

CIRCUIT COURT PROCEEDINGS.

A Number of Criminal Cases are Disposed of.

The Grand Jury adjourned on Friday last, after examining 83 witnesses and finding 46 presentments. The Jury recommended the painting of the jail and several outbuildings, and the repair of the shutters on the jail. At the County Home a new bath tub and closet in the woman's building was found to be needed, as well as some repairs to roofs. This further report was also made.

"In the examination of the cases brought against the several persons confined in the Jail of Carroll County we found insufficient proof to present in the case of James Bigham and we recommend that he be discharged from custody.

We have carefully examined all the evidence presented touching upon the killing of Paul E. Cutter, but we have been unable to gather sufficient evidence to justify a presentment at this time, we request however that the officers of the County continue their investigations with a view, if possible of presenting additional evidence in this case to a future Grand Jury.

Your Grand Jurors have examined the report of the Board of Education which has been filed with the Clerk, and we find no misappropriation of funds, and we congratulate the Board on the detailed report filed."

Court officers: George A. Miller, bailiff to petit jury; Charles A. Elliot, and Samuel Miller, bailiffs at gates; Richard B. Owings, crier, and John G. Hoffman, bailiff to grand jury.

The original, trial and appeal dockets were called and a number of cases on the trial and appeal dockets were marked for trial, but few of them will be actually tried, most of them being cases in which judgments will be entered without a trial.

The case of Mr. Butler who entered suit for divorce from his wife, alleging abandonment, cruel treatment, etc., was closed on Monday, so far as testimony was concerned. Arguments in the case will be heard later. Guy W. Steele represented Mr. Butler, and Messrs Brown and Bennett were attorneys for Mrs. Butler.

The Jury returned a verdict of guilty of assault and battery in the case of Paul L. Fitze, Silver Run, indicted by the grand jury on three counts as the result of his alleged attack upon Milton E. Null, thresherman. The first count was for assault with intent to kill; the second for assault with intent to maim or disable; and the third, assault and battery. The Jury found him not guilty on the first two counts, but guilty on the last count and a fine of $250.00 was imposed. State's Attorney Brown prosecuted the case, and E. O. Weant appeared for the defense.

Ernest Hyser, charged with the larceny of chickens, was found not guilty by the jury, the charges not being sustained by evidence. Brown for prosecution and Steele for defendant.

Thomas Conway and Vernon Conway, charged with assault and battery against W. McKinley Leister, tried before Court. Thomas was acquitted, and Vernon was convicted and sentenced to pay a fine of $20.00 and costs. Brown for prosecution, and Walsh for traversers.

Vinton Powell, colored, implicated in a shooting affair with another colored man named Hammond, charged with assault with intent to kill, with assault with intent to maim, and with assault and battery, was found not guilty by the jury on first and second charges, but guilty on the third. Brown for State, Steele for traverser.

A Jubilee Service.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, celebrated its fiftieth anniversary last Friday afternoon in the church, the President, Mrs. R. S. McKinney, presiding. After devotional exercises, several selections were read, including a jubilee poem, and also a recitation by Jane Long.

A gratifying history of the work done by the Society in the past fifty years was read by the Secretary, and prayer was offered by the Rev. G. W. Shipley. Representatives were present from the Societies of New Windsor, Emmitsburg, Gettysburg and Piney Creek, these brought personal greetings and congratulations, while several received by mail, were read, among them one from the Presbyterian Society in Baltimore, and one from a Secretary of the Foreign Board in New York.

The meeting was closed by prayer and the benediction by the Rev. Thos. Brown. Over fifty persons were present and a liberal thank-offering was received. At the close of the meeting ice cream and cake were served to every one giving the opportunity for a pleasant, social half hour.

In many places in the great Sahara (Africa) desert, it is burning hot at noon, and freezing cold at night.

New York once received its water supply through a pine log water main, and a log 14 inches in diameter, from the first main of 1799 was recently dug up, in a perfect state of preservation.

CHAUTAUQUA NEXT YEAR.

Sufficient Guarantors Secured for 1926 Program.

Chautauqua patrons will be glad to learn that Taneytown will have a return of the Swathmore program in 1926. The effort to secure the guarantors was somewhat drawn out, but finally succeeded, and it is now up to the patrons to get back of Chautauqua 1926, and when the time comes make it a fine success.

The following are the guarantors; Geo. H. Birnie, Ida L. Landis, Mrs. H. B. Miller, Rev. W. V. Garrett, Robert S. McKinney, Prof. J. L. Hunsberger, Mrs. W. A. Bower, Shawnee 4-H Club, by Virginia Ott, Pres.; Miss Gladys Zepp, Mrs. Lavina Fringer, Mary L. Reindollar, W. W. Reindollar, D. J. Hesson, John S. Teeter, Jennie E. Galt, Mrs. G. H. Birnie, Rev. Guy P. Bready, R. N. Bankert, Catherine Clinegan and G. R. Welling.

The Home-makers Club will actively co-operate with and heartily support the guarantors. Since operating here, renewed contracts have been made with Hampstead and New Market, through the efforts of Superintendents W. A. Dietrick and Miss Robinson. Taneytown is to be congratulated that it continues to stand for this high-grade attraction, and if proper support is given by local patrons, it can easily be made a permanent thing.

The Chautauqua movement is representative of the best class of entertainments, and besides carries with it certain educational advantages that are valuable to every community. Mr. Dietrick left Taneytown to continue work at Byers, Penna.

Blue Ridge Alumni Association.

The Frederick County Alumni Association, of Blue Ridge and New Windsor Colleges, held a banquet at Hotel Frederick, Frederick City, on Friday evening, Nov. 13, there being 44 representatives from the two colleges present. Dr. Ira J. McCurdy and Mrs. M. J. Croghan attended and represented Old New Windsor College.

Rev. F. F. Holsopple acted as toastmaster. Dr. Ira J. McCurdy, who represented the class of 1889, gave a stirring talk of days at New Windsor College; other speakers for the evening being Rev. J. Kurtz Miller, Vernon Stover, '14; R. Paul Smith, Hagerstown; Prof. L. H. Brumbaugh, faculty of Blue Ridge College; Rev. McKinley Coffman, president alumni association, and Prof. Nevin Fisher, teacher at Blue Ridge College, and Peabody student, who had charge of the music. A mixed quartet from the college furnished the music for the evening.

It was decided to form a Frederick county "Boosters" Association, the president-elect, Walter LeGore, of LeGore, and Mrs. M. J. Croghan, Hotel Frederick, as secretary and treasurer.

It is the purpose of this association to further interest in Blue Ridge College and hold at least one meeting and banquet a year, to which all former students and graduates of both colleges are invited. The committee in charge of the banquet was: John J. Wolfe, Mrs. Edward Shaw and Mrs. M. J. Croghan. The menu: Consomme, celery and olives, tenderloin steak with mushrooms, glazed sweet potatoes, peas en case, mashed potatoes, ice cream and wafers, coffee.

Suicide at Unionville.

Fearing the courts would take from her the custody of her nephew, Mrs. Walter Mort, fifty years shot herself at her home, in Unionville, Md., on Thursday.

When her body was found huddled at the foot of the garret stairs shortly after noon, Mrs. Mort was then due in Circuit Court, No. 2, Baltimore to show cause why the mother of the nine-year-old boy should not assume his custody.

Having reared the boy from infancy Mrs. Mort had dreaded the thought of separation. Last week when the summons came from Baltimore for her and Mr. Mort to appear in court yesterday she became morbid.

Her condition gradually became worse until the woman was almost a nervous wreck. While her husband was out of the house she secured a pistol and sent a bullet through her brain.

Her foster-son, John Mort, whose mother lives in Baltimore, heard the shot. He ran upstairs and found the still warm body lying at the foot of the garret stairs. He called for assistance, but when physicians arrived Mrs. Mort was declared dead.

Sweet Potatoes at Top Notch.

Sweet potatoes have reached the highest selling price on record, this year, in the South. No. 1s selling as high as $13.00 per barrel for one carload, and averaging $10.00 a barrel for the season. One county in Georgia alone, has shipped 75 carloads, or 14,219 barrels of 11 pecks each, to eastern and northern markets.

The crop in Maryland is estimated at 1,280,000 bushels, while the entire crop for the country will be about 15,000,000 bushels short of that of the average crop of the past five years.

President Coolidge's father, who is 80 years of age, is ill from an affection of the heart, at his home at Plymouth, Vermont. If able to make the trip, he will be urged to spend the winter in Washington.

LIBERTY BELL TO SOUND AGAIN

Will be Broadcast by Radio on New Year's Eve.

The Liberty Bell will be heard again on the evening of Dec. 31, the 150th. year of the independence of America. The wife of Mayor Kendrick will wield the hammer that will strike the bell. The ceremony will begin at 10 o'clock, followed by a radio program at 11:30 that will be broadcasted throughout the country, giving all an opportunity to hear the tones of the bell.

The opening of the new year will be indicated with 1-9-2-6 taps properly spaced, and the 1 will be struck at exactly midnight. At ten minutes to 12, Mrs. Kendrick will begin an address inviting the women of America and the world attend the exposition in Philadelphia.

Proceedings of the Orphans' Court.

Tuesday, Nov. 17, 1925.—The sale of real estate of Israel C. Rinehart, deceased, was finally ratified by the Court.

Letters of administration on the estate of Jacob F. Sharrer, deceased, were granted unto Amelia C. Sharrer, who received warrant to appraise personal property, returned inventory personal property, received order Court to sell same and received order to notify creditors.

J. Francis Reese, administrator with the will annexed of John J. Reese, deceased, settled his first and final account and received order to transfer stocks.

Letters of administration d. b. n. c. t. a., of the estate of Kate L. Sherman, deceased, were granted unto Harvey H. Nott.

George E. Cox, administrator with the will annexed of Anna M. Cox, deceased, settled his first and final account and received order to transfer stocks and bonds.

Golden Rule Sunday.

Miss Dora Stick, Alesia, Lineboro P. O., also for Bachman's Mills; at Gaither, Mrs. C. M. Griffith; Hampstead, Mrs. J. Wm. Kelbaugh; Lineboro, also Manchester and Millers, Miss Dora Stick; New Windsor, Mrs. E. C. Bixler; Taneytown, Mrs. Chas. E. Roop, have been appointed chairmen in Carroll county for Golden Rule, Sunday, announces Harold F. Pellegrin, State Director, Near East Relief. Similar chairmen are being appointed in counties all over the state and will co-operate in personal work to make Golden Rule Sunday a success.

Golden Rule Sunday, which will be observed December 6, and which has been approved by President Coolidge, will be observed by 60 nations. Its immediate object is to help feed and provide for 38,000 orphans under care of the Near East Relief, and the method offers an easy way for everyone to help by serving a simple dinner on Golden Rule Sunday, and giving the difference between it and the usual more elaborate meal, or as much more as may be desired, to aid these little orphans.

Meeting of the Home-Makers' Club.

The semi-annual meeting of the Carroll County Federation of Home-makers' Clubs was held Thursday, November 12. The business meeting took up most of the morning. Reports were given by the different clubs. All of the clubs are working on clothing and nutrition. Union Bridge reported a book circle. They exchange books at each club meeting. Mr. Airy reported a nursing class. Eldersburg also reported a nursing class. Pleasant Valley reported an Old Home Day. They have made plans to lay a cement walk at the school. Several clubs reported Baby Clinics.

Mr. Klein, the State Forrester gave a short talk on the farm wood lot. Miss Knight the Clothing Specialist gave a short talk on the budget for the Homemaker. County Agent Fuller talked on the Community Shows and the Carroll County Fair.

In the afternoon a pleasing program was given. Miss Morgan led the community singing. Mrs. Newell, from the State Library sang "Dreaming" and "On the Road to Mandalay." Dr. Haines from the Children's Bureau in Washington gave an excellent talk on Pre-natal Care and Child Care. The program was completed by several selections on the piano by Mr. George Messick of the Blue Ridge College. Those who did not come to this meeting missed a real treat.

Bogus $20.00 bills are reported to be in circulation in Philadelphia and vicinity. The bills contain a likeness of Grover Cleveland, which has a "smile" that is not on the genuine bill.

QUARANTINE RULES.

Different Courses Pursued in Different Diseases.

Dr. R. H. Riley, Chief of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases of the State Department of Health says "the State regulations concerning the isolation or quarantine of persons suffering from a communicable disease, and the freedom allowed the members of the household, have been enacted purely for the purpose of preventing the spread of disease. The regulations differ in regard to different diseases, if a case of small-pox is being cared for, the regulations of the State Board of Health require what we call complete isolation not only of the patient, but of all members of the household. The premises are placarded and no person except the Health Officer, the physician or the Public Health Nurse in attendance upon the patient may leave the house until the quarantine is lifted.

If the disease is diphtheria, scarlet fever, infantile paralysis or cerebrospinal meningitis, the apartment in which the patient is cared for, is quarantined. The patient and those caring for him, are not permitted to mingle with the other members of the household, but the house is not necessarily placarded, and permission to go back and forth from house to business, may be given to those not in contact with the patient, at the discretion of the Health Officer. But this does not apply to school children. When scarlet fever or diphtheria is present, the other children must remain at home until the sick one is well, except when such children have been removed by permission of the attending physician and the Health Officer to another house.

"For some of the other infectious diseases, among them measles, mumps, German measles, whooping cough and chicken-pox, the regulations require isolation of the patient without placarding the house, and without restricting the movements of the wage-earning members of the household. But here again, the Health officer may use his own discretion and if the outbreak is sufficiently severe to necessitate it, he may have placards placed where they will be seen by possible visitors. Children living in the same house, who are not sick, may return to school before the infected child recovers, provided the attending physician or Health Officer gives a certificate that to his knowledge they have had the disease.

"The regulations requiring quarantine of persons from a communicable disease apply to 'carriers'—that is to persons who are themselves well but who carry the germs of the disease and are therefore capable of spreading it to others, and also to 'contacts,' that is to persons who have been exposed to infection through having come in contact in some way—home, school, business or other public place—with the person suffering from the communicable disease. In the case of small-pox, typhoid and diphtheria a very important part of the duties of every Health Officer is to prevent the spread of these diseases among the contacts, first by vaccinating against small-pox; by giving them protective or immunizing doses of typhoid vaccine or diphtheria antitoxin and second by keeping them under observation until the danger of spreading the disease to others is over.

"When a Health Officer finds it impossible to maintain proper control of any individual case of communicable disease, he may quarantine and employ guards if necessary, placard or resort to such other measures as are proper for the protection of public health."

Live Stock Farming.

The farmer who raises cattle, hogs, or poultry doesn't have to take the chances common to other farm products. To begin with he has the market practically at his door, if he is fortunate enough to live in Central Maryland. Market reports giving detailed quotations on live stock are printed every day in the newspapers, and a telegram to any of the nearby markets will bring an immediate reply. He is assured of cash for his shipment just as soon as it reaches the market and is weighed, and he is also assured of a sound and dependable cash market that fluctuates only moderately, and is available to him every day in the year.

Poultry markets afford the poultry raiser an opportunity to market his products every day in the year. There is no case on record where a shipper of live stock has not received sufficient return on a shipment to pay freight charges plus a very substantial margin in addition. Stock raisers produce a lot of the fertilizer they use to grow feed crops, at no cost to them whatever except the handling. Too much or too little rain does not bankrupt the livestock farmer. A hard frost or freeze does not kill the livestock. Livestock is subject to disease, but so are vegetables and fruit trees.

Most fruits or vegetables are highly perishable. They must be harvested when they are ready to harvest and they must go to the market without delay whether it is favorable or not. While it isn't always profitable for a farmer to hold livestock awaiting a more favorable market, he can always do so without a total loss and frequently such action increases his profit. If all these things are true about live stock—and they are—why do we have such a comparatively few live stock growers in Central Maryland. The answer is why?—Md. Tri-County Bulletin.

NO CHANGE IN COAL SITUATION.

New Developments Expected Within a Short Time.

Further parleys between the coal operators and the United Mine Workers "on a basis of give and take"—whatever that may mean—is proposed by the leader of the striking anthracite miners. If this offer indicates that the miners are ready to renew negotiations with a willingness to consider something less than their minimum demands for higher wages and the check-off and a willingness to resume the production of coal pending the conferences, there might be some hope of breaking the deadlock. That hope depends upon a corresponding disposition of the operators to meet the miners half way.

The shortage and the suffering of the people for lack of available fuel have not yet become sufficiently acute for that reaction of an outraged public opinion for which the Federal Government is apparently waiting. For the national government alone possesses the prestige and the moral force to which both combatants will be bound to listen.

While no formal reply was forthcoming from the operators, several closely connected with the anthracite controversy expressed their opinion that Lewis' statement was merely a reiteration of what he has said on numerous occasions since the strike went into effect two and a half months ago.

One operator declared in reference to Lewis' alleged willingness to enter into a five-year agreement, that "Lewis is willing to make a long-term agreement every one knows. He wants an iron-lad agreement such as the one he got in the bituminous fields and which has almost paralyzed whole sections of soft-coal country."

"The anthracite operators are willing to sign an agreement which will abolish all future strikes by reason of a provision requiring the operation of the mines while new wage scales are being negotiated.

"There will be no agreement signed until Mr. Lewis and his colleagues are ready to provide a plan to take care of the fluctuating market prices."—Phila. Ledger.

A Fine "News" Story.

The Rhinelander divorce case could not have been made more to the liking of certain newspapers, had it been made specially to their order—and this applies to a certain class of readers, as well. A wealthy young man, son of proud family, high up in social standing, enters a marriage contract with a part Negress, and now tries to get out of it on the ground that he was deceived as to her racial taints—thought she was part "Spanish."

He knew there were a lot of dark-skinned relatives—had associated with them—but the sight of them never roused any suspicion concerning the color of his wife that he now tries to cast off. He admits that he was the pursuer in the love affair—or infatuation—and in general puts up a contradictory sort of story on the witness stand.

And the newspapers are giving the whole affair a complete airing, daily, covering columns and columns of space. Evidently, all of the elements of a good story—a wanted "news" story—are present in the case, and it is played-up to the limit. Fine love letters, and all the rest of the fixings, including plenty of photographs. What a "find" the case represents!

Dunne and Prohibition.

Former Gov. Dunne visited in Europe and came back still an anti-prohibitionist. The trip to Europe did not change his view, though that is the interpretation his partisans covertly seek to give.

In an address before a Chicago audience, Gov. Dunne made the argument that the rich man can buy what he wants and the poor man cannot, therefore, a law which permits the rich man to buy alcohol and prevents the poor man getting it is unjust. But it is common recollection that in the palmist saloon days the rich drank champagne and high priced wines and cordials, while the poor drank from the "put-back" and the "hack driver's bottle." And it is a fact today that the rich eat porterhouse and the poor man rump steak, though, since prohibition, more men have moved up toward porterhouse than ever before gathered about it. It is astounding that a man of Edward Dunne's learning and intelligence would resort to such open faced sophistry, even among friends willing to accept any old line of argument.—Illinois State Journal.

Alcohol to be Restricted.

The Treasury Department has issued orders cancelling all permits for the manufacture of alcohol, effective Dec. 31, after which time permits will be granted only after a close investigation by Treasury officials to confine them to legitimate users. A total of 81,000,000 gallons is said to have been manufactured under permits this year, at least 5 percent of which found its way into illegitimate channels.

THE ANTI-WELLER SLATE.

Congressman Hill's Invitation to Ward Leaders Declined.

The anti-Weller slate seems to have struck a snag in naming Hon. John Philip Hill for Senator. Mr. Hill's well-known "wetness," strange to say, seems to develop a double opposition to his candidacy. The "drys" in the party throughout the state naturally oppose him, while the city "wets" want him to continue as candidate for re-election to Congress from the Third district, fearing that if he becomes a candidate for the Senate the Republicans will lose the district. The Senatorial venture, therefore, appears not to exactly please either "wets" or "drys," but does please Mr. Hill.

Mr. Hill has emphatically stated that he is not receptive to withdrawing from the contest, as has been suggested to him by certain city leaders; in fact, that he means to "stay," and has reasons to believe that he will receive the nomination at the primaries, and be elected when the time comes, a year hence.

Recently, he invited the dissenting Ward leaders to a conference to "talk the matter over," and then leaders have declined, saying that they are for Weller for Senator—in fact "pledged" to him—but would support him (Hill) for Congress.

In the meantime, Senator Weller appears to be quietly "sawing wood" and has had "nothing to say" over the attempt to oust him as a candidate for re-election, but so far as heard from, he too expects to "stay" in the race.

Trust Company Resources.

Resources totaling over $264,000,000 were reported by Maryland trust companies on June 30, 1925, according to "Trust Companies of the United States," just published by the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, of New York. This figure represents a gain of more than $36,000,000. The 2701 reporting companies of the United States had total assets of $18,145,673,477, an increase of $2,120,171,230 over last year. Deposits were in excess of $15,000,000,000, an increase of $1,800,000,000 over last year.

President John W. Platten, of the United States Mortgage & Trust Company, in analyzing the figures for 1925, says:

"The position of the Trust Companies, measured in terms of growth and prosperity, is an accurate index of the standing which they have won through constantly increasing usefulness and a more highly specialized service to their hosts of patrons.

Current conditions and present favoring auspices justify a most optimistic outlook for this powerful branch of our Nation's banking structure."

Christmas Greens.

Before long the Christmas green vandals will be out in full force. The law against this promiscuous pilfering is very explicit and is found in Chapter 179 Acts of 1918. This law states that no one may remove, take, cut, break, injure, or destroy any tree or shrub from the property of another without the written consent of the owner, or under his personal direction; any violation is punishable by a fine of not less than $5.00 or imprisonment for not less than 30 days or both.

This law is not part of the forestry code, and therefore, the warden cannot make an arrest without warrant, but they can be very helpful in breaking up this practice by getting the number of any machine whose occupants are gathering the trees, and notifying the owner of the property what has been going on.

A Florida Liner Burned.

The Clyde line steamship, Lenape, was destroyed by fire, on Wednesday, while on her way from Philadelphia to Florida. The lives of 367 passengers were saved except a man of 70, trying to climb into a lifeboat, was drowned. The fire was discovered 10 miles off Atlantic City, and a strenuous effort was made to save the vessel.

By the use of Radio, coast guard vessels were summoned and the passengers saved after the vessel had been run on her own steam into the calm sea of the Delaware breakwater. The loss is estimated at $3,000,000.

Marriage Licenses.

A bad railroad accident—a collision—killed 12 people near Monmouth Junction, N. J., last week. A searching investigation is being made, and heavy damages will be required. Here is a bad accident, such as occurs perhaps once or twice in a year, and the newspapers headline it. Automobiles kill twice as many people every week, and most such accidents are "unavoidable." The Railroad Companies are "soaked," and auto drivers are "salved." Why?

The Italian debt problem seems to be satisfactorily settled, on the basis of a payment of principal and interest totaling $2,407,000,000 covering a period of 62 years, the payments per year beginning with $5,000,000 and gradually increasing to $80,000,000 a year. This plan will work out all right, providing there are no exceptional hindrances, such as another big war—and 62 years is a long while in which to expect a condition of peace to exist in Europe.

Evidently, the Republicans will have a primary election fight, next year. Well, the law provides for such an entertainment, and we see no good reason for trying too "boo" anybody out of the contest so early in the game. Calling names and splitting up a party into horny factions never did any party any good, and it will not, next year. The probability is that the best men in the party for the various offices, are keeping their mouths shut.

The Outlook for Radio.

The result of the radio convention recently held in Washington, was extremely harmonious and all of the various large interests united on the main points at issue; that the radio receiving public is entitled to first consideration in the matter of broadcasting, that the indiscriminate granting of permits to broadcasters must cease; that all broadcasting stations will be required to send out only worth-while programs; that there must be curtailment of the present number of stations; that interference between stations must be rectified.

That Congress must legislate on the subject in general, in order that broadcasting can be standardized and controlled by law; that one of the main aims will be to have radio messages reach the less public sections, and that farmers will be especially considered in the character of programs. In general, the conclusion was that less stations and better programs, and the elimination of unnecessary duplication of stations in present congested centres, is the object aimed at.

Secretary Hoover, in a radio speech on Thursday night of last week, clearly outlined something like the foregoing program, and it will now be up to Congress to take the necessary steps toward straightening out the present go-as-you-please conditions. On the whole, the outlook is most encouraging to radioists of the present and future, for better things to come.

Startling, if True.

"It cost the states of the Union twice as much for education in 1923 as in 1918."

This is a "filler" taken from the Dearborn Independent of last week. We do not know the authority for it, but likely it has good foundation. The startling thing about it is that the period covered is but five years, and that the years of 1924 and 1925, if included, would likely show a greater increase in cost—not so much of real "education," we suspect, as for the equipment of education factories.

Of course, we can't say as yet that the product has not been worth the increased cost, for the excellent reason that it has not yet had time to demonstrate its value. Perhaps in course of time this double cost education is going to pay the states back, for the double expenditures? If it does, then the investment—the increase in taxes—is justified. If it does not, then there is no justification in doubling up the cost of schools within five years.

There are a lot of things in life that we must wait for, and this is one of them. All new things—all so-called "improvements"—all of the new investments we are making in order to keep up with "the times," or somebody's estimate of what "the times" now require, are not sure to turn out as the promoters claim. There are "booms" and "drives" and "good things" promoted that are just as much "sucker" games as are promotion of some stock and real estate schemes that leave a trail of financial loss.

Will it be Popular?

This is the question that many people ask, before committing themselves to an action, or opinion. In effect, it is their motto to do that which is "popular"—that which most people will approve. As we believe in—or at least practice—"majority" rule, why should we not try to cater to the "majority"? Perhaps in most cases this is a safe enough, and justifiable enough, conclusion; but, there are exceptions to it.

In the first place, we should be absolutely sure of what we mean by being "popular," and what we mean by "the people" and "majority." Isn't it true that we often mean pleasing a certain active number, or prominent "set," without considering that portion of a majority of all the people that never makes much noise, and often needs to be considered because of their inability to help themselves? Do we not very often consider, first, the wishes of those who may be in a position to do us the most harm, in business or otherwise?

In other words, do we not often play "politics," or "because it's business," in making our decisions? It requires a brave man, at times—a man of strong character and convictions—to decide to do right, whether it be popular, or not; and but few, if the test be strong enough, consistently follow conscientious conviction.

Popularity is a fine thing—a very powerful thing; but, honesty and straight integrity is still finer, though it may not be powerful. Many of our best men are not popular, as the word is commonly used. They are not "popular" enough to be a candidate for public office, though their honesty and ability, otherwise, is unquestioned. And, that is the policy we prefer to pursue—we want the man who is suave, genial, a "good mixer"—and we appear willing to pay the price for him.

Booze Propaganda Concealed in Fiction.

We see by the Sunday paper that Sam Hellman, which for all we know is his real name, is against prohibition. That is Sam's privilege of course. But Sam supplies alleged humor to the Sunday paper and in this case he gets off his pro-liquor arguments under cover of the remarks of a fiction character by the name of Higgins. All told, Higgins supplies the people with about a foot and a half of argument against the W. C. T. U., the Anti-Saloon League, the Churches and all the other dries and in favor of the nullification of the prohibition amendment.

Then Will Rogers has taken to writing advertisements for a tobacco company. Will is something of a national institution and a real honest to goodness humorist. A few years ago the tobacco people were suffering hysteria and hydrophobia for fear that the prohibition which had descended on the liquor industry would hit them next. Possibly by way of keeping the prohibition soothed, Will fills his tobacco advertising with anti-prohibition argument.

Of course it is humor and no one is supposed to take it seriously, nevertheless it creates a false impression and it is amazing how many voters depend for information on just such matter. Incidentally, Mr. Rogers is perhaps very much wealthier than he would have been but for prohibition inasmuch as prohibition has benefited the theatre to an amazing degree.

A best seller of the type for which we have a weakness is the next offender. The hero is one of these handsome chaps just out of a collar advertisement who can lick a mob with one hand and always winds up by marrying a princess who is disguised by such amazing beauty that no one would ever suspect her of being a princess. It is a highly interesting story but is considerably less interesting because the hero stops by the wayside to take a few side swipes at the prohibition law.

The prohibition law suffers from this kind of unfair opposition continually. When anti-prohibition argument is put into the mouths of fiction characters, cartoon characters, vaudeville actors, "humor" writers, etc., it is foul tactics. Of course the usual argument is that this stuff has no effect one way or the other, but it wouldn't do to tell that to a newspaper man, an advertising expert, or a "propagandist." It is effective with a certain type of people and it is unfair. The people have a right when they purchase a novel not to find it salted with propaganda, when they go to a show to find it inoffensive, and when they read "humor" to find it humorous and nothing else.—M. E. Church Board of Temperance.

Self-Command.

To rule the citadel of one's own being is a necessary precedent to the command of others. They said of Washington that he had a fiery temper, but had it under exemplary control. A teacher who has firm-handed schoolroom discipline begins at her own desk. The head of a business corporation that radiates over a hemisphere has quiet sessions in his office with his own mind before he issues an executive decision. The country feels confidence in the present head of the republic because it has every reason to believe him a man of equilibrium, cool reason and self-command. In war an army trusts and follows a general who carries out for himself the kind of orders that he gives to members of his staff and, through them, to the rank and file.

The hold of Lincoln on his countrymen began with his hold upon himself. With every temptation to vent his spleen, his chagrin, his aching sorrows and crushing disappointments on those about him, he bore his great burden uncomplainingly; he set a noble example that some men still live by every day, though the Nation was robbed of him by the assassin more than sixty years ago. We put our trust in him because he required of his nation and his countrymen no more than he had bound and trained himself to do; the iron will, the inflexible purpose, held the man he was to the work he did, even as his strong hand guided the Nation through the great ordeal.—Phila. Ledger.

Ancient "Strong Box" Has Intricate Lock

Heave to, reader, and take a look at an old sea chest. One that any old-time pirate in good standing would have given three yards of his mustache to possess.

It rests in the front room of the home of F. S. Allen of Los Angeles. Mr. Allen devotes his time to collecting antiques and when he saw this old iron chest over in Italy he bought it. It's a battered old box made of iron. It was brought up from the bottom of the Mediterranean sea, where it reposed hundreds of years. As far as Mr. Allen can trace its history, the chest apparently was on board one of the ships that made up a Spanish armada of sixteen ships that went down in a storm in the Straits of Messina, in 1258. Mr. Allen discovered it among a lot of other curios in the San Mateo monastery up in the hills back of Naples.

It has a lock on it that spreads all over the under side of the lid like a big metal spider web. When the lid is shut there are a couple of hasps that come down on the front side of the chest, through which a big iron bar is run and a padlock attached.

You remove the big padlock, undo the hasps and lift, but your lift doesn't get you anywhere. The lid won't come up. If you are clever enough you discover that one of the rivet heads on top of the chest moves on a spring, revealing a big keyhole. You insert the key, give her a twist and eleven bolts are sprung back, releasing the lid. There is a dummy keyhole on the front side of the chest. It was put there to tease the pirates.—Los Angeles Times.

Rocks Centuries Old

On the site where Trinity church, New York city, now stands, great glaciers were grinding their paths, leaving their traces on granite and other ancient stones 40,000 years ago. Evidence to support this conclusion has been unearthed by engineers who have just completed the task of underpinning the foundation of the church to prevent injury to the edifice from the rumbling subways to the east and west of the plot.

During the digging, according to engineers, ice-worn stones, deposited perhaps during the Second Glacial period, or about 40,000 years ago, were found. The specimens were of granite, traprock and serpentine and were recovered just above the hardpan.—Detroit News

GUNSTON HALL HOME OF GREAT AMERICAN

Built by George Mason, Far-Seeing Statesman.

In 1750, at a plantation in Maryland near the Potomac river, a wedding took place, and to it flocked the planters and their ladies from miles around in Maryland and Virginia, writes Mary Mayo Crenshaw in St. Nicholas. It was the marriage of George Mason, fourth of the name in this country and scion of a very ancient family, to Ann Eilbeck, sixteen years old and already a great belle and beauty. Mason, then twenty-five years old, was described by a contemporary as "young, wealthy, handsome and talented."

Soon after the wedding the young couple began to build their new famous home, Gunston hall. It was named in honor of George Mason's ancestral home in England. They threw themselves wholeheartedly into the task. Mason himself was the architect. He had woodcarvers come over from England, and for three years these worked on the classic designs which lend such charm to the home, and which have been copied by some of America's greatest architects. At the end of this time the stately mansion was finished and a house-warming was held. Scores of guests came from miles around in their gilded chariots and quaint coaches, or in boats from the Maryland side. Two of the nearest neighbors, Lord Fairfax and George Washington, must have been there to drink the health of the young pair—Washington then a tall young man eighteen years of age. And we can imagine the pride of the slender young wife in her beautiful new home, and seem to see her in the soft candlelight dancing the minuet or the Sir Roger de Coverley.

Mason was destined to become one of the most famous statesmen of America. He lived at Gunston hall during the remainder of his life. John Este Cooke in his delightful history of Virginia has said:

"Mason was called upon to draft the Virginia bill of rights and constitution, and did so. The former is the most remarkable paper of the epoch, and was the foundation of the great American assertion of right. Jefferson went to it for the phrases and expressions of the Declaration, and it remains the original chart by which free governments must steer their course in all coming time."

All of it found its way into the Constitution of the United States, and the first ten amendments of the latter were taken bodily from the bill of rights.

The year 1925 is the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Mason. Proper observances are to be held on October 26 at Gunston hall. But there is a perpetual memorial, not limited by time, not temporary, but unceasing, to this great man, in the country he helped so much to found and in the reverent hearts of a whole people.

No Eggs for the Band

"Once on a western tour," Mr. Damrosch relates, "we struck a town where the hotel accommodation was very, very poor. A dozen members of the orchestra had to put up in a hotel where the rate was $1 a head for dinner, bed and breakfast. It didn't seem to be worth more, either."

"When the men went down to the dining room for breakfast in the morning they were led to an untidy table by a frowzy maid. The maid was busy taking their orders when the proprietor put his head in at the door and called:

"Lizzie, no eggs for the band!" "This speech," Mr. Damrosch ended, "spread among the orchestra, and for the rest of the season, whenever some demand was made upon me that I couldn't grant, the men would smile and shake their heads and repeat: "Lizzie, no eggs for the band!"

"Stinging Snake" a Myth

The biological survey says that the "stinging snake" myth apparently originated more than 200 years ago and is reported to have been first published in an old "Report to Lords Proprietors of the Carolinas." John Clayton also mentions this myth in a letter to the Royal society of London in 1688. In the first mentioned report it is asserted that there lived in the Carolinas a snake whose tail was a poisoned horn or spike. This account refers to the horn or stinging snake, which is harmless. The horn snake is bluish-black with a few red bars across the belly. The tail of this snake tapers to a fine point having the appearance of a horn or spike, but it is quite incapable of piercing or stinging anything.

Reason for Joyfulness

The day seems to be arrived when there is really so much to make us think well of the destiny of mankind; such fair reason to rejoice in the mere fact of existence; so large a promise of ever-extending human knowledge and insight; such general softening of manners, spreading of intelligence and enlarging of average happiness, that it appears more becoming for man, the chief at least of animals, to be singing with the lark in the sky than croaking with the frog in the swamp.—Sir Edwin Arnold.

Steam Power Dream

A German has devised a plan for forcing water to a chamber three miles below the surface of the earth, and thus turning it into steam that will supply power for plants above.

ON THE HONOR ROLL OF BANKS

Boosting Pays

Little is ever gained by finding fault, by scolding, nagging or knocking. Be at least a booster for your own business, it pays.

That's why we are boosting our business in a modern way right now through newspaper advertising. Our Bank is a Booster Bank. We want more business. We want to see our bank growing bigger, stronger, every year, and it is doing just that. Why? Because we try to boost instead of knock and the people appreciate the fact.

Vulcanite Production

Practically all rubber intended for commercial uses is treated at a high temperature with sulphur, with the result that it becomes enormously hardened. When, however, the proportion of sulphur used is very high, the production is vulcanite—a rubbery compound of such extreme hardness as to resemble ebony. Vulcanite indeed looks very much like ebony, and is often called ebonite. In this form, it is frequently used as a substitute for horn, ivory or bone, in such articles as combs, knife handles, pipe stems, buttons, and the like. The word is derived from Vulcan, the God of Fire of the ancient Romans.

Famous Bells

In the world today are 180 carillons. Of these 134 are in Belgium and the Netherlands. The rest are scattered in other parts of Europe, the United States and Canada.

Eleven carillons were destroyed in the World war, but already three of these have been replaced.

Links Famous Buildings

A stone from St. Paul's cathedral, London, displaced owing to the repairs now being made to the famous edifice, has been brought to America to be placed on the campus of the school of Journalism at the University of Missouri.

AN APPEAL

To the Friends of Education in Carroll County.

WESTERN MARYLAND COLLEGE was offered by the last Legislature of the State of Maryland a Building to cost $125,000 conditioned upon Western Maryland College raising $250,000 for endowment.

WESTERN MARYLAND COLLEGE was further offered by the General Education Board (the Rockefeller Foundation) another $125,000 for endowment conditioned upon Western Maryland College raising $375,000 to be added to its endowment, in which sum the $250,000 to meet the State's requirement should be included.

Here then was a proposition to increase the endowment of Western Maryland College by $500,000 and secure a new building costing $125,000 if $375,000 could be raised.

A vigorous Campaign was carried on last Spring and $300,000 was secured in pledges. THERE REMAINS $75,000 TO BE SECURED. The Campaign was unavoidably halted during the summer months, but must now be resumed.

Carroll County's quota in this Fund was put at $100,000. Of this amount $75,000 was pledged. If Carroll County's quota were completed, Western Maryland College would only have $50,000 to raise to complete the Fund.

Believing there are friends of education in Carroll County who would be willing to aid in so worthy a cause, and who have not been reached by the Campaign as carried on, this appeal is made to contribute to this remainder.

WESTERN MARYLAND COLLEGE is rated A1 by the Association of Colleges of the Middle States and Maryland. It is a credit to the State and Carroll County in particular, and deserves to succeed in the completion of this Fund.

A contribution can be made in cash, or in such instalments as may be most convenient. Remittances should be sent to W. R. McDaniel, Treas., Westminster, Md.

(Signed)

"Excuse it please?"

YOUR telephone rings and you answer it, only to hear the familiar "Number, please?"

"Didn't you ring me, operator?" you ask.

"There is no one on the line now," she says,

"will you excuse it, please?"

Annoying, isn't it? But just who is to blame?

Of course, the operator may have made a mistake but suppose that some one gives your number to the operator by mistake, discovers his error and hangs up. When you answer there will be "no one on the line." Suppose some one starts to call you, then changes his mind and hangs up—again, "no one on the line." Suppose that because you do not answer at once the person calling concludes that you are out, and hangs up—"no one on the line."

"But," you may ask, "why does the operator act as though expecting me to make a call in such cases, instead of explaining that whoever called me has hung up?" The answer is this: the operator who answered you was not the one who rang your bell. The call may have been made through any one of a number of other operators. Thus the chances are greatly against the operator who answers you knowing anything about the abandoned call.

So, realizing that you have been inconvenienced, there is nothing for her to but apologize for another's mistake.

"There is no one on the line now. Will you excuse it, please!"

A Husking Party.

(For the Record).

A husking surprise was held on Nov. 17, 1925, for E. H. Flickinger. Those present for corn husking were: Mr. and Mrs. John T. Reaver, daughters, Bell and Pauline, and son, Melvin, and the Erb family. Those present in the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Flickinger, Pigeon Hills; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kepner, Hanover; Mr. and Mrs. George Gross, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown and Ora Brown. Oysters and other refreshments were served. Games were played until a late hour, then they all left for home very happy.

A Corn Husking Party.

(For the Record).

On account of John Moser being in bed, in a very bad condition, a corn husking party was held on Monday afternoon, when his friends and neighbors gathered together and husked his corn, about 1200 bushels, in four and one-half hours.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Eyer, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Moser, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dinterman, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stonesifer, Mr. and Mrs. John Ohler; Messrs A. J. Ohler, George Myers, John Aulthouse, Robert Anders, Chas. Anders, David Stonesifer, Tolbert Stonesifer, Peter Baumgardner, Calvin Hahn, Roscoe Frock, Clarence Stonesifer, Charley Cluts, Wm. J. Stonesifer, Emory Valentine, John Stonesifer, Buddy Stonesifer, Gay Frock, Albert Welty, John Frock, Charles Devilbiss, Gordon Stonesifer, Merle Eckard, George Frock, Maurice Hahn, Harry Welty, James Kiser, George Diehl, Wm. Troxell, C. W. Young, George Ritter, Wm. Anders, Claude Biddinger, Samuel Boyd, John Duple, Luther Anders, Upton Austin, Thomas Fox, Harry Forney, James Sanders, Harvey Shorb, Clarence Derr, Harry Anders, Russell Eckard, Mrs. Kathryn Moser, Misses Evelyn Moser, Laura Shelton, Kathryn Dinterman, Hazel Stonesifer and little Richard Ohler.

Mr. Moser wishes to thank each and everyone for their kindness and thoughtfulness of him.

KEYMAR.

Reginald Lowman and sons, George and Jean, spent last Thursday, with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Winemiller, near Taneytown.

Rev. and Mrs. Homer Richmond, of Union Bridge, were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Leakin, on Monday evening.

Mrs. W. H. Otto, son Thomas, spent last week-end with the former's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Clemson, Frederick.

The Taneytown and Keymar road is a disgrace to Carroll County. Wouldn't it be a good idea to have the County Commissioners taken over the road in their new autos by some good chauffeur who could speed the car, and see what they would think of the so-called "pike"? The road is not fit to drive a car or drive a horse on, even at a walk. One man said he had to walk the so-called "pike," one evening after a rain. The first thing he knew, he was in the water over shoe-top, and how to get out he didn't know. Said the road wasn't even fit to walk over at night.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Barr, of Chicago, who had been spending the past five months in Washington, Baltimore, Gettysburg and Keymar, at the home of Mrs. Barr's summer residence, and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Galt, left for Chicago last Monday evening.

Mrs. Dr. Artie B. Angell daughter, Margaret, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Nettie Sappington, of Hagerstown, spent last week-end at the home of Mrs. Fannie Sappington, this place.

Mrs. A. S. Burkholder spent a few days recently in N. Y. City, with her daughter, Mary, who is a student at Columbia University, and on her return she also visited Mrs. H. B. Bowels, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Mary Wisner, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Strine, son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Marie Wilhide and daughter, and Mrs. Len Haugh, of near Detour, were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Haugh, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Forrest and son, Elvin, spent last Sunday in Gettysburg, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Forrest.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Jamison and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jamison, of Spring Grove, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Burkholder, Sunday, Nov. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Weaver, daughter, Sarah, of Fairfield, spent last Sunday afternoon at the home of the former's uncle, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Galt.

NORTH EAST CARROLL.

Preaching at St. David's (Sherman's) Sunday morning, by Rev. E. M. Sando, at 10 o'clock, Sunday School, at 9 o'clock. St. David's choir is rehearsing under direction of Paul Rosh, for a cantata, "A new Born King," to be presented December 27th. The choir consists of twenty voices.

Sunday evening, Nov. 22, the Reformed Missionary Society will hold their thank-offering program.

Noah C. Rohrbach and family, moved, on Thursday last, from Pleasant Hill to the farm recently purchased from Joel Baugher, Brodbeck's R. D. 1. Mr. Baugher and family will leave in about 10 days for Florida, where they intend to make their future home.

Visitors at the home of Edmund Yost and family, Sunday, were: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. John Yost, and daughter, Louisa and son, John.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kopp and daughter, Romaine, and son Denton, visited Paul Coppersmith and family, on Sunday.

Clarence Nace, of Green Valley, made a business trip to Baltimore on Tuesday.

MARRIED

STONESIFER—RITTER.

Mr. J. Russell Stonesifer and Miss Lydia Anna Ritter, both of Keysville, were united in marriage, on Tuesday, Nov. 17, in Union Bridge, by Rev. P. H. Williams, pastor of the Union Bridge Lutheran Church.

RINAMAN—REESE.

Mr. Raymond Wheeler Rinaman and Miss Martha Irene Reese, both of this county, were united in marriage on Thursday, November 12, 1925, at 4 o'clock, P. M., by Elder George F. Bowers, at his home near Bethel Church.

Mrs. Mary Caroline Buffington, widow of the late Alexander Buffington, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Barber, near Beaver Dam, Friday, Nov. 13, aged 88 years of age. She is survived by two sons, William E., of Baltimore, and Ira B., of McKinstry, and one daughter, Mrs. Barber. The funeral met at the house Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and services were held at the Beaver Dam old order, Church of the Brethren. Interment in the cemetery adjoining.

MRS. AGNES BABYLON.

Mrs. Agnes, widow of the late John Thomas Babylon, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Formwalt, in Hanover, Thursday afternoon, aged 79 years, 3 months, 13 days. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Paul Formwalt, Mrs. Janet A. Babylon, and Mrs. William Dubs, Hanover; and by three brothers, William Arthur Frizellburg; Robert Arthur, York, and Charles Arthur, Dayton, O.

The funeral will be held from the home on Saturday, at 1:30 P. M., with services following at Baust Church, in charge of Rev. Murray E. Ness, assisted by Rev. F. S. Bromer, of Hanover.

Also by three sisters and two brothers; Mrs. Thomas Grindler, Union Bridge; Mrs. Fannie Keeler, Westminster; Mrs. John Frock, Frederick; Samuel Otto, of Linwood, and Howard, of New York.

Funeral will be held this Saturday, at the home, at 1:30 followed by services and interment at Haugh's Church, in charge of Rev. Sorrick.

In Sad, but Loving Remembrance of my dear wife and mother, EMMA J. STULL,
who departed this life one year ago today,
Nov. 20, 1924.

At the bedside of my dear wife:
Day by day and night by night,
I watched her loving hands grow thinner
And saw her slowly fade away.

We tried so hard to keep her with us,
But God willed that she should go;
We yielded to the parting,
Though it filled our hearts with woe.

Her eyes are closed that looked on life
Through mists of pain and tears,
But God has opened them above,
To smile through endless years.

She wore a crown of patience,
Through the years she struggled on;
Those hands that rest forever
Are the hands that made our home.
By her Loving HUSBAND & CHILDREN.

CHRISTMAS $1.00 Stationery Offer.

It is socially proper as well as businesslike to use printed stationery. It is also economical and apt to result in having paper and envelopes on hand, when needed. We have filled hundreds of orders received by mail for our $1.00 offer, and have not had a single complaint.

200 sheets Hammermill Bond paper, 5 1/2 x 8 1/2, unruled, padded on request, with 100 size 6 1/2 envelopes to match. Printed either in dark blue, or black. Not over 4 lines neat type, the same form on both paper and envelopes. Envelopes printed on back or front. Unless otherwise directed, orders for ladies will be printed on back, and for gentlemen, on front.

Instead of name, an Old English initial letter can be used, if desired. Initial stationery should have a box number, or street address.

When desired, ruled paper will be furnished (167 sheets) with 100 size 6 1/2 envelopes.

We do not print envelopes alone, or paper alone, at 50c.

Cash with order, when sent by mail. Write instructions, and copy for the printing, very plainly. When mailed to 3rd and 4th Zones, add 5c; to 5th Zone, or further, add 10c.

Stucco Used Long Ago to Beautify Temples

The homebuilder of today is perhaps apt to think of stucco as more or less of an innovation, something very new and modern. But stucco, like many other things of beauty, had its beginnings back in the dim Dark Ages. The temple of Apollo at Bassal in Greece, built about 470 B. C. of yellow sandstone, was faced entirely, both inside and out, with stucco. The stucco was an ideal ground for the decorative polychrome painting which at that period of Grecian history had reached a very high degree of beauty. Not only the wall but also the temple pavements were made of a specially resistant stucco and stained in various patterns with gay pigments. As almost all early art was in the decorative field it would have been very difficult for the artists of those bygone days to have progressed very far without some material of the type of stucco to provide the groundwork for their artistic labors. We are now using these same decorative schemes on the walls of the modern home, perhaps soon we shall be using them on the floors as well.

"Orange House" for New York

Evans Hubbard, secretary of the Netherlands-America foundation, made a short visit to Holland recently to discuss the plans of the foundation of a "house of Orange" in New York. The foundation intends to have a big house on Fifth avenue which ultimately will become the seat of the foundation, the Dutch consulate, the Netherlands Chamber of Commerce, an exhibition hall for Dutch produce, a booking office for travelers, a reading room and so on. An old Dutch facade will be constructed. It is intended to inaugurate the "house of Orange" in 1926 on the occasion of the 300th anniversary of the foundation of New Amsterdam.

They Never Grow Up

"In spite of the fact that we place note pads on the wall at the side of every room telephone, nearly all our guests insist on writing their memoranda of telephone numbers on the wall," declared the manager of a downtown bachelor hotel. "It's never a malicious idea with them. It's just an outcropping of the strongest urge of childhood—to scribble on a clean space of wall. Somehow, men don't seem to be able to forget this fascination."

Looking into the Synchronphase, showing the Grebe Synchronphase, whereby all dials may be set by operating one.

One Dial sets them all—

The Grebe Synchronphase offers the first Flexible Unit Control

Two or all three dials may be set by rotating one—or each dial may be adjusted separately. Thus, in the Synchronphase you have, at your option, a receiver of one, two or three-dial control. It means ease and speed in accurate tuning, not enjoyed by owners of other receivers.

The now famous Grebe Binocular Coils and S-L-F Condensers which give extreme "Selective Sensitivity", and the new Grebe Low-Wave Extension Circuits, place the Synchronphase at the forefront of radio receivers.

Ask for demonstration of the many exclusive Grebe features; then compare.

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

THE RASPBERRY TRAIL

IN GREAT agitation, Sloopwinder Wompers burst in on Waxine Beams, the beautiful lady detective, and she was at work on her forthcoming volume, "How to Exercise the Tongue to Improve the Taste."

"Read this!" he panted, slapping down a badly scrawled, badly stained note, reading: "If you fail to put $300 under the back gate at midnight to night, your sun will be put to death."

"My child has disappeared as completely as though the earth had swallowed him up! And to think—the disgrace of it!—his abductors can't even spell correctly and value his priceless life at only $381! Oh, the shame! And such a vulgar note, all covered with stains! The unspeakable humiliation of it!"

"Stains are my specialty," said Miss Penns cheerfully as she passed her dainty tongue lightly over the note. "H'm. So."

After an hour's search in the neighborhood of the Wompers home, she found a small boy licking an all-day snuff behind a barrel.

"What flavor is it, sonny?" she asked wimply.

"Rasberry," he replied.

"As I thought. How do you spell it?"

"F-a-l-e."

"As I thought. Come with me, young Wompers."

And as a reward for coming along without making her chase him, she stopped to give him time to pick some grass to stuff into the back of his trousers.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day, lucky jewel

MELINDA

TOUGH not generally listed in English nomenclature and regarded rather as a product of the South in this country, Melinda has in reality an interesting history dating back to Spanish ballad lore. In that remote era, she was undoubtedly Melisenda and first appeared as the name of the wife of Don Gayferos who was taken captive by the Moors, on the occasion of the feats that were represented by the puppet shows in which Don Quixote took an unfortunately lively interest.

Another Melisenda was Princess Melisenda who carried the uneasy crown of Jerusalem to the House of Anjou. It was a most natural step to eliminate the overabundance of syllables and contract the name to our present-day euphonious Melinda. For some inexplicable reason it caught the fancy of the South and its popularity there is still unquestioned.

The opal is Melinda's talismanic stone. It is the most mysterious and fascinating of all gems and is believed to bestow upon its wearer the charm which comes from brilliancy, restlessness and ever-changing moods. It will prove for Melinda a talisman against sorrow. Monday is her lucky day and 1 her lucky number.

RIDING ON A RAILROAD TRAIN

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

RIDING on a railroad train,
Through the sunshine, through the rain,
Has so much of pleasure in it,
Something lovely every minute!—
Always crossing little brooks,
Always passing shady nooks,
Shadows made for folks to wade in,
Meadows for the children played in,
Far-off forests, fences, fields,
Every moment something yields,
God's great sky forever o'er you,
All of earth spread out before you.

Riding on a railroad train
How can anyone complain,
Ever worry, ever weary,
Say it's long, or slow, or dreary,
With so many things to see:
Snowy fields or leafy tree?—
Passing mansion, cottage, dwelling,
Every house of something telling,
Stopping at some little town
Quaint and queer and tumble-down,
Touched a little with God's glory,
Just unwinding like a story.

Riding on a railroad train,
Through the mountain, o'er the plain,
Where your journey doesn't matter—
There is music in the clatter,
For you always find a friend
And a haven at the end.
So it is, and so our life is—
What the joy is, what the strife is,
Life is like a railroad train,
Bearing us through sun and rain
On some way that we have found us,
With God's beauty all around us.

YOUR Last Name

IS IT SCHAEFFER?

SCHAEFFER always appears to be a name of German origin, though most of those who bear it in this country now are 100 per cent Americans. The first of the name to come here was Alexander Schaeffer, a native of the Palatine. He went to England and then settled in this country in 1728.

Possibly the largest family of Schaeffers is descended from David Schaeffer, who came from Frankfort in 1776 and settled in Pennsylvania. He was a learned Hebrew and a staunch Lutheran. Charles Ashmead Schaeffer, a noted educator, was one of his descendants. George Schaeffer, a pioneer in Pennsylvania, is also to be mentioned, as is Nathan C. Schaeffer, well-known educator and writer.

MORRIS: There are many theories as to the origin of this name. It is sometimes said to be derived from the first name Maurice. Again it is claimed by one branch of the family that they are descended from Maur Rhys. The one who first bore this name was a companion of Richard de Clare, known as Strongbow. He took part in the Anglo-Norman conquest of Ireland, in 1171. His name was Rgyrs at first, but as indication of his valor, he was subsequently known as Maur Rhys. The American branch of the family making this claim was founded here by Richard Morris, who arrived in New York in 1668. He purchased 2,000 acres of land in what is now the borough of the Bronx in New York.

A more usual and possibly more likely theory is that Morris has the meaning of Moor, and dates from the days when Christian Europe was at war with Moors and Saracens. It is quite likely that the one who first was given the name Morris took the part of a Moor in a pagan or old morality play.

To Make Silage Out of Soft Corn Crop

Chop Fine and Pack Tightly Is Plan Urged.

There is a lack of silo room in many places for the whole corn crop should it be frosted or immature. Because the ears are the most valuable part they should be saved in any event. It is difficult to save the ears of a soft corn crop by storage in cribs. In 1917 the Iowa experiment station demonstrated that soft ears in the late roasting stage could be husked, run through a silage cutter, and tightly packed into silos with very good results. The silage resulting after 12 days of fermentation was of surprisingly good quality and held its flavor so well that at the end of two months it was in excellent feeding condition. Silage can be made in ten or twelve days and will probably be ready to feed two weeks after filling.

"It is not necessary to husk the corn in order to make soft-ear silage," says Andrew Boss of University Farm, St. Paul, Minn. "Snapped corn can be handled just as satisfactorily as the husked corn and the husks give the advantage of greater bulk and additional feed."

"The Iowa station urges chopping the corn finely in making ear-corn silage and packing it tightly in the silo by tramping, especially near the walls. Silage made from ears that are partially matured may require the addition of water to insure proper packing and prevent overheating and molding in the silage-making process. Silage made from ear corn should be covered with a layer of finely cut corn fodder or stover. If such a cover is not provided there will be too much waste of valuable corn. It is not advisable to make silage of mature or nearly mature corn. The cobs prevent packing and they do not contain sufficient sugar to permit the fermentation which is necessary for preservation. "Ear corn silage should be fed as a concentrate, not as a roughage."

Red Mites Disposed of With Very Little Work

The common red mites which often infest the hen house and kill or stunt chickens may be disposed of effectively with a little labor. These suggestions are offered by the poultry extension men at Iowa State college.

1. Clean up the filth around the hen house, ventilate thoroughly and let plenty of sunshine into the house.
2. Construct removable roosts and dropping boards, allowing as few cracks as possible.
3. Paint or spray the roosts, walls around the roosts, dropping boards and nests with a full-strength solution of two parts oil to one part stock dip, or five gallons lime sulphur to 40 gallons of water. Applications should be made four to six times in spring, summer and fall, and in pairs, one following the other in five or six days.

Starting Team With Big Load Is Not Difficult

To the driver who would start his heavily loaded team here is a bit of excellent advice from the Horse Association of America:

The driver must hold his lines taut. Experience has shown that nearly all drivers get excited and push on the lines, thereby virtually turning the horses loose at the very moment that they need to be steadied by a moderate pressure on the bit. Whipping is worse than useless. The experience of practical teamsters proves conclusively that no pair of horses can or will exert their best efforts when fearful that they are about to be whipped. Fear interferes with the deliberate, careful placing of feet and legs.

FARM FACTS

Every weed steals water that is needed for crops. Kill the robbers.

In one year eggs and chickens worth $1,047,323,170 were produced in the United States.

Mixed carloads of fruit are hard to sell on the f. o. b. basis. The trade terms them "junk," or "drug store" cars, and is slow to bid on them.

Good buttermilk or skim milk is worth five cents per gallon for poultry feed. Keep the dry mash before the hens in open hoppers all the time.

In many sections sweet clover is being seeded for soil building purposes and in most cases limestone is being applied to the soil in preparation for the clover.

The average cost of the corn crop on 7,153 farms, according to a Department of Agriculture survey, was 82 cents a bushel, compared with a sale value of $1.10 a bushel.

Grimm alfalfa is generally recognized as harder and superior to most common varieties of alfalfa, although a few farmers have secured equally good stands and satisfactory yields from the common alfalfa.

Soy beans should be cut for hay when the beans in the largest pods appear about half grown. One successful grower says that they should be cut when the pods are yet slightly green and the beans beginning to get hard.

POULTRY

SELECT BREEDERS FOR NEXT SPRING

Now is the time to select the breeding stock for use next spring. This matter is often neglected until it is too late, and when the mating is made, mistakes are liable to be made. In the poultry business, success or failure starts in the breeding pen. If you select your birds for your breeding pen, you will have better stock next year. If they are mated with no selection, you cannot and will not make progress in the poultry business. The object of the breeding pen is to get good, healthy chicks, in the opinion of D. H. Hall, extension poultry husbandman at Clemson college.

In picking the males to breed from, remember that the male is one-half the flock. The male should be of the best type, and have vigor and strength. He should also stand up well on his legs, and possess the characteristics of his breed. For instance, your bird may be a Rhode Island Red in color, but may have a Wyandotte shape, and would not make a good breeder, because this Wyandotte shape would be undesirable in Reds.

Do not purchase a fine male and expect him to do all in the flock. Select the very best females to mate with him. In the poultry world at least, the females are as important as the males. A good female breeder should possess a well-proportioned body, and should be deep, broad and long. She should never have the appearance of an undeveloped male, but should always look feminine. The best type shows constitutional vigor and characteristics of the breed.

In selecting the breeders, the breed characteristics should be strong in both males and females. You will never be able to obtain a perfect breeder. Every fowl will have some defects and we must make up for these defects by selecting fowls that are strong where the other one is weak.

Do not expect all the chicks to be up to the standard. According to the laws of breeding, at least one-fourth will be of inferior grade and should be culled out.

Body Type in Fowls Is Quite Desirable Point

A bird of good body type must be deep and broad and show great length. She should be well developed in the breast and abdomen. Great length of back and keel is especially desirable. The bird should not be too loose feathered. This is generally shown by loose thigh feathers such as are shown by the Cocker. The under line should be fairly straight and long. The back should be long and horizontal (level). This, of course, varies with the breed. The Rhode Island Reds have the most level back, while the Leghorns have the most erect. The most desirable top line is the one which is the most horizontal.

The carriage of the bird should show a maximum amount of activity. The legs are generally placed behind the central portion of the body and are straight and wide apart.

A poor-producing hen generally stands erect. There are several outstanding types. These birds may be very shallow and cut away at the breast and abdomen. In the case of beefy individuals, the abdomen appears to be mainly made up of hard fat. Another type is commonly known as "bagging down." This is generally due to a short keel. Most birds with a deformed back are generally poor producers.—University of Illinois.

Too many poultrymen rely almost wholly on grain feeds during the winter. Green food, beef scraps, milk by-products and mineral matter are too often omitted altogether or fed too infrequently and sparingly. Oyster shell, prepared grit and charcoal, ready for the fowls at all times, provide mineral matter. Cabbage, beets, mangles and sprouted oats make excellent green foods; hung an inch higher than the head compels needed winter exercise. Any fresh vegetables, even raw potatoes, are a whole lot better than nothing of the kind at all.

For animal food, beef scraps serve the purpose splendidly. Milk by-products, when low priced, are used with excellent results and probably with greater returns, comparatively, than when fed to farm animals.

The more the birds eat, the more they lay, if the rations are properly compounded and fed skillfully.

Good winter production means unquestioned success. Now is the time to house comfortably and feed skillfully.—A. C. Smith, Chief of Poultry Division, University Farm.

Green Feed Essential

Notice how nice the yolks of the eggs you are using appear. Did you obtain eggs with nice rich, strong orange-color yolks last winter? If so, there were plenty of green foods furnished the hens. If the yolks were the watery, pale kind, it is certain that your hens failed to have green material. During the summer months plow up some of the yards about the sheds and plant rye and oats. The rye will always be accessible when the snow is off the ground.

Lesson for November 22

PAUL BEFORE FELIX

LESSON TEXT—Acts 24:1-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offense toward God, and toward men."—Acts 24:16.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Why Paul Was Not Afraid.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul Before Felix.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—Paul Before Felix: A Contrast.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC—How to Have a Good Conscience.

I. Paul Accused (vv. 1-9).
Paul was now in the hands of Felix who determined to hear his case after his accusers had come from Jerusalem.
Ananias, the high priest, and elders came with Tertullus, perhaps a Roman barrister, who formally made the accusation according to Roman law.
He began with flattery. He gave Felix the fullest praise when he and all the people knew that he lied, for Felix was one of the worst governors, destitute of morals and justice. He brought a four-fold charge against Paul:

1. "A Pestilent Fellow" (v. 5).
This would indicate a fellow utterly base and corrupt—a plague.
2. An Inciter of Rebellion, a Mover of Sedition (v. 5).
This they hoped would bring him into conflict with the Roman power.
3. That He Was the Ringleader of a Sect—a Schismatical Party—a Heretic (v. 5).
This was designed to throw contempt and suspicion upon the Christians, by this means to bring Paul into deeper trouble.

4. That He Had Profaned the Temple (v. 6).
In this charge we see the wickedness
again, they willfully suppressed facts.
II. Paul's Defense (vv. 10-21).
This is a splendid example of the strength and dignity of a man whose life is controlled by a noble purpose, and who has nothing to conceal, and will not distort or suppress facts.

1. Paul's Frankness and Courtesy
(v. 10).
Flattery is entirely wanting. He gave recognition of the fact that Felix had been ruler of this people long enough to be able to judge justly, as the habits and ways of the Jews were familiar to him; he then in a dignified manner assumes that Felix will render a just decision based on the facts of the case.

2. The Charge of Sedition Denied
(vv. 11-12).
He flatly and scornfully denied this charge, showing its utter falsity since the time was too short, it being but twelve days since he went to Jerusalem, and half of that time had been spent as a prisoner of the Romans.

3. The Charge of Heresy (vv. 14-16).
This he met by a concession and a denial. He admitted that he was of this "way" which they called heresy, but denied that Christians were schismatics. He showed clearly that his actions were in keeping with the Hebrew religion.

(1) He worshiped the same God
(v. 14).
(2) He fully believed in the same
Scriptures (v. 14).
(3) He had the same hope of a coming resurrection of the dead (v.
15).

He declared that he had as the principle of life a conscience void of offense before God and man.

(4) The Charge of Sacrilege or Profanation of the Temple (vv. 17-21).
This charge he refuted by showing:

(1) That he had come all the way from Greece (v. 17), to worship at the feast.
(2) That he did not come up empty-handed but had brought alms for his nation (v. 17).
(3) That there were not competent witnesses present to testify of his behavior in the temple (v. 19).
(4) By challenging his enemies to testify as to his conduct in the council (v. 20).

III. Felix Trembles Before Paul
(vv. 22-27).
This is a sort of a sequel to the trial. Wicked as Felix was, Paul's manner somehow won his favor, though he did not release him. His sentence was indulgent imprisonment, which kept him free from his enemies while under Roman protection. Felix sent for Paul that he might hear of Christ from him. Paul behaved himself aright before these sinners in high life. He reasoned of righteousness, self-control and of judgment to come, before Felix and his sinful wife with such power that Felix was terrified, and declared that he would hear Paul further at a convenient time. This was a most flimsy excuse for not changing his life and granting justice to Paul.

God's Bounties—How Can We Share
Them With Others?
(Thanksgiving Meeting)

Deuteronomy 28:1-9

1. By regarding ourselves as stewards not as proprietors. "It is required in stewards that a man be found faithful." A steward dispenses that which has been entrusted to him.
We have been entrusted with a goodly heritage. Of all the nations of the earth America is the most prosperous and privileged. The acceptance of God's bounty in the spirit of stewardship gives a right attitude of mind and heart towards God and man and largely determines both our purpose and action.

2. We can discharge our stewardship of God's bounties by actually sharing what we have with others.
Many doors of service are open. We would mention such a door as the Near East Relief. Our nation may be justly proud of its record here.
Ninety million dollars have been expended already in this work and another ninety million dollars are to be given to it. As a result of this expenditure, a hundred thousand helpless children have been rescued from starvation and given opportunity in life. It was the writer's privilege this summer to see the work of the Near East Relief in operation in the cities of Athens, Beirut and Jerusalem. One cannot look upon this work at close range without becoming a supporter of it and an enthusiast for it. To all those who believe in the "inasmuch" of Matthew 25:40, no greater door for the exercise of stewardship can be opened at this Thanksgiving season than the one known by the name—Near East Relief.

3. The support of Christian missions is another way of sharing our benefits and blessings. To the well instructed Christian this method takes pre-eminence over all others. It stands first but not alone. We are called to be good stewards of the grace of God. What that term, "The grace of God," implies may be seen in 1 Corinthians 1:4, 5, where we read,
"In everything ye are enriched by him." To share the riches of grace in Christ Jesus with others and to bring them into the realm where they may participate directly in the Christian inheritance by personal faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, is to manifest the true spirit of thanksgiving.

Spanish Counterfeiters Laugh at Authorities

Many a tourist in Spain has made the acquaintance of the Sevillian dollar, that mysterious counterfeit which contains more silver than a genuine 5-peseta piece and which, though a forgery, is tolerated. The duro sevillano holds a unique place in the history of coins. Its origin goes back to the days of the war in Cuba and the Philippines, when the Spanish government, in want of money, increased the circulation of silver dollars minted for about half their face value. Counterfeiters seized the opportunity to set up a rival mint which has never been discovered and in which duros sevillanos are produced. It is believed that persons of high rank own this mint and derive their incomes from it. In 1908 a finance minister decided to gather in all the counterfeit dollars.
He offered one good duro in exchange for a sevillano. The silver thus collected weighed nearly 70 tons when melted into bars. The minister's initiative cost the state a round sum, but did not stop the flow of sevillanos. Anchus Castilla! (Wide is Castile!) is an old saying, and in the vastness of the plains and sierras of all the Spains is perhaps the best explanation of why wholesale counterfeiting of the coin of the realm goes on undisturbed.

Arrested Development

Betty lived in the city and it was not any too often that she saw even a horse. So perhaps it is not to be wondered at that she stopped one day in the park as a Shetland pony went by and exclaimed: "Look, mother!"
"Yes, dear," replied her mother.
"What is it?"
"Don't you see?" continued Betty.
"There's a horse that got discouraged and never grew up!"

"Black Sheep" Relations

"Are you ashamed of being related to Adam and Eve?" asked Elizabeth one day of her mother.

"Why, no," replied her mother laughing. "Whatever made you ask such a question as that?"

Elizabeth was rather offended. "It's no laughing matter," she replied with some dignity. "Especially since I never heard you mention them."

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fires, important happenings, visits to or from the community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

Miss Dorothy Robb, spent the week-end with her parents, at Harrisburg.

Miss Eleanor Birnie is visiting her brother, Clotworthy Birnie, at Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Dodrer, of Littlestown, spent the week-end with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gall, of Thurmont, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ohler.

George Koutz who was very ill for a few days last week, is able to be up and about in his room again.

Mrs. Charles E. Roop is spending this week with her brother, Eugene Reindollar and family, at York.

Mrs. J. W. Brown, of Hanover, spent the week-end with her son, Rev. George A. Brown and family.

Mrs. M. D. Reid, of New Windsor, attended the Missionary Anniversary at the Presbyterian Church, last Thursday.

The label on your paper shows the date to which your subscription is paid. Look at it occasionally and keep the date in mind.

J. Henry Hawk, of near Littlestown, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Shandbrook, at the home of Mrs. Wm. Knox.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Alexander, Mrs. George Gartrell and granddaughters, Lois, and Elizabeth Hobbs spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Reaver.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Koons of town, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Shorb and daughter, Miss Vallie, of Detour, visited Mrs. Koons' sister, Mrs. Charles Eyer, on Sunday.

Rev. G. W. Shipley, of Herndon, Va., paid Taneytown a brief visit, last Friday. He says they are pretty well settled down in their new home and beginning to get acquainted.

The two sons of LeRoy Smith and a son of John Fleagle, killed a black snake one day last week that measured 4 ft. 10 inches. Black snakes, if left alone, are harmless, and their bite is not poisonous.

News of the death of Charles H. Mentzel, of Baltimore, was received by his sister, Mrs. Harry T. Fair, on Tuesday. He will be remembered by many as a former resident of Taneytown, some twenty years or more ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Nahia Arter, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Arter, of near Silver Run, and Miss Effie Airing, of town, were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Zeiber Stultz and family, near Union Bridge, last Sunday.

We thank all who have contributed to our appeal for funds for Coats for Firemen, and we are quite sure that the Fire Company is even more thankful than we, for the liberal responses. Should there be any further contributions, they should be given direct to the Firemen.

The Taneytown Grain & Supply Co., was among the 436 winners in the Purina feed selling contest, coming in the "Whale" class. There were 1800 competitors. The pictures of N. R. Baumgardner and Frank E. Crouse were printed on a large display sheet, among the victors.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Shriner and daughter, Mrs. Tolbert Shorb and Mrs. Clyde Morningstar, have returned home after spending several days with Mr. Shriner's brother, Mr. Jacob Shriner, at Rehoboth, Va.; also visited Mr. Shriner's nieces, Mrs. Ina Christopher (nee Shriner), of Hardings, Va., and Mrs. Lila Shriner, of White Stone, Va.

Somebody is likely to get left who want to order Christmas Cards from us. We will positively not accept orders for Cards, after Saturday, Nov. 28, and guarantee to get them in time to print and deliver for use before Christmas. Our handling of such cards is largely a matter of accommodation, and not one of profit to us.

(For the Record.)

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lockner and family, near Silver Run, were Walter Bower and wife and daughters, Edith, Catherine and Emma Dorothy, of Union Mills; Walter and Emory Welk and Jacob Ausberger, of Baltimore; Geo. Smith, of Hanover; William Shadle and Harry DeGroft, of Littlestown; Miss Irene Wildasin, of Mayberry; Maurice Utermahlen, Bill Morelock and Buddie DeGroft, of Silver Run.

Mrs. Kate M. McLane is spending a week with Mrs. Thurlow W. Null, at her home, near Harney.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas O. Shoemaker, left Sunday, Nov. 15, to spend the winter with their children in Baltimore.

Miss Constance Miller and LeRoy H. Null, of New York, were recent guests of Mrs. Laura V. Null, near Harney.

Rev. Murray E. Ness, of Arendtsville, Pa., paid our office an appreciated visit, on Thursday, and also left an order for Christmas Cards.

Rev. and Mrs. L. B. Hafer, Miss Genevieve Brewer and Miss May Siner, spent from Wednesday until Friday, visiting at various homes in town and vicinity.

The High School chicken and oyster supper will be held Saturday evening, November 21, in the Firemen's building instead of the Opera House as previously announced.

Work has been progressing steadily on the new school building, this week, as rapidly as weather permitted. About another week will be required to complete the brick work and the roof.

Robert S. McKinney is spending a few days this week in Baltimore, and on Thursday Mrs. McKinney and Mrs. Harry Reindollar will spend the day in Baltimore and accompany Mr. McKinney home.

The Parent-Teachers' Association will meet in the Opera House, on Monday evening, at 8:00 o'clock. The fact that the speaker will illustrate his talk on the screen, adds new interest to the affair. A good attendance is urged.

The Keymar correspondent speaks truly about the condition of the Keymar road. How would you like to be a County Commissioner? Between demands for schools and roads, and kicks about high taxes, the job is anything but a soft one.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Wagner, of Charlotte, North Carolina, who have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wagner, and aunt, Mrs. Nettie S. Angell, left Thursday morning for their home at Charlotte, accompanied by his father, who is enroute to Miami, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Wagner, of Charlotte, North Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Wagner and Mrs. Nettie S. Angell, spent Friday of last week viewing the Battlefield of Gettysburg, taking in all places of interest, also visited friends in Baltimore, Hanover and York, Pa.

Thursday, Nov. 26, being a National holiday, the postoffice will only be open for the regular dispatch of mails from 8 A. M. to 10 A. M., and from 3 P. M. to 5 P. M. The rural carriers will not go over their routes and the money order window will be closed during the entire day.—Harry L. Feeser, P. M.

Russell Walker and wife, and son, Raymond, of Hanover; Mrs. Harry Walker and daughters, Dorothy and Betty Jane, of Abbottstown, Pa.; Clair Null and wife, Walter Null, Hazel Null, Maggie Mc. Null, David Little and wife, and daughters, Ruth Marie, of Taneytown, spent Sunday with S. H. Little, Hunterstown, Pa.

Those who spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Eckard, were: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schwartz and daughters, Kathryn and Doris, Mrs. George Briggs and daughters, Dorothy and Anna Bell, and sons, Clara, and Blanche Eckard, York, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eckard and son, Ralph; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Foreman and son, Dorsey, and Henry Eckard.

The Public Library will have on its shelves this Saturday evening, the last three volumes in "The Little Colonel" series, namely: "The Little Colonel's Chum, Mary Ware"; "Mary Ware in Texas," and "Mary Ware's Promised Land." This completes the set of twelve volumes. The heroine of these stories, a delightful little Kentucky girl, is the best loved by juvenile readers since the time of Louisa Alcott's "Little Women" and we invite all our young people to enjoy them.

Postmaster Harry L. Feeser, as a token of appreciation of their faithful service during the year, entertained his rural carriers, Harry L. Baumgardner, Charles G. Baumgardner, Charles A. Kemper, James C. Myers, and clerk, Harry E. Feeser, at dinner, on Saturday evening, Nov. 14, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark E. Wisotzky. Every one present declared that he enjoyed himself to the fullest degree. Joseph Cratin and wife, Mrs. Harry L. Feeser and Theodore H. Feeser, were also present and ably assisted with the banquet.

Mrs. Clair Null and Maggie Mc. Null spent Tuesday afternoon with Miss Lizzie Case.

Bobbed-hair Grandmothers.

Many of the habits, styles and names of the present are due to lead to embarrassment in the future, and they amount to heavy responsibilities on those who are inventing and applying them now. Some things, better sense can get rid of when maturity comes. We are not apt to slide down a hill on a board or sled, after we pass early youth; and hoop-rolling, marbles, dolls, toy balloons and whistles pass out of use very naturally from our list of childish treasures.

Toys and games have their day, as well as many of our pastimes. Styles, however, are not so easily disposed of, nor are habits. There was a time, for instance, when dress skirts lengthened at the passing of girlhood, and when the growing of long hair was considered most desirable; when men cultivated long beards, and when everybody wore light clothing in the hot months and heavy clothing in the cold months. There was always a minimum of style, and a maximum of seasonable comfort.

Now, the reverse has been in vogue long enough for us to begin to think the upheaval means to be permanent. Whether there will actually be "bobbed-hair grandmothers," remains to be seen. Likely nobody is worrying much about the question, and it can safely be left to the future; but, somehow such a possibility is imminent enough to cause alarm.

And, what are a lot of our boys and girls going to do about their names, when they get to be 75 or 80 years of age? A lot of foolish "kid" parents have invented names that are going to stick, through life, to their children. They are neither toys, games, pastimes, nor even habits. Just try, in imagination, to fit some of these fancy handles to tottering, rheumatic, white-haired old folks, and see how they harmonize with the consequences of growing old?

But, some say we are on the road to abolishing mere accumulation of years; nobody is to get really old, any more—at least, not to act so. Old age is to be merely a matter of personal choice—just as we feel about it in our minds, and our names, bobbed-hair, silk stockings and high-water dresses, will help to keep up the illusion.

Coats for Firemen.

The following additional subscriptions for coats for the Firemen have been reported to this office. Any further subscriptions should be paid direct to some member of the Fire Company as our part of the work concludes with this list.

Total	$148.50

To Whom it May Concern.

The last two alarms that was answered by our Company found the truck mounted by non-members of the department which prevented the regular firemen from taking, or filling, the places assigned them by the Chief. At the regular meeting held on Nov. 9, the following was adopted:

The Company fully appreciates the kindness and generosity shown by all, but owing to the large number of active fireman each having a place to fill and a duty to perform asks all non-members to refrain from riding on truck when answering alarms, except those having the Chief's permission. By Order,
TANEYTOWN FIRE COMPANY.
