A Musical Concert.

The Woman's Club, Westminster, feels that it has been able to render a service to the music loving people of Carroll County in securing for a concert on the 13th. of April. Mrs. John W. Garrett, accompanied by the Evergreen Trio, composed of Mrs. Vivian Cordero Fritz, Bart Wirtz and Sylvan Levin. Mrs. Garrett will give a program of folk songs and she will be attended in native costumes, somewhat similar to the way she will give a recital in Baltimore, on the 12th. of March. The concert will be held in Alumni Hall, Western Maryland College, tickets 50 cents.

HOSPITAL ENLARGEMENT. An Object Lesson for Carroll County to Imitate.

Over $600,000 was raised in a short time in Baltimore, this week, toward an enlargement fund for the Hebrew Hospital. Nearly all of the Baltimore hospitals have been enlarged, as well Eight Years. as new ones built, within the past few years. #### The Starving in Europe.

The Record receives communications, almost every week, asking for publicity and gifts of cash for the destitute in Europe. The Record has not lost interest in this work, and would like to help it along; but there are so many ways of making contributions through the churches, and we feel that almost every community is helping, through some local channel, that we hardly think it necessary to take up the work of soliciting subscriptions.

We will again announce however, that "The Christian Work," 70 Fifth Ave., N. Y., is making a strenuous appeal for the children in Russia, and asks for immediate contributions. This is a perfectly reliable channel through which to send subscriptions, as Frederick Lynch, Treasurer, is known far and wide for his benevolences along this line.

The Maryland tax rate is much lower than the average Northern and Western state; and, as was shown by the land value report published last week, Maryland farms are taxed, on the average at $49.00 per acre basis, while many other states have an average acre value basis running from $54.00 in Pennsylvania, to $131.00 in Illinois, $163.00 in Iowa, and in numerous other states from $60.00 to comparatively low tax basis, as well as a low tax rate.

Mt. St. Mary's Gets $125,000 Bequest.

Mount St. Mary's College at Emmitsburg, Md., was bequeathed $125, 000 by the will of David E. Tracey, retired manufacturer of Harrisburg, Pa., which was filed for probate this

Mr. Tracey's friendship for the college dates back to five years ago, when he visited the mountain with the laymen of the Harrisburg diocese to make a retreat.

A portion of the bequest to Mount St. Mary's, the will provides, shall be devoted to the education of 10 young men from the Harrisburg diocese to the priesthood. The course of study of these 10 young men must be followed at the mountain institution.

TREES FOR ROADSIDE. State Board of Forestry offers Trees Free of Charge.

The State Department of Forestry, in order to encourage the planting of shade trees along the public highway, Many Old Members Retire to offers to furnish free of charge at the State Nursery, College Park, black walnut and black locust trees of suitable size for roadside planting, under the following conditions:

1—There must be not less than ½ mile of continuous planting on both sides of the highway.

2—Black locust must be planted not less than 35 feet, nor more than 60 feet apart, black walnut not less than 50 feet, or more than 75 feet apart.

3—The trees must be planted within the right-of-way of public highways, in order to give them the legal status of public shade trees, and in every case the consent of the abutting property owners must be secured. On state roads, the location of the trees must be approved by the State Roads Commission, and where the right-of-way of a state road is less than 50 feet, tree planting is generally prohibited.

-Applications will be filed in the order received. As the supply of trees is limited those interested should apply promptly. The trees offered are about two inches in diameter and from 9 to 12 feet in height.

No charge is made for the trees, except when not called for at the Nursery, College Park, but shipped by freight or express,the cost of packng for shipment will be charged.

Only black walnut and black locust are offered free, but other species, such as pin oak, red oak, elm, Oriental plane and white ash can be furnished at cost, (nursery list enclosed.)

Black walnut is well adapted roadside planting, where the soil is deep and fertile with abundant moist-ure and under such conditions, this makes rapid growth. It does not cast a heavy shade, nor does it impoverish the soil, hence it is very satisfactory for planting along roadsides through agricultural sections, as it does not interfere with cultivated crops.

The Department of Forestry will co-operate with organizations, or individuals, desiring to plant trees, furnish a planting plan, estimate cost, and also furnish the services of an expert to supervise the planting, when desired.

Millions for Washington Buildings.

Washington, Mar. 8 (Capital News Service.)—The George Washington Masonic Memorial Association, which just closed its annual convention in Alexandria, plans to raise the sum of four million dollars for the great memorial temple it is building on The new House will have a Republican majority of 18, but this is also morial temple it is building on Shooter's Hill, just outside Alexandria, Va., and in plain sight of the Capital City. Three millions will be used in construction, it is explained, the fourth million being an endowment fund for the upkeep of the build-

The foundations for this huge temple are already in place. The corner-stone laying will be held early in November. Large delegations will come on that occasion from every section of the country, fully 50,000 being expected from the various jurisdictions, in addition to the thousands from Washington and neighboring counties.

This great building is one of a number, now building and proposed, which when completed, will put Washington, D. C., and its environs definitely in the lead in cities of the world which are architectural treasure houses.

The Episcopal Church has taken steps towards raising the balance of the ten millions needed to complete St. Albans Cathedral, which will rank among the finest edifices devoted to worship in all the world.

The offer of the American Arts and Industries Association to erect here at no expense to the Government except that of a site, a $30,000,000 industrial arts palace, has been reported and grounds.

The Sons of the American Revolution are making plans to erect a home here, which will compare with Continental Memorial Hall, the home of minor bills. the D. A. R.

An appropriation of $150,000, conditioned on the Red Cross raising a of the Congress included: like amount, for the erection of a memorial building commemorating the services of American women in the World War, is authorized in a bill favorably reported by the Senate Committee on the Library.

1924 Calendar Orders.

We have notice from our Calendar firm that the great bulk of orders so far received promise to exhaust first editions and imported styles, and that it is absolutely necessary for orders to be placed early, this season, in order to avoid substitutes. Preference will be given all early orders.

The calendar business is growing every year, but in the country sections there is a disinclination to place orders early. Let us book your or-der now, for November or December delivery, before any of the samples are withdrawn from sale!

Grandfather's Clock Brought $200.

Antiques are bringing high prices at the spring sales through the county, and advertisements for the sales tell of much old furniture that is yet to be sold. At the sale of Jerome Hemler, near Mt. Rock, a grandfather's clock, more than 100 years old sold for $200. A writing desk brought $90. Old dishes sold for $2.50 and $3 each.—Hanover Record.

CONGRESS ADJOURNED LAST SATURDAY.

Private Life.

The Congress just closed will be remarkable for the number of long-service members who will retire to private life, some voluntarily and some on account of political reverses. Perhaps such a large number has never heretofore retired, at one time, the House losing 127 members.

Republican Senators who will retire are: Porter J. McCumber, of North numbering 20,396, leaving a total Dakota, who has served 24 years; net reduction of 98,792. Harry S. Need, of Indiana; Frank B. Kellogg, of Minnesota; Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey; Carroll S. Page, of Vermont; Charles E. Townsend, of Michigan; Miles Pointdexter, of Washington; Joseph I. France, of Maryland; Howard Sutherland, of West Va.; Henry L. Myers, of Montana; Wm. M. Calder, of New York!

The Democrats lose John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, who has served 30 years, one of the most brilliant members the Senate has ever had; Charles S. Culbertson, of Texas; Gil-bert M. Hitchcock, of Nebraska; Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio.

Some of these go into other positions, Pointdexter, as minister to Peru; New and Kellogg who enter the administration service.

In the House, the Republicans will lose such war-horses as "Uncle Joe" Cannon, of Illinois, who has had a service of 46 years; Joseph W. Fordney, of Michigan, 24 years; Frank W. Mondell, of Wyoming, 25 years; and others like A. J. Volstead, of Michigan; C. B. Slemp, of Virginia; Philip J. Campbell, of Kansas; William H. Stafford, of Wisconsin, Patrick H. Kelly, of Michigan, and many others of lesser note or shorter terms.

Some of these may be counted on to "come back," or try to, while others are tired of the game—like John Sharp Williams, and "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and will welcome private life. Others quit voluntarily to attend to other business and make some money, as the salary of Congressmen is insufficient on which to save anything, in an expensive city like Washington, and live as a Congressman is expected to live. The new Senate will be composed of 53 Republicans and 43 Democrats; but connected with the Republicans are some who are so "radical" as not to more a matter of figures than reality. After a more or less stormy short session, marked by "fillibustering," especially in the Senate over administration meausres, both Houses adjourned, last Saturday night.

Democrats claim that the Congress nessed the accident, some of did very little that was worth while; that President Harding lacked strength to lead, and that the majority could not agree on another leader. The Republicans, on the other hand, express satisfaction with the result, and say that considering the period of unrest, the mixed condition of world affairs, and the general difficulty in effecting reconstruction following a great war, the administration forces have done, remarkably well, especially along lines of increased revenue, and decreased public expenses.

On the business side of the closing program, while President Harding signed a total of 99 bills, including farm credits bill, during the closing hours, 55 of these receiving his signature after his arrival at the Capitol about half an hour before adjournment, little was accomplished by either Senate or House on the last day.

After hearing "swan song" speeches by Senators Frelinghuysen (Refavorably to the House recently by publican) of Nef Jersey, and Suth-the Committee on Public Buildings erland (Republican), of West Virginia, and a tribute to Senator Williams (Democrat) of Mississippi by his colleague, Senator Harrison, the Senate tried vainly to pass a few

which was filibustered to death in the

The resolution of Senator Smith (Democrat) of South Carolina, to appropriate $10,000,000 for the purchase of nitrates of calcium arsenate to aid

Southern cotton producers. The constitutional amendment proposal of Senator Norris (Republican) of Nebraska to advance the convening dates of Congress and Presidential inaugurals.

Another constitutional amendment proposed by Senator Wadsworth (Republican) of New York for popular referendums of future constitutional

There has been written into the statute books the Fordney-McCumber Tariff bill; foreign debt refunding legislation; revision of the taxation laws; peace with Germany and Austria; ratification of the arms conference treaties; more rural credits legislation than any other Congress ever produced; co-operative marketing and packer control acts; a maternity bill; a resolution for negotiations by the President to stop the traffic in "dope," and the bill creating a Bureau of the Budget.

Influenza continues to decline rapidly throughout the state.

JOBS LOST IN WASHINGTON.

Almost 100,000 Employees Dropped in Last Two Years.

Among the many economics being practiced by the new administration, some of them being due to going from a war to a peace footing, is the big reduction made during the past two years in government employees, almost 100,000 having lost their jobs, and the list will be still further reduc-

Detailed figures furnished by all departments and independent establishments of the Government showed that reductions aggregated 119.188. but these were offset somewhat by increases in certain of the departments net reduction of 98,792.

Nearly all the departments and independent offices contributed to the general reduction in personnel. The Postoffice Department force increased 9166, Agricultural Department 1197, and the Veterans' Bureau staff 6693.

French Advance Meets Protests.

A new situation is developing over the advance of French operations in the Ruhr section, that may result in serious complications. Both Switzerland and Holland interests are vigorously protesting, and charging treaty violations due to the closing of the Rhine river to free navigation, and causing loss to their shipping interests

The Rhine is essentially an international stream. With its headwaters in the Swiss Alps, it flows through Germany to the Dutch frontier and then through Holland to the sea. Since the World War it has become even more internationalized, with French, British and Americans occupying with their armies most of the German territory on the west bank of the river.

"Matrimonial Adventures."

The Record will begin, next week, a series of 23 stories, longer than those we usually publish, which in some cases may be "continued" from one week to the next. These 'matrimonial' stories are all new, and good, live en-tertaining fiction. They will special-ly interest married folks, as they will begin with marriage—the point at which stories usually end. Be sure to read these stories, each week. The two-column stories will also appear, but perhaps not every week.

A "Human Fly" Killed.

Harry F. Young, a "human fly," who made a business of scaling tall buildings and performing difficult climbing feats, as public exhibits, fell to his death, on Monday, from the side of the Martinique Hotel, New York distributions York, a distance of ten stories, after having climbed over a surface that appeared to offer almost no foot hold. He also did stunts for motion picture As is usually the after result, the concerns. About 20,000 people witincluding his wife, fainted, when he

The Hardings in Florida,

President and Mrs. Harding left Washington, on Monday, for a month's vacation in Florida. They were accompanied by a party of friends, and will spend most of the time along the Indian river, and at St. Augustine. This will be the first vacation the President has taken for about a year; and Mrs. Harding has not been away from the White House since she was taken ill, last Septem-

Fund to Decorate Graves.

Indianapolis, March 5.—The American Legion today announced plans at the national headquarters raise by the next Memorial Day an endowment fund of $600,000 to provide for the permanent annual decoration of the graves of all World War dead in Europe.

This fund, together with a like sum already available from private contributions, will suffice, legion officials say, beyond the lives of the legion men who contributed to the fund and will insure that on Memorial Day of each year all graves will be visited by legion representatives and proper respect paid to those who gave their lives to their country.

American cemeteries in Europe are maintained by the Government, which, it was explained, has taken excellent care of the graves, but the legion considers that it is its duty to pay the personal tribute to each grave on Memorial Day.

Don't Buy It?

One of the things that causes much of our complaint of "high prices" is, that we continue to keep on paying "the price" for things we do not actually need. A great many articles are priced "high" on this very knowledge-that people will buy them anyway. This is largely true of articles of dress that are "the fashion," and of luxuries that we feel that we must buy, because others do-again following a fashion, or habit, that has become contagious.

What all need, is more moral courage not to be mere fashion followers. Somebody in a community, perhaps, buys something, and his neighbors feel that they must "keep up" with him. There is no "must" about it, but the desire to imitate causes an unwise purchase. The old saying, "One might as well be dead, as out of style," is stronger with us than we are willing to admit.

As long as we buy unnecessaries, and pay the price, why complain? When an unnecessary article is unfairly and disproportionately high in price-Don't buy it. And be sure that the proper view is taken of what is necessary, and what unnecessary? Whether it pays best to pay the price, or not to pay it? Once let consumers stop buying, regardless of prices, and prices will tumble to suit the ability of purchasers to buy. There is railroads, the settlement of the counno doubt about that.

This is also true of building operations, to some extent. Most building is a matter of necessity; but, a mechanics and dealers will find that they can, after all, reduce prices. This is the secret of the whole business-buying, and going ahead, in spite of costs. Some of it is enforcthe latter that nearly everybody can help. When they do, prices will come down, because no honest plan for living without work has yet been discovered, though lots of people are coming as close to it as they can.

That phrase, however, suggests something that may give some land owning farmers cause for wonder as to whether it is to their interests to array themselves with the forces of confiscation and despoliation. The "unearned increment" idea was applied by its author, Henry George, to increase in value of real estate. It was his theory that the profits which come to land owners through the growth of land prices do not belong to private owners, but to the public in general. and that the way to equalize this injustice is to collect all taxes from land, practically to communize it.

Farm land in the state represented by the senator who is out to seize the unearned increment, is even at this time of depression in agriculture, being advertised for sale at prices ranging around $300 in acre. The single tax confiscationists call attention to the fact that this land was bought by the original owners for $1.25 an acre. The owners did not create the land nor have they added much if any fertility to it. Why should the building of try and the improvements brought about by general taxation, give to the land owner the unearned increment represented by the value of land vast amount of it remains undone on in its wild state as compared with account of cost of labor and materi- land in a community where society als. Let building stop, entirely, and has provided transportation, markets, schools, roads and other elements entering into land values?

It may thus be seen that the same argument applied by the vote-chasing demagogue against railroads may be ed, but much of it is not, and it is turned by some other demagogue against the farm owner. When the basis of political action is envy and hatred by those who have against those who have not, one plan of confiscation is followed by another, How space of half a column. long will it be before the farmer who whoops it up for assaults on property himself becomes the victim of the over "the times," it seems to be a the broad acres of the land owner be altogether undesirable for them to fact hard to get over, that business as divided up for the benefit of those who have.-Publishers Auxiliary. a whole, taking the country as a have no land, and who are now comwhole, shows wonderful optimism, ac- | pelled to pay interest upon an investtivity and confidence. Banking is an open trade. No one will object to the labor banks' doing all the business they can do. But they will find that, if they are to keep alive and pay the legitimate demands upon them, they cannot employ methods materially different from those of sound institutions of an older type.

It is another interesting fact that some two million dollars of labor-union funds have recently been invested in coal lands in West Virginia and Kentucky. The plan is to mine the coal with union labor and to sell it below the ruling price, preferably to labor unionists. That again is an experiment in the co-operative management of business to which we wish well. # BUILDING UDDLIE

Good grade building materials will never bring dissatisfaction because they make buildings last longer and require the least amount of repairing in after years. How often one hears the remark—"that building is certainly well built" it's all due to the fact that it was well put together with good quality materials.

Builders will make no mistake in buying their needs here, for we have selected with care—long building experience has taught us what kinds of materials are most dependable and you get this advantage when you select building needs from our complete stock. Prices are reasonable too. Come in and talk with us and let us give you an estimate.

We Highly Recommend Our Building and Roofing Papers

All good builders know that by using a well made building or roofing paper, the house will be more nearly air tight and protected from cold weather—it closes up the little crevices—keeps out the draughts-makes the home easier to heat in Winter and therefore adds much to the comfort of its occupants. If you want to have a more comfortable home, use our brand-name building and roofing paper.

Give Your Building a Long Lasting Coat of Paint.

Some paints are made only to make a building look nice for a year or so, but it's mighty poor economy to use such paints for they chip or peel off quickly and cause the trouble and expense of fre-quent painting. Our paints are made not only to give attractiveness and beauty to a building but they contain the long wearing, protective qualities that "save the surface"—that prevents the sun, rain or snow from causing decay and deterioration. Use our Monarch paints and you'll have no regrets. Come in and get a color-card.

The Little Things that Hold a Building Together

Think of the responsibility we place on the little nails and screws that we place in a building to hold it securely together. As the lasting quality of a house depends also on these little things, it pays to use the best of building and finishing nails, cut nails for flooring, lath and shingle nails and screws. We have used care in selecting our stock and you'll make no mistake in using our nails and screws in your building.

This is Gospel Truth.

The Toledo (Ohio) Blade comments as follows, on prohibition enforce-

"Indications are finally coming that slowly but surely Prohibition in the United States is becoming an established fact and its enforcement a reasonable success. The novelty of hilarious law-breaking in secret is slowly but surely wearing off. Just as normal men settle down to their every day jobs after a big spree, good citizens who at first seemed to regard a little juggling with the Constitution as harmless fun, have come home from the party. They are beginning to look the facts in the face. They are coming to realize that they have no right to knock the pins out from under a generation of youngsters by giving them every reason to believe that respect for law is no more than a dull phrase and the Constitution of the United States a collection of meanngless mottoes. We know well enough that law can never mean any more to boys and girls than it means to grown-ups. There is reason to believe that this fact is beginning to sink into honest citizens. The best information indicates a pronounced decrease in the amount of drinking. The liquor business is on the way out. We shall be dead and in our graves a thousand years before it ever comes back. And then it will be just sun-up in a new day."

Joy Turned to Sorrow.

A letter which had been brought by the postman was thinner than the bulky ones which a struggling young author usually received, and he tore it open eagerly and read: "Your recent favor stating that you inclose manuscript of story, with stamps for return if not suitable, has been received. Your contribution is accepted."

"At last!" exclaimed the young author joyfully. But his heart seemed to sink as his eyes caught the following: "P. S .- You neglected to inclose the manuscript."-Montreal Gazette.

The Public's Interest In Telephone Earnings

The public is directly interested in the quality of service furnished by this Company and what it pays for such service.

It follows then that the public is concerned in the Company's earnings, because if the earnings are inadequate, the service cannot be maintained at a high standard. On the other hand, if earnings are excessive, the public is entitled to lower rates.

The aim of this Company has always been to charge rates that will yield a fair but not excessive return on the investment. This is necessary to attract the new capital required to keep step with the growth and progress of the community.

When we were forced finally to seek relief through increased rates, we did not ask the Public Service Commission to approve rates high enough to yield a fair return. We hoped that the future would bring reductions in costs and that increased efficiency would be obtained. This, together with moderate increases in rates, we hoped would result within a reasonable time in providing sufficient revenues to yield a fair return.

The Commission, in authorizing our rate increases, stated that the new rates would yield a return of about 5.3% on the value of our

During the two years that have passed since these rates were established, we have directed every energy toward furnishing the best possible service and toward the effecting of economies so that our investors might be afforded the return to which they are entitled.

During 1922 our earnings were at the rate of 5.05% on our investment in Maryland.

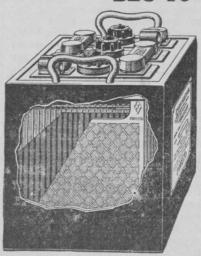

The return is still inadequate, being less than the legal interest rate. But we have made progress and this gives us confidence that with our present rates we can, by constantly increasing efficiency and persistent economy, earn a return sufficient to attract the new capital necessary to permit us to expand our system.

By MILDRED HONORS

Dorothy finished the story and closed the magazine. It was a good story, the story of a girl who took a great chance and found a great happiness. If life were only as simple as stories! She gave the hammock pillows a discontented little punch.

Through the open pantry window came Aunt Emily's voice, "Is Dorothy going to marry this Tom Waite, or ain't she?"

"Why, Emily, they're just friends." That was her mother.

"Humph! Being friends with a man don't get you very far."

"But they were brought up together, Emily; went to school together. Tommy is just like her brother."

"Stuff and nonsense! She's got two brothers now. What's she need of any more. I do hate to see a girl smart as Dorothy wasting her life in this little one-hoss town. I do wish, Ellen, you'd persuade her to go back to Boston with me next week and go into the hospital. It's only three years. What's three years? And trained nurses get $40 a week. Ain't that worth having? I say 'tis. She'd make a nurse and a good one, too."

"She always was a great hand in sickness," mother agreed.

"And was always tore out to be a nurse. Now she's got the chance, why don't she take it? I don't know what's to hinder her, without it's that Tom Waitte. Now, I don't believe in any girl's getting married just to get a Mrs. on her tombstone, but if she likes him-good feller, ain't he?"

"Tommy's a dear boy. A little slow, perhaps, but steady. He'll make some girl a first-rate husband. They say-" Mother's voice trailed off, lost in the click of dishes, but Aunt Emily's answer had a ring of triumph.

"Well, I been married twice and I tell you, Ellen Patterson, the best man that ever lived needs a little mite o' managing. Now, take Sally Simptonyou remember Sally Simpton? Never dared to say her soul was her own-"

Dorothy flopped over. What did she care about Sally Simpton? She had troubles of her own. Idly her finger traced the birl's head on the magazine cover. Presently she slipped out of the hammock and called Tom on the telephone in the hall.

"Tommy," in answer to his deep hello, "I don't want to go to the movies tonight. Just run over and talk to me, will you? Right."

"Tom," she began when he arrived. "you know how Aunt Emily wants me to train in that Boston hospital next month. I want to go and yet-oh, I don't know what to do. I wish you'd help me."

"Thought you'd made up your mind

"I had, but this morning Mr. Allen called me into his office, and, Tom, what do you think? He wants to train me for Claire Temple's place. She's going to be married, you know. I was so surprised, I never thought he'd choose me.

"Don't know why not." "But Im not smart, Tom. Lots of girls are cleverer than I am." "What other girls can do, you can do," doggedly. "Oh, Tom, do you think so? Well, anyhow, he wants me." "More money, of course."

"Yes; it's really a sort of private secretary. Doesn't that sound big? But poor Mr. Allen. He wants me to give him my word of honor that I'll stay at least two years. Poor thing. Claire's the third girl he's had since I've worked there. So Im choosing my career tonight. Which shall it be, office or hospital?"

Silence. "Say something, Tom. Don't sit there like a bump on a log!" "Aren't you leaving out the other career?"

"What other career?" "Marriage."

"Pooh! I'll meet lots of nice sales the room does or can."

men in the office. And in the hospital -why, Aunt Emily says there's so many wealthy young bachelors you just trip over 'em!"

"You can marry me, if you want to, Dot. I'm willing."

She swept him a deep curtsey. "No, thank you, Mr. Waitte. I wouldn't dream of bothering you." "But, I-"

Dorothy held up her hand. "Office, hospital, office, hospital," she counted her slim fingers. "Eeny, meeny, miney, mo. Toss up a cent.'

Obediently, he dug in his pocket. "Tom! Remember that Columbus day, when Ruth and Stan and you and I all wanted to do something different, and we couldn't agree, so we each wrote on a slip of paper and put them in Stan's hat and drew one?"

"Yup. Worked, too, didn't it? Why don't you try that now? Good a way

"But this is serious."

"Well, if you can't decide for yourself, we'll have to decide for you. Come on, now; be a sport. I'll write the

"Come on, now. No cheating, and no changing." He held the bowl high. Dorothy's eyes danced, but her mouth was a straight red line. Slowly she reached up and took out a card.

They read it together. "Marriage!"

"Oh, Tom!"

"No changing, now. Play the game fair. Dot."

"But, Tom-"

His voice deepened, sobered: "Dot, of course we're going to get married just like we used to say when we were kids. Father's taking me into the business the first of the year, and we'll build a house on that lot up Cedar Hill that Gran left me."

"But you haven't said that you-" "There never was anybody else," he

"They say I'm slow," spoke Tommy Waitte, "but I guess I'm not so blamed slow, after all." And he proceeded to

Two hours later, Tom went home, for the first time in his memory, by the front door. Dorothy watched him swing down the path and her eyes were tender. Tommy was a good boy-he'd make a first-rate husband.

She shut the door and flew back to the sitting room. From the blue bowl she pulled two cards. Then snatched up the Ladies' Magazine, skipped twice around the table, and collapsed, a laughing, breathless heap, on the

SNAIL "LIVING INK BOTTLE"

Small Crustacean Found on New England Coast Endowed With Remarkable Properties.

Along the coast of New England there is a common species of sea snail that is a living bottle of indelible ink, very heautiful and quite as durable when applied to lingerie, as any that one buys. The mollusk in question is found clinging to rocks just below the level of low tide, and the ink is contained in a whitish vein beneath the skin of its back. The fluid is at first yellow in color, but when exposed to the sun it turns green, then blue, then purple, and finally to a brilliant unchangeable crimson. This is one of the two species of whelks from which in ancient time was obtained the famous "Tyrian purple"-a dye considered too splendid for the adornment of any but kings and nobles. Indeed, it was so costly that none but the very rich could afford it, wool dyed with it being worth $175 a pound. The liquor was procured by crushing the snails in a mortar. Six pounds of it were required to stain a pound of wool, the ready-woven fabric being soaked in it and afterward exposed to sunlight. Stuffs thus dyed are said to have had a remarkable color effect, presenting changing hues to the eye, like modern "variable"

Hot Onions and Pneumonia.

Hot onions, according to a French physician, are said to be sure cure for pneumonia. The remedy is as follows: Take six or ten onions, according to size, and chop fine, put in a large pan over a fire, then add the same quantity or rye meal and vinegar to make a thick paste. In the meantime stir it thoroughly, letting it simmer for five or ten minutes. Then put in a cotton bag large enough to cover the lungs and apply to chest as hot as patient can bear. In about ten minutes apply another, and thus continue by reheating the poultices, and in a few minutes the patient will be out of danger. This simple remedy has never failed to cure this too-often fatal malady. Usually three or four applications will be sufficient.—London Tit-Bits.

In Praise of Open Fire.

Following are some thoughts by the late John Burroughs: "The open fire is a primitive, elemental thing; it cheers with more than mere heat; it is a bit of the red heart of nature laid bare; it is a dragon of the prince, docile and friendly there in the corner. What pictures; what activity; how social; how it keeps up the talk. You are not permitted to forget it for a moment. How it responds when you nudge it! How it rejoices when you feed it! Why, an open fire in your room is a whole literature. It supplements your library as nothing else in

You are quiet in a crowd?

Haven't you suffered torture to see others get away "with murder," while you are scared pink to say anything at all? Haven't you often longed to say something to make the bunch laugh? Haven't you wondered why you were included so often in the doings when you were so quiet and every one said, "Speak up, who's going to hurt you?" Cheer up, if you haven't got anything to say. Keep still. Too many spoil the air saying stupid stuff, or bad stuff, or hurtful stuff. It is good to be able to be amusing; there is nothing more wonderful than to amuse. But how many do anything when they sputter, but confuse? They say still waters run deep. You may be interesting for this rea-

JESUS IN GETHSEMANE

LESSON TEXT—Luke 22:39-48, 54. GOLDEN TEXT—Christ also nath once suffered for our sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God.— I Peter 3:18

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt 4:1-11; 26:23-46; I Cor. 10:13; Heb. 4:15, 16. PRIMARY TOPIC—An Angel Helps

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Prays for Strength.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC

-How to Stand the Hardest Test.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC

-Submission to the Father's Will.

I. Jesus at the Mount of Olives (v. 39). He went from the upper room under cover of night to the garden of Gethsemane. Gethsemane means oil press. It is a place where the oil was crushed out of the olives. There is a striking significance in Jesus' coming to this place. Olive oil was precious, being used both for food and lighting. The bruising and crushing of Christ in this garden has yielded the largest blessings in the world. It has provided food for men's souls and light for their lives.

II. His Companions (vv. 39, 40). Peter, James and John, who had been with Him on the Mount of Transfiguration, were permitted to go with Him into the deep shadows of the garden. He took those who were best able to apprehend the meaning of the tragic hour to be His sympathizing companions. This was needed to prepare them as His witnesses. Then, too, as a human being He craved sympathy.

Jesus Praying (vv. 41-44).

1. He Withdrew From the Disciples (v. 41). Even these disciples of the "inner circle" could not go with him. He tore himself away from them for He must be alone in this darkest hour. He kneeled down and prayed.

2. What He Said (vv. 42-44). "If thou be willing remove this cup from me." The cup did not mean the physical sufferings of the cross, though they were very great. He did not now desire to escape from the cross and thus stop short of His redemptive work, for this was the supreme purpose of His coming into the world (Heb. 2:14). It was rather the revelation to Him by the cross which loomed before Him, of His identification with sin in becoming the world's Redeemer. By virtue of the holiness and perfection of His nature, He could do nothing else than shrink from it. He saw in this bearing of the sins of the world the turning away of His Father's face. Knowing what was before Him, He came to Gethsemane for this hour, He consciously brought his human will into accord with the divine will. Though the cup was bitter he bowed in submission to the Father's will. So great was this agony that His sweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground. In this crucial hour an angel from heaven strengthened him.

IV. The Disciples Sleeping (vv. 45, 46). They had boasted of their fidelity, but could not watch with Him for an hour. He had issued a word of warning to them, but they were so benumbed with sorrow that they failed. He gently rebuked them, and commanded that they rise and pray lest they enter into temptation.

V. Jesus Betrayed (vv. 47, 48).

1. The Betrayal (v. 47). This was done by Judas, one of the twelve. He had enjoyed the most intimate relations with the Lord, eating with Him, listening to His teaching, witnessing His marvelous miracles and enjoying His confidence.

2. The Sign of Betrayal (v. 47). It was the kiss, the token of the most tender affection and friendship. He now degrades it by making it the token of disloyalty and treason. Jesus' words to this infamous disciple shows the infinite tenderness of His heart. If Judas had been at all human this pathetic appeal would have smitten him to the very heart. How many professing disciples have proven their disloyalty to the Master and even betrayed Him. All who bear the name, Christian, and especially ministers and teachers who deny the virgin birth, Deity and vicarious atonement of Christ are following in the footsteps of Judas. May each one inquire, "Lord, is it I?"

VI. Jesus Arrested (v. 54).

The multitude around with swords and clubs led by Judas invaded the sacred precincts of the garden and arrested Jesus and brought Him before the high priest.

The Stewardship of Self, Substance and Service

Matthew 25:14-30; I Peter 4:10

The Olivet discourse, of which our Scripture lesson forms a part, needs constant reading and re-reading in the days in which we live. It covers chapters 24 and 25 of the Gospel of Matthew, and depicts in a general way the course of events during the interval between our Lord's ascension and His return, dwelling more in detail on matters immediately preceding and accompanying the return. Criticism labels the content of these two chapers "apocalyptic" and dismisses the matter with a wave of the hand.

matter with a wave of the hand.

The discourse was given in answer to the question found in Matthew 24:3. The master traveling into a far country is none other than our Lord. To his own servants he delivered his goods; and in the words of Luke 19:13 said, "Occupy till I come," or, "Do business for me during my absence."

In person our Lord is in heaven. He appears there in the presence of God for us, acting in the capacity of High Priest and Advocate. See Hebrews 4: 14; 7:25; 8:1; 9:24; 1 John 2:1. Though He is with and within His people through the Spirit, yet personally He is in heaven, from whence He will some day return. See Acts 3:20, 21. Then His servants will be judged concerning their stewardship and service. If we have been good stewards of the grace of God, we shall receive a reward. If we have missed His bounty we shall suffer loss.

In order to be good stewards of the grace of God the qualities of devotion, determination, and dependence are essential. The faithful Christian steward is devoted to his Lord. Somewhere in the spiritual experience of the faithful there has been a transaction in which the life has been deeded over to Christ that in all things He might have the pre-eminence. In other words, the true servant of Jesus Christ not only has a sin-bearer on whom his sins were laid, and by the shedding of whose blood they were forever put away, but he acknowledges also that He has been "bought with a price," and therefore is "not his own."

To maintain this attitude of devotion, spiritual determination is necessary. There are many tests of loyalty and obedience along the way.

WAYS WITH EGGS

en whites and stir lightly until well-mixed. Pour into a hot omelet pan in which a tablespoonful or two of oil or butter has been heated; cook over a slow fire until the bottom is set; stir and lift the edges while cooking, so that the omelet will be evenly cooked. Set into a hot oven to cook the top; fold and serve, after spreading with a cupful of any preferred kind of creamed vegetable.

Valenciennes Eggs.—Put one cupful of strained tomato into a saucepan; when hot add four tablespoonfuls of cheese and one cupful of boiled rice; stir until well blended and hot, then add salt, pepper and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg. Brush an earthenware dish with a little melted butter and make a border of rice, using one cupful, then a border of the tomato and cheese. Into the center drop four eggs. Season, sprinkle with minced parsley and cook for four or five minutes in a hot oven.

Eggs in Bread Cases.—Cut slices of bread two and one-half to three inches thick, then cut the slice into rounds. With a small cutter cut out the center, scooping out a hollow to hold an egg. Brush the cases with butter on the inside and out; break an egg in each; sprinkle with seasoning and set into a hot oven to brown the bread and cook the egg. Serve garnished with a spray of parsley and curled bacon.

Rice and Baked Eggs.—Arrange a platter of boiled rice, making depressions with the back of a spoon for each egg to be served. The rice should be well seasoned. Break an egg into each cavity, sprinkle with seasonings and set into the oven to bake long enough to set the egg. The platter may be placed in a dripping pan containing hot water to keep it from glazing.

INVESTING MONEY AT HOME

Faith in One's Own Community Has Been the Foundation of Many Immense Fortunes.

An investment is only as sound as the permanence of its security. Land, it is my contention, is the soundest of all investments.

A case in point:

The land upon which the New York stock exchange is constructed is probably one of the most valuable plots in the world. Almost with each tick of the clock fortunes are made and lost on the exchange floor.

Yet, through all depressions, panics and money stringencies that have hit the market, the value of the land upon which the exchange stands has steadily increased.

Stocks may rise and stocks may fall, but the permanence in value of the exchange site goes on forever. Cyclones, either of the financial or physical brand, cannot destroy the security of land investments, because the land, as the basis of all wealth, is its own surety.

Another line on the soundness of land as an investment may be had by analyzing the basis of many of New York city's oldest family fortunes.

Those families that now stand highest on the social and financial calendar are invariably the ones whose ancestors invested in land, and succeeding generations followed the sensible policy of their progenitors. There can be named many families, the wealth of which, founded on investment in New York city real estate, has been dissipated by its being employed and invested in other mediums by the heirs. But there are many who stand pre-eminently wealthy and distinguished today because their faith in land never diminished from colonial times to the present.-Joseph P. Day in the New York Tribune.

Regularly Organized Campaign Has Met With Gratifying Success in Securing Support.

There are 31 cities in the state of New York organized for the "Better-Homes" campaign. A nation-wide organization has been perfected to bring the better-homes idea to the largest number of American women. There are 20,000,000 women in America whose work lies in their homes. It is to help these women that this campaign is being carried on. It is the ambition of those backing the campaign to make every new home built in the next few years all that the house must be if it is to be worthy the name "home," and to bring about the remodeling of every old house that is ugly, uncomfortable or inconvenient to live in.

Less than 50 per cent of the American people are home owners and it has been claimed that only 20 per cent of these dwellings come up to the recognized standards for a good home. There has never been so great an interest in the building of new dwellings and improvement of houses already built as shown by the records of this year.

Mrs. James B. Galt, who has been having her home, this winter, with the family of her sister, Mrs. P. B. Englar, left on Thursday for Hanover, where she will visit her son, Robert B. Galt and family.

Mrs. Carroll Shoemaker who has been critically ill for the past week, does not show any improvement. She is being cared for by her mother, Mrs. William Ohler, and trained nurse, Miss Chenowith, from the Mercy Hospital,

There is general comment that such a large number of deaths has occurred, recently; but, the unusual amount | invited. The following program will of sickness must be taken into consideration. The probability is, that the ratio of deaths to cases of sickness, is very small.

Maryland can always be depended on to head the procession for freakish weather. For instance, Saturday and Sunday gave us Spring fever weather at 72° and 74°, with honey bee accompaniment, while Tuesday followed with the heaviest snow of the season, and Wednesday with "squalls."

Robert Hawk and daughter, Vannie, of Harrisburg, spent Sunday with his brother, J. Henry Hawk and family, of near Littlestown. Miss Marion Hawk accompanied them home. Mrs. Paul Hawk returned home after spending a week with her parents, of Hanover, Pa.

A delegation of ladies representing the Lutheran Mite Society, of Taneytown, visited the newly remodeled Westminster Lutheran Church, last Saturday night, for the special purpose of inspecting the electric lighting of the church. They were greatly pleased with the work.

D. W. Garner has sold to W. D. Ohler, on private terms, one lot located along the new state highway in the first block of the Basehoar, Krug & Hutton addition east of town. Mr. Ohler will break ground for his new home as soon as the weather conditions will permit.

The Burgess and Commissioners decided at their last meeting that they will hold a "clean up" day, this Spring for the benefit of property owners in town who have no place, and often no way, to dispose of old accumulated rubbish. A day will be set, later, and notice given. As we understand it, all old cans, bottles, crockery, and rubbish generally, that will be placed by the owners at convenient places for gathering up, will be hauled away, free of charge. This is a fine thing for our officials to do, and should be entered into in the proper spirit, by property owners.
