

COUNTY FIREMEN MEET IN UNION BRIDGE.

Taneytown Company Won in both of Racing Contests.

The Carroll County Firemen's Association held their fourth Annual Convention at Union Bridge on Thursday, at 10:30 A. M., with eight companies represented by delegates.

Routine business was transacted, and the reports of Secretary and Treasurer showed the Association to be growing and in a healthy financial condition.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Raymond J. Ohler, Taneytown, President; H. T. Wentz, Lineboro, Secretary; Norman Boyle, Westminster, Treasurer.

A bountiful dinner was served to members of the Convention by the Union Bridge Company. The afternoon was spent in contests and races.

The first prize in both horse and reel races was won by the Taneytown Company. Time 1:25; second prize by the Mt. Airy Company, time 1:54.

There was a very creditable parade of the visiting companies of apparatus. The Taneytown Company also received the prize for most persons in line, and Mt. Airy prize for Company making finest appearance.

The next convention will be held in Taneytown on the third Thursday in June, 1928.

A Sacred Concert.

The Sacred concert by the Peabody Quartette, which has been announced for Sunday evening, June 5th., at 8:00 o'clock of Commencement Week in Alumni Hall, Western Maryland College, promises to be a very attractive feature.

The quartette was organized about ten years ago, and is composed of solo voices of years of experience in church and concert and has met with unusual success. Their individual and ensemble work has been considered of a very high order.

Eleanor Chase Horn, soprano, is a member of the faculty of the Peabody Conservatory of Music and director and soloist of Eutaw Baptist Church Choir; Louise Nuensinger, contralto, soloist of Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church; Albert Martinek, tenor, soloist of Eutaw Place Baptist Church and with the Cheko-Slovakian Opera Company, of Philadelphia, and William Gilbert Horn, baritone, director and organizer of the Peabody Quartette and soloist of University Baptist Church and with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, compose the quartette. The reputation of these artists insures a fine program, a delightful concert, and a real musical treat. The public is cordially invited to this concert.

THE C. E. CONVENTION

Held in the Silver Run Churches, Thursday, Last Week.

The Carroll County C. E. Union convention held at Silver Run, last Thursday, was well attended, the sessions being held in both Lutheran and Reformed Churches. The convention was presided over by county president, Rev. Karl H. Warehime, of Uniontown; and the morning address on "Faithfulness in Christian Living" was delivered by Rev. W. V. Garrett, pastor of Taneytown Lutheran church.

The afternoon service was opened with a devotional program in charge of Rev. W. E. Saltzgeber, pastor of Silver Run Lutheran Church.

The Junior orchestra, of Manchester rendered a concert, George R. Smith State President, delivered an address. Others taking part were Miss Ethel R. Royer, Miss Cora V. Zeigler and Carl N. Mitchell.

Reports were presented by county officials. George H. Magopian, field representative of Near East Relief, expressed his appreciation of the assistance received from C. E. Societies and workers. The music during the afternoon was exceptionally fine, as rendered by Junior orchestra.

During and before the evening service, "The Trumpets" of the Manchester Reformed Church rendered a number of selections. The evening devotional was in charge of Rev. S. R. Kresge, of Baust Reformed Church. J. Brittan Winter, of Baltimore, State Evangelical Counsellor, delivered an address on "What doest thou here?" Tips to Correspondents for The Record.

The greatest value contained in "items" from correspondents is perhaps in the information they contain for subscribers living far away from the "old home" neighborhood, perhaps located in the large cities, or in the far western states—folks who take The Record to get the news that they would not get so well in any other way.

The Record has many hundreds of such subscribers, scattered over the country to the Pacific Coast states. It is a mistake to think that the little social visits and personals represent the chief news value of "items." True, there is a value in such items for local use and information, but the items concerning the older folks, and the more important happenings, are the ones most valued by the away from home readers.

The western states are well represented on our mailing list; therefore those who write weekly letters, perhaps having in mind only those readers who live in the community, miss their best opportunity when they fail to think of the far away from home folks, and what they would most like to read.

A Wrong Guess.

The following was clipped from the "Round About Maryland" department of the Baltimore Morning Sun, of Monday:

"Carroll Record, Taneytown, prints in each issue one of the essays entered in the prize-essay contest conducted by that enterprising journal."

Is that so? First news we have had that The Record is conducting such a contest. The Sun's guesser is wrong again.

Here is a worthy bit of advice that we just happened upon in a newspaper: "If you resolve to attend strictly to business, be sure it is your own business."

FARMER NOTES BY THE COUNTY AGENT

Various Topics of Present Interest Are Covered.

Spring plowing of sod ground spells outworn if the reports of damages done are true. Tomato plants that are now being transplanted to the fields are being cut off about as fast as they are set out.

The cut worms were hatched from eggs laid by moths on grasses and weeds early last fall. They fed on grass roots until winter, then hibernated until this spring. The plowing this spring cut off their food supply, so corn and transplanted crops are attacked by the hungry caterpillars.

Poisoned bran mash is the best thing to destroy them. This is made by mixing one pound of Paris green with 25 pounds of bran. This is made into a stiff mash by moistening with two quarts of feeding molasses that has been mixed with a gallon of water. The mash should not be thin or watery so that it will cake when exposed. It should be applied broadcast a few days before the plants are set or a few days after the seed is planted. It may be applied by hand, placing a tablespoon near each plant. The mash should be distributed late in the afternoon so that it will still be moist when the worms feed at dusk. Poultry should be kept from fields so treated.

The largest and best attended semi-annual meeting ever held by the Carroll County Federation of Homemakers' Club was held Friday, May 20, at Westminster. One hundred and fifty delegates from the eighteen Homemakers' Clubs attended the morning session at the Extension Service office. The afternoon attendance at the Firemen's building was estimated at 225.

The meeting was called to order promptly on schedule time by the president of the Federation, Mrs. V. C. Woodbridge, Sykesville. After the report of the secretary, Mrs. James Snyder, Union Bridge, representatives of the clubs responded to roll call by giving a report of the work conducted since the previous meeting in November. The report shows that there have been 129 new members enrolled within the last six months.

Following this the County Nutrition Chairman, Mrs. Thomas Fritz, of New Windsor, gave a report on the nutrition project that has been conducted by all of the eighteen Homemakers' Clubs for the last four months. Miss Maude Manahan, County Health Nurse, gave a report of the health program carried on in the county. Twenty-eight clinics are being conducted this year by the Homemakers' Clubs co-operating with the health physicians and nurses.

Miss Venia M. Kellar, State Home Demonstration Agent, spoke of the plans for the Extension Service program for this year. Announcements were made of the plans for the Rural Woman's Short Course to be held at the University of Maryland, June 13 to 18. Carroll County expects to send one hundred delegates, thirteen of whom are to receive certificates for four year's attendance.

A delightful lunch was served at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Myers, Westminster, at the conclusion of the morning session. After a social hour the ladies adjourned to the auditorium of the Firemen's Building for the afternoon program. The following program was rendered: Community singing, Miss Marie Senseney, Union Bridge; piano duet, Miss Vallie Shorb and Mrs. Francis Rinehart, of Detour; "Grandma visits Jane," Berrett Club; piano solo, Mrs. Frederick Fink, Winfield; "We Eat to Live," Manchester Club; "Education in Relation to Public Health Work," Dr. John Collinson, State Board of Health.

The worm seed plant beds in the county are suffering severe damage. In many cases the entire bed has been destroyed. Field observations and microscopic examinations made at the laboratories of the University of Maryland by County Agent Walrath shows that the injury is caused by a very small flea like insect. This tiny bug, which is the lowest order of insect life, does not have either true chewing or sucking mouth parts, but scrapes or rasps the tender surface of the leaves, stem and roots and thus secures the juice of the tender plants.

The season has been so cold and backward that the plants have not grown fast enough to get away from the injury, as they do in ordinary years. In some cases spraying in the early part of season with some form of insecticides such as arsenate of lead, pyrox, and nicotine preparations gave some control. The plants are now so weakened and the insect so numerous that heavy applications of ground tobacco dust or finely ground tobacco stems is recommended by Dr. E. N. Cory, State Entomologist. This should be broadcasted at the rate of about a pound to 80 square feet of bed. More than one application may be necessary if rain leaches away the strength of the tobacco. The material is cheap and effective.

For Flood Relief $4354.14.

H. Peyton Gorsuch, chairman Carroll County Red Cross, reports that the flood relief fund to date amounts to $4354.14, which represents a splendid response.

Leaving foot prints in the sands of time does not mean spending most of your days at Palm Beach.

INTEREST TO FISHERMEN.

Angler's License Regulations, and Open Season Dates.

It is unlawful for any person over 18 years of age to fish by means of rod, hook and line in any waters of this State above a point where the tide ebbs and flows, without first procuring an angler's license.

Licenses are not required when owner is fishing in stream from his shore, nor does it apply to the owners family, tenants and their children and employees fishing from owners property.

Licenses may be secured from the clerk of the Circuit Court, in person or by mail on application blanks furnished by the Clerk, provided remittance accompanies the application and the Clerk is given the name, residence, postoffice address, age and occupation of applicant, at the following cost: Resident of the State $1.00; Non-resident of State, $5.00.

Licenses begin June 1 and expire on the 31st of December. The button received with the license bearing the year must be worn in plain view at all times while fishing.

All owners of dams on any of the waters of this State are required to place and maintain at least one fish ladder so as to permit the fish free access up and down the stream.

Unlawful to take any species of fish above a point where the tide ebbs and flows, except by means of rod, hook and line, at such times and with the exceptions noted below.

The open season for rainbow, brook and brown trout, April 1 to June 30, both dates inclusive. Large and small mouth bass, and other species of game fish, July 1 to Nov. 30; Suckers, catfish, carp, eels, gudgeon, February 1 to April 1.

Sizes and limits, trout 6 inches; bass 9 inches; 20 in one day.

The above is somewhat condensed, and taken from an article prepared by Gloyd Diffendal, deputy game warden for Carroll County. The only doubt we have about it, is the correctness of the open season dates. The article as sent, may be seen at our office.

How Successful Flying Pays.

Capt. Chas. Lindbergh, did a big day's work, financially as well as otherwise, when he made his successful flying trip from New York to Paris in 33 hours and 53 minutes. It is also a matter of note that he designed the plane, watched its construction, and no other plane has been made just like it. This alone may mean a lot of profit, later for "Lindbergh" airplanes.

As a direct financial gain he won the M. Raymond Orteig prize of $25,000, and he has already been offered movie, radio, vaudeville and other contracts that total about $1,000,000.

The cost of the venture, including the building of the plane, was about $20,000. This sum was made up by friends, either donated or borrowed, including about $2000 that Lindbergh had saved up. Among the offers is one of $100,000 for a week's contract with Pacific Coast theatres.

Another offer was $500,000 for his exclusive appearance with a Movie Film Company, and on the stage, for one year. It is not believed that he will accept many of these offers; but that he is more likely to be offered, and to accept, some position in the air service, under the U. S. Government.

"Inside" Information for Women.

Do you know Farmers' Bulletin 1449-F, Selection of Cotton Fabrics? When planning your summer wardrobe and the children's spring dresses you will find it a help in choosing durable, satisfactory materials.

Always iron with the thread of the goods, and iron until the garment is dry. Otherwise it will pucker. To remove the shiny gloss on hems, tucks or seams, moisten a piece of soft cloth in clean water, wring it dry and wipe it quickly over the shiny surface.

Jelly that didn't "jell" can be used in many ways. As a spread or sauce for pancakes; as a filling for whole stewed or baked apples; in pastry or tart shells, garnished with whipped cream; in jelly roll; in lamb or mutton gravy, if tart; as a foundation for fruit punch.

Jelled prunes are made with gelatin, in the same way as any jelled fresh fruit. Use the water the prunes were cooked in, adding a little lemon juice to tone up the prunes, and allow one envelope or ounce of gelatin to each three and a half cups of liquid. As with other jelled fruits, a trifle less liquid is needed than usual because of the presence of the solid pieces of fruit. A few pecan or walnut meats scattered through this dessert make it extra good.

Ripe Tomatoes Hid Liquors.

Philadelphia prohibition enforcement officials made a capture of $50,000 worth of imported whiskey, this week, concealed in a car of ripe tomatoes. The raid was made on a "tip" from the police, on the freight depot of the Reading Company. There in a refrigerator car that had left Gillette, Fla., on May 16, they found 263 fruit baskets, each containing twenty bottles of the "real" stuff.

Securely packed against its journey of nearly 750 miles, the contraband was labeled "Crates of Ripe Tomatoes." In fact, eighty-four crates of real tomatoes were stacked up against the doorways, to cover any casual inspection. But stacked to the roof behind this were 5,300 containers. The contents are worth in these arid times at least $50,000.

THE GREAT FLOOD IS IMPROVING.

Situation still Serious but the waters are falling.

Secretary of War, Davis, who with Secretary Hoover, have been in the flood area, reported on conditions to the President, on Wednesday. He told him that conditions have not been exaggerated, either as to the damage done, or the present situation, but made the statement that the waters were generally falling, and that the greatest problem now was to prevent epidemics.

The daily story is about the same. Always water, and more water, more farms flooded, more owners and residents compelled to flee. And while this is going on in new sections, each day, so is the rehabilitation of the first flooded areas also a fact. Many who moved out of the flood, weeks ago, are now again in their homes fixing things up again, and for the time at least, are safe.

More breaks in the levees were reported the first of this week that will cover an area of over 1,000,000 acres and the homes of 80,000 people. The evacuation of this new area had been foreseen and it was carried out in an orderly manner. Boats had been assembled and other flood plans were in readiness.

Before the flood reaches the Gulf of Mexico it will have cut a path 50 miles wide and 200 miles long from the Arkansas border to the Gulf.

Already, in compliance with the request of the President, army engineers have begun a survey of flood-control measures which could be applied to prevent future floods. The survey will be completed early in the fall, Secretary Davis said, to give Mr. Coolidge and the congressional committee, which will be asked to pass first upon flood control legislation that will make its appearance with the convening of the next Congress, ample time to make their recommendations.

Senator Jones, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, is in St. Louis, which is to be the rendezvous for members of the Senate and House Committees which propose to study flood conditions and remedies along the Mississippi Valley. He will be joined there by Senators Harrison, of Mississippi; Couzens, of Michigan; Broussard, of Louisiana; Fletcher, of Florida; Stephens, of Mississippi; and Ransdell, of Louisiana, for a trip of inspection leading all the way to New Orleans.

Representative Reid, Illinois, chairman of the House Flood Control Committee; Representative Ramyer and others of the same committee, also will make the trip. Mr. Reid has just returned to Chicago from an airplane trip over the flooded region and will report his observations to his colleagues at St. Louis.

Paragraphs for Farmers.

Hens will successfully brood 10 to 15 chicks early in the season, and 15 to 20 in warm weather, depending on the size of the hen.

Medicated nest eggs will not control lice on chickens, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Furthermore, if hens stay on these eggs very long they are likely to be poisoned. A good way to rid fowls of lice is to rub a few small pinches of sodium fluoride in the feather over different parts of the body.

A considerable portion of the Maine blueberry crop was saved for the market last season by a process invented in the United States Department of Agriculture. The process, which may be used without payment of royalties to the inventors, effectively removes maggots, debris and unfit berries. The new method was used with great success by nearly all the canners in the infested areas.

Birds are important aids to agriculture, horticulture, and forestry, according to publications of the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. They are active everywhere. Flickers, blackbirds, robins and thrashers seek their insect prey on or near the ground; woodpeckers, nuthatches, titmice, and chickadees closely search the trunks and limbs of trees; vireos and warblers scan the leaves and probe the flowers; and flycatchers and swallows sweep their prey from the air.

Contrary to popular belief, alfalfa dries out just as rapidly when the leaves are removed from the stems as when allowed to cure with the leaves on. This fact has been demonstrated by experiments carried on by the United States Department of Agriculture. Because of the prevalence of this erroneous notion, curing in the windrow has been very commonly advocated in the past. It is recognized, however, that hay cured in this manner retains more of its leaves and therefore has a higher feeding value.

Internal remedies are ineffective in removing external pests, such as lice and mites, from livestock, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Since there are many dips and other preparations that will control such parasites when applied externally, much uncertainty and delay may be avoided and best results obtained at least cost by using only tested and proved methods. Use external remedies for external parasites and internal remedies under proper prescription for internal parasites, most of which are worms.

PEOPLE AND INSURANCE

The Relation of the one to the Other is Important.

Due to the fact that fire insurance companies have shown a steady underwriting loss which aggregates well over $100,000,000 for the past five-year period, much comment has been published on "What is the matter with insurance?"

Nothing is the matter with insurance! It is an established fact; it is part and parcel of everyday business and it is as essential to commercial and family life as is government itself. The trouble lies, not with insurance, but with the people who do not understand insurance.

It wasn't so very long ago that lightning, a defective chimney, an accident with a candle or a lamp, or a spark from a fireplace were the principal causes for fire losses. Contrast this with the fire hazard which exists today. There is hardly a family in whose home cannot be found a number of articles nearly as combustible or as dangerous as gunpowder, if not properly used—pyroxalin plastic (celluloid), gasoline, cooking gas and electricity. All of these are modern necessities and yet with careless use they can cause almost instantaneous fires—pyroxalin at the touch of a match; gasoline by friction or a spark; cooking gas by igniting dish-cloths or other articles allowed to come in contact with the flame; electricity by defective wiring, or by allowing an electric iron to remain with current on. These are merely illustrations of a few of the many new hazards surrounding property today, which were unknown fifty years ago.

If the public understood the fact that insurance companies are merely clearing houses that must collect a sufficient sum from the public to pay the losses of those fires and accidents which are largely preventable and due to the injured party's own carelessness, people would begin to see that it is not a question of "What is the matter with insurance?" but "What is the matter with us?"

In other words, the average citizen can indulge in the luxury of letting his house burn up, breaking his leg or breaking his neck, and pass the expense on to the insurance company. But this cannot be done in constantly increasing ratio, without the general public having to pay a higher rate, in order that the insurance company may collect enough money to cover the increasing number of fires and accidents indulged in by the people who work on the theory of "Let the insurance company pay the bill."—The Manufacturer.

Rural Women's Short Course.

The Rural Women's Short Course, conducted by the University of Maryland, will be held at College Park, Maryland, June 13 to 18. Those women who are planning to go from Carroll County can get registration cards from the Home Demonstration Agent at the County Agent's Office, Times Building, Westminster. These registration cards must be returned to the office with the necessary data by June 1st.

The registration fee of $3.00 covers all necessary expenses at College Park. Busses will leave Westminster Monday morning and return on Saturday. Each woman brings with her or may send by parcel post to College Park, in care of Miss Venia M. Kellar, State Home Demonstration Agent, the following: two sheets, one pillow case, small pillow, blanket for cot and a bathing cap.

A sight-seeing trip to Washington will be given to the women who are registered for full time. Any other information in regard to the Short Course can be obtained from Miss Agnes Slindee, Home Demonstration Agent, Westminster.

War Veterans Insurance.

The United States Veterans' Bureau at this time is endeavoring to bring to the attention of all veterans who applied for War Risk Insurance the fact that if this valuable protection has lapsed, it may be reinstated.

There is now, in the State of Maryland about Six Hundred Million dollars of potential Government Insurance, most of which was permitted to lapse by veterans of the World War, and most of which may be reinstated. Recent legislation permits the ex-serviceman, until July 2, 1927, to reinstate his insurance on very inexpensive terms, and provides for the conversion of term (War time) insurance into any of the Six Standard Policies, or five year convertible term policy, if converted on or before the above date.

The United States Government maintains the Insurance Division of the United States Veterans' Bureau as a permanent institution for the benefit of World War Veterans and offers to former service men and women the best, cheapest, safest and most liberal policies obtainable anywhere in the world.

Your co-operation in urging every veteran to reinstate or convert his insurance is desired and it is hoped that you will assist by giving all possible publicity to this matter, so that every service man may be reached.

All inquiries should be addressed to the Regional Manager, U. S. Veterans' Bureau, Fort McHenry, Baltimore, Maryland, and special facilities have been arranged so that prompt consideration can be given to all insurance questions.

Very truly yours,
C. F. SARGENT, Regional Manager.

Will Taxes Come Down?

The affirmative answer seems quite improbable. The U. S. Government is reducing taxes every year, because the activities of the World War have ceased, and the heavy war revenues, as at first laid, are no longer necessary, but have made headway in reducing the debt caused by the war, and a further gradual reduction of war taxes may be expected.

But, states and cities have little or no war debts to finance. The only reduction in expenditures possible, would be in the line of regular expenses, and not much is to be expected in this direction. The heaviest items of expense to the general taxpayer are roads and schools; and the indications are that instead of receding, these items are likely to grow.

The only way in which taxes may be lowered on real estate, for instance, is through finding new property to tax—new sources of revenue—and this is what law-makers every where are always looking for.

Certainly, taxes can be decreased, but they will not be until we begin at the right end. We want an increasing number of things, and expect the "government" to furnish them, forgetting that "we the people" are the "government," and that "we" must pay the bills in the end.

Must Not Believe All We Read.

If we sometimes become discouraged, when reading a newspaper or two that we perhaps take as a choice between evils, we should take the view that more than just a few newspapers are required to tell us what the whole country is thinking and doing, and which way it is headed. And when we consider the big mistakes papers sometimes make concerning things right at home, it is quite consoling to think that they are all the more likely to be mistaken about big things away from home.

As long as newspapers stick to the truth concerning things that have happened, they are reasonably safe and dependable; but when their expressed views are fathered by their wishes—as they often are—then the reading public must be on its guard, and believe only as much of what they read, as they like, and with mental reservations generally.

Playing just a few tunes, continuously, does not establish either the popularity or high grade of the tunes. They may be played for a price, or perhaps on order from a higher-up. So we can not now be generally wise, because we get our wisdom from just a few sources. Things are not as they used to be, nor are they always appearing daily before us as they are going to be in the near future.

Taken as a whole, we believe there is more stuff going as "news" and "public opinion," these days, in the public press, than ever before, that is little else than paid for propaganda. This is the only rational explanation to be attached to the continuous airing given to certain topics that hardly anybody would voluntarily air, as representative of high policy or principle.

The Flood Situation and Congress.

Two reasons are advanced for a special session of Congress to meet the emergency caused by the floods. Those who favor this, want funds appropriated for relief. They feel that a great disaster demands Federal action and that the burden on the Red Cross is too great. They demand also the immediate drafting of some permanent plan for flood control.

This movement was started by Senator Reed, of Missouri, and among the first to favor it were nine of his Democratic colleagues. Of the 531 members of Congress, not more than 100 so far have supported it. Meanwhile, the proposal has taken an unfortunate trend.

The Missouriian's plea was natural and logical. His State and other States have suffered. There are, however, politicians with little interest in flood relief who seized upon it as a weapon. It is so used by some of the most vindictive critics of the Administration. This has led to countercharges that Democrats and Progressive Republicans, angered by the President's refusal to summon Congress in extra session after March 4, are using the situation for their own ends.

The waters of politics, as muddy as those of the Mississippi in flood, have swept in. This is regrettable and humiliating, but it is true.

The President has not seen fit to call an extra session. However, as the crest of the flood moved southward every useful agency of the Government has been used in relief and rehabilitation. The Coast Guard moved inland. The War Department is active. Every aid has been given State, city and local governments. The Red Cross has raised from a generous public more than $12,000,000.

Two Cabinet officers have been on the scene. Secretary Hoover, aided by Secretary Davis, has directed the work of relief and rehabilitation. The Valley has met its problems with magnificent courage. Southern banks and business interests rallied their resources and faced the future without a whimper.

Meanwhile, the emergency is passing. The crisis is over in the first and second river districts. From the mouth of the Ohio to the mouth of the White the water is falling. The flood crest is below Natchez. In the Upper Valley thousands of refugees no longer are refugees. They are back in their homes and on their farms. Fields under water a little while ago will soon be ready for the plow. The season is young. Planting will proceed as it has after many another flood.

It must be remembered that these drowned lands are now swept by torrents. Most of the flooding is a slow rise. Livestock are driven to safety. Foodstuffs, seed, feed and other property are stored in barn lofts. The land is not ruined. When the waters go down, life runs along much as it did before they rose.

In the opinion of Secretary Hoover, the situation is well in hand. No man knows more about it than himself. He has been in the worst of it for many days. He sees no need for congressional action. His survey has been comprehensive. It has convinced President Coolidge that administration rather than legislation is what is needed now. He believes the funds in hand and in sight will carry the burden.—Phila. Ledger.

Don't Do It.

We understand a great number of sporting events are being scheduled for Decoration or Memorial Day, May 30th.

This day is designated and set apart to commemorate the valor and sacrifice of our soldier dead.

It should be an occasion for solemn reflection—a day when we should reevaluate the price paid for the liberties we enjoy.

The simplest, most appropriate and best thing we can now do to reverse the memory of our heroic dead is to refrain from all sport and levity that would detract one iota from the profound solemnity which should characterize the occasion.

Don't desecrate the day with a wanton display of selfish motives.—Frostburg, Md., General Welfare.

Great Parks Chapters in History of World

It is significant that more and more emphasis is being laid upon the educational possibilities of national parks, nearly all of which are in the Far West. There are nearly 1,000 museums in this country, each one small and unimportant as compared with parks like Yellowstone, Glacier, Grand Canyon and Yosemite.

The old idea was to break off a specimen of rock or pick up a rare fossil or saw off a tree trunk and transfer them with great labor to a building where a few score persons might see them. But millions now go into the national parks, which are far greater museums.

Each one is a chapter in the history of the world. There are lessons in erosion, sedimentation and other processes by which the world was made.

Behind the depth, height, weight, mass and superficial beauty is the handiwork of the Creator, presented in such a way that all may comprehend, writes Albert W. Atwood in the Saturday Evening Post. We cannot worship Nature as earlier men did, but as one great scientist has said, the altars are to be found there, and one may be under the religious influence, as well as benefit physically and expand intellectually.

Of course there are those who having eyes never see. All over the world there are travelers who, no matter how many countries they visit, never leave home. Tourists rush through or by and behold nothing. A young couple in a fancy roadster, from an eastern state, tore at a high rate of speed past the marvelous Painted desert of northern Arizona at a point where the main road goes close to the strange paint pot.

I cannot imagine even the most hardened old-timer passing the place without giving it at least a glance. A few hours later the same couple were playing golf west of Winslow.

Has Seen History Made

Mrs. Julia Anne Pridgen, one hundred and three, the mother of a Confederate soldier and contemporary of every President of the United States since Washington, lives in Pender county, North Carolina, near the scene of the Revolutionary battle of Moore's creek bridge. Mrs. Pridgen was the mother of M. D. Pridgen, who served with Lee. He was the eldest of twelve children, six of whom are living. The youngest is sixty. Her soldier son and her husband have been dead for several years. Her memory, despite her advanced years, is keen. She recalls the day when the young men of the country marched away to the Mexican war and when the first buggy came into Pender county.

Medal for Inventor

The John Fritz gold medal was conferred on Elmer Sperry for the invention of an aerial torpedo designed to hit targets at a distance of 100 miles. According to William Saunders, chairman of the naval consulting board of the United States, who spoke at the presentation exercises in New York, our government was prevented from using the torpedo during the World war only by the signing of the armistice. "This perfectly fine experiment," declared Saunders in his remarks, "was stopped by the armistice. If that had not come we would have had 10,000 flying guns which could have been sent into enemy forces in no time."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Famous Clock Collection

James Arthur of New Rochelle, N. Y., presented New York university with his collection of historical and antique timepieces. The total collection is valued by experts at $150,000. This collection, consisting of more than 1,000 objects, illustrates the evolution of timekeeping from the simplest sundial and hourglass to complicated clocks with several dials. The gift also includes a library containing the history of watch and clockmaking. Arthur, who was formerly a clock-maker himself, spent 40 years making this collection. Previously he has given the university models of clocks from almost every country in the world.

Not Today

Little Betty Lou, who lives in a new white bungalow, seems to have a tendency to write on the outside walls of the house. One day her father saw her and gave her a spanking. This, however, did not seem to have the desired effect, for several days later her father noticed other markings on the house. Calling Betty Lou, he sternly asked: "Betty Lou, did you mark on the house after daddy told you not to?" Betty Lou slowly answered her father thus: "Yes, daddy, but I don't want a spanking today."—Indianapolis News.

ANYWHERE TO ANYWHERE—BY TELEPHONE

A COAL COMPANY recently learned that two firms in Milwaukee were in the market for a large tonnage. Instantly it dispatched one of its best men to the Wisconsin city, equipped with favorable prices and terms.

But while their representative sped westward in a fast train, a competitor in Charleston, W. Va., learned of the situation. Immediately he called the two Milwaukee firms by long distance telephone and sold 466 carloads of coal! When the salesman for the first concern arrived the order was lost.

The long distance telephone has become the right-hand man of modern business. In tracing shipments, in checking overdue accounts, in building better customer relations, and in direct selling, the magic of voice-to-voice communication is showing direct results on the business balance sheet.

We take no risks with the funds intrusted to us. No speculation, no excess loans, no "frozen securities" for this bank!

He--That's what I've been wondering.

The World's Lowest Priced Cars with Supremely Beautiful FISHER BODIES!

Chevrolet is the only car in its price class offering bodies by Fisher--built as only Fisher can build, and styled as low-priced cars were never styled before!

Bodies by Fisher are everywhere acknowledged to represent the highest order of beauty, luxury, and safety--and never was the superiority of Fisher craftsmanship more evident than in the Most Beautiful Chevrolet.

Despite the lowness of Chevrolet prices, there is not the slightest compromise in design, construction or finish. All embody exactly the principles employed on the highest priced cars--a composite construction of selected hardwood and steel. All are finished in beautiful colors of lustrous, lasting Duco.

Enhancing the beauty of the bodies themselves are numerous features of distinction previously considered exclusive to the costliest cars--features typified by heavy full-crown, one-piece fenders and bullet-type headlamps.

Only the economies of Chevrolet's great volume production make possible such quality at Chevrolet prices--value so outstanding that comparisons cease to exist. Ask for a demonstration!

Rural Life School for Ministers.

College Park, May 23—Lectures by many prominent religious workers, educators and agricultural specialists will feature the Rural Life School for Ministers to be held at the University of Maryland from June 13 to 24, it is announced by Dr. S. H. DeVault, professor of Agricultural Economics, who has the program in charge.

While the school is intended primarily for rural ministers, it will be open to others who are interested in rural life problems and who desire to attend, it is announced.

According to Dr. DeVault the school will be devoted to a study of the religious, social and economic forces that are at work in the rural community and will afford those in attendance an opportunity to gain a closer insight into the many changes that are taking place in rural home and community life.

Practically all of the leading church denominations were represented in the enrollment of the school last year.

Protection Against Typhoid.

"Every case of typhoid is due to ignorance, carelessness or uncleanness. The disease may be spread by carriers, by persons who have been in contact with a patient suffering from typhoid, or by persons who are recovering from it. It may also be carried by flies, or caused by contaminated water, food or fingers."

"Against some of these the State Department of Health can and does protect the individual. Against others, the individual can protect himself and also others, by measures which include boiling all drinking water from sources in any way suspicious, pasteurizing milk, having all fruit and vegetables carefully washed before they are prepared for the table and always washing the hands before eating."

"There is another means of protection that is within the reach of everybody and that should be considered as much a matter of course at this time of the year by everybody who is planning a vacation trip as buying the railroad ticket or getting the necessary supply of gasoline for the machine—that is vaccination against typhoid. The Department supplies the vaccine without charge; the only cost is the doctor's fee. If a doctor is not available, the nearest health officer will give the three inoculations, a week apart, that are necessary to complete the protection. This kind of safeguarding lasts for about two years and should be repeated at the end of that period."—State Dep't Health.

Selection and Care of Shoes.

Leather shoes have received much attention from scientists in the United States Department of Agriculture who are engaged in a study of leather and its uses. In studying the suitability of different leathers for footwear considerable has been learned about the selection of shoes and the care of footwear so that it will give the maximum service. With this information the department has issued Farmers' Bulletin No. 1523-F, Leather Shoes: Selection and Care.

An interesting discussion is presented on the different types of shoes and their construction. The principal types of sewed shoes are known as "Welted," "McKay," or "turned," according to the method of attaching the soles to the uppers. Those that are put together by wood or metal fasteners are called "pegged," "nailed," or "standard-screw" shoes.

The service to which a shoe is to be put is an important factor in selecting footwear. Particular attention is given in this bulletin to a description of the different kinds of leathers used in shoes and their relative value.

To be comfortable, safe, durable and attractive, shoes for everyday wear must conform to the natural shape of the feet and protect them, says the department. They must also provide a firm foundation for the body. The well-known Army shoe meets these requirements. Proceeding on the theory that an army is "only as good as its feet," the War Department, after a lengthy study, worked out the type of shoe worn by the United States soldiers and Army nurses.

Civilian shoes made along the same lines, but of lighter-weight material and more pleasing appearance, can now be obtained in most parts of the United States. They are well adapted for everyday wear in city and country alike.

The proper care of footwear, coupled with its intelligent selection, means a reduction of from one-quarter to one-half in shoe bills and at the same time keeps the feet neatly and serviceably shod. Good care includes prompt repair. It is never true economy to wear down-at-the-heel, dilapidated shoes. Such shoes neither protect the feet nor properly support the body. What might be saved in leather may be paid eventually to foot specialists and doctors. If the necessary bit of repairing is put off the shoe may be so badly worn that it no longer is worth mending and from $2 to $5 will be lost by neglect.

Further suggestions as to the care of shoes include attention to cleaning and renovating, drying, oiling and greasing, and waterproofing. Several formulas for waterproofing are given in the bulletin.

A copy of the bulletin may be obtained, as long as the supply lasts, by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Unfavorable Outlook for Crops.

Farming and trucking is being done this year with wet ground. There is no other way for it, and workers are doing the best they can, and taking chances. It is pretty safe to say that the corn acreage will be considerably less than was expected, as much low ground that is ordinarily used very successfully will not dry out sufficiently to be plowed and planted, even though there should be dry weather during the coming two weeks.

A great deal of the planting that is done this year, will take the chance of a favorable late fall, in order to give crops time to mature before frost.

The potato crop, always an important one to farmers, has about the same outlook as the corn crop; while oats, not an extensive crop in this section, is likely to be less so this year.

What will happen to wheat and hay crops is uncertain at this time. The growth of these crops has been rapid so far, but the time will soon be here for their maturity, and then the important part of the story will be told. Weather such as the past month has been, if continued, will mean ruin for these most important crops.

Short Fruit Crop Likely.

A fruit yield this year, equal to about fifty percent of last year's crop, indicated by a State report ten days ago, is not expected to be realized, by persons who have examined orchards, and are familiar with existing conditions. It is said that not more than a one-third yield, compared with that of 1926, may be expected from some orchards.

The decrease in the early estimate is due to the fact that there has been no pollination on account of cold weather. While the bloom was heavy the cold weather and the absence of pollination is responsible for the condition of the trees. The estimate that this year's crop will be about fifty percent of the enormous yield of 1926 was evidently based on the fact that buds were not killed by frost or freezing weather. Later examination revealed that lack of pollination will cut in half the early estimate.

The feeling generally prevails that the early estimate of the crop compared with the yield of last year will prove an exaggeration. In addition to the fact that some of the blooms were killed by late frost, two large crops in successive years very rarely, if ever, follow.

Telephone Growth in Maryland.

The telephone growth in Maryland in the past ten years has been outstanding. The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City now serves 192,000 telephones, which is an increase of 7.8 percent since May 1, 1917. In the same period of time the increase in population based on the U. S. census has been only about 9 percent.

To take care of the telephone growth in Maryland in this ten year period it has been necessary to make additions and improvements to telephone plants that have involved gross expenditures of about $36,000,000 according to a statement just made by G. H. Warren, division manager of the company.

These improvements and additions have included new local and long distance pole lines and circuits, underground and aerial cable extensions, new central office buildings, switchboards and associate apparatus, and extensions to present switchboard and other equipment in every section of the state.

As an indication that there is a real need for telephone service, it is interesting to find that the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City is now handling 60 percent more connections per day than ten years ago, Mr. Warren states.

"Also, the company is operating and maintaining its telephone system more efficiently and at the present time is furnishing service to 51.8 telephones per employee. Ten years ago the ratio was 41.7 telephones for each employee."

"Anticipating that the telephone development in Maryland will continue to increase, plans are being laid to make even more extensive additions and improvements to the telephone system in the future. Every year sees an added investment to the plant of the previous year. The engineers of the company are constantly striving to bring about new improvements that will mean an improvement in the technical features of telephone service and to maintain a sympathetic understanding between the users of the service and those furnishing that service."

In wealth per capita, Canada is surpassed only by Great Britain and the United States.

There are nearly 700 varieties of plants on the Hawaiian Islands that are found nowhere else in the world.

Modern Piano Merely

Copy of Old Dulcimer

Even the handsome pianos in our modern living and music rooms were not always as we know them today. The story of the development of the piano, like that connected with everything else we use, is a story of humble beginnings and continuous improvements.

The history of musical instruments shows us that the piano is very probably a modern development of an instrument known as the dulcimer. This was originally nothing more than a flat piece of wood, on which were fastened two converging strips of wood, across which strings were stretched and tuned to a natural scale. Sound was produced by hitting the strings with two hammers, one in each hand of the player.

As a separate musical instrument the dulcimer has probably been changed less than any other. Two pieces of wood have been added to produce a sound box for the body and keys with which to tune the strings; otherwise it is still in practically its original form.

It is easily seen how the piano was developed from the dulcimer. The only difference in the principle of the two is the fact that the piano is larger, and its strings are struck by keys instead of hammers. The modern piano is really nothing more or less than a keyed dulcimer.

Mixtures of Bloods

Among Earth's Races

Racial relationships go a good deal deeper than the facial kind, according to H. Muro Fox, professor of zoology at Birmingham university, England. The relations of the races are literally a blood relationship, he declares, for the composition of an American Indian's blood is not like that of a white man or a negro and there are even differences between the blood of certain European nations. If a biologist prepares a serum from the blood of one animal and injects it into the veins of an animal of a different species, the serum is immediately precipitated—in other words, thrown out. This is accomplished by things called antibodies, about which nobody knows very much. There are four "serum groups," and they have a definite relation to the various races of men—and monkeys. Chimpanzees have one kind of substance, orangutans have two, South American monkeys have a kind different from the chimpanzee, and still other monkeys have neither. In northern and central Europe there is one type of blood, further east quite another kind, and still another in India. But the various characteristics have an odd way of appearing in mixtures—showing that the various races of mankind have been mating with one another for a long, long time.—The Forum.

RANCHER'S LIFE

SAVED BY HORSE

Animal Waits for Injured Man to Mount.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—Harris Rinderneck, a rancher of northwestern South Dakota, is the owner of a horse which he would not sell for its weight in gold. His affection for the animal is due to the fact that it saved his life.

During a storm recently, while the temperature was below zero, Rinderneck was rounding up some of his cattle, riding the horse which afterward saved his life, when the animal slipped and fell, throwing Rinderneck to the ground, breaking his leg and rendering him unconscious. Instead of the horse scrambling to its feet and dashing away, as most animals would have done, it scrambled to its feet and stood patiently beside the form of its master on the ground.

When the rancher regained consciousness he found the horse there waiting for him. Helpless, so far as attempting to walk was concerned, he grasped the saddle stirrup nearest to him, then spoke quietly to his horse and with his voice guided it to a snowbank which was of sufficient height to enable him to crawl to the back of the horse.

He then rode to the nearest farm house, but on arriving at the gate he was unable to make any one hear his calls for help. In this extremity he produced his pliers and cut the fence, riding up to the house, where he was given assistance and then taken to the nearest town for surgical attention for his broken leg.

The rancher declares that had his horse not waited for him he would have frozen to death. He was several miles from home when the accident happened, and it would have been impossible for him to have crawled that distance.

Gun Shot Both Round and Square Bullets

Los Angeles, Calif.—The deadly Marlin machine gun, capable of firing 16 bullets a minute, one of the prize exhibits in the recent trial of accused Mexican revolutionists, is a far cry from its first ancestor, invented in England away back in 1717. The modern gun may put it all over its forebear in speed and accuracy, but it hasn't inherited one classic feature which seems to have recommended the first one—that of being able to shoot square bullets against Turks and round ones against Christians.

G. E. Chase, in charge of the patent room in the Los Angeles public library, recently came across the specification for this first gun, granted to James Ruckle. It was a portable gun, or a machine called a "defense," and the description ran as follows:

"The gun is a revolver and is mounted on a tripod; it has a single barrel and a rotating chamber. The shape of the chambers and of the bullets may be changed or varied, some for shooting square bullets against Turks and others for shooting round bullets against Christians."

Lose Fortune by Failing to Pay Tax of 98 Cents

Wellington, Kan.—Seven two-acre tracts of land, whose owners lost title back in the nineties by failure to pay taxes of 98 cents per tract, now are valued at $100,000. The owners in 1893 considered the land worth about $12.50 an acre.

The discovery of oil is responsible. Benjamin Reitz, a Kansas pioneer, had a "feeling" the land would be valuable some day, and religiously kept up his tax payments, while his neighbors let theirs lag and finally lost title.

Then an oil company drilled a test well and found oil. This well now is pumping 1,200 barrels a day.

Cut Off "Twistle"

Oswaldtwistle, England.—This little town is going to lose its "twistle" and probably become plain Oswald. The councilmen have decided "twistle" is cumbersome.

Seeks Safer Job

London.—Because the streets are too dangerous, Harold Solomon has sold his taxicab and began studying aviation. He purposes to run an air taxi.

Hunt in Sheba's Land for Stolen Jewish Ark

New York.—A legend that the Ark of the Covenant, stolen by Menelik I, son of Solomon and the queen of Sheba, from Jerusalem, is in a temple in the remote fastnesses of Abyssinia is to be investigated by an expedition which left here recently.

Search will be made for trace of the secluded Jewish tribe, the Falashes, who refused to risk the Red sea passage with Moses.

The expedition, sponsored by Adventure Magazine, will hunt specimens of the black-maned lion and two rare specimens of monkey, the Gellada and the Hamadros, for the national zoological park in Washington. Gordon MacCreagh and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rossman are members of the expedition. Reports of the trip will be made by radio.

PETER UNDAUNTED BY PERSECUTION

LESSON TEXT—Acts 5:17-42.
GOLDEN TEXT—We ought to obey God rather than men.—Acts 5:29.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Peter Shows His Courage.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter Speaks Bravely for His Lord.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Standing Firm Under Persecution.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Source of Courage.

The vindication of the house of God against the hypocritical act of Ananias and Sapphira had a salutary effect upon the people. The hypocrites were deterred from joining the church, but true-hearted men and women were all the more attracted to it, even identifying themselves with it. So great was the stir in Jerusalem that even the sick folk were brought where but the shadow of Peter might fall upon them.

I. The Apostles in Prison (vv. 17-18).

The marvelous success which accompanied the teaching of the apostles was too much for the Sadducees to endure. Their jealous wrath was aroused to such an extent that they laid the cruel hand of persecution upon these witnesses for Christ. Cain was jealous of Abel; Joseph's brethren sold him in slavery because he was the favorite of Jacob. Saul was jealous of David when the women ascribed greater glory to him.

II. The Apostles' Miraculous Deliverance (vv. 19-21).

1. The Lord sent an angel to open the prison and let the prisoners free (v. 19).

There are no doors, nor bolts capable of shutting out God's angel.

2. They were commanded to go at once and speak to the people. (v. 20).

The message they were to deliver was the "Words of this life." Most likely this means eternal life through the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

3. Their prompt obedience (v. 21).

By daybreak they were teaching in the temple.

III. The Apostles Tried (vv. 21-32).

1. The meeting of the council (v. 21).

In the early morning the Jewish council was convened by the high-priest.

2. Their perplexity (vv. 22-24).

The officer was sent to bring the prisoners, but lo, when they came to the jail it was empty. This news greatly perplexed the council.

3. The apostles again arrested (vv. 25, 26).

When one came with the news that the apostles were teaching in the temple, officers were dispatched to bring them before the council. They refrained from the use of violence because they feared the people.

4. The apostles questioned (vv. 27, 28).

The council demanded of them the reason for not heeding the charge which they had previously given that they should not teach any more in the name of Jesus. This persistent testimony the officers interpreted as an effort to bring the guilt of Jesus' blood upon themselves.

5. The apostle's answer.

Peter boldly replied that they were under obligation to obey God rather than men. He further told them that they were guilty of the murder of Jesus Christ and that God had raised Jesus from the dead and exalted Him to be a Prince and a Savior to give repentance and remission of sins to Israel, and also that He had made the apostles, with the Holy Spirit, witnesses of these things.

IV. The Result (vv. 33-42).

1. They determined to kill the apostles (v. 33).

Peter's stinging words cut to the quick, but their desperate wickedness filled them with murderous hatred instead of moving them to repentance. They could not answer the message, so the only way was to kill their accusers.

2. Gamaliel's counsel (vv. 34-39).

He advised neutrality, assuring them that if it be a work of men it would come to nought, but if it be of God they could not overthrow it because they would be engaged in the hopeless task of fighting against God.

3. The apostles beaten (v. 40).

While heeding Gamaliel's advice, they vented their rage by beating the apostles and charging them not to speak in Christ's name.

4. The behavior of the apostles (vv. 41, 42).

They departed with hearts full of joy that they were counted worthy to suffer for the name of Christ. They continued to preach Jesus Christ in public and in private.

An Undivided Heart

An undivided heart which worships God alone, and trusts Him as it should, is raised above all anxiety for earthly wants.

Salvation

Salvation has cost too much for God to give it to a person, when he is not hungry for it.—Ephesians.

The Lie

A lie should be trampled on, extinguished wherever found.—Carlyle.

FALSE FRIEND STOLE IDEA OF MAGAZINE

Benjamin Franklin Victim of Duplicity.

The first magazine in the United States was called the American Magazine, and was issued in Philadelphia February 13, 1741, by Andrew Bradford, printer, business rival of Benjamin Franklin. It was edited by John Webbe.

It appears that the idea of starting a magazine in this country, on the lines of the famous Gentleman's Magazine of London, originated with Franklin. But he incautiously divulged his scheme to Webbe, with the result that Bradford offered his publication to the Colonies three days before Franklin's General Magazine was out. Neither publication lasted very long, however. Webbe's expired with its second number and Franklin's with its sixth. The Saturday Evening Post, another Franklin publication, dates to 1723, but it was not originally a magazine.

Down to the Revolution, 16 magazines had been launched in America. They included such titles as the New England Magazine of Knowledge and Pleasure, begun in Boston in 1758; The American Magazine and Monthly Chronicle, started in Philadelphia in 1757. None survived more than a few years.

Charles Brockden Brown, the first American novelist, established in New York in 1799 the Monthly Magazine and Literary Journal, which lasted three years. And in 1801 there was launched in Philadelphia the Port Folio, which survived until 1827—a remarkable record among early periodicals. An excellent magazine of this time was the Anthology and Boston Review (Boston, 1803-1811), to which Everett, Ticknor and John Quincy Adams were contributors.

In the century thereafter there were published many very good magazines which no longer survive, or perished soon after their birth. Washington Irving was for a time the editor of the Analectic Magazine, issued in Philadelphia from 1813 to 1820. Graham's was a widely populated periodical from 1840 to 1850; The Dial (Boston, 1840-44), was edited in turn by Margaret Fuller and Ralph Waldo Emerson, and the Knickerbocker Magazine flourished from 1833 to 1860.

Century and St. Nicholas are published today, but not the Arena. Century was founded in 1870, St. Nicholas in 1873.

At the Movies

"Times has changed!" philosophically said Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "My children has blessings they never thought of a few years ago. Take the picture show, for instance. They'd go to church or school or mobby the courthouse, and prob'ly get to fighting for exercise or something that-a-way. But at the movies there is always something to cheer 'em up. No sooner do they get seated in the Oriental Grotto than they begin rowing and kicking about what they see on the screen, and pretty soon they get to yelling and fighting over what this feller is doing or that feller is going to do. I gener'ly let 'em go on till they draw knives on each other, and then I slap 'em down and it's all over in a few minutes."—Kansas City Times.

Automobile Slaughter

Scarlet fever and measles together caused only 176 more children's deaths than automobiles throughout 41 states during the year 1925, according to figures recently compiled by a life insurance company. In that year automobiles killed 4 children to every 7 killed by diphtheria. Nearly 40 per cent of automobile fatalities happen to children under fifteen, while the mortality is particularly heavy between the ages of five and ten. Approximately 11 out of every 20 lives lost in accidents to pedestrians were those of children, say the statisticians. Though the automobile deaths of little children run into thousands annually the statistical survey indicates that it tends to become higher rather than to decrease.

Italian Ships to Be Fast

New York to Cherbourg in four days, to Naples in five days, and Italy to Buenos Aires in seven days is the prospect of Italian shipping interests. Two vessels capable of 40 knots, which would enable these times to be made, are now contemplated. They are to be called the Rex and the Dux, and have a displacement of 35,000 tons each. According to a statement attributed to Premier Mussolini, these ships will be possible as a result of a new and secret invention in machinery, which will give power without vibration. The premier also said that only one class of passengers will be carried on these ships.

Work on Sunken Warships

Salvaging in Scapa Flow of the sunken German battleships has been recommenced. Work is at present being concentrated on the battle cruiser Moltke, which lies bottom up in 70 feet of water. An allcock is being fitted on a part of the vessel showing above water, through which workmen will enter the vessel to clear away bulkheads which may be obstructing the free passage of air inside the ship. Two large floating docks are being fitted with powerful lifting gear, from which immense hawsers will undergird the Moltke. Thus it is hoped to raise her stern from the bottom.

A penny could have saved him!

The man who owned this chick saved a penny. It would have cost him a penny more to have fed Purina Poultry Chows, and nine chances to one, Purina Poultry Chows would have saved the chick, but—the man thought he'd save a penny.

We want to see the man who likes to save his pennies. We can save him baby chicks—and dollars instead of pennies!

21,700,000 Cars

DIDN'T it seem last Sunday afternoon as though all of the 21,000,000 automobiles in the United States were congregated on the same road you were?

At a time like this you need a motor fuel producing flexibility, quicker getaway, greater power.

At a time like this hundreds and hundreds of motorists are grateful for BETHOLINE.

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fires, important happenings, visits to or from the community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

The Record Office will be closed on Decoration Day, May 30th, in the afternoon.

There are only about twenty men now living in Taneytown, who lived here fifty years ago.

Gassoway Ohler received a stroke of paralysis, on Tuesday, and is in a critical condition at this writing.

Dr. and Mrs. F. T. Elliot and family, visited Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Elliot, near York Springs, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stouffer, Mr. Samuel Lambert and J. D. Overholtzer spent Sunday with friends in Baltimore.

The electric line is being built toward Harney, the poles being along the way as far as Piney Creek Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crouse and Mrs. Sarah Albaugh, spent Sunday afternoon with friends in Fairfield, and near Emmitsburg.

Rev. S. R. Kresge and L. D. Maus, attended the meeting of the Classis of Maryland of the Reformed Church, this week, which met at Cavetown, Md.

Many in Taneytown were much interested, last Saturday, in the Lindbergh flight to Paris; and radio showed its wonderful ability to carry the news.

Earl Ridinger and wife, Edward Aulhouse and son, Leroy, of Gettysburg; Charles Hughes, wife and son, Paul Wilson, of Westminster, spent Sunday with Clare Null.

Rev. G. Wilbur Shipley, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian Church here, with Mrs. Shipley made a flying visit to Taneytown this week, spending the night at the home of Robt. S. McKinney.

Mrs. J. S. Stover and daughter, Miss Dorothy Eyer, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Holtzapfel, in Hagerstown. Mrs. Holtzapfel who has been ill with pneumonia is very much improved.

The Electric Company is greatly improving its line, with the object of bettering the service, by erecting a number of new large poles, and placing heavier transformers. The work is also expected to remove a lot of radio noise.

Monday, May 30, being Memorial Day the Rural Carriers will not go over their routes. The Postoffice will only be open for the regular dispatch of mails—Money Order window will be closed during the day.—Harry L. Feaser, P. M.

Announcements were received here, last week, of the marriage of Miss Miriam Louise Shipley, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. G. Wilbur Shipley, of Herndon, Va., to Mr. Thomas Edgar Reed, on Thursday, May 19th. Their friends here extend their congratulations.

Don't fail to hear "Pickles", a musical comedy, in the H. S. Auditorium tonight and Saturday night, by the Glee Clubs of the High School. It is sure to be a highly enjoyable program that will draw large attendance. Better go early to be sure of getting a good seat.

The weather may not be generally supposed to interfere with the printing business, but it does. Too much moisture in the air softens press rollers and interferes with the distribution and drying of ink, especially on highly surfaced paper and when half-tone cuts are used.

For two weeks The Record contained in the Special Notice Column a wrong date for the holding of the Decoration Day dinner to be served by the Mite Society of the Lutheran Church. It should be Monday, May 30, instead of Friday, May 30th. The mistake was ours.

Mr. and Mrs. Jere Overholtzer and Mrs. John T. Albaugh, left on Tuesday evening, for the West on a visit to relatives that will likely take in the Pacific Coast states. We wish them a safe and happy journey. The notice of Mr. and Mrs. Overholtzer's wedding, appears elsewhere in this issue.

Weekly newspapers throughout the country are publishing the names of subscribers who have taken their papers continuously for fifty years or more. The Record can not boast of this age, but it has a very large number of subscribers who have either in their own name; or in the name of some member of the family, taken The Record regularly since its first issue in July 1894—almost 33 years.

The monthly meeting of the Brotherhood of the Lutheran Church will meet Thursday night. The Male Chorus from the Lutheran Church, at Waynesboro, Pa., will be present and render a number of special selections.

Prof. S. L. Byham, principal of Taneytown High School, who is also a baseball pitcher of note—pitched a game, last Saturday, for Frederick against Hanover, the former winning, 4 to 3. He is a regular member of the Frederick team.

Taneytown is proud of the record of Miss Grace Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young, near town, who graduated this week at Maryland University Hospital in a class of twenty-eight, with second honors, there being but one above her. In addition to standing second, she was awarded a bonus of $50.00, and was first as practical nurse and for showing the most sympathy for patients. This is very fine indeed.

The following were visitors at Wm. Airing's, on Emmitsburg St., last Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Airing, daughter, Mildred, sons, Elwood, William, Robert and Kenneth, of near town; Mr. and Mrs. Zeiber Stultz, daughter, Naomia, son John Wm.; Mrs. R. N. Skidding.

Skidding mostly means, "slipping sideways on the road." Why don't we try harder to prevent it? Why don't we take more account of the slippery roads we use, and try very, very hard to travel over them more slowly and with greatly more care? The best reason why we do not, is because we carelessly take a chance—and very frequently the "chance" is disastrously against us, and against perfectly careful people as well.

Skidding is not confined to automobile drivers. Even with the utmost care, when conditions are favorable and we are partly unaware, we "skid"—mentally, morally and physically. Even "make haste slowly," good advice that it often is, does not save us. In a moment of inattention—just a little lapse of caution—just a little failure to maintain full self control—and we have "skidded."

We slip on the road, just as we run into trains on a track, largely because we fail to exercise proper caution—and apply the reverse when it is too late; as we say, the "brakes" are refused to hold, but the "brakes" are largely innocent—just something to blame for our own incautious speed, and our failure to exercise the "safety first" motto.

The tongue, the temper, and sometimes our pure lack of good sense often tends us "skidding" into trouble that may give us a great deal of leisure for repentance.
