

FALL TERM OF COURT IN SESSION

Few Cases of Lawlessness of a Serious Character.

The November term of Court opened on Tuesday, with Chief Judge Parke on the bench, who appointed J. Calvin Jordan foreman of the Grand Jury and other grand jurors drawn are: Luther S. Wentz, Willis E. Benson, G. Herbert Gorsuch, Ernest Smith, John H. Brooks, D. Grant Hook, Herbert D. Wampler, John D. Graybill, Frank J. Englar, John T. Albaugh, John T. Hailey, Oliver T. Shoemaker, William F. Rittase, Chas. W. Conaway, Marshall E. Campbell, John H. Williams, Edward Leese, George H. Winemiller, Charles W. Elseroad and Robert Brillhart.

In charging the grand jury, the court said Carroll County is exceptional among the counties in the absence of lawlessness. The grand jury was urged to inquire into the stealing of products from the farmers of the county by automobilists and the enforcement of the local laws as to the sale, gift or transportation of intoxicant liquors.

The following petit jurors were drawn: John E. Null, Aubrey J. Stem, George H. Nusbbaum, Jesse B. Weybright, John A. Yingling, Howard L. Bair, Bert B. Buchman, Amos L. Houser, Jacob Neudecker, Claude Lawyer, Beverly B. Bennett, Albert V. Cover, Curvin C. Penn, J. Harris Reed, J. Ross Galt, Edward F. Hesson, James N. O. Smith, Charles Lloyd Lynch, Robert K. Billingslea, William N. Barber, Howard Koonz, Howard W. Baker, J. Walter Englar, Harvey E. Yingling and Paul E. Buckley.

The Chautauqua of 1925.

Taneytown's Chautauqua Course ended on Saturday night, many considering it the best yet held here. At any rate, the numbers given were excellent, but the attendance was below par, indicating a regrettable lack of enough wide-spread interest.

The features of Friday were, a remarkable presentation by Petries Singing and Novelty Quartet, perhaps the very best ever heard here; and a lecture by Frank B. Pearson on "Whither Goest Thou," in which this widely known man presented many truths in a very forceful, and at the same time, entertaining way.

Saturday afternoon was largely given over to the "kiddies" as usual, and carried with it its own special advantages; and at night everybody enjoyed the splendid comedy-drama, "Give and Take" which had for its basis a practical demonstration of "Industrial Democracy" that ended very happily, even if it was not a very convincing example of the benefits of the idea itself.

Capt. Wm. Detrick acted as Superintendent of the course in a highly efficient manner.

Mabel Garrison Benefit Recital.

Mabel Garrison, one of the world's famous singers, will give a recital in Alumni Hall, Western Maryland College, Friday evening, Nov. 20th, at 8:15 o'clock.

Miss Garrison has just returned from a triumphant tour of the world and this will be among her first appearances since her return to this country. In all the old World Capitals her appearance was marked with the greatest enthusiasm. Miss Garrison was in the list of artists selected for the representative concert broadcast from WEAF station in New York.

Miss Garrison graduated from Western Maryland College in 1903, and comes to give this concert out of love for her Alma Mater. Admission $1.00. Seats may be reserved at the Rexall Drug Store, Bonsack's Drug Store and at the College Office.

From Orlando, Fla.

(For the Record).

We are sending you a few lines from the South. Please change the address of our Record from Xenia, O., to Orlando, Fla. We made the trip in our Ford, and surely saw some sights on the way down; we crossed numerous mountains—went around sixty curves in the mountains. The scenery is beautiful through the South. We passed through numerous towns and cities. Oranges and grape fruit are plentiful, and the southern people are very clever. There are quite a lot of Northern people down here. Building is going on very rapidly; they use concrete blocks.

The cost of living is no higher down here than in the North. Eggs are 70c; milk 25c quart; butter, 62c lb. I think we can live down here this winter. The climate is nice and warm. This morning we had rain, and now it is cooler. Please forward the Record to us at Orlando, Fla.

MRS. SARAH LITTLE.

Entertainment at B. R. C.

The second number of the Lyceum Course at Blue Ridge College will be held Wednesday night, Nov. 18. The program will consist of a complete play, given by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wells, noted Lyceum entertainers, together with a musical program of thirty minutes.

OUR DETROIT LETTER.

The Late Election, and Some Side
Lights on Conditions.

The day after election, I received a card from the Editor, calling my attention to the fact that this year there was no such thing as an election in Maryland, and asking me to write an article on the election in Detroit. I feel that I am not able to do justice to this subject, as I am afraid that if I were to say all I think about the result, my effort would land in the editorial waste basket.

We are blest with elections out here—two regularly, and sometimes three, with a primary attached to each one. And let me say right here, that the Primary system is as much a curse to the City as it is elsewhere, for under it, it is almost impossible to get a good man to run for an office. The red tape attached to getting on the Primary ballot—the getting of the requisite number of signers to a petition, or the paying down of $100. cash—prevents a good business man, such as the city needs for Mayor or Councilman, or indeed any other officer of a city as large as this one, from making a personal effort; and if his friends go to the trouble to do so, the would-be rulers of the city—the daily newspapers—jump on him and do their best to put over their tools, as they have done many times since we have been out here.

The elections are non-partisan, which on its surface may seem to be a good thing, yet a great many people say the calibre of the officials chosen under this non-partisan law will not compare favorably with that of those chosen under the old partisan system. I know one thing—that taxes have tripled, and you would have to use a powerful magnifying glass to see the benefits.

Now a little about the last election. The present Mayor Smith, was elected last Fall to fill out the term of Doremus, who resigned on account of a nervous break-down, brought on, it is said, by the constant nagging of one of the would-be rulers, the daily papers. The fight then was a three-cornered one, in which a sticker candidate, or one whose name had to be pasted or written on the ballot, ran second, and came within a few thousand votes of being elected. Smith has made a fairly good official, especially in the minds of those who would like to see a wide open town.

His opponent in the race this year was the sticker candidate of last Fall, Bowles, who, as was charged by the newspapers, was supported by the Ku Klux Klan, membership in which organization he repeatedly disclaimed. Anyhow, the assertion of his membership in the Klan united all the creeds, races, etc., which the Klan is said to be opposed to, as well the underworld—and all those who are supposed to be lawbreakers. At the election, Smith carried all the down-town wards, where the above classes live, by a ratio of 25 to 1, while Bowles carried the more decent parts of the city, but lost out by over 30,000.

Anyhow, the election is over, and two days after a policeman was killed by a negro, and got away, too. We are looking for race trouble, which must come if something is not done. The negroes, most of whom are from the South, are entirely upset by conditions in the North, and right or wrong are endeavoring to put themselves on a social equality with the whites. Their children go to the same schools as do white children, they ride on an equality in the street cars and busses, and there are more negroes than whites employed in the Postoffice, more than 500—a condition for which the Mayor is blamed, as when he was Postmaster, he was instrumental in placing the greater part of these on the Federal payroll. He has been accused of trying to get them on the Police Force and in other departments of the City Government. A short time ago, I read an article in which it was stated that New York was the largest Negro city in America, but she will have to hustle some if she wants to keep ahead of Detroit in this not very desirable line.

A peculiarity about our elections—Primary and Regular—is the fact that at every one there is one or more—generally more—propositions that will add to the tax rate. And they always pass. The ones who are largely responsible for their passage are the renters, who figure that the property owners, and not themselves, must pay the increase, and who never seem to be able to learn that the landlord will surely pass the raise onto them in the shape of raised rents. When this rent raise does come, they are in a mood to kill, or at least cripple the landlord, forgetting that they themselves are responsible.

I have heard it said, and I myself believe it, that three-fourths of the voters never read these propositions, but just vote "Yes" because it catches their eye first. The whole thing started some years ago and comprises everything you can think of—Super Highways in the City, widening streets, annexation of thousands of acres of land on which a thousand people do not live, for the benefit of the real estate men, pensions for everyone who has ever been, or ever will be, in the employ of the City, Sinking Funds, Bond Issues to buy and make up the losses of the Municipally owned Street Railway, etc.

Well, I suppose I have written enough along this line, and do not know if what I have written will pass the Editorial censorship; so I will close, promising to write again, shortly, in a different vein.

JOHN J. REID.

SOME PROBABLE TAX REDUCTIONS

Committee Finishing its Work on the Federal Tax Bill.

If the provisions of the New Internal Revenue tax bill go through Congress as presented by the Committee now preparing the bill, some of the cuts will be as follows:

An average reduction of about $10.00 on each automobile, and abolition of tax on trucks and parts.

Tax on cigars reduced about 25 percent, with about 50 percent cut on the cheaper grades.

Repeal of tax on Cameras, photo films and plates.

Repeal of occupational taxes.

A long list of repeals and reductions on numerous small articles, commonly called "nuisance" taxes.

Reduction of taxes on fire-arms and ammunition, and on musical instruments.

Personal income taxes, and taxes on inheritances, the percentage of reduction undetermined.

Cut in stamp tax on deeds from 50c to 25c for each $500.00 or fraction.

Material reduction on automobiles for hire.

The chief relief contained in the proposed bill is in taxes on incomes, over which there will be a big fight in Congress. The Committee's recommendations total about $308,000,000.

Farming, Real and Make Believe.

Near me there is a big farm covering all of a valley nearly half a mile long. Former owners had cropped it in a desultory way, its very size, three hundred acres, seemed to dare them. One and all took off all the tanbark, telegraph poles, cross ties and wood that could be had to eke a mortgaged existence. Fruit trees were neglected, and no system followed that would build up the soil.

Then a man who had farmed in Ohio bought the farm. He was the first man to introduce alfalfa successfully in this section. It was a strange plant here; but when he cut the crop three times, the last crop on October 30th., farmers began to sit up.

The old barns and sheds were tumbling down and he moved a sawmill in, cut timber, and built a big bank barn, the most convenient one for feeding cattle from the barn floor with steps ever seen here.

He began to raise potatoes by the several hundred bushels, and other crops accordingly; to plow under clover, rotate, and raise big crops of all grains. He kept belted Hampshire hogs and fine Jersey cattle, and raised good horses, and hens by the hundreds.

Soon the rural telephone line cut through his farm and the rural free delivery passed along its edge.

His hogs grew fat knee deep in clover and in winter he butchered them at home, taking to market big loads of spare-ribs, lard, sausage, hams and bacon to private customers with great baskets of fresh eggs, apples and dairy products.

Where former tenants could hardly pay bills, he made a success of it. Occasionally he sold a cow or horse to his neighbors, and farmers for miles still go to him for pigs.

He takes several farm papers, and reads up on agriculture. One of his buildings is a well stocked shop, with stove in it, with a grain and tool loft overhead, and here on stormy days he repairs plows and other farm machinery, makes axe handles, and other repairs.

When he came there old tumble-down fences were the rule, and marauding cattle ran over the fields; but he ran lines, bought wire fencing by the ton, and now good fences are placed where needed. The farm grows its own posts.

Fields thrown out as worn out, he grubbed out, planted in alfalfa, and in later years raised huge crops of potatoes on them.

While he plans diversified farming, he raises more alfalfa than any other farmer, and more grain, and feeds it all out on the place.

Having been a farm hand in his early days, all his farm hands are well treated, promptly paid, and stay indefinitely, one farm hand having been with him for seven years. This farmer works, not merely bosses, and he doesn't drive his men to over work.

Attention, White Ribboners.

Thursday afternoon, November 19, at 2 o'clock, in the Community Room, 2nd floor, Wantz building, Westminster, the Carroll County Executive Committee of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold their annual fall executive meeting. The officers and heads of departments of the local Unions are members of this executive, and it is urged that every member be at the meeting. Not only the officers, but all members of the Westminster Union are most cordially invited to this very important meeting. Plans are to be made for the year's work, and matters of importance to be considered.

PHILENA G. FENBY, Pres.

Eight hundred tons of one-dollar bills will be put in circulation this year by the government.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Proceedings of the Regular Monthly Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was called to order at 3:55 o'clock, on Monday afternoon, Nov. 9th., in the office of the Board. All Commissioners were present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read.

The list of bills presented to the Board was approved and ordered paid.

As the application of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Charles Carroll School requesting the Board of Education of Carroll County to construct an annex to the school for the purpose of increasing the number of class rooms to accommodate an ever increasing number of pupils, has been laid before the Board for its consideration, and

Whereas, plans and specifications have been drawn up by the architect to the Board of Education, the Superintendent has received bids amounting to about $7000.00 for the construction of the same, and

Whereas, the Board of Education has no funds with which to construct such an annex at this time and the County Commissioners have refused in the budget of 1925-1926 to grant funds for a portable and have indicated their inability to finance this proposition except by means of warrants, therefore, it is the decision of the Board that it is unable to construct such a building at this time, and

Furthermore, it will place the necessary amounts for the construction of such a building in the budget for the year 1926-1927 and if granted, the building will be constructed at that time.

The proposition of increasing the capacity of the Union Street School to properly house the high school department came up for consideration but as the Board was unable to lease the necessary land on a rental basis and as it has no funds with which to purchase land, the matter was laid on the table for further consideration at a later date.

The Superintendent reported to the Board that William Umbaugh accepted the contract to haul the Strawbridge Orphan children but the Orphanage refused to be transported on account of the early hour. Not having any authority to make a contract with the Strawbridge Home and as no funds have been specifically designated for this purpose, the matter was closed.

It was decided advisable to advertise for sale the old Pleasant Gap property, to be sold on the premises, as the new school building will be ready for occupancy December 1st.

The application of Mrs. Conrad Blum, of Finksburg, Md., to allow her daughter to return to the Seventh Grade in the Westminster School was refused in view of the fact that this was her first year in attendance in the Westminster School.

The Superintendent was authorized to give $10.00 to the Maryland State Colored Teachers' Association.

The Board made application for further funds to continue the construction of the Taneytown building. The County Commissioners informed the Board that the amount of money provided for in the five cents special levy for the Taneytown structure had now been paid over and it would be necessary to offer the Board a warrant. The Board of Education has refused to accept this warrant on the ground that the County Commissioners in authorizing the construction of the Taneytown building made the following statement in the budget:

"They, the County Commissioners, will provide the means for procuring the necessary $45,000.00, they will levy 5c additional to the .9403 above specified, making the rate of the levy for school purposes for the coming year .9903 on the $100.00, and for the balance of said sum of $45,000.00 will make provision for its payment."

By offering the Board of Education a warrant it will devolve upon the Board of Education to provide the method of financing which the Board of Education declines to do.

Requests for contributions to local funds raised for purposes indicated, were presented to the Board which contributed $10.00 to the amount already raised in each case, with the understanding that the same is to be paid when the necessary funds are available.

Alesia, raised $18.20, stove, records, etc.; Gaiter, raised $11.00 globe; Lowe, raised $28.41, play equipment; Cranberry, raised $17.00, books, records, etc.; Ebbvale, raised $10.00, books, dodgeball, etc.; Linwood, raised $21.30, victrola; Salem, raised $30.00 equipment; Cherry Grove, raised $14 books.

The following trustees were appointed: Uniontown, D. Myers Englar vs Dr. Luther Kemp, (deceased); Walter Rentzel vs Guy Cookson.

The meeting adjourned at 5:30 P. M.

W. M. College's Opportunity.

Attention is called to the half page advertisement of Western Maryland College, in this issue, a reading of which will clearly show the situation, and what is still expected from Carroll County if this additional new building is to be secured. The friends of the College will see the importance of this effort, and what would be lost should it fail. The opportunity of securing for the County a grade 1 College, among all Colleges of this country, is one that should appeal strongly to all advocates of higher education.

PINCHOT PLANS TO END STRIKE.

A Conference that May Lead to Reopening of Mines.

Governor Pinchot, of Penna., is making another effort to end the coal strike by calling representatives of both sides before him for a conference. The Governor says he has neither plan nor program for settling the strike.

"I am," he said, "doing exactly what I did in September—seeing both sides, getting their viewpoints and trying to see if there is not some way by which the men can be returned to work."

In his talk with Mr. Lewis, covering two hours, in Philadelphia, Wednesday morning, Governor Pinchot found the miners' leader determined on "staying out all winter if necessary" to force the operators to abandon their position of no increase in wages and no checkoff, and insisted that the matters in dispute must be settled by the parties directly in interest without the assistance of any outside person as an arbitrator.

Any agreement that may be reached that results in higher prices for coal, will be resented by the third party interested—the consumers. Already the indications are that the extensive trial, this year, of bituminous, will result in a large addition to the regular list of consumers of this grade of coal, and consequently less demand for anthracite next year. The price of coal, as it was before the strike, was too high, and the public is in no humor to be further exploited along that line.

It seems pretty clear that the operators understand this, and that looking to the future of their business they will be compelled to resist any compromise which adds to the present cost of producing coal—unless they are willing to stand the whole amount of the increase—and even then, they will have to fight to maintain the present demand for their product.

A Square Deal for Every Child.

If the workers on the Tower of Babel published printed reports, they would probably have gotten out something like the slim little book that was received recently at the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health, from the secretary of the International Union for the welfare of children, at Geneva, Switzerland. Containing less than seventy-five pages, not more than six inches long, it is printed in the languages or dialects of the thirty-nine countries identified with the international Union.

As its title "The Declaration of Geneva" indicates, the little book contains a copy of the declaration of the rights of each child to health, happiness and opportunity, as formulated for the children of all nations, by the leaders of the international organizations interested in the care of the children. After having been duly approved by these associations the declaration was submitted to the Assembly of the League of Nations, at the Session of 1924. By unanimous resolution the children's charter was approved and its adoption was recommended to all of the counties in the League.

East and West, North and South meet on the pages of the little volume. The declaration appears first in the French of the original document and then in English and other languages of Europe and Asia, of the Near and the Far East, of North and South America.

The English translation may be summed up in one of the slogans adopted for health day during the coming celebration of American Education Week—"A Square Deal for Every Child" The translation in full follows:

"By the present Declaration of the rights of the child, commonly known as the 'Declaration of Geneva,' men and women of all nations, recognizing that mankind owes to the child the best that it has to give, declare and accept it as their duty that, beyond and above all considerations of race or creed:

1—The child must be given the means requisite for its normal development, both materially and spiritually.

2—The child that is hungry must be fed; the child that is sick must be nursed; the child that is backward must be helped; the delinquent child must be reclaimed; and the orphan and the wife must be sheltered and succored.

3—The child must be the first to receive relief at times of distress.

4—The child must be put in a position to earn a livelihood and must be protected against every form of exploitation.

5—The child must be brought up in the consciousness that its talents must be devoted to the service of its fellow-men.

Men are rarely over-worked, unless by their own choice or disposition. One's mental attitude toward his job has a great deal to do with taking the hard work out of it. Be cheerful, and work will go easier.

Pie for breakfast has been enthusiastically adopted by many leading New England hotels and restaurants; and now it will be quite the thing to start the day with apple, mince or pumpkin pie, for ballast.

WONDERFUL RADIO.

The Greatest Modern Invention for Entertainment.

ARTICLE V.

Who pays for radio broadcasting? We suspect that in the final analysis the "listener in" pays the cost. In a large measure, broadcasting represents advertising, contained in the message of the announcer; the name of a newspaper, a manufacturing concern, a store. Most of the stations are owned and operated by "big business" of some sort, the constant mention of the names of which, represents advertising. The names of the performers, in turn represents advertising for themselves. And the whole, is apt to create popular demand, through which the pay comes from the "listener in."

There is also a more commercial side to broadcasting, which represents paid advertising for a second or third party. Churches must pay for the broadcasting of programs, and the churches expect results through the investment. Political party managers pay for broadcasting party propaganda—and pay well. Hotel programs of music are well represented, and the hotels pay, expecting results in more patrons.

In cases in which there is no direct advertising, there is that other valuable thing—publicity. For instance, the various departments of government—National, state or municipal—are naturally anxious to have certain information broadcasted, and furnish the same, free of charge, to the stations. Boards of Health or Education, Insurance Companies, Railroads—any number of such activities—can be depended on for free programs. We are unable to answer the question more definitely, because, so far as we know, there is no other answer. Somebody, or some business, or some policy, is advertised in every radio program.

If you are the owner of a receiving set—or when you buy one—you ought to "read up on the art of radio receiving. The more you know about it the more benefit you will get out of it, and perhaps at the same time save in expense. There are valuable books of information for beginners, and we recommend the Baltimore Evening News and the Sunday Sun for their regular radio features. No newspaper published, however, gives all of the daily programs, nor anything like near all; and some of the published programs are not carried out. The operator always has the rather interesting experience of "going fishing" without knowing what he will catch.

Every operator should have battery testers, and by experience learn when batteries should be renewed. In case the set requires a storage battery, of course that means taking the battery to some battery service place for recharging—the tester will tell when. Those who have electric current in their own homes can buy a charger and save themselves the trouble of handling a heavy battery, as well as save the cost of charging. Also, every up-to-date operator will want a complete list of all broadcasting stations, with their call letters.

This closes our series of articles. We have told about all we know—and perhaps some things we don't know. Our object has been to convey simple information, based on experience but very little expert knowledge of real inside radio. There is a fascination about the wonderful invention that grows on one, and we feel that in all cases in which the expense can be borne easily, the investment will prove to be more gratifying than was previously expected.

Much of the pleasure one gets out of radio is in having the company of those who do not own a set, and who are not "fed up" on music and other programs. There is also the satisfaction of being able to "tune in" almost any great event that is happening throughout the country, day or night, getting at first hands an address, or program, before it appears in the daily papers. There are also market reports of all kinds, and on Sundays, a wide variety of religious services—all for just turning the knobs.

Gen. Felix Agnus' Will.

The will of the late Gen. Felix Agnus indicates an estate valued at $250,000. Two daughters and a number of grand-children are the main beneficiaries. His stock of wines and liquors are left to Johns Hopkins Hospital. General Agnus was the former publisher of the Baltimore American, and died Oct. 31. Included in the contract of the sale of the American, was the stipulation that Gen. Agnus was to receive $13,000 a year, for life, from the succeeding owner, or owners.

Favors Suspension of License for One Year.

Auto Commissioner Baughman will urge the passage of a law calling for suspension of license for one year, mandatory, of any motorist convicted of driving while under the influence of liquor. This will nullify efforts on the part of motorists and their friends, and have a decided tendency, he thinks, toward safer driving. There should be a lot more mandatory penalties toward the same end, and but little option left to officers of law.

In some parts of China, pigs are marketed alive, the squealing animals being suspended in a hammock hung on poles carried by two men.

AN APPEAL

To the Friends of Education in Carroll County.

WESTERN MARYLAND COLLEGE was offered by the last Legislature of the State of Maryland a Building to cost $125,000 conditioned upon Western Maryland College raising $250,000 for endowment.

WESTERN MARYLAND COLLEGE was further offered by the General Education Board (the Rockefeller Foundation) another $125,000 for endowment conditioned upon Western Maryland College raising $375,000 to be added to its endowment, in which sum the $250,000 to meet the State's requirement should be included.

Here then was a proposition to increase the endowment of Western Maryland College by $500,000 and secure a new building costing $125,000 if $375,000 could be raised.

A vigorous Campaign was carried on last Spring and $300,000 was secured in pledges. THERE REMAINS $75,000 TO BE SECURED. The Campaign was unavoidably halted during the summer months, but must now be resumed.

Carroll County's quota in this Fund was put at $100,000. Of this amount $75,000 was pledged. If Carroll County's quota were completed, Western Maryland College would only have $50,000 to raise to complete the Fund.

Believing there are friends of education in Carroll County who would be willing to aid in so worthy a cause, and who have not been reached by the Campaign as carried on, this appeal is made to contribute to this remainder.

WESTERN MARYLAND COLLEGE is rated A1 by the Association of Colleges of the Middle States and Maryland. It is a credit to the State and Carroll County in particular, and deserves to succeed in the completion of this Fund.

A contribution can be made in cash, or in such instalments as may be most convenient. Remittances should be sent to W. R. McDaniel, Treas., Westminster, Md.

(Signed)

CHAIRMAN FOR CARROLL COUNTY.
CARROLL ALBAUGH.

FEEDING BABY DURING SUMMER

Milk is recognized as the ideal food for young children. It should be carefully guarded during the warm summer months, to insure its freedom from germs or bacteria that might cause harm to the child. Because of its nature, it is, under certain conditions, a breeding and propagating ground for germ life and may soon become unfit for use unless it is handled with the utmost care and vigilance. Perhaps the ideal way to obviate this risk is through the use of evaporated milk. This milk is only pure milk with sixty per cent of the water removed from it and is absolutely sterile. It is of double richness but may be modified by the addition of water, which will return it to its original volume with a greatly enhanced food value.

Evaporated milk is sterilized and has a high nutritive content. This causes it to be a very excellent food for the young child and the infant. In fact, many of the leading pediatricians of the country advocate its use after the child is deprived of its mother's milk. A formula, evolved by these pediatricians, through experimentation, is as follows:

From Sixth Week to Third Month.

Milk, evaporated 6 ounces
Lime water 3 ounces
Milk sugar 2 ounces
Boiled water 26 ounces

Seven feedings in twenty-four hours; 4 to 5 ounces at three-hour intervals during the day and four-hour intervals at night.

From Third Month to Fifth Month.

Milk, evaporated 7 1/2 ounces
Lime water 3 ounces
Milk sugar 2 ounces
Boiled water 29 1/2 ounces

Six feedings in twenty-four hours; 5 to 6 ounces at three-hour intervals during the day and a feeding at 10 p. m.

From Fifth to Seventh Month.

Milk, evaporated 10 ounces
Lime water 3 ounces
Milk sugar 2 ounces
Boiled water 29 ounces

Five feedings in twenty-four hours; 6 to 7 ounces at four-hour intervals, the last feeding to be given at 10 p. m.

From Seventh to Ninth Month.

Milk, evaporated 11 ounces
Lime water 3 ounces
Milk sugar 2 ounces
Boiled water 35 ounces

7 to 9 ounces at four-hour intervals during the day. Last feeding at ten at night.

From Ninth to Twelfth Month.

Milk, evaporated 12 ounces
Lime water 3 ounces
Milk sugar 2 ounces
Barley water 34 ounces

8 to 9 ounces at four-hour intervals during day. Last feeding at ten at night.

"Excuse it please?"

YOUR telephone rings and you answer it, only to hear the familiar "Number, please?"

"Didn't you ring me, operator?" you ask.

"There is no one on the line now," she says, "will you excuse it, please?"

Annoying, isn't it? But just who is to blame?

Of course, the operator may have made a mistake but suppose that some one gives your number to the operator by mistake, discovers his error and hangs up. When you answer there will be "no one on the line." Suppose some one starts to call you, then changes his mind and hangs up—again, "no one on the line." Suppose that because you do not answer at once the person calling concludes that you are out, and hangs up—"no one on the line."

"But," you may ask, "why does the operator act as though expecting me to make a call in such cases, instead of explaining that whoever called me has hung up?" The answer is this: the operator who answered you was not the one who rang your bell. The call may have been made through any one of a number of other operators. Thus the chances are greatly against the operator who answers you knowing anything about the abandoned call.

So, realizing that you have been inconvenienced, there is nothing for her to but apologize for another's mistake.

"There is no one on the line now. Will you excuse it, please?"

The flowers we lay upon your grave

Few eyes that see us weep;
But many a silent tear we shed
While others are asleep.

A loving voice that's hushed in silence
Joining with the Angel band
Singing her triumphant anthems
Over in the Beulah land.

But some day if I may enter
Through the portals wide
She will be the first to meet me
Over on the other side.

On the resurrection morning
Free from pain and free from care
With our tear-dimmed eyes made perfect
We shall know each other there.

The Fatal Hour.

A ragged good-natured darky in a Texas town was hanging about the porch steps of the leading hotel. He was hoping to attract the attention of some of the guests with a view to negotiating a small loan. But the forenoon passed and no chance presented itself.

At the noon hour the whistle on a canning factory across the street let go with a terrific blast, and the hands carrying their lunch pails, came trooping forth.

"Umph, Hur!—dar she go," exclaimed the colored brother. "Dinner time fur some folks but jest 12 o'clock for me."

Smiles.

"Walter Jones," said the teacher sternly, "you are not attending to the lesson. Did you hear Jesse Smith's description of the American product, hominy?"

"Yes'm," replied the small boy glibly.

"All right, then. Give me a sentence in which you bring in the word correctly."

With the courage of despair, Walter replied:

"Hominy marbles have you?"

One Too Many!

She was a telephone operator and ought to have known better than to put the subscriber on the wrong number. He thought he was connected with the local theatre, and being in a hurry, he promptly asked for a box for two for that night.

"But we don't have boxes for two," said a voice at the other end of the wire.

"Isn't this the Lasca Theatre?" he asked.

"No," was the answer, "this is Graves, the undertaker."

At the End of His Rope.

After coming in from a twenty-mile "hike" the officer in command of a negro company said, before dismissing them, "I want all the men who are too tired to take another hike to take two paces forward."

All stepped forward except one big, husky six-footer. Noticing him, the officer said, "Well, Johnson, ready for twenty miles more?"

"No sah," replied Johnson, "Ah'm too tired to even take dem two steps."

The Skunk Crop Abundant.

The skunk crop, this year, is abundant. In portions of Washington county it is said to be a question of which shall possess the land—the skunks or the property owners—consequently, brave hunters and trappers are profiting by the invasion. Flashlights are said to be very effective for night hunting. The town of Sharpsburg is said to be especially afflicted, as well as other towns in that vicinity.

Portions of Frederick and Carroll County are likewise complaining of an over-crop, and by pretty general consent an "open season" for hunting this particular "game" is desirable.

The republic of Turkey has abolished the wearing of the fez, a brimless close-fitting hat, black or red in color. The proclamation was hailed with rejoicing.

Disease caused the death of twice as many soldiers in the Civil War as did wounds, but it was the cause of less than one-third of the deaths in the World War.

Tibetan Village Holds Record for Dirtiness

Tibet is famous for many things, but few people know that the dirtiest place in the world is to be found in the land of the Lamas.

It is a village, Phari-jong by name, situated on a piece of rising ground in the center of a plain not many miles from Mount Chomolhari, one of the finest mountains in Tibet. It stands over 14,000 feet above sea level, and is believed to be the highest place in continuous habitation in the world.

Phari consists of a fortress, surrounded by 200 hovels. Owing to the fact that everything which we would throw into our dustbin is there simply thrown out, these hovels are now below the level of the ground. Year by year the heaps of rubbish have grown, until the occupiers of the "houses" have had to cut paths through them from their front doors to the road.

In spite of its "buried" look, however, Phari is one of the leading "market towns" of Tibet. There is a respectable bungalow in the village, kept up by the Indian government for the use of its representatives, and it was here that the last Mount Everest expedition arranged to stop when carrying out their exploration of the nearby mountain. Phari is also in postal and telegraph communication with India.

Never Brought Under Sway of Civilization

The fact that only five names figure upon the map of Lake Edward, in East Africa—Isolated specks in the white blank of the unknown, testifies to its remoteness and evil reputation. The name of the country is Changu, in which the natives of Bankola are famed as cannibals. The "Ba-Changu" file their teeth to a point. They are all on evil terms with their neighbors. Large tracts of country have been wholly depopulated by raids of cannibal peoples from the northwest Dark forest game tracks. Off the beaten track only a compass can save one.

For over ten years the plains on the eastern and southern shores of Lake Edward have been closed and deserted by reason of sleeping sickness and the tsetse fly.

In the plains are the little pools of Kikural, unmarked on any map, with its islands of floating papyrus.—Detroit News.

Crimes of 300 Years Ago

Traces of crimes committed in the Sixteenth century have been discovered near Neustadt (Germany). Workmen digging on a site occupied in the Middle Ages by a hostel for pilgrims unearthed two human skeletons. The hostel was kept by a mother and her son, and it was discovered in 1597 that for years they had been killing and robbing rich foreign pilgrims, burying the bodies beneath the cellar floor. The son's sweetheart overheard a conversation between the two criminals and denounced them. Mother and son were beheaded in the public square of Munsbach.

Looking into the Synchronphase, showing Flexible Unit Control, whereby all dials may be set by operating one.

One Dial sets them all—

The Grebe Synchronphase offers the first Flexible Unit Control

Two or all three dials may be set by rotating one—or each dial may be adjusted separately. Thus, in the Synchronphase you have, at your option, a receiver of one, two or three-dial control. It means ease and speed in accurate tuning, not enjoyed by owners of other receivers.

The now famous Grebe Binocular Coils and S-L-F Condensers which give extreme "Selective Sensitivity", and the new Grebe Low-Wave Extension Circuits, place the Synchronphase at the forefront of radio receivers.

Ask for demonstration of the many exclusive Grebe features; then compare.

Just The One.

A rookie, having joined the cavalry, on the first day of practice in horsemanship was called before an old sergeant.

Rookie: "Sergeant, please pick out a nice, gentle horse for me to ride this morning."

Sergeant: "What is the matter, Jack? Haven't you ever ridden before?"

Rookie: "No, I have never ridden before."

Sergeant: "Then I have just the horse you want. He has never been ridden before either, so the two of you can start out together."

THE MAGIC EAR MUFFS

"DON'T go any farther, Ranny," screamed Polly Parrot, "or you'll step on it! Goodness, Mr. Cheerups, I was so frightened! Please excuse me for not saying good morning, but my friend Ranny Rhino really kicked over your house a minute ago. He really couldn't help it, though. You see, his eyesight is very bad."

"I'm glad to see you both," cried Cheerups, looking out of his door and waving his hand in greeting. "It's a fine morning, Ranny!"

"Yes, it is, sir, thank you, sir," stammered Ranny, who was a little confused by Polly's screams. "It really wasn't my fault that I almost crushed your house. That's just what I came to see you about."

Ranny Rhino Began to Dance and Frisk About With Joy.

"Well, I'll admit that it is a bit upsetting to be nearly stepped on," said Cheerups, smiling, "but I am sure you didn't do it on purpose, Ranny."

"Oh, no indeed, sir, really I didn't," exclaimed Ranny. "I am not ill-natured if I am not hurt, and I am quite shy, though you might not believe it."

"Something ought to be done for such a good boy, it seems to me," said Cheerups, nodding his topknot merrily. "Now if your hearing were very sharp, it wouldn't matter so much about your eyesight, would it? Quick-ear, Quick-ear! Where is that young scamp, I wonder? Oh, there you are;

that's good! Hurry with the Magic Ear Muffs!" and Quixie Quick-ear struggled up, dragging a pair of ear muffs almost as large as himself.

"Now fit the ear muffs on our friend, Mr. Rhino," said Cheerups.

Quick-ear looked at Softfoot, who had come along to see who the callers were, and Softfoot looked at Quick-ear. How to do it,—that was the question. Suddenly Softfoot whispered something to Quick-ear and up the tree they both scrambled, quick as a flash, pulling the great ear muffs after them. Then from an overhanging bough they dropped the Magic Ear Muffs right down on Ranny Rhino's ears.

Ranny was startled, most dreadfully startled, but he wanted to be polite, because he knew Cheerups was trying to help him. So he tried to look pleasant and his smile grew and grew until it was so wide and alarming that the Quixies thought he was splitting in two. Even Cheerups drew a little nearer to the shelter of his house.

"Now, shake them off, Mr. Rhino!" called Quick-ear and Softfoot from the tree top. And Ranny, with a mighty toss of his head, sent the Magic Ear Muffs flying into the bushes.

"After this," said Cheerups gleefully, "you will have no trouble with your hearing and it won't make so much difference about your eyes."

Ranny Rhino began to dance and frisk about with joy. He looked so like a brown barrel trying to be lively that the Quixies giggled. But his heart was light if his footsteps weren't.

"I want to try my ears right away," he cried. "I believe I could hear the rustle of a butterfly's wing. Oh, thank you, thank you, Mr. Cheerups; I'm so grateful! I'll take you to the finest sugar-cane plantation in Africa any time you want to go. It's just delicious! Or maybe you would like bamboo better."

"Not today, thank you, Ranny," laughed Cheerups. "But come and see us again soon!"

"All right, sir, I will. Good-by, everybody!" and Ranny Rhino trudged away into the jungle, pricking up his ears and listening as he went.

JOSEPH RODMAN DRAKE

TO STUDY the life of Joseph Rodman Drake, born August 7, 1795, is to study the life of his bosom friend and collaborator, FitzGreen Halleck.

Drake and Halleck belong to the very early period of American literature; they formed part of a set of men who made New York in those days the artistic center of the country. Drake lived on the Bowery (then a very fashionable residence section) and began his real work in life as a physician. But his talent for writing and his love of it were so strong as to cause him to give that up.

With Halleck, he ran a column or department in the New York Evening Post signed "Croaker & Co.," full of clever jests and comment on local celebrities and occasional poems on general matters, which caused much amusement in the little city—for, at that time, everyone knew almost everyone else. Drake's greatest poem was the "Culprit Fay," the first attempt to treat the New World from a romantic standpoint—neither the "Sketch Book" of Irving nor Cooper's "Spy" had yet come out—and was the result of a discussion at a literary club as to whether there were any romantic associations in connection with the rivers of America.

Had Drake lived, there is no telling how great his reputation would have grown. He was, they said, "the handsomest man in New York."

He was much loved, happily married and well off. His fame was growing rapidly when, at the age of twenty-five, he became ill and died.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

TWIN FRUIT

TO FIND a twin fruit—that is, apples, pears, etc., grown together so as to form one mass—or to run across a fruit which has two stones when it should have but one, is held to be an omen of good luck by the superstitious both in this country and in Europe. This superstition would appear to be an echo of the cult of Apollo and his twin sister, Artemis. The twin fruit, or the twin stones, are representative of the twin god and goddess. Apollo represented the beneficent and life-giving powers of the sun—that which ripens fruit—and his twin was also a deity of light, but connected with the moon, the source of all moisture, which caused fruit to flourish and mature. Apollo was a mighty protector of mortals from all evil and Artemis protected from danger and pestilence. In one of her many forms Artemis is the patroness of fruits and grain and pastoral pursuits while Apollo protected from insects and animals which destroyed the products of the fields and orchards. Therefore it is easy to see why a freak of nature like a twin fruit or a double-seeded fruit should have been regarded by the ancients as a manifestation of the heavenly twins and an omen of good luck to the finder.

"POPE JOAN" CENTER OF MANY LEGENDS

Fantastic Tale Embellished by Chroniclers.

Of all the crabbled, querulous, ecstatic tales of the Middle Ages, none is more medieval, and none more provocative to doctors and sages, than the history of "Pope Joan," says John O'London's Weekly. About her and about her they have argued. She was a man, say some; a devil, say others; she occupied the throne of Saint Peter for any period of time from two and a half to nineteen years; she was named alternately Agnes, Gilberta, Gerberta, Margaret, Isabel, Dorothy, or Jutta; she did not exist at all. Probably not, indeed; she achieves but a small measure of verisimilitude in the hands of her chroniclers, and their differing stories do not help her. On one point only are they agreed; with one accord they wag their heads over her moral delinquency, and brand her as having, at a peculiarly inconvenient moment, given birth to a child.

It is between Leo IV, who died on July 11, 853, and Benedict, consecrated on September 29 of the same year, that legend endeavors to sandwich its woman pope. By the end of the Thirteenth century her story had won general credence. At the beginning of the Fifteenth century her supposed bust kept company in the cathedral at Siena with the busts of all authentic popes; and at the Council of Constance John Huss supported his claims by appealing to the case of "Agnes, who became Pope Joan."

The tale swells in extravagance as it grows in years. Stephen of Bourbon says simply that the woman was a clever scribe, who became notary of the Curia and rose to be cardinal and pope. A later version sends her first on a visit to Athens, where by her diligence she becomes a subtle reasoner. The fame of Rome reaches her ears; straightway she packs up her books and journeys thither, to become a professor at whose feet the greatest teachers are eager to sit. Celebrated for her mode of life no less than for her learning, she is unanimously elected pope; but alas! fine living makes her voluptuous, and, yielding to temptation, she falls.

A monk of Malmesbury, writing in 1306, says that, born in Mayence, Joan was sent by her parents to receive instruction in the sciences from male teachers. On one of them she came to look with more affection than became a pupil, and when he went to Rome, she donned man's dress and went with him; and there, because she surpassed everyone in learning, she was made cardinal by Pope Leo.

As to the punishment meted out to the disciple of Satan, when the birth of a child betrayed her, the authorities differ. One of them will have her discovered before her election, tied to the feet of a horse, dragged out of the city and stoned. Another allows her a two years' triumph and a natural death. A third merely deposes her; while Boccaccio (who, the wicked fellow, rather enjoys the tale) permits her to shed a few tears and retire into private life!

Heat in Death Valley Almost Beyond Belief

Death valley, which lies between the Amargosa and the Panamint mountains, along the eastern line of California, is the hottest place on this continent in summer, says Adventure Magazine. It is 276 feet below sea level and about 75 miles long. It has a record of 134 degrees above zero. In winter the rawest cold winds imaginable blow through it.

In summer the air is so dry that a blanket soaked in water and hung on a line will be totally dry in half an hour. A man must drink as often as every half hour to keep alive. At Furnace Creek ranch the hens wade in the irrigating ditch and squat in the water. The corral containing cows, mules and horses has sheet iron nailed on its fence to protect the animals from hot winds. Only one man has been able to endure the heat more than three summers, and he did it by sleeping in water at night.

Needed More Fire

When the old gentleman paid a visit to the city he saw and heard a great many strange things, but he was always wary in his comments.

One day his little granddaughter enticed him into a teashop, and, leading him to a small table, proceeded to order some eclairs, a delicacy of which she was extremely fond.

"I know you'll like them, granddad," she said coaxingly, and the old gentleman bravely tackled the unfamiliar object.

"Isn't that delicious?" inquired the little girl, seeing a strange expression come over her grandfather's face as he took his first mouthful.

"Well, it may be," replied grandfather in a noncommittal tone; "but doesn't it appear to you a trifle unbaked in the middle?"

Benzene's Birth

A hundred years ago Michael Faraday discovered benzene. Of all his discoveries, scientists consider that of benzene to be the most important.

At the time of Faraday's discovery, gas was compressed into iron cylinders and supplied in the same way as oxygen is today. With the natural curiosity of a scientist, Faraday examined the gas and so discovered benzene—a substance composed of six parts carbon and six parts hydrogen. The actual form of joinery between the carbon and the hydrogen opened up a new field of thought for the chemist. Benzene should be pictured as a hexagon formed of carbon with an atom of hydrogen at each of the six points.

Sort of a Chain Quarrel

My father used to tell a story about a couple recently married who got into an argument.

"I saw a rat," she said.

"It was a mouse," he replied.

"I say 'twas a rat," she declared.

"A mouse," he rejoined.

They parted, but later they saw how foolish they were. They came back together and almost the first words he said were:

"How foolish we were to quarrel over a mouse."

"But that was a rat," she asserted.

Then the quarrel started again.—

Dangerous Experiment

Mr. and Mrs. Author were going out for the evening. They had engaged a new nurse and she was left in charge of the children for the first time.

"Dear," remarked Mrs. Author as she came downstairs, "I looked into the nursery and noticed nurse was reading. Who gave her the book?"

"I did," replied her husband.

"What book is it?"

"My last," he answered.

"Darling!" exclaimed his wife. "And you know how important it is that she should not go to sleep!"

Wife at Barber Shop

When a woman friend dropped in the other evening to chat with the wife, she was surprised to find the husband, enveloped in an apron, washing the dishes.

"Where's the wife?" the visitor asked cheerily.

"Over at the barber shop," came the grumpy reply.

Forensic Marathons

The longest forensic speech was that of Coleridge in the Tichborne trial, which lasted 26 days; and another lengthy one was the 11 days' performance of the attorney general in the Behring arbitration case. It may be safely said that, however long Sir John Simon took, some of the old school, like Erskine, Brougham and Russell, would have taken double the time. For their style was much more verbose, and judges were much more patient, several of them making a habit of taking a nap while the drowsy eloquence proceeded. Long tracts of evidence were read out, and once Pollock commenced to read 300 letters. After an hour or so the judge said: "Is it necessary, Mr. Pollock, to read all those letters?" "Absolutely," was the unblinking reply, "for I have never seen them before."—Manchester Guardian.

Principle of Association

The difference between men is in their principle of association. Some men classify objects by their color and size and other accidents of appearance; others by intrinsic likeness, or by the relation of cause and effect. The progress of the intellect is in the clearer vision of causes, which neglects surface differences. To the poet, to the philosopher, to the saint, all things are friendly, all events profitable, all days holy, all men divine. For the eye is fastened on the life and lights the circumstance. Every chemical substance, every plant, every animal in its growth teaches the unity of cause, the variety of appearance.—Emerson.

The Origin of News

The word "news" developed from an early American newspaper heading. The four points of the compass were placed at the top of the first sheet thus:

N

symbolizing that the contents of the sheet were drawn from all quarters of the world and spread thereto. When the design was dropped the four letters were carried in the form of "news."—Ohio State Journal.

Phones Give Warning of Fire Damp in Mine

Hundreds of inventors have applied their brains to the matter of finding a certain means of detecting fire damp, the cause of such a large proportion of mine disasters. So far no completely reliable method has been found; but it is believed that a development of the latest idea will solve the problem.

This idea consists in the use of a pair of telephones of a delicate kind, one of which is placed in the upper galleries, where the air is known to be pure, while the other is fixed in the lower workings. Vires from each lead to a central instrument.

Beside each of the telephones is a pitch-pipe into which a current of air is blown by a fan. The two pipes are tuned to give exactly the same musical note.

So long as all is well only one note is received and given out by the central telephone; but, directly fire damp occurs the air supplied by the fan to the pipe in the lower workings becomes changed in quality and this alters the note very slightly.

That is, the upper pipe, of course, remains unchanged, and the result is that instead of a single clear note the central instrument emits a discordant noise which immediately attracts the attention of the man in charge, warning him that there is fire damp in the lower galleries.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

PAUL'S ARREST IN JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Acts 21:18-23:22.
GOLDEN TEXT—"If any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed."
PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul is Brave in Danger.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul and the Jerusalem Mob.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul Faces a Mob.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Spirit of the Mob.

I. Paul's Vow (21:18-26).
Upon Paul's arrival at Jerusalem representatives of the church there gave him a most cordial reception. In order that the brethren in Jerusalem might graciously receive him, it was proposed to him by the elders that he take a Jewish vow to prove that he was in no way opposed to the law. The effort was to remove prejudice. They recognized that such an act would in no way compromise or involve the Gentile brethren. Furthermore this would not compromise his own principles of action, viz., to the Jews he became a Jew, and to the Gentiles, a Gentile; all things to all men in order to gain them for Christ.

II. Paul's Arrest (21:27-40).
How far this act conciliated the Jews we are not told, but it only increased the unbelieving Jews, causing them to resort to mob law. These maddened Jews on the basis of a supposition seized him and dragged him from the temple and beat him mercilessly intending to put him to death. Paul was rescued from the mob by the Roman guard. The chief captain, not being able to get any information from the howling mob, bound Paul and started for the castle. In order to protect him from the murderous frenzy of the mob, the soldiers lifted him upon their shoulders and bore him up the stairs. Paul kept himself under control, and politely asked permission of the captain to speak to the people. When he addressed him in Greek and quoted his Roman citizenship, the captain granted his request.

III. Paul's Defense (22:1-27).
Paul's chief concern was not his own safety. He used this opportunity to witness unto them of Christ.

1. His Claim for a Rightful Hearing (vv. 1-3).

(1) His birth (v. 3).
He was a Jew born in Tarsus, a city of no mean reputation.

(2) His Education (v. 3).
He was educated under Gamaliel and instructed "according to the perfect manner of the law of the fathers."

(3) His Zeal (v. 3).
He was as zealous toward God as those Jews who were trying to destroy him.

2. His Attitude Toward Jesus (vv. 4-5).

"I persecuted this way unto the death," so that his attitude was one of hatred as was that of the Jews.

3. How His Attitude Was Changed (vv. 6-10).

While on his way to Damascus with authority to bind the Christians at Jerusalem, he was smitten to the ground by a light from heaven, and the voice of the Lord said, "Why persecutest thou me?" When Paul inquired what he was to do, he was told to go to Damascus where he would be told what to do.

4. The Lord Commissioned Him to Go to the Gentiles (17-21).

IV. Paul Before the Sanhedrin (23:1-10).

The Roman officer, in order to learn why Paul was arrested, commanded the chief council to assemble, and brought Paul before them.

1. Paul's Earnest Look at the Council (vv. 1-2).

This was a solicitation of their honor to give him a fair hearing, and also a look of conscious integrity and unflinching courage.

2. Paul's Stern Rebuke of the Head of the Council (v. 3).

"God shall smite thee, thou whited wall."

3. Paul's Appeal to the Pharisees (vv. 6-10).

Seeing that he could not get a fair hearing, and perceiving that the body before him was made up of Pharisees and Sadducees, he appealed to the Pharisees hoping to get their attention, for his preaching had something in common with their belief.

V. The Lord Stood by Paul (v. 11).

This assured him that his course was right, and thus comfort was brought to him.

VI. The Conspiracy to Kill Paul (vv. 18-22).

More than forty men placed themselves under a curse to abstain from eating and drinking until they had murdered him. God defeated their plan without a miracle.

How Can We Overcome the Spirit of Lawlessness?

Romans 13:1-8

In 1 John 3:4 we find the words "sin is lawlessness." The order of these words may be reversed without doing violence to the text and be made to read "lawlessness is sin." Our Scripture lesson from Romans 13 confirms this. According to its teaching the civic power is ordained of God. Majestic authority, therefore, is an institution of God. Men who minister in our courts of justice are as accountable to God as the ministers of grace in our churches.

In answering the question of our topic negatively, we would say that the spirit of lawlessness cannot be overcome by minimizing the seriousness of the present situation. Crime has increased 400 percent since 1910. In 1910 there were 50,000 divorces, last year there were 165,000 an appalling increase. Social diseases kill 300,000 annually and according to the Chicago Health Institute, every fourth person has such a disease. A jaunty optimism seeks to dismiss such matters with a wave of the hand or some weak excuse, but Christian faith and patriotism are not so blindly satisfied. To minimize, apologize for, or excuse present conditions as an aftermath of the world war, is perilously easy. Again, speaking negatively, we would say that the spirit of lawlessness cannot be overcome by education. Education is priceless in its potential values but perilous if godless. Much of our education is of this kind. From a recent magazine we learn that this country never had as large a college population as now. At the same time it never had so large a prison population and the latter is growing faster than the former. A matter of grave concern in this connection lies in the fact that out of the five thousand persons daily in the hands of the New York police, nearly one-fourth are boys under sixteen years of age.

Speaking positively, we would say that there is only one remedy for lawlessness or sin. This is not a human provision. It is the gospel remedy, old as the ages but unfailing in its effectiveness. It deals not so much with the symptoms or moral diseases as they appear on the surface and are catalogued on police registers, but it goes to the root of the matter. It works from within, outward. It lays hold of the heart of a man knowing that as a man thinketh in his heart so is he. Oh for a revival of faith in the gospel as the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth! Herrin, Ill., is an example of gospel power to transform lives and produce friendliness where hatred, suspicion and distrust once reigned.

Childhood

Adults, whether parents or governesses or teachers, are phenomena of nature which children unquestionably accept. Unworried by philosophies which rend the souls of adults, to them today is today and yesterday was not, and tomorrow shall not be. Living in the moment, with the moment thus becoming eternity, to them we adults are as the rocks, the trees, the sky, the sun. We are neither to be liked nor disliked, loved nor hated. We just are. We have reality, but it is a sketchy sort of reality, bearing slight relation to important things.

For we adults forget: food and drink and sleep are the realities to us, but not to children. Play, the words or deeds of their coevals—these are the true realities. And how can we, benevolent autocrats seated upon the throne of middle life, understand the vital things?—Arthur Somers Roche, in Hearst's International-Cosmopolitan.

Store of Nectar That Is Unproductive

Apiculture, or bee-keeping, is one of the few branches of agriculture that does not tend to exhaust the soil. The account with the honey crop therefore does not include the usual item, "cost of fertilizer," says a report in the New York Times.

The nectar produced in the flowers is wasted unless gathered by bees or similar insects. It has been conservatively estimated that not over one-tenth of all the nectar produced in the United States is actually harvested. The amount that goes to waste in a dozen counties near New York city is over 1,500,000 pounds.

The study of the honey bee and bee-keeping methods is becoming more popular, and to satisfy those desirous of knowing more about this subject short courses are being offered in several of the leading schools and colleges, among them Columbia university. Many people living in the suburbs cannot go in for poultry raising, gardening, etc., because of lack of space. For them a few hives of bees should afford an interesting and remunerative enterprise.

World Illuminated by Spread of the Bible

A man from Corea arrived recently in London with his two sons. He could not speak a word of English, but he showed an address inside a little Bible and was guided to the Bible house, in Queen Victoria street. Then he poured out a heap of money on a table and pointed to his two sons. When an interpreter was found, writes a London correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, the man related how he knew of nothing else in England but the place which had sent his Bible to him in Corea, and he had come there with his sons because he wanted them to be educated as Christians.

In the windows of the Bible house are Bibles which show the link with little peoples and great peoples all over the world. Because of this work, the Bible, or parts of the Bible, are printed in 572 languages today. By reason of such efforts the Gospel has been published in a fresh language every six weeks for the last ten years.

New Mechanical Marvel

Cigars have been sorted by hand according to color. The process was slow, expensive and inaccurate. To eliminate the hand-sorter a machine was invented and is now in use. It recognizes 32 shades of brown in the cigar wrappers, puts each by itself and does it all at a rate better than one a second. Some of the principles of radio and photography are used, but the description is too technical for us laymen. The machine is called a triumph of science. Most of us could not understand how it distinguishes such fine shades, when the average eye cannot do it.

The machine is another development in mechanical invention. Like the linotype, it displays an "intelligence" almost beyond belief. Perhaps if the inventors keep working they eventually will create a machine with "super-human intelligence" that can be placed behind the automobile steering wheels and prevent some of the grade-crossing accidents.—New Orleans Item.

Sunlight and Health

We now know that health and well-being are directly dependent on the sun through acting through the medium of the sunbeams sent down to earth. There is something more essential in the sun than the glowing splendors of the sunrise and sunset, the brightness of the day and its mental effect of creating hope, joy. It has the power of stimulating growth and building up resistance. It is one of the best medicines that God has given to man.

The ultra-violet rays, those invisible waves of light which the camera only can see, are the life-giving, health-creating element of sunlight. They are that part of the sunshine that helps to prevent rickets, a disease all too common in nursing infants.

Rich but Unhealthy

The climate of British Honduras is hot, moist and generally unhealthy for foreigners. The coast is, as a rule low and swampy and a large part of the interior is covered with forests yielding large quantities of mahogany and logwood. Over 50,000 acres are under cultivation and yield fruits, rubber, coffee, etc. The colony is administered by a governor, and has an executive and legislative council. United States gold currency was adopted as legal tender in 1894. The majority of the population is composed of negroes, mulattoes and Indians.

No Blare of Trumpets

With the opera flourishing, and the names of prima donna figuring in all the papers, it is interesting to recall the modest announcement which heralded the first appearance of such a lady on the British stage. It appeared in 1692, and ran as follows: "The Italian lady, just come over sea, who is so famous for her singing, will perform." No more than that, not a word about her palaces, her jewels, her pets, or her differences with other gifted ladies. No mention even of her name.

Must Make Opportunity

Time and tide, the adage says, wait for no man; neither does anything else that nowadays is run on schedule. The great struggle of modern life is to make connection with opportunity, for this makes possible success.—Grit.

More Good Cows Needed on Farms

Cow-Testing Associations Show Individual Production Records.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

First-class, profitable dairy farms are usually found in groups. The center of each group is some farm, some man, some idea, says the United States Department of Agriculture. The 732 cow-testing associations now active in the United States represent that many groups of improved dairy farms. What has been accomplished by these groups for the dairy industry and for the members of these associations is told in Farmers' Bulletin 1446, entitled "Cow-Testing Associations and Stories the Records Tell," and is now ready for distribution.

The purpose of this bulletin is to show the need and the value of cow-testing associations, to present briefly some of the outstanding results obtained from a tabulation of cow-testing association data, and to show how such associations may be organized and conducted.

More Good Cows Needed.

In most sections of the country we have enough cows, but not good enough cows, says the author of the bulletin. Our slogan should not be "More Cows," but "More Good Cows." Here is one place where there is an abundance of room at the top. Knowing the individual production records of the cows in the herd is one way to get more good cows. This information is made available to dairymen through the cow-testing association.

In the Newaygo county (Mich.) cow-testing association the herd that one year had the highest average production of butterfat per cow consisted of 10 cows, and the herd that had the lowest average production consisted of 20 cows. The herd of 10 cows had a total income over cost of feed of $666 and the herd of 20 cows $455. The owner of the larger herd needed 9 more cows of the kind he was keeping to get as much income over cost of feed as was produced by the smaller herd.

It is better, however, to own 10 good cows than 20 poor ones. It demands less labor and other costs. To build up a herd of 10 good cows requires much headwork. To take care of a herd of 20 poor cows requires much handwork. The man who does not use his head must work harder with his hands.

The value of association records is not limited to the improvement of the females of the herd, but may also be used to determine the true value of the herd bull or the bulls in the bull association. In the vicinity of Grove City, Pa., there are two bull associations and one cow-testing association. From the latter, records are now available for the yearly production of 18 daughters of the bull-association bulls as well as for the dam of each daughter.

What Records Show.

When all records were figured to maturity, it was found that on an average the dams produced 8,785 pounds of milk in a year and the daughters 9,212 pounds. The dams averaged 355 pounds of butterfat a year and the daughters 394 pounds. Thus the daughters produced about 5 per cent more milk and about 11 per cent more butterfat than their dams. The figures further showed that the daughters were by six bulls, and that in no case did any daughter bring discredit to her sire. What would have happened if the 18 daughters had been sired by scrub or inferior bulls is not hard to guess.

In nearly every case a cow-testing association depends upon the activity of a few progressive farmers and centers around the idea that every dairymen should know the individual records of his cows if he is to manage and develop his herd profitably. The knowledge can be obtained through cow-testing association records.

A copy of the bulletin telling how to start and conduct an association may be secured free of charge as long as the supply lasts, by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Corn and Soy Beans Are Good for Hogging Down

The practice of hogging down corn is growing by leaps and bounds in all the corn belt states. It has been proved to be profitable. It saves labor. In fact, it seems as though when hogs gather their corn in the field, especially so when it is properly supplemented with a protein feed like tankage, they can produce more pork from a given amount than when fed in dry lot. Perhaps that is due to the more sanitary conditions under which they live in the cornfield. Perhaps, under those conditions, their digestive organs work efficiently. Be that as it may, as previously stated, the practice is profitable.

In more recent years it has been found that a given acreage of mixed corn and soy beans will produce more pork than corn alone. The reason is that soy beans furnish protein in which corn is lacking. By growing the two crops together a ration that is well balanced for hogs is obtained. Besides, the leaves of the beans furnish succulence along with the protein in the seed and that is an advantage. These leaves contain vitamins that are essential to the growth.

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fires, important happenings, visits to or from the community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

Robert T. Ridinger, wife and son, Richard, of York, Pa., spent Sunday in town, with home folks.

Mrs. John H. Marker, of Littlestown, Pa., spent last week with her daughter, Mrs. M. C. Fuss and family.

Rev. and Mrs. George Brown, had as visitors, on Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Preston W. Snyder, of Hampstead, the latter being Mrs. Brown's sister.

Miss Flora Spangler, of Silver Run, spent a few days, this week, with Mrs. Curtis Reid. Miss Spangler will leave for Sebring, Fla., in the near future.

The local declamation of the Taneytown High School will take place this Friday evening in the Opera House, at 7:30 o'clock. No admission will be charged, but a silver collection will be lifted.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas Shriner and daughters, Mrs. Tolbert Shorb and Mrs. Clyde Morningstar, left by auto on Thursday morning, on a visit to Mr. J. A. Shriners family at Rehoboth Church, Va.

Hubert T. Spangler, accompanied by Edgar Yingling, of Silver Run, left by auto, on Tuesday morning, for De Sota City, Fla., at which place they will try to secure employment, and remain for some time.

Miss Marie Buddy, of Littlestown, gave a joint recital with a Washington pianist, on Monday night, from the new Baltimore broadcasting station, WBAL. The program was excellently rendered, and consisted of operatic and classical numbers.

Mrs. Larra Reindollar returned home, on Monday, from a visit to Sebring, Ohio, accompanied by her son, Frank T. LeFevre and two sons. On their return to Ohio, they will take with them Miss Sue Williams, who will spend the winter in Ohio.

At the meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association, November 23. A representative from the department of Forestry will be present. His fine line of illustrations will be thrown on the screen for the enjoyment of all. Come out and see these pictures.

Luther T. Sharets' will was read at the Birnie Trust Co., on Monday afternoon, to those most interested. Such information as we have of its provisions, we do not feel authorized to publish. The total of the estate seems to be somewhere between $75,000 and $100,000.

The Red Cross Roll-Call is now on. The ministers of the town have appointed committees to take subscription at the various churches, on Sunday, Nov. 15. It will save a great deal of unnecessary house to house canvassing if you come prepared with your dollar. Fifty cents of each dollar remains in our local treasury.

Wheat is back again to over the $1.50 mark, which demonstrates how little even market experts know, for a very long time ahead, about prices. "Supply" can be figured out, approximately, but "demand" can not be; so, what we call "market" prices, and just how they come and go—what makes them—are a long way from being understood by anybody.

Such messages as the following, make the Editors job worth while; "Our mail comes in before breakfast, when we come down in the morning the first thing is, 'Did the Record come?' How we do watch for that paper. I know you get discouraged at times, but just wish you knew how much pleasure that paper brings to us all.—Mrs. Mary L. Motter, Washington.

On our editorial page, this week, friend J. Thomas Wilhide, of Waukegan, Michigan, contributes an interesting illustration, or story, taken from Genesis, that he likens to "Majority Rule," which a few weeks ago was the caption of one of our editorials. We would hardly consider Brother Wilhide's effort altogether applicable, but it is pretty well put together and may be a better illustration than we think. Read it!

The Taneytown-Keymar road promises to be a very bad one, next Spring, or before—it is bad enough now. The section interested is hopeful that the hard road being built from Littlestown to the Maryland line will be continued on through to connect up with the Frederick county system, giving an improved road, connecting not only Maryland and Pennsylvania, but the North with the South—a National highway.

Miss Alice Harman spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George I. Harman near town.

Carroll Koons and Walter Fringer, of Baltimore, spent the week-end with their home folks here.

Miss May Sanders returned home, on Wednesday, after spending some time with friends in Philadelphia.

David Hemler, of Washington, has returned home after spending some time with his father, Mr. Lewis Hemler and family.

Rev. George A. Brown, pastor of the U. B. Church, started on Tuesday to take a course at Westminster Theological Seminary.

Mrs. Guy Baker and daughter, of Emmitsburg, spent a few days the first of the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Sanders.

Little Miss Madeline Simpson met with a painful accident, on Monday, while playing, she fell against the stove, and burned both arms and hands.

Mr. and Mrs. David Smith and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith and children, all of York, spent Sunday at the home of Wm. J. Baker and sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Wagner, of Charlotte, North Carolina, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Wagner, at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Nettie S. Angell.

Miss Anna Null, Charles Hesson and Burton Kephart, spent from Tuesday until Sunday in Baltimore, and attended the C. E. Convention which was held there the past week.

Union Thanksgiving Service will be held in the Lutheran Church, on the morning of Thanksgiving day at 9:30. Sermon by Rev. Mr. Brown, Pastor of the United Brethren Church.

A great deal of corn stands in the field unhusked, due to the continued rains and the soft condition of the ground. Fortunately, corn is the one grain that will stand a great deal of exposure without spoiling.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Crouse spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. John T. Albaugh, at New Midway, and was accompanied home by Mrs. Mary Stover and Master Paul Koontz who spent the week-end at the same place.

Mrs. S. S. Crouse and daughter, Edna, grand-daughter, Madeline Simpson, and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Crouse, spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. S. S. Crouse's sister, Mrs. Joseph Bowers, Westminster, and attended the Aid Society meeting held there, on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hosler and daughter, Miss Daisy, and son, Witmer, of Mt. Joy, Pa., and Miss Grace Null and Hubert Null, of near town, spent Sunday with Mrs. Jesse Myers and family. Charles Myers, Baltimore, was a caller at the same place on Tuesday.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of Winter's Church, near New Windsor, met at Mrs. Joseph Bowers' at the County Home, in Westminster, on last Saturday afternoon and had a fine program. They presented Mrs. Bowers with a check, which is to be used for Christmas for the inmates. After the close of meeting, they served refreshments.

A very enjoyable surprise was tendered the Rev. and Mrs. George Brown and family of the U. B. Church, on Wednesday evening after the Prayer Meeting session was over, when forty members of their church paid them a social visit bringing with them a generous shower consisting of different kinds of fruits and vegetables, canned goods and other groceries. A very enjoyable time was had by all. The U. B. Male Quartette sang several selections which was greatly appreciated by all present. Refreshments were also served during the evening.

"IS FIVE YEARS THE LIMIT OF LOVE AFTER MARRIAGE WHAT KILLS THE THRILLS?" BY LUCY CARY, NOTED NOVELIST, IN SUNDAY'S BALTIMORE AMERICAN.

The Taneytown School.

At the request of the County Commissioners the following correspondence between that Board and the Board of Education is published as an advertisement for the information of the citizens of Taneytown. The letters are self-explanatory.

November 3rd., 1925.
Board of County Commissioners, Westminster, Md.
Gentlemen:-

Kindly pay to the Board of Education $14,900 on account of the new building at Taneytown, authorized by B. E. Starr, Architect.

Very Truly Yours,
CHARLES REED, Clerk.

November 9th., 1925.

To the Honorable,
The Board of Education of Carroll County, Md., Westminster, Md.

Dear Sirs:-
On the 3rd inst., the County Commissioners received your request for the sum of $14,900 on account of the new building at Taneytown. You will see from the record that the County Commissioners stand pledged to provide not exceeding the sum of $45,000 for said building; of which sum a portion should be provided by the levy of 5 cents on the $100 in the levy of 1925; and that thereafter the said Commissioners would make provision for the raising of the balance of said sum of $45,000.

The levy of 5 cents on the $100 produced the sum of $16,755.27.

This total sum so raised by said levy of taxes has been paid over to your board as follows: Sept. 22, $5,000; October 6, $4,400; Nov. 3, $7,355.27; total $16,755.27. The last payment named, $7,355.27, was made after the receiving of your request for $14,900.00.

Over and above the sum realized from the levy of 5 cents on the $100, your Board asks at this time the sum of $7,544.73.

In fulfillment of its promise to make provision for such further sums above the amount raised by the tax levy of 1925, to make up the full sum of $45,000.00, the County Commissioners herewith hand you the warrant of the County Commissioners, together with copy of the resolution providing for the issuing of the same, for the said sum of $7,544.73. You will note that the warrant provides for interest on the obligation, so that your Board can realize the whole amount named in the warrant, without loss of any discount.

Very Truly Yours,
The County Commissioners of Carroll County,
CHARLES W. MELVILLE,
JOHN H. REPP,
JOHN W. REAVER,
County Commissioners of Carroll County.

The Board of Education met on October 9th., and on October 10th., the Superintendent returned both the warrant, which had been offered, and the letter of the County Commissioners, with the following letter, but without the courtesy of any explanation whatever of the reasons of the Board of Education for its refusal to accept the warrant tendered by the Commissioners in fulfillment of its pledge to provide the means for raising the funds necessary to complete the sum of $45,000 for the Taneytown school building.

November 10, 1925.
The Board of County Commissioners, Carroll County, Westminster, Md.
Gentlemen:-

I am returning, herewith, the warrant which you have offered the Board of Education of Carroll County for $7,544.73 to partially finance the cost of the Taneytown building. The Board directs me to say that they can not authorize the Treasurer of the School Board to accept this warrant. I am

Very Truly Yours,
M. S. H. UNGER,
Superintendent.
