

ANNUAL FARMERS CONVENTION

Program for Important Meeting to be held January 9-11th.

Several thousand farmers of Maryland, members of the Maryland Agricultural Society—The Maryland Farm Bureau Federation are at present looking forward to the annual convention of that body which meets in Baltimore, Md., at the Hotel Rennett, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Jan. 9, 10 and 11 next, the plans for which have practically been completed by M. Melvin Stewart, Secretary-Treasurer of the organization.

The program on which Mr. Stewart has been working for several months, promises to be one of the strongest and most interesting ever presented at any of the previous annual meetings. Men of national and international prominence and ability in the agricultural field of the nation and state have places on the program and each of whom is well qualified to discuss the various phases of agriculture with its relation to the economic and industrial affairs of the country. The general sessions of the body will be presided over by James W. Davis, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation.

The Maryland convention, it is explained, has for its chief purpose the promotion and fostering of efficient production, orderly marketing and greater co-operative effort and the ten or a dozen affiliated associations will hold their annual meetings simultaneously with those of the parent organization.

The convention will convene at 2:00 P. M. on the afternoon of January 9, at which time President Davis will deliver his annual address to be followed by the report of Secretary Stewart. There will be addresses by Albert Doctor, State Agent of Maryland for the Farm Bureau Mutual Auto Insurance Co., Murray D. Lincoln, Secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and greetings from the Maryland State Grange will be tendered by A. G. Ensor, Master of the Maryland State Grange.

At the session Thursday afternoon, John C. Watson, of the taxation department of the Illinois Agricultural Association will speak on "The Farmers' Tax Problems." This will be followed by J. Walker, Secretary of the Ohio Wool Growers' Association. Mr. Walker has recently returned from circulating the globe in making a survey of the production and marketing of sheep and wool for the United States Department of Agriculture, and his talk will be of particular interest to sheep growers of the State. At this same session, M. S. Winder, Executive Secretary of the American Farm Bureau Federation, will deliver an address on "Why the Farm Bureau?"

The annual Farm Bureau banquet, the chief social event of the convention, will be held on Thursday night, in the banquet hall of the Hotel Rennett, and from present indications, this is going to be in full keeping with similar banquets which are held each year in connection with the annual convention. Tom Parrran, President of the Maryland Tobacco Growers' Association, will be the toastmaster, and the speakers will include: Stanley L. Krebs, of New York; P. D. Blackwell, Supervisor of Vocational Education, Maryland State Department of Education, and David Trundel, of Poolesville, Montgomery Co., Md. Mr. Trundel was winner of first place and honors in the State-wide public speaking contest for vocational boys in 1928, on "Farming as a Vocation." There will be plenty of music, together with other features intended to interest and amuse the banqueters.

The third and final session of the convention will be held on Friday morning, January 11th., with brief addresses by Raymond A. Pearson, President of the University of Maryland, and Dr. Thomas B. Symons, director of the U. of Md. Extension service. The election of officers for the ensuing year will precede the adjournment.

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

The comic illustrated feature, under the above caption, used by many newspapers, pointedly pictures how many things often turn about in very unexpected ways; and the humor conveyed is of the kind that appeals to the disinterested reader, but is not so fully appealing along the same line to those who are used to illustrate the humor.

For instance, on Nov. 30, The Record published an editorial of its own, entitled "Real Christmas Giving." A few days later we were unexpectedly asked by a reader to reproduce it in our issue of Dec. 7, as a "first page" article, the request being complied with. And now comes the "joker."

In an exchange, under the date of Dec. 6, the said editorial was published at the head of its editorial page, the publisher failing to give us credit—an oversight, of course—causing the average readers to attach authority to said exchange.

But, it would be quite possible that some one may have read the editorial in the paper dated the 6th., and to have again read it in The Record, dated the 7th., with our explanation at the head of it. So, there is a joke on somebody, and we class it as a pretty good inspiration for a "Can you beat it" bunch of illustrations.

"American women are an incentive to a man to make good while European women prefer to be men's inspiration."—Lady Drummond Hay.

FATHER CUDDY KILLED

Former Pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Taneytown.

Rev. John S. Cuddy, pastor of Catholic Churches at Gaithersburg and Cloppers, Montgomery County, was instantly killed last Friday afternoon when his automobile was struck by a B. & O. train at Gaithersburg crossing, hurling it about 50 feet.

The watchman states that Father Cuddy seemed to be in deep thought and paid no attention to the waving signals.

Father Cuddy was born in Baltimore, October 20, 1879, a son of the late Michael Joseph Cuddy and Mrs. Mary Ward Cuddy. He was educated in the parochial school of St. Mary Star of the Sea Church, Loyola College, St. Charles' College and St. Mary's Seminary.

Ordained December 22, 1905, by Cardinal Gibbons, his first charge was as assistant pastor of St. Michael's Church, Frostburg. He remained there until 1913, when he went to St. Joseph's Church, Taneytown.

In August, 1918, he was appointed a chaplain in the army and served at Fort Hoyle until July, 1920, when he was appointed pastor of St. Mary's Church, Barnesville.

At that time Gaithersburg was a mission of Barnesville, but in 1922 the Gaithersburg parish was established and Father Cuddy was appointed pastor. He also was pastor of St. Rose's Mission, at Cloppers.

Father Cuddy is survived by a brother, Michael Francis Cuddy, of Washington; two sisters, the Misses Katherine and Winifred Cuddy, of Baltimore, and a nephew, the Rev. Michael Joseph Cuddy, of St. Patrick's Church, Cumberland.

The jury of inquest reached the unavoidable accident verdict, as it was shown that Father Cuddy drove his automobile into the front of the engine despite the signals of the watchman on duty, the automatic signal lights and the sounding of the whistle and ringing of the bell by the approaching train.

The funeral was held on Tuesday morning from St. Martin's church, Gaithersburg.

- 7—New Windsor, Julia A. Roop and Neurow Nussbaum, 488.
- 8—Charles Carroll, Ruth Brown and Allen Frounfeiler, 482.
- 9—Mt. Airy, Gertrude Resnick and Harrison Day, 452.
- 10—Hampstead, Irene Blumberger and Melvin Tabler, 445.

Arrested on Charge of Burning his Barn.

Robert Stonesifer, living along the "Bull Frog" road in Freedom Township, Pa., just over the Maryland line, was arrested, Tuesday afternoon, charged with setting fire to his barn with intent to defraud insurance companies. The fire occurred Nov. 17, about a week after $3,500 additional insurance had been placed on the barn and dwelling, making the total insurance $7,200.

Stonesifer's brother, Roy, was also arrested as an accessory. Both of the accused deny their guilt. Just what the evidence is against them has not been made public. State Trooper Gritman has been working up the case for several weeks.

Robert Stonesifer says that on the night of the fire he had given two neighbors permission to sleep in the barn, and asked them to give him their matches, one of the men handing him a box of safety matches. He also says he furnished them with blankets for cover. When the fire was discovered at about 5 o'clock in the morning, the men had disappeared.

Jr. Order Memorial Service.

The Jr. O. U. A. M., of Carroll County held memorial services in honor of their deceased members in the Star Theatre, Westminster, on Sunday afternoon last, attended by members from Westminster, Hampstead, Taneytown, New Windsor, Mechanicsville, Mt. Airy, Rev. J. N. Link, former pastor of Deer Park M. P. Church at Smallwood, delivered the memorial address.

The members in whose honor the services were held were Maurice J. Belt, Hampstead; Frank B. Schaub, Mechanicsville; William Wagle, past councillor; O. E. Clary and Jackson Myerly, Westminster; David F. Eyer, Taneytown; Arthur E. Rheobus and Edgar J. Mercer, past councillor, Mt. Airy.

This service took the place of the separate services usually held, and will be held annually hereafter.

Near East Relief.

We regret that more persons have not used our offer to forward Near East subscriptions especially as the promoters of this charity expect this to be the last appeal. However, we feel that we have done our part in the matter, and any further amounts should be sent to Mrs. E. C. Bixler, New Windsor.

MOVEMENT TO ENFORCE PROHIBITION.

Thirty-one Organizations Combine on Eighteenth Amendment.

All of the "dry" organizations of this country have combined in a National Conference for the Support of Prohibition. These have been working separately, but have now pooled their strength for law enforcement, finding their justification in doing so in the result of the November election.

The head of the movement was the Anti-Saloon League, and the result was due to a two-day conference in Washington this week. The first efforts will be directed toward maintaining the Eighteenth Amendment from attacks, and plans for more complete enforcement will be carried out.

The "super federation," as it is regarded in dry circles, has set out to attack the liquor problem along a broad front—from primary campaigns to Congress itself on the one hand; and from personal abstinence to rigid law enforcement, on the other.

An important phase of the work of the organization is the circulation of propaganda in the widest possible manner to arouse an individual aversion for alcohol. The mere outlawing of liquor is not enough the dries have found. Much more to be done if there is to be actual prohibition in this country.

Proceedings of the Orphans' Court.

Monday, Dec. 10, 1928.—The last will and testament of John R. Tipton, deceased, was admitted to probate and letters of administration with the will annexed were granted unto Reynold H. Tipton and Charles H. Doing, who received warrant to appraise personal property and order to notify creditors.

Susanna M. Morelock, executrix of Milton M. Morelock, deceased, settled her first and final account.

D. Eugene Walsh, executor of Albert Anderfueren, deceased, received order to sell real estate, and order to sell personal property.

Daniel H. Shoemaker, administrator of Emily J. Gosnell, deceased, returned inventory personal property and received order to sell same.

John H. Cunningham, administrator of James M. Kealy, deceased, returned inventory personal estate and debts due.

Tuesday Dec. 11, 1928.—Edward C. Bixler executor Uriah Bixler, deceased, reported sale real estate which was ratified by the Court.

Richard C. Miller and Myrtle Miller, administrators of Henry A. Miller, deceased, returned inventory money and settled their first expense account.

The World's Warning.

(For the Record.)

The great floods, tornadoes, earthquakes and volcanoes, are intended by God, as the world's warning that he wants more recognition; and He desires to see more Spiritual power among his followers. He desires to see stronger fruits in the Christian faith. The world is getting too large a class of people that now disbelieve in God. And yet there is no reason to be found that makes it impossible to believe in Him.

We believe that in the coming year, 1929, the practical chart of the world will be changed. The solar disturbances will reach their maximum. The world then can look for the greatest human activities of the highest historical significance. Do the people today realize the awful wickedness of our present times? Wickedness is of a more diabolical type than prevailed before God sent the world's deluge in the days of Noah.

We believe the time is not far distant, for the fulfillment of the Scriptures, in reference to the tribulation spoken of in the book of Revelation, and which is to precede the Lord's return to set up his Kingdom on earth to rule one thousand years.

There are many more prophecies in the New Testament telling of Christ's second coming than there are in the Old Testament telling of his first coming. So we look for some great upheavals in 1929. So many today are denying the great deluge in Noah's time, and denying that there was ever a Christ. In fact, denying the whole New Testament Scriptures, and starting a war on the Holy Scriptures. Is it not time for God to demand more recognition?

At Annual County Corn Show in Westminster.

The third annual corn show is now in progress in Westminster, and in quality of exhibits exceeds any previously held, the judges finding it difficult to make their awards.

The sweepstakes prize for the best ten ears, a springtooth harrow, was awarded to D. S. Warehime, of Westminster; and the first prize for a single ear, a Chevrolet heater, went to Frank Grove, of Westminster.

The first prize in the Golden Queen class a silver cup, awarded to D. S. Warehime; second prize, a bag of feed, to Walter Warehime, and third prize, a bag of feed, to A. B. Shull, Woodbine. In the Reid's Yellow Dent class, first prize, one barrel of flour, went to Marion Prough, Woodbine; second prize, bag of feed, to P. C. Prough, Sykesville, and third prize, 72-lbs. flour, to J. Herbert Shriver, of Union Bridge.

In Lancaster Sure Crop, first prize, silver cup, was awarded to Walter K. Warehime, second prize, 2 bags fertilizer, to D. S. Warehime, and third prize, bag of feed, to J. H. Brown, of Manchester.

Other Yellow Dent, first to Carroll Fritz, New Windsor, 1/4-ton fertilizer; second, J. M. Snyder, one bag of mash, and third, J. H. Snyder, one bag feed. Shell's Yellow Dent, first, 1/4-ton fertilizer to Francis Herring, of Westminster; second, bag of feed, to Frederick Richter, Westminster; third, J. Mahlin Grinnon, 36-lbs. flour, White Dent, first, electric percolator, Robert Gist, Westminster; second, bag of feed, Maurice Wolf, Westminster; third, 36-lbs. flour, J. H. Snyder.

Sweet Corn, first, one case of corn, to French S. Grove; second, A. S. Burch. White Cap, first, Joshua Owens, bag of fertilizer; second, 24-lbs. flour, George E. Hughes; third, James Lockard.

The Junior exhibitors were well represented and their displays were fine. Among the prize winners were: Eleanor Galt, Westminster, money prizes $5.50 and Charles L. Haller $2.00. The High School Silver Cup was won by Charles Carroll school.

The Christmas Turkey.

Select a young turkey weighing from 12 to 14 pounds. Dress, remove all pin feathers and the oil bag. Wipe the inside of the turkey and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Fill the cavity with hot stuffing, but do not crowd the stuffing in tightly or it will not have the light fluffy consistency that so many persons prefer. Fold the wings back on the neck. Tuck the legs into a band of skin and flesh below the tail, or tie or skewer them down. Sew the cut surfaces so that the dressing will not fall out or become moist when basted.

After the turkey is stuffed and trussed, rub the surface with butter, and sprinkle with salt, pepper, and flour. Lay a piece of fat over the breast bone and put the turkey on a rack in a covered roaster. Put a small quantity of water in the bottom of the pan. Cover and put in a hot oven (about 450°F.) for 1/2 hour or longer, until the turkey is lightly browned. Reduce the oven temperature to 375°F., and continue the cooking for 2 or 2 1/2 hours longer. It is sometimes necessary to baste the turkey with the drippings even though a covered pan is used.

The turkey should be turned first on one side and then on the other during the cooking so that it browns well all over and the breast does not become too brown or dry. A good way to test a turkey for "doneness" is to pierce one of the legs near the breast bone. If the liquid does not show a red tinge, the turkey is ready to serve. Another test is to lift the wing and see whether it would be easy to disjoint in carving. Place the bird on a large hot platter, remove the strings with which it is sewed, and garnish with parsley.—U. S. Dept. Agriculture.

Premium For Decorations.

For a number of years, the custom of placing electrically illuminated wreaths in windows, the decorating of permanent or temporarily placed pine trees on the lawn with strings of colored lights of the flood-lighting of the exterior of homes or shrubbery has been growing and has added much to the brightness and cheerfulness of the holiday season. With this end in view, the Union Bridge light and power company has inaugurated a plan to stimulate this movement by offering a Westminster Chime Electric clock that is already on exhibition in the company's Union Bridge offices, which will be awarded by impartial judges, to the person having the most attractive outdoor decoration, this to take place on the evening of December 24th.

CALENDARS FOR 1930.

We have our main line of Calendar samples in stock for 1930. A lot of new designs and novelties, and will have them ready for booking the first of next week. We represent one of the largest importers and manufacturers in the U. S., and that their goods and our prices are right, is demonstrated by the fact that our sales are increasing every year. Those who place their orders early have all of the advantages of the full line.

Teachers' Pension Act.

There will be found on our editorial page, of this issue, a full explanation of the present Teachers' Pension Act, made by Governor Ritchie. It will be of interest to many public school teachers, and perhaps others.

STATE ROADS CASE BEFORE GRAND JURY.

New Evidence Presented for Court Investigation.

The whole State roads Fund story, as we stated last, still looks as though "it must get worse before it gets better." The Governor is evidently sincere in wanting the whole thing to be opened up, but it looks as though neither he nor any other of the investigators are in a very good humor about it, and the result has been a lot of hot talk that is nuts for the daily papers, furnishing a "to be continued" story that is of course interesting for various reasons to their readers, and that is equally a pretty bad mess for and State Board to get into, or get out of.

Mr. Carroll came back at the Governor's statement concerning him, and his acts, in such a way as to make it clear that merely ordering his salary paid did not help the situation at all, so far as he was concerned, and showed that debating through the public press does not settle such questions, when two men are brave and equally capable of handling the English language. And then came along State Auditor Milbourne, who said he would not pay Mr. Carroll's back salary without more peremptory orders from the Governor, as he was not at all satisfied that this was the proper thing to do, etc., etc.

But, the Governor said: "Give him his back pay and keep him on the payroll. I have not altered my position." And following this, Mr. Carroll said a lot of things, among which was that Mr. Milbourne was not much of an auditor, and that he spends a lot of his time in the Auditor's office attending to his private business. And as to the check for his salary, he will decide about that when he receives it, etc., etc.

Mr. Milbourne followed up with a lot of statements about Mr. Carroll, that were no more pleasant than those made by Mr. Carroll about Mr. Milbourne. So, it looks as though they are not going to agree to be amicable toward each other, very soon, if at all.

The probability is that the trial of the case through the newspapers is about at an end, and that the State's Attorney and Grand Jury will be heard from soon, as the detailed report of the accountants was turned over to State's Attorney O'Connor, on Wednesday. This report contains the names of thirty-six persons, some of whom may be innocent and others guilty of fraud. The report will be placed before the Grand Jury on Friday.

The Governor has stated that he has decided positively upon placing the funds of the State Roads Commission in the hands of the State Treasurer, and that bills for supplies and construction work will be paid by the Comptroller on properly authenticated vouchers.

The first witnesses to appear before the Grand Jury will be Croghan and North, and D. H. Carroll, all three auditors connected with the investigation, the latter having given the facts that led to the first investigation. Richard B. Tippet, attorney for two of the already convicted men, will also be among the first called to testify.

Suggests Means for Cutting Crossing Toll.

There are nearly 235,000 grade crossings in the United States upon which in 1927 there were 5,595 accidents with 2,371 persons killed and 6,613 injured. What can we do to reduce this hazard and to minimize the resultant casualties?

Some activities which are effective are herewith suggested for your consideration and discussion:

1. Eliminate grade crossings as far as possible.
2. Where possible, divert through traffic from existing crossings by means of highway relocations.
3. Prevent the opening of new grade crossings, if possible.
4. Protect grade crossings as rapidly as circumstances will permit.
5. Assist in work now being done by various safety workers in our public schools to educate the children in accident prevention measures.

Crossings may be eliminated by separation of grades or by a complete diversion of traffic by highway relocation. If the diversion of traffic be less than 100 percent, the second method listed above results. Obviously, the financial costs involved are a controlling factor.

The opening of new grade crossings should be resisted to the extent of ascertaining the possibility of utilizing an existing crossing in lieu thereof. If not, a grade separation should seriously be considered before permission is granted for opening a new crossing at grade. The protection of grade crossings offers the greatest field of activity.

The last activity suggested would be to emphasize a special feature in educational work now carried on to some extent in accident prevention. Our commissioners and various staff members could prepare themselves to give short talks on grade crossing and trespassing hazards, in school-rooms throughout their states, at opportune times, while waiting for appointments, hearings, or trains.—From Report of Committee on Grade Crossings and Trespassing on Railroads.

The campaign expenses of Senator elect Goldsborough, of Md., were $5,967.16, all of which were paid by himself. No contributions were either asked for, or received.

WAVE OF INFLUENZA

Coming Eastward From the Pacific Coast States.

According to the Public Health service, at Washington, an influenza epidemic is moving eastward from the Pacific Coast, and will sweep the entire country.

Information from 26 states showed that 21,238 new cases were reported the week ending December 8th., and that the epidemic apparently is now centering in the Middle-West.

There were 13,596 new cases reported in Kansas. Experts said probably one-fifth of the cases are reported. That would push the total for the 26 states to more than 100,000.

Chicago and other Mid-West cities are holding conferences of Physicians for the purpose of helping a campaign of action in case the disease becomes epidemic.

Mink and Fox Farming.

Washington.—A novel industry which is rapidly developing in Alaska according to reports from that territory received at the Department of the Interior, is that of mink farming. This little animal produces one of the most popular furs, and, while it was once very generously distributed throughout North America, it has been growing steadily scarcer. There is consequently a good market for its fur.

The mink is a cousin to the skunk on one side and to the otter on the other. It lives on land and in water and will eat either flesh or fish. In Alaska the chief element of its diet is peculiar. It is fed upon the flesh of porcupines, which are very plentiful. The mink is easy to control in captivity, and since each mother gives birth to five or six young ones in a year, they multiply very rapidly.

Mink farms are coming to be plentiful through much of that part of Alaska adjacent to the Government railroad. A typical farm is that of Garrett Snyder, at the village of Wasilla, near Anchorage. Snyder was a section man on the Alaska Railroad, but gave up that position to develop his mink farm. During the past summer he made shipments of mink the return on which was something near $10,000. This he regards as only a demonstration of the possibilities in this new line of business.

Fox farms are an older development in Alaska, and are scattered up and down the coast and far into the interior. A most advantageous location for a fox farm is on any one of the numerous small islands that fringe the coast of Alaska. On these islands fencing becomes unnecessary to prevent the animals from escaping, and fish as the chief food for the foxes is easy to procure. There are, however, many fox farms in the interior, some of which can be seen in passing on the Alaska Railroad.

Many varieties of foxes are native to Alaska, including the black, blue, white, red and silver fox, all of which yield very attractive pelts. Foxes grown in the Far North have a heavy fur, superior to that of those grown in warmer climates.

Farming for fur in Alaska is supplementary to the fur industry which has long been highly developed and which yields constantly increasing returns.

Concert at Blue Ridge College.

On next Monday night, December 17, the Music Department of Blue Ridge College will give their second concert of the season. The program contains the following productions of especial interest: Hungarian Fantasy by Liszt for piano solos with accompaniment on a second piano, played by Miss Geraldyn Wood. A short cantata, "American Ode" by Richard Kountz, conducted by Professor Fisher, sung by the Ladies' Chorus, the soloists be Olga Brumbaugh, Contralto and Mary Malcolm, soprano. The program will be given in the gymnasium-auditorium and will begin at 8 o'clock. Admission free and the public is invited to attend.

Charles Shiffer Fined.

Charles Shiffer, of Union Bridge, driver of one of the autos that figured in the head-on collision on the New Windsor-Uniontown road, Monday evening of last week, that resulted in the death of William Green, one of the occupants of his car, was given a hearing on Thursday afternoon before Justice Benson, of Westminster, and was fined $25.00 for reckless driving; $10.00 for operating the car without a title; $10.00 for displaying markers of another car, and $1.00 for having no registration card, with the costs in each case.

The Coroner's Jury had previously rendered the verdict that the death of Green was due to an accident, and no one was criminally responsible.

THE CARROLL RECORD FOR A HOLIDAY GIFT

Every year The Record is used by some for a Christmas, or New Year gift; but the number has never been as large as we would like it to be—and, as we think, not as large as it ought to be. We are hoping for better results this year. Remember, we send a handsome card to each person to whom The Record is sent as a gift, stating the name of the giver. This applies to renewals, as well as to new subscribers.

Bootlegging.

Patrons of bootleggers are largely responsible for the deaths, jail sentences, and all of the criminality, great and small, that accompanies the disreputable business; for it is followed for profit, and there could be no profit without purchasers of the stuff. So, instead of visiting the brunt of the law on the illicit producers, it should first of all hit the illicit consumers, and hard.

No matter whether the trade is backed by calls of habit, or by that much talked-of "personal liberty" right, or just by the game of beating the law for the notoriety of it, it is the consumer who is entitled to bear the bulk of the blame—the wrong of it.

Certainly, the lure of profit-making causes conscienceless persons to take the risk of being caught, just as the thief takes a chance to profit by violation of the laws of the state and of common morality. The boot-legger can not hide behind the fact that his business is encouraged by so-called "respectable" citizens, nor that the Anti-liquor laws exist without his consent, nor that he will not be bound by majority public sentiment; but considering all of this, the consumer is more than a common partner in the most disreputable business now being operated.

And what are among its results? The actual killing of men—sometimes murder. The destruction of property by fire or otherwise. Disgrace brought upon parents, or upon children. The loss of responsible positions, or business. The increase in immorality. In numerous ways, suffering brought on the innocent. Greatly, and unnecessarily increased, danger to all who use the public highways; and perhaps greatest of all, the encouragement given by the bootlegger and his patrons toward disrespect of all laws.

The indictment is a most serious one. How can any honest, self-respecting, christian citizen continue to be party to it?

Wise Mr. Hoover.

President-elect Hoover was trebly wise in planning and executing his South American trip. He not only has the first-hand opportunity of visiting our numerous Southern neighbors, with whom we are not so well acquainted as we ought to be, and might have been; but he escapes office seekers of the class who want to help him run the government, and last, but not unimportant, he will have the chance to take a good long rest-up following the taxing demands of the campaign preceding his election.

This country is not yet very well acquainted with Mr. Hoover, except in a very special way, and it may be that this tour of South America is merely one of his long-range habits, partly showing his way of doing big things, and his manner of approach. At any rate, he could hardly have done any other thing with himself, for three months that would so well have economized time and have accomplished so many desirable things.

It may be well to report that this country is not yet so well acquainted with Mr. Hoover, and to qualify it by adding, politically. It knew him quite well enough to give him the Presidency, and to trust him with our governmental affairs; but, one can hardly be President without displaying some sort of brand of party politics, and it is this with which there is an almost total lack of acquaintance.

Perhaps in a more or less general way he will duplicate the political record of President Coolidge, but with the difference almost assured that he will make more close political friends. In all probability he will not suit the "to the victors belong the spoils" following, and he is not likely to make Washington happy by loosening up in the matter of governmental economy, that does not fit in very well with the chief industry of the Capital city—the cultivation of government employees.

Anyway, he has made a very wise disposal of himself for the time being, and there is pretty strong assurance from what we know of him, and his past accomplishments, that he will be quite as capable of taking as good care of himself after March 4th.

And, just a little to the side of such conclusions as we have made—who recalls any big Presidential campaign in the past history of this country that has dropped out of sight as quickly as the most recent one? May this be taken as foreshadowing National tranquility during the coming four years?

Let us have Public Road Rights Defined

Since the courts pretty generally decide that when an auto on a public highway knocks down and kills a man woman or child, the accident was unavoidable and the driver not responsible, it would seem that the courts, or the state laws, should either warn pedestrians that they use the public highways at their peril, as trespassers; or, the state should provide safe sidewalks for them, fenced off so that auto drivers can not get at them.

If the citizens of the state, who must unfortunately walk, have no rights nor safety, on public roads, and if auto drivers are a specially privileged class in their use of said roads, let us have a fair and open determination of the facts, so that all may have a clear understanding of individual rights, in order that lives may thereby be saved.

We used to rather boast of the supposed fact that the general tax-payers built our roads, and that therefore all citizens had a right to their use. But, it may be that as much of the revenue for roads most comes from the gasoline tax and from motorists, the said general taxpayers and all citizens may have lost most of the rights they formerly supposed they had.

Whatever the status may in reality be, the state at least owes it to its citizens to define the rights applying to each class of public road users. That the state should rather unconcernedly go on with its "unavoidable accident" verdicts, is unthinkable. As it now is, if an auto driver kills a person and does not run away, but puts up a story of "glaring headlights," or for some other reason "could not see" his victim, or his car "skidded" on account of wet or icy roads, and "tried to avoid" hitting the person run down and killed, he is pretty sure to be absolved from all responsibility in the case.

As we see it, the law as it operates is entirely too one-sided in such cases; but as road law framers and law makers are made up of the killers, and self-interest in one way or another is so much on the side of rapid motor travel, the unfortunate victims who get "bumped off" so frequently, and so much as a matter of course, do not have anything like a fair show in the matter of their own protection. But, the facts, do not make the results, right.

And, the slaughter is likely to go on. Old folks and children, working people and the partially deaf, are special victims; but a few less of these common (?) people don't count—according to the way we have been law-making and law-enforcing.

Teachers' Pension Act Explained.

Governor Ritchie recently made an explanation of the new Teachers' Pension Act, as follows:

"I want to advise the public of what will be the effect on future State appropriations of the Teachers' retirement system, which was enacted by the Legislature of 1927.

"The appropriation for retired teachers for the fiscal year 1930 will be $884,047 and for 1931, $885,873. These figures compare with appropriations of $80,000 for 1925, 1926, and 1927, $90,000 for 1928 and $100,000 for 1929, made under the old system of a flat pension of $400 for retired teachers.

The State's $844,047 appropriation for 1930 includes $411,893 for Baltimore City teachers, and the $885,873 State's appropriation for 1931 includes $432,487 for Baltimore City teachers. "The Baltimore city teachers never before have been included in the State's pension system. They always have been cared for under Baltimore city's own system. The Legislature, however, included them under the new law, and inasmuch as the Baltimore city law, of course, will continue, the result will be a contribution by the State to Baltimore city's retirement fund for Baltimore city teachers of $411,893 for 1930 and $432,487 for 1931.

"I am issuing this statement not to criticize in any way the appropriations required by the new law, but in order that the public may understand the State's obligations under it, and also to explain, as well as a very difficult and complicated subject can be explained briefly, the operation of the new law. I do not think that either is very well understood by the public at large.

"The Teachers' Retirement act provides for the raising of a fund which is invested and administered by a board of trustees, consisting of the State Superintendent of Schools, the State Comptroller, the State Treasurer and two elected teachers. Ultimately this fund will amount to perhaps $12,000,000 or more.

"The fund and its income is employed to pay teachers and other school officials covered by the law (1) an annuity and (2) a pension upon their retirement for age or disability. Retirement is optional at 60 years of age and compulsory at 70 years of age. Death benefits also are provided for.

"The teachers themselves make up the annuity fund, except that the State as will be explained, contributed during the first thirty years, and the State makes up the pension fund.

"The plan is worked out so that the amount of the annuity and the amount of the pension will be approximately same, and both together will be a certain proportion of the teachers' average annual salary during the ten years preceding retirement.

"The amount in dollars, of course will vary according to length of service, but in the average case the total retired pay will be about half of the teacher's average salary for the preceding ten years.

"The salaries now paid elementary school teachers average something less than $1,300 a year, and the salaries of the high school teachers average about $1,400 a year.

"The principal of the annuity fund is made up of annual contributions from the teachers out of their salaries which vary according to age and sex from 4.08 percent to 7.75 percent. These percentages always will remain practically the same. The teacher is permitted to withdraw his or her contributions at any time.

"The existing teachers all go under the system, and the State is required to assume the 'prior service' obligations of the existing teachers, by which is meant the amounts these teachers would have contributed to the annuity fund if the law had been in effect when they entered the State's teaching service."

Compulsory Thrift.

Several years ago the executive heads of a large business organization believing they were doing their employees a favor, made an arbitrary arrangement by which a certain percentage of each person's salary was to be withheld for savings purposes.

Although the plan was originated with the best of motives, it proved unsuccessful. The apparent paternalistic attitude was resented by the rank and file of the organization. Later, the plan was discarded and a voluntary arrangement was substituted. Each person on the payroll of the concern was then permitted to order a certain percentage of his salary withheld. These savings were administered by the company's officials and the plan developed into a great success.

Almost without exception, compulsory thrift plans have failed. Even in school savings bank work, loud protests frequently are provoked when efforts are made to compel the children to deposit certain fixed amounts.

The practices of thrift include a considerable amount of discipline and sacrifice. Most of us are willing to undergo these severities when self-imposed but we rebel when efforts are made by others to compel us to submit to them.

These are timely suggestions because around the end of the year much thought is given to the development of thrift societies and organized savings work. It should be borne in mind that all such activities will succeed best when conducted along purely inspirational lines.

Great happiness is possible in the practices of thrift. But it is lost when our thrift habits do not spring from our own personal impulses and aspirations.—S. W. Straus.

Farm Electrification Increasing.

Experiments in farm electrification are bearing results in a rapidly increasing number of farms equipped for use of power.

At the end of 1926, 227,000 farms were supplied with electric service as compared with 122,00 in 1923. During 1927, an additional 21,127 farms were connected. Outstanding progress is being made this year.

We are gradually approaching a time when practically all farms, throughout the entire nation, will have electric service available. Such exhaustive projects as the Red Wing, Minnesota, experimental line have shown, by practical example, what the farmer may expect of widespread use of power. Few modern farmers any longer have any doubts as to the benefit and success of rural electrification.

The innovation of rural electric service departments by a number of large utilities, has forwarded the work. The farmer is given expert advice on the most advantageous ways to use power and is shown advanced electrical equipment. These departments are rapidly solving the difficulties caused by farmers who did not understand correct and scientific usage.

Electricity is not only helping to solve the farm labor problem, which is said to have caused serious agricultural depression in some localities, but it is providing a new economy, efficiency and comfort of farm operation. Unless all signs fail, it is instituting a new and more prosperous agricultural era.—The Manufacturer.

Pan-American Airways.

Mr. Hoover proposed, in his speech at Lima, a practical plan for linking the Americas with air lines. It is that the United States and the Latin-American countries hold a conference for the purpose of establishing Pan-

If You Have Been Skeptical of Five-cent Cigars

To the gentlemen of the smoke jury—to you men who have reached the decision that you just can't get a good smoke for five cents—we want to offer some new evidence. All we ask you to do is to try one more five-cent brand: Havana Ribbon. You're going to be surprised! At last, for the small sum of five cents you can get a cigar made entirely of ripe, long-filler tobacco. Never heard of such a thing? Maybe not. But it's a joy's reality now. Not a strand of bitter, raspy under-ripe nor a trace of insipid over-ripe tobacco usually found in low-priced cigars. Nor any short, loose ends to crumble in your mouth. No, sir, Havana Ribbon has the fragrance, mellow-ness, rich flavor of fine tobacco at its best. Because every leaf is fully R.I.P.E. Risk one nickel, men—at any nearby cigar counter. Or, better still, try a Practical Pocket Package of five cigars.

American air-mail service with the co-operation of the various Governments. He believes such a service, which would be of invaluable aid in promoting closer relations between these republics, could be established in a year.

His prediction is well founded. For the development of airways to link twenty nations of the Western Hemisphere with the United States has already begun. The West Indies division, consisting of routes from Miami to Nassau, Havana and San Juan, Porto Rico, will be put in operation on January 9. A twelve-hour plane service from Miami to Panama is projected for early operation. A Central American line, via Havana, is under contract with the Postoffice Department, while a land route through Mexico is being surveyed. Extension of these routes would provide direct air lines to both coasts of South America.

The stimulus given these developments by the Postoffice Department shows what governmental co-operation can do for this country. Latin-American nations are not only becoming air-minded but they already have several airways financed, in the main, by European capital. Mr. Hoover has offered the best proposal for giving to the United States the opportunities in international aviation which it has been in danger of losing to foreign countries. The conference should by all means be held.—Phila. Ledger.

Woman Knew Good Thing.

During the trading boom days in Nevada a woman came to Virginia City from San Francisco and displayed a handful of stock certificates in the famous Comstock mines. She said that she had been persuaded to buy them, at a few dollars a share, and that she had been informed the stock had now gone up to $200 a share. Being informed that was the price quoted she declared she wanted to sell. Buyers appeared so willing even at that price that she became suspicious and went out to see the mines and mills. She knew nothing about mining, but such was the activity and the prevalent atmosphere of optimism that she turned to her son, who accompanied her, and said, "It will go to a thousand. Come on home."—Detroit News.

Speed of Falling Body.

An experiment was recently conducted to determine how fast a man falls when dropped from a great height. The velocity was found to be considerably lower than that deducted from the theory of falling bodies. Were there no atmosphere, a man would fall 16 feet the first second; 64 feet in two seconds; 246 feet in four seconds; 1,024 feet in eight seconds, etc., the distance increasing as the square of the time. Due to the resistance of the air, however, there comes a time when the velocity is no longer increased. This is known as the "terminal velocity" and was found to be less than 200 miles an hour. It was reached after the man (dummy) had fallen 1,600 feet.

Glow Worm Still Puzzles.

Because it is to be found in the grass and similar places the so-called glowworm is generally regarded as a worm, but it is really a beetle and does not deserve the name it popularly bears. There are about 500 glow-producing insects, but the why and wherefore of their glow is more or less a secret. If their secret could be learned it might probably lead scientists to the discovery of heatless light, an end which they have sought for years. There are various theories about the purpose of their light, but none is really satisfactory.

Where Tornadoes Occur.

Tornadoes seldom occur outside the United States. The Mississippi valley reserves them mainly for itself, says Nature Magazine. Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri run neck and neck for funnel-cloud honors. Nebraska easily takes second place. Then comes Mississippi, Alabama, Iowa, Illinois, the Dakotas and Minnesota. Outside this region the whirling cloud seldom strikes. It is unknown in California. New England is never visited.

Can't Float Up Stream

What is will power? Well, it is persistency of effort—unwillingness to surrender—dogged determination to carry on. These things decide human destiny.

It is always easy to follow the lines of least resistance. But one can't very well float UP STREAM. It takes effort. Many who have achieved greatness in life, financially and otherwise, developed WILL POWER early in life. You can do what you want to do if you really WANT to.

A Democracy of Ownership

"The aim of the management — and it is the only aim that will protect in the long run the safety of the investments of the hundreds of thousands of stockholders — is to continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the least cost to the public."

WALTER S. GIFFORD,
President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company
(Bell System)

Q Nearly three quarters of a million people, more than half of whom are women, are owners of the securities of the Bell System. This is the widest distribution of corporate ownership in the world.

Q This ownership is not confined to large investors; in fact, no one person owns as much as one per cent. There are thousands in every walk of life who are using this means to invest their savings. It represents a cross-section of the thrift of the American people.

Q This widespread ownership on the one hand and the fact that we have accepted the responsibility for a nation-wide service on the other, impose a twofold obligation. We must protect the savings of these hundreds of thousands of investors and we must furnish the best possible service at the lowest possible cost to the public.

Q We are fulfilling these objectives, and the wide distribution of the securities of the System shows the faith of the people in the stability and integrity of the business. This is a true democracy of ownership—an ownership by the people of a utility that serves the people. It is public ownership in its best and most practical form.

WOMAN TO REPORT ARCTIC WEATHER

Given Charge of Coldest Station in U. S.

Washington.—Radio weather reports of observations taken by a young woman at the coldest and most inaccessible weather station in United States territory, at Point Barrow, Alaska, will enable warnings of cold waves affecting the North Central states to be sent out this winter several days earlier than previously was possible.

Mrs. Beverly A. Morgan, wife of the army signal corps radio operator at the trading post, has been appointed observer at Point Barrow. She is one of the six white inhabitants of the town.

The recent opening of daily communication with this station makes forecasting data on weather conditions on the Arctic ocean available for the first time. Most of the cold waves and other atmospheric disturbances affecting the Northwestern states originate in that region. Observations previously taken at this station were sent by mail to the United States, reaching the forecaster's office months after they were made. They were, of course, useless in making the weekly and daily weather forecasts. The Point Barrow station is over 450 miles north of the other weather outposts.

Mrs. Morgan and her husband will live in the most primitive surroundings with only a few score people within hundreds of miles. Their only communication with the outside world, with the exception of their radio, will be a steamer once and sometimes twice a year. Sometimes even this powerful icebreaker is unable to penetrate to the post for months after her scheduled arrival. Shortage of food and other supplies has often caused serious hardship. The temperature averages 19 degrees below zero during the coldest winter months and has been known to reach 55 degrees below zero.

American Soldiers Sip

51,000,000 Cups of Tea

Washington.—Soldiers in the United States army drink 51,000,000 cups of tea each year. Something like 391 cups trickle down the throats of every of fier and enlisted man annually, figuring the present peace-time strength at 133,033.

To provide this army of tea drinkers with the fragrant beverage required the purchase of 137,151 pounds of tea by the quartermaster corps in the fiscal year ended June 30. It is set forth in a bulletin issued here by the Tea Association of the United States. This is an average of a little more than a pound apiece for every soldier.

"Tea as the drink of fighting men," says the bulletin, "has the sanction of a good part of the rest of the world. Tea supplanted rum as the ration issued to English soldiers before they went over the top in the World war. Its invigorating and refreshing qualities braced them for the zero hour. Tea was carried in the canteens of both the soldiers of the minkado and of the czar in the Russo-Japanese war."

Remains of Warriors

Found in Huge Pit

Stockholm.—A mammoth grave containing the bones of 1,800 men killed in battle has been found by excavators outside the city wall of Visby, on the Swedish island of Gotland.

The discovery is said to be unequaled in archeological annals as to size and historical value. Within the grave were found large quantities of armor, weapons and a variety of brutal implements used in medieval warfare.

The bones date from 1361, when the Danish king, Valdemar Atterdag, invaded Gotland for the purpose of conquering Visby, a wealthy Hanseatic stronghold.

Little Big Horn Victim

Unburied Half Century

Lead, S. D.—More than half a century has marched across the plains of the Little Big Horn where, June 25, 1876, Gen. George Custer and his soldiers were slain by Indians, failing, however, to reveal the skeleton of one of Custer's men.

An Indian, Frank Berthune, recently found it. The skeleton was near the fence inclosing the battlefield. An arrowhead still was imbedded in the spine. Nearby was a time-eroded rifle scabbard bearing the initials "R. O." A check of Custer's detachment roster showed a Richard Doran.

Mexico City Ends Ban on Unescorted Women

Mexico City.—A woman is no longer subject to arrest if she happens to be alone upon a Mexico City street after nightfall. The new chief of police, Gen. Antonio Rios Zertuche, abolished a regulation, previously prevailing, that any unescorted female abroad at night might be arrested.

He said the law was possible of grave abuse and was an unwarranted interference with personal liberty.

EATS SAUERKRAUT NOW,
FEELS YEARS YOUNGER

"Now I eat even sauerkraut and sausage and feel fine. Adierika ended stomach gas and I feel 10 years younger."—Mrs. M. Davis.

Just ONE spoonful Adierika relieves gas that bloated feeling so that you can eat and sleep well. Acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes old waste matter you never thought was there. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adierika will surprise you. Robert S. McKinney, Druggist, Taneytown, Md.

Luring Air Thieves.

Explosives are being used in that country, the most daring of which, and the most common, is the kite. Flocks of them will sit for hours in the trees near the camp waiting for an opportunity to steal a meal from the cook tent. In this they will often take great chances and they have been known to dart across the cook's fire and steal food from his pans on the stove. They have no hesitation in stealing the food from any wild animal they encounter which happens to be enjoying a meal.

DIED.

Obituaries, poetry and resolutions, charged for at the rate of five cents per line. The regular death notices published free.

MRS. JOHN H. MITTEN.

Mrs. Mary E., wife of Mr. John H. Mitten, associate Editor of The Times died at her home in Westminster on Thursday, from heart trouble, after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Mitten was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She had lived in Westminster all her life. On Nov. 22, Mr. and Mrs. Mitten celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary.

She is survived by two children, Mrs. J. Thomas Anders and J. Albert Mitten, of Westminster, and by two step-children, Mrs. Clara Loane, of Baltimore, and George H. Mitten, of Washington; also by two sisters, Mrs. Frank Eckenrode, of Reese, and Mrs. Catherine Fringer, Westminster.

Funeral services will be held at the home Saturday afternoon, and in St. Paul's Reformed Church, in charge of her pastor, Rev. J. N. Garner. Interment in Westminster cemetery.

MR. F. DAVID OHLER.

Mr. F. David Ohler, retired farmer died at his home in Keysville, Saturday afternoon, aged 73 years, and 23 days. He had been ill from various troubles for ten or twelve years, but the immediate cause of death was hardening of the arteries. He was well known in Taneytown and vicinity where he had lived the most of his life.

He was a son of the late Frederick and Mary Ohler, and is survived by his wife, who was Miss Henrietta Shoemaker, and the following children: Mrs. Mary Lockner, Taneytown; Mrs. Herbert Waltz, Waynesboro, Pa.; Charles, John and Frank Ohler, Keysville; and by two sisters, Mrs. Mary J. Houck, Taneytown, and Mrs. Geo. Forney, Keysville, and by one brother, John W. Ohler, near Taneytown, also by a number of grand and great-grand-children.

The funeral was held on Tuesday morning, with a requiem mass in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, by Father Little, followed by interment in the Reformed cemetery.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas, It pleased Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom to remove from our midst, on the twenty-ninth day of October, nineteen hundred twenty-eight, our friend and neighbor, Mr. Edwin H. Sharrett; and Whereas, Mr. Sharrett was a highly esteemed and faithful director of the Key Grain & Feed Company and gave the Company his faithful consideration at all times—always working for its best interests. And

Whereas, He was a gentleman of the finest type, deeply devoted to his church, and the advancement of religious progress, a kind and considerate man, who was greatly respected by all who were fortunate enough to know him. And Whereas, His death has cast a deep gloom over the entire community where he was so well known and his advice constantly sought.

Now therefore be it Resolved by the Key Grain & Feed Company that we feel keenly the loss occasioned by his death and that we bow in submission to Him who doeth all things well. And be it further Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Company and be published in the Carroll Record.

COMMITTEE.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Resolution of respect adopted by the President and Board of Directors of the Birnie Trust Company, of Taneytown, Maryland, upon the death of Edwin H. Sharrett, a member of the Board of Directors since its organization in the year nineteen hundred.

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from this earth the Spirit of Edwin H. Sharrett, who departed this life suddenly on the 29th. day of October, 1928, at his late residence, in Keymar, Carroll County, Maryland.

Be it Resolved, by the President and Board of Directors of The Birnie Trust Company, of Taneytown, Maryland, that in the death of the said Edwin H. Sharrett, who was a member of the Board of Directors of this Company, from its organization, this Company has lost a valuable officer; each and every officer of the Company a much valued friend, and the community in which he lived his whole life on this earth, a citizen in whom every one had the highest confidence.

And be it further Resolved, That this Resolution be spread upon the minutes of this meeting of the President and Board of Directors, and a copy published in The Carroll Record, of Taneytown, Md.

Adopted by the President and Board of Directors of The Birnie Trust Company, this 24th. day of November, 1928.

Hopeless

An airplane flew over an Irish asylum, much to the consternation of the inmates. Next day two of the latter were discussing the strange machine. One said:

"Do you know, I dreamt last night I made one of those contrivances and flew to Australia in sixty minutes."

"That's strange," said the other, "for I had a similar dream, only I went to Melbourne in sixty seconds."

"How did you go?"

"Right through the earth."

"Look here, my friend," said the other, "you're not a lunatic—you're a blithering idiot."

Be Charming

In the world there is no duty more important than that of being charming. Without the jeweled presence of the humming bird, how gloomy would be the recesses of the forest! Is it not one of the most delightful duties of life to shed joy around you; to scatter happiness with your every word and movement; to cast a light into the dark corners of our life; to be the gilded cord that leads our destiny, and to be the true spirit of beauty and harmony?—Victor Hugo.

Ancient Roman Art

One of the most beautiful examples of art as practiced by the ancient Romans is known as the Trajan's column.

Situated in Rome, this tower, which consists of twenty-three tiers, soars into the air, an imposing figure, covered with about 25,000 gloriously sculptured figures.

The tower was built to celebrate the victories of the Emperor Trajan, whose remains are buried beneath this beautiful structure.

Chevrolet Advance Showing.

Mr. M. S. Ohler, of Ohler's Chevrolet Sales Co., has been informed by the Chevrolet Motor Co. that an additional advance showing of the "Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History—A Six in the Price Range of the Four," will be made in the lobby of the Southern Hotel, Baltimore, on December 13, 14 and 15.

Mr. Ohler states that this advance showing will open at noon on the 13th and at 10:30 on the mornings of the 14th and 15th respectively. The showing will not close until midnight on each of these three days.

The tremendous response to the advance showing made in Washington, D. C., on Dec. 1, 2, 3 and 4, proves that the new Chevrolet is destined to go down in automotive history as one of the most sensational of all time. 32,931 people attended the showing in Washington, and it is anticipated that even a greater number will avail themselves of this opportunity of viewing and inspecting and obtaining information regarding the new Chevrolet car in Baltimore. The expressions of the thousands at the Washington showing, indicates a definite appreciation of the new color combinations, the elegance of the fittings and upholstery and the expensive "big car" appearance of the new models.

The new powerful engine with its 32% increased horse-power over the previous models, a product of four years of intensive development by Chevrolet and General Motors, will be one of the most interesting exhibits at the showing.

Mr. Ohler states that he will have new models on display in his salesroom, January 1st, at which time deliveries are scheduled to begin.

Fifteen huge Chevrolet factories throughout the country are pushing production with all speed possible, within the limits of precision manufacturing, to meet the demand which has grown since the announcement of "The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History—A Six in the Price Range of the Four."

Indians Good Swimmers.

The Bureau of American Ethnology says that the Indians were remarkable swimmers and some of the tribes were in the water as much as were the primitive Polynesians. They swam six or seven different ways, including treading water, and would dive to the bottom of deep water. A common institution among the Indians was the sweat bath. They would sweat in a specially constructed sweathouse, which was closed up to keep the heat in, and when they thought they had sweated enough would suddenly run outdoors, giving warwhoops, throw themselves into the cold water, and after a while re-enter the sweathouse to dry off, since they had no towels.

Animals and Science.

Animals have not contributed solely to the welfare of human beings, Dr. John A. Kolmer points out in Hygeia Magazine. The lower animals are directly benefited by the advances in biological therapy.

Tetanus antitoxin, for instance, is often used to prevent tetanus in wounded animals. Antianthrax serum combats anthrax in sheep and cattle. A serum for hog cholera is successfully employed by veterinarians. Dogs are vaccinated against rabies. There are also serums for joint-ill of colts; hemorrhagic septicemia of horses, cattle, hogs and sheep; white scours of hogs, cats, dogs and sheep; infectious abortion of cows, and rinderpest of cattle.

Ad Writer's Idea of Great American Home

According to the advertisements it is a private residence and gentleman's estate and built of certified lumber and southern pine, the aristocrat of soft woods bought direct from the mills, and colored stucco, hollow tile, concrete for permanence, sheet steel for every purpose, the inherent charm of stone, and brick that is cheaper in the long run, and it is covered with everlasting shingles, lined with cork insulation, appointed with correct hardware, painted with imperishable colors, heated with an absolutely silent oil furnace and radiators from a world institute of heating that blankets the nation. It has artistic interiors made so with lacquer, beautiful ceilings, screens that last, a modern breakfast nook inspired by Old world craftsmanship, the secret of lovely oak floors, the last word in living room style that turns into a bedroom at night, the recognized leader of all coal windows, the utmost in sanitary engineering, instant hot water from plumbing fixtures with finest quality of brass pipes that contain more copper, and bathroom luxury used on Park avenue yet priced low enough for the most modest cottage, and is desirably located in a fast-growing community with rising values and filled with period furniture, genuine linoleum, and music from radios, phonographs and grand pianos used by the immortals and bought on the installment plan with a small down payment or what have you?—Kansas City Star.

Reserved Opinion.

The immutability of the civil servant is proverbial but this gem recorded by Lord Asquith takes the cake:

"It used to be said of one of the most distinguished civil servants, Sir Alfred Lyall, who was a poet to boot, that even on such a topic as the weather he would not go farther than:

"I'm inclined to guess that there is a touch of east in the wind; but of course you mustn't give me away."

Gem From Doctor Johnsing.

Boswell was complaining that his wife wanted a new hat which he could not afford.

Boswell—Sir, I told her to save money by making the old hat over.

Doctor Johnsing—Why, sir, I tried that on my wife once. Instead of making the hat over she made the roast over and I ate hash for six days.—Louisville Courier-Journal

JUST HUMANS

By Gene Carr

"THAT BOY THAT'S STRIKING MATCHES—IS HE YOUR BROTHER?"
"NIX, I'M JUST MINDIN' HIM!"

Mother's Cook Book

"Superstition is what prompts some people that a horseshoe over a door has more value than a lock and key."

SEASONABLE FOODS

TO SERVE three attractive meals for seven days in the week the house mother must plan ahead to avoid monotony and be able to use up all food advantageously.

Chicken Au Lait.

Take a five-pound fowl, one quart of milk, one tablespoonful of flour, one egg, one stalk of celery, one-half a bay leaf, four tablespoonfuls of butter, one-teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper, one-half cupful of cream. Put the milk, bay leaf, celery, onion into a saucepan and simmer for twenty minutes, then remove the seasoning vegetables. Add salt, pepper, two tablespoonfuls of butter and let stand where it will keep hot. Stuff the fowl for roasting, brown in a deep pan in a hot oven, then pour over the seasoned milk, cover and cook until the fowl is tender. When done remove the fowl, add flour to the gravy in the pan, cook until well blended, add egg and cream and serve with the fowl.

Macaroni Scallop.

Put layers of cooked macaroni into a baking dish with layers of finely cut or chopped cold meat, adding any gravy, or lacking that, add a cupful of tomatoes. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake until thoroughly hot.

Scalloped Fish.

To any leftover fish add a few diced potatoes, peas and a cream sauce. Cover with crumbs well buttered and bake as usual.

Lettuce for several days may be prepared and wrapped in a piece of old lace curtain. Many cooks make bags of curtaining to drain washed lettuce; this may be tucked away into the ice chest and the crisp, clean, dry lettuce is always ready to serve.

Some time for supper or luncheon make sandwiches for the family and serve them with a hot drink of cocoa. This with a lettuce salad will make a satisfying meal. For the sandwich filling try this: Allow one hard cooked egg for each person, chop coarsely, add chopped red pepper or stuffed olives, minced parsley and mayonnaise dressing to moisten. Serve on buttered whole wheat bread.

Often bits of leftover meats which are not enough to serve alone when chopped and added to other ingredients make fine sandwich filling.

Autumn Leaf Cookies.

Cream one-half cupful of butter, add one cupful of sugar and one egg well beaten, then add three tablespoonfuls of milk, two cupfuls of flour sifted well with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Chill and roll as thin as possible. Lay on a greased maple or oak leaf and cut out around it. Bake on a greased tin in a hot oven.

Date Souffle.

Beat three eggs until light, add one cupful of granulated sugar slowly, beat well to dissolve the sugar, add two large tablespoonfuls of flour, one cupful of walnut meats, one cupful of dates cut up. Mix well and bake twenty-five minutes in a shallow tin. Cut into three and one-half inch squares and serve with whipped cream. It is better baked the day before serving.

WHY WE HAVE PAIN

PAIN is the signal of danger. Something is wrong. Without this warning we might persist and get hurt or killed. If you felt no pain by coming in contact with fire you might burn up before you realize what was happening to you.

Pain is not a feeling. It is a sensation. The distinction is that in case of a feeling you have a vague notion of pleasantness or unpleasantness whereas in pain you have a distinct sensory experience. Feelings are not localized and have no specific organs. Pain, like every other sense such as seeing, hearing, etc., is localized in pain cells mostly on the skin and scattered throughout the body. They are mostly found on the surface because there is where they are most needed as watch dogs of our health and safety.

Another reason why pain has been confused with feeling is that most pains are unpleasant and unpleasantness is a feeling. Feelings of pleasantness and unpleasantness are the accompaniments of all sensory experience of everything we see, hear, feel or touch. Some colors look good to us, others look ugly; musical notes are pleasant; scraping, shrill, loud noises are decidedly unpleasant; soft, smooth, velvety objects are pleasant to the touch; clammy, cold, ragged, sharp, uneven surfaces are unpleasant.

Although most pains are unpleasant, some are neutral and a few are positively pleasant. If you cannot think of a pleasant pain recall the sensation of poking a sore thumb to enjoy the pain. Pain, then, is not a feeling. It is a sensation. It is usually accompanied by a feeling of unpleasantness but may be neutral or pleasant at times. We have pain to warn us of approaching danger and harm. Pain is our greatest friend in the struggle for existence. In avoiding pain we are compelled to remove the deadly causes.

Garden Pottery Adds

Charm to Exteriors

The garden has always been indicative of freedom from the unpleasant and is regarded as a place where one may go and forget the cares and worries of everyday life.

In artistically designed gardens we see perfect harmony between the work of man and nature.

In planting gardens, future growth must be taken into consideration, but where nature has already determined what shall be, man can use his artistic ability to great advantage by placing furniture, such as sun dials, bird baths, flower pots and vases, benches, fountains and the like, which harmonize beautifully with the grass paths, flower beds and pergolas.

Where one has stretches of lawn, the placing of a few urns, a fountain or bird bath and where the occasion permits, a bench, gives an attractive effect. Even very small lawns can be much improved in appearance by a few pieces of garden pottery.

A striking arrangement can be had by planting the rear of the lawn to shrubs and placing a bird bath quite near it with here and there an ornamental flower pot filled with flowers.

The use of garden pottery as an asset to a beautiful garden or lawn is of great value, but the material of which this pottery is made should be taken into consideration. Decorations of this character should be of such material that the durability is assured so that they will retain their artistic value.

Rural Art to Succeed

Drab Farm Scenery

Drab days on the farm are about to yield to the era of farm art in the United States.

Belief that the rural sections of the United States are "growing up to beauty" is expressed by Lorado Taft, one of America's foremost sculptors, in Farm and Fireside Magazine. He sees the day of the dull, unpainted barns and the farmsteads that have gone unpainted for years passing, and instead the time when farmers will compete to produce the most beautifully landscaped properties and the most attractive farm buildings.

"I often think of the drab bareness of thousands of farmsteads, and of thousands of country towns, with hardly anything beautiful about them except the lovely country girls," says Mr. Taft. "And what a dreary setting for these girls! Only the picture show for diversion, as a rule."

"Before long, surely, we shall find rural sections competing with each other in building community houses where beauty can be within and without, and farmers competing with each other in producing handsomely landscaped grounds and yards. Beauty is not expensive. Usually the farmsteads which should be the loveliest spots are the ugliest in the countryside."

Mr. Taft is the creator of notable works of sculpture throughout the Middle West. His statue of Black Hawk, near Oregon, Ill., is familiar to farmers of the state.

Durability of Wood

An English bridge was of three trusses supporting two roadways, each about 12 feet wide. All parts were constructed of hewn timbers. The workmanship was reported by the engineers to be as nearly perfect as could be imagined, the framing and joining being as accurate as if it were cabinet work. The total freedom from racking of local distortion after 90 years of use was pointed out as bearing witness both to the excellence of design and execution of the work. If you fear to build with wood, thinking the wooden house will quickly decay, this long-lived bridge should quiet such fears. Wood is flexible, responsive to color and architecturally expressive.—New York Herald Tribune.

City's Points of Interest

The magnolia gardens of South Carolina express the higher ideals of the human race. They are a product of many years of planting and culture. Their display of magnolias and azaleas is the most extensive and beautiful in the world. They attract varying streams of visitors as long as they are in bloom, especially at Easter time.

It is possible for almost any considerable city to approach perfection in some interesting development, and when it does it has something of definite value to itself and to its visitors.—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

Copper Roofing Spreads

By means of a new form of shingle one may have a roof which gives all the lasting protection of pure copper against wear, weather and fire—plus a charm that grows more lovely through the years. Once only expensive homes could have the advantage of a copper roof. Now science has made it available in copper-clad at half the cost of copper roofing in its old-time form and only slightly more than high-grade wooden shingles.

Tree Roots Clog Drains

Types of trees whose rapid root growth is liable to cause clogging of sewers and drains should be avoided by the home owner.

Laughter Puts Joke

on the Fault-Finder

As long as life lasts, we shall find that troublesome, unpleasant person who seems incapable of saying a single word without finding fault.

And there's nothing to choose on this point between men and women. Some of the former can be really bad at the game. For, after all, it is a silly game, which may become a menace to our peace of mind.

It seems to be an inseparable part of the mind of some folk—this fault-finding. Often it is based on mere nothing.

There's one thing these picknick people don't like. They hate you very badly if you laugh at them. It upsets their rhythm. And most of the fault-finders work to a rhythm. Put them off it and they are undone.

Of course, says London Chronicle, there are more ways than one of laughing at them. You don't need to laugh outright. A twinkle of the eye; a steady, amused look, a sly dig—metaphorically, of course, although a nice Eighteenth century one wouldn't be amiss sometimes—a bit of leg-pulling; any of these methods are warranted to disturb the lines of attack of these fault-finders.

No, indeed; they can't stand being laughed at.

Seems Odd Method of

Relaxing From Strain

Many of the drivers of London busses, says an English paper, own small cars and motor cycles and get relaxation from handling busses by piloting the smaller vehicles in their leisure time.

In the same way it is easy to understand the benefits derived by, say the husband of a mother of six in taking a bride of a month to tea, or the operator of a steam shovel digging in the children's sand box with a tin shovel and pail, or an amateur marathon enthusiast running to and from business every day, or a wholesale florist picking daisies in an empty lot, or a bank teller matching pennies, or a big game hunter shooting flies with a rubber band, or a mail clerk playing post office, or a high diver jumping off curbstones, or an explorer searching for funny names in the phone book, or an astronomer looking at germs through a red-tinted glass.

Or writing a piece like this.—Kansas City Star.

Beauty in Motion

A symphony is beautiful or satisfying in its action, like changing winds and clouds of sound. It may be a vehicle of moving meaning, but has no unchanging stable quality, no static beauty; because it has no static existence. Action is its being. Likewise an epic poem moves and lives in action. The Odyssey has no moveless beauty, but the beauty of heroic and romantic action. Its words are winged. Even more palpably a drama is centered, focused action, an unpausing utterance. A lyric is a quick flow of feeling and perception.—Henry Osborn Taylor, in "Human Values and Verities."

Durability of Slate

Roofs Proved by Time

Early Britons lived in mud huts and the first real building that was done in England was by the Saxons, who were as good builders as they were warriors. Finding forests in plenty, they proceeded to build wooden buildings and roof them, at first with straw or reed thatch. Next slate, being found in considerable abundance and proving easy of cleavage, was employed and became the accepted roofing for all buildings of importance.

In Hartford-on-Avon there still stands an old Saxon chapel covered with the slate roof that was put on in the Eighth century. To this day thatch is used on peasants' cottages, but slate has for centuries been employed as roofing for the homes of the gentry and for important public buildings.

A British writer in 1602, writing of the superior merits of slate as opposed to straw thatch, wrote that slate was "in substance thinn, in color faire, in weight light and in lasting strong." Today there is little more that can be said of slate. Centuries of use have proved its astonishing durability. Thousands of beautiful buildings throughout England and Wales testify to its lasting charm and thousands of English type homes in America show its appropriateness in the consistently English style of architecture.

Short Memory

A well-known man spent an hour in conference with an oil magnate. His secretary finally came in to remind him that a number of visitors had been waiting a long time. The financier decided to go out and apologize for delaying them.

He was followed to the outer room by the man with whom he had been in conference, and in making the rounds came to him, shook his hand and said he was sorry he kept him waiting, and that he was very happy to see him.

Kept Within Law but

Got His Shaft Home

A Mount Vernon (N. Y.) lawyer had lost but one case in a practice extending over 25 years. This particular case should never have been lost; the lawyer knew it and was correspondingly angered at the judge, whom he blamed for the loss of the case. Arising from his seat the lawyer addressed the court:

"Your honor, is it against the law to think?"

"Of course not," replied the judge. "Is it against the law to tell what you think?"

"Of course not," replied the judge. "You know very well that it is not."

"Is it against the law to say at all times and anywhere what you honestly think, you honor?"

"Now, Mr. —, your experience teaches you that you can say at all times and anywhere what you really think," said the man on the bench.

"Well, your honor," said the defeated lawyer, "I think that the decision just handed down was rotten."

And he "got by" with it.

The Lombards.

Lombard street, the principal bank quarter of the city of London, takes its name from the "Lombards," so-called Italian goldsmiths and money-lenders, who settled there in the beginning of the Twelfth century.

They were then commonly called "Longbeards," and the name of the thoroughfare was spelt indifferently Longbord and Langebred. A century or so later it had become corrupted into Langbourne—that is, "long brook"—and this misleading title is still retained for the ward in which it is situated.

The utilities of a city are combined in your motor car

YOUR automobile is something like a miniature city. There is an electric light and power system, a water system, a fuel system.

In the new Ford, you will find each of these systems of the latest design and best materials. Every part has been made to serve you faithfully and well at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Take, for example, the generator—one of the most important parts of the electrical system which supplies the current for lighting and for engine ignition.

In the new Ford, the generator is of the power-house type and is distinctive in many features. It has been specially designed to prevent most forms of trouble. Oiling is necessary only once a year. About the only thing you need do is to have the charging rate changed as the seasons change.

Closely allied to the electrical system is the ignition system. It, too, is of new mechanical design in the new Ford. There is but one high tension cable and that connects the coil with the distributor. Even cables from the distributor to the spark plugs have been eliminated. Special care has also been taken to make the distributor water-proof, thus preventing short circuits from rain, etc.

The entire electrical and ignition systems of the new Ford are so simple in design and so carefully made that they will give you surprisingly little trouble. Yet that doesn't mean they should be neglected. Certain little attentions are needed from time to time.

The storage battery should be given water and the connections kept clean. The generator charging rate should be changed as indicated. Spark plugs should be cleaned at regular intervals. Distributor points should also be kept clean and the distributor cam given a light film of vaseline every 2000 miles.

These are just little things, but they mean a great deal to your car. You can have them looked after at very small cost by the Ford dealer when you take the car in for oiling and greasing.

A thorough checking-up at regular intervals will lengthen the life of your car and give you many thousands of miles of carefree, economical motoring.

Lesson for December 16

PAUL AND HIS FRIENDS

LESSON TEXT—Acts 20:36-38; Rom. 16:1-4; Phil. 2:25-30; Philemon.
GOLDEN TEXT—A friend loveth at all times.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Writes a Letter to Philemon.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul's Letter to Philemon.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul as a Friend.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The place of Friendship in the Christian Life.

I. Paul Praying with the Ephesian Elders (Acts 20:36-38).

This incident reveals the real spirit of fellowship which had developed between Paul and the elders of the church at Ephesus. Knowing the seriousness of his mission to Jerusalem and the probability that he would never see them again, he asked these elders to meet him at Miletus, that he might give them the proper instructions so as to enable them to meet the issues which confronted them. Before leaving them he knelt down and prayed with them.

II. Concerning Certain Ones at Rome (Rom. 16:1-4).

1. Phoebe commended to the Christians at Rome. Phoebe was a Christian woman from the church at Cenchrea who was making a visit to Rome. Her business is not defined, but it was such that he could ask the Christians not only to receive her, but to render to her the proper assistance therein.

2. He asks that the Christians greet Priscilla and Aquila (vv. 3, 4). The ground upon which this greeting was urged was their own loyalty to himself.

III. Concerning Apaphroditus (Phil. 2:25-30).

Not being able to revisit the church at Philippi, Paul sent his friend Apaphroditus to minister to them.

IV. Paul Writes to Philemon.

Philemon was a member of the church at Colosse. Onesimus, his slave, wronged him; perhaps stole from him and fled to Rome and there came under Paul's influence and was converted. Paul sent Onesimus back to Philemon with this letter. This is one of the most tender and beautiful letters ever written and the first anti-slavery petition ever penned.

1. The salutation (vv. 1-3).

His aim was to touch Philemon's heart; he, therefore, refers to himself as a prisoner and links Philemon to himself as a fellow-laborer in the gospel of truth.

2. Philemon's reputation (vv. 4-7).

(1) His faith and love toward the Lord and all the saints (v. 5).

His earnest desire was that this faith bear fruit in Christ Jesus.

(2) His ministry to the saints (v. 7). Philemon generously ministered of his substance to the poor saints.

3. Paul's request (vv. 8-16).

He requested Philemon to receive back Onesimus, the runaway slave, as a brother in Christ.

(1) Beseeches instead of commands (vv. 8-10). Though conscious of his right to enjoin, he pleads as a prisoner of Jesus Christ, for love's sake.

(2) He pleads on the grounds of grace (vv. 11-14). He admitted that Onesimus had been unprofitable, had forfeited all claim upon Philemon, and that on grounds of justice his plea might well be rejected, and yet, because Onesimus was begotten in his bonds (v. 10), was in a real sense part of his own suffering nature (v. 12), he ventured to suggest that he should be accepted.

(3) Paul desired that Onesimus be received back, not as a slave, but as a brother in Christ (vv. 15, 16). Here is the real fugitive slave law. Paul never attacked slavery, though it was contrary to Christianity and therefore hateful to him, but emphasized the principles which destroyed it. The wise thing to do is to get men and women regenerated and thus transform society, instead of seeking change by revolution.

4. The basis upon which Onesimus was to be received (vv. 17-21).

The debt of guilty Onesimus to be put to the account of Paul and the merit of Paul to be put to the account of Onesimus. This is a fine illustration of the atonement of Christ. Whatever wrongs we have committed, debts incurred—all our shortcomings are debited to Him. Jesus Christ, on behalf of the whole universe, said to God, "Put that to my account." Onesimus was taken back, not as a runaway slave, but as a beloved brother in Christ.

5. Paul requests lodging (vv. 22-25). He expected a speedy release from imprisonment and purposed to sojourn with Philemon. What a welcome he must have received!

What They Realize

Children may not understand all the readings used nor thoughts expressed in the family worship hour, but they do feel that this is a time when the whole family enters a holy place. God is made real, and family life is made a part of His plan and a thing within His care.—The Mainland Messenger.

Good Company

There is always good company on the highway of God.

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fires, important happenings, visits to or from the community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

Mrs. Margaret E. Bankert has sold her small farm, near town, to Thomas Lawrence.

We still have a few boxes of assorted design Christmas Cards. No further orders taken from our sample lines.

The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. Harry Mohny, on Thursday evening, at 7:30.

Mrs. G. H. Birnie has returned home after spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Zollickoff and family, at Uniontown.

Let us have all special Christmas announcements, for Churches or Sunday Schools, early next week in order that all may be placed together under one heading.

Piney Creek Presbyterian Sunday School will hold a Christmas Candle Lighting Service, on Friday evening, Dec. 21, given principally by the Sr. Department of the Sunday School.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Overholtzer entertained at dinner, on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Crabbs and children, of Baltimore, and Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Crabbs and son Elwood, of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon T. Brown entertained at supper, on Sunday evening, George Koontz and daughters, Hilda and Clara, and son, Elwood, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Baumgardner and Ralph Conover.

Mrs. Charles Campbell and children, of Westminster, Charles Horst and Ralph Ruffey, of Greencastle, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Stover, of near town, visited Mrs. Mary Stover and family, on Sunday.

The news of the accidental death of Father Cuddy was received in Taneytown with general regret, not only by his former parishioners here, but by many friends in other denominations who held him in high regard.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palmer and Mrs. David Staley visited the former's mother, Mrs. Louisa Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller, at Hanover, on Wednesday, and had the pleasure of helping to eat deer meat.

According to points, Miss Mary Isabel Elliot and Daniel Teeter, of the Taneytown School, stood second with 542, in the county declamation contest held in St. Mary's Reformed Church, Silver Run, last Friday evening.

Mrs. Lillie M. Byers and Mrs. A. G. Riffe have started a potato chip and salted peanut factory in town, under the firm name of Byers & Co., and by the excellence of their products expect to merit an extensive patronage.

Those who were not present at the presentation of "The Road Back" a pleasing 3-act comedy drama, given in the Opera House, on Wednesday evening, by the Rebekahs of Manchester, missed a well-rendered play and an evening of enjoyment.

Charles R. Arnold returned home, Wednesday, from Mercy Hospital, where he surrendered his appendix and is now getting along well without it, and with prospects of soon being in his accustomed place back of the screen in The Birnie Trust Co.

An order for our Dictionary advertised in last week's issue, was received Monday morning from Prof. H. E. Slagen, principal of Glen-Nor Joint High School, Norwood, Pa. And so goes away from Carroll County a real bargain. There were two more applicants for it later in the day.

Through an error in last week's issue the names of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Brown, of Kane, Pa., were omitted, as they were also at the Brown home-coming and remained to see Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brown off, Tuesday of last week, for Arizona where they will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. David Staley, gave a birthday dinner to their children and grand-children, on Sunday, in honor of Mrs. Staley's 75th birthday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Russell Eckard, daughter, Ruthann and son Mehrl, of near town; Mr. and Mrs. Norville Eckard and Miss Millie Lowman, of near Mt. Joy, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palmer, of town.

The principal of a school at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, addressed an inquiry to the postmaster at Taneytown to find out whether Taneytown is pronounced "Tawney" or "Tainey." It appears that a class in the school is studying the map of the Gettysburg battlefield, on which "Taneytown road" appears, and there was contention among the pupils as to the correct pronunciation.

A musical program will be given this Friday night by the pupils of the High School, in the School Auditorium.

Roland Stump, of Baltimore, spent last week-end with Harry I. Reindollar and family.

Miss Ada R. Englar entertained twenty-four guests at a bridge party, on Thursday evening.

Miss Eleanor Birnie returned home, Wednesday, after spending a week with friends in Frederick.

Harry A. Allison has bought the Opera House building from The Birnie Trust Co., on private terms.

A Christmas entertainment will be held at Washington School, Friday evening, December 21, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Charles Foreman, Jr., was taken to the Frederick City Hospital, on Tuesday, suffering with gall stones.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Baumgardner entertained Rev. and Mrs. A. T. Sutcliffe and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll C. Hess and family, on Monday evening.

Jos. A. Hemler is still on a vacation at Mercy Hospital, but is getting along fine. His place in the Savings Bank is being filled by George Dodder, son of O. E.

The weather, for the past three months, has been the finest experienced here for many years, with the single exception that more rainfall would have been better for the water supply and the grain fields.

Miss Lulu Brower entertained on Sunday last: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Becker, daughter and son, Treva and Maurice; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Becker and child; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bollinger and two children.

On Tuesday evening, when Fred Helm, a Newark Shoe Factory employee, Littlestown, was returning home to Taneytown with a bus load of the employees, a car driven by Joseph Shadle collided with the bus knocking off a wheel and causing it to swerve and run into the dwelling of Charles Riffe. None of the occupants of the bus were hurt. The Shadle car was badly wrecked. The accident occurred on West King St.

"Nothing makes a man's blood run colder than the occasional ghastly realization that his majesty is regarded by his wife or daughters as a ridiculous thing."—Rupert Hughes.

If we noticed little pleasures
As we notice little pains;
If we quite forget our losses
And remember all our gains;
If we looked for people's virtues,
And their faults refuse to see,
What a comfortable, happy,
Cheerful place this world would be.

WITHOUT TUBES

The only Radios like it that are offered this year are far above it in price.

Crosley has designed a remarkable Set and with their mass production methods produce it at a price competition still says can't be done.

It is a new 1929 design. It operates entirely from AC electric power. It operates the new dynamic power speaker—the which sells for $25.00.

Crosley also builds an 8 tube AC SHOWBOX ($80.00) with push-pull 171 output tubes.
