COMMENCEMENT WEEK AT HIGH SCHOOL.

Program of Events following a Successful Year.

The present week marks the close of the school year in the local institution, a year which in many respects has been most successful. The splen-did new building, in use now for two years, draws many pupils from outly-ing districts as well as from the immediate community. The spacious-ness of the building, providing twelve large class rooms, in addition to library, laboratories, rooms for sewing, cooking, manual training, typewrit-er practice, etc., provides facilities by which all types of school work are done under the best environment. A remark that is frequently heard from the pupils is, "This fine building makes me want to come to school, and to work while I am here."

During the year, the enrollment in the elementary grades reached 215; the total enrollment in the High School Department being 96, the total enrollment for all grades being 311. This is an increase of 50% over three years ago, and an increase of several hundred percent over ten years ago. During this past year, 11 full time teachers were employed. In addition, four part time teachers, with a weekly attendance of three days each on the average, were connected with the school. It is expected that, next year, one of these part time teachers will be in the Taneytown school on full time, and that the days of attendance per week of some of the others will be increased. The enrollment for next year will probably be 245 in the elementary grades, and 120 in the High

Two years ago, upon the completion of the new building, the commercial course was added to the curriculum, and in 1928, the first group of commercial pupils will be graduated. The commercial course, manned by an effi-cient teacher, and well equipped as to space, typewriters for practice, etc., is very popular in this school. It may generally known in the community that the Taneytown High School offers to its pupils a commercial course, which ranks with the best commercial schools, and its graduates have equal opportunity in securing and holding positions as the graduates of those schools. The opportunities in the departments of manual training and domestic science are just as attractive. Those who visited the school, on the occasion of the annual exhibition day, last Monday afternoon, will testify to the quality of the work that was produced by the pupils in these subjects.

Much of the success following the efforts of the school is due to the interested, helpful Parent-Teacher Association, which has been in existence for four years, and has done much in eytown, on Sunday afternoon, June 10, terested, helpful Parent-Teacher Asfurnishing equipment, and in lending During the year, the association has bought shrubbery for the lawn, dishes for the domestic science department, furniture for the ladies' rest room, and just recently presented to the school a large number of books for the library. The library is a unique featof the school, in that it is always open during school hours, the shelves being well supplied with books or refernece, and there is usually an instructor present to render help to the pupils in finding references, etc. The library has five encyclopedias, two large dictionaries.one dictionary-encyclopedia, and numerous books of reference for every depart-ment of school instruction. We are especially proud of our complete history of the Civil War, in one hundred and fifty-three volumes, with three large folio volumes of maps. Probably no other school in the state possesses a copy of this work which was prepared some years ago by a special commission of the federal government, and is the official record of the Civil War. This set of books was a part of the library of the late Congressman Joseph A. Goulden, and was presented to the school by Mr. Joseph A. Hemler.

In the recital of some of the things which distinguish the Taneytown school from the extra curricular standpoint, the excellence of the regular school work must not be overlooked. The Taneytown school is yearly sending out graduates, who are making for the school, a reputation that is most favorable. A number of the graduating class of two years ago are graduating this year from the State Normal School at Towson; many of our former students are filling teaching positions in this and other counties; and a number are in college, filling positions as nurses, etc. graduating class of 1927, consisting of twelve young men and women, seven are studying in higher institutions of learning.

The graduating class is made up of James Currens Baumgardner, John Samuel Bricker, John Walter Bower, Mildred Estella Devilbiss, Elden Zile Flickinger, Jonas Alfred Heltebridle, Dorothy Sadler Kephart, Elton Lee Kindleberger, Annie Elizabeth Lutz, Leah Katherine Reindollar, Carroll Nelson Riffle, Wilbur Lewis Reifsnider, Ezra David Stuller, and Elizabeth Leister Wilt.

DECORATION DAY ON SUNDAY Proves to be a Popular Change for

The Sunday afternoon observance of Decoration Day was a gratifying success, and the opinion was very general that it should hereafter be the custom to hold such services on the Sunday afternoon nearest May The parade was the best held for years, and the High School auditorium is ideal for the program. There were 250 in the parade, as follows;

Autos containing one veteran of the Civil War, George K. Duttera, and the town officials. The I. O. O. F. Band; the I. O. O. F.; Daughters of Rebekah; about 80 little children with flowers; Pythian Sisters; Jr. O. U. A. M., P. O. S. of A., and mounted marshals.

All of the cemeteries were visited, and the Soldiers' Memorial, the parade ending at the High School building where the following program was

For the Convenience of Patrons.

As the days grow longer, our closing time-5 o'clock-comes long before the close of the day; and often long before it is convenient for many of our patrons to come to the office to get finished work. We therefore renew a frequently stated offer, that we will leave packages at any public place in town that out of town customers may specify. Our office closes at 4 o'clock, on Saturdays.

Commencement Speaker.

Those who attend the high school Commencement throughout the County of Carroll, from the 11th. to the 16th. of June, will have the unusual opportunity of hearing one of the ablest speakers on the lecture platform, the Rev. Dr. Stanley L. Krebs, Director of the Institute of Mercantile Art, New York City. Dr. Krebs is a speaker of national fame, very entertaining and instructive as well. # MAY DAY CELEBRATION AT UNIONTOWN.

Program Rendered by Schools of the Town and Vacinity.

Thursday, May 31, was a gala day for the schools of Uniontown and vi-cinity; it was most successful from every point of view, in attendance, performance and financial results.

The parade through the town was headed by Charles Segafoose carry-ing the school banner. Other banners carried were "Good English," "The Ten Health Rules", and "Primary Perfect Attendance," the names on the last were Harold Smelser, Jr., Caroline Devilbiss, James Caylor. The various divisions in the parade were: the drum corps led by Joe Hoch Citizens Club, County Champion Flag Relay team, Gazook Band, Boys' and Girls' Dodge Ball teams, the small girls, who made a fine appearance with their dolls and decorated carriages, Mary Dodrer and sister with the nicely decorated pony cart, also the boys with decorated scooters and wagon and boys with their pets, German Police dogs, goat and fox. The Bark Hill scholars, led by their teacher, Miss Robbins, added much to the parade, the boys carrying a large flag, the girls attired as fairies.

After the parade, an exhibition was given of the work done during the

The remainder of the afternoon was given over to contests in the flag relay races and dodge ball, Rinaldo Repp referee. Scores as follows: Morelock's, 10 and Uniontown boys 4; Uniontown girls 17, Bark Hill 7; Uniontown girls 16; Morelock's 6; New Windsor High School boys 7; N. W. High School girls 4. In the even W. High School girls 4. In the evening two pageants were rendered by the scholars. The first "A Pageant of the Nations," Pearl Philips represented the "Statute of Liberty," she was attended by boys and girls of the 5th., 6th. and 7th. grades. The following nations were represented, Holland and Ireland, by 1st. and 2nd. grades; Sweeden and Africa, by 3rd. and 4th. grades; England, France, Italy and Japan, by 5th., 6th. and 7th. grades. A spokesman from each country gave a short talk on the customs and people of that country, while the children in the costumes of the various countries gave an exhibition of the folk, song and dances. This was all very instructive and pleasing, as well as well executed.

The next Pageant was "Mother Nature's Palace under Ground." Cast of characters: Jack Frost, John Young; Rose, Crowned Queen of the flowers, Pearl Phillips; Mother Nature, Thelma Rentzel; Sun, Thelma Fogle; Snow flakes, 1st. grade girls; Sunbeams, 2d. grade girls; Snow drops, butter cups, violets and asters, 5th., 6th. and 7th. grade girls. This pageant was concluded by the May pole dances, small one by the sunbeams, the large one by girls from other grades. This was also a very pleasing Pageant, well rendered. Each nation was represented in appropriately decorated booths, where food suggestive of it's country was despensed, by members of the P. T. A. and larger children. The decorations on all the booths was pretty and picturesque; many of the attendants were costumed in the dress of the country represented. The Japanese booth received the prize for best decorations, and France for the largest net receipts. Norman Haines received a prize for the best thing in the parade—an express cart, decorated to represent a "Covered Wagon". The gross reciepts were $106.41. The entire production re-The gross reciepts were flects much credit on teachers, pupils and patrons.

Father Lennon was ordained to the priesthood on December 17, 1898 and was named pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Taneytown Md. He was pastor here for fifteen years. He was appointed then pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Baltimore, Md., where he served for eleven years before he was changed to St. Jerome's in the same

Utermahlen has been a boarder at the Mansion House, Hanover, since August 27 last. He has been under the care of Dr. Edward W. Stick, for some ten days. He was being treated for a drunken condition. It is the conclusion of the coroner that the man was a victim of foul play, only from reports and from the condition of the

A York report states that the door of the room in which the man was found Friday was locked, but that it was not ascertained whether from the was not ascertained whether from the inside or out. Roy Zepp, hotel clerk, states that the room was locked from the outside and that the key was allowed in the door at all times. This was taken as a matter of precaution as at various times while intoxicated the man would move about. Fear that he would fall down three flights of steps prompted the locking of the door and the barring of a window in the room.

An inquest is to be held. No time nor date has been set but the coroner continues to probe the death. Meanwhile no information as to whether the man's death was accidental or if he was a victim of foul play could be assured.-Hanover, Pa., Record-Her-

REPUBLICANS LOOKING TO KANSAS CITY.

Credentials Committee Deciding on Contesting Delegations.

The big event in Republican party affairs will open its proceedings in Kansas City, next Tuesday, when the National Convention meets to name nominees for President and Vice-Pres-The situation as it now stands will likely be the one at the opening of the convention—Secretary Hoover largely in the lead, but without enough pledged delegates to nominate.

One of the outstanding features of the situation is, that there is a strong "draft Coolidge" following, that nothing is likely to stop except a peremp tory order from Mr. Coolidge himself, or is otherwise sharply discouraged when the leaders at the convention get together. It is also a generally conceded fact that Mr. Coolidge can at any time cause the nomination of Secretary Hoover, by asking for it.

The Hoover forces are optimistic, as the "draft Coolidge" strength is largely for Hoover for second choice, and they do not believe that the "draft" will bear fruit. One of the "booms" that shows a lot of confidence, but at present is backed by only a small number of actual pledged votes, is that of Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, floor leader of the Senate and a trusted supporter of the administration. The backbone of their confidence is the party's need of the Middle Western States, and that Cur-Middle Western States, and that Curtis would prove to be a strong candidate generally, but especially so in

In the matter of contested delegations, mainly from the southern states from which contests usually come, Hoover has been the gainer the majority of the committee being evidently for Hoover, as the votes have ranged around 55 to 40 for Hoover

The Lowden candidacy also maintains considerable hope, backed as it is by about 300 votes claimed on the first ballot; but the best judgment seems to be that it will not grow, but may be in the position of holding power enough to name the candidate, providing an upset does not develop in the Coolidge shouters in the direction of Hoover.

Mexican Bean Beetle.

Frederick county reports another invasion of the Mexican beetle, which last year attacked the bean crop in different sections of the county, was discovered in the vicinity of Middletown and Yellow Springs. Making its appearance late last summer comparatively little damage was done. The insect, a serious bean pest, was not fourd east of the Mississippi river until 1920. It reached this State last year and first appearick and Garrett counties.

Henry R. Shoemaker, county agent, who has notified growers how to protect their crops, said the beetle is capable of destroying the entire crop. Some reports have been made

"something eating the beans" in this section of Carroll County, and it may be this same Mexican beetle.

Angle Parking of Autos.

Gettysburg, Pa., likely accommodates more auto traffic than any other place of its size in the east: therefore. its return to angle parking, after more than a year of parking on its main streets, is worth consideration by other towns. The Gettysburg Compiler, says:

"Most local residents prefer diagonal parking to parallel parking, judging by the number of comments heard since the old regulations was ordered returned by council at a recent session.

The principal argument brought forward in favor of diagonal parking is that the drivers have less difficulty in driving into and away from the curb than when compelled to park their cars lengthwise along the pave-

Borough officials also point out that with diagonal parking more automobiles can be parked in a block than with parallel parking. Parallel parking, they also said, encourage double parking, which is not so likely to follow with angle parking since more of the street is taken up by the ma-

AGRICULTURAL YEAR BOOK

A Volume of Great Value to Farmers of this Country.

Washington, June 1.—Uncle Sam's "best seller" soon will be in the homes of a half million farmers. The 1927 year book of the department of agriculture, a 1,200 page volume of short articles covering the progress in agricultural science and practices, is in the process of print-ing and will be distributed in about a month. The year book, edited by Nelson Antrim Crawford, has the largest circulation of any book issued by the Government. Farmers throughout the country will receive 420,000 copies from members of Congress and officials of the department. Addition al copies will be sold by the Govern-ment Printing Office.

Latest developments in practically every phase of agriculture are described in the book, which contains 300 articles written by reports of the department.

Particular emphasis is placed on recent discoveries and practices that will assist farmers in coping with crop readjustment and marketing problems. Considerable space is devoted to statistics on production and on marketing and farm prices.

The publishing of the 500,000 volumes is a colossal printing job. A battery of 100 linotype and monotype machines and more than 40 carloads of paper are engaged in turning out

We are happy to observe that newspapers are alert and foursquare in blocking a pernicious development which threatens to bring a historic piece de resistance of the culinary art down to the lowly level of those modern confections that appeal to the eye but as gustatory blessings are rank failures. We refer to defense of the strawberry shortcake, which, in modern vogue, looks more like a bouquet than an article of food. Our contemporary, the Indianapolis News, properly scores this degradation as an imposition upon the public.

For ourselves, having persistently refused to be deluded into testing so transparent a fraud, we will take the word of the News that the basis of this strange thing masquerading as strawberry shortcake is sponge cake, without shortening, soft and mushy, and without a single claim to honesty. And we suppose there are people who can be taken in by the subterfuge. Possibly men live who do not know the underpinning of a properly made shortcake is crisp, and not sweet, approximately Maryland biscuit dough rolled thin, the slices then being covered with crushed berries, fresh from the vine, to be eaten with cream.

Something should be done to lighten unfortunate and benighted folk who do not know the good, the beautiful, the true. Wherefore we gladly join our Indianapolis friends in exposing and protesting against the outrage. Indifference to such matters leads to tragic consequences, as has been shown by the need of threats of violence to restrain cooks of this day from putting sugar in cornbread. The line should be and is now peremptorily drawn at manifest effort to desecrate the strawberry shortcake.—

Fishermen and Advertising.

Every good fisherman knows the value of using a good bait, and being patient. The same philosophy applies is hours, in fishing, before you get a "bite" but when they start biting your line the catch begins.

Results from advertising may be reckoned in months, rather than in weeks and days. Many too impatient advertisers, or those using the wrong bait, have failed in first efforts, and chucked the plan aside, while other fishermen have kept a baiting their hooks and filled their baskets.

Patience, and keeping at it—giving your fishing ground fair trial, is pretty sure to win, if there are fish in the pond worth catching.

Change your bait, if one kind don't take. It isn't the bait that it is important to you—it's the fish; while with the fish, it's the bait. See the point? It would be a poor sucker that would swallow a bare hook.

Two Unusual Publications.

Washington, D. C., has two daily periodicals unlike any others published. The one, of course, is The Congressional Record, containing a daily detailed account of the proceedings of both Senate and House; the speeches delivered, votes taken, resolutions and discussions-everything that goes under the head of proceedings of Congress. It is published by the Government Printing Office.

The other is "The United States Daily," published by a corporation of the same name. It, too, is limited in the articles published to acts of the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government, and to departmental news; the army, navy, patent office, postoffice department, the treasury and other departments.

Articles published are claimed to be lished without any comment whatever. The paper has no "editorial" department, as such. It is not, therefore, a popular newspaper, and contains but little advertising, and that not of a mercantile character

Both of these publications are of great value to a limited number of subscribers. The Congressional Record, of course, ceases publication following the close of each Congress, for the reason that there is then nothing to "record."

There are numerous angles to the question, and one of these is, the "politics" connected with it. It has been four years since the predecessor of the present bill was vetoed, and when Congress failed to pass the bill over the veto. Congress has been in session regularly every year since, but the promoters have seen fit to withhold trying to pass another bill, until the session just previous to a presidential election.

The fact appears to sustain the claim that a lot of Western members to advertising efforts. Sometimes it are keeping the question alive, and as an issue in politics in a number of Western states, in order that they may maintain their seats in Congress by holding the big farmer vote.

Then, there are other angles to the question; so many that the great farmer organizations are themselves doubtful of the working value of the present bill, even in the states most concerned. For instance, the Kansas City Times said, editorially, just before the adjournment of Congress;

"What will be the political effects of the President's vigorous message on the McNary-Haugen bill? Will it be better for the administration and for the chief candidate who supports its policies, Secretary Hoover, than a less vehement and more conciliatory message would have been? To answer this it must be remembered that what the farmers want is a measure to give their industry a proper relation in advantages to other ndustries. Only a limited number believe the McNary-Haugen bill the only possible remedy. A still smaller number care nothing about that, but are concerned only with the McNary-Haugen bill as a factor in the preconvention campaign. They are satisfied with the veto because they think it will help certain Presidential candidates. But will it? Will it not do more to strengthen the administration, to convince the people in general and a great many farmers that this particular measure is not the best, and that their true friends are those who have the courage to analyze ways and means and tell what the analysis shows? Will not its dramatic qualities arouse people to think and tend to win over the indifferent to the President's position? Talk of a party split on such an issue as this should be taken with a big measure of allowance. This issue is not an issue of national policy; it is merely an issue as to one particular means of carrying out a national policy to which both parties and both factions of the Republican authorized statements," and are pub- party ar committed. There was a division in the Republican party on the silver issue, but that was fundamental, affecting our whole monetary system. Voters were for or against free silver.

There is no such division on farm relief. The division comes on a particular plan of farm relief tenaciously adhered to by many of its most influential proponents, for political rea-These proponents, we suspect, will confirm the political nature of this tenacity by opposing, in spite of two vetoes of their own measure, any other proposal to get farm relief in

Some of the long-past campaigns As the situation now stands, one rolled up great expenditures. In 1876 guess is about as good as another, for more than fifty years ago, Republicans Democrats used $900,000 for Tilden. Garfield's campaign in 1880 cost $1,110,000 and that of Hancock, $355,000.

In 1884 the Democrats put $1,400,-000 behind Grover Cleveland, and the Republicans spent $1,300,000 for James G. Blaine. The Harrison campaign of 1888 cost the Republicans $1,350,000, while the Democrats were spending $855,000 for Cleveland. In 1892 Cleveland's third and last campaign used up $2,350,000, as against the $1,850,000 raised and spent for

The Bryan scare in 1896 caused the Republicans to spend $3,500,000 for McKinley, while the Democrats were backing Bryan with only $675,000. The second McKinley race against Bryan four years later cost $2,5000,-000. The Democrats used but $425,-000 that year. In the next election, when Roosevelt ran against Parker in 1904, the Republicans spent $1,900,-000 and the Democrats, $700,000. In 1908, when Taft faced Bryan in "the Commoner's" third and last battle, Republican funds totaled $1,655,000 and the Democrats used $900,000.

Woodrow Wilson's first campaign in 1912 cost the Democrats $1,130,000. The Republicans put $1,070,000 behind Taft in that struggle. In 1916 the Democrats raised and spent $1,958,000 for Wilson and the Republicans $3,-829,000 for Hughes. The greatest campaign fund in American history, $5,319,000, was used in behalf of Harding in 1920. In that year the Deniocrats backed Cox with $1,318,000. The echoes of the contributions made to the Harding fund have not yet died away.

The Republican campaign fund raised to elect Mr. Coolidge in 1924 amounted to $3,063,000. The Democrats used $903,000 in support of John W. Davis, and the Third Party, or La Follette group, spent $221,000.

The high cost of living has hit politics. All the expenses have risen. The country has grown and is growing. Campaign methods are more and more elaborate. Government is expensive, and not the least of its expense is that of selecting those who govern. All parties describe their campaigns as "educational," and it costs money to "educate the voter."

Money in politics is a menace, but that menace is hardly any greater than it was in 1876. After all, it is not so much the amount that is raised and spent as it is way in which money is used that is the real danger .-Phila, Ledger.

One Wild Beast That Defies Power of Man

In the eternal game of "tag" between man and the animals he has hunted, there is only one beast known to man that has never been caught. Every zoo in the world would like very much to get the white rhinoceros to be found in large numbers near the rivers of the Sudan, but none has thus far been successful.

It has been found so hopeless to attempt to catch a white rhinoceros alive that the government at Khartoum has forbidden the hunting of this strange animal. Compared with the white rhino, lions and elephants are easy marks. He will kill his hunter or himself. At first sight of a human the white rhino charges. If the hunter evades his fierce onrush, the rhino will, in his blind rage, charge the first substantial object within his reach, with a ferocity terrible to be-

It is the only animal which, threatened with captivity, will deliberately commit suicide. Young white rhinos which were captured by natives died within a very short time, so sensitive are they to captivity. If it were possible to catch them, they would keep up their frenzied charges until they killed themselves. The London zoo authorities have offered thousands of pounds for a specimen of the white rhinoceros, and until the ban of the Sudan government was established, practically every native in the section tried to catch one. It was the great slaughter of the beasts in an effort to capture one alive which resulted in the law against hunting the white rhino, which seems determinedly to prefer death—his death or the hunter's-to captivity.

Great Singer Famous

for Her "Temperament"

The great Patti's mother—also a noted prima donna-was a victim of that besetting sin, jealousy. One evening, relates Emma Calve, singing with a colleague who had false eyebrows, the elder Patti, jealous and furious at the success of her comrade, began to stare at her fixedly.

"What is the matter?" the other whispered under her breath. "Your right eyebrow has fallen off," came the answer. The poor victim, horrified, tore off her left eyebrow, and remained for the rest of the act with only her right one the footlights. "I have well deserved it myself," she exclaimed to an astonished audience.-Kansas City Star.

Her "Beanstalk" Legs Made Hit of Evening

Emma Calve of Carmen fame, in the early days of her operatic career, was very slender. Her "beanstalk" legs—as she calls them in her memoirs "My Life"-gave her grave concern. To overcome that defect, on the first night of "Noces de Figaro" at Brussels, she hit upon the brilliant plan of swelling her calves by padding

"The old gentlemen in the front rows trained their glasses on these superb affairs," recalls Calve. "I was conscious of their attention and proud of my success until I left the stage at the end of my first scene." In the wings she found the infuriated director. "Don't you know that every one is laughing at you?" he shouted. "Take those hideous lumps off instantly." And for the second act poor Calve had to make her entrance with her "beanstalk legs all unadorned."

"I tried to cover them with my cloak, but it was impossible. My mortification was intense. The audience saw the change instantly, and was highly amused. I was applauded and cheered uproariously."

Way to Dry Cups

There are some men behind the counters of business places who are very clever. The other day I saw a counter man in a local lunch room pull off a pretty good stunt. The man was washing cups and I noticed he did not dry them with a towel or machine. He simply placed a dry towel on a large metal tray. He explained to me that as he turned the tups upside down the water or moisture all ran to the towel on the tray. The towel took up all the moisture leaving the cups dry. I looked over some of the cups which the waiter said he had standing for a time. They were perfectly dry. Perhaps the idea will be copied by housewives.-Salem

Shakespeare No Horse Boy There is no historical evidence to support the story, says the Pathfinder Magazine that Shakespeare's first work in connection with a theater was holding the horses of noblemen and other patrons. According to the usual version of the myth, the young Stratford man showed considerable enterprise in organizing a "horse holding" group of boys who were known as "Shakespeare's boys." All evidence obtainable about Shakespeare tends to discredit the story. It was told by some of the poet's early biographers, but it has been rejected by most, if not all, of the later critics and careful Shakespearean students.

MEN NOW INVADING BEAUTY PARLORS

Go In for Marcelles and Facial Treatments

New York .- "O, Harold, your beautiful, wavy hair thrills me to death. I mean it really does. Was it always that way?"

"Why, no," replies the young man modestly. "I just dropped into the Beauty Shoppe this morning for my weekly marcelle.'

This might well be typical conversation nowadays between the flapper and her well-groomed, wavy-haired sheik, for an ever increasing number of men are patronizing women's beauty parlors in order to enhance their masculine "appeal."

Many he-men will roar at this statement, but it is inside dope, straight from the proprietor of a beauty shop, who says that the beauty parlors, once devoted entirely to the ladies, are now no more sacred to the fair ones than the barber shops reserved for men. "The men are now beginning to realize," she explained, "that they must take advantage of art in order to make the best of their personal appearance for business and social success. The girls found that out ages ago."

Within the past two years, especially, have the boys been invading the beauty shop, not only for marcelles, but for facial treatments, hair dying and even for permanent waves. Some of the customers are irregular, but many of the establishments have their weekly male patrons. The women often resent the intrusion, she said, so her own shop doesn't encourage this trade.

Most of the boys are very awkward about coming in, she related. Either they flush and drop their hat or are too nonchalant to be convincing. They are quite docile under treatment, as a rule, but are apt to be afraid of the formidable looking permanent wave machine. When a man is put in a chair the big contraption fastened on to his hair in about twenty places and the current turned on, he usually moans and asks the operator to hold his Middle aged business men and prematurely gray young ones come in regularly to have their hair dyed. In their case personal vanity plays no part. There is a strong prejudice against gray hair. So they disguise it under the more youthful shade of dark brown.

Elevators to Enable

Men to Inspect Stacks

New York.—Man-carrying elevators inside 225-foot smokestacks are features of the new million-kilowatt capacity East river generating station being created from the existing plant.

Seven smokestacks will tower above the roof of the power house. They will each be 22 feet in diameter, constructed entirely of steel plates riveted together.

Heretofore the inside of steel smokestacks has been lined with brick, because moisture, gathering where the plates are riveted together, causes corrosion and destroys them. But the designers of the East river station decided that a brick lining was not necessary. Instead, they had the inside of every seam in each stack welded smooth, to allow no place for moisture to gather. Thousands of linear feet of welding protect the vulnerable places where plates are joined together.

The elevators permit thorough and safe inspection of the insides of the stacks. Each elevator consists of a steel platform running along guides and suspended from a cable over a sheaf at the top of the stack. When not in use the elevators rest at the bottom of the stacks below the openings in the sides where the smoke enters from the boilers.

Steel ladders are built outside the stacks to provide another means of ascent. The workmen climb between ladder and stack, rather than outside, since this gives them a feeling of security.

Eagle Attacks Plane

Cracow, Poland.—The eagle resents man's invasion of his domain. One attacked a passenger plane en route to Vienna. A wing of the plane was bent slightly. The eagle suffered the same fate as the moose that dashed at a railroad train.

Mud Baths Revive French Race Horse

Dax, France.—A course of mud baths saved Grillemont, one of France's great race horses, from the slaughter house.

Eight months ago Grillemont was so stricken with rheumatism that his owner, as a humanitarian measure, considered destroying him. As a last resource he decided to try on his horse what doctors were advocating for human beings, and Grillemont for weeks on end patiently suffered himself to be plastered with hot mud and steaming water. Now, say the veterinarians, he has completely recovered, and to celebrate his return to health won a fast race over a mile and a half course. So outstanding was his performance that the government stud at Gelos, in the department of Basses-Pyrenees, bought him at auction for 600,-000 francs ($24,000).

HOW=

USE OF ARTIFICIAL LIGHT HAS AFFECTED THE EYE.-In the course of generations there will be no blue-eyed people in London-their eyes will be changed to brown. That is the prophecy of Dr. William Corbett, an eminent English eye specialist. We are suffering from over-civilization, he says. "Our eyes are not constructed for modern purposes. Many more people are affected by eye strain than was the case a few years ago."

According to Doctor Corbett about 25 per cent of the pupils in elementary schools in England have defective vision. They have to wear spectacles. "Our eyes were never intended for educational purposes by nature. but solely for purposes of self-protection," says the specialist. "The native of North Africa has deep brown or black eyes, which enable him to stand the glare of the bright sunshine upon the sand. The northern European is equipped only with eyes of gray or blue color. His eyes are intended to receive as much light as is available to the darker northern latitudes. He cannot stand glare.

"I hold that nature will adapt herself and produce a browncolored, protective iris in the eyes of three generations to come-descended from our modern blue-eyed parents-or we shall be more artificial than ever and wear ugly goggles with colored lenses.'

How Rembrandt, Famous Painter, Was Named

Very few of us can trace our family names back more than 250 or 300 years for the simple reason that there were no surnames except among the wealthiest and best established families until well into the Seventeenth

Emil Ludwig, the noted biographer, writing in Cosmopolitan, tells, for example, how Rembrandt, the Dutch master painter, got his name.

"His forebears had been accustomed to a life of toil as millers. The memory of their past was transmitted by word of mouth alone. They did not even have a family name, but were known merely as the sons of their fathers. Thus Rembrandt's father was called Harmen Gerritszoon, or Harmen son of Gerrit; but because their mill stood near the Rhine and went by the same name, he added in the official records, 'van Rijn.'

"In 17 years Harmen's wife brought into the world eight children, most of whom lived. Three sons had already learned a trade when she bore her fourth. She called him Rembrandt; and since the father had by now made a home for himself, the beginnings of a family tree were formed, a step nearer to the middle class had been taken. Thus, feeling the need to give their son a real name they called him Rembrandt Harmenszoon van Rijn."

How Birds Travel

How birds fly is now being determined by French scientists by attaching minute recording instruments to homing pigeons. Their speed variations, wing strokes and other movements are measured. Man himself may fly without a motor some day, think some commentators, as a result of this study. They say man can exercise more power than should be needed for flying, if that force can be utilized as the birds use it. Three aerodynamics experts recently gave the French Academy of Science a report on experiments with their tiny instrument. It is a mechanism 2 4-5 inches long, 1 1-5 inches wide and 1 1-5 inches high, and weighs two ounces.

How Epiglottis Acts

The epiglottis is a tongue-shaped cartilaginous flap situated at the anterior border of the larynx. It used to be thought that this structure acted as a "lid" to the larynx, falling back over the laryngeal aperture in order to prevent ingress of food or liquid during swallowing.

This view was shown to be erroneous by Stuart, who proved that during swallowing the epiglottis actually moves forward and does not fall back. Moreover, when the epiglottis in man is destroyed by disease swallowing remains unaffected, and many animals not possessing it swallow perfectly.

How Scent Kills Germs

Car upholstery can be protected from germs by the scents of common plants such as thyme and geranium, The odor of cloves kills microbes in thirty-five minutes, while typhoidfever bacteria are killed by essence of cinnamon in twelve minutes.

For nearly two years upholstery in which quantities of these plants have been mixed has remained germ-proof.

How Salt Affects Ice

The bureau of standards says that a solution of salt in water has a lower freezing point than pure water When salt is placed upon ice at a temperature not too far below freezing point, the ice and salt combine to form a salt solution of lower freezing point than the ice. The melting of the ice absorbs heat and this lowers the temperature.

for appointment. Tides of Puget Sound

Enormous in Volume

Puget sound, the many-branched inlet of the Pacific ocean, is one of the most picturesque bodies of water in this country. Its shores, once densely wooded, have been denuded for the most part by the lumberman's ax, but the neighboring mountains offset this loss and afford a wonderful background to the scene. Although the natural beauties are many, the treacherous waters of the Narrows, a contracted part of the sound which opens farther south into quiet bays and the ports of Olympia and Shelton, are feared by all who are acquainted with that locality. The tides are extreme and their ebb and flow causes a rush of water through the Narrows.

Twenty-five or thirty miles above the Narrows, in the upper reaches of the sound, the tides attain a height of twenty feet or more. Viewed from the shore, which is generally precipitous, the surging of the water as the tide sets in is magnificent, but this is the scene of many tragedies which occur each year. Tremendous whirlpools are formed in the slender passage and rarely have rowboats and such small craft escaped when gripped in the swirling water. Even large steamboats creak and groan under the strain of breasting these twisting currents. The roar of the tides when running at full resembles the distant boom of the surf.

Standard of English

Speech Not Possible

A recognized authority on English words and speech recently said: "Not long ago a conference was held in London for the purpose of arriving at a universal standard for English speech. At one time I believed that it was impossible.

"Later, the subject was brought to my attention by prominent educators. Under the stress of arguments presented to me I weakened in my judgment, and was willing to go on record as saying that it might be possible to standardize English speech, but after two years of close study of the whole subject I feel that my first judgment was right.

"It is as impossible to standardize the sounds in American and English speech with the hope of having the standardization accepted throughout the English-speaking world as it is to stem the tide of the sea."

Successful Only in West

The English walnut originated in southwestern Asia and has been under important cultivation in the United States since 1890. It is successful only in the far western states, mainly in California, Oregon and southwestern Washington. The principal center is around Los Angeles in southern California. Planting is constantly being increased in central California, northwestern Oregon and contiguous territory north of Portland. It should be grown under 2,000 feet of altitude. The climate requirements are moderate but uniform temperatures, considerable moisture, and freedom from radical drops in temperature.

of Life can know how far it reaches—but "their works do follow them." Word has been received that Rev. Millard Kroh, of York, Pa., recently graduated from the Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, has accepted a call to Uniontown Lutheran pastorate, and will locate there after the middle of this month.

Concerning Patents

The term "basic patent" is used ordinarily with much the same significance as pioneer patent-that is to say, as having reference to a patent covering an invention which represents a marked advance in some art, as when an inventor for the first time accomplishes a certain result. There have been a good many basic patents granted, from first to last, but no precise enumeration is possible, inasmuch as opinions vary, more or less, as to which patents are entitled to be so classed. We note Bell's patent on the telephone and Howe's patent for ed, I didn't vant to take the chances. the sewing machine employing an eyepointed needle. #### WEALTHY WIDOW BUYS TOWN TO REVIVE IT

Now Its 50 Citizens Take New Lease on Life.

Garber, Mo.-Mrs. Ada Clodfelter, wealthy widow, is indeed mistress of all she surveys.

Garber was in the "dumps" until Mrs. Clodfelter came along and bought the whole town, lock, stock, barrel and everything. Her possessions include 160 acres of ground on which are located the post office, railroad station, a general store and a cluster of houses.

Now Garber has a new grip on life. Its 50 inhabitants are hopeful that under the guidance of their new benefactor the town will soon grow by leaps and bounds. Mrs. Clodfelter outlined an ambitious program for the town's welfare and already the lethargy that has kept it in a rut these many years has been broken by the spell of new activity.

Elected as Mayoress.

In recognition of her services thus far, townspeople held a meeting and elected Mrs. Clodfelter mayoress. Then she made known her plans to inject some snap into the affairs of this dozing, picturesque little settlement. She said she would build a summer resort whose fame would spread far and wide.

Once before Garber experienced the thrill of notoriety. That was when Harold Bell Wright chose this scenic settlement for the picturization of his "Shepherd of the Hills." One of his principal characters was "Old Matt" (J. K. Ross), postmaster, who also operated the general store. But after the first wave of popularity had passed Garber settled back again and dozed.

Plans Large Tourist Hotel.

The town nestles in a valley a short distance from Mutton hollow and Roark creek, and is one of Missouri's oldest settlements. Before Mrs. Clodfelter took hold of things it looked as if Garber would always be in a rut. But right off she said she was going to put the town on the map for keeps, and townspeople pitched in to help carry out her plans.

Mrs. Clodfelter plans to build a large tourist hotel, some tourist cabins, another general store and some other improvements. She has applied for the position of postmistress in the same store where "Old Matt" worked and she hopes to transform Garber into a suitable memorial to the "Shepherd of the Hills."

Mrs. Clodfelter operates two boarding houses at Springfield. Just as soon as she can dispose of these she plans to build her own home in the heart of her paradise settlement.

Test Yellow Pine for More Hardy Variety

Placerville, Calif.—Yellow pine trees from all over the United States are being tested and cross-pollinated at the Eddy Tree Breeding station here, in an effort to obtain choice varieties of forest trees that will grow faster than the present wild stocks and hence produce a crop of timber in fewer years. Nursery plantings made last season include seedlings of forty-nine species and nine varieties from seed obtained in seventeen different countries and extensive additions are now in hand as part of this season's program.

THREE BEDSTEADS,
3 bureaus, 3 stands, chairs, 6 rockers, 3 chests, 9-ft. extension table, leaf table, (Cherry); kitchen table, large cellar table, buffet, 2 cupboards, commode, sink, couch, 23-yds. velvet carpet, two 9x12 congoleum rugs, two 9x12 crex rugs, ingrain carpets, clocks, lamps, (1 Alladin); dishes, glassware, knives and forks, glassware, tengallon jar, lot 2 and 3-gal. jars, crocks, jarred fruit, jellies, window screens, cies and between species in an effort to produce hybrid varieties. Crosspollination thus far has yielded hybrids of western yellow pine with Swiss mountain pine and with the digger pine of California.

The second tree genus on which the experimenters intend to work is the black walnut. They now have a stock of the black walnut species of northern California established, but have not yet reached out for the eastern and old world walnuts, due to their preoccupation with the pine work. Eventually they wish to add other timber trees to the two now on their experimental schedule.

The work of the station is under the direction of Lloyd Austin, a graduate of the University of California.

As a matter of fact, buying canned foods brings you very near to the farm both in the brief time that elapses between their picking and cooking and in that you are aiding the farmer to sell his crops in advance. #### Dust Fades the Sky

The sky is losing its blue color in some parts of the world, according to Sir Napier Shaw, an English meteorologist, due, he believes, to the presence of chemical or moisture particles forming as a result of some volcanic eruption. There is a marked effect on the climate in some areas, he declares. In 1912, the weather was unusually cold and rainy in many sections, and an eruption of Mount Katmai was accompanied by an average fall of temperature of three-quarters of a degree. In 1903 and 1904, similar changes occurred with the appearance of a whitish sky.-Popular Me-

Where the Shoe Pinched

The Strong Man from Norway was booked on the Orpheum circuit. His specialty was breaking paving; stones with a sledge-hammer on his wife's head. It was a wow, as we used to say in the old country. Suddenly his bookings were switched. They put him on the small time, where he had to do four and five shows a day.

He did it for several weeks, then canceled his contract. "What's the matter?" they asked him. "Is your wife getting headaches?" "Oh, no, it isn't that," apologized the Strong Man, "but I'm afraid she'sgetting fallen aches." - New York. Graphic.

Lesson for June 10

THE ARREST AND TRIAL

LESSON TEXT-Mark 14:43-15:15. GOLDEN TEXT-He was despised, and rejected of men (Isa. 53:3).

PRIMARY TOPIC—How Wicked Men Treated Jesus. JUNIOR TOPIC—The Trial of Jesus. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—The Trial of Jesus. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC—Jesus Facing His Enemies.

I. The Betrayal and Arrest (vv.

1. The sign to the mob (vv. 43-47). With the basest hypocrisy Judas pointed out Jesus to the mob by a kiss, the sign of love.

2. Jesus forsaken by all (vv. 48-52). At the sight of His betrayal, one of Jesus' disciples attempted to defend Him by resorting to the sword, but seeing that He made no attempt at resistance they all fled. Their courage failed them in the hour of trial. How little man knows of his own weakness until the crucial hour

II. Jesus Before the Sanhedrin (vv.

1. Contradictory testimony of false witnesses (vv. 53-59).

The chief priests and all the council sought for witnesses against Jesus to put Him to death, but they found none because there was no unity of testimony. They accused Him of having declared that within three days He would build again the temple if it were destroyed.

2. The high priest's questions (vv. 60-65).

(1) "What is it that these witness against Thee?" To this Jesus was silent, showing that no evidence had yet been given worthy of an answer.

(2) "Art thou the Christ?"

To this He definitely replied, "I am," and quoted a Scripture passage which they recognized as referring to the Messiah. This claim they answered with buffeting and the most shameful treatment.

III. Peter Denies His Lord (vv. 66-72).

Though Peter loved Jesus, yet in the hour of supreme trial he failed. Grevious as his sin was, it was not like that of Judas. His failure was due to:

1. Boasting self-confidence (vv. 29-31).

Lack of watchfulness (v. 37).

Neglect of prayer (v. 38). Service in the energy of the flesh (v. 47). Following Jesus afar off (v. 54). 6. Seeking comfort among the Lord's enemies (v. 67, cf. Luke 22:55).

7. Open denial (vv. 68-72). His backsliding really began when he shrank from the cross.

IV. Jesus Arraigned Before Pilate

In the early morning after the trial before the high priest they bound Jesus and delivered Him to Pilate. They acted freely in this according to the evil desires of their own hearts, yet He was delivered up by the determined counsel and foreknowledge of God (Acts 2:23). The Jews would gladly have killed Him, but they had not the authority to do so. They delivered Him to the Gentile governor, thus involving the Jews and the Gentiles in the crowning act of the world's sin. Pilate questioned Him without delay for they accused Him of pre-tending to be a king. "Thou sayest," was His only reply. To the slanderous accusations of the chief priests and elders He made no reply, to the utter astonishment of Pilate. Pilate sought to release Him because he was convinced of His innocence. After several unsuccessful efforts to escape responsibility, the expedient of letting the people choose between Barabbas and Jesus was resorted to. He no doubt thought that Jesus would be chosen rather than the notorious Barabbas.

Cast Thyself at His Feet

The fever of worldliness that burns in the blood, the ill-temper, the unkindness, the impatience, the dreadful malady of avarice that turns the heart to stone, the dim vision of Himself. the fretting fear, the foolish envyhow loathsome in His sight is that of which we make so little! Cast thyself at His feet until He make thee clean!-Mark Guy Pearse.

Our Obedience

God wants work of us. He offers His power to us if we will work with Him. Greater deeds than have ever been done do not wait upon His willingness but upon our obedience .-Robert E. Speer.

Joy

"Joy is there if we will set ourselves to find it-joy in labor, joy in love, joy in the beauty of earth around us, joy that waits like a hidden well to bubble up in hearts that are open to it."

No Sorrow Too Great

No sorrow is too great to endure if it reveals to us some new beauty in Christ, or brings out in us some new feature of Christlikeness .- J. R.

Knew What She Wounted Ellen was four, enterprising, observant and well educated, and her mother had gone to New York. "And what, Ellen." said George, her father, "shall we do this beautiful Sunday afternoon? Mother has taken the car, so we can't go for a ride."

"I think," said Ellen, "I would like to go to the Copley-Plaza for tea." She had heard her mother say that. In the hotel, a polite waiter handed Ellen a very large menu, covered with du jour and a la carte things.

"I think," said Ellen, "I would like an ice cream cone," thus breaking the Copley-Plana record.

Sounded the Same

"I've broken by favorite jazz record right in two," said the flapper mournfully. "Guess I can fix it, though." Then she carefully glued the two parts together, putting the glue on the back side, the side that she didn't care for. Then she played it—and found she had glued a back side and a front side together. "What shall I do?" she exclaimed. "Never mind," said the cynical parent, "it sounds just about the same as if you had glued it right."-Springfield

Horticulture Important

The products of American horticulture, including fruits, nuts and vegetables, but exclusive of ornamentals, have an annual valuation of approximately $2,006.000,000. All fruits are valued at $700,000,000, nuts $30,-000,000, and all vegetables, including home gardens, $1,270,000,000. The total farm value of all agricultural crops of the country, except timber, may during favorable years reach $12,000,000,000. Thus it appears that the value of horticultural crops is about one-sixth of the total value of all farm crops.

Never Completely Frozen

None of the five Great lakes ever freeze over completely, although extensive shallow regions along the shores are frequently covered with ice. Sometimes the ice extends for many miles toward the interior of the lakes. Navigation on the lakes, according to the United States geological survey, is stopped for three or four months each winter because of ice in and near the harbors, at the ends of the lakes, and in the channels connecting them. "Well, it sounded to me as if she made lots of mistakes-lots of them, I don't believe she had practiced very long on the piece she played," said Helen seriously. "The American Telephone and Telegraph Company accepts its responsibility for a nation-wide telephone service as a public trust. Its duty is to provide the American public with adequate, dependable and satisfactory telephone service at a reasonable cost

WALTER S. GIFFORD. President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company (Bell System)

- This expresses the policy which has guided the Bell System from its beginning. By a strict adherence to it there has been created a great, nationwide system of communication which has placed every city, town and hamlet in the United States within reach of every other city, town and hamlet.
- Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor, more than fifty years ago when the telephone was in its infancy, made the prophecy that such a nation-wide system would some day become a reality. It has become a reality, because from the very beginning of the industry down to the present time the management has continuously worked with this objective ever in
- The very nature of the telephone business necessitates a single interconnected system. It is, therefore, without competition in the usual sense. This in itself imposes an exceptional responsibility and obligation, amounting to a public trust. Speculative profits have had no place in its development. Always the management has had before it the ideal of rendering a service as nearly perfect as possible, at rates as low as would be consistent with financial safetythus to encourage the most wide-spread use of the service throughout the nation.
- The result is that today the United States, with only 6 per cent of the population of the world, has 60 per cent of the world's telephones. And at no time in the history of the industry has greater progress been made in the development of the telephone art than is being made at the present time.

LAST PAGE EDITORIAL.

Make a Scrap Book.

We do not know of a more useful Twenty-five years of practical experthing about the average home than a is sure to read something of value that we would like to remember, or keep, but we neglect going to the trouble of doing the actual work necessary to make preservation a fact by making a scrap book.

To begin with, one should have well bound book—one that is of little value for other purposes—and wide enough to accommodate two columns, Some of the Agricultural Department reports, or reports of various government departments that are largely statistics of little use to the average nome, make excellent scrap books, by cutting out every other leaf.

Clippings should be assembled under different headings-articles of most interest and worth to the one making the book. For instance, there may be a Dairy, Household, Poultry, Live Stock, Fancy Work, or any number of departments in the same book by dividing the book into sections, which may be paged and have a table of contents.

The greater the care taken in making such a book the more valuable it will be. The clippings, or "scraps, should not be pasted in as fast as laid aside, but a lot should be allowed to accumulate, then carefully trimmed and permanently attached with a good paste-not too wet-that can be bought at any drug or stationery store; or, a carefully made flour paste may do. Mucilage is apt penetrate the paper too thoroughly, and discolor it.

After pasting in, with the paste just right, care being taken that none of it is left on the surface, the book should be weighted to keep leaves from curling. It will be best to experiment with useless scraps of paper before commencing right away on the book. The better the paper the better it is for scraps. The Record is excellent for the purpose. Poor quality paper absorbs too much paste. Really, too many good things in the papers go to waste. Even humorous articles, or good poetry, or some news item that you want to remember about, should be saved—systematic-

The ideal scrap book is not one made by children, nor carelessly, by anybody. The proposition is one for careful thought, and not for a week, or even a year; but one that will return big values, ten, twenty or thirty years in the future-and in between.
