COST OF HIGH SCHOOLS IN THE STATE.

Average Salaries of Teachers and Cost of Pupils.

The following article clipped from last Sunday's Baltimore Sun, will be read with interest. The figures applying to elementary schools were published several weeks ago.

An increase of $17 in the average salary of high school teachers in the State last year is shown by a comparison with figures for 1926. Albert S. Cook, State Superintendent of Schools, said yesterday. He explained that the increase was due to a larger number of experienced teachers, whose salaries were raised accordingly.

The average salary in counties ranged from $1,333 in Wicomico, which has the lowest in the State, to $1,842 in Baltimore county. Half of the counties paid their high school teachers from $1,400 to $1,500 while eight paid more than $1,500 and four counties less than $1,400.

The average cost per white high school pupil in 1927, exclusive of general control, was slightly above $97, Mr. Cook reported.

The eight counties which pay the highest average salaries are Allegany, Frederick, Queen Anne's, Montgomery, Washington, Baltimore, Garrett and Charles, Mr. Cook said. The largest increase in salaries—$72 and $68—were in St. Mary's and Calvert, respectively. The salaries of principals in these counties were increased since high schools, which had been ranked in the second group, became first-group schools, Mr. Cook explained.

There were decreases of $104, $79 and $70, respectively, in the salaries of the teachers in Charles, Kent and Talbot counties.

The cost for each pupil in the counties ranged from $75 in Anne Arundel to $128 in Allegany and Carroll. Garrett and Queen Anne's spent more than $110 per pupil, while Washington, Charles, St. Mary's, Harford, Frederick and Wicomico spent less than $90 per pupil.

The largest increase in cost over 1926 occurred in St. Mary's, Allegany, Prince George's and Washington counties," Mr. Cook continued. "The largest decreases were in Anne Arundel, Kent and Queen Anne's."

An 18-cent decrease in expenditures for books and instruction materials in 1927, compared with 1926, was reported. The average expenditure for books and instruction materials last year was $6.68 for every high-school pupil. The maximum outlay was in Allegany, which spent $14.34 per pupil, while Queen Anne's expended only $2.32.

Toward the payment for books and other materials the State contributes $1 for each student.

Operation of schools last year, including cleaning and heating of the buildings, averaged $7.51 per pupil, an increase of 31 cents over 1926. The amounts expended varied from $2.91 in St. Mary's to $17.08 in Calvert. For repairs to high schools in the State last year an average of $3.62 per pupil was spent.

The average expenditure for auxiliary agencies, which include transportation, libraries and health work, was $5.51. The major part of this amount was spent for transportation.

Maryland Classis holds Special Meeting

An important special meeting of Maryland Classis of the Reformed Church, was held at Grace Church, Frederick, on Tuesday afternoon, March 6th. Practically the entire membership of Classis was present.

The Lineboro situation was reviewed, and inasmuch as, under the government of the Reformed Church, the Classis holds certain rights in all church property of the denomination, Classis took steps to safeguard its interests in the property rights of the congregation, and appointed a special committee, consisting of Revs. G. P. Bready, J. N. Garner, and Elder Levi Maus to represent Classis in the matter.

A new method of raising apportionment and benevolent monies was discussed at length. The proposed plan would give a larger voice to the local congregations in appointing amounts for benevolent purposes. The whole matter was finally tabled until the annual meeting of Classis, in May, when no doubt, it will be definitely disposed of.

Rev. George K. Ely, of Hyndman, Pa., presented a Certificate of Dismissal from Somerset Classis of the Pittsburgh Synod, and asked to be received as a member of Maryland Classis. A call, issued by the Mt. Pleasant Charge, in Frederick County, to Rev. Ely to become its pastor, was also presented. Classis granted Mr. Ely's request for membership in that body, confirmed the call, and arranged for Mr. Ely's installation as pastor of the Mt. Pleasant Charge at an early date. Revs. W. R. Hartzell, J. M. DeChant, and Elder Clifford G. Miller were constituted a committee to attend to the installation.

The officers of Classis are: Rev. Chalmers W. Walck, President; Rev. Guy P. Bready, Stated Clerk, and Elder H. M. Warrenfeltz, Treasurer.

When a newspaper invites a merchant to take space in its columns it is in the act of saying: "Come with me and I shall introduce you to my thousands of friends in this city, my daily companions who honor me with their confidence and to whose interest I devote my life."

MORE ABOUT 50 YEARS AGO

Some Important Omissions made in Last Week's Article.

Our little article last week, on Taneytown Fifty years ago, omitted a lot of people who were in business here then. We have since had our attention called to some, while others have come to our own mind. The following additions are therefore made; Lewis Elliot, father of Chas. A. Elliot operated a cigar factory in the building now owned by Miss Lou Reindollar; the Misses Root conducted a millinery business in the present Harry Fair building; "Betsey" Donnelly had a little cake and candy shop on Emmitsburg St., and Ezra K. Reaver was in the tailoring business.

Harry Kappes was a watchmaker for about a year, and during that time repaired an old town clock and placed it in the steeple of the Lutheran Church, with faces on three sides. He "made it go" for a while, but the job was not much of a success as the hours were struck on the bell in the steeple and the two occupations of the bell did not work well together, and the people became tired of paying for repairs. Joseph Gardner and Nathan Angell were tinsmiths. John Hildebrand, wheel-wright, and James Shildt blacksmith.

"Jim" Nickum was a cattle dealer and was a long-distance walker. The writer lived in town a year before he saw him, as he left town before day and came home after dark, as a rule. William Kehn was a plasterer; "Pat" Tully was a horse dealer in a small way; the hucksters were Adam Clark, George A. Shoemaker and Hezekiah Hawk, and "Nick" Fringer was the wood sawer.

Levi D. Reid, in addition to teaching school, was in partnership with Oscar E. Steiner in the job printing business, and in 1880 issued one copy of a paper called "The Occasional." In another article, we will give a reproduction of its contents.

Charles C. Currens was postmaster and harness maker, in the Miss Sarah Hahn dwelling on York St. Two lime kilns were operated in the town, one by T. H. Eckenrode north of the R. R. crossing, and one by Geo. A. Flickinger at the far end of the present Reindollar Co., coal dump.

The R. R. Agent was Mr. Burns, but Geo. W. Fox succeeded him in 1878. There were no "lodges" in the town at that time, a K. of P. lodge having disbanded a short while before, and public social gatherings were few, but dances held in the dining room of Crouse's hotel were frequent during the winter.

We have "Squire" Haugh's copy of Latrobe's Justices. He was a blacksmith by trade, but think he had retired both from the "squire" business and his trade, fifty years ago.

T. H. Eckenrode was the big business man of the town. As he not only conducted the general warehouse business, but was a large manufacturer of fertilizer, helped materially in the building up of the town, and owned most of the building sites in the eastern part of the town. He made the brick for the present A. C. Eckard building on the square, in the lot now owned by Mr. Lemmon.

Perhaps there were others active in the business affairs of the town who have been missed. At that time the surrounding neighborhood contained mechanics and workmen of various kinds, among whom may be mentioned; Isaiah Lambert, wagonmaker; the Fogle family, shoemakers; Uriah Royer and Jonas and Matthew Harner, carpenters; John M. Ott and Samuel Clingan, butchers, Peter Smith, roadmaker and local politician; William Classon, plasterer; John Baird, painter, and others.

We would like to publish a complete list of citizens living in town now, who lived here fifty years ago, if it wasn't for some of the ladies. David B. Shaum says he has counted twenty-three, in all, which must be very near correct—and that seems a very small number.

Navy Bill up to the House.

(For the Record.)

As submitted from the Committee to the House, the Naval Bill calls for 17 Cruisers, at an estimated cost of $17,000,000 each to be built in the next 3 years. The report of the House Naval Affairs Committee itself admits that the utility of the requested cruisers is offensive, rather than defensive. Our splendid Americans want nothing to do with an offensive war. Farmers, you whose taxes are beyond bearing now, write Congressman William P. Cole, Jr., The House, Washington, D. C.

Mothers, you who suffer untold heart break, plead with him to do all in his power to bring about the complete abandonment of this unfortunate program. We must not build up a wall of ill-will between our country and Great Britain and Japan. Let's insist that the next Naval Reduction Conference shall be directed by statesmen instead of Admirals. It's perfectly natural for our Navy friends, our shipbuilders, our Steel Corporations to push such programs. It's to their interests. But should we, the rank and file of our Great Nation, who have to pay for it all in taxes, and suffer hell when war is declared keep silent?

We are just starting (eight) 10,000-ton cruiser now that have been previously planned for. Write Mr. Cole again before he casts his vote. You who have not written, do so at once. We will be no use to wake up after the bill is a law, act now.

THE NEW WINDSOR W. C. T. U.

The problem is to make money first and then make it last.

WASHINGTON COUNTY PROTESTS TAXES.

Taxes Higher while Real Estate Values are Lower.

A mass-meeting of taxpayers and residents of Hagerstown and Washington County was held Thursday night to protest the tax assessment recently made for Washington county. The movement was based on the complaints that apply everywhere—increasing public expense, to be raised by taxation on decreased property values.

The leader in the movement was D. Webster Groh, a large property owner who presented a series of resolutions indicting especially the system that permits the State Tax Commission to fix assessments on property in the county.

Tax hearings by the Board of County Commissioners, for twenty-six districts of the county, have been under way for more than a month, and six county and five city districts remain to be heard. More than 100 complaints have been heard daily by the board since the hearings began.

"Farms in Washington county and elsewhere in the State are selling for less than half their former values," Mr. Groh said. "The Federal Farm Loan Board, by foreclosing its farm mortgage loans (of less than half each farm's estimated value) thereby took over nearly $17,000,000 worth of forfeited farm lands, while nearly $6,000,000 more is subject to similar foreclosures.

"Numerous vacant stores, residences, idle factories and unemployment all point to business depression," he said. "This always follows on the heels of overassessment and overtaxation.

"This general decline will go lower before another assessment is made and will work greater injury to the citizens and taxpayers of the city and county," he concluded.

A Frederick-countian on Taxation.

John D. Nicodemus, of Walkersville, contributed the following to the Frederick News, this week.

"Our whole method of state and county government has been modernized in the past forty or fifty years as witnessed by our county agents, county health officer, county or public nurse, free dental and baby clinics, county demonstrator, forester, a modern and exorbitantly expensive free school system, etc.; and yet our method of acquiring revenue for all these governmental frills is as ancient as the mountains that tower above our valley.

There are state and county officials, office holders, clerks, teachers, ministers, nurses, and day laborers whose incomes are greatly in excess of very, very many of our farms, and yet who are not paying one copper, or at least far from their just share of the expenses of our state and county government, whose protection of life and property, they are enjoying. If their pocketbooks are stolen it is not their sheriff, but the taxpayers' officers who endeavor to apprehend the thief. Roger Babson is authority for the statement that landholders pay three and a half times as much taxes, in proportion to their profits, as manufacturers and taxpayers in other occupations.

Since a boy I have heard the clergy declare from the pulpit that basic principle of ecclesiastic and political governments, as announced by the Great Teacher. "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's." Emphasizing the latter, it is now high time the former be stressed, until every one who enjoys the privileges of our government, render his or her just share to Caesar."

Goldsborough Sought for Senator.

Considerable pressure is being brought to bear on former Governor Philipps Lee Goldsborough, to become the Republican candidate for U. S. Senate, this fall. It is said that the opposition to him in the party is negligible, and that most of the old factional lines involving him have disappeared since his former activity in politics.

From the standpoint of qualifications, Mr. Goldsborough is unquestionably the outstanding leader in his party in the state. He is an eloquent public speaker, fully informed on the major portion of topics such as come before the Senate, and his previous experience in politics fits him not only to ably represent the state, but even to become a leader in the Senate.

He is president of the National Union Bank, of Baltimore, and in recent years has not sought political honors, but should he decide to run for the Senate, a lively campaign would result. He is regarded as a dry, while his most probable Democratic opponent, Senator Bruce, is an outspoken wet.

Spray Schedules Now Available.

Anyone interested in a Spray schedule for either peaches or apples and who has not received one should come to the County Agents office or write him immediately. The dormant spray for peaches should be put on now. County Agent Burns urges that all who are interested in growing fruit get a spray schedule which is recommended by your State University and Extension Service and use it in order to guard against the numerous evils incident to fruit growing.

ROAD SUPERVISORS APPOINTED

The County Commissioners Make Selections for One Year.

The County Commissioners of Carroll county have appointed the following road supervisors for one year: Taneytown district—No appointment.

Westminster district—Chas. Rickell. Hampstead district—Grant Leister.

Franklin district—Harry Barnes. Middleburg district—Edward Carbaugh.

New Windsor district—William Hesson.

Union Bridge district—John M. Buffington.

Mt. Airy district—Curvin C. Penn. Berrett district—W. A. Franklin and another to be appointed.

"Inside" Information for Women.

Some good main dishes for Lenten menus are: Omelets of all kinds; cheese soufflé and cheese toast; macaroni and cheese; goldenrod eggs; bean loaf; corn pudding; vegetable hash; corn fritters, fish—fresh, smoked or canned baked, fried, scalloped in chowder, crab, shrimp, scallops, clams and oysters in many dishes.

Here's a good menu made from materials nearly everyone can get: Roast stuffed shoulder of lamb, baked cabbage with apples, string beans (canned or fresh), currant jelly, canned pear salad, chocolate pie. With bread stuffing and pie for dessert no potatoes are needed, but if you are accustomed to having them, they can be boiled whole and browned with the meat.

Tin utensils need only be washed in hot soapy water, rinsed in clear hot water, and dried thoroughly. Don't scrape a tin saucepan, even if food sticks to it. Scraping exposes the iron or steel surface underneath, which may rust. If food has dried on the utensil, fill it with a weak solution, heat for a few minutes, and then wash.

When children say they do not like milk or eggs, they will often take them in other forms and not pay attention to the fact that they are eating the food they have objected to. Custards, of course, are made of both milk and eggs. Milk vegetable soups, white sauces served with other foods, and cocoa as a beverage, are all ways of hiding the milk the children need. Eggs in such desserts as whips, Spanish cream, soufflés, meringues and even in cake, are valuable additions to the diet and may be given in those ways when eggs are plentiful. Best of all, however, is the method of gradually showing the children why they need certain foods, and so persuading them to eat what is set before them.

Waxing or varnishing improves the appearance of linoleum and makes it last longer. Use wax on the inlaid and plain kinds, and varnish on the printed ones, for wax sometimes tends to soften the printed surface. If either of these finishes is applied, the linoleum is then cleaned and cared for like a wood floor so finished. If not given a special finish, linoleum should be swept with a soft brush, and dusted with an oiled or dry mop. Occasionally, it should be cleaned more thoroughly, with a cloth wrung out of suds made with lukewarm and neutral soap. Rinse the linoleum with clear water and dry with another cloth. Only a small space should be wet at a time. A linoleum covered floor should never be flooded. Strong soaps and cleaning powders that contain alkali injure linoleum and should never be used on it. Whenever any kind of cleaning powder is used on a very dirty spot, care should be taken to remove any trace of the water in which the powder was dissolved.

Wounded Colored Woman Dies.

Mrs. Viola Hill, colored, who was shot twice in her right side last November by her husband, Ray "Happy" Hill, after their return from a ball one night, died at her home near Union Bridge, Tuesday night from the effects of her wounds. She was rushed to a Baltimore hospital immediately after the shooting. One of the bullets injured her spine and she was paralyzed. She was removed from the hospital to her home three weeks ago. She was aged 29 years, 5 months and 5 days. Her husband is still at large, having never been captured by the authorities. He now faces a murder charge, and renewed efforts will be made to place him under arrest.

Defense Against Narcotics.

We ask those interested, or who may become interested, to read the article on our Editorial Page "Defense Against Narcotics." It is a topic about which we hear very little in the country, but it must be one of very serious interest nevertheless, and The Record will be glad to help the cause by receiving and accounting for contributions, the request being that they be published.

Sunday Law Upheld.

On Monday, in Baltimore, John G. Callan, Charles F. Mules, and Walter Steirhoff were found guilty by a jury for violating the Sunday laws by operating a moving picture show. Counsel for the accused have filed a request for a new trial.

The test was a result of an attempt by Mr. Callan, a member of the House of Delegates from the Second district, and the others to open a motion picture theatre on Sunday. Their arrest and indictment on various charges in connection with the opening followed.

Democratic Out of Debt.

The National Democratic Committee has completed raising $508,500 to clear the committee debt, and to leave a surplus. The subscriptions were from $50,000 downward, in addition to the $200,000 fund subscribed by the city of Houston.

BIG STATE SURPLUS IS NOW INDICATED.

Sum $901,145, above the Estimate of the Governor.

The surplus in the State Treasury for the year ending Dec. 31, 1927, was $2,626,818, or $901,145 more than the estimate made by the Governor, a sum equal to about 3 1/2 cents in the tax rate. There may therefore be tax reduction in 1930 and '31 budgets, or there may be additional objects found for which to spend the money.

The reasons for the increase are greater receipts from inheritance taxes, tax on gross receipts of corporations, collection of license fees, and from real and personal property largely in Baltimore City. While the big surplus is apparently something to be gratified over—rather than to have a report of a big deficit—there is nothing about it that encourages taxpayers to have rosy visions of a big decrease in taxes.

Proceedings of the Orphans' Court.

Monday, March 5, 1928.—Arnold V. Florh, received order to draw funds.

Harry J. Wilson, executor of Annie L. Heltbride, deceased, settled his second and final account.

Ivan L. Hoff, executor of Frederick Richter, deceased, reported sale of real estate on which the Court issued an order nisi.

Letters of administration with the will annexed on the estate of Noah Collins, deceased, were granted unto Gordon Linton.

Letters testamentary on the estate of Alice S. Englar, were granted unto Paul W. Englar, who received warrant to appraise personal property and order to notify creditors. This executor returned inventories personal property, current money and debts due and received order to sell bonds.

Virginia C. Tucker, executrix of Noah Collins, deceased, returned inventory property and renounced as executrix.

Henry G. Hood and Chester R. Hood, executors of William H. Hood, deceased, reported sale of real estate on which the Court issued an order nisi.

Frank R. Cassell executor of Lydia Cassell, deceased, settled his second and final account.

Herminia W. Stewart, executrix of Joseph J. Stewart, deceased, settled her first and final account and received order to transfer stocks.

Bessie B. Lockard, acting executrix of Hester A. R. Beaver, deceased, reported sale of real estate on which the Court issued an order nisi, and returned report sale of personal property.

Newspaper Helps Build Town.

A writer in a current magazine observes "if the newspaper is just a little better than its town, the latter is the gainer thereby."

"Towns and their newspapers usually lag or lead together" adds an exchange. Progressive journalism is the unfailing tonic of the lethargic community, but it is equally true that a lifeless newspaper can seriously retard the development of its community.

There is no better community asset than a home newspaper equal to the needs of the community. While a poor newspaper is better than none to the individual reader, that does not hold true for the town.

What can a good newspaper do for its community? It can serve as the town's messenger to the outside world. It must take the leadership in all community projects if they are to be successful. It is the infallible line of communication between local government and citizen. It is to the newspaper that all organizations turn for assistance in public welfare movements and without that assistance they face failure.

The newspaper reaps the reward of its initiative by sharing in the general improvement of business and community affairs it has been instrumental in bringing about. The good newspaper deems it a pleasure to serve its community and its readers and is fully aware that it is only through giving a full measure of service that it can progress and prosper.—Bemidji, Minnesota, Pioneer.

RUM AND UNEMPLOYMENT

Senator Bruce Says Liquor Would Aid in Solving Distress.

Maryland's Senator Bruce, who will be a candidate for re-election, in an address in the Senate, on Wednesday, openly advocated a return to the liquor traffic as a remedy for unemployment, and suggesting the replacement of the taxes and licenses on liquors to be applied to public revenues, as a means of reducing taxation on property that would have the effect of stimulating business.

Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, replied that it seemed curious to him that getting drunk would make industry for anybody but the policeman and jailer, and that as it is claimed that everybody is getting plenty of liquor, in spite of prohibition, asked what betterment to labor and industrial conditions could the open saloon give?

Senator Bruce replied that "we do not get it at as low a price as we used to, and do not get as good quality as if we get it lawfully." The discussion did not take a wide range, and was not regarded very seriously.

Free Trees for Roadside Planting.

The State Department of Forestry is offering free trees suitable for roadside planting to organizations and responsible individuals for the purpose of beautifying the highways. The conditions under which the trees are distributed are:

1—They must be planted within the right-of-way of an improved highway and on both sides of the road for a distance of not less than 1/4 mile.

2—The consent of the abutting property owners must be secured.

3—A reasonable assurance must be given that the trees will be taken care of after planting.

Trees are furnished f. o. b., State Nursery, College Park. Those applying for the trees pay transportation charges, plant them, and provide suitable guard stakes. A representative of the Department of Forestry will supervise the planting. Only white ash, green ash, black walnut, tulip poplar, yellow locust, sweet gum, and cypress are available. Applications will be filed in the order received and, as only a limited number of trees is available and the planting season is near at hand, prompt action is necessary.

Limit on Campaign Funds.

A resolution has been offered in the United States Senate, that would prohibit candidates for that body to spend more than $25,000 on their campaign. While public sentiment seems to demand a reasonable limit on such costs, yet the limit could not be the same for all states. It must cost far more for reasonable expenses to reach the voters in the big and populous states, than in the smaller ones.

Money spent in elections is as elusive as the wind that blows through the corn fields. A candidate might not spend a nickel himself, and yet his friends might distribute a million. They could see to it that he knew nothing about it. Meanwhile something could be done by defining the purposes for which money can be legitimately expended, and of course it might help some to fix a reasonable sum that could be used.—Frederick News.

Southern Drys Declare War.

The southern convention of the Anti-Saloon League, regardless of party affiliation, held a big convention in St. Petersburg, Florida, this week, and unanimously passed lengthy resolutions declaring that they would not support any candidate for the presidency with a wet record, even who may appear to make promises fair. The district represented included Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina and Virginia.

The following men are mentioned as unsatisfactory Butler, Wadsworth and Smith, of New York; Longworth, of Ohio, and Ritchie, of Maryland.

Presidential Primaries in 17 States.

The Presidential primaries will be held in 17 States. The first to hold a primary will be New Hampshire, March 6, 1928, followed by North Dakota, March 20; Michigan, April 2; Wisconsin, April 3; Illinois, April 10; Nebraska, April 10; Pennsylvania, April 24; Massachusetts, April 24; Ohio, April 24; California, May 1; Maryland, May 7; Indiana, May 8; New Jersey, May 15; Oregon, May 18; West Virginia, May 29; South Dakota May 22; and the last to hold a primary is Florida, June 5. The other States select their delegates in party convention or through party committee action.

The Unemployment Question.

Much stress is being laid upon unemployment just now, largely in a strained attempt to blame it on Coolidge prosperity, and on the benefits of prohibition. As an extreme hunt for argument, this is the limit, though it may sound well to the class of people who attempt to fit a condition to a need, on the chance that it may fool somebody.

There is more unemployment than usual, the only wonder being that it waited so long to show itself. There is unemployment because the extreme limit of the masses in this country has been reached—and more—to continue the paying of war time prices many years after the war has ended. It is remarkable how boosting and persuasion has kept up the peak of prices so long, and how people have been paying them.

Unemployment means less demand for manufactured goods, and it must be understood that this unemployment is solely in the cities. In the towns and open country all who want work can get it. Labor can be had at reasonable figures, and work continues.

Some of the folks who have added very largely since the war to their lists of necessities of life, may be due to curtail them; and some who have been living on Broadway, may have to move back to John Street, for it looks as though the question is being decided once more, that agricultural prosperity measures the prosperity of a country.

Largely, the farmers of the country have been keeping up war time prices by buying liberally at these prices. Farmers have been spending their war-time profits, and their money has been going to the cities. That it has been going in diminished volume, helps to tell the why of increased unemployment.

Again, presidential election year, as a rule, has been an "off" year for business for a long while. A great deal of business is timid, or extremely conservative. There are those who always dread a possible change in administrations as meaning something for which they are not prepared, or not adjusted to. Capital, especially, is apt to hold back until the battle of the ballots is over, and until "who's who" and "what's what" appears clearly.

There are hardly signs of any great "crash" of any sort; but there are signs in plenty that value levels are not right and must be made right. There can not continue immense profits in manufacturing and certain special activities, and low profits in the tremendous agricultural and small community sections. The two are dependent on each other, and must adjust themselves on something like fair remunerative relations with each other; and this we believe is the a b c of the present unemployment situation, and that it is going to adjust itself without great danger, in spite of the political liars.

Senator Reed.

The campaign of Senator Reed, of Missouri, for the Democratic nomination for the presidency, is quite interesting; indeed very interesting, for it may show whether he, or anybody, can head off the nomination of Gov. Smith of New York. Unquestionably Sen. Reed is making a determined stab at the honor. He is an intense Democrat, notwithstanding his record against President Wilson.

He is also wet enough likely to satisfy the wet element in his party, and his Senate Committee attacks against Vane, and Smith, of Illinois, ought to commend him as a party warrior of the first magnitude; and yet, all of this has not as yet enthusiastically demonstrated him to be a winner, and this he is now valiantly trying to do on his own account.

It is too early to count delegates where he must count them, if at all, and that is in the South, for the situation is as murky—or more so—in the Democratic ranks as in the Republican ranks; if we are to consider—as very many do—that Governor Smith can not possibly carry the South, either in the primaries, or at the general election.

To our way of thinking, no candidate on either side is going either to Kansas City, or to Houston, with the prize in his pocket needing only the formal ratification by the nominating convention. Both parties are worried by the prohibition question, and by what the militant dries may do especially should they be able to get together on a non-partisan basis.

But, the dries may overplay their hands by insisting that the greatest question before the country is prohibition enforcement, and sacrificing all else merely for the sake of backing a candidate who is dry all through, and not much else.

Defense Against Narcotics.

We have been asked by the Narcotic Defense Foundation—that is promoted and officered by such men as Senator Arthur Capper, Senator Reed Smoot, Cyrus H. K. Curtis, Richmond P. Hobson, William Randolph Hearst, Cardinal Dougherty, Bishop Stevens, and many others—to lend our columns, this week, to say that we will announce contributions to the Narcotic Defense Foundation whose objective is $5,000,000 by July 1st, when the next World Conference is to be held in London, the purpose of which, of course, is to fight the narcotic evil.

The letter accompanying the request contains the following paragraphs, among others.

From time to time in past history, the civilization of Europe was menaced by invading hordes from Asia and from Africa. While the menace was widespread, it was only continental and affected one group of the human race as against another group. At long intervals, in like manner a plague broke out that threatened the peoples of Europe, but at longest was only of a relatively short duration. Narcotic Drug addiction has now arisen up to menace permanently all the continents, the welfare of the people of today and the survival of generations unborn. The danger extends wherever commerce goes.

Addiction takes a stranglehold of its victims. While many methods have been found for getting the victim off the drug, the scientific world and the medical profession recognize no sure and permanent cure. Only a small percentage of morphine and opium addicts remain permanently off the drug, while the number of heroin addicts is practically negligible. So hopeless is the victim and so pitiless the master, that heroin addicts are termed "The Living Dead."

The human race is consuming every year many thousands of tons of poisonous narcotic drugs not 1% of which is necessary for strictly medicinal purposes. Nearly all of this great quantity is consumed by addicts who number in the world scores of millions who are abject slaves, who consider getting their drug supply as the supreme consideration, in many cases as a matter of life and death. Their masters, the narcotic drug traffic; own them body and soul, and capitalize their agonizing sufferings in a pitiless exploitation, returning fabulous profits, extending to the ends of the earth.

Narcotic Drug Addiction has become the overshadowing factor in crime, constituting the underlying cause of the crime wave and the new "banditry" that have spread over America and broken out in other parts of the world. The prisoners in Federal Penitentiaries convicted of violating narcotic laws are three times as many as those convicted for violating Prohibition laws. Most of the daylight robberies, daring hold-ups, cruel murders and similar crimes of violence are now known to be committed chiefly by drug addicts who constitute the primary cause of our alarming crime wave. More than one-third of all prisoners in Federal prisons are narcotic cases; more than one-half of all prisoners in turpitude cases in the prisons of New York City are addicts. The steep rise in insurance rates against robbery in recent years tells a tale. In America, crime every year is laying a burden upon our people estimated at more than $10,000,000,000. It is conservative to attribute fully one-third of this burden to narcotic drug addiction.

Congress and Farm Relief.

Congress is showing signs of a new effort to get the troublesome farm-relief problem out of the way. The House and Senate Agricultural Committees are speeding up agreement on a substitute for the McNary-Haugen bill which the President vetoed last year. All features of the old scheme which met with his disapproval have been eliminated with one exception—the equalization fee.

The retention of that provision, the one most strongly condemned in the veto message, is evidence of the "no-surrender" spirit of the farm bloc. However, it is to be well "covered up" in the proposed measure, under whose provisions two means of stabilizing farm prices would be available before the equalization fee would have to be resorted to. In the first place, farm co-operatives, backed by a Government revolving fund, would attempt to prevent glutting of the market at the harvest time.

If that failed, the Federal Farm Board would be authorized to buy up a part of the surplus crop and hold it for better prices. The President would have power to appoint the Farm

Board, by which, it is argued, he could pick members who would use the equalization fee only as the last resort. But the Administration is opposed to any plan in which this economically unsound provision appears. So long as it hangs on the deadlock persists.—Phila. Ledger.

Weather by No Means

Matter of Latitude

Weather is not a matter of latitude except so far as the equatorial regions and the poles are concerned. Such a temperature as ten below zero at sea level is much more devilish than thirty below in Minnesota, because the air at the seaboard is practically always moving and wind at so low a figure is torture. Again, such a temperature as 103 in the shade at Boston is less tolerable than a like or even higher figure in the wide-open spaces where men are men, and mostly politicians, talking through ten-gallon bats. New York is in the latitude of Lisbon, Naples and Constantinople. It is far colder in the winter than any of these, and colder than any part of Great Britain, which is in the latitude of Labrador. That country is not "warmed" by the Gulf stream, which is indistinguishable in point of heat half way across the Atlantic. Three-fourths of the possible points of the compass account for reasonably mild sea winds so far as Great Britain is concerned. In winter in New York more than half of the possible winter winds have come over thousands of miles of snow.—Barron's Financial Weekly.

Pictures for Benefit

of Future Historians

A collection of photographs, showing scenes from all the wars in which the United States has been engaged since 1800, has been placed on file in the War college, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. It comprises between 275,000 and 300,000 prints and includes important records of the Civil, Indian, Spanish-American and World wars. One of the most interesting of the entire collection is of the battlefield of Wounded Knee, scene of Custer's last stand, taken immediately after the battle. The Brady collection of the Civil war period, numbering about 6,000 photographs, is also filed. The World war section includes all pictures made by a signal corps, the army, the only British collection of World war pictures in this country and an Austrian section. Negotiations were made with the German government for approximately 1,200 pictures.

Payment of Alimony

Alimony is an old word. The first and oldest meaning of it is "maintenance; means of living; aliment." It comes from the Latin word meaning nourishment, as also does aliment and the first word in "alimentary canal." Basically, alimony means living expenses.

After legal divorce or separation of a wife from her husband, then, if she receives alimony it is an allowance from the income or estate of her husband for her sustenance or support. It is, in other words, a perpetuation or continuation of support from her husband or the man who was her husband, which, in the eyes of the law, is due the woman if the separation from her husband is for cause.

Knew What Ailed Him

"Mamma, I've got a stomach ache," said Peggy, aged five.

"That's because you haven't had any lunch yet," answered Peggy's mother. "Your stomach is empty. You would feel better if you had something in it."

That afternoon the minister called, and in the course of conversation remarked that he had been suffering all day with a severe headache.

"That's because it's empty," said Peggy brightly. "You'd feel better if you had something in it."—Children, the Magazine for Parents.

"Jerked" Beef

"Jerked" in the phrase "jerked beef or meat" is not the regular participial form of the verb "jerk." It is a corruption of the Peruvian Indian word "charqui." Jerked meat is meat that has been cut into thin sheets and strips and hung upon a framework of poles to dry in the wind and sun. This was a favorite method of curing buffalo meat among the Indians of the Great Plains. When the meat was fully "jerked" it was folded up and put into rawhide bags and kept for use in the winter.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Magoway

Bobby and Tom lived next door to each other. Bobby was outside riding his scooter when Tom came out doors.

"Did you see my ma go 'way?" he asked.

"No," answered Bobby, hesitatingly. Tom went on and Bobby ran into the house.

"Mother," he called, "what's a magoway?"

Could Leave Out Gumption

Winnie went to visit Aunt Lois. "Oh, auntie," said the child, "please make some cookies."

"Oh, I can't," replied Aunt Lois, "I haven't the gumption."

Winnie, after a few minutes' thought, retorted disgustedly: "Well, grandma doesn't need any gumption, she uses baking powder."—Children, the Magazine for Parents.

Saw Much Difference

in Log Structures

Cabin and log house are synonymous to most persons today, but in the early days of Ohio, when such structures were common for residence purposes, there was a nice distinction between the two, it is brought out in the journal of Thaddeus Mason Harris, a preacher of Dorchester, Mass., who, in search of health, traveled in the summer of 1803 from his home to Marietta, Ohio, and published a record of his travels. He wrote:

"The temporary buildings of the first settlers in the wilds are called cabins. They are built of unwhewn logs, the interstices between which are stopped with rails, caulked with moss or straw, and daubed with mud. The roof is covered with a sort of thin staves split out of oak or ash, about four feet long and five inches wide, fastened on by heavy poles being laid on them.

"If the logs are hewed; if the interstices be stopped with stone and neatly plastered, and the roof composed of shingles nicely laid on, it is called a log house.

"A log house has glass windows and a chimney; a cabin has commonly no window at all and only a hole at the top for the smoke to escape."—Kansas City Times.

Many Requisites for

Career of Medicine

Whoever is to acquire a competent knowledge of medicine ought to have the following advantages: a natural disposition; instruction; a favorable position for the study; early tuition; love of labor; leisure. First of all, a natural talent is required, for when Nature opposes, everything else is in vain; but when Nature leads the way to what is most excellent, instruction in the art takes place, which the student must appropriate to himself by reflection, early becoming a pupil in a place well adapted for instruction. He must also bring to the task a love of labor and perseverance, so that the instruction, taking root, may bring forth proper and abundant fruits.

Possessing these requisites to the study of medicine and having acquired a true knowledge of it, we shall thus in traveling through the cities be esteemed physicians not in name but in reality. But inexperience is a bad treasure . . . the nurse of timidity and audacity. For timidity betrays want of powers, and audacity a want of skill.—Hippocrates.

Totally Indifferent

He was a veteran actor, with an extremely indifferent outlook on life, appearing in a very good show but in a minor part.

"How's the play going?" asked a friend on meeting him.

"Pretty fair, I'm told," drawled the actor.

"What's it about?"

"For heaven's sake," exclaimed the friend, "surely you've seen the thing, you're in on it!"

"No," returned the veteran of the boards. "Several times after the first act I've thought of going round to the front to see what it was all about, but somehow I've never quite got there."

Pearl in Every Book

There are people, it seems, who value things in proportion to the price that is put on them; and because the Bible can be bought for a few pence, or a few shillings, pass it by as a common thing. "Why should we buy your cheap little books?" scornfully asked a man in Burma. The colporteur replied: "Yes, they are cheap, only two pence a copy, but I have seen the people of Ceylon buying oysters at one pence, in the hope of finding a pearl. And here—there is a pearl in every book." It was a happy answer, and the colporteur spoke better than he knew, for the pearl is the best symbol of beauty born of pain.—Montreal Herald.

Stone Baths

In Mexico and many of the Central American countries where the tropical heat makes the water in city mains too warm for pleasant bathing the people use a plan adopted hundreds of years ago in those regions. Bath-tubs are cut from solid rock near a natural spring of pure water, or fed by a stream through bamboo pipes. These stone baths are near the homes of most of the wealthy citizens, and all hotels have them attached to their buildings. Travelers from Northern countries find these cool baths very refreshing.

Normandy Justice

Ernest Dowson, poet of tragic memory, when living at a Normandy village, got into a fight with a local baker and was arrested. A deputation of villagers went to the magistrate and pointed out that M. Dowson was one of the most illustrious English poets.

"Quite right to remind me," said the magistrate, "I will imprison the baker, instead."

And he did.—Detroit News.

His Surprise

Little Audrey and her smaller cousin were playing in the garden when a clamor arose, and the lady went out to see what was wrong.

"Oh, mercy!" she cried as she entered the residence. "Audrey has cut her cousin almost to pieces with your razor!"

Her brother-in-law laughed heartily, because he had had no idea the razor was as sharp as that.—Kansas City Star.

Silas Knows

Asked which he would rather have, gold, or a check on our Bank, old Si Chestnut said: "Give me the check, by heck!"
Asked why, he said: "I might lose the gold, or a hold-up man might lift it, or some pick-pocket get in his work, in fact it could go in fire, flood or a hundred other ways, but if the same loss happened to a check, I would stop payment and get another check, but you can't replace gold." And Si is right. A check on our bank is better than gold or bills.

FEEBERSBURG.

February gave us 17 clear days, 11 cloudy and 1 was part clear and part cloudy.

The noon Lenten services from Keith's theatre, Washington, the past ten days, have been splendid. About 100 churches and 20 denominations representing the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of man.

Good attendance at Sunday School and Christian Endeavor at Mt. Union on Sunday morning, and interesting services. Rev. K. H. Earhart, of Gettysburg Seminary, will preach in the Lutheran churches of Uniontown Charge, in the near future.

Mrs. B. John and son, Jean, and Mrs. Washington Shaffer, were recent victims of the gripe. All better now.

Mrs. Ornie Hyde was called to the assistance of her cousin, Mrs. Hyder, in a Westminster, who recently suffered a bad fall.

L. K. Birely had a session with the dentist, while in Westminster, last Wednesday. Suffered some "setting up exercises" of the jaw.

Mrs. Cleon Wolfe spent Thursday and Friday of last week with her mother, Mrs. Samuel Gilbert, near Linwood. Took a cold with her and brought it along home, adding much to her discomfort over the week-end.

Bucher John motored to our Nation's Capital, last week. Had two days of sight-seeing, returning Wednesday night.

Frank Keefer and L. K. Birely attended the sale of Thos. R. Hesson, near Johnsville, on Friday.

Catherine Mackley, of Union Bridge and Julia Utermahlen, of Bark Hill, spent a recent Sunday with Maud Clabaugh. Callers at the same place were Frank Rentzel and Norval Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barr, accompanied by their pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Rutherford, of the Presbyterian Church, all of Waynesboro, Pa., made a short call at the Birely home, on Monday afternoon.

S. L. Johnson, of Tyrone, was calling on old friends in our village, last week.

George Humbert has sold his pretty home, in Middleburg, to John H. Bowman, and will vacate soon; planning to move to Littlestown, about April 1st. Sorry to lose our citizens in good and regular standing.

The Mt. Union carpenters have begun work on the new addition to Bostian's garage.

On Saturday, the well-borers packed their machinery, and departed from our town, having struck a good vein of water at the depth of 75-ft., for Joseph Bostian. The same workers reached water at the Littlefield home at 102-ft. below surface.

All aboard for the play to be given in Middleburg, Monday, March 12th., entitled "The Dutch Detective." Good performers are on the program, and a hearty laugh is promised. Members of the M. E. Sunday School are giving it for the benefit of their Church hall.

How about 4 hens averaging 9-lb. each in weight, and sold to huckster at one's own gate for $2.00? We can't help wondering when in the future the papers refer to the happenings of 25 years ago, whether this will then seem like a good price for home grown fowls.

UNIONTOWN.

Same Statue Used for Many Notables

Paris.—Statues with interchangeable heads, so long series of notables could be honored with the same monument, date back before the Christian era, say French archeologists. The recent proposal in Warsaw that such an arrangement would be economical, recalled to the French that their research workers in Greece discovered that such a system was used more than 2,000 years ago.

As the name of the temporarily famous person could be inscribed just under the head, it was possible to make a new head in the likeness of the new notable and put it on the old marble base, for as long as the notable needed to be honored.

happier

Every year strips us of at least one vain expectation, and teaches us to reckon some solid good in its stead. I never will believe that our youngest days are our happiest. What miserable augury for the progress of the race and the destination of the individual, if the more mature and enlightened state is the less happy one!

... All this to prove that we are happier than when we were seven years old, and that we shall be happier when we are forty than we are now, which I call a comfortable doctrine, and one worth trying to believe!—From "The Letters of George Eliot," Selected by R. Brimley Johnson.

Job of Headman Is Attraction to Many

Paris.—A deaf and dumb hairdresser is among many candidates for the job of executioner of France. The job, to their disappointment, isn't open, for Anatole Diebler, who inherited it, doesn't intend to resign. Besides the coiffeur, a boxer, a lawyer, three engineers, and a bridge builder have asked for the appointment as headman, a mechanical trade now, since the guillotine does the work.

Diebler, believing in heredity in office, but having no son, is meantime training his nephew to set up the "widow" as the machine is called, and to press the button that drops the triangular blade. He hopes thus to offer a well-trained man as his successor when the time comes for him to retire to the country and "plant his cabbages," the ambition of the French bourgeoisie.

Food for Birds Kept in Natural Storage

An English ornithologist found his way into the heart of the Ural mountains in the valley of the Petchora river, a writer in the Chicago Journal relates. Along the lower part of the river stretched the tundra, a dreary, uninhabited treeless swamp, covered with ice and snow. Nevertheless, he found that this unattractive spot was the summer home of almost half the bird population of the Old World.

The traveler reached the region in early April. Forests and tundra were as devoid of life as the desert of Sahara; but a change was near. Suddenly summer broke over the scene. Innumerable birds of all sizes and colors appeared within 48 hours.

The birds would starve if it were not for one thing. The perpetual sun of the Arctic summers causes plants to bear in wonderful profusion. Each year, when the berries are ripe and before the birds can gather many of them, the snow descends upon the tundra; it covers the crop and preserves it in perfect condition. Then comes the spring sun to melt the snow and uncover the bushes, loaded with ripened fruit, and the ground beneath covered with the fallen provender. The berries never decay beneath the snow.

ASK SCIENTISTS TO FIX STATE BOUNDARY

Maryland and Virginia Seek True Line of Potomac.

Washington.—Instead of following the usual course of employing lawyers, Maryland and Virginia have called in scientists to end their 260-year-old boundary dispute.

The boundary is described by law as the southern bank of the Potomac river from Harper's Ferry to its mouth at Smith's Point "without following indentations, bays, creeks, inlets or affluent rivers." At such points it follows a straight line, from low-water mark at the other.

That description was accepted in 1877, when the last of a series of compacts, the first of which was drawn up in 1668, was ratified by the state legislatures and congress. Its legality is not in dispute. The question is, What does it mean?

Resulted in Controversy.

Inability to produce a satisfactory answer has resulted on some violence and much controversy for the last 50 years. Jurisdiction over rich oyster beds and fine hunting grounds is involved.

Some months ago the problem reached a crisis. Interpretation of the legal description of the boundary was the problem set before the official geologists of the two states, Dr. Edward B. Mathews of Johns Hopkins university and Prof. Wilbur A. Nelson of the University of Virginia. They are now putting the finishing touches on their work, with the expectation of providing a scientifically exact definition which will leave no ground for further controversy.

To reach their conclusions they have had to determine by personal inspection the true course of the Potomac and the exact location of headlands, and to find out who drafted the 1877 compact by such loosely used words as "bay," which ordinarily means a body of water abutting on the ocean.

Must Go Back to 1877.

At some points, where headlands and other parts of the bank have been built out with sediment or washed back since 1877, they have had to determine just where the low water mark was 50 years ago by investigating the ground and comparing old and new coast and geodetic survey maps.

Legally, of course, no land or water is being taken from either state, but acceptance of the scientific interpretation of the boundary will bring several changes in the commonly circulated maps which will be in the nature of corrections. All, however, will be of slight extent, the geologists assert.

Marriage Fee Will Be

Based on Bride's Beauty

Linesville, Pa.—A sliding scale for marriage ceremonies is announced by N. B. Graham, who became justice of the peace here with the beginning of the new year. He has issued the following announcement:

"I will marry the first couple coming to me for a very nominal sum, compared with the regular charge. The scale will, of course, be sliding. The conditions are that the prettier the woman, the less the fee, and the homelier the man the greater sympathy for the woman. Consequently a good-looking couple, or a good-looking woman and a very homely man, may expect the minimum charge, which will be nothing.

"There should be some heart balm at the beginning of a married woman's life, providing she is tied to a homely man, and, if any of our business men witness a ceremony of this kind, I will insist on the witness making some substantial contribution toward the household equipment of the contracting couple."

Lustrous Pearls From

British Columbia Fish

Victoria, B. C.—A recent discovery made by American scientists gives promise of adding considerable revenue to the fisheries of British Columbia, one of the largest industries of the province, which already has an annual yield valued at over $25,000,000. These scientists have found that lustrous pearls can be made from an essence derived from the scales of herrings, which are very plentiful in the North Pacific off the coast of British Columbia.

Recently a plant was established at Nanaimo, B. C., for the manufacture of this essence with technical experts from New York in charge of the operation of the plant, which is equipped to handle 10,000 pounds of herrings' scales daily. The first shipment of the essence has been made to New York, where it is being converted into artificial pearls with, it is said, a luster that compares favorably with the hitherto incomparable product of the oyster.

True Love

New York.—True love laughs at oceans. Five Germans immigrated two years ago, got jobs and saved up. Five German girls arrived in this country recently and forthwith there was a quintuple wedding.

No Place for Bandits

Monmouth, Ill.—Bank robbers should "go through" this city without stopping. Seven four-man pistol teams have been organized.

Home's Garden Helps to Add Beauty to Community

A home without flowers does not measure up to most people's ideal. Your flower garden will be an attractive spot even in that bleak time before the seeds spring up if you mark the rows with brightly painted markers. Not only in the spring time but all summer long the markers will add bright spots to your garden and will make themselves useful by forming supports for vines and for straggling plants. These markers are the shapes of birds, flowers or animals, cut from wood and fastened to the ends of sticks. You can buy them ready made, but you can make them yourself if you care to take the time.

The materials will cost very little. You may have something on hand that will do. You will need the wood from which to cut the shapes, little poles or sticks on which to fasten the shapes and paint or waterproof enamel in several colors. You should have a little bracket or coping saw and two small paint brushes of different sizes; a cheap water color brush is just the thing for fine work.

The simplest way to make a pattern for a shape, if you are not handy at drawing, is to trace it from a picture.

Hunt through bird books, nature books or children's books for pictures of birds about life size and for pictures of rabbits and squirrels smaller than life size. Lay a piece of tissue paper over the picture, mark around the shape of the bird or animal, then trim the shape from the paper and mark around it on a piece of thin wood.

Cut and shape with a coping saw. It could be whittled out with a pocket knife, but this would take much longer. It is often convenient to include a part of a branch on which the bird stands. Cut around the little branch, but do not cut out the wood from between the bird's feet.

The length of the pole or stick on which to fasten the shape varies greatly, depending chiefly on the use to which the marker is to be put. The most common size is two feet. If the marker is to be used as a support for vines or for tall plants it may have a much longer pole and perhaps cross pieces along it for the plants to cling to; but if the marker is to be used only to mark the rows the stick may vary from two feet to only long enough to be stuck into the ground. Fasten the shape of the bird or animal to the upper end of the stick with two small nails or screws.

Ancient Bones Found in English Village

Rainham, England.—The importance of Great Britain as a field for further archeological survey has been borne out by several important discoveries made by workmen during excavations here.

Bones which are believed to have belonged to two ancient Britons who were buried at about the time of Julius Caesar's invasion were found in a stone coffin which was unearthed two feet beneath the surface.

The coffin was hewed from a solid block, while the lid was composed of two large stone slabs and several smaller stones. Fragments of bone were found inside.

A quantity of rubbish was also found inside the coffin, but one interesting discovery was a horn drinking vessel. Two clay pots, one almost spherical and without ornamentation, and the other about five inches high and bearing traces of crude design, constituted the remainder of the discoveries.

The finds are expected to be turned over to experts of the British museum for thorough examination.

No Use for Soft Couches

It was natural, on account of the rigors of climate, that interest in sleeping arrangements should be pronounced in northern countries. Surely no southern race evolved the feather bed. Among the humble Saxons folk, writes Estelle H. Rieg, in the Mentor Magazine beds were simple sacks filled with straw and laid on benches or chests. This use of straw continued for centuries, even on the beds of kings. The covers were usually the skins of wild beasts. It must be said, however, that these robust people had a certain contempt for a soft couch, so that often their choice of a hard one was voluntary.

Still in the Making

It takes patience and wise forecast to make one satisfied with the slow development of things in the world. So much is in the making. The present output may seem imperfect and uncouth, but wait; after a while the finished product, and it will please us much. It was on this account that a Scottish artist once said: "I never let bairns or fools see my pictures till they are done." It takes a mature mind to get along with immature things.

WHY

Men and Women First Donned Garments

How came people to wear clothes? Was it because of modesty? Or immodesty, to make the body more mysterious and alluring? Or for adornment, or for protection from the elements? Each of these theories has been advanced. Now Dr. Knight Dunlap, professor of psychology in Johns Hopkins university, offers a new explanation, notes Popular Science Monthly. Primitive men and women first took to clothes, he says, to ward off flies and similar pests.

"Crawling and flying pests are with primitive man abundantly and very intimately," he says. "The most efficient protection is afforded by hanging strings, leaves, animals' tails, and similar articles that flap with the movement of the wearer. The fly protections used on domestic animals are exactly of the types of primitive human clothing which have baffled the anthropologists.

"Clothing itself is neither modest nor immodest," he added. "Any degree of clothing, as well as nudity, is perfectly modest when we become used to it."

Why Hearing Apparatus Varies in Many Ways

The hearing apparatus of animals is like that of human beings, but modified to suit the conditions of the animal's life. Deer, hares and horses, like all animals whose life necessities taken hearing, have ears shaped and set in the best way to catch faint or far-off sounds. The snake has no eardrums. The ear of the fish is a membranous labyrinth connected with the bladder by a series of little bones.

Though the sense of hearing is perfect only in the higher animals, even the animals that have no ears perceive sounds. Instead of ears they are supplied with fine nerves whose function is to note and to respond to every touch; nerves whose receiving centers are different from the centers of the purely tactile impressions. All animals, including insects, have an apparatus which enables them to distinguish the approach of an enemy.

Why Called Marines

The word "marine" is derived from the old French word "marin," meaning "sea soldier." The United States Marine corps is an independent branch of the military service, and, though under the direction of the Navy department, may be detailed by order of the President for service with the army. The duties assigned to the Marine corps are to garrison the navy yards and naval stations and the defenses erected for their protection; to furnish to all battleships and cruisers and other vessels, when necessary, a detachment for guard duty and also to assist in the handling of the ships' guns. A mobile force is also always held in readiness at the Marine barracks as the first line for foreign service when the occasion may arise.

Why Termed Slush Fund

A slush fund is a political campaign fund collected for the purpose of influencing public opinion by improper means. The term originated in the British navy. It was formerly customary on war vessels to sell slush and other refuse in the ships in order to raise a fund to pay for small luxuries and pleasure of the men, relates Pathfinder Magazine. Slush is a soft mixture of grease and other materials used for lubrication and protection of wood, especially masts and spars. In time the term "slush fund" came to be applied to a fund obtained by selling all worn-out equipment and kitchen refuse from a military camp or war vessel. The political application of the term is quite recent.

Why Toad Swallows Skin

It is a well-known fact that the common toad molts or sheds its outer skin several times a year. The skin is swallowed by the toad after it is sloughed. What part this peculiar phenomenon plays in the economy of nature is somewhat of a mystery. The United States biological survey thinks the swallowing of the skin is merely incidental to shedding. Toads, says that authority, are rather clumsy in their actions and movements; apparently they swallow the sloughed skin in their efforts to free themselves from the incumbrance.

Why Ship Reaches Bottom

If an object heavier than water is dropped into deep water it will go on down. The question is brought up after nearly every shipwreck and was the subject of much discussion in 1912, after the Titanic was sunk. The views of physicists seem to confirm the experience of marine explorers that there is no ground for the belief that objects heavier than water are held in suspense at a definite pressure level or floor.

Why Birds Nest in North

It is not known for certain why birds go north to nest, but it is supposed by some scientists that birds originated in the Arctic regions when these regions were tropical in climate and that the going north each year is merely a hangover instinct.

Why Hair Is White

Hair goes white, according to scientists, because the white corpuscles in the blood eat up the pigments which color the hair. This often has a good effect, as the system is relieved of the work of making the pigments.

JESUS FEEDS THE MULTITUDE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 6:31-44.
GOLDEN TEXT—I am the bread of life; he that cometh to Me shall never hunger, and he that believeth on Me shall never thirst.
PRIMARY TOPIC—An Unusual Meal.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Hungry Crowd Fed.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Meeting Every-Day Needs.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus' Compassion for Human Need.

I. Jesus' Invitation to the Weary Disciples (vv. 31, 32).

The apostles had just returned from an evangelistic tour in Galilee with a report of what they had done and taught. Their ministry occasioned no little stir. Besides, Jesus Himself continued to preach. As a result of their combined ministry, the commotion was so great that there was no opportunity for resting or eating. In such a time of need Jesus invited His disciples to retire from the crowd and rest. In order to do this they departed privately by ship for a desert place. Periods of withdrawal from the crowd in fellowship with the Lord are necessary after evangelistic campaigns. They serve a double purpose.

1. To get the eyes of the ministers off themselves and their work.

2. To prevent dependency for their failures.

II. Jesus Teaching the Ignorant Multitude (vv. 33, 34).

1. Thronged by the people (v. 33).
The wonderful words and works of the Lord and His disciples brought the multitudes to them. To escape the throng they took their departure for a desert place (v. 32). Seeing the Lord and His disciples depart, the people from the surrounding cities anticipated their landing place, and, proceeding thither, welcomed the ship upon its arrival.

2. The Lord moved with compassion (v. 34).

Instead of becoming irritated by the intrusion of the crowd His heart was moved with pity. His personal interests were forgotten as the needs of the shepherdless sheep pressed upon His notice, therefore He began to teach them many things. Jesus is now the same compassionate Savior, touched with the feelings of our infirmities (Heb. 4:15).

III. Jesus Feeding the Hungry Multitude (vv. 35-44).

1. Conference with the disciples (vv. 35-38).

(1) The disciples request that the multitude be sent to the surrounding villages to buy bread (v. 36). According to Matthew, Christ made the proposition that the multitude be fed (Matt. 14:16). (2) Jesus commands them to feed the multitude (v. 37). (3) The disciples' perplexity (v. 37). They began to calculate as to the amount of provisions required. They asked the Lord whether they should go and buy two hundred pennyworth of bread. Their perplexity was due to the fact that they were depending upon their own resources instead of Christ. To be face to face with the humanly impossible has a threefold benefit. (a) It makes us realize our dependence upon Christ; (b) Drives us to Him for help in our need; (c) Leads us to give Him the glory for the results. Though our ability to touch, preach or to give, be meager, when coupled with the Lord's ability, it is equal to any demand.

2. Jesus' method in feeding the multitudes (vv. 39-44).
(1) The Lord's part. This was to issue instructions as to the method of procedure and to create the provision. Though they had but five loaves and two fishes He so increased them that the need of the hungry multitude was met.

(2) The disciples' part. They were to have the people sit down in companies so as to facilitate distribution. They then took that which the Master had blessed and distributed it to the people. The disciples' responsibility was not for the creation of the provision, but for its distribution to the people. (3) The people's part. Their part was not to create, nor distribute, but obediently to sit down and partake of the provision. Even after the bread had been blessed by the Lord and distributed by the disciples, they would have famished with hunger had they not partaken of the food. Unless the people receive Jesus Christ and the salvation which He has provided they shall eternally starve. The Lord has done His part. The disciples are under solemn obligation to do their part and the final responsibility rests upon the people.

Obedience

Obedience is the secret. Not slavish obedience, but sympathetic, loving, eager obedience. May the law of holiness be to me welcome as the light, sweet as the flowers, more to be desired than much fine gold!—W. L. Watkinson

Secluded Garden Spot

Bound Up With Home

Fashion has decreed that fences, walls and every other barrier or boundary be abolished in landscaping a home. An appearance of spaciousness is created which is desirable in any and every city to take away that being-crowded feeling. However, the majority of the people are loath to give up their gardens, their favorite spot shielded from the eyes of the public, where they may retire to commune with their own thoughts; something which every one of us at one time or another have wanted to do and probably have done.

All who can possibly provide such a spot, should have one. One must not necessarily be a recluse to desire peace and solitude occasionally, and at such a time a shady, flower-laden spot, shielded from the public eye, the air filled with the fragrance of the blossoms, where one might sit and dream to heart's content or read one's favorite book at leisure and without disturbance, is oh, so heavenly.

It need not be necessary to enclose the entire property, just a small corner is sufficient. As an enclosure for a spot such as this no matter how small or how large, there is nothing that is more pleasing and attractive than a living hedge, or for any situation that requires enclosing, lawns, terraces, gardens, yards, etc. A lawn hedge is permanent, once it is established, and only a little shearing and pruning is required thereafter to make it very neat and trim. There is scarcely any other improvement which may be put upon a piece of property to increase its value and beauty more.—Detroit News.

Outside Shutters Add to Home's Appearance

It is frequently the case that when the home is first built necessarily stringent financial limitations prevent the incorporation of many features or embellishments which later can add much to the livability and attractiveness of the house.

An embellishment of this sort which may seem, offhand, nonimportant, is that of outside blinds or shutters, nowadays more useful for their addition to architectural balance and interest than for their original purpose of protection from storms.

The architectural type which best lends itself to the addition of the shutter is the colonial, but if proportion permits, shutters are quite as appropriate on any modern adaptation of design.

The colonial shutters may be of either the louver type or the solid blind or batten construction, usually pierced with some sort of characteristic design. Diamond, crescent, pine tree, candlestick and many other designs symbolic of the colonial era are popular and appropriate, but an individual design is probably best. Thus, one householder has pierced his shutters with the outline of a sloop, as he is a yachting enthusiast.

Proper City Planning

Individual students, familiar with the subject in all its phases, assert that city planning is hampered and seriously menaced by politics of a certain sort. Too many inferior aldermen, after voting zoning ordinances, or professing to favor them, pass orders in violation of the plan. Where favoritism and discrimination thrive, such orders threaten to nullify the zoning system. They create distrust and dislike of it. Chicago, for example, has known of instances where aldermen, by obtaining special orders out of harmony with the zoning ordinance, provided themselves with a source of private revenue.

Equitable city planning presupposes clean, capable, honest municipal administration.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Tourist Camps

The economic value of the tourist and the effect of the itinerant population upon communities are being studied by the United States Chamber of Commerce through a survey now under way. Many communities have spent large amounts for such "tourist bait" as automobile camps, parks and roads, but while it is believed they make a profit, it never has been determined.

Stop Leaks at Once

A leak once started often will baffle the best of repair men. It keeps getting worse. By and by a large area has to be stripped and reshelved to prevent the leakage that in itself may not cover one square foot. Stopping one leak counts for little, as new ones start operations without warning. Cheap shingles are expensive.

Clay Coping a Protection

Vitrified salt-glazed clay wall coping will enduringly protect any type of masonry or concrete wall from the effects of erosion at the top. It is inexpensive and easily available in various widths.

Money Well Spent

To make a town, big or little, beautiful, it is necessary to spend money. But why not spend money on that, if it's interesting?

HOW

DECAY OF WOOD CAN BE ARRESTED FOR A PERIOD.

Preservatives against decay are injected into wooden poles with an apparatus like a hypodermic needle on a huge scale, by a recently patented German process. Rows of holes are made all around the pole in the zone exposed to rotting, and appropriate chemicals in paste form are forced into them through hollow tubes. The preservative then spreads along the grain of the wood, the area around each injection overlapping that around its neighbors and forming a complete protective sheath. The inventor claims several advantages for his process. Inasmuch as the apparatus is compact and easily portable, poles can be treated where they are to be set, instead of having to be assembled at permanently located treating tanks and then shipped out again. One or two men can do all the work, instead of the larger gangs now needed. Untreated posts already erected can be treated without pulling them up and resetting them. A saving in material is also claimed. The creosoting processes now used treat either the whole pole, or at least the whole underground part of it, to the same depth. This is said to be unnecessary, because the maximum decay takes place at the ground level and for a couple of feet below it, the butt of the pole being usually little more rotted than the top. By the new process, it is possible to give the rapidly decaying zone a heavy dose of the preservative and then give the rest of the pole a lighter treatment.

How Many Men Select Church They Attend

A few years ago, back on his New England farm, the deacon had said to me: "Many a man is, not only willing, he's really anxious to have his wife go regularly to any sort of church. He has a kind of unworried feeling that in case her system of theology happened to be the right one, then there's one member of the family O. K. Besides, it comes natural to any nice man to carry his claim on the future in his wife's name."

"A lot of men go to church with their wives," I had suggested.

"Sure enough," said the deacon. "But which one of 'em chooses the church?"

"No," he added, reflectively, "not many men do as much thinking when they choose a church as when they decide between the Rotary and the Kiwanis. And they'd rather not join any church that compels rationation! When something exciting happens that sets people to thinking inside a church the membership falls off."—Burgess Johnson in the North American Review.

How Foolscap Originated

Charles I of England, in order to increase his revenue, sold certain privileges amounting to monopolies, and among these was the manufacture of paper, exclusive rights of which were sold to certain parties who enriched themselves and the government at the public expense. At that time all English paper bore the royal arms in water marks. When the government was finally overthrown, parliament under Oliver Cromwell made sport of this law in every possible manner, and among the other indignities to the royal memory it was ordered that a fool's cap and bells should be substituted as a water mark on English paper in place of the royal arms. This was later changed, but the paper, the size of parliamentary journals, 17 by 14 inches, still retains the name foolscap.

How Sand Dunes Form

The sand dunes along the shore of Lake Michigan are formed by the wind. A stiff breeze blowing along the beach carries some sand with it. It meets some obstacle, a piece of driftwood or, perhaps, merely a tuft of grass. Some of the sand is deposited and a tiny dune is formed. More and more sand is added, until a large mound is formed, sometimes rising to a height of 300 feet. The wind not only builds up dunes but tears them down, so that the sand dunes are constantly changing in form and position.

How Time Is Expressed

In expressions of time M. stands for meridian, which is derived from a Latin word meaning pertaining to noon. A. stands for ante, a prefix from the Latin denoting before as to position, order or time. P. stands for post, a Latin word meaning after, or later, in time. Thus a. m. means before noon and p. m. means after noon.

How to Tell Poison Bottle

How Air Affects Trees

Physical changes in the air are reflected in the lives of the trees, says Nature Magazine. Warm air stimulates growth; cold air checks it.

How to Seal Bottle

New York.—Poor Harriet Kallen. Her life is to be just one psychologist after another.

They are going to study her every gurgle, make notes on her first laughter, catalogue her first curiosity, analyze her moods and go into conference when she cries.

They want to know why she wiggles her toes and they hope to find out what makes her put her fist in her mouth.

Harriet doesn't know that she is to be the object of such close observation for the sake of science, for she is only six weeks old.

The reason for all this is that Harriet's family is just naturally interested in psychology. Her father, Dr. Horace M. Kallen, is a lecturer on philosophy and esthetics and has been on the faculty of Princeton, Harvard and the University of Wisconsin. He is a disciple of William James and has written books.

The child's mother is the head of the Hamilton Grange school of New York.

The mother will specialize in the child's laughter; her father in her curiosity. Other scientists have been called in to divide the rest of the work.

Prof. John B. Watson will study the emotions and Prof. Edward B. Holt will devote himself to the physiological aspects of the case. He will watch the nerves and motor reactions and study the facial changes.

Brunettes Score First

New York.—The love of blonds and brunettes is under scientific comparison. Preliminary tests have indicated to Dr. William M. Marston, professor of psychology at Columbia, that brunettes are more responsive.

Name of Sing Sing

The name of Sing Sing prison and also the name of the adjacent village, Ossining, are derived from an Indian name meaning "place of stone." Until 1901 the village had the name of Sing Sing, but the residents objected to the association with the name of the prison and after several attempts succeeded in changing it. The village of Sing Sing was incorporated in 1813, 12 years before the prison was established there.

Never a car so Beautiful... and Never a car so Good

Today's Buick brings to its owners a higher degree of beauty than any other car in the Buick field has ever offered.

Accompanying this beauty—and giving it real meaning—is the superlative goodness and reliability of Buick engineering.

See Buick—drive it—compare it with others—and you'll agree there was never a car so beautiful and never a car so good!

Children's Suppers

GROWN-UPS "sit by the fire and spin" in cold weather. Perhaps some of them don't even know this is sled-time. There are swell coasting places where you can whizz down a mile-a-minute, but it takes a year to tug the old sled up again. A peach of a snowman can be made, too, if the snow is the "packing" kind—snow-ball sort—but it takes a lot of heavy pushing when his body gets as big as you are.

These out-door sports in the winter's gale require husky bodies—they build up husky appetites. Whether the child is of pre-school age and eats his hearty meal at noon, or whether he eats a school-lunch and his hearty meal in the evening, he needs a supper to satisfy that sled-time appetite. It must be nourishing, but also it must be easily digested so that when Ole-

Luk-Oie comes around with his bag of dreams, he'll have a pleasant one for the little fellow. Here is a suggestion:

A Model Menu

Cream of Tomato Soup
Toasted Whole Wheat Fingers
Butter
Well-baked Potato
Spinach Nest with Baked Egg
Fruit Tapioca
Vanilla Wafers

Spinach Nest with Egg: Place one cup canned or cooked spinach in bottom of individual baking dishes. Break six eggs carefully so as not to break yolks. Place egg on top of each spinach nest. Cover nests with cream sauce and place in hot oven for five minutes. Serve immediately.

Goats Replace Dogs in Laboratory Work

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—Resourcefulness is as necessary in the scientific laboratory as it is in industry.

Dogs are among the most valuable animals for laboratory study in the medical sciences. In the South, however, they are difficult to obtain. Regardless of their lack of any sort of a dignified pedigree, hardly anybody is willing to part with them, even for a good price, in the interest of training physicians and surgeons to alleviate the ills of human beings.

No such sentimental feeling, however, attaches to goats. And they abound in the South. So Dr. George T. Pack of the University of Alabama medical school has turned to these mammals for experimental work in surgery and pathology, finding them valuable substitutes for dogs and much less expensive. They are not only as easy to handle as dogs, he has learned, but they stand operations well and their reactions in certain pathological experiments are satisfactory.

Give Average Costs
Average cost of single houses in 1926 is estimated at $3,512, according to statistics compiled by Building Age which covers construction operations throughout the country. Average cost of double houses was placed at $7,818, and multi-family houses at $45,030.

Horse Should Live to 28, Man to 147.

Newark, N. J.—In the animal kingdom, the biological engineers have it the span of life usually is seven times the period of growth. For instance, the life of a horse is 28 years, seven times the period of growth, and the span of the chicken, 49 months, figures out the same way.

Man matures in 21 years, and seven times that is just short of 150. We should live that long, but don't. Why? Disease, explained Dr. Roy Schaffer, a lecturer, before the Woman's club of Glen Ridge.

"If you go back in history, we find that the average life of the Romans was 18 years. This meant some neglect from the time of birth to death. The average life in America in 1800 was 32 years, in 1900, 45 years, and 57 1/2 years in 1926. In a little more than a century we have almost doubled the expectation of life by taking proper care of our children," he said.

"New York doctors have determined to eradicate diphtheria by 1930, and you can help to do this by using the Schick and other tests. Take an interest in the reports from your school medical inspectors; analyze them and do not pass snap judgment on them. In these ways your organization can make great progress in furthering civilization. A stronger spark of life will be passed on to our children and our boys and girls may live 150 happy years."

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fires, important happenings, visits to or from the community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

Miss Margaret Shreeve, of Steelton, Pa., spent the week-end with her home folks here.

Mrs. Nathaniel Feeser who has been ill for quite a long while, is reported to be improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Stover and daughter, spent last Wednesday with Mrs. Henrietta Koontz, at York.

Rosalie, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Reaver, who had been ill with scarlet fever, is improving.

H. Clay Englar and daughter, of Redondo Beach, Cal., are planning to visit their home folks here, in June.

Mrs. John Marker returned to her home last Friday, after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. Merwyn C. Fuss and family.

Mrs. Luther Sentz, of near town, was a recent guest at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edw. Bair, at Littlestown.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Myers and daughter, of Littlestown, visited the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Myers, near town, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Baumgardner and daughter, spent Sunday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Baumgardner and family, at Keysville.

Mrs. Clea Phillips, Miss Margaret Stonesifer and Mr. Walter Stonesifer, of near Uniontown, spent Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Carbaugh.

Mrs. Charles Carbaugh, of Trevanion, was operated on at the Maryland University Hospital, Baltimore, on Monday for gall stones and is getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Miller have been unable to secure a suitable home, in Wrightsville, and for the present are boarding at Hotel Bittner, across the river in Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hilterbrick and family, of near town, visited Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weishaar, at Union Bridge, on Sunday. Mr. Weishaar who had been very ill is somewhat improved.

Harry G. Lambert, Jr., of near town, was taken to the Anna Warner Hospital, at Gettysburg, on Tuesday, due to loss of blood from having teeth extracted, and returned home on Wednesday.

Those who spent Sunday at the home of Ernest Hyser and family, were: Mr. and Mrs. Jos. C. Ridinger, of Smithburg, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Mummert and family, of Littlestown, called at the same place.

Miss Percy Adelaide Shriver spent the week-end with her father, P. H. Shriver. Miss Shriver spent Saturday in Westminster visiting Mr. and Mrs. John L. Reifsnider, Jr. and family.

Jere J. Overholtzer has purchased the Edward M. Wantz property, on George St., and will remove to it shortly, when the Wantz family removes to their recently purchased home near Pleasant Valley.

Miss Helen Stover, of near town, Mrs. Sarah Albaugh, Clarence Albaugh and Samuel Overholtzer and daughter, Alice, all of New Midway, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Overholtzer, Jr., at Waynesboro, Pa.

Arthur P. Black, of Washington, D. C., Secretary of the Laymen's Movement of the United Lutheran Church, will deliver the last in the series of monthly mid-week lectures in the Lutheran Church, Wednesday night of next week.

Those entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grayson Eyer, last Thursday evening, were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hilterbrick and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Shank and family. At a late hour refreshments were served.

The Waynesboro baseball team is reported to be likely to quit the Blue Ridge League, on account of lack of financial support, and it is said that the franchise is likely to be surrendered. Here may be a chance for Taneytown to fill the vacancy!

Auctioneer J. N. O. Smith reports that sale prices, so far, have been excellent, and that there is more life and interest taken than for several years past. He also says that quite a number of sales have been recalled, by persons who had intended to quit farming but changed their mind. All of which shows that farming as an occupation, is becoming more highly regarded, and farms more in demand.

Clifford Ott, who has been ill with pneumonia, is improving.

Thursday, a garden-making day. This Friday morning, the heaviest snow of the winter.

Mrs. Isamiah Hawk who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Asbury Fuss, at Emmitsburg, returned home Wednesday.

Mrs. Harold Mehning delightfully entertained at "500" Monday evening. Twenty-four invited guests were present.

Mrs. Minerva Harman will leave on Saturday for an extended stay with Mr. and Mrs. Dan. Bowersox, at Carlisle, Pa.

Mrs. Fern Hitchcock, of York, who has been ill at the home of her parents for about a week, is reported somewhat better.

Mrs. Carroll Hess entertained her Teachers' Training Class, at the home of Miss Leah Catherine Reindoller, last Friday evening.

Miss Mary Hesson gave a very delightful bridge luncheon, Wednesday afternoon, from 1 to 6 o'clock. A delicious luncheon was served.

Joseph Elliot is reported to have bought the Phillips lot on the alley in the rear of the Lutheran Church, and will build a block of garages on it.

The officers of the County Firemen's Association will pay the local company a visit, Monday night, and a full meeting of the members is desired.

Mrs. Andrew Bigham and son, of New Oxford, Pa., spent several days this week at the home of Mrs. Bigham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norval Shoemaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Knight, of Baltimore, spent last Sunday, with Mrs. Knight's mother, Mrs. A. H. Bankard, who is sick at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Wilt.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Galt Mish and daughter, and Mrs. G. Wallace Hanger, of Washington, D. C., spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Margaret Stott and Miss Anna Galt.

It might be a wise act for the town officials to offer $1.00 a head reward for every pole-cat killed in the town. Unless something is soon done to relieve the nuisance, the citizens may have to abandon their homes and move away.

John W. Frock, living on Roy Derr's farm, near Keysville, was badly gored by a bull, on Thursday. While preparing to do some dehorning, the bull suddenly turned on Mr. Frock and horned him in the abdomen. He was taken to Frederick Hospital in a serious condition. We have not been able to secure any further particulars at the time of going to press.

LAST PAGE EDITORIAL.

Our Needs and Our Wants.

The soldier is given everything he needs; the citizen buys the things he has learned to want. In these words we have a big sermon, because we have the difference between economical necessity and lavish luxury; between thrift and thriftlessness; between moderation and intemperance. Very few of us are satisfied with only that which we need, while very many of us want largely more than we need—and learn to want even more. A great deal of our physical sickness comes from this, and we get knocked down for it—nature rebels—we get sick—and we have financial sickness, too, due to the same cause.

A lot more of "soldiering" in our life and habits would be very beneficial to us. Discipline is what we need, and not so much individual indulgence of our inclinations and habit forming practices, which create what we consider, after proper length of indulgence, an increased list of necessities of life.

Really, the list of things that we actually need, is comparatively short, while the list of our wants has no end. "Deny yourself" is a worn out, or disused, motto in these days, and this fact is responsible for lax morality, disrespect for many of the best things of life, and actual criminality.

We want "personal liberty" and to please ourselves without stint; and necessarily we want few laws and none that conflict with our desires, and gates open and bars down wherever we want to go. And just this sort of criminal license is preached every day, editorially by some editorial writers.
