

THE SCHOOL AND ROAD PROBLEMS.

Some Questions to think Over and find Answers for.

Five more modern school buildings are wanted, and needed, in this county, and delegations have appeared before both the Board of Education and the County Commissioners, urging their construction. What is to be done about it?

Just how many miles of concrete, or macadam roads are wanted, we do not know; but the mileage is practically that of every dirt road in the county. What is to be done about that?

The State and County authorities want to build these school houses and roads. All they need is the necessary cash, that can be had only through taxation. Here is the place for another question mark.

It has been estimated that the five school buildings would cost about $225,000, which would increase the tax rate from $1.65 to $2.25. What is the answer?

To supply all of the demands for roads—and all have a lot of genuine sound argument back of them—would cost—nobody knows how much, but many times the cost of the five school buildings. How is that for a problem?

Rather than continue sending "delegations" to Westminster, why should not the various interested districts in the county get together and think these things out? Not only "think" them out, but "work" out the cost—see what it amounts to, and where the money is to come from. What is the use in wasting energy on things that can't be done?

Why blame the authorities for what is not their fault? If any body knows how these improvements can be had, without bankrupting the taxpayers, they ought to come forward and tell the plan.

Frederick county has besiegers for about 50 miles of road, this year. This is not a question for Carroll County to consider—we mention it only to show that the demand is general, and that our neighbor county has no gold mine either, from which to dig up cash.

Better Homes Week.

(For the Record).

The week set aside to bring to the notice of the general public the need and possibility of better homes in America, is the week from April 25 to May 1st. Numerous publications, most helpful in planning to carry on this campaign have been sent out, suggestive programs for every night of the week, which would be impossible to carry out at this time, in Taneytown, owing to the fact that we have no hall available.

However, on Monday night, May 26 a moving picture entitled, "The Home Demonstration Agent" will be put on at Shriner's Theatre.

The picture is free to all. It will, I am sure, be a revelation to those who have not availed themselves of the very helpful service of our Demonstration Agents. So cleverly do they show us how to do our housekeeping more effectively, and how to make our homes more attractive and tasteful; a maximum of comfort, a minimum of cost, is the result.

National Headquarters at 1653 Penna. Ave., Washington, has a number of publications, with illustrations and diagrams of homes, of most attractive design, within the grasp of people of moderate means. Flowers and shrubbery may add much to the beauty of our homes, and our enjoyment of them. These are within reach of everybody.

The "movie" on April 25, will be combined with a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association, an organization which should have on the membership roll, every patron of the public school. So, everybody come to Shriner's Theatre, Monday evening, April 26th.

We have had no less than four articles, this week, on the "Better Homes" movement, three of them lengthy, and all good. Evidently, the promotion end of the movement is fully awake; and, while we are in full sympathy with it, we are unable to give it more space than the above article, the first received.

Mr. Ford, on Wets and Drys.

Henry Ford is always interesting. He has a practical and somewhat pungent way of stating things, and often there are many who disagree with his conclusions—which happens to lots of writers and speakers who venture into public arenas. So, his editorial on the wets and drys—the major portion of which we reprint on our Editorial page of this issue—will meet with both approval and disapproval. But, it is well worth reading, just the same.

The S. S. Training School.

Registrations are beginning to come in for the S. S. Training School, next week. Those who intend to enter the school are requested to send in their registration cards as soon as possible. The text books have arrived, and can be secured from Rev. Garrett.

The school will open Monday evening, April 19, at 7:30 P. M., at the Reformed Church, and continue each evening of the week.

Persons with a slow respiration rate a lower pulse rate and lower body temperature, are the most intelligent, according to some scientists.

RADIO FOR FARMERS.

An Invaluable Service Given by the Agricultural Department.

A farm program is being Radio broadcast every day, except Saturday, at 12 o'clock noon, from WRC, Washington, directly by a representative of the Agricultural Department. These programs represent a different line of industry each day, covering dairying, poultry raising, cattle, crop growing, soil cultivation, etc. So far, they have mainly covered answers to questions sent by "listeners in."

It is the purpose of the Department to continue these daily talks, and farmers are being asked to send in suggestions, questions or criticisms—anything that will help to make the feature more valuable and helpful.

The Editor of The Record has listened to a number of these programs, and it is his opinion that the service is almost invaluable to farmers. The answers are in themselves are not only very informing, but more is given than is asked for; and besides, an individual farmer can get an answer to his own particular question, in which he is personally interested.

Here is a real opportunity to get first-hand expert knowledge on any question relating to farming, and if the question can not be briefly answered, the information is given as to what Agricultural Department literature to write for. The whole idea is to help farmers, practically and without cost—except in so far as owning a Radio is a matter of cost; which we believe would be not so much a "cost," as a wise investment, for this one use alone.

Have a Radio receiver installed, then get all the helpful things going as they apply to the farm job—and a lot of entertainment besides.

Near East Relief Day, April 21, in Taneytown.

Mr. George H. Hagopian, a native Armenian, presented Near East Relief work before the High School, on Thursday, and also waited on the ministers of town. He has arranged for a "Bundle Day" for Taneytown, on next Wednesday, April 21, when all gifts of clothing will be called for.

Used clothing for men, women and children, such as coats, sweaters, boots shoes, suits, trousers, blankets, dresses, or clothing of any sort, will be thankfully received, collected, and sent to the Near East sufferers. The bundles can be left at any church or school, Wednesday morning.

This is a very worthy cause, and we trust that Taneytown folks will liberally respond to the opportunity.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETING

Many Demands for New Buildings and Improvements.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was called to order at 10:10, on Wednesday, April 7, in the office of the Board. Commissioner Koons was absent.

The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read. The list of bills which was presented to the Board was approved and ordered paid.

At this point in the meeting, the sealed bids for the construction of a new school building in Sykesville were opened. The contracts could not be awarded as the Board had no written authority from the County Commissioners authorizing the Sykesville building to be built. A committee was appointed, at the suggestion of the Sykesville delegation, to consult with the Architect and the successful bidder with the idea in view of seeing, if it were possible, to reduce the material cost of the building $4000.00 to comply with the alleged amount which the County Commissioners are said to be willing to grant for the construction of this building.

A delegation appeared a second time before the Board, from Uniontown, with petitions including nearly 100% of all the patrons concerned, recorded, so as to include the consolidation of Fairview, Pipe Creek, and Morelock Schools, at Uniontown. The Board has, therefore, authorized the transfer of such portable as become available as soon as possible to meet the temporary condition at Uniontown and also, necessary steps to be taken to provide for the transportation of these children to this center.

A delegation from New Windsor, with a petition of nearly 500 names, came before the Board requesting it to erect an adequate elementary and high school building in that place, as the one now in use is very unsatisfactory and the playground is, also, too small to accommodate the children. The Board agreed to place the necessary amount in the budget for a new school building. In the meantime the previous arrangements made with the Blue Ridge College are to be continued, and the Superintendent was instructed to take the necessary steps to bring this about.

A delegation came before the Board and presented a petition of over five hundred names from the Manchester District, in behalf of a new high and elementary school building in Manchester. The present building is very inadequate and unsafe. The stone academy building has been carefully examined by competent authority and found dangerously unfit for use, and is to be abandoned after this school year.

The Superintendent was authorized to put the necessary amount in the budget to transfer one of the double portables from Sykesville, provided the Sykesville building is built. If the Sykesville building is not built, the Board will request the funds to purchase a new portable for Manchester.

A double portable was authorized to be moved, during the summer, or as soon as one becomes available, to Westminster to be used to alleviate the congestion in the Westminster school.

The Superintendent was authorized to put sufficient amount in the budget to build an annex to the Charles Carroll building, to rebuild the shop and garage, and lay a pavement on Lincoln road in Westminster; to buy land in Hampstead, and to buy the necessary additional equipment for the Taneytown building, such as electric fixtures assembly chairs, shades, and to lay pipes for water, and lay pavement.

The correspondence with Assistant Superintendent Hershner, of Baltimore County, with reference to compensation for the tuition for the daughter of Charles C. Williams, of North Branch, was considered and was authorized to be refused, as a bus to a Carroll County High School runs by the Williams' residence.

As the Priestland white school building is no longer in use, the Board authorized the Superintendent to permit the colored people of the community to use it for church purposes, until such time as the Board decided to authorize the sale of the property.

The Superintendent was authorized to protest the suggested change in the high school law, to be tentatively considered in the executive session on April 16th. by the County Superintendent of the State.

The additions to the bill of J. Webster Ebaugh, over and above the amount of his bid for lumber supplied to Winfield High School, was disapproved.

Requests for contributions to local funds raised for purposes indicated, were presented to the Board which contributed $10.00 to the amount already raised in each case, with the ready raised in each case, with the understanding that the same is to be paid when the necessary funds are available.

The closing of Ogg Summit school and the transferring of Miss Florence Coddington, teacher, to Walnut Grove school, and the acceptance of the resignation of Miss Mabel Lambert who has been the teacher of the Walnut Grove School, was approved.

The Superintendent reported the award of a Standard School Certificate to the Linwood school. Linwood has the credit for having received the first standard school certificate in Carroll county.

The meeting adjourned at 3:50.

WOMEN HAVE HEARING.

Stand for Strict Enforcement of the Volstead Act.

The "drys" are now having their inning before the Senate Prohibition investigating Committee. On Monday a corps of 65 women, representing various bodies with a membership of many millions. Their stand was in opposition to any modification of the laws, and for stronger enforcement; as one of the speakers put it, "For the strongest thing in enforcement, and for the weakest thing in liquor."

Their claims were that prohibition had so far resulted in:—
School children being much better clothed.

Men are saving more money.
Women's conditions are greatly better in the homes.

The demonstration made by the women was very impressive—the more so because they represent "votes." Hundreds were unable to gain admittance, and thronged the corridors of the Capitol. There were hundreds of petitions, one of which, from "wet" New Jersey, contained 16,000 names.

Most of the questions asked the ladies by the "wet" advocates dwelt on evils growing out of the fact that the law is not generally enforced, and on this basing the claim that the law itself is a failure. Presumably it is also part of the opposition to the present law, that with free wine and beer, strict law enforcement against stronger alcoholic liquors will follow. The ladies, however, were unanimous for enforcement of the present laws, by state, as well as National officials.

On Wednesday, Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of Prohibition enforcement, admitted before the Committee that a non-intoxicating beer, above the one-half of one percent limit, under strict regulation, would probably aid law enforcement, providing it could be confined to home use, or to bona fide hotels, served privately. He was not willing to concede that there could be a non-intoxicating wine.

The sensation of the week occurred in open Senate, when Senator Borah charged Senator Bruce, of Maryland, with preaching anarchy, after Bruce had asserted that people were getting their liquors despite the Volstead Act; that human nature could not be changed by legislation, and that some of the population is "going to have its wine, Constitution or no Constitution, statute or no statute." Borah said the Civil War had been fought on a somewhat similar issue of Constitution interpretation.

Senator Borah asserted his belief that the modification agitation was not "to continue non-intoxicating liquors, which you already have, but was an entering wedge to bring back real liquor." If the country demanded that, he argued, it should change the Constitution, but not attempt to get around the Constitution by subterfuge.

Price for Tomatoes this Year.

Over on the Eastern Shore interest is centering in the price of tomatoes to growers this year. The packers are offering $12.00 a ton, and some say that if they must pay more they will not can any tomatoes this year. The cause for this reduction was over-production of beans, peas and corn last year; the importation of some 2,000,000 cases of tomatoes from Italy and the fact that there was an open market for tomatoes, last year, that permitted some canners to buy at greatly less than the higher contracted-for price.

Over-production has resulted in the lowest retail prices for canned goods ever known—the stores selling at lower prices than even before the war, which means that canners had a hard time to dispose of their last season's pack at anything like a profitable price.

On the other hand, the farmers are confronted with high prices for labor, the uncertainties of the crop and the loss from spoilage. Both packer and grower are united on one thing—demand for higher tariff rates on Italian tomatoes, as they come directly in tact with the Eastern market.

We have had no information concerning the situation as it relates to the Carroll County industry.

Plans for $35,000 Sunday School Building.

The Middletown Lutheran Church, Rev. Chas. E. Day, pastor, is planning extensive improvements, next year, that contemplate a new Sunday School building in the rear of the church, the cost of which will be approximately $35,000. The plans propose a one-story building with a seating capacity of about 600, that will extend over 8 or 10 feet on each side of the main building, 75 feet long, with balcony. The entire building will then be T shaped, with walks from the front of the building to the rear.

Charles M. Shank has made an individual gift of $10,000 to be applied to the improvements. Plans for financing will be worked out, this year.

As to Cards of Thanks.

We do not publish "Card of Thanks" free of charge. Often such cards are sent in by mail without pay, or any inquiry about pay. We make the very small charge of 25 cents for the customary small card, and trust that this information may be generally observed.

MORE ABOUT THE STATE OF FLORIDA.

A Resident Subscriber Gives an Interesting Write-up.

PART I.

No doubt a few paragraphs from the torrid climate of Florida may be interesting to some of the readers of our home town paper. With the thermometer hovering around 90° and everything in correspondence with your climate in June, just now it is very dry as we only have two wet seasons of the year, Spring and Fall. As yet our wet season for the Spring has not come, but when it does come it will seem as though the land and ocean will go hand in hand.

During the rainy period of last Fall, people could be seen in the streets of Miami in their bathing suits, traffic cops standing in water knee deep, and lumber where buildings were under construction floated about. The few basements of the business buildings were flooded; there are few basements, due to the fact that Miami is but 18 inches above ocean level. A basement must be made water-proof, and that makes an ordinary building rather expensive, and one reason why there is not much here for a stone mason. I have seen one brick building in the eight months here—not much for a brick-layer, but for carpenters, plumbers, plasterers painters and steel structural workers, they can do very well here.

A man with no trade is better off anywhere else, but here. Construction here travels very rapidly; buildings seem to grow overnight. In December and January, we worked overtime and Sundays getting ready to accommodate the multitudes of winter tourists from all parts of the world. There are people here from France and England, at their winter homes at Miami and Palm Beach. Palm Beach is separated from West Palm Beach by the Indian River. Palm Beach faces the ocean and West Palm Beach faces the Indian river, and is one of America's most beautiful places. Here are the homes of the Vanderbilts, Rockefellers, Rogers, Douglas the shoe man, and Phipps the man that donated so much money to Johns Hopkins Hospital. The largest wooden building in the world can be seen here, the Royal Poinsetta Hotel accommodating 6000 guests. Miami Beach too is a pretty place. This winter 40,000 could be seen in bathing at one time.

Moonlight on Florida's water makes beautiful scenery, with tropical foliage along the shore; palm trees can be seen 150-ft. high; coconut trees laden with coconuts, palmetto, fan, cabbage and sago palms can be seen growing anywhere. The leaf of a coconut palm is about 15 feet long. Hibiscus and poinsetta up North reach a height of several feet as a pot plant; here they grow into trees and bloom continuously. Small flowers are always in bloom. The tiger plant can be seen growing wild in shady places. The most beautiful palm and flower garden I have seen is the Court of the Royal Palm hotel, consisting of several acres. To have a lawn and flowers here, you must have soil hauled here from the everglades. Plant life of the torrid zone is beyond imagination by a native of the North.

Animal life here does not have a very long history, for they are few—about a dozen horses and mules in the city of Miami, and for farming they use tractors. Some mules are used to build highways. Florida has quite a few of them built of crushed coral rock. The land in the southern part of Florida is mostly coral rock. Very few dairy farms; here and there a few chickens—they are lazy, no "pep" like the chickens of the North. They do not have barns here to house the stock; their home is under a tree, eating their grain and hay from a trough shipped in from the North. Hay and grain does not grow in Florida, it will not thrive in rock and sand.

Fields of pine apples can be seen growing between Miami and Palm Beach, a distance of 60 miles. The apple, at the present day, is scarcely half grown. The tough fibrous plant they grow on is three feet high and only one on a plant. Only plants that have tough fibrous foliage and root deep into the sand and rock, grows in southern Florida. Here and there a patch of good soil can be found, that is planted in tomatoes.

The fruit and vegetable belt is up state about 200 miles, in the vicinity of Sanford, Haines City, Lakeland, Winter Haven, Plant City and Tampa. There they have the muck soil and sand. Vegetables of all kinds, including strawberries. The strawberry belt is around Plant City and Tampa. Strawberries by the train-loads are shipped out daily. Immense groves of oranges, grape fruit and tangerines can be seen over an area of a hundred miles; trees laden with ripe fruit and blossom at the same time. They scent the atmosphere for miles.

Also, packing houses and canneries where they can grapefruit. The canned grapefruit served cold with sugar is more delicious than the raw. The surface sand in this district drifts around the corners as a skirt of snow would in Maryland. An orange and grapefruit blossom is very fragrant, very much the same as a locust blossom. The formation of the blossom is thick and waxy.

The sun here is very hot. It stings through thin clothing. Hay could be dried here in six hours. A citizen of

A BIG IDEA SUCCEEDS.

How the National Press Club Turned a Joke into Reality.

An event in Washington, last week, that was not given a great deal of space by the newspapers, was the laying of the corner-stone of the National Press Club Building, at which function President Coolidge and others delivered addresses. The story of the conception of the idea of this building, and the way it came into reality, is quite interesting.

The National Press Club is a very important organization, as it represents the many newspaper correspondents and magazine writers who are stationed at the National capital. It was organized in 1908. Before that there had been a smaller Club, and of course for many years before that there were unorganized correspondents representing all portions of the country, and now it has a membership of over 1500.

The following facts relating to the inception of the present big undertaking, have been collaborated largely from the March issue of the National Republic. As the story is told, at one of the meetings about a year ago, one of the members, James William Bryan generally known as "Jim," strolled into the Press Club and suggested that it was about time for the Club to "have a building of its own—one that would be a credit to the profession," etc.

The proposition was met mostly, with mild sarcasm and humorous quips. One member intimated that "Jim" had been drinking "too strong coffee." Another said, "Don't wake him up, he's having a fine dream." Another said "I'm with you, Jim, put me down for a dollar." And so the banter continued, until one member suggested that there was "too much ice water" and that the idea wasn't humorous at all, but could be "put over."

This gave Bryan a chance to take the floor again, and also the required courage. After the meeting the jokers were silent, so he packed his grip and invaded Wall Street where there is lots of cash to back almost anything. The proposition was popular—only, the lenders mildly suggested that of course the building must be three-fourths rented before the deal could be closed.

"Jim" wasn't scared, but waited on a big architect and a few engineers; quietly secured an option on the old Ebbitt Hotel and an adjoining property then spent the summer and fall scouting for tenant contracts. The scheme was considered a "joke," but did not turn out that way. It succeeded.

More than 500 offices have been rented; 23 stores on the first floor, and space for the largest moving picture theatre south of New York, seating 3500. The building is to be 11 stories high, ground space 159x270 feet, and will cost $10,000,000. The National Press Club reserves for its own use, the top floor.

It is figured that the income from the building will be sufficient to pay off all mortgage indebtedness in 20 years, after which the Club will be sole owner, and perhaps the wealthiest Club in the world, with an annual income from rentals of half a million dollars.

This is the way the big idea looks today. Just what a lot of real estate owners in the city, who are going to lose a lot of tenants, think of it, is another question, but that does not worry the Press Club, nor "Jim" Bryan.

Methodist Protestant Appointments.

Appointments made by the Wilmington Conference of the M. P. Church, for this section of Maryland, have been made, as follows:

Finksburg, Rev. C. K. McCaslin.
Frederick, Rev. G. R. McDonald.
Liberty, Rev. Stephen Galley, supply.
Pipe Creek, Rev. K. H. Warehime.
Union Bridge, Rev. W. R. Kuhn, supply.

Westminster, Rev. C. M. Elderdice.

Seminary Vacancies Filled.

Dr. John Aberly has been chosen to have charge of the department of systematic Theology, formerly filled by Dr. Singmaster, but this does not include the Presidency. The chair of New Testament Exegesis has been filled by the election of Dr. Raymond Stamm, who takes the place of Dr. Coover. No successor to take the place of Dr. J. A. Clutz has been chosen.

Mechanical Breath Smeller to test Tipplers.

Experts in the British Medical Association are seeking to provide standard rules for determining drunkenness when that charge is made against an individual in court. One expert at Leith has devised a mechanical breath smeller, a machine using chemicals on which alcohol, even a trace, reacts when the person tested faces the machine and breathes into it.

Other tests provide walking a chalk line on the floor, standing on one leg with both eyes closed, touching the tip of the nose when both eyes are closed, bending down to touch the right toe with the left forefinger, standing erect with heels together, without wabbling, and repeating "the sea ceaseth and it suffleth us," and other similar jaw-testing experiments. The purpose is to have a set of tests in each police station so the record may be dependable, providing drunk or sober.—Ohio State Journal.

Australia has just harvested her apple crop, and 43 steamers will carry 2,500,000 cases to Europe.

States Rights and Booze.

According to many of the big dailies of the east, every violation of the Prohibition laws, every failure of the enforcement officials to stop the illegal traffic in liquors, every individual who succeeds in securing liquors illegally, is taken to represent the fault of prohibition itself as a governmental policy. Every crime, committed through the use of boot-leg, is not so much a crime as it is a horrible example of the law, and its effect.

The gist of the whole matter is, all who conspire toward making the law a failure in operation, and all who discourage law enforcement, at the same time encourage criminality; and worse than that, the violation of the Constitution of the United States. The whole matter is a case of fighting our government. It is a specimen of daring the government to overcome evil-doing—an effort to continue a business by both fair and foul means, that the U. S. has legally decided to be criminal.

The laws of our country provide for an orderly means of amending the Constitution; but, as long as the constitution stands unamended, it is the patriotic duty of every true citizen to support it as it stands. This, many newspapers, and many men of both high and low degree, are not doing. They are in open rebellion against the government; encouraging criminals, and hindering law-enforcement.

That is the plain situation today, and the enemies of the government are glorying in—as openly and brazenly as they dare. Distilleries and breweries are not openly turning out liquors, nor are saloons openly selling them. Not yet. They may do that, within a year—in such states as New York, New Jersey, Maryland, and perhaps Pennsylvania—when the "states' rights" doctrine gets a little stronger and bolder. Along about 1860, that was called "rebellion" and a Civil War followed.

Why Don't They Leave?

Why don't the agitators, the objectors, the generally discontented with our government, leave the United States? Why do not the Communists, Socialists and other 'ists, get out from under the Stars and Stripes and go to Russia, or to some other foreign country, and be happy? Why stay here where oppression and the money power misrules everybody?

A few days ago a periodical named "Liberty" came to our office, the front page of which contained this heading "Americans Awake! Your Constitutional Liberties are endangered!" Then followed the very terrible news that four "blue Sunday" bills for greater Sabbath observance had been introduced into Congress, urging that "it is high time for the friends of Constitutional liberties to arise and administer a fitting rebuke to these forces which are now determined to erect in our land a religio-civil despotism."

This was an appeal to "Americans". Well, real Americans usually let matters of this sort run their course in Congress, and abide by what the majority decides to do about them. Evidently this appeal is to some sort of Americans who are not "awake" to the way the genuine Americans do things. We suspect the appeal is not to Americans, at all.

This periodical, by the way, is published right in Washington. Another article in it was headed, "Facing a Crisis." After a little reading for details, the "crisis" was found to be that "majorities" have more power than "individuals"; that there is no such thing as "inalienable rights," but laws are representative of "force"—that "the only safe majority is the individual and the fundamental law"—if our readers know just what that means. The article, if we understand it at all, wants obedience to law and right to come through "preaching," and not through actual force in law enforcement.

In a widely circulated daily, over a half page of black type was used for the presentation of the gospel of "love" for the cure of criminality, and opposition to capital punishment; that we can not cure murder by taking the life of the murderer, nor the criminal classes in general by imprisonment.

This sounds well as a doctrine, but it won't work. Sifted down, such preachments are mere opposition to all forms of punishment as a means of restricting crime—which, in the final analysis, means the encouragement of crime. If nothing harsh is to be done about it, nor because of it, why not murder, and rob—and boot-leg? And such stuff goes, under the guise of the "freedom" of the press?

The "Wets" Help the Drys.

The following is clipped from "Mr. Ford's Page" in the last issue of the Dearborn Independent, and is the main portion of an article on what Mr. Ford thinks of the "wet" opposition to the 18th. Amendment.

"The 'wets,' so-called, are as much a part of the prohibition movement as the 'drys,' and it will be the 'wets' that shall at last make the country 'dry.'"

Is this a paradox? Not at all. Only the exaggerations and excesses of the "wets" can put across a "dry" campaign. If this had been a sober country, we should never have had prohibition. If the liquor business had been fortunate enough to have had brainy leadership, the question would probably have been settled in a different manner. But the liquor business did not have brains in its leadership, and has none now, which, together with an increase in "wet" gullibility, makes the finest kind of support for the "dry" program.

In the movement for a liquorless country you cannot minimize the immense aid given by the "wet" forces; they furnish the resistance which enables the movement to gather speed and power. The country could not go "dry" without them. And it is becoming "drier" all the time because of them.

Here is history before our eyes, with one of its most obvious lessons, namely, that movements are composed of opposing forces, and that the negative force is not to be despised. Without it there is no victory.

See how the saloon created this great tide of prohibition sentiment in the first place. For 100 years, America asked the public house to be a good community neighbor. It refused. America asked it to exclude little children from the bar. It refused. The refusal goaded public sentiment into passing ordinances. The saloon refused to obey. This refusal caused the level of public sentiment to rise high enough for enforcement. Reform after reform was suggested, each refused by the saloon. Each refusal added height to the head of public sentiment, and year after year it rose higher and higher, lifted by the assiduity of saloon leadership. Higher and higher, year by year, until at length it leaped the dam and swept away the whole business. Prohibition was born in the stupidity of the liquor leaders.

And that stupidity still favors the movement. Just now tremendous efforts are being made to lift prohibition to the status of the big issue in the next campaign. The "wets" are financing those efforts, just as the poor saloon-keeper of other days financed the very campaigns that sealed the doom of his business. The last liquor dollars are going now for a campaign whose only possible issue is to make possible the enforcement of prohibition. If as they say, enforcement is impossible now, their further efforts against it are the only thing needed to make it possible.

This is the way history is made. The opposition brings the thing to pass.

A Big U. S. Exhibit.

The largest Government exhibit at any world's fair, with the exception of that assembled for the St. Louis Exposition, will be displayed at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition to be held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1, according to Rear Admiral Herman Osman Stickney, U. S. N., retired, Federal Commissioner to the Exposition, who is now in Philadelphia making arrangements for the Government's part in the Sesqui-Centennial.

The exhibits contemplated by the various Federal departments will cover an area of more than 130,000 square feet in the Palace of Machinery, Mines, Metallurgy and Transportation, inclusive of aisle space. Within this building will be arranged a model coal mine occupying a large space in the basement and the first floor as the contribution of the Bureau of Mines and the exhibits of the Department of Lighthouses, Bureau of Fisheries, Coast and Geodetic Survey, Federal Bureau for the Welfare of Women and Children, together with the units of the Department of Commerce.

The Treasury Department will operate a mint where Sesqui-Centennial medals will be struck off instead of coins, and an engraving department in connection with it will print engraved mementoes of the Exposition and copies of the Declaration of Independence.

Federal exhibits not included in the Palace of Machinery will be a model Post Office conducted under Government supervision which will handle all mail distribution on the Exposition site. A building for the Coast Guard will be erected within the limits of the Navy Yard. The naval exhibit will be housed within two buildings, one to be constructed out of the $250,000 allotted to the Navy Department, and the other a building now standing, which will be remodeled for the purpose.

The War Department has completed arrangements for the encampment of 1000 troops on the Exposition grounds from May 20 until December 1. The troops will be under command of Colonel J. W. Beacham and will live under tents, which will be framed, floored and heated. The unit will comprise the headquarters, headquarters company, band and service company of the Twelfth Infantry; Third Battalion of the Twelfth Infantry; one battalion of the Sixth Field Artillery; one troop of the Third Cavalry; one platoon of light tanks and one platoon of heavy tanks; one composite air squadron; a detachment of quartermaster and ordnance troops The Army Band, 90 men, of the Washington Barracks, will be in the camp for one month. The troops will give military displays, drills, exercises and will act as escort to distinguished visitors. They will appear in the new army uniforms.

A special issue of United States postage stamps commemorating the sesqui-centennial of the Declaration of Independence, will be prepared in honor of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition to be held in Philadelphia, June 1 to December 1, according to a letter received at headquarters from Rear Admiral Herman O. Stickney, National Exhibition Commissioner.

The Government has assured Exposition authorities that there is enough time in which to prepare for such an issue and that an appropriate design of historic significance will be used.

Providence the Scapegoat

Bishop Walter Taylor Sumner said in an after-dinner speech in New Orleans:

"We are too prone to lay the blame on Providence for misfortunes that are really our own fault. Providence, in fact, is getting a bad name."

"An old colored woman was fattening a Christmas turkey, but it got drenched just before Christmas in its leaky hutch, and in a few days pneumonia carried it off. So the old woman's pastor called to console her in her great loss."

"He laid the blame, of course, on Providence."

"'Doubtless all is for the best,' he said. 'Providence, you know. Here we see the hand of Providence.'"

"The old colored woman gave the table a whack with her fist."

"'Drat it!' said she. 'Providence bettah look out, dass all. Dere's one above won' let dat Providence go too fur!'"

Don't Live by Pen Alone

In the Paris Almanach for 1926 is a list of writers who do not live by the pen alone. They include a city hall employee, a publisher, a naval officer, a pig dealer, a bank employee, two farmers, a barrister, two engineers, two functionaries, a judge of the Seine court, a doctor and an inspector of forests. The names of several well known writers figure in the list. It appears that Andre Malraux, author of "Les Silences du Colonel Bramble," and an excellent life of Shelley, is a master draper. Jean de Pierrefeu is a manufacturer of perfumes, Pierre Hamp is an engineer and Jean Giraudoux is a diplomat.

Small Treasure Trove

In 1920 a London dealer in antique furniture bought an old writing desk and sent it to his workshop for renovation. In the course of the work the secret drawer, always supposed to lurk there, was discovered, and in it were a number of part sheets of unused English stamps of early date. These had been the owner's private letter stamps, probably kept in this secret place to prevent "borrowing" by other members of the household, but every passing year had added to their value, and they produced a handsome sum at a sale.

A FINE DISPLAY

— OF —

High Grade Merchandise FOR SPRING NEEDS.

You will find on display in our store a very attractive lot of Merchandise to care for the Spring needs. Quality, the best styles and attractive prices have been kept in mind, in making our selections for this season, and we feel sure you will be convinced that we have not failed in our efforts. It will pay you to look over our line of Spring Merchandise before making your purchases.

Dress Goods.

We have a fine assortment of the newest materials in Silk and Cotton for Spring. Color fast materials of beautiful designs in good widths and at lower prices.

Hosiery for Spring.

We are showing a complete line of Silk Hose for women, in all the leading shades for Spring for 49c per pair up.

For Silk Hose of quality and merit that will measure up to all that is claimed by the door to door canvasser we would recommend "Humming Bird, Silver Star, or Kayser brands."

Also a large assortment of Half Hose in Silk and Lisle threads and fancy designs for men, three-quarter and half Hose for children in pretty colors.

Taylor Made Suits.

There is a lot of satisfaction in knowing that the Suit you wear is made to fit. That is the way "Taylor" makes them. He is not satisfied for them to be any other way.

When you are ready for that new Suit for Spring it will pay you to call and look over our line of samples and note the beautiful fabrics, excellent styles and the wonderful values.

Dog Population Shows

No Tendency to Drop

An attempt to ascertain how many dogs there are in this country has brought out the fact that about 8,500,000 are known to the public authorities. They are the dogs that are taxed or licensed.

All that is known about the untaxed dogs, the strays, the puppies too young to get their owners into trouble if they are not reported or tagged, and the dogs kept where no effort is made to register or tax them, is that their number is great. It must surely be enough to bring the total up to 10,000,000 or more.

That means 1 dog for every 11 human inhabitants, or a fraction over 11. It is somewhat above the proportion of dogs to people in Great Britain. There about 45,000,000 "humans" have nearly 3,000,000 dogs. That is about fifteen persons for every dog.

The English seem to be fonder of dogs than Americans, as a rule, but the fraction of the British people who live on farms is very small. Here it is large, and dogs flourish in the country. Their troubles and perils multiply in cities, the bigger the worse.

Beyond doubt, the proportion of men, women and children to dogs is much larger in the United States than it was when this country was more rural and less urban. The contrast today between West Virginia, say, or Kansas and Massachusetts, in the dogs-to-humans ratio, is very great.

But nowhere is there anything to indicate that a dogless age may be not far ahead. The love of sympathetic, loyal, affectionate pets is too instinctive, too deep, too wide for that. Millions of people are too hungry for devotion, even if it comes from animals in many respects inferior to human beings.

All Alike

Theodore Dreiser, the novelist, was talking about certain Greenwich village Utopians.

"They despise money," he said, "and at the same time they're dreadful borrowers."

Mr. Dreiser shrugged his shoulders. "All Utopians," he ended, "are I-O-Utopians, I imagine."

First to Make Fiddles

Tradition has it that King Ravanaon of Ceylon was first of which there is any record to start the fiddle business. He is said to have invented the ravanastrom, 5,000 years ago, a cylinder of sycamore, open on one side across which strings were drawn taut. The instrument was played with a bamboo bow.—Grit.

Fas Odd Occupation

"Nomenclature" is a profession of which a woman, Miss Laura Lee Rogers, Elizabeth N. J., is believed to have a monopoly. For twenty years Miss Rogers has made a business of supplying catchy names for houses, boats and commercial products. Some of the names suggested by her for prepared foods and similar products have become known throughout America.

SPECIAL $1.00 Stationery Offer.

It is socially proper as well as business like to use printed stationery. It is also economical and apt to result in having paper and envelopes on hand, when needed. We have filled hundreds of orders received by mail for our $1.00 offer, and have not had a single complaint.

200 sheets Hammermill Bond paper, 5 1/2 x 8 1/2 unruled, padded on request, with 100 size 6 1/2 envelopes to match. Priced either in dark blue, or black. Not over 4 lines neat type, the same form on both paper and envelopes. Envelopes printed on back or front. Unless otherwise directed, orders for ladies will be printed on back, and for gentlemen, on front.

Instead of name, an Old English Initial letter can be used, if desired. Initial stationery should have a box number, or street address.

When desired, ruled paper will be furnished (167 sheets) with 100 size 6 1/2 envelopes.

We do not print envelopes alone, or paper alone, at 50c. Cash with order, when sent by mail. Write instructions, and copy for the printing, very plainly. When mailed to 3rd and 4th. Zones, add 5c; to 5th. Zone, or further, add 10c.

CARROLL RECORD

POULTRY

POULTRY HOUSE
QUITE IMPORTANT

Chickens raised on grandfather's farm roosted in the apple tree or on the binder reel because these places were accessible, convenient and neither crowded nor stuffy. It is pointed out by W. A. Foster of the farm mechanics department, college of agriculture, University of Illinois. This choice of biddy's should be a valuable guide to the modern poultryman who is planning to build a new chicken house or remodel the old one, Foster says.

"Suitable housing is just as important as the care of the flock because it provides for the comfort of the birds at all seasons. Furthermore, it is convenient for the attendant. In addition, to be effective and efficient, the house should be simple in construction in order to keep the cost and upkeep low. A neat, attractive house adds to the appearance of the building group and value of the farm.

"The comfort of the birds is secured through freedom from dampness and drafts and provisions for ample floor space in feeding and roost space for night. An abundant supply of fresh air and sunlight promotes the health, vigor and comfort of the birds.

"A dry house requires a dry floor placed on a porous, well-drained site, a lead-proof roof, tight walls and close-fitted doors and windows. Proper ventilation supplies fresh air to the birds, removes the moisture from the breathed air and litter and minimizes drafts, which are disastrous to the flock when the birds are inactive on the roosts at night. This ventilation may be provided in several ways. The apple-tree roosts of a generation ago were well ventilated. The open machine shelter where the range chicks like to roost is also well ventilated. Biddy's choice, then, may require a little thought on our part. Why did she choose a perch on the harvester's reel? It was accessible, convenient and neither crowded nor stuffy as many roosts in the modern hen house.

"Open-front houses provide ventilation and sunlight, but must be used with common sense to avoid undesirable drafts. A southern exposure is desirable. Modern ventilation equipment has advanced many steps in recent years. It is not yet fool-proof, but will require further study and intelligent handling.

"A poultry house of simple construction is not only desirable but necessary to the success of the venture. Simple construction enables the attendant to build houses and install equipment which would be prohibitive if skilled labor was employed.

"A neat, attractive, well-kept poultry house surrounded by a healthy, vigorous flock should be the pride of every poultry raiser. It is not only encouraging to the owner but an asset in marketing the products."

Milk Powder Remedy for Little Chick Diseases

Milk powder is the remedy for the disease of coccidiosis, which for years has taken its annual toll of baby chicks, according to the results of experimental work conducted at the California agricultural experiment station. The results of the investigation recommend the feeding of a ration to baby chicks which contains 40 per cent of dry skim milk. The investigators say: "The fact that feeding chickens mash containing 40 per cent dry skim milk not only protected them against coccidial infection but also stimulated rapid growth, indicates that this would be a valuable practice in the prevention and control of outbreaks of the disease on poultry farms."

Two pens of chicks fed in the experiment were inoculated with the germ of coccidiosis. Of those which did not get dry milk in their mash 23.8 per cent died. Of those which did get dry milk only 2.3 per cent died.

It was found that chicks fed powdered dry milk produced 25 per cent faster growth than those which were not so fed.

Poultry Facts

It is much easier to keep hens healthy and happy than it is to "doctor" sick birds.

Chicks hatched early this spring will start laying in the fall and make good producers by winter.

Clean, fluffy hen feathers, well dried, make fine pillows and cushions; and, in fancy ticking, they might be sold.

By thoroughly disinfecting your incubator with a 5 per cent solution of cresote or carbolic acid, tubercular organisms can be destroyed, making incubation perfectly safe.

Sunlight and vitamins must be mixed in the ration fed to poultry these winter months if egg production is to keep up to normal.

Wheat or oats are rich in protein, but do not carry enough carbohydrates to balance up this most valuable of all the feed-elements.

Incomplete rations are responsible for tremendous losses each year from failure of pullets to lay during the winter, and from heavy mortality to pullets, especially the following spring.

The P. T. C. Association was well attended last Wednesday evening, and the program given by the children was greatly enjoyed. Prof. Unger was present, and after a brief talk, presented the school with a certificate, this being the only standard two room school in the county. The honor is due the Association, which is wide awake.

Mrs. Joseph Dayhoff entertained the Sewing Circle, on Thursday.

Miss Melba Messler, of Union Bridge, was a week-end guest at J. W. Messler's.

The Missionary Society of the Linwood Brethren Church held a very successful sox social last Friday evening. We were very glad to have with us Misses Katherine and Fidelia Gilbert, of Uniontown, and Miss Katherine Bowersox, of New Windsor, who gave very pleasing readings. The female and mixed quartets rendered some choice selections. Refreshments consisting of sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, cake and coffee were served. The amount collected from the Sox's amounted to $97.60.

Mrs. William Davis spent Wednesday with Mrs. Roger Fritz.

We are sorry to report that grandmother Spielman is sick at this writing.

Miss Julia Wilhilde, of Ladiesburg, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Calvin Binkley.

MAYBERRY.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dayhoff and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crushong, of near the Bethel Church, spent Thursday afternoon with the family of Ellis Crushong. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hy-miller and daughter, Marian, spent Friday afternoon at the same place, and Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Hiltbridge and Mrs. Harry Wildason, spent Sunday afternoon at the same home.

Misses Ada and Lillie Erb spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Irene Wildason.

Mrs. Paul Wildason has been housed-up for a few days with the grip.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Hiltbridge and Mrs. Annie Keefer spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Collins, at Littlestown.

Miss Pauline Keefer is not so well at this writing.

Ellis Crushong visited his father, Abram Crushong, near Union Bridge, on Sunday.

Miss Ruth Hiltbridge called on her sister, Mrs. Jessie Unger and family, on Sunday.

Mrs. Beulah Bever, of near Meadow Branch Church, is spending some time with her uncles, the Wantz brothers, near Arter's Mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers, of near Good-intent, spent Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crushong and family.

MANCHESTER.

The first great thing that comes to my mind as I write the news of our town is, the big delegation that presented themselves before the Board of Education of Carroll Co., at the Court House, on last Wednesday. A petition of 475 names was presented also. The Board said "our hands are tied. We can only build as we get the money." They further said, "we would recommend you to the County Commissioners." How glad the delegation was thinking now they would be in line for the next building. The Commissioners said, "Did they include it in their budget?" The answer was no. Well, said they "we can't do anything for you until they include it in their budget." "We advise you to go back and ask them to put it in their budget." How happy the delegation was again. They hastened back, but the board had disappeared. The delegation was only stung again. Some one said, "too bad certain things which are vital to the uplift of mankind are mixed with politics." Manchester has the poorest housing equipment in the County. If anybody disbelieves this statement, pay us a visit.

Its a disgrace to civilization to compel children to spend nine months a year in these buildings seeking an education, and at the same time take a big chance on impairing their health and endangering their lives before reaching the age of maturity. The floor in one building is sagged down like a sway back horse. Too bad, but I suppose we will have to wait until some of the children become crippled before consideration is given. Mr. Unger said the only thing he could say about the place was, a nice piece of ground.

The Parent-Teachers' Association held their meeting last Friday evening in the school house building. One of the important things discussed was the possibility of a two weeks summer vacation Bible School this summer. Sentiment seems to be very strong not favoring the project. Even some of the teachers voting against it. Well, vote everything that means for the betterment of society down, and let the people go elsewhere. For that is what is being done. You will recall some time ago a water system was voted down about 2 to 1 and then people ask why the town doesn't advance. I don't think you have to spend long in school seeking sufficient knowledge to answer. Manchester, wake up out of your slumber.

The Baltimore district Christian Endeavor organization of the United Brethren Churches, held their monthly rally in the Greenmount Church on this past Tuesday evening. A great crowd came together representing the churches of the district. Rev. Fehle, of Parkton, Md., made the address. His subject was "Spiritual development." At the close of Rally everybody present were invited to the dining room in basement where refreshments were served. The people of Greenmount have the right vision. No wandering they are advancing. Any Church can, that feel they exist to minister and not to be ministered too. Miss Irene Lemmon, of Taneytown, was a guest at the United Brethren Parsonage, of this place, on Tuesday evening of this week.

FEESERSBURG.

Joseph Boston and wife took his aunt, Mrs. Grace Straw and daughters, Helen and Bettie, and Mrs. Jas. Coleman, to Martinsburg, W. Va., on Sunday last, to visit Mrs. Straw's aunt and uncle, Dougan's, the latter being in very feeble health.

Mrs. Ormar Stouffer was taken to Frederick Hospital, on Tuesday last week, and was operated upon on Wednesday A. M., when about 250 gall stones were removed. She is doing as well as can be expected.

Miss Lizzie Birely and brother L. K., are suffering with bad colds. Improvements continue. Clayton Koons has brought water conveniences to his poultry.

Skunks and rats have been disturbing some of our neighbor's chickens. The men are out with guns; the boys traps have been successful.

Mrs. Frank Keefer is housed with grippe. Who has escaped?

Mrs. John Buffington entertained quilting parties on Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Paper hanging and house cleaning are in progress. Women are tired and men are grouchy.

It seems like spring is here by the sound of the birds and frogs. But too cold and wet for gardening and yard cleaning.

BRIDGEPORT.

The following spent Sunday at the home of Walter Ohler, wife and family, at Gettysburg: H. W. Baker, wife and daughter, Pauline; George Ohler, Ernest Ohler, wife and children, of Littlestown; Mrs. Harry and daughter, Amanda; Harry Stambaugh, wife and children, near Harney.

Mrs. Harry Baker and daughter; Mrs. Jones Baker, spent Saturday, in Hanover, Pa.

Edgar Miller, wife and two daughters, spent Sunday evening with H. W. Baker and wife.

Rev. R. G. Koontz a former pastor of Tom's Creek, will preach there on Sunday, April 18th., at 10:00 o'clock. Everybody welcome.

KEYSVILLE.

Miss Dora Devilbiss, of Graceham, spent the week-end with her parents, William Devilbiss and wife.

Those who spent Sunday with Calvin Hahn, wife and family, were: Birnie Babylon and wife, Mrs. Alice Hahn and Charles Snyder, all of Taneytown.

Roscoe Kiser and wife, of Overlea, Md., spent Sunday with his home folks.

Carl Haines, wife, daughter, Vivian, and son, Fern, visited Willie Arner and wife, of Fountain Dale, Pa. Little Miss Mildred Stull entertained some of her friends, on her 8th. birthday, last Saturday. Those present were: Virginia Cluts, Helen Kiser, Vivian Haines, Catherine Shyrock and Rosana Keiholtz.

NORTH EAST CARROLL.

Preaching at St. David's (Sherman's) Sunday afternoon, at 2:00 o'clock, by Rev. A. M. Hollinger; Sunday School at 1:00; Christian Endeavor, at 7:00. There will be a Woman's Missionary program at St. David's, Sunday evening, April 25. The address will be delivered by the Rev. Norrs, of Lancaster, Pa., a former mission worker.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Monath and Miss Anna LeGore made a trip to Gettysburg and York, on Tuesday.

The evening services held at St. David's Church closed Friday evening, with an illustrated lecture on the Passion Play, after which Preparatory services were held.

Steward Sentz, of Philadelphia, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Leppo, on Sunday.

Guests entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Thieret, on Sunday, were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leese, Mr. and Mrs. John Myers, Mr. and Mrs. George Myers, of Hanover; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monath, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Masemore and niece, Nadine Bauman.

The farmers are busy plowing and getting the ground ready to sow their oats.

Don't forget the play "Deacon Dubbs," at the P. O. S. of A. Hall, Pleasant Hill, Saturday evening.

MARRIED

WEANT—SAUERWEIN.

In the Lutheran parsonage, Walkersville, on Friday evening, April 9, at 5 o'clock, Miss Catherine Sauerwein daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Sauerwein, of Littlestown, Pa., became the bride of Paul C. Weant, son of Mrs. Clara Weant, of Taneytown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. A. Shilke and the ring ceremony was used.

The bride was becomingly attired in blueorgette. Her parents were former residents of Frederick county, and now live near Littlestown, Pa.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Weant, returned to the home of the bride, from which place they will go to York and other points. Upon their return they will reside near Taneytown.

MR. LEWIS SHOEMAKER.

Mr. Lewis C. Shoemaker died near Ladiesburg, on Wednesday, from arterio sclerosis, aged 71 years, 11 months, 9 days. He is survived by one brother, George W. Shoemaker, of Frederick, and a number of sisters. Funeral services were held this Friday.

ADA Z. BUFFINGTON.

Ada Z., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Buffington, of Hanover, Pa., died on Saturday evening from measles and pneumonia, aged 4 years. She is survived by her parents, and the following brothers and sisters; Jacob, George, Thelma and Pauline. Three of which are ill with pneumonia. The funeral service was private.

MRS. ELLEN C. HOSFELD.

Mrs. Ellen Catherine Hosfeld, (nee Warner), was born Feb. 23, 1864 and died of neuralgia of the heart, April 8, at her home in Manchester. She was aged 72 years, 1 month 15 days. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Herbert Frock, west of Manchester, three grand-children and one brother, George L. Warner, east of Manchester.

The funeral was held at the home and continued at Trinity Reformed Church, on Sunday afternoon, at 2:00, conducted by her pastor the Rev. John S. Hollenbach. A large assemblage of relatives and friends testified to the esteem in which she was held.

MRS. ALBERT SMITH.

Mrs. Ellen V., wife of Mr. Albert Smith, died at her home at Copperville, on Monday morning, in her 18th. year, after a very brief illness from congestion of the liver. Mrs. Smith who was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olinger, was married last Fall, and had been keeping house only a few weeks.

She is survived by her husband, her parents, and by a sister and brother, Pauline and Carroll.

Funeral services were held on Thursday, at the home and in Grace Reformed Church, in charge of her pastor, Rev. Guy P. Bready.

MRS. ANNA ENGLAR NELSON.

Mrs. Anna Englar Nelson, wife of Mr. Robert J. Nelson, of Mitchellville, Prince Georges County, died at her home Saturday morning, aged 72 years. She is survived by her husband, one son and one daughter at home, and one daughter, Mrs. Preston L. Peach, a Missionary in Malaysia; also by one sister, Mrs. Evan B. McKinstry, of McKinstry's Mills, this county.

She was a daughter of the late Mrs. Hannah Englar-Haines, formerly of near Linwood, and a sister of late Francis J. Englar, of near Union Bridge.

Funeral services were held at the home in Prince Georges County, on Monday, followed by interment in Mt. Olivet cemetery, Frederick.

CARD OF THANKS.

We hereby extend our sincere thanks to many friends for their help and sympathy during the illness and following the death of our dear husband and father; also for flowers and for the use of automobiles. MRS. ADA BAUMGARDNER. EDWIN BAUMGARDNER.

May Day—Child Health Day.

Statewide celebration of May Day as Child Health Day, in connection with the nationwide observance of the day, is strongly recommended by Dr. John S. Fulton, Director of the State Department of Health.

"May Day is one of the days," he said, "when we want to think of health, not disease, in connection with the children of the state. Those of us who are directly concerned with the upbringing of children in Maryland, especially the parents, teachers, the clergy, doctors and health officials, have a rather large army to consider. There are something like 18,000 babies under a year old and over 200,000 boys and girls under fifteen in the counties and an equally large number in Baltimore City.

"The future of Maryland depends upon this army and upon its well being, physically, mentally and spiritually. We can readily afford to devote this one day in the year to constructive planning for the health of these children. Just what we want for each child and why we want it was admirably summed up by Herbert Hoover in his letter as president of the American Child Health Association urging the annual observance of May Day as Child Health Day. The elemental rights of each child, he said, are:

"To be born well

"To have a healthy childhood, and

"To reach maturity in the happiness that comes in its fulness only to those whose physical heritage has been safeguarded.

With bodily health almost surely goes the natural selection of healthy association, moral and spiritual as well as physical.

Also with such health, and just as naturally, goes an aptitude to receive the right instruction easily; to be kind; to regard the rights of others; that is to make good citizens."

Dr. Fulton has appointed Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Chief of the State Bureau of Child Hygiene, state chairman for the observance of May Day.

Maryland Crop Report.

The condition of winter wheat as reported by Maryland farmers to the Department of Agriculture on April 1 is 76 percent of normal, compared with 86 percent on April 1, 1925, and 86 the ten-year average. Owing to unfavorable weather conditions last fall a very large percent of the crop was planted late, and the late planted wheat appears to have suffered more than the relatively small amount of early planted wheat. Reports from nearly all sections of the State indicate that the crop suffered from insufficient snow covering, particularly during the cold, windy weather in March. Alternating periods of freezing and thawing caused heaving in a large proportion of the fields.

Following the unfavorable fall and winter conditions, the spring growing weather has been unusually late in arriving so that there has been very little stooling and stands are consequently thinner than usual.

The condition of winter wheat for the United States on April 1 was 84.1 percent of normal, compared with 68.7 percent on April 1, 1925, and 72.2 percent, the ten-year average.

Farm labor conditions appear to have deteriorated somewhat. The average wages of farm labor with board are $36.50 per month compared with $33.25 on April 1, 1925; without board $51.50 per month compared with $49.25 a year ago. The supply of farm labor on April 1 is reported at 81 percent of normal compared with 82 percent a year ago, and the demand for farm labor is reported as 94 compared with 92 a year ago. The movement of laborers to the Susquehanna Power Project is creating a shortage on farms in the Northeastern counties.

The National Zoo, at Washington, has had so many requests from children to see giraffes, that an expedition has been sent to Africa to obtain specimens.

A new movement has been inaugurated to abolish the $2.00 bill from circulation as National currency. The note is generally unpopular with the public.

Companies writing Hail Insurance have withdrawn from the Martinsburg, W. Va., section, so far as insurance on fruit trees is concerned. The losses have been too heavy the past few years.

Women and Cigarettes.

"Do you notice," said the man about town, "how they are slipping women into the cigaret advertisements now? Just keep your eyes peeled as you turn over the magazines, and see how the young woman is appearing in the ads of various brands. The tobacco companies are deliberately fostering the use of tobacco by women. It is bad enough to have their press agents use the radio to tell us that cigarets are the most harmless form of tobacco, but when they portray girls of high school age and young debutantes as natural parts of their cigaret ads alongside the young smoker of the male species, I have a feeling that they are raising something against themselves which may prove very embarrassing. It will be interesting to watch how far this goes. I am curious to know whether the tobacco business is going to display the same brand of brains that the liquor business used."—Dearborn Independent.

Senator Brookhart Unseated.

Brookhart, insurgent Republican Senator from Iowa, was formally unseated, on Monday, by a vote of 45 to 41, and the Democratic contestant, Daniel F. Steck, was seated. The vote was the result of a contest that has been pending since the election last Fall, when Brookhart was returned as elected on the face of the returns, by a small majority.

In a recount of the vote of the state before a committee of the Senate, the "intent" of voters was considered, and enough votes thrown out to give Steck a slight majority, and the report of the committee to the Senate recommended his right to the seat.

The case has been under discussion during the past month. On final vote on the acceptance of the report of the Committee, most of the Republican members voted for Brookhart, and most of the Democrats voted for Steck, along party lines, but a block broke off from each party, ignoring party ties. Steck was sworn in at once.

Brookhart will at once enter a campaign in Iowa in an effort to "come back" by defeating Senator Cummins, Republican, for the nomination this year.

Taneytown H. S. Baseball.

The High School Baseball team opened the season, last Friday, at Hampstead. Due to losses by graduation, practically a new team represents the High School this year, and the tie score 5-5, was rather better than was expected of our boys. The score was 5-1 in the ninth inning, in Taneytown's favor, a batting rally at the last minute, accounting for the final score.

On Tuesday, the team journeyed to Thurmont and suffered a defeat by the score of 2 to 11, at the hands of a much superior team.

Today, Taneytown has as its opponents, the New Windsor boys. The game will be played on the field at the new school building. The game will be called at 3:30 P. M.

The young girl confronted him with flashing eyes.

"What do you mean," she demanded, "by kissing me as I lay asleep in the hammock this morning?"

"But," protested the youth, "I only took one."

"You did not. I counted at least seven before I awoke."

the North is not a member of Florida until tanned brown. If you look white they will remark? Why you look so pale, are you sick? Being tanned brown is your initiation.

Florida has good school system, a child of the third grade must master seven books. An emigrant from other states must pay until the child is a resident of the state six months; also furnish books. Miami has large school buildings—more space than scholars.

Florida wants more population, to reside permanently—to carry on business. The rich people are gradually leaving Miami; too much business going on here. They prefer being out where it is quiet. Florida is fighting hard for factories and industries of all kinds to hold people the entire year. The Chamber of Commerce almost greets you hand in hand when they learn you expect to reside here. Florida no longer wants their children educated in colleges of other states, therefore they have broke grounds to build a college (The University of Miami). Also a court house 24 stories high, that will be one of the many tall buildings here.

The business section of Miami looks like a view of N. Y. City. If this place keeps on growing as it is at the present day, it will be the N. Y. City of the South. I think about 1/50th of N. Y. population was here this winter. Towns and buildings here are of the Spanish type, and Spanish names. Very hard to pronounce if you do not know anything about the Spanish language.

Hollywood by the sea is another beautiful place, coming rapidly. It is 20 miles from Miami. Building a million dollar harbor there. You can believe all you hear and read about it.

Florida does not have sufficient railroads in the southern part of the state to handle the business of the winter season. An embargo was on for several months; nothing was moved but perishable goods; provisions and passenger traffic. Now the greater part of the tourists have gone, and all kinds of freight is again on the move. They are going to double track the Florida East Coast line, The Atlantic Coast line from Washington, D. C., covers the northern and center of Florida, but does not cover the distance of 275 miles from Palatka to Miami.

During the embargo all building material was brought from other parts on freight boats. In December a boat was capsized in the channel at Miami harbor, and blocked all water traffic. At one time 43 ship loads of building material was anchored in the ocean.

Must Placate the Child

MAY TURN TO BLUE FOR ARMY UNIFORM

Not Enough Olive Drab to Clothe Soldiers.

Washington, D. C.—A careful survey of American resources for the manufacture of khaki breeches has convinced army officials that if it became necessary to put a force of two million men into the field in less than eight months, most of them would have to fight in their shirt tails.

Faced by this appalling possibility, the industrial mobilization wing of the national defense planning machinery started a study of its own. It found that it would be entirely possible completely to uniform two million men from head to foot in 15 days provided blue cloth instead of khaki was used.

The trouble with the khaki outfit is that not enough cloth of that color is in ordinary civilian use. There are ample stocks of blue and gray, both wool and cotton fabric. The result has been the working out of a tentative blue training uniform which could be supplied in ample volume for a mobilization, to be discarded as units completed their preliminary preparation and moved out for final training near the zone of operations.

By that time complete khaki outfits with tan leather trappings would be ready for them, giving them the necessary degree of low visibility in the field.

The contemplated blue training uniforms would consist of a four-button blouse, dressed with red shoulder knots to give a military touch; blue cloth overseas caps; blue breeches, tan canvas leggings of the lacing variety and black shoes. Tan shoes would be preferable, but the survey disclosed only a limited quantity of tan Munson last shoes in the market while there are always plenty of blacks to be had.

The matter has not passed as yet beyond a study stage in the War department.

Iron Chain of Civil War Unearthed by Landslide

Hickman, Ky.—Buried under a bluff since the site was surrendered by Confederate soldiers in 1861, part of the mile-long chain, composed of 19-pound iron links that was stretched across the Mississippi river by soldiers of the South to prevent the passage of Union gunboats, has been bared at Columbus, Ky., 20 miles from here, by a landslide that hurled two acres of ground into the stream.

Sixty feet of the chain were exposed by the slide. The anchor to which the Kentucky end of the chain was attached has been dug out. Its shaft is 16 feet long and the arms 7 feet.

Chicago.—A new age of transportation with crack passenger trains running safely at terrific speeds on concrete roadways reinforced with steel trusses was predicted by Frank H. Alfred of Detroit, president of the Pere Marquette railway, at the meeting of the American Railway association.

Cars of the new trains will run on roller bearings and their speed will be almost as fast as airplanes.

Mr. Alfred, with the assistance of Paul Chapman, engineer, has worked out the plan. "To the airplane theory, our answer is 'safety,'" said the Pere Marquette president. "The new roadbed and bearings will give railroad trains speed comparable to that of the planes and the superior safety of the rails will continue."

Thieves Had Conscience

C. V. Combes was held up and robbed at Winnipeg, Manitoba, while on his way home with $227, the proceeds of a concert held for the benefit of a Christmas stocking fund for the poor children of Winnipeg. A day later a shabby man called at the campaign headquarters, left a package with the cashier and quickly departed. In the package was found the money and Combes' watch. Also inside was a note saying: "Sorry we did the job. We did not know whose money it was. Spent $2 before reading."

Power in a Pocket

Sufficient electrical energy to work for many weeks an ordinary wireless receiving set using several valves is contained in a novel accumulator invented by a Russian scientist.

So small that it can be carried easily in the waist-coat pocket, this tiny accumulator has already attracted the attention of experts, who foresee great possibilities in its use for motor cars and cycles.

Old Egyptian Dolls

Judging by findings amongst the wrappings of mummified infants, the favorite toys in ancient Egypt were dolls. Some have a grotesque appearance, but a common kind of doll consisted of a flat board—like a large, bowlless spoon—the round part painted or carved to represent a face. Legs were usually absent. Others are so small that they can be strung like big beads, on threads that make a mop of hair for the doll's head.

What Use Are Husbands?

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE husband woman wants is one who helps her get her dishes done, who picks things up, not leaves them loose.

A man who's just a little use, and not too proud to sweep a floor, a handy man to hang a door, or close one that he finds ajar—And not the way that most men are.

The husband women like to see, I think all women will agree, is one who holds a baby right, is one, when he comes home at night, who takes the children off her hands, is one who children understands— I guess the model husband, maybe, is one who likes to hold the baby.

But ordinary husbands—well, you women know, I needn't tell. There's not a thing that they will do to help you get your housework through.

They're off downtown at break of dawn, to some old office they have gone, and there till late at night they stay.

What are they good for, anyway?

Who's striving Parnassus to climb With a whole bale of isms tied together with rhyme; The top of the hill he will ne'er come nigh reaching Till he learns the distinction twixt singing and preaching.—Lowell.

GOOD FOODS

AS SPINACH is such a valuable vegetable it should be served often during the winter and oftener in the early spring. When the fresh vegetable cannot be obtained the canned will answer very well.

Cream of Spinach Soup.

Take one-half peck of spinach cooked and put through a sieve, add to it one pint of chicken broth and one quart of milk, thicken or bind with two tablespoonfuls each of flour and butter. Cook well and serve hot with croutons.

Anchovy Pate Sandwiches.

Pound four boned anchovies, two hard-cooked egg yolks, one-fourth of a cupful of butter and a few dashes of cayenne in a mortar until smooth. Then press through sieve, spread small rounds of white bread with the mixture and an equal quantity with mayonnaise dressing. Put together in pairs. Sprinkle one side of each small sandwich lightly with paprika and serve with salad.

Meat Loaf.

Take one pound each of chopped beef and fresh pork, one cupful of bread crumbs, one cupful of strained tomato juice, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, salt and pepper to taste. Stir and mix well, bake one hour in a small bread tin.

Lemon Dumplings.

Add the grated rind to the juice of one lemon, one cupful of molasses, one-half cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of butter, one cupful of hot water, one egg, one cupful of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt. Let the lemon, molasses, sugar, butter and hot water come to a boil, then drop the dumplings into it—made by sifting the flour and dry ingredients, adding just enough milk to make a drop batter. Cover closely and boil twenty minutes to one-half hour, using care that the mixture does not burn.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

SHUTTING DOORS

ALWAYS shut the door after you upon entering a house or you will never have a house of your own. This is a superstition to be encouraged. It is not near as common as it ought to be: it should be brought to the attention of those people who always leave the door ajar on cold or stormy days especially.

It is gratifying to know that the American Folk Lore society finds it fairly common in various parts of the land. The idea in the superstition is that ancient and primitive one of binding and losing, of confining by tying or otherwise; a form of sympathetic magic, that which is associated in thought is associated in fact. When upon entering a house you close the door behind you you confine yourself to the house and by shutting yourself into it identify yourself more thoroughly with it. You and the house are parts of one whole, as it were, in the idea of association. Sympathetic magic takes its course and some day you have a house of your own. But if you leave the door open you are associated in thought with out-of-doors, that association prevails and the oftener you do it the stronger is the association. So you never get a house of your own—and don't, really, deserve one.

The Hotel Stenographer

"DO YOU know about that Greek horse Pegasus?" asked the Hotel Stenographer.

"Running at Tijuana?" asked the House Detective.

"No, Kelly," replied the girl. "Pegasus never ran at Saratoga either. He lived many, many years ago and then only in the imagination of the Greeks.

"They had a lot of gods of everything from the vacuum cleaner to the weather vane on the roof. These gods were somewhat like our patron saints. Just as we have St. Anthony as a patron saint of lost things and put 'S. A. G.' under a postage stamp to make a love letter go right, expecting St. Anthony to guide it, so the Greeks had gods of this, that and the other.

"This winged-horse Pegasus was the god of poets. They gave him four legs so he could keep his feet on the ground when dealing with solid facts and a pair of wings so he could take the air when imagination began to work on him. The poets used his wings and the income tax collectors used his hoofs.

"It seems to me, Kelly, that Pegasus should be the patron saint of women instead of Cupid. If there is anything on earth a woman needs it's her feet. They ought to be on the earth all the time. She takes the air on wings or fancy too blamed much as it is.

"She sees some husky lad driving a delivery wagon for a butcher shop who can shake a wicked hoof at a parish hall dance and right away her feet leave the ground and she imagines he is a hero; mentally she dresses him in green tights and puts a mandolin in his hand and brings him under her window to improvise love songs. If she had all four of Pegasus' feet and they were all on the ground she would know that a delivery wagon driver knocks down about eighteen bones a week. As a good delivery boy cannot cop food out of other people's baskets she'll have to be willing to live a whole lot on the food of fancy, which is quite different from fancy food."

AN ABBREVIATED STORY

PHRENOLOGY

WANDERING about viewing the sights of the Round Corners county fair, Steuben Veskitt noticed the booth of Professor Kismet, phrenologist.

"Here's my chance to find out if there's really anything in the science of phrenology," he thought. And he went into the booth and requested Professor Kismet to feel his bumps.

"H'm," began the professor, "your stultibic curve is almost concave—that means that your will power is not only null, but void. Your attic protuberance is negligible—which indicates that your art sense is almost absent, that no one who knows you well would trust you to pick out wall paper for them. Fifty cents, please."

"If you expect half a dollar for that, you can keep on expecting till you're black in the face," hissed Steuben.

"Oh, well, let me be fair," he thought. "Professor Kismet may be a mere charlatan, and I wouldn't like to think that I ever condemned a thing hastily."

And he went in and uncovered his head for Madame Swastika, who began: "You have an unusually prolific jollitic acclivity, which indicates that you are good nature itself. Furthermore, your upstanding pinnacles are supernatural, showing that you are the soul of honor and the acme of justice. You are an almost infallible judge of human nature and are generally known as a prince of good fellows. Five dollars, please."

"With pleasure," said Steuben Veskitt, handing it over. "You have proven to me that phrenology is based on sound scientific principles."

And, bowing himself out, he went and lost eighteen dollars playing the shell game.

WHO SAID

"When I am at Rome I fast as the Romans do; when I am at Milan, I do not fast."

THESE are the words of advice given to St. Austin by St. Ambrose, one of the fathers of the early Christian church. St. Ambrose's advice was, in effect, that his co-worker should enter a middle course and give no unnecessary offense which might lessen his influence among the people with whom he was working. Continuing his advice, he said: "So likewise you, whatever church you come to, observe the custom of the place, if you would neither give offense to others, nor take offense from them."

When one considers the age in which St. Ambrose lived his attitude was, indeed, tolerant and savored little of the spirit of asceticism which made many people of that day the torturers of their fellowmen who did not agree with their opinions.

St. Ambrose did not set out to be a priest. He was the son of an office holder at Treves, and as a young man he studied for the law in Rome. He practiced law at Milan and was at one time governor of north Italy. His kindness and wisdom in handling the affairs of the province under his administration so endeared him to the people that they unanimously called him to be bishop of Milan, though he had not yet been baptized into the church. He withheld acceptance of the office for a time but finally yielded and set himself in strong opposition to the Arians—a sect which denied the equal sovereignty of God and Jesus Christ.

Many religious works are extant which are from the pen of this man. St. Ambrose died in the year 397, aged about sixty-four years.—Wayne D. McMurray.

Cocos Might Well Be Named Treasure Island

Perhaps one of the most famous of all spots where treasure is reputed to be buried is Cocos Island. Cocos Island is a beautiful volcanic speck haunted by the spirit of piracy deviltry. It belongs to Costa Rica and lies 300 miles off her coast.

Cocos is uninhabited except by a governor, a German by birth, described as a huge person physically. He has been there more than 25 years. In that time his eyes have witnessed so many parties of adventurers, fortune-hunters and mere sensation-seekers in the frantic efforts to dislodge the hoarded gold, that he has lost all count of their number, George Gercke tells us, in the New York Evening World.

It appears that about 1812 a Spaniard of high lineage was cruising Caribbean waters as a licensed privateer for the purpose of protecting galleons that were conveying gold bars from Italian mines to the courts of Spain and the Vatican. Becoming tired of the deary work, he grew covetous of such enormous wealth, decided he needed it more than did king or pope, and proceeded to get up a mutiny among part of his crew. These cut the throats of the honest men. High up on the masthead they ran the black flag. He named himself Benito Bonito, surveyed his gang of bearded pirates and looked forward to that career as buccaneer which was to last successfully for just four years.

Bonito and his crew became the terror of the day, overhauling treasure ships, sacking churches, mints and palaces. His loot was becoming so heavy that he was finally forced to seek a safe place of concealment. So on Cocos island, the pirates killed wild hogs and tanned the skins to make bags which they used to pack and store the heaps of gold and jewels. These sacks were placed in a cave, the spot carefully marked, and away they sailed for new adventures.

Restoring Tolstoy's Home

In the Hamovniki district of Moscow, the house in which Leo Tolstoy lived and wrote some of his greatest works, is to be restored by the Tolstoy museum, a government institution. In 1900 Tolstoy gave his city home to his son, Serge, and moved to his country estate, Yasnaya Polyana. In 1911 the premises were sold to the city and the furniture, except the study, which was preserved, was either removed to Yasnaya Polyana or stored in Stupin. The house was nationalized in 1920 and the furniture at Stupin was restored. Now the museum has received 200 more pieces from the country estate. It has also a large collection of Tolstoy portraits and photographs of historic characters mentioned in his works. The museum officials propose to complete the restoration of the home and to publish a new Tolstoy volume on the occasion of his centenary.

Electricity From Trees

A French scientist has discovered a means of extracting and harnessing electricity in trees. He connected a copper plate attached to a tree and another plate buried in the earth, with a galvanometer, a delicate instrument which measures the strength of weak currents of electricity, and obtained a record of the current passing through the tree. With three trees connected in the same way the power was increased, the experiment, with a like result, being continued until 20 trees were linked up in this fashion. The scientist then placed two copper plates in the earth, about six feet apart, and with the current thus obtained lighted a small electric lamp. Whether the idea can be extended to be commercially worth while has yet to be determined.

Want Peons Ignorant

Five rural school teachers have been murdered in Mexico within a year, either by, or at the instance of estate owners who resent the government's attempt to abolish illiteracy among their peons.

"According to reports in the office of the ministry of education," says El Universal, "the government's school program has been received with enthusiasm by some country employers who have given loyal assistance to the work of spreading primary instruction among the people; but in other cases the hacendados have opposed bitterly the advent of the spelling book on their estates."—Living Age.

One-Page Bible

To make a complete copy of the Old and New Testament on a single sheet of paper 6 feet long and 2½ feet wide is a feat of skill and patience that few people would undertake. But it has been done by a Japanese Christian named Ishizuka.

This unique Bible was printed by hand on fine Japanese paper with a Japanese writing brush. The letters appear beautifully distinct when seen under a microscope.

According to the artist, "four years and three months and 10,000 prayers" were required to complete the work.

Cheap Fireproof Lumber

A group of lumbermen at Tacoma, Wash., became interested in the possibilities of manufacturing a noninflammable synthetic board from sawdust. Demonstrations show that by treating sawdust and other mill waste with chemicals a board can be made which will withstand a flame which would cut through thin steel. If this material proves commercially practical it will make it possible to build fireproof houses of wood.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Lesson for April 18

THE BEGINNING OF SIN

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 3:1-24.
GOLDEN TEXT—For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.—1 Cor. 15:22.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Adam and Eve Disobey God.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Result of Disobedience.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Playing With Temptation.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Temptation and the Fall.

A look out upon the world proves that man is not what he should be. It is not reasonable to suppose that man is now what he was when he came from the hands of the Creator, much less an improvement. The only way of accounting for this is by the historic fall of man as given in the Bible. The introduction of sin is the only answer.

1. Man's Probation (vv. 1-5).
1. The place.
It was the beautiful garden of Eden. Man's environment was suited to his nature. The testing of the second Adam was quite in contrast. Instead of in the garden of Eden with a companion suited unto him, it was in the wilderness with the wild beasts.

2. The necessity.
Adam was created with the possibility of character, but not with character. This he could get only through testing. Alternative choice makes character possible. Free will is what made Adam a real man. Character is the resultant of choice.

3. The means.
It was most simple—just one prohibition. The tree of the knowledge of good and evil was forbidden.

4. The method.
Satan, a personal malicious being, appeared in the guise of a serpent. He did not appeal directly to the man. He chose to appeal to the woman through the serpent and through the woman to the man.

a. He found the woman while alone.
b. He insinuated doubt into Eve's mind as to God's Word and love. Satan's method is the same today. He tries to get people to doubt God's Word and then to doubt His love.
c. He appealed to innocent appetite. He argued that there would be no harm in eating, but a great advantage.

d. Eve gazed upon that which God had forbidden and lusted after that which God had prohibited.
II. Man's Fall (vv. 6-8).

The steps in the fall seem to have been rapid. From doubting God's love Eve went to doubting His word. From gazing upon and lusting after that which God had prohibited there was but a short step to indulgence.

III. The Consequence of the Fall (vv. 9-24).

God's holy nature is such that when men sin, He at once manifests Himself on the scene.

1. A disturbed relationship with God (v. 8).

The introduction of sin marred man's familiar intercourse with the Almighty. Adam and Eve not only hid from God's presence, but when summoned by Him they began to make excuse, and Adam even laid the blame on God.

2. The degradation of the serpent henceforth becoming the type of sin and Satan (v. 14; cf. Num. 21:9. John 3:14 and Rev. 12:9).

Satan's doom was pronounced without trial. In the case of the man it was not so, showing that this was not Satan's first offense.

3. The undying enmity between the seed of woman and the seed of the serpent (v. 15).

This bitter enmity has continued from that day to this.

4. The ultimate victory of the woman's seed (v. 15).

Satan harassed the woman's seed, but on the cross the final stroke was made which crushed his head (John 12:31, Heb. 2:14, 1 John 3:8). This is the first gleam of the glorious gospel of Christ.

5. The judgment upon the woman (v. 16).

This relates primarily to her as a wife and mother.

6. Man's new relationship to the earth (vv. 17-19).

The earth was cursed on his account. Man must make an increased effort to exist. With his sinful nature, man would be in a bad state without the necessity of toil.

7. Death (v. 19).

This includes spiritual and physical death. Sin brought all.

8. Expulsion from the garden (v. 24).

Then man's nature was changed, out from the beautiful garden he went.

Being Content

And we shall be made truly wise if we be made content; content, too, not only with what we can understand, but content with what we do not understand—the habit of mind which theologians call, and rightly, faith in God.—Charles Kingsley.

Personal Immortality

Without a belief in personal immortality religion is like an arch resting on one pillar or like a bridge ending in an abyss.

How Do People Either Build or Undermine the Sabbath?

Revelation 1:9-17; Mark 2:23-28; 3:1-6

There is danger of the Sabbath, or Lord's day, losing its sacred character. If this should become general the Sabbath will lose its power to bless. This ought to make an appeal to the Christian conscience. The day should be kept not only as a rest day from worldly employment and recreation, but as a day of spiritual enjoyment and service.

At the time of Christ the Jews gave to the Sabbath a superstitious value. They seemed to think that the chief virtue in its observance was in doing no work. They condemned our Lord as a Sabbath breaker and declared that He could not be a good man because He performed miracles of healing on the Sabbath. Jesus replied, "My Father worketh hitherto, and I work." He also said, "It is lawful to do well on the Sabbath day." He taught the people that idleness was not holiness. Labor is not forbidden only because rest was needed, but because time was needed for the cultivation of fellowship with Christ and for the worship of God.

Recently there has been launched the most despicable attacks against the Christian Sabbath. When the strength of the enemy is considered and the method of attack uncovered we are driven to the conclusion that unless a united front is presented by the evangelical Christian churches the Sabbath will be undermined. The motion picture interests, owned chiefly by a group of selfish, money-loving men, have made the boast that they will wipe out the laws protecting Sunday and promote the commercializing of this one day. The Liberty League of Maryland said through its acting president: "The League already has $35,000 available to fight the Lord's Day Alliance." Other attacks of a similar nature may be cited. If more are necessary it would be well to send for literature on the subject addressing the Permanent Committee on Sabbath Observance, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Let every member of our young people's societies do their utmost to build up the observance of this one day in seven and stand solidly against all attempts to undermine the blessings and benefits of this day.

Ancient Eastern City Stands for Desolation

With the annexation of Transjordan of the Hedjaz districts of Maan and Akaba, one of the strangest cities in existence comes under British mandate. This is the wonderful pink city of Petra.

In ancient times this flourishing center of eastern splendor stood near the point of intersection of the great caravan routes from Palmyra, Gaza, Egypt and the Persian gulf, four days' journey from the Mediterranean and five from the Red sea. Now it is miles from nowhere and can only be reached on horseback with a strong armed escort.

The city is entered down a dark and narrow gorge, in places only ten feet wide, which is nothing more than a great split in the huge sandstone rocks. It is like wandering along some mysterious passage to Aladdin's cave, until the pass suddenly ends in a mass of temples, tombs and theaters of exquisite architecture.

There, right out in the "blue" and in the wildest aspect of nature, is a treasure house of the most delicate masterpieces of Greece and Rome. Perfect columns with Corinthian capitals, support the richly carved roofs. Facades and doorways of exquisite design stand desolate in the wilderness. The architecture of kings is used to provide shelter for a few wandering Bedouins.

But the most astonishing thing of all is that these tombs and temples were actually hewn out of the solid rock, which has the most peculiar deep pink coloring. Instead of being built up like ordinary buildings, they were hewn downwards from the surrounding level. Almost completely surrounding the city are rose-colored mountain walls, divided into groups by great gaping cracks and lined with rock-cut tombs in the form of towers. —E. W. Polson Newman, in the London Mail.

Reimbursed in v. ll

When Carrie Safford of Reading, Pa., had her will drawn she included a bequest of $10 to her niece, Mary Pousland of Portland, Maine, to pay for some dishes broken when she tripped and fell while helping with the housework while there on a visit. The niece would not allow her to pay for the dishes at the time, so the payment was made as a provision in her will.—Ohio State Journal.

QUALITY AT LOW COST

To Those Who Judge Quality by Price

The quality of Ford cars cannot be judged by the prices at which they are sold—because Ford prices are made possible by conditions that are absolutely unique in the automotive industry.

From mine to market the Ford car is the work of a single organization. The Company owns and operates the mines and forests that furnish the raw materials for its products. This material is carried over Ford transportation routes, fabricated in Ford mills, manufactured in Ford plants—and the finished product is sold to the public through Ford dealers.

The following statement, previously made in an advertising message, is repeated because of its significance to the public:

"If any other manufacturer endeavored to produce a car similar to the Ford, according to the high standards of quality in material and workmanship used by the Ford Motor Company and with the same tried and proved design, it would be impossible to offer it at anything like Ford prices. And it is well to note that even with less costly design they have not met Ford prices."

Thames Has Double Ebb

It is a rare thing that an interesting happening entirely escapes the eye of the press, but recently such an event was unrecorded: London river, the river of the empire, enjoyed a double ebb and flow of its tide and no one said a word about it. Such a man-festation is certainly a curious one and not always explainable. But before the Thames was embanked, its vagaries in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries were pretty frequent, for in 1658 it ebbed and flowed twice in three hours, and in 1662 three times in four hours—a sergeant major's allowance which has never been surpassed. And some old chronicler has left an account of the quite unprecedented freakishness of London river one winter day in 1641, "a wonder," he confesses, "that, all things considered, the oldest man never saw or heard the like."—Manchester Guardian.

NO STANDARD OF BEAUTY FOR NOSE

Many Varieties on Faces of World's Great Men.

Although the lips, the eyes, the cheek, and the brow have all received the praise and homage of writers, the nose is undoubtedly the most striking feature of the human face.

Whether it be the huge beak of the Abbe Genest, of whom they used to make fun at the court of Louis XIV, or whether it be the little button which Gibbons was pleased to call his nose, this organ is the first thing our eyes light upon when we meet anyone. Rostand could actually build a fine play round the great nose of Cyrano de Bergerac.

And then, again, what is the standard of beauty for noses; is it the aquiline, the straight, the "tip-tilted like the petal of a flower, or is it the pierced nose of the natives of Melanesia?

Although the nose is apparently the most despised feature, it is the most important. Pascal once said that "if Cleopatra's nose had been shorter the whole face of the world would have been changed," which is only another way of saying that the beauty of the face depends upon the symmetry and shape of the nose.

Many famous men have had prominent noses. Lycurgus and Colon had noses which were said to be six inches long, and amongst other possessors of great noses must be included Cardinal Wolsey and Cardinal Richelieu.

Both Ovid, who bore the name of Naso (Latin nasus—a nose), and the Roman statesman, Scipio Nasica derived their names from their very prominent noses, and Numa's nose was so long that he received the name of Pomplilus, as being the owner of a superlative nose.

Another ruler who was given a nickname on account of this organ was Antiochus VIII, who was called "Grypus" because his nose was as big and as hooked as a vulture's beak.

In the medals of Cyrus and Artaxerxes the tips of their noses come clear out to the rim of the coin; Mohammed's was so curved that the point seemed to be endeavoring to insert itself between his lips, and Lavater offered to wager his reputation that he could, blindfolded, distinguish Frederick the Great's huge nose out of 10,000 others merely by taking it between his thumb and forefinger.

As opposed to these, Washington's nose was a true aquiline, indicative of great firmness, patience and heroism; Julius Caesar's was also of the same type, characteristic of patient courage and heroic firmness.

The noses of Shakespeare, Bacon, Franklin and Doctor Johnson had wide nostrils, betokening strength of thought and love of serious meditation, while Napoleon's was exquisitely chiseled, sculpturesque in mold, form and expression.

Napoleon, indeed, is supposed to have said: "When I want any good head-work done, I always choose a man, if suitable otherwise, with a long nose."

Time to Take Stock

At the approach of a twenty-fifth birthday, a century, as well as a man, may be expected to have established a character and let fall definite hints as to the future. What is to be said of the twentieth? If a balance-sheet were drawn up, would it show mankind better or worse off as a result of the last two and a half decades of wars, pestilences, crusades, reactions, discoveries, artistic and literary experiments, new philosophies? If a wise man had to choose, would he return to that remote world of 1900, as quaint, almost, and unreal, as though half a dozen generations had strewn it with their dust, or would he cling to this amazing universe he finds reflected in the morning's newspapers?—Montreal Family Herald.

United States Patents

Protection under a United States patent extends throughout continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, the Virgin Isles, Guam and the Canal zone, and, upon compliance with certain regulations, to Porto Rico and the Philippine islands. Protection under a British patent extends only throughout the United Kingdom and the Isle of Man. British colonies and dependencies, respectively, have their own patent systems. Practically every civilized country has such a system excepting China; in the case of the latter, however, provision exists for the registration of patents granted in other countries.

12,000 Laws Passed

State legislatures during their most recent sessions passed 12,000 laws of all kinds, despite the protests against so much legislation that are constantly being filed by civic bodies. North Carolina alone passed 1,173 new laws; New York, 686; Tennessee, 812, and Indiana 218. Many of the laws, of course, are regulations governing the routine administering of the states, but there are many limiting and prescribing human conduct.

Deadly Golf Stroke

Playing with a pupil, James Bamford, professional of the Chester Curzon park golf links, England, made a long drive from the seventh tee. After his ball had traveled about seventy-five yards it killed a bird known as a water wagtail. Its speed apparently unlesened, the ball continued on and 50 yards further it struck and killed a second wagtail. This time the ball dropped to the earth with its victim.

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fires, important happenings, visits to or from the community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

Mrs. Robert L. Annan returned with Miss Elizabeth Annan to Washington, for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cratin, of Littlestown, Pa., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Feeser.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Brown and Mrs. Jane Myers, near town, spent Sunday with Mrs. Laura Bair.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stouffer, returned home on Wednesday evening, from their trip to Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gerrick and D. W. Bowersox, of Hanover, spent Sunday with Mrs. Minerva Harman.

Mrs. Laura Devilbiss, of Emmitsburg, spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Alma Newcomer, and friends.

Wm. B. Yingling and mother, Mrs. Wm. H. Yingling, of Westminster, spent Sunday with relatives and friends in town.

Dr. and Mrs. Lester Witherow and the latter's mother, of Harrisburg, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Washington Witherow.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Newcomer and daughter, Elizabeth, of Westminster, spent Sunday evening with George Newcomer and family.

A lady was understood to say last Sunday night that it was "darn right cold," but she insisted that she said "downright"—either way, she was right about it.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Fair moved into half of Mrs. Jennie Winemillers house, on Tuesday. Mrs. Albert Baker moved to the D. H. Essig farm, as a tenant in the house.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Ott and family and Mr. George Schmidt, motored to Washington on Sunday, to see the pink Japanese cherry blossoms which are in bloom at this time.

Master Henry Reindollar was taken to a specialist, in Baltimore, on Tuesday, for an operation for removal of tonsils and adenoids. He is reported to be getting along well.

J. Albert Angell trapped a Putorious putorius on Tuesday night, that had been playing havoc with his garden, and was a general nuisance in that portion of the town.

George C. Naylor, well known in Taneytown, has bought the Emmitsburg Motor Co., building, stock and business, and is now in charge. Associated with him will be his son, Charles, now a clerk in a Baltimore Bank.

Geo. R. Sauble is preparing to build a handsome dwelling on his land adjoining the baseball field. This is the first dwelling to be built beyond the town limits, at that end of town. The location is a very desirable one.

Fast driving through town is quite common, and especially on Sunday. Evidently, auto drivers can have pretty much their own way here, so far as laws are concerned. There should be a town "cop" and a court to handle traffic violations.

Miss Eudora Burgoon, of North Carolina, visited her uncle, Eli M. Dutterer, on Sunday. Miss Burgoon will spend several weeks with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Drexler and family, near Reese, before returning to her home in North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Baker had as their guests, last Tuesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. James Sanders and family; Mr. and Mrs. John Harner and family; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Harner and family. The evening was spent in music, dancing and "500."

E. C. Sauerhammer came home on Tuesday evening, from Lankenau Hospital, Philadelphia, but is still under treatment. He has been greatly benefited, and indications are that a cure will be effected, in time. He was away nearly four weeks. Mrs. Sauerhammer also returned with him.

This Friday and Saturday nights, in the Opera House, "The Prince of Liars," by the Parent-Teachers' Association, for benefit of furnishing the High School building. This is a play sure to be worth the money. The outlook is that the house will be filled, both nights. Better come early!

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Valentine and children, Buddy and Betty, of Hanover; Mr. and Mrs. John Harner, daughter, Oneida and Vernon Snyder, of Frogtown, spent Sunday with Steiner Engelbrecht and family. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hyser, Irvin Hyser and wife and son, George, spent the evening at the same place.

J. Samuel Stover is confined to the house with rheumatism.

The Taneytown Savings Bank has received Seed Corn, which is ready for distribution.

See notice elsewhere about "Bundle Day" for Near East Relief, in Taneytown, next Wednesday.

Mrs. Nettie Albaugh (nee Harman) of Walkersville, was taken to Bon Secour Hospital, Baltimore, the first of this week, for treatment and likely an operation for exis thelma, a form of goitre, from which she has been suffering for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert J. Null, spent Sunday in Hanover, Pa., with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob D. Null.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hesson, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hesson, Misses Mary Hesson and Mary Reindollar, spent last Sunday with Mrs. Myra Groove Aiken, at Glen Rock.

"Your Harney correspondent is misinformed about Bristol, Pa., for it has a population of more than 10,000, and it does not have all nationalities; but it does have Americans, a few Italians, some Jews and a few Irish, like any other town of its size. And if the people did not do any more than some of the people of Harney, it would not have anything."—G. W. H.

The following delegates have been elected by the Taneytown Fire Company. To the County Convention, May 20, at Manchester; C. G. Bowers, Merle S. Ohler, A. G. Riffle, Raymond Ohler, Raymond Davidson. To the State Convention, June 8-10, at Westminster; C. F. Cashman, Merle S. Ohler, Hamilton Slick, Raymond Ohler and U. H. Bowers.

Last Sunday a delicious dinner was given Mrs. William T. Smith at her home, by her children. The dinner was a complete surprise to Mrs. Smith. Those present were: Mrs. Wm. T. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hawk, and sons, Glenn, Earle and Kenneth; Mr. John D. Hesson, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Smith and daughters, Velma, Grace and Gladys; Miss Annie R. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Baker and children, Mr. and Mrs. John Harner, son and daughter, John and Thelma.

Joseph W. Brown met with a very narrow escape from serious accident, last Sunday morning just after services at the Reformed Church. While crossing the street in front of the church to his car, he was struck by the fender of a car going east, and knocked down, the front wheel partly passing over his shoulder, injuring the shoulder and ribs, but fortunately without any fractures. He is getting along as well as could be expected. The accident interfered with a birthday dinner, as the day represented the 75th. mile-stone of his life.

A robber entered D. J. Hesson's store some time early this Friday morning. Entrance was made through the second rear window, a ladder being used, and the thief crossed Louis Reifsnider's garden to the store. He evidently left the same way, as none of the doors were unlocked. Several pairs of No. 7 shoes were taken, and likely some pantaloons, and perhaps a few other articles. The job was done by a sneak-thief, pretty well acquainted with the premises, and with knowledge of where to get a ladder. He must not have been a very large man, judging from the size of the shoes taken, and his ability to crawl through a window over the top of the shelving.

Knights of Pythias have Big Time in Taneytown.

(For the Record.) About 50 Knights, of Westminster Charity Lodge, visited Taneytown to confer the 3rd. ranks upon a class of candidates of the Taneytown Lodge, and the evening was full of good time from start to finish.

After the initiation, which was put on very effectively with the assistance of the local uniform rank orchestra and drill team, several short talks were made by the newly initiated candidates, also by Theo. Kauffman representing the Westminster Lodge, Wm. Unger, representing Frizellburg Lodge, R. S. McKinney representing Taneytown Lodge, and Francis C. Keefer, representing Westminster C. No. 16, the Uniform Rank.

Refreshments were then served by the Taneytown Lodge, consisting of sandwiches, coffee and cigars. Preston Coffman, assisted by Sherman Gilds, demonstrated several of the new Charleston steps, but they will not be danced in public until the censors go further into details with Prof. Coffman. The Uniform Rank Orchestra also furnished music for this part of the program under the direction of Thomas Anders.

The Prince of Wales is said to be the straightest young man in England, and they intend to make a ruler out of him.

There is a woman in the Bronx, N. Y., who trusts her husband implicitly. He has been bed-ridden for thirty years.

LAST PAGE EDITORIAL.

Is It Right?

One of the biggest questions that everybody has to meet, many times, is made up of three short words—"Is it Right?" Perhaps more times we do not meet it, than meet it, simply because we are not keen for being right. Anyway, whether we meet it or not, the question is there, dozens of times each day.

Being "right" means being honest, truthful, moral, fair—and a lot of other things. It is a something that we ought to be reasonably sure of, before we do things. If we are "right" we are not "wrong"—and nobody ought to be that. The trouble is, a lot of folks don't care, and thereby comes a lot of future regret—the fruits of carelessness.

But, there is another very important question that attaches to, "Is it right?" It is, "What are you going to do about it?" We may know the right, but not do it. After all, we get very little credit for knowing things—it is performance, that counts.

Know, then act. Or, as the old Davy Crockett motto has it—it was D. C. wasn't it?—"Always be sure you're right, then go ahead". No matter how old this motto may be, it is a hard one to improve on. But, the starting point of the thing is, to want to be, and do, right.

"Is it right?" should be asked, mentally, before we do anything of importance. Not whether it may "pay" in money value, or whether we can "get" something we want, or whether we can "beat" somebody, for none of these objects pay, in the end—and there is an "end" that we often lose sight of; but it will come to meet us sometime, even though it may be temporarily put off.

Always find out the right—then do it.

The Greatest Show on Earth.

The popular old drama, Uncle Tom's Cabin, will be produced next Tuesday night, April 20, at Sauble's field. This presentation will be accompanied with new, strong and interesting features not presented by other travelling companies. This organization is opening its 10th. season.

There will be an exciting steamboat race, genuine before the war Southern plantation scenes, jubilee singers, dancers and many realistic stage scenes by the very best artists—30 people in the production. Free band concert. Come, rain or shine, and see this strictly moral and instructive presentation.

Home Makers' Club.

(For the Record.) A very interesting meeting of the Home-makers' Club was held in the Firemen's Building, Thursday of last week. Everybody was putting cane-seats or backs in chairs. So interested were the workers they were scarcely willing to stop long enough to eat the sandwiches brought for the noon lunch.

So determined, too, were they to prove to the incredulous "good man" at home that they could make a success of the job. He said "It couldn't be done, but we did it."

WITH ROD LA ROCQUE.

It is a New York story and speeds up and down Manhattan Island ending in a Madison Avenue home. Bebe Daniels is geared in high. The story moves. In fact, it skids a bit on the turn, and you catch the thrills and the laughs on the fly. From the time Bebe complicates a traffic jam at 57th Street and Fifth Avenue and is being bawled out by a Cop, you discover she is "The Wild Wild" driver as well as girl. Like all girls with pep and leisure, she craves a "career". This brings in all sort of Manhattan scenery and winds up in an old uptown house infested by a gang of crooks. This scene can't be described. It is a combination of kicks and laughs.
