it's the genuine.

Yolks + Whites = Eggs

Are You Feeding Enough Whites?

About one out of ten poultry raisers feeds a ration properly balanced for egg production. The common mistake is feeding too much yolk-making material and failing to feed for whites. Grains alone make lots of yolks but few whites.

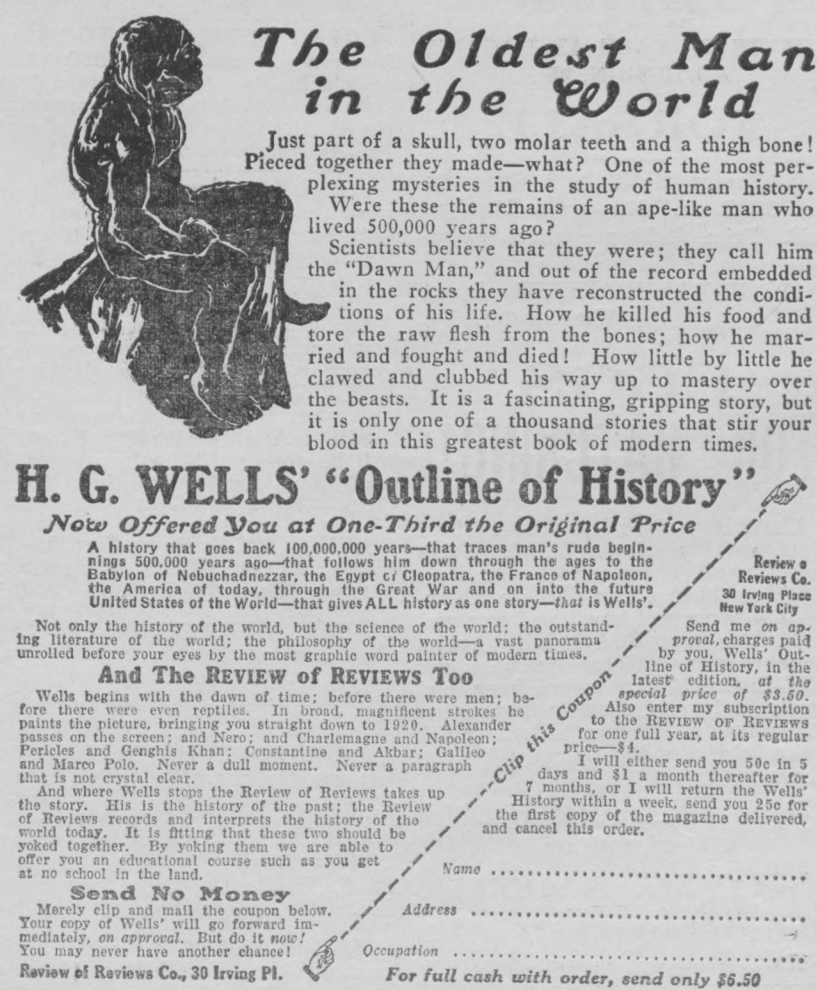

Purina Chows Balance

Purina Chicken Chowder and Purina Hen Chow, fed in equal parts by weight, balance the whites and yolks by supplying an equal number of each. They make hens lay to the limit of their capacity. Purina Chows save time and trouble—no guess work, no trouble and uncertainty of mixing. Feed both Chows and keep the egg basket full.

The Oldest Man in the World

Just part of a skull, two molar teeth and a thigh bone! Pieced together they made—what? One of the most perplexing mysteries in the study of human history. Were these the remains of an ape-like man who lived 500,000 years ago? Scientists believe that they were; they call him the "Dawn Man," and out of the record embedded in the rocks they have reconstructed the conditions of his life. How he killed his food and tore the raw flesh from the bones; how he married and fought and died! How little by little he clawed and clubbed his way up to mastery over the beasts. It is a fascinating, gripping story, but it is only one of a thousand stories that stir your blood in this greatest book of modern times.

H. G. WELLS' "Outline of History"

Now Offered You at One-Third the Original Price

A history that goes back 100,000,000 years—that traces man's rude beginnings 300,000 years ago—that follows him down through the ages to the Babylon of Nebuchadnezzar, the Egypt of Cleopatra, the France of Napoleon, the America of today, through the Great War and on into the future of the United States of the World—that gives ALL history as one story—that is Wells'.

Not only the history of the world, but the science of the world; the outstanding literature of the world; the philosophy of the world—a vast panorama unraveled before your eyes by the most graphic word painter of modern times.

And The Review of Reviews Too

Wells begins with the dawn of time; before there were men; before there were even reptiles. In broad, magnificent strokes he paints the picture, bringing you straight down to 1920. Alexander passes on the scene; and Nero; and Charlemagne and Napoleon; Pericles and Genghis Khan; Constantine and Akbar; Galileo and Marco Polo. Never a dull moment. Never a paragraph that is not crystal clear.

And where Wells stops the Review of Reviews takes up the story. This is the history of the past; the Review of Reviews records and interprets the history of the world today. It is fitting that these two should be yoked together. By yoking them we are able to offer you an educational course such as you get at no school in the land.

SWEEPED AWAY IN AVALANCHE

Tragedy in American Northwest Graphically Described by Army Officer Who Led Party.

An American officer tells a moving story of sudden and swift destruction in our Northwest. It happened on a February day, when a warm sun and a Chinook wind from the Pacific were melting the snow. All along the trail, as the officer and his party wound up the mountain side, great masses of snow seemed to overhang them, and more than once the officer noticed how anxious the grizzly-haired old guide seemed to be. Only a narrow path had been cleared through the snow, and the 20 mules followed one another in single file.

Halfway up they came to four cabins occupied by miners. Three brawny men in red shirts stood at the door of one of the cabins talking as the party filed past. Salutes were exchanged, but the officer's party had no occasion to halt.

They had gone about three hundred feet, and were about to make a turn in the trail, when the leader halted to look back. The guide was ahead—the officer second. The line of mules was strung out for a quarter of a mile, and on foot among them were five packers, all halfbreeds.

The officer heard no signal of danger, no cry of alarm. With the swiftness of thought the snow, 500 feet up the mountain, began to move. The width of the avalanche was about half a mile, and it moved very rapidly. There were thousands of tons of snow, hundreds of trees, hundreds of great boulders.

In a few moments it was all over, and a cloud of what seemed smoke hung over the spot. It drove off down the mountain after two or three minutes, and the officer looked for his pack train.

Not a man nor a mule had escaped. He looked for the cabins and they, too, had disappeared. Indeed, the very trail had been swept down into the valley a mile below, and almost across it. For a space of half a mile wide there was neither tree nor shrub—not a yard of earth. The avalanche had ground its way down to the rocks.—New York Herald.

None Died of Laughter.

"Strange, when you come to think of it," says Max Beerbohm in "And Even Now," "that of all the countless folk who have lived before our time on this planet, not one is known in history or in legend as having died of laughter. Strange, too, that not to one of all the characters in romance has such an end been allotted.

"Has it ever struck you what a chance Shakespeare missed when he was finishing the second part of 'King Henry the Fourth'? Falstaff was not the man to stand cowed and bowed while the young king lectured him and cast him off. Little by little, as Hal proceeded in that portentous allocation, the humor of the situation would have mastered old Sir John. His face, blank with surprise at first, would presently have glowed and widened and his whole bulk begun to quiver. Least he should miss one word, he would have mastered himself. But the final words would have been the signal for the release of all the roars pent up in him; the welkin would have rung; the roars, belike, would have gradually subsided in dreadful fumbings of more than utterable or conquerable mirth. Thus and thus only might his life have been rounded off with dramatic fitness."

Snowplow Pushed by Tractor.

A tractor-propelled snowplow has been developed in northern Michigan for use on snow-swept northern roads, says an illustrated article in Popular Mechanics Magazine. It is operated by two men controlling the individual units of plow and endless-tread tractor. It is a huge affair, with a "wing" spread of 12 feet, throwing the snow six feet to either side. On each side of the forerunner sled is a large plowshare which turns the snow. Set at any desired angle are outboards which carry the snow to the sides of the road. The plow unit is adjustable for height by means of screws turned by hand-wheels. It makes a road suitable for motor traffic, or for sleighs of any width.

Latest Thing—A Sneezing Closet.

Sneezing is a warning of a cold. At Wellesley college, says the Popular Science Monthly, there is a little white, zinc-lined room that is guaranteed to make one sneezeless and snuffless, provided one seeks it in time.

When the twitching nose is first felt a trip to the "coryza closet" is made. Here the fumes of formaldehyde and eucalyptus oil are inhaled. The tight-fitting door prevents the escape of the fumes and if the patient remains in the place a few seconds, there need be no fear of the cold getting beyond the first stages.

Visit to Grave Cures.

Persons who suffered from nervous disorders due to loss of their relatives during the war are said to have been cured by a visit to the graves of their lost ones in France. Rev. A. H. Lloyd of London, England, who conducts parties to graves of war dead, says he has seen many such cures take place.

TO RESTOCK BRITISH FORESTS

Imports of Fir and Spruce From Canada Are to Be Made for the Purpose.

The British Isles are to be reforested by Douglas fir and Sitka spruce from British Columbia. To obtain the necessary seed, a seed extracting plant will be established at Westminster by the dominion forestry service.

Shipment of green cones has been found impracticable. The new plant will handle a ton and a half of cones every six hours. The cones will be dried under hot air blast and as they open, the seed will fall from the drying cylinder of fine mesh into a hopper. Present requirements call for 3,000 pounds each of fir and spruce seed annually for which it will be necessary to gather 120 tons of cones.

Sitka spruce cones will be collected on the Queen Charlotte islands where the tree flourishes in abundance. The cones of the Douglas fir will be gathered on the western slopes of the Rocky mountains tributary to the Fraser river.

This is far country of the Hudson's Bay company, now closing out its lands in the prairie provinces to farm settlers. The company's posts are still dotted through this region of primeval wilderness.

Investigations of the British commission working out the vast reforestation scheme have shown Douglas fir and Sitka spruce best adapted for the purpose.

Centuries of tree cutting have left the islands of the British group denuded of forests and reforestation is necessary to replenish the timber.

COULDN'T READ THE 'SIGNALS'

Later, Mystified Newcomers to New York Were Enlightened, and a Little Embarrassed.

Newcomers to New York by steamship begin to learn things about the city as soon as their vessel gets headed up the harbor. There was a party of such on a vessel from Southern ports.

From the roof of a high downtown office building they saw what appeared to be a string of signal flags snapping in the breeze. Some were white, some were striped and one big one was a flaming red.

"If we only knew the code we could tell what they mean," said a member of the party. "Perhaps they indicate what channel we are to take up the river."

"Or maybe they are weather warnings of some kind," guessed another. "Let's ask one of the officers."

They did. The officer looked first with the naked eye and then with his glasses.

"That's the janitor's wash hung out on the roof to dry," he announced, as he finished his survey. "The big red one is a tablecloth."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Whence the "Spit Curl."

The curl over the forehead, as worn by young ladies of today, has a very long literary history, having been mentioned before the time of Shakespeare, and probably has existed for many centuries. A very antique statue depicts Opportunity as having a bald head, save for one lock of hair in the center of the forehead. This was to show that there was but one chance to take advantage of an opportunity. Doubtless the belles of that day, taking the lesson taught by the marble to heart, began to wear a similar lock. The practice has continued to the present day.

The curls are made to adhere to the forehead by the application of any one of many modern substances made expressly for that purpose. These curls are called by the commonalty, "spit curls," but this is a misnomer and misleading.

World Press Exhibit at Prague.

A novel exhibit was staged recently at Prague under the auspices of the Charles Pichal newspapers. A large hall was set aside for the display of newspapers from all principal cities of the world. Of these there were more than 4,000, from China, Japan, Palestine, Australia, czarist and soviet Russia, India, Africa, Turkey and from every country of Europe and America. More than 300 papers from France were shown. As a matter of fact, the exhibit comprised only a minute proportion of the world's newspapers, but, from the viewpoint of the Czechoslovak public, it was very instructive and successful.

Political Strategy.

"After a member of congress has lived in Washington for a time he acquires the airs of a statesman."

"Most of my colleagues do," said Senator Snortsworthy, "but personally I prefer to look like a small town business man. I may not impress foreign visitors as much, but it makes me stronger with the folks back home when a constituent of mine returns from a visit to Washington and tells the boys there are no frills about Jim Snortsworthy. He's just as much a friend of the plain people as he ever was."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Record Telephone Conversation.

A telephone conversation was recently held between a ship 100 miles off the Atlantic coast of the United States and Catalina island, 30 miles off the coast of California, wireless telephony being used over the water and wire telephony over the land. This is the first time the voice of man has been carried across a continent and stretches of two adjacent oceans.

Daniel E. Buckey well known to some in Taneytown, died at his home in Littlestown, on Tuesday, in his 88rd. year.

Miss M. Lou Reindollar is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Douglas, in Baltimore, having accompanied them home, last Saturday.

Don't forget that a Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue will be in Taneytown, Feb. 24-25, to help all who desire help in making out their income tax report.

Byron Stull, of near Keysville, Daniel Baumgardner, of Arkansas, and Marshall Baumgardner, of Waynesboro, Pa., visited Harry Freet and wife, on Saturday.

A collection of garden and flower seeds has been sent to Wm. F. Bricker by Hon. Wm. B. Blakeney, for free distribution. Those who desire these seeds can secure them by calling at Mr. Bricker's home.

Mr. Fred Helms, of New York, is visiting the home of his father-in-law, Thomas G. Shoemaker. He is reported to have been robbed of a considerable sum of money while on the train coming here.

John T. Kuhns, of Elsinore, Cal., writes that he still enjoys The Record, and asks—"Why not come to see us?" For a faithful old friend of Taneytown, Mr. Kuhns occupies first place on our list. But, his question—Gee!

Owing to a misunderstanding, the Opera House is not available for the play "A Deal in Ducks," on Feb. 21, as advertised last week. The date has therefore been changed to this Saturday, Feb. 18, at 8:00 P. M. Please take notice and notify your friends.

Actually, Taneytown can have a well attended public meeting, when the citizens are interested, as the Tuesday night meeting demonstrated. One of the speakers very properly suggested that the same amount of interest be manifested on the night of making the nominations for town officials. We will see.

The snow of Wednesday morning—the third big snow of the year—was fortunately not accompanied by high wind, but the temperature ranged lower than accompanied either of the others, notwithstanding the lateness of the season. This Friday morning, was one of the coldest of the winter, the thermometers registering below zero.

C. Edgar Yount, of Tampa, Florida writes; "We are feeling the financial depression in Florida this winter which will not likely change until next Fall; note that the weather has been extremely cold in the North this winter and feel thankful that I do not have to buy coal; however we have other things to offset the coal problem."

The Taneytown Vol. Fire Co., will hold their annual Bazaar and Supper in the Firemen's Building, Washington's Birthday, Wednesday, Feb. 22. Supper will be served from 5 o'clock on. The members of the Company trust they may receive the hearty support and patronage of the citizens generally. Supper tickets, 50c; Children under 10 years, 25c.

Up to last Monday, 429 cars of ice were shipped from the lake at Mt. Lake Park. "Ice harvest" is one of the leading industries of the place, next to "boarders" in the Summer.

Taneytown's Gas Plant.

A largely attended meeting of citizens was held at the Municipal building, Tuesday night, in response to the call of the Burgess and Commissioners for the purpose of considering the present loss from the operation of the gas plant; a loss which appears to be largely, if not wholly, due to a number of leaks in the mains that have developed within the past few months, a few of which have been discovered and remedied.

The sentiment of the meeting was practically unanimous for the continuation of the gas plant, and various suggestions were made for finding the leaks, several advocating the idea of getting an expert to help the local authorities with the job. All of the discussion was constructive and in a good spirit, and all of it in opposition to "scrapping" the plant until the time comes—after the leaks are repaired—when it may be demonstrated that it is no longer justifiable to continue two lighting systems.

It also appeared to be the sentiment, that, in case of necessity, a reasonable increase per 100 feet in the cost of gas to the consumer, should be made. On the whole, the meeting was a profitable one, and good results are likely to follow the adoption of some, at least, of the suggestions offered. One fact, not strongly brought out, was, that the whole plant may be reaching the end of its natural life; but the thought predominated that the leaks should first be found and repaired.

They Appeal to Our Sympathies.
The bilious and dyspeptic are constant sufferers and appeal to our sympathies. Many such, however, have been completely restored to health by the use of Chamberlain's Tablets. These tablets strengthen the stomach, invigorate the liver and improve the digestion. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels. When you have any trouble with your stomach, give them a trial.

Watermelon Seeds for many Purposes

In its studies of the control of watermelon diseases the United States Department of Agriculture has found that there are numerous uses for watermelons outside of their consumption as a popular fruit. Housewives have long been familiar with pickles and preserves made from watermelon rind. In China and other oriental countries watermelon seed is used as a table delicacy. Seedsmen in this country not only ship seed for this purpose, but also find a market for their product in the Chinese districts of New York and San Francisco.

This liking for the seed is evidently not restricted to the Orient, for some years ago a well-known explorer reported an African tribe that sharpened the teeth in order to better strip the hulls from watermelon seeds. Within recent years a firm in Alabama has undertaken to manufacture vinegar from the juice, and from Russia come reports that during the past few years of hardship concentrated watermelon juice has been used in place of sugar to sweeten coffee.

The production of watermelon seed is an industry by itself. In a single county in Florida approximately 7,000 acres of watermelons are grown annually for seed purposes. This one section supplies a great proportion of the watermelon seed planted in the United States, and on occasion also ships to foreign planters. In recent years shipments of seed for planting have been made to Tarsus, Asia Minor, to China, and other far-distant points.

"Just One."

"I reckon, daughter, that young man's watch must be fast."
"What makes you think so, pa?"
"Why, when you were seeing him out the door last night I heard him say: 'Just one,' and it wasn't much past 12 o'clock."—Gary Works Circle.
