AUTO CLUB PROMOTES ROAD PROJECT.

Keymar Road to Penna. Line very Strongly urged at Banquet.

(We thank Harry Ecker, Secretary of the Taneytown-Middleburg Auto Club, for the following excellent account of the banquet and meeting described. We very much regret our own inability to be present.—Ed.

A most enthusiastic crowd of notable guests, among which were the Honorable County Commissioners of Carroll County and their wives. sixteen members of the Hanover Chamber of Commerce, four from the Lit-tlestown Chamber of Commerce, a delegation from the Frederick Chamber of Commerce, a representative of the Blue Ridge Transportation Co., four officials of the Md. Auto Club and a large delegation of our home club members assembled in the Shriner Theatre, at 7:00 P. M. and marched in a body to the Taneytown Opera

The County Commissioners and their wives headed the procession, followed by the ministers of the town and their wives, members of the various Chambers of Commerce, Blue Ridge Transportation Co.'s representative, Md. Auto Club officials and our home club members and their wives.

Upon arrival at the Opera House a sumptuous chicken dinner was served by members of the Taneytown Fire Co., their wives and a number of lady assistants. All who were responsible for the preparation and serving of this royal feast are to be congratulated for the excellent services rendered.

After all present had done ample justice to the feast, the toastmaster of the evening, S. R. Weybright, arose and made a few appropriate remarks and introduced Chas. E. H. Shriner, President of the Auto Club as the first speaker of the evening.

Mr. Shriner delivered a forceful address on the importance of the road leading from the Pennsylvania line through Taneytown to the Frederick county line through Keymar, pointing out its present and past usage as an important highway linking this with its historical value which dates back to colonial days when the immortal Geo. Washington traveled this highway and paid Taneytown a visit and spent the night in the old hotel near the square in Taneytown; he stated that he considered this as one of the most important highways in the U.S., and should be a paved highway, and called the "Francis Scott Key Highway" which was greatly applaunded. The next speaker of the evening was Arthur E. Bair, of Littlestown, who placed special emphasis on the value of this road from an economic and historical viewpoint and sanctioned all that had been said by the last

Hon. A. R. Brodbeck ex-Cong of Penna., who highly eulogized the late Hon J A Goulden whose remains now rest in Taneytown, as one of his most trustworthy friends; he also paid tribute to Francis Scott Key and other historical features along this highway, and to the value of this highway as a direct route from the N. England States through to the sunny south making a most stirring address in favor of this road being a reality inside of the next twenty-four months as a paved highway to be known as the Francis Scott Key Highway which was heartily applauded

Thors W. Bruce, of Hanover, was introduced as the next speaker who heartily favored this state road project as outlined by the former speak-

The next speaker of the evening was Paul R. Smith the little man from Hagerstown who is Vice-Pres. of the Blue Ridge Transportation Co. and President of the Edison Electric Co., who was so brim full of wit that he kept his audience in an uproar of laughter from start to finish, but his wit was all directed in the right channel, namely; the building of the proposed Francis Scott Key Highway in the very near future.

H. M. Lucius, Secretary of the Md. Auto Club, made a stirring appeal in favor of this much needed State Highway; he also stressed the value of or ganization if you wish to accomplish great things, citing as an illustration what has been accomplished by the Md. Auto Club since it was organized become members of the Md. Auto Club.

Mr. Shriner made a few stirring remarks after which the County Commissioners were called uyon to address the assembly.

Mr. Melville, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners arose and few words assured the Club that they were heartily in sympathy with this road building project and promised the Club to recommend to the State Highway Commission that said road be placed on the "State Road map" as a preferred highway to be built in 1929, if possible, throughout the entire length; if not, at least part of said road will be built.

Mr. Melvile further paid his compliment to our Club and requested to be enrolled as a member of it which was heartily granted. At the con-clusion of his remarks favoring our proposed road building plan, the hall echoed and re-echoed with applause, as the Club feels well repaid for their efforts in directing this road building

Messrs John Repp and John Reaver the other two members of the Carroll Co. Commissioners office, arose and sanctioned all that had been promised | present.

ROAD FUND SHORT $40,000 Result of Audit placed before Governor Ritchie.

The audit of the State Road funds shows that over $40,000 have been stolen by employees handling the funds. This investigation has been going on for some time, but it had not generally been made public that there was a serious shortage.

The complete facts in the case have been placed in the hands of the Governor and State's Attorney for presentation to the grand jury. It is said that the shortage will be between $40,000 and $43,000, about $28,000 of which is expected to be covered by bonds of employees, two of whom have already been indicted.

The plan of stealing appears to have been the issue of fraudulent salary advances and the payment of fraudulent bills. These bills were ap-proved, checks were drawn and instead of delivering the checks the names of payees were forged and the checks cashed.

Pageant to Depict Battle of Long. Island.

The story of Col. Mordecai Gist and his gallant 400 will be one of the most spectacular events in The Pageant of Carroll. It will be staged in Hoffa field, Westminster, June 2 and 4 by the Reserve Officers Training Corps of Western Maryland College, and will be directed by Captain H. D. Woolley.

Since most of the men who comprised the famous Maryland Line were citizens of the Western Shore of this state, and since many of their descendants now live on the soil of Carroll county, the episode has vital interest for us today. By many a fireplace in this countryside, grand-father has told us how the Maryland line sacrificed 400 brave men at the Battle of Long Island in order to protect the successful retreat of Washington's forces during a crucial mo-ment in the Revolutionary War. In Prospect Park, Brooklyn, there is a monument dedicated to these men, stating that by the sacrifice of their lives they saved the entire American army from annihilation.

Grandfater used to enhance the tale by reading a stirring bit of verse which ran, in his fist And Sterling who would not yield." Many years have passed since we heard grand-father read these lines and we try vainly to recall the entire poem. Nor can we locate it in patriotic anthologies. Our only hope of find-ing it rests with some reader of this article who may have it tucked carefully away among faded manuscripts in an attic chest or among the falling leaves of an old McGuffey's reader. The Director of The Pageant of Carroll will be very grateful to receive an authentic copy of the old poem. Please address Dorothy Elderdice, Westmin-

The toastmaster next introduced the Taneytown Parent-Teachers' Assoc'n

The next meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association will be held on Tuesday night, Feb. 28, at 7:30. The Association has been having some splendid meetings. These meeting are open to the public, and the patrons of the school are especially urged to attend. The purpose of the Association is to strengthen, and to assist in the work of our High School.

The first part of the meeting will be given over to the business concerning the Association. Opportunity is given during the business session for discussion on any topics that might be of help to the school. After the business session the following program will be

Home-makers' Club to Meet.

The Home-maker's Club held their monthly meeting in the Firemen's building, Thursday, Feb. 16, 1928. At this meeting the following officers were elected for the year. Pres., Mrs. Clyde Hesson; Vice-Pres., Mrs. Chas. Rohrbaugh; Secretary, Mrs. Geo. Shriner; Treasurer, Miss Mabel Leister. Three new members joined at this meeting.

The Club presented the Firemen with a check amounting to $38.18, which was half of the proceeds from the party of games given by the Club Miss Slindee gave a most helpful talk on "How to make our kitchens more attractive." The next meeting will be held Tursday, March 15th.

by Mr. Melville. Mr. Repp requested to become a member of our Club, which was heartily granted, and Mr. Reaver held the matter of membership open for future consideration.

One of the finest examples of good fellowship was manifested at this notable gathering, and we doubt if a finer type of citizens ever before assembled in Taneytown than were assembeld in the Taneytown Opera House, on Tuesday night, Feb. 21st. 1928, at an event which will long be remembered. After many hearty hand shakes and goodbyes, all returned to their respective homes feeling that they had been well repaid for having been

FEW STUDENTS RETURN TO FARM OCCUPATION

School Boys and Girls Drawn to Commercial Pursuits.

Over in Kent County, one of the best farming counties in the state, the Kent County Farm Bureau has been conducting an investigation to determine the number of high school and college students who return to farms after completing their studies.

According to information furnished by William G. Smyth, secretary of the bureau, a survey made in the territory extending from Rock Hall to Millington there were found only four boys who had returned to their parents' farm after finishing school.

This reveals a serious situation regarding conditions which cannot be charged to any disposition upon the part of the other farm labor to shirk

It is realized that for a number of years there has been a decided tendeny on the part of farm boys to seek other vocations in the large cities or in commercial pursuits. This fact is substantiated by a statement made this week by E. Clarke Fontaine, supervisor of high schools of the Eastern Shore, who reports that out of forty agricultural schools which formerly functioned with full enrollments only ten are operating today with full classes, indicating that agricultural life has ceased to command the attractions for boys and girls. Such a condition is causing alarm on the part of farm bureau officials and educators alike because of its serious effects upon the labor problem as well as the future intelligent conduct of the in-

It has led to renewed activity on the part of farm bureau officials, county farm agents and home demonstration agents to so improve the conditions of farm life and its environment as to induce the boys and girls to remain at home and thereby assist in solving a perplexing labor situation which is seriously threatening the success of agriculture.

It is said that the machine was being driven at a rate, which according to witnesses was not more than 20 miles an hour. As Mr. Starr stepped from the rear of the meat wagon, the several men with whom he had been conversing called to him to step back as the machine was coming. He became bewildered and stepped directly into the path of the car, which struck his body and hurled him heavily to the Circuit Court Adjourns.

The February term of Court came to a sudden termination, on Monday, for the very good reason that there was no further business to transact. The only case tried was that of Geo. W. Hall and Peter Reichardt vs. David H. Hahn. The suit grew out of a claimed breach of contract on the part of the defendant, connected with an agreement to sell the plaintiffs certain buildings lots in Baltimore, the plaintiffs claiming $20,000 damages.

The case was on trial last Thursday and Friday. Mr. Hahn testified that the plaintiffs had never tendered him the purchase price of the lots, nor demanded a deed from him, and that he stood ready to carry out the agree-ment of the sale on payment of the

After the agreement of counsel on both sides, counsel for the plaintiffs abandoned their case, a judgment of non pros being entered. There was no session of Court on Saturday.

On Monday when Judge Forsythe called the dockets, attorneys announced that cases listed had either been settled, or were not ready for trial, consequently the jury was discharged and Court adjourned.

The Auto as a Wrecker.

It cost the City of New York $17,-769 to replace the lamp-posts which were hit and demolished by careless or exuberant automobile drivers during the year 1927. The taxpayers pay for most of this replacement cost in view of the fact that it is invaria-bly difficult for the city to collect damages from the offender. Like losses occur everywhere, in cities, towns, and even in the open country, that must total up in the millions each year. This item of expense has not been talked much about, but it can not be avoided as another added cost to motor travel; and unfortunate ly, in such cases, not a cost that the

KU KLUX TAKES NEW NAME Will be "Knights of the Great Forest" and will be Unmasked.

The Ku Klux Klan, all over the country, on Wednesday night,, was ordered to unmask forever, and to change the name of the organization to the "Knights of the Great Forest."

The formal order for the unmasking was made by Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan. His order read:

After midnight, February 22, it will be unlawful for any klansman to wear any mask or visor as part of his regalia, and any klansman who shall be unavoidably absent from the meeting to be held February 22 shall as soon thereafter as possible attend a regu-lar meeting and there become a member of the Knights of the Great For-

All klaverns throughout the United States had, or will have, meetings at which the unmasking ceremony will take place. "The action taken is simply an official recognition of a change that has been sweeping over the Klan for the last few years," Evans said in explaining his announcement. "The original object of the Klan was to stop immigration into the United States. With our unmasking tonight, we will make our object to aid in the assimilation of these immigrants."

Information for Women.

Cockroaches are usually attracted by dampness, bits of food, and trash of all kinds. One method of extermination is to sprinkle sodium fluorid where these pests hide. Another meth-od is to put daubs of phosphorus paste on the inside of small tubes of paper. This method is good because it keeps the poison away from chil-dren and household pets.

If the lower part of the kitchen wall gets dirtier than the upper half try separating the two sections by a piece of molding four or five feet from the loor, and staining or painting the lower part a different tone or color from the upper. Then when you wash it or refinish it you will not have to do the whole wall.

Before washing a sweater, measure it carefully and write down the dimensions. After it has been washed and rinsed, spread it, back side down, with sleeves outstretched, on several thicknesses of clean soft material, laid flat. Measure the sweater and shape it according to the dimensions previously taken. Pin it in place, if necessary, and turn it occasionally after it is almost dry.

Fort Leonard Wood.

Camp Meade is no more, its name having been officially changed to Fort Leonard Wood, in honor of that great soldier and administrator. Marylanders will find it difficult to get used to the new name, as so many of them made frequent visits to it during the years of the World War, and the name became a very familiar one. It is to be hoped that this is only the beginning of a general acknowledgement to the splendid services of General Wood, and Maryland may feel proud of the new name and its con-

THE 1928 OUTLOOK FOR AGRICULTURE

As Prepared for State of Maryland by Many Specialists.

The following condensed survey of agricultural conditions applying to Maryland has been prepared by experts from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, University of Maryland, and State and County Farm organizations, and may be taken as the most authentic advance information that can be given. We have been compell-ed to condense, and omit, a large portion of the report as it is much lengthy for our use. Taken as a whole, the outlook for 1928 is perceptibly better and more encouraging than for

The gross value of farm crops for Maryland in 1927 was $70,346,000 as compared with $69,772,000 for 1926. In Maryland the live stock industry as a whole has been in a relatively favorable position, although there was a considerable decline in hog prices in 1927. The outlook for wool in 1928 appears favorable. The dairy indus-try is in a relatively stable position while poultry producers have reasonably good prospects of a higher level of prices for eggs and dressed and live poultry, at least during the first half of 1928. Beef cattle prices in 1928 promise to average higher than

Farmers in Maryland should, so far as possible, adjust their production to meet local market requirements, especially in those products for which there is likely to be keen competition from other states and countries. More attention should be given to lowering cost of production and to producing better quality products rather than to any general increase in production.

The agricultural credit situation is somewhat improved over that of a year ago. The credit supply in financial centers continues abundant and rates on commercial loans and investments have declined. In Maryland and the other Eastern States particularly, no difficulty should be encountered in se-curing credit at reasonably low rates.

The possibility that industrial employment will continue at a lower level than during 1927 will result in a larger supply of farm labor during 1928. With better prices for farm products it is quite likely that the demand for farm labor will be greater than in 1927 and farm wages during 1928 will probably be maintained at about the level for 1927.

No material change in the price of farm machinery may be expected in 1928 as compared with 1927.

This has resulted in a greater volume of fresh eggs coming on the market during the winter months, and has tended to decrease, and will probably continue to do so, the disparity between winter and spring egg prices. Storage operators, however, are putting into storage a greater number of fancy quality spring eggs, so that producers of high quality eggs will find a firmer spring market than has heretofore prevailed.

Maryland poultry raisers should attempt to increase their returns through economical production of high quality eggs and the development of special trade outlets rather than through ill-advised expansion which may later bring on over-production.

Gas Tax Pays in Queen Annes.

New figures just announced by State Highway officials disclose the tremendous benefits to Queen Anne's County taxpayers of the gasoline tax bill passed at the last session of the Maryland Legislature. In round figures, the measure will save Queen Anne's countians the sum of $31,000 in road-building costs during 1928. Heretofore Queen Anne's County's annual appropriation for building hard-surface highways has been $88,-

000. Of this amount $44,000 was provided from state and federal funds and the remainder through one-half from the state and one-half by the sale of county road bonds.

As a result, Queen Anne's County's annual sale of bonds has aggregated about $22,000. This year this amount is entirely wiped out, and instead of the $44,000 raised from state and county sources, Queen Anne's will receive $53,000 from the gasoline tax

The law, consequently, has the effect of making a larger sum available for road-building purposes at a $22,000 reduction in costs to Queen Anne's County taxpayers.—Centreville

SMALLER DOLLAR BILLS

Will be Followed by Larger Denominations Later.

For months the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, will be busy making new and smaller $1 bills so that upon some fixed day next fall they may be issued throughout the country and the old ones retired. Notes of other denominations will be printed and put in circulation probably in 1929.

The new notes will be 6 5-16 by 2 11-16 inches whereas the notes now in circulation are 7 7-16 by 3 1-8 inches. By the change the Government expects to save $2,000,000 annually. The reduction in size of the bills is expected to increase the capacity of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing by 50 percent because twelve of the 50 percent because twelve of the smaller notes can be printed at one impression upon the same press which now prints but eight.

Through the change in size the bills will be made more convenient to handle and will also be more durable. The new notes will slip into most bill-folds or pockets, without folding, and for this reason are expected to have a much longer life than those now in use. The life of the average bill now is not more than six or seven months, treasury officials say. Folding is one of the chief items cutting short the Many new owners of tractors, and some of the old ones, too, would be able to economize in fuel and time if they sent for Farmers' Bulletin No. 1045-F, entitled. There are tricks in the trade that have been solved by agricultural engineers who have worked out methods for eliminating some of the travel with the plow out of the ground, for avoiding awkward turns, and for effective plowing of the diagonals. George Washington.

During this week we have passed another "Washington's Birthday", which has received the usual notice, and been celebrated in the usual ways | es of the people may be either altered by lodges, societes, schools and publications all over the country. And even though the exact date will have passed by two days when this appears it is not out of place to take note here of the "first American."

People in any part of our country and at any time will best honor Washington by imitating the simple virtues of his sterling character, of which but by their chosen representatives), there were so many. His rules of conduct were so evidently good, and so full of common sense, that no argument is needed to show their excellence. A really great man, his simplicity and worth stand out in such bold contrast with the greed, the ambition, the ostentation, the self-promotion of our own time, and of almost

As an illustration of the wide drift from the spirit of Washington's day we cite his view with regard to a single habit, the use of bad language. On July 1, 1776, which was not long after Washington assumed command of the army, he issued the following asked the other what it was going to "general order."

"The General is sorry to be informed that the foolish and wicked practice of profane cursing and swearing, a vice heretofore little known in an American army, is growing into fashexample as well as influence, endeavor to check it, and that both they and the men will reflect, that we can have little hope of the blessing of Heaven on our arms, if we insult it by our impiety and folly. Added to this, it is a vice so mean and low, without any temptation, that every man of sense and character detests and despises it."

Surely we are far away from the view expressed in that order, but what which makes it unlawful to do an act say you about it? Was it wise, or which the mere doing of, in itself, is unwise? Individual Will vs. Law.

In view of the inclination of many persons to excuse the violation of various laws from time to time on the ground that the violator does not believe in the law, we quote here a part of the recent charge to the Frederick caunty grand jury, delivered by Judge John S. Newman. This, by the way, was Judge Newman's first charge to a grand jury, he having recently been elevated to the bench. In the matter of individual will versus law, he said;

Among others, there is one evil which at this time deserves attention and thoughtful consideration. There seems to be discernible in recent years an increasing tendency on the part of many to substitute will for law; a tendency which is not only to be deplored, but which, unless arrested in its progress, can lead only to anarchy and ruin. The thoughtful citizen, when his attention is directed to the danger and evil involved in the assertion or exercise of any alleged right of any individual, or number of individuals, to act in accordance with their wish, desire or will, regardless of law, will readily realize the duty and obligation of all to obey the law, and will deny that any one, either singly, or in company with others, has any right or privilege to exercise either self will, inclination or desire, when by so doing statutes are disregarded-laws violated. To the thoughtless, who fail to discriminate, and to whom the violation by one individual of one law, is but the excues for the violation of other laws, and the commission of perhaps much more serious offenses, the substitution of will for law becomes at once the cause and justification for crimes endangering the peace, the government, and the dignity of the State, the well-being of society, and the security of the individual.

Freedom cannot subsist without law, and law cannot be upheld or enforced if there be conceded to the individual the right to substitute his will for it. Methods have been provided, and the right to an orderly resort to them is assured, whereby any law contrary to the will of the massor repealed. They who, either overlooking or ignoring this, undertake or countenance the substitution of will for law, commit, to say the least, a very grave error. In our representative system of government enacted statutes stand as the will of the people as a whole (enacted of course not by the people themselves in person, and as such are to be construed and enforced. The fact, therefore, that any particular statute or statutes run counter to the wish, will or desires of the individual or fail to meet his approval, should not, and obviously properly cannot, be permitted to influence those who are charged with the duty of executing and enforcing the laws as they find them. -L. Are You a Lawbreaker.

Two Negroes were recently speaking about the legislature of their state, which was about to open. One do, and upon being told that it was going to pass more laws inquired why, in view of the fact that it had passed several hundred laws the year before. To this inquiry, the other Negro unconsciously made a very pertinent reion. He hopes the officers will by ply when he said they had to pass the new laws because the old ones were "broke."

With the tens of thousands of laws passed every year covering all sorts of trivial and personal matters the liberties and actions of the individual in his home, on the street and while traveling, it is difficult not to break

We are today passing law after law come lawbreakers, feeling that they are not actually doing anything wrong

To cite typical examples: A state traffic law says it is unlawful to travel more than 30 miles an hour on a state highway. A driver on a country road with nobody in sight goes 35 miles an hour. He is a lawbreaker. As a without presenting himself to the police and giving a complete record of They cannot see anything wrong in owning a gun. They do not take kindly to the idea of being classed with crimare lawbreakers because they refuse In his criticism of sports, the pres- to obey a law which makes it unlawful ident said that is was ridiculous to to do something which, in itself, is actually not unlawful-namely, to Countless similar instances could be cited. Every new law which is not er than a limited fer requiring "ex- fundamentally sound, makes thousands and hundreds of thousands of lawbreakers. Is it any wonder courts are jammed and the problem of law enforcement becomes more critical?

The situation offers a logical answer -stop passing new laws,repeal thousands of useless laws now on our statute books and enforce fundamental laws which have an actual bearing on property rights, crime and the protection of the nation.—The Manufact-

Rural School Studies

A western soil expert contends that the country school ought to be more agricultural-minded than at present, and believes that rural education needs but this one more advance step to make its emancipation complete. It is this gentleman's opinion that the country school should give more attention to common problems in terms of rural life, as city schools are integrated to urban conditions.-Fort Wayne News-Sentinel.

Nothing but Whishy

Could Satisfy Indians

That the Indians of a century ago had a strong distaste for prohibition is indicated by an article that appeared in the North American Review in April, 1827, credited to Gen. Lewis Cass, senator and secretary of state.

At the treaty of Chicago, in 1821, the commissioners ordered that no spirits should be issued to the Indians, and informed them, in their own manner, that the bungs were driven into the barrels. A deputation of the chiefs was sent to remonstrate against this precautionary measure, and at its head was Topnibe, the principal chief of the Pottawatomie tribe, a man upwards of eighty years of age. Every argument was used to convince them that the measure was indispensable; that they were exposed to daily murders, and that while in a state of intoxication they were unable to attend to the business for which they were convened.

All this was useless and the discussion was only terminated by the peremptory refusal of the commissioners to accede to their request. "Father," said the hoary-headed chief when he was urged to remain sober and make a good bargain for his people, "Father, we care not for the money, nor the land, nor the goods. We want the whisky, Give us the whisky!"-Detroit News.

of Penalty for Lie A small boy was taken by his moth-

The X-ray was turned on, but a proonged search of Johnnie's anatomy disclosed no trace of the missing coin He was detained for 24 hours to be kept under the nurse's observation.

A few hours afterward, the tactful nurse, finding her patient subdued and sad, said to him: "Well, Johnnie, teil me truly, did you swallow the ha'-

Breed's Origin in Doubt

A number of theories have been advanced and considerable controversy has at times arisen regarding the source and method of origin of the Great Dane. The name indicates that this dog is native to Denmark, yet it is common knowledge that the breed's more recent development is directly traceable to the efforts of German fan ciers. Great Danes have been bred for centuries abroad and records as far back as the Egyptian period prove that a dog of this type was then in existence. It is presumed that the breed descended from such dogs and that possibly the ancestral Great Dane stock spread to Germany, where it crossed with the blood of the Ulmer Dogge, Rottweiler Metzerghund, etc. The name "Deutsche Dogge" was adopted as the official title for the breed in Germany late in the Ninteenth century and as such it is now known in that country.

Fifty-Fifty

"When girls talk of going 50-50 with their boy friends, it makes me laugh," said the cynical commuter on the midnight local one night this

"What they mean is, that once in a while they'll pay their half of the dinner check--but, of course, let the man do the tipping. And they never think of paying the whole check.

"Women have asserted their inde pendence in many ways-but they still like to be dependent on men when it omes to paying the bilis."

All of the other commuters in the smoker of the midnight local, where ne women are allowed, nodded in agreement.-Philadelphia Record.

Proper Home Planning

One thing that a man should never forget when he is buying a home is that the home will be the center of his family life, probably for many

His children will be brought up in it and amidst its surroundings. In it his wife must do most of her work and in it both he and his wife will spend most of their leisure time.

He should, therefore, look at the different properties available and see how they measure up by these common sense, practical standards.

It is well for the family to picture itself going through its daily routine in the new house-cooking, cleaning, going to work, school, play, etc., at all seasons.

White Lights

The neighboring city of Kent turned on the lights of its Great White Way on Christmas evening and the familiar comment is that it's a grand and glorious feeling.

Kent officials responsible for the transformation have definitely placed themselves among the progressives. There is no reason why villages and towns should be excluded in the modern trend toward first-class systems of electrification, but it is a fact that too many small communities are indifferent to the advantages of excellent lighting. Kend's example should be followed by every municipality, great or small, in northern Ohio.-Cleveland News.

Communities Do Well

to Beautify Highways

This editorial, from the Grants Pass (Ore.) Courier, has a universal application:

Southern Oregon is the garden spot of the Pacific coast. Here nature has done her utmost in providing beauty for all of us to appreciate. Unfor tunately there have been many in the past who have been unable to appreciate these natural advantages. just as there are people today who can not see the beauty of their surround ings.

Native trees and shrubs which once lined the highways of southern Oregon have been removed in many places. In their place can be found eld stumps and fallen trees. Old cans. bottles and other rubbish left by un thinking campers are seen from the highway where there might be beau tiful natural parks to delight every visitor.

Cities of southern Oregon have awakened to the need for improvement of the scenery along the main arteries of travel. A concerted plan is now being developed by which it is hoped there will be a full co-operation in making these highways roads through giant parks.

One way this can be accomplished is through the planting of trees and shrubs along the highways. Another is the removal of unsightly deposits of cans and other rubbish. Highways lined with beautiful shade trees of varieties best suited for the various localities would certainly prove a wonderful attraction in years to come.

To Stimulate Interest

in Vegetable Garden

One thousand dollars in prizes for the best ornamental and kitchen gar dens will be awarded in 1928 by the Woman's Home Companion in conjunction with local chambers of commerce and other civic bodies.

Last year prizes were offered by the magazine, for the first time, for both ornamental and vegetable gar dens and the judges were keenly disappointed when the ornamental va riety of entries outnumbered vege table gardens 25 to 1. Prizes are there fore reoffered this year in the hope that interest in growing vegetables will be stimulated.

"This lack of interest in gardening was the more regrettable," says the magazine, "since last summer green corn on the cob was $1.25 a dozen ears in New York. Another instance of the growing indifference to raising food stuffs is shown in the fact that an authoritative report cites such instances as one agricultural high school with 1,150 students, only eight of whom had chosen agriculture as a vocation.'

In the Flower Garden

It is quite true that mixtures of offend us. To the average observer flowers are endurable, even pleasant. whatever their colors and arrange ment. The point is not that mixtures offend, but that they fail to charm. With few exceptions where mixtures are planted in the garden the effect of a flower group as a group is destroyed Individually the flowers are not affected, but in the mass they become relatively insignificant. One color destroys another. The excep tions are those families in which the color range is so narrow that all va rieties harmonize. Where on the other hand groups of flowers of a single color are grown the impression of each blossom is multi plied by its association with the oth ers; and if other groups similarly planned are grown near by the appea is still further increased and the be holder becomes conscious not of mere flowers but of beautiful flowers, which are not negatively pleasant but post tively charming.

Pulmotor for Trees

Trees weakened by insufficient oxy gen, due to obstructions or surplus water about the roots, are restored to vigorous growth by a special "pulmo tor" treatment which is said to have been administered with good results. It consists in forcing air currents about the roots. This is done with the aid of a compressor operating at about 100 pounds pressure and a long hollow "gun" with a shut-off. The gun is forced into the ground to the depth of the roots as far from the tree as the ends of the branches. The air is then turned on and off, the action of the air being visible to the operator by the rise and fall of the earth .-Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Painting Is Protection

By keeping all surfaces of lumber used in your home smooth and free from decay there will be no necessity for expensive repairs. Money may be devoted to additions rather than to replacements. The fire men ance we guard against with insurance is not nearly so costly to us as is the yearly loss we suffer from the decay of unpainted lumber. Think well on the great truth involved in the idea that when you save the sur face you protect the entire structure

Decorating problems require an in dividual solution, and it is often nec essury to consult a reliable painter of experience.

Repairs Program Needs Most Careful Attention

Close inspection will disclose whatever is necessary to put a building in good shape. In the first place, there are the plaster walls and ceilings to repair before doing any decorating. Unsightly cracks should be carefully cut deeper with a putty knife so as to provide grooves for receiving the plaster of paris filler, which should then be applied.

Inside woodwork will of course need to be gone over with enamel, paint or varnish, or wax, as the case may be. For touching up old varnish, whatever the color of the original wood, one may now purchase colored varnish of any desired tone to match the original color. Enamel is excellent for going over old painted woodwork. It can be applied directly to the old material, but a better finish is obtained by applying an undercoat of flat paint of the desired color. Such treatment of woodwork will prove an efficient and economical aid in the up keeping of the building.

Hardwood floors should never be permitted to wear out. The varnish or wax with which they were originally covered should be kept in condition with floor oil made for this purpose, and as soon as floors need it varnish, wax or other floor finish should be used liberally. Should the floors be in bad condition, however, it is often better to have the old finish entirely removed, using one of the compounds sold for this purpose, and then retinish the surface as good as new.

Home Owner Eliminates

Loss From Moving Those of you who complain about your rent, about having to move every two or three years because the landlord "won't fix up the place" or sells it "out from under you" consider this fact: The rent the home owner pays never goes up! Whether you own your home free of debt or are acquiring it under contract payments the charges you must pay per month are definitely fixed through the period of your possession. No one can compel you to pay more, nor can you be compelled to move elsewhere to seek lower rents.

It seems as if those who rent oftentimes fail to take into consideration this important fact. It is one of the reasons why the family committed to a program of home ownership begins to make headway from the moment it commits itself to such a program. Then the losses through continual moving are eliminated. The old adage that "three moves are as good as a fire" is certainly close to literal truth, as every renting family

Making Energy Pay

Men too frequently regard as a mere threat the Biblical statement, "Such as ye sow ye shall also reap." In reality it is much better than a threat, it is a promise. Two Mississippi towns in the past ten days had cheese plants added to their list of industries. These towns a little while ago were working methodically and industriously for milk condenseries. They organized their business men, surveyed their situation and went after some outside capital. Although they failed to attain their specific goal, they gained something else as good or better. No well-directed energy is ultimately wasted. It will bear good fruit in one form or another.-Neshoba Democrat.

Kickers

Frequently one hears some fellow_ kicking on the firm he works for and wonders why he did not quit and get a job more to his liking. If he has a better job than he could get elsewhere then he has no cause to kick. More frequently one hears a man kicking on the town he lives in. If that town furnishes him a better living than any other town he should feel friendly to it and say so .- Newcastle Times.

Mushroom Growth

A word of caution for cities engaging in the scramble for industries is sounded by the organization service of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. It draws the line between enlargement by substantial growth and enlargement by inflation and reiterates the warning that there is no virtue in mere bigness.

Color for Roof

Don't forget that the roof must be protected with paint or stain, as well as the siding. In selecting a color for the roof of your house, consider the surroundings. A red roof looks well against high, dark trees. A buff roof suits the house surrounded by little foliage.

Restore Home Life

Many writers have deplored what they call the passing of the American home, and the old-fashioned home life. Certainly any well-devised movement to check it and restore in full measure the old home influence is of benefit to the community.

Well Worth It

It costs money to build up your local pride-and it's worth it.

Vinegar Aids Reducing,

but Costs Woman Life Shrewsbury, England. - Literally pickled alive, a woman who for 30 years drank a pint and a half of vinegar a day, has died in Salop infirmary weighing 38 pounds. Dr. D. A. Urquhart, who attended the woman recently, said that she never ate anything without washing it down with vinegar. At one time she weighed 112 pounds, but when the doctor was called she had taken no solid food for five weeks, drinking only vinegar, and weighed 38 pounds. The coroner's verdict was death from chronic intoxication-the intoxicant being commercial vinegar.

Local Radio Legislation.

Out in Fairfield, Ohio, there is a the sound of the fire-bell yet, and new law against those knowingly were much alarmed when the fire guilty of causing interference to the truck rumbled past before 8 o'clock residents radio sets, but so far they those knowingly truck rumbled past before 8 o'clock last Thursday morning. Fire was burning through the floor around the it. Perhaps it is because there is a thirty-day sentence for those found violating its provisions.

The prospect of thirty days in jail is enough to make even the most care-less persons take heed. It is a known fact that considerable interference to radio reception can be traced to care-

The ordinance provides that it is unlawful for anyone to operate "any instrument, device or machine of any kind whatsoever which causes interference with radio reception between the hours of noon and midnight, except only such as may be necessary in making X-ray pictures or examina-tions in cases of physical injuries."

Passage of the measure followed a flood of complaints that persons were operating motors, battery chargers and other interfering machines. It was found, after the passage of the law, that virtually all of the interference could be eliminated by the use of shock coils, condensers, mufflers, etc., which could easily be attached to the offending pieces of apparatus.

nonsupport Such was the ruling handed down in Magistrate R. Edward Kidd's court here in a case wherein John Six, fiftythree, was sued for nonsupport by his bride, Naomi Six, sixteen years old Six, employee of a dury, said his girlwife wouldn't even kiss him after he had bought her the things enumerated and lived with him only a week. Magistrate Kidd dismissed the case.

Zoning Called Helpful Reports indicate that zoning ordinances have been helpful in cities the blighting of districts and the unnecessary scrapping of buildings and costly public utilities that are still serviceable. The razing of a single block of dwellings and the scrapping of utility connections unsuited for altered occupancy usually involved a destruction of $100,000 or more worth of property, depending on the number and character of houses. Where the scale of such operations is reduced by a good zoning ordinance the annual savings, even in a city of moderate size, are very considerable

First-class construction, including materials and workmanship for both interior and exterior, is absolutely essential. Otherwise what may appear on the surface to be a well-built building may deteriorate after a few years and become a costly burden because of heavy repair bills, maintenance costs and loss of tenants. Materials and types of construction should be used which will suffer the least possible wear and tear.

Tips for Borders

Italian Marble Now Is

Mined in Colorado Denver, Colo.-Travertine, a rare throughout the country in avoiding building stone, found heretofore only in Italian quarries near Tivoli, has been discovered and is now being produced in a marketable quantity from a quarry near Salida, 75 miles south west of Denver.

J. J. Kerr, former owner of the estate upon which the stone was found recognized the material after he had made a trip to Italy to inspect the product of the Tivoli quarries. Immediately he began advancing his newly found enterprise. The quarry on his property has been in operation periodically since 1880, but the product has been used only for its lime deposit. A local storage building was the first to be constructed with it Shortly after its completion, however Kerr died.

His estate was bought by Eastern capitalists who began marketing the stone on a nation-wide scale. Several of the leading buildings on both coasts, as well as through the Middle West, have been built with the Colo-

According to an official of the producing company, the deposit, composed of crystalized lime or marble coming from hot springs carrying lime solution, is sufficient to last 200 years.

Hot Springs Minerals

Are Laid Down Rapidly Yellowstone Park, Wyo.-The deposits of hot springs limestone, more properly known as "sinter," are laid down very rapidly, according to Margaret Lindsley of the Yellowstone ranger staff, who has been making a study of the phenomena in the park for the geophysical laboratory of the Carnegie institution of Washington. She writes of one of her observations:

"A little wooden cylinder made expressly for measuring the rate of deposition was wired in place near the foot of Jupiter terrace. This point is easily 300 feet from the hot spring at the top and only about five feet above the main highway. The water in tumbling down over the terrace is well aerated and cooled to a little above body temperature. The block and the wire which held it in place were removed 21 days later, covered with a deposit of chalklike travertine to a thickness of from one-half to three-fourths of an inch.

"One might think that the water would lose most of its burden of mineral by the time it was at so great a distance from the point of emergence. but the experiment proves that such is not the case."

Back-Yard Importance Not to Be Overlooked

One important room in the home should face the back yard. The yard is the only spot on the lot which has privacy and usually, if the owner is a beauty lover and garden enthusiast. this is the most beautiful spot as well. Much of the beauty is lost if only the kitchen faces it. No one wishes to spend much time in the kitchen. Should the floor plan of the house place the living and dining rooms on one side, and the kitchen and hall on the other, have the driveway, if any, on the kitchen side, as a drive generally does not afford a good view from the living and dining-room windows and the noise of the passing motors, combined with the fumes from the exhaust, is most objection-

Sometimes it can be arranged to have half of the drive serve as a walk, but if this cannot be done have the walk as near to the side of the lot as possible, to provide a large unbroken lawn area.

Using this method, many teisure hours can be spent profitably and pleasantly; profitably, as there is enough time during the winter to allow one to take into consideration every little detail, thrash out every difficulty and be fully prepared to start work early in the spring.

Garage in These Days

Need Not Be Eyesore

Did you ever consider how your garage, whether it is attached to your house-or detached, can be made to take on a certain degree of artistry in its appearance with a little effort on your part?

Decorative hardware, for instance, gives a pleasing look to a homely door. This hardware may be in the form of metal trimming, bolts, nail heads, or hinges.

Window boxes along the side windows of a garage give a touch of attractiveness. If awnings are used on the house they can also appear on the garage. The newer garages are no longer boxlike affairs disfiguring the landscape. And while one may not be able to have elaborate ones, any more than an elaborate house, they may be pleasing and appealing to the eye. If detached from the house, they may be an addition to the landscape rather than a blot upon it.

Larger School Grounds

Five acres or more of land for elementary schools and ten acres or more for high schools, junior or senior, have been acquired by several large cities in California, Georgia, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Texas and Wisconsin as announced by the national conference on city planning through the Playground and Recreation Association of America. Sixty cities report a definite policy of providing five or more acres for elementary schools and of ten or more acres for high schools. Small cities, where unimproved ground is available at reasonable prices, make a better showing, and fifty cities of 15,000 to 125,000 population report the acquisition of five acres or more for school sites since 1915. Cost of land for schools in small cities ranged from $500 to $8,000, and, in some instances. to as high as $18,000 per acre. In Chicago as much as $30,000 per acre was paid.-School Life.

Uncommon Sense

THAT HUMAN WALL

A NYBODY who is experienced in the art of getting through the human wall of subordinates which surrounds most important persons knows two things.

The first is that in six cases out of ten, these subordinates are either arrogant or incompetent.

The second is that subordinates should never be dealt with if their superiors can be reached. The human wall is necessary or 11 would not be tolerated. Important people must be protected from timestealers, respectable beggars and cranks. But that does not mean that it is not a cumbersome and annoying

The mere fact that a subordinate is associated with an important person often seems to lend him tremendous

He will also be glad to volunteer any information about the state of his employer's mind The information will be of a sort de signed to discourage presumption on your part and to glorify the employer and his loyal servant. It will also be inaccurate in four cases out of five.

If a subordinate is not arrogant he is very likely to be incompetent. He may be pleasant enough but he will not know how to deal with your case. That, however, will not prevent him from making a brave attempt.

Once in a great while you meet a part of one of these human walls who is neither arrogant nor incompetent. But such persons do not remain a part of the wall. They usually are

If subordinates realized how little arrogance helped their cause they would put more emphasis on courtesy. An insolent, overhearing manner seldom wins any friends. And you must have business friends if you ex-

An insolent door clerk or secretary serves his employer badly. And occa sionally the stranger whom he attempts to snub turns out to be a person of considerable more importance than the man behind the human wall. In that case it is likely to go hard

Will Use More Color in Building in Future

Color will surely be used for exterior decoration of the building of the future, it is predicted by Joseph Urban, whe, with Benjamin Wistar Morris, recently was named architect for the new Metropolitan Opera house in New

The structures will have charm on gloomy days, as well as when the sunlight tints them. All degrees of lights, shadow and night illumination will have their part in modifying and enhancing the color effects, Mr. Urban believes.

"The demand for maximum light," he says, "has created a new problem in exterior decorations. The great area demanded for windows is reducing the available wall space which can be employed in the decorative plan. It is necessary, therefore, to get the maximum effect with the little strips which are left between windows.

"One treatment, of course, is to have the entire building dark, so that the windows are not noticeable as distinct features, but are merely a part of the mass. This dark mass is then given the necessary lightening details.

"Naturally, all of the buildings in a city cannot be black. Other colors will be employed. The windows will be made an asset to appearance, instead of a liability, as they are in many of the present structures."

Highway System Helps Make Suburban Growth

It is the highway system that makes possible the great suburban growth that is now manifesting itself in every direction. It is the great system of highways which when perfected will make possible a greater suburban de-

With adequate highways men employed or engaged in business in the industrial or commercial districts of the city find no material inconvenience attached to living several miles from their working places.

This condition makes it possible for men and women with children to afford their families the advantages of home life such as can be obtained only through a private residence. There are few people who will not willingly concede that children who are provided with real home life, in a private residence, with the opportunities of outdoor play in one's own yard or in a public park, stand a better opportunity of developing along normal lines and growing up to be strong, healthy young men and women, than those children who are compelled to spend their infancy and youth cooped up in small quarters with little more than the street in which to spend their leisure hours.

Round Table Club

The Biloxi News gives the suggestion of a Round Table club for Biloxi strong approval, saying it will be the place for threshing out community questions and interests. This is true; for a club of the sort affords opportunity not found elsewhere for a wide and free expression of opinion, which is good not only for the hearers but for the speakers, the latter finding that their thoughts, which in general are diffused, crystallize and become worth while when given expression in words. For 25 years Mobile has had a club of this sort that has proved for its members highly educative and interesting.-Mobile Register.

Five-Mile Zone Area

All land lying within five miles of the corporate limits of a municipality would be included in that municipality's jurisdiction for the purpose of establishing proper control over subdivision platting, according to the preliminary edition of the proposed standard city planning enabling act, which has just been issued by the United States Department of Commerce. The preliminary edition has been issued in order that the act may receive the criticism of associations and individuals before its final form has been determined upon.

Toll of Rot and Rust

Three out of every four property owners allow rot and rust to burglarize them yearly. If these dollars were saved through a reasonable observance of the law of preservation, any number of such homes would be made happier and more prosperous in appearance by the addition of pergolas, arbors, porches and other items which the saving of repairs would make available.

Fence Frames House

To the artistic eye a home is a picture, with the house as a center of interest, around which group, in pleasing composition, those other elements that create an atmosphere of restful charm and quiet privacy. How can such a "homescape" be complete without a fence of appropriate design?

Chief Mainstay

Paint is the chief mainstay of preservation. If the home is of frame, it should be painted every two or three years. Otherwise, deterioration sets in. Too often painting is put off until too late and then loss stares the owner in the face.

HOW=

LONGEVITY OF MANKIND HAS BEEN INCREASING .-In the Middle ages the average span of human life was about thirty years. The average among civilized peoples is now about forty years. The startling prophecy that man would some time only begin to understand life at one hundred years does not seem so unreasonable. perhaps, when one considers the span of life alloted to vegetables, and to other animals.

There exists, at the present time, in the island of Ceylon a tree which was planted two hundred eighty-eight years before Christ. In the suburbs of Athens travelers are shown the olive tree of Plato, which is two thousand years old. The plantain tree of Hippocrates, the father of medicine, is two thousand three hundred years old, while the giant redwood trees of California are estimated to have lived at least twenty centuries. Tourists in Hikdesheim, Germany, are never allowed to pass the famous so-called "thousand-year rose bush" in the grounds of the cathedral. The list of legendary trees might be indefinitely extended and world trees include the chestnuts of Etna, the walnut trees of St. Nicholas in Lorena, the olives of Jerusalem, the yew trees of Yorkshire, England, which are one thousand, two thousand and two thousand five hundred years old, respectively, and the cypresses of Mexico, which are considered the oldest trees in the world.

These figures are furnished by Doctor Legrand, a wellknown French naturalist. He also points out singular differences in the longevity of animals of varying species. The crocodile and the carp live, he says, three hundred years; the elephant and the whale, two hundred; the falcon, one hundred fifty; the parrot and the eagle, one hundred; the lion and the rhinoceros, sixty; the goose, common pike and the pelican, fifty; the hart and vulture, forty; the ass, bull and camel, thirty; the horse, twenty-five; the peacock, from twenty-three to twenty-five; the pig, bear, cow, pigeon, cat, dog, deer, wolf and the fresh-water lobster, twenty; the duck, nightingale, lark, fox and pheasant, fifteen; the canary and the cricket average ten; the rabbit lives eight; the squirrel and hare, seven.

How Snake Charmer Keeps Himself Immune

How does the snakecharmer charm? asks a writer in the Popular Science Monthly. That's one of the questions we've always asked ourselves. And now an English doctor tells us one of the secrets.

Take the case of the cobra, for instance. It is a very venomous snake, yet the snakecharmer is not harmed when bitten by one.

The secret lies in the fact that the charmer "milks" the cobra before he allows himself to be bitten. He makes the cobra b.te into a piece of meat, thereby expelling two-thirds of the poison in its poison gland. When the charmer allows the snake to bite him immediately thereafter, there is not enough poison left in the gland to do

What is the next step? The charmer makes the snake bite a fowl while he squeezes the remaining drops of poison out of the snake's gland; the fowl dies, and the charmer wins the confidence of his audience.

How Snakes Lay Eggs

Egg-laying snakes, unlike birds, do not lay an egg each day until the laying is completed. As a rule, all the eggs laid by an oviparous snake in any given season are laid within a very short period.

The United States biological survey says a python measuring about 28 feet in length laid about 100 eggs in one day. In the case of a little ringnecked snake it was observed that in every instance except two all the eggs were deposited within one day. This species of snake lays only from three to eight eggs.

How to Keep Stamps

How to keep postage stamps from sticking where they should, not so that they will adhere where they should is a problem before experts at the United States bureau c. standards. The bureau of printing and engraving, where the stamps are made, has been advised that it may find a special moisture-proof cellophane, the thin transparent material sometimes used to wrap candy, better than paraffin paper as separating sheets in stamp books.

How to Tell Tree's Age

The best way to tell the age of a tree is to count the annual rings on the cross section of the stem near the ground, and add to this count the number of years it took the tree to grow to the height at which the count was made. In case of a felled tree. says the American Tree association, the stump section is a good place to make the count.

"Quality" in Fruits Is So Very Elusive

What constitutes "quality" in fruit and the factors that affect quality were discussed recently by Dr. U. P. Hedrick, horticulturist at the New York state agricultural experiment station at Geneva, in an effort to define the term "quality" as used by horticulturists.

Quality in fruit is a rather elusive characteristic that gives individuality to the variety, but is quite apart from the more tangible characters of the fruit, says Doctor Hedrick. Also, quality is inherent to a variety and is not materially affected by any of the orchard practices to which the fruit growers may resort.

"In brief, quality is that combination of flavor, aroma, juiciness and tender flesh which makes fruits agreeable to the palate," says Doctor Hedrick. "The best varieties of fruit also have that subtle, undefinable thing called individuality, a thing quite aside from any tangible character. Every good fruit should have a distinct and pleasing individuality.

"Quality in fruit cannot be greatly altered by cultured practices, although those practices which give the best tree growth and yields, generally speaking, also give the best quality of fruit. Quality is affected very materially by seasons, however, and the consumer should bear this in mind."-New York Times.

Why Distinctive Name

Was Given Ocean Birds Mother Carey's chickens is the popular name of certain small ocean birds, especially the stormy petrels, which are often seen around ships in rough weather. They are regarded by sailors with superstitious dread. Their peculiar manner of paddling along the surface of the waves suggested the name of "petrel," which is a diminutive of Peter, referring to St. Peter's walking upon the Sea of Galilee. "Mother Carey" is thought to be a queer Anglicization of the Latin "Mater Cara," meaning "Dear Mother," says Pathfinder Magazine. The nesting habits of the stormy petrel were long a mystery to scientists. Many seafaring people were of the opinion that Mother Carey's chickens never went near the land. They superstitiously believed that the female laid a single egg at sea and that she carried it around under her wing until it hatched. Recently, however, a party of explorers observed one of these birds laying an egg under the soft soil of an island in the Cape Verde archipelago. On another small uninhabited island the explorers found the remains of millions of stormy petrels.

Why "Filthy Lucre"

"Lucre" is from an old Anglo-Saxon word meaning profit or riches. It is now limited to a bad sense. "Filthy lucre" is an old phrase which was popularized by being in the authorized version of the Bible. It appears several times in the Bible: I Timothy 3:3, "Not given to wine, no striker, not greedy of filthy lucre." Titus 1:7, "A bishop must be blameless, as the steward of God; not self-willed, not soon angry, not given to filthy lucre." Titus 1:11, "Whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre's sake." I Peter 5:2, "Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind."

Why Frost's Effect Varies

Frost in valleys occurs there sooner than in hills because cold air which is comparatively heavy settles in valleys so that the temperature there sometimes drops to the freezing point while it remains above freezing at higher altitudes. Usually, also, the air in valleys is more quiet than air above and this favors formation of frost.-Grit.

Why Vitamines Are Hurt

The injury done to vitamines by processes of cooking varies with the different vitamines. Vitamines A and B are not as readily affected as vitamine C. Vitamines D and E also have a high degree of stability. The more the air can be excluded during cooking the less will be the destruction of the vitamines.

Why Deltas Are So Called

"Delta" is the fourth letter in the Greek alphabet and corresponds to English "D." It is shaped like a small triangle. Hence the name of the triangular-shaped island formed of alluvial deposits in the mouth of a river. The Mississippi, Rhine, Danube and Nile are only a few of the great rivers noted for their deltas.

Why Leaves Change Color

The brilliant colors of dying leaves in autumn are due partly to chemical changes in the decaying chlorophyll and partly to the exposure of pigment cells previously concealed by an abundance of chlorophyll or other feature of vital activity. The leaf drops because it no longer receives nourishment from the stem or twig.

How "Heirloom" Got Name The word "heirloom" is a compound noun composed of "heir" and "loom." Compound was first used when "loom" meant an implement, tool or similar object. In that sense it is now ob-

Pennsylvania Grower Gets Bumper Potato Crop

Yield 421 Bushels

On Measured Acre

Mr. John H. Richter of Duncannon, Perry County, Pa., was the first man to win his way into the Keystone 400-Bushel Club last year. He used "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer and grew 421 bushels of potatoes on a measured acre. Mr. Richter's crop attracted state-wide prominence. He says in his letter of September 25, 1927:

"I have the best crop I ever raised. The yield is fine and the quality is the very best. I dug out one measured acre today of the field of 60 acres in the presence of the Bankers' Association. This acre showed me a yield of 421 bushels. Much of the credit for this bumper crop is due to your highgrade 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer."

Successful farmers everywhere find that "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers produce larger yields, better quality, more profit.

100% MORE POTATOES . . . Mr. Edwin Rutt of Ephrata, Lancaster County, Pa., says: "Besides my own farm, I am working a farm on shares, and on this farm another make of fertilizer was used on potatoes, with the result that my potatoes on which I used Agrico Fertilizer ("AA QUALITY") yielded double the amount of the other farm on which another make of fertilizer was used."—Aug. 25, 1927.

other make of fertilizer was used."—Aug. 25, 1927.

428 BUSHELS PER ACRE . . Mrs. Rose Murren of Littlestown, Adams County, Pa., says: "I used your 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer on my potato crop. I planted 6½ acres, and my yield was 428 bushels of choice potatoes per acre, which is unusual for this section of the country. I feel that this is about 100 bushels more than some others got who used other grades of fertilizer. My potatoes sold for $1.25 per bushel and I figure I made a nice profit by the use of 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer."—Oct. 27, 1927.

FINE POTATO CROP . . . Mr. Alfred P. Knabb of Lime Kiln, Berks County, Pa., says: "My potato crop was planted with 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer in a heavy limestone soil. Nevertheless I harvested 300 bushels of fine potatoes per acre. I do not know of a single crop raised in this section that will average anywhere near this amount. I believe that my crop will average about 100 bushels more than any of my neighbors' crops."—Sept. 8, 1927.
"AA QUALITY" PRODICIES I ARGE POTATO any of my neighbors' crops."—Sept. 8, 1927.
"AA QUALITY" PRODUCES LARGE POTATO CROP . . . Mr. Howard Fishel of Stewartstown, York County, Pa., says: "This season I tried your Agrico Fertilizer ('AA' QUALITY') on my potato crop, and had a very large yield of potatoes, 400 bushels to the acre. The potatoes were perfect and it is a pleasure to handle them. If feel quite sure that this large crop is due largely to 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer, which seems to have just the right plant food for potatoes."—Oct. 15, 1927.

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers are made especially for all crop and soil conditions. They are scientifically prepared, completely cured, and remilled to ensure perfect mechanical condition.

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers have a record of over sixty years' successful crop production.

Use "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers for your 1928 crops. You can get a bigger yield and a better yield of potatoes per acre—and a greater yield of dollars.

PINEAPPLE HERALDRY

IONS and fleur-de-lis we usually think of as belonging by right on coats-of-arms, but how many realize that roses and apples and pinecones, and trees and pineapples, are also represented?

It was only after the Crusades in the eleventh century that coats-of-arms began to be formally granted by the sovereign as a reward for valor. Naturally enough, the object chosen for the shields varied. Often it was a pun on the name of the hero. Brakespeare family chose a broker Festina lente was the motto of

Peculiar Language

Ideas were colored by French views, and Norman-French of the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries became the language used in heraldry. With time, different meanings and spellings were given the words, until now the layman reading a description of a coat-of-arms is totally bewildered. For in-stance, at a glance one would not re-alize that "Argent, three pineapples vert stalked or," meant that there were three green pineapples with gold stalks on a silver background. I. Jairus' Daughter Raised from the Dead (vv. 22-24 and 35-42).

Jairus' urgent mission (vv. 22,23) His only daughter (Luke 8:42), per haps his only child, lay dying. In this time of utter helplessness he came to Jesus for he had faith in His ability to raise her up. In the providence of God, sorrow, sickness and death are often used to bring needy men and women into contact with Jesus. He showed the proper attitude toward Jesus, "He fell at His feet" (v. 22).

Jesus goes with Jairus (v. 24) Jairus believed that if Jesus would lay His hand upon his daughter she would live. Such faith always gets a response from Jesus.

3. News of his daughter's death

The messenger who brought the news of her death suggested that Jesus should be excused from going further, as it was now too late.
4. Jairus' faith strengthened (v.

36). As soon as Jesus heard the words spoken concerning the death of this girl, he said to the father, "Be not afraid, only believe.' 5. The mourners rebuked (vv. 37-39).

He now dismissed the crowd and allowed only three of His disciples and the parents of the damsel to enter this chamber of death with Him 6. Jairus' faith rewarded (vv.

He took the damsel by the hand and issued the command for her to arise. The expression "Talitha cumi" in the Aaramaic seems to be freely expressed, "Wake up, little girl." She straightway arose and walked and partook of food. II. The Woman With an Issue of Blood Healed (vv. 25-34).

1. Her helpless condition (vv. 25, 26, cf. Luke 8:43).

She had been a great sufferer for twelve long years.

2. Her faith (vv. 27, 28). She possessed a real and earnest faith. For a poor emaciated woman after twelve years of suffering to press her way through a thronging multitude shows that she possessed a determined purpose. The test of the actuality and quality of one's faith is the activity which characterizes the life. Her faith was so strong that she believed contact with the Master's garments would secure the needed help. Though her faith was strong, it was imperfect. She only knew Him as a wonder worker, but through this experience she came to know Him as a compassionate Savior.

3. Her healing (vv. 29-32). As soon as she touched the hem of His garment she experienced in her body His healing power. Jesus Himself was conscious of the outgoing of virtue, therefore inquired, "Who touched me" to which the disciples replied with amazement, "Thou seest the multitude thronging thee and say-est thou, "Who touched me?" 4. Her confession (v. 33; cf. Luke

She thought secretly to get the blessing of healing, but Jesus per-ceived that virtue had gone out from Him and had her make a public con-

5. Jesus' words of encouragement (v. 34).

With the communication of Hishealing virtue, He spoke most gracious and comforting words to this poor woman, telling her that it was her faith, not her touch that had saved her. Faith does not need to face dangers and to exhaust itself in active endeavor in order to gain Christ's blessing. All that is 'required is a trusting prayer. Not only did she With the communication of His trusting prayer. Not only did she gain the blessing, but had the distinct tion of being the only woman on record as having been addressed by Jesus as "daughter," which shows His spirit of tenderness to those who come to Him with their needs.

Plan Program First

The preparation of a thoroughly considered program, based on exhaustive study of existing conditions and probable future trends, is a prerequisite of a worth-while city plan. That accomplished and the program adopted, it is vitally important that exceptions to the rules laid down be granted sparingly, short of a conclusive showing that the original requirement was an error. Otherwise, zoning becomes ineffective in practice. This is a danger that needs to be avoided in localities where city planning has been adopted. Rules, frequently broken, become worthless as

Value of Zoning

There is hardly a law or regulation in existence that does not prove at times to be undesirable or "damaging" to somebody. But in all cases the general welfare must take precedence. In the end, all are served alike. If an individual is restricted in one direction he is aided in another. That holds with respect to zoning, as to other necessary regulations. The person who desires to override zoning restrictions in a certain way in order to gain a selfish advantage would be quite ready to object to such a procedure by another that threatened inconvenience or actual damage to himself. Zoning is designed not so much to restrict the few as to aid all .-Kansas City Times.

World Continues Distrustful of Women

In the present congress there are no representatives. Of these three are the wives of former congressmen. One was elected while her husband was in prison for conspiracy to defraud the government. Two were elected to fill vacancies caused by the death of their husbands and have been reelected. Only one woman now in the house, therefore, was originally elected on her own reputation and her own merits.

The Woman's Home Companion cites this an an indication that the world is still distrustful of women, and that equality of the sexes is a long task and hardly begun. Hundreds of laws still exist, it is pointed out, which discriminate either for or against women

Recently in Florida married women were debarred from engaging in the real estate business unless they go to court and have themselves declared "free dealers." This is because mardied women are not responsible legally for their ordinary contracts, for misrepresentation or negligence. In the laws of every state, it is said, there is discrimination of the same sort which will require years of legislation to remedy.

Why All Sounds Don't

Travel at Same Speed It is strange that thunder can be heard over a distance of only ten or twelve miles, while artillery firing is often heard up to 150 miles.

The intensity of a sound depends upon the density of the air in which it is produced and not upon the density of the air in which it is heard. The farther up, the more the air diminishes in density. When thousands of feet above the earth a balloonist can hear sounds from the ground with remarkable clearness. But people on the ground cannot hear similar sounds from the balloon,

The conditions of the air during a thunderstorm are such as would tend to scatter and dissipate the soundwaves. Gunfire is usually heard at great distances only when the air is comparatively calm, and it is not likely that it would be heard far during a thunderstorm.

Why Scoring by Fifteen

The method of scoring tennis by fifteens is very old; the reason of it inscrutable. Antonio Scaino, to whose "Trattato della Paila" (1555) every historian of ball games is everlastingly indebted, speaks of this scoring as a commonplace in his time, and the author of the "Jeu Royal de la Paume" (1632) says: "The first difficulty is to know why we should count, as we have counted from time immemorial, 15, 30, 45 and then game." His successors are still as much in the dark as he was, though many ingenious suggestions as to the origin have been made. The use of 40 instead of 45 is comparatively modern, and deuce is "a deux" anglicized.

Why Witch Wands Are Fakes Doodlebug scientists are discredited by the bureau of mines, which denies that wands or other devices to discover mineral wealth beneath the earth's surface are more than pure fakes. Then along comes the geographical survey and makes it even stronger. It declares no rod or other device is made by which the location of buried treasure can be determined. Yet thousands of persons believe in the witching precess for finding water, and will continue to believe in it .-Capper's Weekly.

American Indians Healthy

There is little evidence to show what disease prevailed among the American Indians before the coming of the white people. The condition of the skeleten remains, the testimony of early observers and the present state of some of the tribes in thi, regard warrant the conclusion that on the whole the Indian race was a comparatively healthy one. The United States bureau of American ethnology thinks that tuberculosis was rare if it ever occurred at all among the pre-Columbian Indians.

Why Slump in Dancing Tennis and a general disgust with the gyrations of the new dances are blamed for a decided slump in the interest in dancing, say London teachers. They declare that parents in the exclusive West end are not permitting their children to learn the new steps. There has been formed a society, every member of which is pledged to dance only the fox trot. Instructors say that in summer this year tennis will have more devotees than dancing.

Why Indians Wore Feathers Feathers in the headgear of Indians were chiefly for ornamental purposes. Among the Indians on the Great Plains, according to the United States bureau of American ethnology, feathers in the hair indicated the individual's rank by their kind, number and manner of mounting. In some tribes the feathers represented the number of enemies the warrior had slain .-Exchange.

The nightingale sings at night to distract prowling enemies from the nest on the ground to himself perched safely in a tree.

Danger of Electric Irons.

One of the greatest conveniences derived from electricity is the electric iron, and it is the one most commonly used, though possibly few realize how dangerous it is as a cause of fire.

Out in Chicago a housewife receently left her electric iron for a moment without detaching the plug. Then something unexpected occurred, which kept her for a considerable length of time away from the room where the iron stood on a table-she completely forgot that the iron was still connected with the electric circuit. The iron, at length, became red hot, burned its way through the two-inch table, dropped to the floor, burned through that and tumbled down to the room below. There it set fire to the furniture. "The trail of the red hot iron," in this case, is an example of what a little act of carelessness can do to en-danger life and property. It pays to be careful when using electrical appliin fact, it pays to be careful

A Remarkable Radio.

There is a receiving set up in Lockport, N. Y., which certainly will arouse the envy of those fans with a bent for multi-tube receivers. There are fans with five-tube sets who hanker after one with eight, others with eight tube sets, others with ten, and so on.

The lure of many-tube sets is deadly. The receiver we have mentioned has no less than twenty-four tubes, certainly a number to conjure with when talking of radio sets. And when we say that this receiver brings in 2LO at London during the daytime consistently we can almost hear the hearts of the multi-tube fans quick-

The set was built by Wellington Muir, of Lockport, a radio research engineer, and it uses an antenna 600 feet long. It is with this receiver that WMAK at Buffalo picks up 2LO's program each afternoon and ebroadcasts them to its listeners-in. While the set has twenty-four tubes it contains only twelve stages, each stage using two tubes in parallel Twenty-two of them are ordinary 201 A's; the others are 120's, which are placed in the single audio stage.

Our Own Folks.

There are times in one's life when no matter how many persons may come into daily contact with, there are none to compare with folks actually becomes lonesome, at times, for brothers and sons; a woman for sisters and daughters. The old homely saying, "Blood is thicker than water," is true; for while we may knock around in the world, for years, with fine strength and independence, the time is sure to come, sooner or later, when we long for "our folks"-for our own family blood.

There is nothing finer, socially, than family reunions, or visits between parents and children, or between brothers and sisters. Large relation-Manchester Ref. Charge, Manchester—S.
