OUTLOOK FOR FARMING IN MARYLAND.

Prepared by Specialists in the Department of Agriculture.

The report just issued is too voluminous for our space, but we have curtailed it so as to fairly cover the situation as it applies to the central section of the State. We believe that a careful reading of it, especially with reference to the advice given, will be profitable to our farmers.

While the farming industry is in the best general position since 1920, any general expansion in production this year would tend to place the farmers in a less favorable economic position than they now hold. Any material expansion in Maryland should be done on the basis of local markets.

There is little likelihood of an increased domestic and foreign demand for farm products during the year 1926. It appears more probable that the close of the year will see a decrease in demand. Farmers in Maryland should, so far as is possible, adjust their production to meet local market requirements, especially in those products for which there is likely to be keen competition from other States and countries.

No material change in the supply of farm labor, and no reduction in farm wages is expected in 1926, and the price of farm materials probably remain at the present level. While there has been a general scarcity of seasonal labor in Maryland for the past year or so, conditions indicate that the situation in 1926 will be no worse than last year.

Wheat. Although it is yet too early to form an estimate of the 1926 world wheat production, it is expected that it will be smaller than in 1925. In the United States the acreage of winter wheat planted last Fall was 4% greater than in the Fall of 1924. Maryland harvested about 553,000 acres in 1925 and produced about 11,500,000 bushels of wheat, all of which grades as soft winter wheat. This wheat has been selling at a premium because it is not on an export price basis. As long as present price conditions prevail, Maryland growers should maintain their present wheat acreages.

Corn. A slightly enlarged corn crop acreage, with yields above normal, coincident with a decreased feeding requirement for hogs and cattle is principally responsible for low prices now prevailing in the United States. Maryland normally produces less corn than is consumed within the State. It would seem therefore that the corn acreage of 1925 (646,000 acres) should be duplicated in 1926 throughout the State as a whole, and some slight increases might be made in Southern Maryland and on the lower Eastern Shore.

Oats. The decreasing supply of horses on the farms and in the cities has caused a low demand for oats, resulting in the lowest prices for this grain since 1921-22.

Barley. The demand for barley in the United States is very low, and it should be grown in this State for use on the farm only.

Clover and Grass Seeds. Seed stocks of red and alsike clover are considerably below normal in the United States and prices are consequently high. Local seed is more certain of producing good crops than seed from other sources. The pro-duction of clean seed in Maryland should be increased.

Potatoes. Growers of very early potatoes in States south of Maryland who can market their product by the first of June have an unusual oppor-tunity this season. There is danger, however, that Maryland growers of late and midseason potatoes may be influenced by present prices, to plant too heavily. Maryland's Fall potato crop is planted late enough to permit the growers to know before planting time whether plantings for the country as a whole have been heavy enough to make increased plantings

Beef Cattle. Both the immediate and long-time outlook for the beef cattle industry now appears more favorable than in recent years. number of steers is the lowest in many years, with present breeding stocks apparently large enough to supply as much beef as it will pay cattle producers to raise. A reasonably constant demand for beef is anticipated, and no prospect of early competition in our markets is in sight.

Hogs. The outlook for the swine industry throughout 1926 appears very favorable with indications that hog prices will be maintained at about the 1925 levels. The number of hogs in the areas of commercial production is the smallest since 1921 and for the country as a whole the smallest many years. Stocks of pork and lard are the smallest in ten years.

In making breeding plans for next Fall, Maryland farmers should remember that the present high prices for hogs are due largely to reduced supplies. Should production be increased the tendency would be for prices to decline. that 1926 will be a good year for the sheep industry, though possibly not quite so favorable as 1925. In Maryland it would seem that there could be a further increase in lamb and wool production in certain sections at a profit, particularly in the western part of the State, or where sheep production fits in well with the general farm-

THE FISH LAW.

Court Decisions Cause Some New Construction on Laws.

The Acts of 1924, Chapter 34C, prohibits the taking of any species of fish named in said Act in any of the waters of this State above a point where the tide ebbs and flows, by any means or contrivance, except rod, hook and line, provided, however, bait fish may be taken by use of a dip or landing net or seine not over 6 feet in length nor greater than 3 feet in depth.

The Court of Appeals, of Maryland,
October Term, 1925, Case No. 91, Jacob Middledauf, et. al., vis. E. Lee Le'Compte and Albert Crampton, decided the Compact of 1785, between Maryland and Virginia applying to the Potomac River, does not apply above tide water, and ruled that the Acts of 1924, Chapter 340 governs fishing at all points above tide water in Maryland.

In this important case the appellants contended that the Acts of 1924, Chapter 340, had not been concurred in by the State of Virginia. The Court of Appeals in rendering the decision stated that the Compact of 1785 had no reference to fishing in unnavigawaters of the Potomac. Therefore, the Acts of 1924, Chapter 340 pre-vails, and applies to all points above tide-water, and prohibits the taking of any fish named in Section 72 of said Act, except by rod, hook and line, as follows: Trout of all species (except squeteague) Bass of all species (except striped bass or rock fish), Fall fish, Bluegills, Bluebream, Pike or Pickerel, Pike or Susquehanna Sal-

The herein named species of fish are prohibited being taken at any time, except by rod, hook and line, and the open season for Trout is April 2nd to July 1st., and the open season on all other spelies herein named, is July 2nd. to December 1st., however, Suckers, Carp, Catfish, Eels and Gud-geon may be taken by rod, hook and line at any time. The use of a dip net and seine is positively prohibited in all waters above tide, except bait fish may be taken by use of a dip or landing net or seine not over 6 feet

The District Deputy Game Wardens of the Counties above tide water have been instructed not to make any arrests of persons fishing for suckers, carp, catfish, eels and gudegeon, provided, said person or persons are fishing by means of rod, hook and line

The bill providing for the reading of the Bible in the Public Schools of Virginia, has apparently been tabled for the present session of the State legislature. This is the second time such a bill has been rejected by the legislature, a similar measure having failed in 1924.

tion. For the United States the number of dairy heifers on farms has been decreasing since 1922 and the number of milch cows on farms is slightly less than a year ago. Some slight increase in numbers of young dairy stock on Maryland farms during the next two or three years may be desirable. Maryland dairy products are largely sold in the form of fluid milk, and production should be maintained at a level which is sufficient to supply

Horses and Mules. The present number of work animals is apparently ample to meet farmers' needs during 1926, although there has been a marked decrease in the number of colts foaled during the past six or seven years. Continued reduction will eventually result in an acute shortage of work animals. Individual farmers in Maryland are advised to study carefully the type of power best suited to their own farms, determine individual needs for horse and mule replacements three to ten years from now, and pay particular attention to the type and quality of horses

Poultry and Eggs. The market for poultry, at least during the first six months of 1926, will probably be better than during the same period of 1925 when storage stocks of dressed poultry had a depressing influence. Present conditions indicate that the production of eggs will be somewhat larger and prices lower during the first half of the year 1926 than for the same period in 1925. Owing to the fact that one can get in and out of the poultry business in such a short period of time, it is difficult to make any long time prediction. Individual producers in Maryland who are located favorably with respect to markets, and who are getting satisfactory returns, may well afford to maintain their present level of production, but should carefully study conditions so as to be ready to adjust their production to meet any adverse conditions that are likely to occur during the year 1926.

Canning Crops. The unusual production and pack of sweet corn, tomatoes and peas in 1925 would indicate that workers in Maryland should carefully consider the acreage to be devoted to these crops in 1926. The pack of sweet corn for the United States was 14,160,000 cases in 1923, 12,131,000 cases in 1924, and 24,320,000 Sheep and Wool. Indications are cases in 1925; the pack of tomatoes was 14,672,000 cases in 1923, 12,519,-000 cases in 1924, and 19,770,000 cases in 1925; while the pack of peas was 13,948,000 cases in 1923, 19,315,000 cases in 1924, and 17,816,000 cases in

In the light of present conditions, a reduction of acreage to the normal lasting 17 years. market demands, would seem advising program.

MORE STUDENTS

Students must make Grades, or leave Colleges.

Following the lead of Gettysburg and other Colleges, Johns Hopkins University, on Thursday, dropped 48 students, due to examination results, but afterwards consented to place 22 of them on probation for further examinations that must be passed before March 1.

Failing to pass the grades during the half-year, were attributed to three causes; too much time spent in stu-dent activities, absence for too long periods of time, and just common

The best Colleges throughout the country are now demanding actual scholastic work from students, irrespective of their statues in athletics, or what in general terms are called "students activities"—dramatics, gleeclubs, and the various side accomplishments attending College life. This action on the part of Colleges is all the more easy, at present, because of the many applications for entrance into College, some of which appear to be made for the name of "going to College," and to have a "good time." The Colleges are showing by their acts that they do not want numbers of students, so much as creditable student bodies.

Death of Eddie Plank.

Eddie Plank, of Gettysburg, once a star baseball pitcher, was paralyzed in his left side, on Tuesday morning, and died on Wednesday afternoon. He is survived by his wife, one son, Eddie, Jr.; three brothers, Ira W. and Luther C. Plank, of Gettysburg, and Howard Plank, of Baltimore; two sisters, Mrs. Frank Barnes, of Easton, Pa., and Mrs. H. An Effort to Make Public Many Swindling Schemes.

The campaign of The Philadelphia Ledger of publicity against fraudu-lent stock schemes, and wild-cat investments continues to enlist wide interest. Every day, for over a week a column or more of evidence has been published, showing in detail how conscenceless promoters have filched hundreds of mostly needy persons out of their savings, through playing on their desire to make their small savings return greater investment profits, to help them in old age.

Just how this publicity, alone, is going to help the situation, is difficult to understand, unless there is a strong organized outspoken sentiment in every state for stricter laws and more rigid examination of all invest-ment propositions. The victims, alone, can not constitute this power.

The Ledger gives as one sure preventive of such take-ins, "Consult your Banker before investing." But the trouble is, many people suspect the bankers, and do not look upon them in the light of being disinterested helpers, as most of them are. Too many simply "fall" for the per-suasive eloquence of security salesmen, and go on the assumption that "some others" must know better than the bankers, what good investments are.

In addition to consulting Bankers, we believe every state should have an inspection department, such as now applies to Banks, and Building and Loan Associations, and in a degree to Insurance Companies, and that no stock, nor other form of security or investment, shall be offered for sale, unless the investigation gives reas-onable assurance of its safety.

Funeral of George W. Yeiser.

Perhaps the largest funeral ever held at Silver Run, was that of Mr. George W. Yeiser, at the Lutheran Church, Monday morning. The large church was crowded and many not able to find room. It represented a remarkable attestation of the high es-teem with which he was held in the community, where he had spent his life and had been such a pronounced force for good.

The services in the church were in charge of his pastor, Rev. A. G. Wolf, assisted by Rev. George E. Bowersox. At the cemetery, Door to Virtue Lodge A. F. & A. M., of Westminster, rendered the impressive rites of the Masonic order, and Rev.

Elder Charles F. Ausherman, well known in the Church of the Brethren, and for about 30 years pastor of Grossnickle's church, near Ellerton, Frederick county, died at his home last Friday morning, from heart trouble, aged 60 years.

After receiving his primary education in public schools of Middletown Valley, he continued his studies at Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa. Later he returned home and went farming. He married Miss Marie Grossnickle, who died a number of years ago. In 1896 he was licensed as a minister of the Church of the Brethren and served different congregations before becoming pastor of Grossnickle's church. He was very active in church work and was wellknown among a wide circle of friends. He was a stockholder and one of the directors of the Myersville Savings Bank, and in politics was a Republican He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Brandenburg, at home.

Three Deaths in one Family, in less Than a Week.

It very rarely occurs that three deaths occur in the same family, within a week, but such was the unusual and sad experience in the family of William U. Eckard, Union Bridge. His son, Frederick A. Eckard, died on Tuesday of last week, on Thursday, William Elmer Shank, the husband of a daughter of Mr. Eckard Sr., died; and on Monday of this week, Mrs. Blanche Irene Shank the daughter, died—a son, a daughter, and the daughter's husband. All died from the same disease—pneumonia—and all were under 28 years of age.

THE TAX BILL FINALLY APPROVED.

House Forces Senate to Recede in Conference Bill.

Last week the Senate had a runaway game with the Tax bill as it came from the House, but when it came to conference about $75,000,000 of the Senate cuts were replaced, making it something like the bill approved by Secretary Mellon and President Coolidge. The conference report was finally passed by an overwhelm-ing vote, both in House and Senate, in the latter body only ten votes being mustered against it.

An effort was made to send the bill back to conference, but on a point of order made against the action being sustained by the Vice-President, the Senate voted 52 to 8 to sustain the decision, and so ended the fight.

The bill as it will be approved by the President, carries an estimated reduction in Federal taxes of about $387,000,000 the first year, and $375,-000,000, the second year, which is $37,000,000 more than was carried in the original bill.

Bandits Secure $16,304.

Baltimore police circles have been agitated this week by another daring hold-up and robbery by bandits, who shot M. L. Berlin, a messenger of the Western Maryland Dairy Company, and patrolman, Patrick Durkin, on Wednesday maning and escaped with Wednesday morning, and escaped with satchels containing $16,304.

The robbery occurred on the street at the office of the Company, just as the messenger and policeman were about to step into an automobile with the satchels containing the cash.

The bandits were in a car parked on the opposite side of the street, and opened fire practically without any warning; and so accurate was their fire that the first shots dropped both The satchels were hastily secured and the bandits made a get-away in their car almost before passers-by knew what was happening. The two men shot are seriously wounded, but will recover.

A number of suspects have been arrested, one of whom is believed to be a principal, but as yet at least two of the bandits are at large.

A final in-spection will be made within the next the children from all of thes catching week or ten days, after which the diseases. buildings will be turned over to the directors, under whose auspices it will be conducted.

The third week in April was tentatively set for the formal opening of the home. At this time the Maryland Grand Lodge will be in session Cumberland, and it is expected that 200 members from all over the State will attend the opening. It is expected that a number of persons will be received in the home at that time."

Begin Now on Road Safety.

While Governors of many States consider ways and means for uniform action against highway perils which have cost 123,000 lives since the World War, we Marylanders should not relax for a moment our efforts to make our own thoroughfares safe. Reckless driving continues to take its toll in deaths and mainings. Hitand-run motorists, checked a little, still perform their deadly stunts. Uniform laws, when and if adopted, may help in some respects. At least the tourist would be benfited by not being obliged to learn a new set of regulations every time he crosses a State boundary.

But any law, uniform or not, will have to be enforced by the officers with the co-operation of citizens in each of the States if it is to be ef-

"CATCHING DISEASES."

Don't Expose Children to them Unnecessarily.

If you want the kiddies in your house to stay well, kep them away from other children who have coughs, colds, measles, mumps, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria, or any other "catching" disease, is the advice of Dr. J. H M. Knox, Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the Maryland State Department of Health.

"We hear a great deal," he said, "about the importance of protecting school children from communicable diseases, and it is important, but few people realize that it is just as vital to protect the babies and the other children who are too young to go to school.

"A great many people still have the old notion that children are going to have these diseases anyway they may as well get them and have it over. The truth of the matter is that these diseases are much more dangerous—as a rule—for the very young child than for the older boys and girls, and more apt to end fatally. Two out of every three of the deaths from measles, scarlet fever, and diphtheria, occur among children under five. In the case of whooping cough, our records show that nine out of every ten deaths from that disease occur among children under five.

"Measles, in particular, is apt to be spoken of lightly, when it really is to be regarded as a wolf in sheep's clothing. It is especially dangerous for babies and children under three, and ordinarily it is least dangerous for the children between five and fiftor the children between five and fitteen years old. It is twenty-five times as fatal for babies under a year old as it is for the four-year-olds, and it is nearly fifty times as fatal for the babies under a year old as it is for the children between five and 'nine. Even when it is not immediately fatal it is likely to leave a trail of bad after effects. It frequently opens the ter effects. It frequently opens the way for eye and ear troubles and often is followed by pneumonia. Instead of regarding the disease lightly, every precaution should be taken—especially when other children in the family or in the neighborhood have the disease-to safeguard the little and to keep them from catching it.

"Against one serious infectious disease—diphtheria—we have a definite means of protection—toxin-antitoxin physicians and health officers all agree that all young children, beginning with the year old babies, should be given this protective treatment.

"Another 'earthing' disease that is "Another 'catching' disease, that is particularly hard on the babies and very little children and from which they should be carefully safeguarded is the so-called common cold. Like the measles, this is much more dangerous for the little children than for the older ones. The little children cannot get rid of the infectious material in the throat and nose as the older ones can, and very often these persistent colds lead to broncho-pneumonia and to other diseases.

"There are two ways of protecting

First: Develop their resistance to disease, by intelligent care. paying special attention to food, fresh air and plenty of rest.

Second: Keep them away from all other people—grown-ups as well as children who have any sort of a communicable disease.'

The Conference Tax Bill.

The Senate had a run-away match with the tax reduction bill, likely to put up a show of pleasing constituents "back home", and for a time knocked rates right and left, and particularly down. However, when passing the bill came due, the House had rather than for treating them when its say, and in the compromise between the two, the finished bill presented a much less knocked-down ap- for. At any rate, the coal business-especially anthracite—has likely had its big day as a producer of heat and power, and those who now produce coal will be very wise if they do not, for selfish interests, conspire toward hurrying the "doom" the article referred to, speaks of.

The recent strike was of great value to consumers, and of corresponding great harm to the coal industry, from the fact that it showed the ability of the public to keep from freezing during a cold winter, without dependence on anthracite. Both miners and operators lost more than they will ever get back; and hereafter, anthracite must compete in cost with a lot of new rivals, and this means either lower wages, or lower profits,

Fishing for "Suckers".

The general government, as well as state law-making bodies, are interested in preventing the sale of all getrich-quick stock selling schemes, but the difficulty is in pointing them out, | by name, until too late. There is, unfortunately, a feeling prevalent among many that the banks that give only 31/2 and 4 percent interest on certificates of deposit are "making too much money," and that "the people" have a right to get in on "the ground floor" and make 3 or 4 percent more grade crossings. In-Yet Out.

As anticipated—the people not being consulted—the Senate has voted us into the League of Nations' World Court, on terms that make us something less than a member and the Court something less than a Court. Yet to all intents and purposes we are in that court—

If we can be in the Court and yet not be in the League; and

If the Court consents not to render any opinion concerning the United States without our permission; and

If the Court will not sit as a Court on any affair concerning us unless we say so; and

If the Court will not be the World Court, but only the Court of that part of the World not represented by North and South America (that is, just as much of a Court as it was, and no more, before we consented to go in); and

If the other half-hundred nations consent for us to be a member of the World Court without being subject to the World Court—a reservation which none other claims.

That is, we make a proposal similar to that an alien might make who should say: "I am willing to become a citizen of the United States with the reservation that United States law, United States police and United States courts shall have no jurisdiction whatever over me."

The other nations, were they equal in fact before the Court and were they free from pressure, would promptly refuse us membership under such conditions. But there is ample pressure to prevent them from expressing their true opinion; for the pressing their true opinion; for the at 11 o'clock, the following Live Stock purpose is not merely to get us into and Farming Implements, consisting of the Court, but to get us into a situation where our hands will be tied and our mouths closed with reference to other matters that are now prepar-

"Soldiering" on Work

Not Modern Monopoly The cynics, who know that the world is getting worse all the time, are sure that idleness and "soldiering on the job" are faults of the Twentieth century. In the good old days everyone worked hard and conscientiously.

But there have always been honest workmen and the other kind just as there are today. There is a curious old French epic written by one who called himself the Grocer of Troyes in the Thirteenth century. Here is one passage quoted by M. Langyois in his "Life in France in the Middle Ages":

"When I finally make up my mind to work I take with me a young mate who knows nothing of the job, but I insist on his being paid the full wage of 12 deniers. When, at last, I get on the roof, I lay one tile in the time it should take to lay eight or ten. I ease off and sing a song, then take a siesta between two slopes of the roof. After that, it is soon supper time, so we leave work for that day. Of course, do as much in one day as in five days by the hour.

Such is the speech that the Grocer bard put into the mouth of a tiler 700 years ago .- Youth's Companion.

Ancient alai" The to-let "ad' in 79 A. is Coming to Town on Sunday

Seckatary Hawkins is coming to town. The jolly fellow will greet his boy and girl friends in the new Junior Baltimore American, which is part of Sunday's Baltimore American. The whole gang will be there and here's a letter that the Seckatary writes:

Dear Friends:

We have been having some exciting times on the old river bank around our clubhouse, and we are in for a peck of trouble. I don't know how we are going to get out of it without a fight. Every day I will write down what happens, and every Sunday in the Junior Baltimore American you will read all about it. It looks like a fight. Yours truly,

SECKATARY HAWKINS

And this Sunday in the Junior Baltimore American you will find the first series of animal stories by Thornton W. Burgess. In addition, there will be "Adventures of June Junior"—an illustrated story in ve se; puzzle pictures, Boy Scout News, Cut-Outs for Girls, Dress-Me Dolls for Little Mothers and Pen Feathers for Goose Town. Don't miss reading the Junior Baltimore American, with its many big features for children and grown-ups.

In addition, you will find in the Sunday Baltimore American articles by Fannie Hurst, highest paid woman writer in America, Nina Wilcox Putnam, the Female Mark Twain; Kathleen Norris, noted woman writer; Mabel Herbert Urner, in another of the Helen and Warren Series and Arthur Stringer, noted novelist.

In the $30,000 Makers of History Contest, the fifth set of pictures will appear. Keep working at this fascinating game and win a prize.

Another generous installment in "The Intimate Papers of Colonel House," in which another side of Woodrow Wilson is revealed.

From the "Southland" Starr Matthews, Sports Editor of the Baltimore American, is sending a story of "What's What" at the Spring Baseball Training

We are informed that the roads are in a very bad condition from this place to Gettysburg, Littlestown and Emmitsburg. Of course, that is the same old cry every Spring, and it only shows the need of a hard road from Taneytown to Gettysburg, at least. The road from here to Taneytown is in a bad condition; the bridge at water is going out over the road. That place should be looked after, at

Landing of Savages

A farmer residing near Santa Ana, Cal., came into town one evening and declared that a shipload of coppercolored savages had landed at a nearby harbor and had constructed a crude fort 18 miles outside the village. He finally pursuaded a group of citizens to accompany him to the spot to see for themselves. The man's declara-tions were true, but upon closer investigation the fort and camp were found to be the location for a motion picture company filming scenes.

Quickly Became Popular

Peaches were grown in the East in very early times, and the first seen in England were brought there in 1562 from Persia. The rhubarb plant was first cultivated in England for its stalk to be used as food by Mr. Myall, of Deptford, about 1820. It soon came ir to general use.

GHOST SEEMED TO HAVE LAST LAUGH

Desecration of Grave Made Loafer "Reform."

The story was told by the Rhode Islander to show that ghosts, like the father of unhappy Hamlet, sometimes stalk the earth to right a wrong. In this case the ghost was Big Bear, chieftain of the Narragansetts, who, until he was disturbed by a bumptious relic hunter, had slept peacefully since the days of Roger Williams amid the wooded heights of a quiet New England village, and the wicked Claudius was Pardon Pillbeck, the village ne'er-do-well, according to the New York Times. "Our village," said a Rhode Islander, "must have been a stamping ground for the aborigines. You could pick up stone arrowheads everywhere, but we did not think they possessed any intrinsic value until an archeologist collected several bushel and sold them | pitch or frequency of vibrations is at a handsome profit. We set out to gone over the ground thoroughly and the only place left was the Indian burying ground. But none of us thought of disturbing those ancient remains. "Pardon Pillbeck had lived for 40 years on the bounty of relatives. He looked upon work as drudgery, but enlisted in the search for the Indian relics with boyish enthusiasm. One night while we were discussing the possibilities of finding arrowheads, the door was darkened by his unaccustomed presence. We did not have to be told that he had met with a stroke of good fortune. He was chuckling gleefully to himself. Surveying us triumphantly, he fished from his pockets arrowhead after arrowhead. They were beautiful beyond description. Last he brought to light a handsomely carved tomahawk.

"He had opened the Indian graves and then clumsily rifled them. Naturally, feeling against Pardon ran high. I think he might have been lynched if he had been found. But he had disappeared completely. Weeks passed without so much as an inkling of him, and the story grew and persisted that the ghost of Big Bear had risen up, pursued and slain him. Years passed and still no tiding of the luckless fellow. "Some fifteen years later business took me to a small town in western Pennsylvania. After supper I strolled down the main street. In the center of the square a big man with flowing gray hair was extolling from an elevated platform the medicinal qualities of a remedy for all ills. Beside him stood a bulky Indian in the full regalia of his tribe. As I drew nearer I recognized beneath the war paint of the doctor's companion the sodden features of Pardon Pillbeck.

"Later he told me the story. He had indeed desecrated the grave of Big Bear, the Narragansett chieftain. Returning to his home with his ill-gotten spoils, he had encountered the ghost of the chieftain. The ghost had forced him to don the habiliments of his tribe and become the slave of a fake Indian medicine man."

Freddie was sobbing bitterly in the road, and the kind-hearted old gentleman stopped to ascertain the cause of the trouble.

"What's the matter, my little man?" he asked.

"I've—I've lost my new ball," sobbed the youngster, "and I've no money to get another!" "Never mind," said the old gentleman; "here's a shilling to go and buy a new one." And out came a bright coin which Freddie promptly pocketed. 'Where did you lose your ball, sonny?" he inquired, as an after-thought.

"It went through your dining-room window!" said Freddie, as he disappeared round the corner.

Little Energy in Talking

The speech energy of the human voice amounts to very little in the way of power. It is only 125 ergs a second, an almost infinitesimally small amount of power. Consonant letters require the least amount of energy. The much higher for consonant sounds, emulate him. Unfortunately, he had than the vowels, however. An erg is the work done when a body moves one centimeter in the direction in which it is urged by a force of one dyne, and a dyne is a force which when acting on a mass of one gram for one second will change its velocity by one centimeter per second.

Origin of Halloween

Halloween, or All Hallows eve, is the name given to the 31st of October as the vigil of Hallowmas or All Saints day. Though now known as little else but the eve of the Christian festival, Halloween and its formerly attendant ceremonies long antedate Christianity. The two chief characteristics of ancient Halloween were the lighting of bonfires and the belief that of all nights in the year this is the one during which ghosts and witches are most likely to wander abroad. About the first of November the Druids held their autumn festival and lighted fires in honor of the Sungod in thanksgiving for the harvest. The Druids also believed that on the eve of this festival Saman, lord of death, called together the wicked souls that within the past twelve months had been condemned to inhabit the bodies of animals. On the Druid ceremonies were grafted some of the characteristics of the Roman festival in honor of Pomona held about the first of November, in which nuts and apples, as representing the winter store of fruits, played an important part.

What Really Happened

"My last boy, Bearcat, took a notion veste'd'y to ride the yearling calf backwards," related Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "He hopped on, the calf gave a beller and tore up the road right toward the church. It was Sunday and the door was open, and four, five dogs were sleeping around the entrance. What do you reckon hap-

"Why-dad-burn it!-anybody could tell that. The calf with the boy on his back and the dogs grabbing at every corner busted right into the church, ran up the aisle and scrabbled up into the pole-pit."

"Nope! The vermint flung Bearcat off, turned around and ran home."-Kansas City Star.

Letters Originally Alike

Originally, says the Detroit News, the letters "i" and "j" were one, the "i" having two pronunciations, just as "u" and "v" were once one letter, with two ways of using it. Without the present dots, as an authority explains, letters "i" and "n" when together might easily he read as "m," etc., and it was to avoid such confusion that the dot over it was adopted. The "j" as a distinct letter came into being through a custom in those days of the scribe giving a tail to an "i' at the beginning of a word, the flourishing being at first for ornamentation only. But since most "i" letters starting a word had the "j" sound, the tail in time became the mark of a letter of its own, the modern "j."

Having started, however, as simply a form of "o "i," the little "j" re tained the dot like the "i" even after the introduction of printing

Eskimo Theory of Death

The Eskimo theory of death is pesulted in many tragedies. It was be- | geologists in a remote valley of the good, one evil. When he died the good bliss and comfort in a warm place underground. His bad soul was supposed to remain on the spot where the body died, a lasting, harmful influence over those who were luckless enough to encounter it. When a person became ill the medicine man was sent for. Almost always he pronounced the case hopeless. The invalid was evidently came from a long extinct then taken out of the igloo and placed on the snow to perish. It was a logical proceeding, for if he died indoors the igloo would have to be abandoned and sealed up forever.

Forest Turned to Stone

The most marvelous petrified forest culiar to Christian eyes, and has re- known to man has been found by two lieved that a man had two souls, one Big Bend region nearly 100 miles from the nearest railroad at Marathon, soul expected to spend eternity in Texas. Petrified tree trunks of 100 to 150 feet were found standing, and others of a size, diameter and length unparalleled in the world, that had fallen. One of these was 896 feet long. The valley in which this stone forest was found is split by a deep canyon. Its surface is covered by a thick layer of volcanic ashes which peak in the neighboring Chisos mountains, but long after the forest had passed into its petrified state. We haven't yet learned all there is to know about the land in which we live. -Capper's Weekly.

There are in this collection 97 documents pertaining to Columbus and his voyages besides considerable other material of great interest. There are letters of Ferdinand and Isabella and the amount paid is said to have been $215,000. The material will be taken to Seville and will be placed on exhibition at the exposition which will be held in that city

Yet People Must Die

Funerals are a nuisance in New York city. In fact, a New York apartment dweller can hardly play a meaner trick on his family than to die. If he dies at home the body must be removed the first night after death occurs. If he dies outside the apartment his body cannot be brought home. Funerals must be held in a church or undertaking parlor.—Capper's Weekly.

JESUS TEACHES RESPECT FOR LAW.

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 22:15-22; 34-40. GOLDEN TEXT—"Ye think that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets. I came not to destroy but to fulfill.—Matt. 5:17. PRIMARY TOPIC-A Lesson on Obe-

JUNIOR TOPIC-Obeying the Law.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP--Obeying the Law. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-C—How to Secure Respect for Law.

It is to be regretted that the lesson committee introduced this lesson, important as it is, thus breaking up the unity of instruction in the Gospel of John. Teachers who prefer to continue in John would do well to choose John 12:1-11 as the alternative les-

I. The Tribute Money (vv. 15-22). The Pharisees and Herodians proposed to entrap Jesus and bring Him into conflict with the Roman government so they came to Him with a subtle question-"Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar or not?" At this time the Jews were galling under the yoke of the Roman government. Some even denied the right to pay tribute to the government. To have answered this question yes or no would have involved difficulty. To have answered yes would have conveyed the impression of endorsement of all that the Roman government did. To have answered no would have at once brought Him into conflict with the government. Christ's reply to this question. properly understood and applied, is the final word on the subject. Until the civil authorities demand of us that which is a violation of God's law, we are bound to render unto them obedience. "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's" means that within the realm of the right of government the Christian should yield glad and full obedience. "Render unto God the things that are God's" means the highest obligation. Since enjoying His protection and care, it is our duty to own all allegiance to Him, to yield our lives to Him in service, worship and praise. Everyone who enjoys the benefits of civil government is obliged to pay the taxes which are necessary for the support of that government, and everyone who receives God's favor is placed in like obligation unto Him.

II. The Great Commandment in the Law (vv. 34-40).

1. The First Commandment (vv.

"Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy soul and with all thy mind." This means that supreme and undivided love to God is the first and great commandment. Man's supreme obligation is to God. It is wrong to evaluate man's character on the basis of his morality as expressed in his relation to his fellowman. Real righteousness is doing the right thing with God. The greatest immorality of which a man can be guilty is his failure to respond to the demands of God. The one who does not supremely and with undivided affection love God is the greatest sinner.

2. The Second Commandment (vv. 39-40).

The second commandment is like unto the first in that it centers in love. It is not said that it was equal unto the first; that would not be true. A man may love himself, but not supremely. One's love for his neighbor may be either too much or too little. The measure set is love for self. We should love God better than ourselves. He is worthy of all our affections. and demands all. Love is not mere emotion, but a supreme desire for the welfare of another and a willingness to do everything possible to secure that end. The command to love our neighbor is involved in the command to love God. To pretend to love God is folly if we do not love our neighbor. To attempt to establish a brotherhood among men without the recognition of the fatherhood of God is utter nonsense. Men become children of God by faith in Jesus Christ. It is true that in the sense of being God's creatures, all men are God's children, but in the New Testament sense, men are only God's children as they are in Christ. The only way to bring in the brotherhood of man is to preach Jesus Christ to the race and secure acceptance of Him. We thus become brothers in the real sense of the term when we have God as our Father. All obligation resting upon man is embraced in these two commandments. Those who conform their lives to them are God's children and are the very best citizens.

Go and Come

There is a mighty go in the gospel as well as come. It is come, go. Go, preach and heal; go, home to thy friends; go, into the highways; go, into all the world. Many Christians do not obey; many churches have no blessing, because they do not go .- B. F. Jacobs.

February 28 Neglected Areas in the Country Isaiah 35:1-10

The chapter given has no immediate nor close relation to the topic. These verses plainly assert that "blessings abound where'er He reigns" and describe the nature of these blessings. The central truth is in verse 5, "Your God will come and save you." This can be applied first to the present salvation in Christ which the individual Christian possesses and enjoys. It is written, "His name shall be called Emmanuel—God with us." Our God who came to save us. As the result of His redemptive work the every of the blind are opened the every eyes of the blind are opened, the ears of the deaf unstopped, the lame walk uprightly, and the dumb sing.

"He breaks the power of cancelled sin He sets the prisoner free."

It is our shame and loss that there should be areas in our country where the Christ who saves is still unknown. According to reliable authorities there According to reliable authorities there are whole districts which sink into spiritual death for lack of the preached word. What is the cause for such neglect? David Brainerd said, "I wrestled for the ingathering of souls. I was in agony all day." Is it not more of this spirit that we need?

The two outstanding facts that have inspired the workers of the past and inspired the workers of the past and led them on to noble achievements are these: first, there is a lost world, and second, there is a Christ that can save it. The inspiration necessary to the occupation of neglected areas must be found in these two facts. The Scripture under consideration has another application to a time yet future when "a King shall reign in righteousness" and the principles of the kingdom of heaven be administered on earth. Then the blessings mentioned in this chapter will be completely fulfilled and there will be no more neglected areas.

Collecting Debts in 1647

Old residents of England had their own ideas of debt payment and their own methods for enforcing payment where the customer was not interested in meeting the obligation. One old method in use in 1647 was a debtor's chair, that would be placed in the office of the man to whom the debt was due. The debtor was invited to enter and, when seated in the chair, a trigger was released that clamped iron hoops about the knees of the debtor and held him helpless while the other man negotiated a settlement, and the use of the chair in enforcing payment was entirely legal and in general use.-Ohio State Jour-

First Use of Spectacles

Spectacles are of French origin. The proof ocular, which is the kind that ought to be acceptable on the subject, lies in the fact that the oldest known portrait wherein spectacles appear is that of Cardinal Hugues De Provence, painted by one Thomas of Modena, which represents the prelate with the w. k. globes in frout of his eyes. The fresco in the church of Saint Nicolas of Trevise, of which the portrait forms a part is dated 1352: There is, it appears, in the national library at Paris an illuminated manuscript, dated 1380, which shows St. Paul wearing spectacles. One would like to know where St. Paul got the idea. He was a great traveler.

Not So Aristocratic

"How many people know that the goldfish, supposed to be the embodiment of everything piscatorially aristocratic, is nothing but a lowly member of the carp family?" asked the proprietor of a bird and animal store. "It's the truth. Some species of goldfish will grow to six or eight inches in length. These big goldfish betray their antecedents by their coarse scales. In other words, they look like carp."--Detroit News.

Little Known of Aesop

Aesop lived during the later half of the Sixth century. The exact date of birth is unknown. He was a Phrygian; not a negro. Phrygia was a country of Asia Minor. Under the Roman empire, it was bounded on the west by Musia, Lydia and Caria; on the south by Lucia and Pisidia; on the east by Lycaonia and Galatia, and on the north by Bithynia. Phrygians were probably a branch of the great Thracian family.

OU want the best telephone service you can get. We are just as anxious to give it to you. So that's one thing we have in common.

Most of the job of keeping the service up to scratch belongs to us. But there are some things you can do, and taking proper care of your telephone instrument is one of them.

Inside that telephone on your table are a lot of small parts—over two hundred of them. Every time you bang or drop the instrument the adjustment of these parts is made a little less true. Result-a noisy telephone; a cuff on the ear doesn't improve your hearing.

Any telephone is only as good as its cordsthe wires which join it with the bell box. If these cords are often twisted and jerked or allowed to get wet, you may expect poor serviceor no service at all.

Your telephone is as well made as the best brains and hands can make it. It is a friend, and deserves to be treated as such.

Originally introduced by Henry Ford on the Model T car in 1908 and since adopted for most American-made cars.

Three Point Motor Suspension— First used by Henry Ford in 1903, and a feature of the Model T power plant for eighteen years.

Dual Ignition System— Dual ignition is provided for Ford cars, (1) the Ford magneto and (2) the generator and storage battery. This has been a great factor in establishing the Ford reputation for re-

Planetary Transmission-Costs more to build than the conventional sliding gear type but gives better light car control.

Multiple Disc-in-oil Clutch-The multiple disc clutch is generally conceded to be the best and smoothest type for any car. The Ford clutch runs in oil.

Thermo-Syphon Cooling System— Extremely simple - always efficient. No water pump to require packing. Circulation of water is governed entirely by engine temperature.

Simple, Dependable Lubrication-Exceedingly simple, combining the splash principle with gravity flow. No pump Torque Tube Drive-Henry Ford originated the Torque Tube in 1908—a driving principle now embodied in many of the highest priced cars.

Celtic History The term "Celtic Renaissance" is applied to the intellectual awakening and the renewal of interest during the latter part of the Nineteenth and the beginning of the Twentieth century, in the languages, literature, history and customs of the native inhabitants of Ireland, the Scottish highlands, Wales, Brittany, Cornwall and the Isle of Man. This movement may be said to have started with the publication of J. C. Zeuss' Grammatica Celtica in 1833. The Society for the Preservation of the Irish Language was established in Ireland in 1877 and this was followed by the Gaelic league in 1893. The movement was not confined to Europe, but spread to Canada, the United States, Australasia, Argentina and other localities inhabited by persons of Celtic strain.

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fires, important happenings, visits to or from the community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

Miss M. Louise Reindollar spent the week-end with friends in Gettysburg, Miss Loretta Jackson moved, on Tuesday, into part of Miss Sarah Hahn's house, on York St.

Mrs. George Bender, of McSherrystown, is visiting her daughters, Mrs. Peter Graham and family, and Mr. and Mrs. John Leister.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Shoemaker gave a dinner on Sunday, in honor of their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Feeser.

Misses Flora Selby, Mary Angell, George Angell and Levi Frock, were the only passengers who boarded the train for Niagara Falls, last Saturday evening, at Taneytown.

Charles Garland, son of Rev. and Mrs. D. Frank Garland, was married, last week, in Dayton, Ohio, the ceremony being performed by his father. See further notice on first page.

Mrs. Minerva Harman entertained on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Albaugh and son, of Walkersville; Mr. and Mrs. Bush and two daughters, and Donald Bowersox, all of Hanover.

Mr. and Mrs. John Byers entertained on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Spangler and daughter, Barbara and son, Philip, of York, and Miss Mabel Shupp, of Thomasville, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Brown, Mrs. George Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Merle of Waynesboro, spent last Sunday afternoon with Misses Celia and Millie

Eli M. Dutterer returned home from Florida, accompanying Mrs. Geo. W. Yeiser and the body of her husband. He will not go back to Florida, this Spring. He says it has been cold and damp down there, this winter.

After all, our sale business will be about as large as last year, but of course very much short of a few years ago. We are taking in business from over a wider territory, that makes up for the loss of local sales.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bricker, spent Monday afternoon, in Hanover. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Bricker's aunt, Mrs. Elmer Mehring, of Harrisburg, who was in Littlestown to attend the funeral of Mr. Charles Basehoar.

The Firemen had fine financial returns from its supper, last Saturday night. The total receipts were $408.83, and net profits $333.62. The firemen greatly appreciate the encouragement shown by the public in this very practical way.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Eyler visited Mr. Eyler's mother, Mrs. Maria Eyler, at New Midway, on Wednesday. Mrs. Eyler fell on Thursday last, and broke the bone in her hip, and remains in a very critical condition, due to the fact that it may mean instant death to set it.

Mrs. L. B. Stahl, Detroit, has sent us another instalment of Detroit papers, this time the Free Press and Sunday Times. All are monster editions, and help to reduce the supply of wood pulp-perhaps not to the country's very best advantage—but, that is not Mrs. Stahl's fault.

The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association was held on Monday evening, Feb. 22, in the Opera House. The pupils of the Grammar School presented a varied pragram. The novel feature of the evening was the question box. A number of interesting questions were presented and discussed.

The Central Trust Co., of Emmitsburg, recently lost $750.00 by cashing a check that turned out to be worthless. Banks are not in the habit of cashing checks from persons who are unknown, or doubtful, but once in a while they get caught. We rather think this would be a poor time for the cashing of a bogus check, anywhere within knowledge of this Emmitsburg case.

Those who spent Sunday with Geo. Baker and family, were Mr. and Mrs. portant meeting. Durwood Martin, Mrs. Hattie Hepburn and daughter, Ruth, son Lloyd and Paul Martin, of Baltimore; Miss Ida Angell, Messrs Henry and Atwood Leese. Lester Scirror, Luther Luckenbaugh and Miss Ruth remained for a few days. Those also entertained, on Wednesday: Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Strawsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reck, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Feeser, Misses Dorothy Thomson, Mildred Wantz, Virginia Smith; Messrs Guy, Henry, Atwood Feeser.

Harry B. Miller spent the week-end with his daughter, Alice, at Washington, D. C.

John D. Belt, of Westminster, who has been critically ill for the past two weeks, is reported to be slightly Robert Eckert and family removed back to their home at Finksburg, on Friday. They made many friends while here, who were sorry to see them leave.

The Taneytown High School will take their play, "Esmeralda," which was such a success here, to Thurmont, on March 5th. It ought to be a success, anywhere.

Mrs. Harold Mehring entertained a number of friends at "500" on the evening of the 22nd. The refreshments, the favors, etc., were appropriate for the day.

Victor Zepp and wife, and Mrs. Geo. Mitten and daughter, Elizabeth, of Washington, and Walter Hape, of Frederick, were visitors at Roy B. Garner's, last Sunday.

Dr. Howard A. Kelly, of Baltimore well known in Taneytown, delivered a radio address through WRC, Washington, on Thursday, at 12:30, at the special Lenten service. His topic was "Spiritual Bread."

We have given large space to an article on farming, on first page, because we believe its reading will give farmers the best survey now available of the outlook, with advice, for the present year.

Miss Janet M. Crebs, of town, and Miss Wilmot Crammer, of Barnagat, New Jersey, both students of Millersville State Normal School, and Miss Eva Crebs and Miss Hilda Berman, of Baltimore, spent the week-end with Brown and daughter, Margaret, all the former's mother, Mrs. Alice Crebs.

> Notwithstanding the very disagreeable day, on Thursday, Maurice C. Duttera's sale of farm personal property, near Uniontown, was fairly well attended, and very good prices prevailed. Auctioneer J. N. O. says the early sales, so far, have been quite satisfactory.

A play will be given in the Opera House, on Saturday evening, March 6, for the benefit of the Parent-Teachers' Association, entitled "Topsy Turvy" a three-act comedy, by talent from Littlestown, where the play was rendered with great success. We are unable to give any further publicity this week, but will give particulars property:

LAST PAGE EDITORIAL. Looking Ahead!

Looking ahead-being forehanded, as we sometimes say—pays better than most people realize. It never pays to be a "put-offer." And, always being a little ahead with matters in general, is just as easy, after the habit is formed, as being late, or a last-minute man.

Everybody should anticipate their needs. It is wise economy—good business. It gives you a "second chance" when first expectations fail.

It places you in a state of independence, especially in buying.

"Looking ahead" means a chance to "look around," if need be. It gives the opportunity for wider choice and investigation. It saves the enforced taking of something that you may not fully like, just because you can't wait any longer.

We talk "shop" when we say that the customer who places his printing orders ahead of their need, gets better service and better work, and per-haps a better price when the completion of the work can be spread over more time.

When you have waited until the last minute to get something, you have sacrificed some of your individual advantages that ought to be yours for free use. Compulsion steps in and you are not entirely free.

Prompt payment of bills is the best sort of "looking ahead," for prompt paying customers always get the best prices and service to be had. If anybody gets an advantage in a busines deal, it is the man with a first-class record for paying promptly.

"Looking ahead" is a sure sign of intelligence and good business management. It commands respect, everywhere, and in all transactions. Besides, it helps business men to help you, and may help neighbors to help each other, profitably to both.

The man who is forced to say "I forgot," or "I neglected it," is always at a disadvantage; it is an old and very disreputable "chestnut" that convicts the user; and the chronic forgetter is not only a nuisance, but a trespasser on the generosity of those whom he expects to help him, perhaps at their inconvenience, because of his very bad habit.

Old papers, 10c a bundle, come handy at moving time.

Miami University, Oxford, O., requests that prospective students who feel it necessary to bring an automobile to College, shall select some othter institution.
