

NEW ROADS THIS YEAR TANEYTOWN DIST.

Schedule for County made out by St. Roads Commission.

The news the first of this week that the State Roads Commission had decided to build two and one-half miles of road toward Littlestown, and one mile toward Keymar, was received here with surprise, as it was generally understood that three miles would be built toward Littlestown, with the hope that the entire link would be finished, and that the Keymar road would be left for next year.

However, even if a stretch of unimproved road is left at both north and south ends, the situation will be very materially helped, and the needs of both roads will have been given official recognition, with the practical assurance that by another year both ends will be given further attention. So, it is hardly worth while to criticize, but be glad that the roads are going to be built.

The following letter from The State Roads Commission, seems final, March 18th, 1930, County Commissioners of Carroll Co., Westminster, Md.

After reviewing the recommendations made by your board, and of the hearings held on road improvement in your County, the Commission has decided upon the following program.

South from Taneytown approximately 1 mile.

North from Taneytown approximately 2 1/2 miles.

Woodbine road, 1 mile.

New Windsor-Marston road, 1 mile.

The Baughman Valley road, 1 mile concrete and 1 mile resurfacing.

I am writing this letter that your Board may be advised of the action of this Commission prior to its proceeding with the work.

Very truly yours, G. CLINTON UHL, Chairman. The use of the word "approximately" is taken by some to mean that, if after the work is once started, it is found that an extension at either end is very desirable, it might be given; for instance, it is said that a half-mile more south would take in the worst stretch of that road, and make the connection with the Keysville road.

In addition to the above, it seems to be assumed that the shouldering of the Westminster road will be continued, this year, toward Taneytown.

WHY DO THEY DO IT?

Entirely aside from whether we believe, or not, in prohibition and its enforcement laws, why do men of average intelligence run the risk of death or injury to themselves and others, by drinking "moonshine" whiskey, or so-called beer? The appalling list of deaths and accidents, each week, caused by drinking the stuff, should warn all to let it alone.

The liquor now made illegally, are sold with all of the poison in them. They are "not aged in wood; not skillfully blended; there is no distiller's reputation and business to be protected. The sole object is to produce the stuff and sell it for profit to any who will be foolish enough to buy and drink it.

Many who take the chance, no doubt do so because they think it smart to beat the law. The very fact that they can get "moonshine" in underhand ways, must be attractive. Whatever causes the mental attitude of drinkers, it is a fearfully costly one, in its results to themselves—and to others.

What a sorry business the whole practice is!

CAN'T ALWAYS DEPEND ON WHAT WE HEAR.

It is always best in conversation to use words that, by their sound, can not be mistaken as to their meaning. For instance—

A jury may mete death, but does not meet it.

We may go by an article, but not buy it.

We may be well bred, but not well bread.

A pencil may be lead, but not led.

We need not get to sea, to see.

We can pare a pear with a pair of scissors.

No one ever saw a bare bear, nor heard a hoarse horse.

To use lye does not mean that we lie; nor that we die when we dye.

We can perform a feat, and not use our feet.

A son rises but not when the Sun rises.

We can take a lone loan—alone.

It would be hard to kill a kiln, but not so hard to heal a heel.

Learning to write, right, is not a rite.

All of which shows that we can't always believe what we think we hear.

HALTER AND CROUSE SALES.

Large crowds of people attended two late sales this week, and good prices were realized. At Wm. Jesse Halter's, near Marker's Mill, on Tuesday, horses sold as high as $191.00; mules, $367.50; cows, from $60 to $172.50; heifers, $70 to $80; shoats, $6 to $11.50; sows and pigs, $51.00; binder, $62.00; hay tedder, $42.50. The total amount of sales was $5277.07.

On Thursday, at Harry Crouse's sale, a pair of 21-year-old mules was sold for $8154.00; cows, $75 to $125; shoats, $7.50 to $10.20; all implements sold high—a binder brought $76.00; chickens sold at 28c and 31c lb. Total sales, $1900.00.

THE MEMORIAL BOULEVARD.

What Senator Goldsborough has to Say About It.

A letter to the Editor of The Record from Senator P. L. Goldsborough (which we assume not to be private) with reference to the talked of Washington-Lincoln Memorial Boulevard from Washington to Gettysburg, says:

"In reply to yours of March 14 in reply would say that in my opinion it would be practically impossible to secure the consent of Congress to authorize sufficient funds to construct a Memorial Boulevard between these two points through virgin territory.

It will be a difficult task, I am afraid, to even have authorized as a Memorial Boulevard present improved highways that will only call for a limited expenditure for necessary additional improvements; and as for securing sufficient appropriation to reconstruct as a Memorial Highway present unimproved roads, or the heaving out of an entirely new road, I would consider it a well-nigh impossibility."

The above is clearly self-explanatory, and likely correct. We have only to add that if the direct route is "impossible," the use of the already improved Frederick route should be more so. Why should the government spend a number of millions of dollars for widening a good road that already exists? It would be better to add the cost to the Federal appropriation for improved roads, where they are needed.

REFORMED CLASSIS SPECIAL.

A special meeting of the Maryland Classis of the Reformed church was held in Grace Reformed church, Frederick, last Friday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, to arrange for the installation of Rev. S. R. Kresge as pastor of the Utica Charge, and of Rev. Harry N. Bassler as pastor of St. Paul's church, Westminster.

Rev. John S. Adam, Middletown, president, presided. A committee, Rev. Dr. Henri L. G. Kieffer, chairman; Rev. G. W. Kerstetter, Bradock, and Elder Mehrl Ramsburgh, from the Utica charge, was appointed to install Rev. Mr. Kresge at a date convenient to the pastor and his congregation.

A committee of supply was appointed to temporarily take the place left vacant at the Union Bridge charge by Rev. S. R. Kresge, to consist of Rev. Felix Peck, Silver Run; Rev. John S. Hollenbach, Manchester; and an elder of that church.

Rev. Charles B. Rebert, of the Carroll charge, Rev. Mr. Kresge, and Dr. Lewis Woodward, editor, were appointed to install Rev. Mr. Bassler. Although no date has been set for the installation, Rev. Mr. Bassler will assume his duties at once.

LITERARY DIGEST POLL ON PROHIBITION.

The third poll being taken by the Literary Digest on Prohibition, was announced this week. The totals were as follows: for Enforcement 339,978; for Modification 383,117; for Repeal 527,388. The totals for enforcement and modification combined lead repeal by 189,707. The bulk of the repeal votes came from New York, that state supplying 139,912, or over one-fourth of the total for repeal.

Only 20 states and the District of Columbia are reported, and only one Southern state—Georgia. New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Illinois have responded the most liberally to the poll.

Kansas is the only state, so far, to favor prohibition with a lead over the total for modification and repeal. North Dakota, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, Oregon, South Dakota and Washington give a larger vote for enforcement than for repeal.

Ten States, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Minnesota, New Jersey, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and also the District of Columbia, give a vote for repeal greater than for either modification or enforcement.

The Anti-Saloon League and most other dry organizations are not urging their followers to enter the poll, on the ground that such private polls are worthless.

BEGINNING THE CENSUS MAY BE DELAYED.

The Enumerators for Carroll Not Yet Announced.

Although very little has been heard about it, the every ten years census will be begun some time next week. A vast number of questions are to be answered, and some of them will be difficult, and some will seem impertinent. Don't blame the enumerator. He did not make the questions, but it is his job to get the answers, or report cases refusing to answer.

All of the questions asked are for some good reason—for some information that is of general value. It is the only way Uncle Sam has of taking an invoice of stock—to show how his big family stands; and from the totals secured, big business in the aggregate is better able to plan for the future; and in some cases the reports of the census lead to future legislation.

Some have already received blank forms, and many have been sent to the Census Bureau direct, while others have received the forms in order that they may be studied in advance, and the answers figured out, ready when the census taker calls. Enumerating the population, merely, is easy. It is the other information that will require careful study, sometimes.

These questions must be answered. It is not optional with the individual as to what information he shall give, and what he shall not give. After all, there is hardly a good reason why the most personal questions should not be answered. The enumerators are sworn to secrecy, and none of the information as relating to individuals is given out by the Federal government to tax-gathering officials, nor to anybody else.

The census has been tremendously expanded from its original purpose of counting the population as a basis for representation, and while some of the statistics to be compiled may seem to many to be a useless prying into personal matters, there is reason for most of the lines of inquiry. To answer all that will be asked will mean a long and costly job for the business men of the country, but the average person will have little difficulty in meeting the demands, provided he will give the subject his attention.

The date for beginning the enumeration was set for Tuesday, April 1st. As there has been delay in announcing the enumerators for Carroll County, the work may be delayed a few days. In Baltimore and in many other districts the enumerators have been named, and the work will begin either on Tuesday or Wednesday.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION FOR WOMEN.

Very sweet foods have a tendency to blunt the appetite for other foods that supply materials the body needs. It is best to serve sweets in small quantities, toward the end of a meal.

Thousand Island dressing is a mayonnaise to which are added chopped highly flavored materials, such as pickle, olives, radishes, celery, green peppers, capers, grated cheese, hard cooked egg, and onion. Any combination may be used.

"Apartment" cuts of pork are now in demand by the housewife. The preferred market hog is small and thin enough to yield small cuts, and yet big and fat enough to dress a satisfactory percentage and produce attractive meat. Two hundred pounds is now considered a desirable market weight.

Hang garments by the straight of the goods and by their bands where possible. Sheets and other large pieces should be placed from a fourth to a half over the line and fastened securely in three or four places. Group similar garments together. Remove clothes from the line in a systematic manner and, to save time later, fold straight pieces before placing them in the basket.

NOTICE TO FISHERMEN.

Those expecting to resort to the waters above tide to fish with rod, hook and line are given below some abstracts of the law pertaining to fishing, insofar as the seasons, license size-and-croft limit are concerned.

Open Seasons. Trout, April 1st, to June 30th, both dates inclusive. Suckers, catfish, carp, eels and gudgeon, February 1st, to May 31st. Large and small mouth bass and all other species of game and fresh water fish July 1st, to November 30th.

Persons over the age of 16 are required to procure a license. The cost of these licenses are: resident of the State, $5.50; non-resident of the State, $1.25; each includes Clerk's fee.

The limit to be taken in a day is 10 bass; smallest trout 7 inches, smallest bass 10 inches, catfish 7 in. For further information apply to State Game Warden, 512 Munhey Building, Baltimore.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

John Bloom and Madelyn Humbert, Littlestown.

CHICAGO SNOW STORM

Causes Cold Wave To Extend Throughout East.

A fifty-hour storm in Chicago, resulted in a 19-inch snow fall, until Wednesday night. The city and surrounding country suffered greatly in every way, the most serious problem of the city being milk, as only half the usual quantity reached the city on Wednesday. Both railroads and highways were impassable, in sections, while all attempts to keep the streets of the city clear were unsuccessful.

The storm covered a wide area, including Detroit, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Toledo, Evansville and Galesburg. The fall commenced on Tuesday morning and ended Wednesday evening as suddenly as it started. All sorts of hold-ups occurred with all kinds of traffic, schools were closed; hundreds of automobiles were rendered useless in trying to navigate the roads—in fact all of the dangers, discomforts and accidents, including ten known deaths, occurred before the storm ended.

The effect of this storm was felt throughout the east, in some sections very severely, with possible injury to the fruit. However, very little snow-fall has been recorded east of Indiana, which means that fruit buds were practically dry and less liable to freezing.

PROTECT CHILDREN FROM TUBERCULOSIS.

Beginning in April, the National Tuberculosis Association, working through the local organizations in every part of the country, will start a nation-wide movement to bring about a better understanding of the importance of protecting children from tuberculosis.

Explaining the reason for this effort, Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the Maryland State Department of Health, said "Very few people realize that young children—including even young babies—catch tuberculosis very easily, just as they catch measles or scarlet fever or any of the other so-called children's diseases, by associating with other persons who have the disease.

"One reason why so few parents are aware of the danger they are running when they let a person who has tuberculosis kiss a little child, or when they let little children play on the floor or around the room of a person who is sick with lung trouble, is that tuberculosis either takes a different form in children from that to which we are accustomed in grown ups or does not make its appearance in a comparatively short time, as other diseases do, after exposure to it. By the time marked symptoms appear, the 'seedling' disease has struck deep roots into the child's system and it is hard to bring it under control.

"Then, too, in young children, the germs of tuberculosis may attack the bones or some other part of the body and the child who has this form of disease may show few of the more familiar symptoms. For these reasons, every possible means should be taken to protect young children from the disease. The rules of living that will help to build up resistance to the disease, and will protect young children from it, include these:

"Keep the children away from people who have tuberculosis. Have their work, study and play so adapted to their strength that they will not overdo. Insist on plenty of rest and sleep. See that they have nourishing food, well balanced meals, with plenty of milk habits, and see that they are taken regularly to the doctor for a health examination."

CONCERT AT B. R. COLLEGE.

On Friday night, April 4, there will be a concert at Blue Ridge College in which Miss Jeannette Bittner and Mr. John A. Englar will take part. The program will be under the direction of Professor Nevin W. Fisher.

Both Miss Bittner and Mr. Englar lived formerly in Carroll County. Miss Bittner is now residing in Washington. She is a young soprano who has already gained fine recognition with her excellent voice and fine singing. Recently she was selected from a group of several hundred students to sing the leading role in an operetta which was given at one of the largest high schools of Washington.

Mr. Englar possesses a barytone voice of much volume and beauty. He has been heard frequently from radio station WBAL and always with the utmost success. In church and concert and on the air he is one of the most popular barytones of Baltimore.

The public is very cordially invited to be present at this concert. Admission is free. The program will start promptly at eight o'clock in the college auditorium.

WHIPPING SCHOLAR, $25 FINE.

Arrested on the charge of alleged excessive punishment of Robert, the ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hoff, of near Westminster, George Shower, principal of the Mechanicsville school, was found guilty and fined $25 and costs, following a hearing Friday evening before Police Justice George E. Benson, of Westminster, before whom the charge was made. The informant in the case was the boy's father. The case has been appealed to court by the defendant. State's Attorney Theodore F. Brown, Westminster, represented the Commonwealth at the hearing, while Attorney Charles O. Clemson represented the school head.

SENATE PASSES ITS TARIFF BILL

After Seven Months the Country is Still Unsaved.

After many months of debate the Senate has at last produced its best version of what a Tariff Bill should be, and hardly anybody is satisfied with it, as a whole, which is not at all strange. The fact is, the perfect tariff bill is an impossibility—one of the things that "can't be done." A Democratic and Insurgent Republican alliance had the situation in hand, so far as votes were concerned; but, they could not agree, because individual and sectional interests did not agree.

At the outset, the main idea apparently was to benefit agriculture, and let all other interests out of the count. That is, it was agreed by many that agriculture, more than any other industry, needed protection. But "Agriculture" seems to include hides, leather, wool, lumber, sugar, cotton, tobacco, and a lot of other things in which manufacturers are also interested.

The agriculture schedules therefore overlapped the interests of manufacturers schedules, and naturally prevented limiting tariff changes to agricultural interests; and it was the most natural thing in the world to expect that every section and interest in this country wanted its share in the benefits of "tariff revision."

And now, even though that highly competent body—the Senate—did its mightiest, the result is unsatisfactory and a lot of already unhappy Senatorial tempers have been made unhappier, through the failure of the Senate to point the way to universal happiness and prosperity.

The bill passed the Senate, on Monday, and now goes to the House for conference. The vote was 53 to 31. Seven Progressives and seven Democrats voted with 39 old-time Republicans. What the House may do with the bill, and what President Hoover may do with the Conference bill, of course nobody knows.

Somebody must be "blamed" for the failure of the impossible to materialize. Eventually, it may be the President. Just now Senator Grundy of Pennsylvania, who has been in the Senate only a few weeks, did it. Some call it the "Grundy bill," but in reality old William Tariff, who has been keeping up his reputation for disturbance, these many many years, is the culprit.

A motion to re-commit the bill to the Finance Committee, with instructions to strike out all the rate schedules except those on agriculture, was defeated by a vote of 70 to 9, shows that the Senate was at least nearly of one mind on one question, and an endorsement of including other schedules in its work.

The House is likely to take up its work on the bill within a week.

FOUR YOUNG RUSSIANS KILLED.

Four men were killed in Buffalo, N. Y., on Sunday, in a running pistol duel with detectives. Here are their names: Walter Krajewski, Henry Piotrowski, Edward Dombicwicz and John Dzaszyanski. All had criminal records, and their ages ranged from 17 to 21 years. A fourth man with two bullet wounds escaped from a hospital by climbing down a fire escape, while surgeons were getting ready to operate.

The men were taken after eight automobiles had been reported as stolen; all of the five men were in one of the stolen cars. The names indicate that all were Russians.

HONORS FOR NUN WAR NURSE.

Sister Veronica, who died Tuesday at St. Agnes Hospital, Baltimore, at the age of 91 and who for 76 years has been a Sister of Charity, was accorded military honors at her burial in the New Cathedral Cemetery, Baltimore, on Thursday. A requiem mass in the chapel of the Hospital preceded her burial, at which a squad of riflemen fired a volley over her grave, and a bugler sounded taps.

In 1854 she entered the novitiate at Emmitsburg, and when the battle of Gettysburg took place she was among the first to go on the field to aid the wounded.

CARROLL SOCIETY TO MEET.

The annual election of officers for the Carroll County Society, of Baltimore, will be held on Thursday, April 10th, at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Guy W. Steele, Esq., of Westminster, will speak on the Lincoln-Memorial road from Washington to Gettysburg. There will be an evening of entertainment as well as refreshments. All Carroll Countians are welcome at these meetings.

NEWS NOTES OF THE WEEK

Brief Mention of Some Important Happenings.

Judge John J. Parker, of Charlotte, N. C., has been named by President Hoover to the vacancy on the Supreme Court bench, caused by the death of the late Edward T. Sanford, of Tennessee.

$132,000,000 will be spent by the Treasury Department, this year, for public buildings, some of them new and some under way. A $14,000,000 Postoffice for Chicago will be the largest undertaking.

Andrew Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, was 75 years old, on Tuesday. He has been in the Treasury position over nine years, and is still remarkably active and physically fit.

George W. Wickersham, chairman of the Commission on Law Observation and Enforcement, favors modification of the Jones-Stalker prohibition law, which provides heavier penalties for prohibition violators in certain instances and believes that Congress will know whether prohibition can be enforced only after the Department of Justice has had charge of enforcement long enough to grasp the whole problem. At the same time, he thinks that it can be "measurably enforced, although human appetite is widespread."

Samuel S. Lewis, of York, one of the Republican candidates for Governor, has withdrawn from the race. His running mate—Senator Grundy—is expected to stay in the race, due to the insistence of strong friends.

E. C. Drury, former Prime Minister of the Canadian province of Ontario, appeared before the House Judiciary Committee, on Wednesday, and testified that the dispensary system in Ontario had failed, and expressed the hope that the province would go back to prohibition.

A decrease of 3.7 percent in the acreage of spring wheat is indicated by reports from the Department of Agriculture from reports from about 50,000 farms. An increase of 2.8 percent in corn acreage as intended, is also reported. The condition of winter wheat is good.

Canned food packers are said to be pretty generally favorable to compulsory grading of canned foods, or at least to extend the grading service now conducted by the Federal warehouses, as proposed in the Hope-Goldsborough bills now before the House and Senate.

The American delegates to the Naval Conference, in London, are reported to have drafted a "consultative pact plan," the full nature of which has not been disclosed. Whatever it is, there will be strong opposition to it in this country, by those opposed to "Leagues" or "Courts," as well as "Pacts" Senator Borah is already getting ready to shoot.

RAILROADS LOSING PASSENGER TRAVEL.

An analysis of railway operation, as affected by Motor trucks and bus lines, has just been published by the Committee on Economics of the American Railway Association, which shows the rapid increase in recent years in motor activity, the conclusion being that the end of this increased activity has not yet been reached.

The figures show that the Railroads have been losing heavily, especially in passenger traffic, both in numbers and in the average distance traveled per passenger, due to the rapid increase in the number of long distance bus lines. The greatest loss to the railroads, however, is still in the short distance travel. The report says:

"Passengers carried reached a peak in 1920, when 1,235,000,000 persons were carried and have steadily declined, only 790,000,000 having traveled in 1928. This is a decrease of 36 percent in 8 years. Passenger miles also reached their maximum in 1920 and have shown the same decreasing characteristics as passengers carried. The decrease from 1920 was 32.5 percent.

$9,145 COME IN 7 MONTHS.

Washington, D. C.—A total of $9,145 immigrants were admitted to the United States from all countries of the world during the first seven months of the present fiscal year, according to statistics made public by the Department of State. The Department's figures, based on the number of passports visaed by consular officials, included visas for most countries to the end of January.

The greatest number admitted from any country came from the Great Britain and Northern Ireland group, the total from there being 33,983 to the end of January. Germany came next with a total of 17,903, followed by Irish Free State with 9,642. From Poland there were 4,273 immigrants and from Italy 3,811.

$150 FOR VIOLATING LAWS.

Charged with failing to stop after an accident and driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor David Barth, of Woodbine, was fined $150 and costs and, being unable to pay the fine was lodged in the Elliott City jail. It is said that Barth struck James McConnel, 75, on the National Highway, west of Elliott City and did not stop. He was apprehended by an officer several miles from the scene and taken before Justice Higginbotham.

Thomas Bell, of Los Angeles, took a little drink or two and then decided to go for an automobile ride. As a result six people were taken to the hospital at the point of death, having been run down by Bell before he finally careened into the side of a street car.

THE FOLKS BACK HOME
By LAWRENCE HAWTHORNE

I've seen a lot of country
And I've met a lot of folks;
I've heard their hard-luck stories;
And I've listened to their jokes;
I find most people friendly
In a "keep-your-distance" way—
But it's the folks I left back home
I long for, day by day.

The folks back home are friendly
And the folks back home are true,
And they wish me all good-fortune
In the things I try to do;
They seem to know how happy
They can make a fellow's heart
Just by showing him that friendship
Can live on, though friends may part.

I like to see new faces
And I'm glad to make new friends;
I hope to trudge new pathways
Till the day my journey ends;
But often I'll be turning
From the trails I chance to roam,
To greet my childhood comrades—
Those dear folks I left back home.

SUNDAY SUPPER WILL GAIN BY INTRODUCTION OF NEW DISHES
By JOSEPH BOGGIA, Chef
The Plaza Hotel, New York City

EVEN during the winter months when hot foods, generally speaking, are the order of the day, a cold dish is usually the piece de resistance of the Sunday night supper. If the dish is to have a real appetite appeal for those who have indulged in a heavy mid-day dinner, the housewife must take special care to make it appetizing.

While nothing can be justly charged against the tastiness of cold ham or chicken, and potato salad, they have done duty as the standard Sunday supper dishes for so long, that their appearance frequently becomes monotonous. The three recipes given below will provide tried and tested departures from the usual routine.

SALMON MOUSSE WITH SAUCE MONTESQUIEU—Mix together one teaspoon mustard, a few grains cayenne, a half teaspoon salt, one and a half tablespoons sugar and one-half tablespoon flour. Add two egg yolks, one and a half tablespoons melted butter, three-fourths cup milk and one-fourth cup vinegar. Cook in a double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from the fire and add three-fourths tablespoon gelatine which has been soaked in one-half cup cold water. Add to this a can of salmon which has been flaked in the meantime. Place in a mold and after it has cooled put in the refrigerator to jell.

The sauce is made as follows. Beat one-half cup of cream until it is stiff. Add one-quarter teaspoon salt. Pour in slowly two table-spoons vinegar. Then stir in one pared and chopped medium-size cucumber.

EGGS AUVERGNE—Halve six hard-boiled eggs. Remove the yolks, taking care not to break the whites. Powder the yolks with a silver fork. Add one-half teaspoon mustard, one-quarter teaspoon salt, few grains of cayenne, dash of paprika, one teaspoon sugar, one tablespoon vinegar, one tablespoon olive oil. Mix until smooth with one tablespoon finely chopped parsley and place in the whites of the eggs. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

RICE SALAD BORAKA—Boil one cup of rice in the usual manner. Blanch with cold water and dust with two teaspoons salt and a little pepper. Chill in the refrigerator for several hours before using. Line a salad bowl with lettuce and pile the rice in the center. Halve four hard-boiled eggs. Remove the yolks and slice the whites into rings. Lay the rings over the rice. Pour over the mound a half cup of Albemarle dressing. Rub the yolks over the rice through a strainer. Sprinkle with two tablespoons chopped green peppers and one tablespoon chopped parsley.

The dressing is made as follows. Mix in the order given four table-spoons olive oil, two tablespoons grapefruit juice, one-half teaspoon powdered sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, and one-quarter teaspoon paprika. Chill and shake thoroughly before using.

DOWNY LITTLE THINGS... not long out of their shells... how much they must depend on you for the things they need to live and get big. They need a feed filled with nourishment. A feed which will build bones quickly... building muscles strong... change fuzz to feathers in a hurry... all this they demand... and yet their little crops can handle only one tiny thimbleful of feed a day! What a job for feed!

Consider Purina Chick Startena (mash) for this job! In every thimbleful are twelve ingredients! Cod-liver oil... dried buttermilk... alfalfa flour... granulated meat... these and eight others are there... each one with a real job to do. Purina Startena is mixed over and over again... 960 times just to be thorough! And you will find the same care taken with Baby Chick Chow (scratch)... to be fed with Startena.

Your chicks... what they do for themselves... what they do for you... is entirely in your hands. They eat so little... yet it counts so much... that you can afford to do only one thing... feed Purina Chick Startena!

In Sad But Loving Remembrance of ADDIE RUTH VALENTINE.

who passed away 6 years ago, March 24. Six years have passed since that day,
The one we loved was called away.
God took her home—it was his will,
But in our hearts she liveth still.

The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never,
The memory of those happy days,
When we were all together.

Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days;
Sincere and true in her heart and mind;
A kinder mother you could never find.

Her busy hands are folded now
Her work on earth is done,
We find the time long since you went
And we think of you hourly and daily
But try to be brave and content.

By her loving HUSBAND and daughters,
ETHEL and HAZEL O.

In Loving Memory of MRS. HESSIE V. FLOHR,

who departed this life 6 months ago.

She sleeps beneath her native earth
And near the spot that gave her birth
Her youthful feet trod flowers that bloom
In beauty o'er her early tomb.

She rests beneath her native earth
With grateful hearts we'll sing her worth
Her gentle ways shall ever dwell
In hearts that knew and loved her well.

And oft we lift the tearful eye
To hear her calling from the sky
Oh how could we hear her absence bear
But that we hope to meet her there.

BY HER HUSBAND.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TOPIC.

Successful Evangelism in Mission Fields. Acts 16:13-15, 25-33.

Illustrations for use in the Meeting.

An Ex-Austrian Soldier Evangelist—Ralph Harlow in his "Through Foreign Window Panes" tells of visiting Pundita Ramabai's wonderful work for girls in India. The chauffeur who drove him from the station proved to be an ex-Austrian soldier who had heard of her work and had written asking to become her chauffeur that he might have a share in the work.

A Hundred Chinese Converts in a Hundred Years.—In the early days of missions in China a great missionary declared that if in a hundred years a hundred Chinese could become Christian it would be a great miracle. Today in China there are more than 30,000 Christian Chinese leaders, and 40,000 Protestant Chinese, all won by missionary evangelism.

Evangelizing Old Men and Women—Years ago Mrs. Goodrich, a missionary of the American Board in China, noted the need of old men and women in Peking. She secured two buildings, each with a courtyard, surrounded by little rooms, and in these she had a most interesting collection of old men and old women, who had this place they could call home. When the Boxer rebellion wiped it out, she started another. And to many of them has come that inner peace of Him whom we love to sing.

"The last low whisper of the dead Are burdened with His name."

Secret Evangelism—In Japan, for 250 years Christianity was stamped out under a death penalty for professing it. Signs offering rewards for those who would betray Christians were conspicuously posted. Yet there were those who all this time, with their successors, practiced the Communion, and taught their children the prayers of their fathers, and missionaries, a few years ago, discovered two or three villages of such.

Sheldon Jackson School, Alaska, is the fruit of the evangelism of a missionary of the Presbyterian Church. Pupils came from twenty communities in Southern Alaska where he established churches. Almost all the leaders in the Alaska Native Brotherhood, and all the official boards of the native churches in Southeastern Alaska were at one time pupils in the school.

Evangelizing in Brazil.—In a plain little Methodist Church with no stained glass windows, with no beautiful frescoes, or brilliant lights, or statues, or in Southeastern Alaska where he has saints such as one sees in the great cathedral, there are songs and prayers in the language of the common people, instead of in Latin. God's sunlight shines through the cheap glass windows, and the people, plainly clad, poor, but earnest, come to worship a Saviour whom they have been led to know by patient evangelism, often dangerous, for such teachers are persecuted.

In Angola, Africa, Mrs. Webster, and Miss Melville missionaries of the American Board, have thrown themselves into the problems of language, customs, translations, schools, community life, toiling with hands as well as brains, that they might win some of the girls to Christ. They have not only won girls brave enough to desert their polygamous husbands, but also a witch doctor who burned his fetiches.

France First Country to Organize Zouaves

Zouave is the name of a tribe of Berbers in Algeria. In 1831 the French recruited two battalions of Berber soldiers, who were uniformed in their native costume. In about ten years they were converted into an infantry branch of the French army and the uniform retained. Before the World war there were four regiments of zouaves still in the French army. The first service that these troops saw outside Algeria was in the Crimean war. They attracted much attention because of their uniforms and their fighting qualities, and volunteer military organizations throughout the world adopted the uniform, or a modification of it, and the drills and tactics. There were several of these zouave companies in the Civil war, and they were taken into the army as organized.

There's no profit in "short quarts".

Unless you make every one of your dairy cows produce the maximum of which she is capable, you are losing money! That QUISENBERRY QUALITY DAIRY FEED will and does assure greater milk production is a fact needing no proof—it is evident in herds both large and small. Feeding costs cannot be gauged by the price per sack—the production cost per pound of cream is the real test. We like to recommend Quisenberry Quality Dairy Feed because we know from experience that it will give our customers bigger cream checks.

CUPID PLAYS AN OLD-TIME GAME

(© by D. J. Walsh.)

CONSTANCE was going abroad because her mother considered European travel the finishing touch to a young girl's education. As for the girl herself, she would have preferred vastly a summer of tennis and swimming, golf and long gallops through the woods. Moreover, the European party was not to her liking—a group of girls from her boarding school chaperoned by a very Victorian lady principal.

On the afternoon of the first day out Constance stole away to the stern of the ship. Across the white-capped undulations of water she looked longingly toward New York; yet it was hard to be thoroughly sad with the tang of salt air in her mouth and a stormy June breeze whipping her cropped curls. Surely something would happen to make her days less tedious. For Constance something usually did.

The waves were making such noise as they sloshed against the sides of the ship that Constance did not hear some one approaching along the deck and did not notice that a young man stood by her side, and, like her, braced his elbows upon the railing. It was not until he spoke that she turned to behold a veritable Apollo come to ride the sea with Father Neptune.

"I'm Richard Burlington—Princeton '25—in search of Constance Talbot, whose picture, that didn't half do her justice, for four years adorned the bureau of her cousin, Jim Thayer," the young man began with a grin that was in itself introduction enough. "Any chance of my finding her approachable?"

Constance matched the grin with a smile that involved her lips, her eyes and merry little crinkles along the bridge of her nose.

"Probably," she encouraged, "since you've approached the right girl at a crucial time and in an excellent place. I'd have known you anywhere, Dick—picked up as a pretty good sort from Jim's club group. Where're you going?"

The youth shrugged eloquently. "Ask Dad. He knows."

"Not in a party?" Constance inquired sympathetically.

"In just that. And you?"

"With Miss Tarkington."

"Shake," Dick Burlington exclaimed, giving Constance's hand a brotherly wring. "I know how you'll suffer."

"What can we do about it?" Constance implored, the corners of her mouth and the bigness of her eyes again pensive.

"Console each other on ship board and then meet in Europe as often as we can. Since we're both landing in Naples, we can't miss each other often. Beaten path, you know."

"Oh, don't I?" sighed Constance, folding her hands in St. Cecilia resignation and casting heavenward those eyes that matched the cerulean sky above her. "Capri, Sorrento, Pompeii, Blue Grotto, Roma, Fiesola, Firenze, Venice, Milan, Lugano—"

"Domodossola Jung Frau, Luzerne," Dick added in Constance's sing-song rhythm. "Art galleries to the right of us, churches to the left of us—"

"Guido, Angelo, Titian, Murillo, Filippo," Constance giggled, for the first time amused at the sound of the old artists' names.

"Philippino, Fiji, Boar—all the same to me," Dick said by way of closing the subject. "The important point is that you and I have seven days on this ship which we must make the most of."

And so until Naples loomed upon the horizon on the morning of the eighth day, Constance thought little of Miss Tarkington and her brood. When her steamer trunk was locked, however, and she stood on deck talking to Dick for possibly the last time, gloom again shrouded Constance's buoyancy.

"Cheer up, child," Dick consoled, but his boyish grin achieved a poor semblance of gaiety. "I'll trail you if I have to employ every guide un-hung and consult every olly-tongued concierge."

Just then by some instinct unexplained Constance turned and beheld within hearing distance none other than Miss Tarkington herself looking more than ever angularly severe. Her highly arched nose, which always gave the impression of sniffing something disagreeable, pointed straight toward the ship's mast, and her small, close-set eyes inspected Constance suspiciously through the lower half of bifocals.

"Isn't it nice that we are landing now?" the girl remarked in base hypocrisy as she felt herself propelled toward the girls who in Miss Tarkington's absence huddled together unherded.

Constance choked perilously. She was leaving Dick Burlington with no idea when she would see him again—handsome, dear, gallant Dick with whom she had played through seven heavenly days.

That night awaiting in a Neapolitan hotel her turn for the nocturnal bath, Constance heard her name called in Miss Tarkington's nasal treble. "I'll not have young men annoying my party," the lady principal was saying to the demure little damsel who shared her room en voyage. "If Constance's friend keeps appearing I'll change my itinerary."

Constance shook a fierce little fist at the partition separating her room from Miss Tarkington's. Life had suddenly become full of a number of things that were terribly distressing.

Through southern Italy Constance tried to remain impervious to beauty, but she ended in admitting that everything would have been quite perfect with Dick substituted for the ten who flocked with Miss Tarkington. Even Rome for a few days was endurable. After that churches and galleries began to pall. Over two weeks and not a glimpse of Dick! Constance was almost numb with ennui and longing. Dick had promised to find her, and he was not keeping his promise.

Then one fine morning, when Constance stood in the Rospigliosi palace trying to admire the Aurora as reflected in the tilted mirror, she found herself looking straight into the eyes of Dick Burlington. Constance saw her cheeks in a sudden flame below eyes that shone, and she saw Dick as triumphantly happy as a hunter who has treed his game. He led her out of the crowded little room into the Italian sunshine that all at once seemed to Constance to be casting about her rays of molten gold.

"How have you lived through it?" Dick fairly panted.

"I haven't," Constance replied with a giggle not at all corpse-like. "You brought me to life."

"What's your hotel, Constance?"

"A thing that goes under the misnomer of Eden. Heavens! Here comes Tarky."

"Come, dear," the lady principal said to Constance with a brief nod for the interloper, "we must see Michael killing the dragon at the church of the Capuchin monks."

"Isn't that creature dead yet?" Constance moaned as she was led away.

That evening at dinner Miss Tarkington sprung a change of plans but she would not divulge her next step. Constance, remembering that she had had no chance to get the name of Dick's hotel, felt as though she would pass away at once. So the hopeless maiden went to the porch in front of the Eden and sat in wretched solitude.

The slow-departing Italian twilight merged at last its pastel loveliness into the royal purple of the night. Life seemed to Constance sadder than Italian nights and not so beautiful. She dropped her face into her hands and her shoulders trembled a little. Dick, Dick, lost in Europe!

A car stopped at the curb. Two hands dragged her into the tonneau and continued to hold her.

"Pincon hill," a familiar voice called to the driver.

Ten minutes later Constance walked with Dick along the enchanted paths to the garden point that overlooked the seven hills of Rome. She held her breath as the glorious panorama unfolded before her. She realized with a thrill of pleasure that Dick was looking at her and not at the city. He was taking both her hands and compelling her eyes with his.

"Constance, I love Rome when I'm with you, because I love you," he said. "There's only one way to escape the guides and guidebooks. You'll have to marry me tonight."

"Can one elope in Italy?" Constance faltered.

"Romeo and Juliet did," countered the resourceful Dick, "and my Friar Lawrence is waiting. Besides, I cabled Dad plans and troubles and he cabled funds."

In a quiver of happiness Constance permitted the wonders of Rome to be hidden by the nice roughness of Dick's coat. Europe, beautiful, glamorous Europe, was spreading before her in endless vistas of romance.

Virginia Planning Tree Planting Along Roads

Plans for beautifying the highways of Virginia were discussed at a meeting called by Gov. Harry F. Byrd, at the request of the garden clubs of Virginia, and attended by many prominent women from various sections.

It was decided that the garden clubs would appoint a committee to co-operate with another committee to be appointed by Governor Byrd, and that these two bodies would formulate a program for preserving the trees and shrubs already growing along the state highways, and also for planting others. It was emphasized that the state will not be asked to pay for planting the trees.

William O'Byrne, extension forester at the Virginia polytechnic institute, suggested that nursery shrubs for planting along the highways be raised at the state farm by the convicts, and this proposal met with considerable favor.

Another suggestion which was well received was that the fifty or more motorcycle police operating throughout Virginia under the division of motor vehicles, be especially instructed to keep an eye out for violators of the law forbidding promiscuous cutting of shrubs and trees.

Hoarding Food

The habit of burying food is one that several wild animals possess. It is evidently a trait handed down from the time when England was in a grip of continual ice. At that time the hunter ate all he could, then buried the rest, returning to it when hungry. Nowadays the weasel will kill far more than it can eat, and it still buries the surplus, but, unlike its ancestors, it does not return to the store, as there is plenty of fresh food to be obtained.—London Tit-tits

Lesson for March 30

REVIEW

GOLDEN TEXT—Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The Mighty God, The Everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus the Savior.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Savior.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—He Went About Doing Good.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The King Serving.

Since the lessons of the quarter are bound together by the threefold unity of one book, one theme, and one person, the best method of review for young people and adults is to present the book of Matthew as a whole, and each lesson in its relation to Matthew's central purpose. The central theme is Jesus Christ, the King, the fulfiller of the Messianic hope.

Lesson for January 5.

God entered into covenant with David concerning the Kingdom (II Sam. 7:8-16). Christ's genealogy shows His legal right to the throne of David (1:1-17). The Messiah was not only said to be the seed of the woman (Gen. 3:15) and the son of a virgin (Isa. 7:14), but the mighty God (Isa. 9:6). Jesus Christ, the King, was begotten of the Holy Ghost and born of Mary, thus becoming Immanuel (Matt. 1:23, cf. Isa. 7:14).

Lesson for January 12.

The King entered upon His official work by being baptized. Christ's baptism was His act of consecration to the task of saving His people through the sacrifice of Himself upon the cross. Having received the official approval from the open heavens, the King went forth to the wilderness to meet and overcome the devil (Heb. 2:14). His victory demonstrated His ability to accomplish the work of redemption.

Lesson for January 19.

The voice of John the Baptist being stilled, the King becomes His own herald. His message was the same as John's, namely, "the kingdom of heaven at hand," which means the Messianic earth rule of Jesus Christ. He called helpers to His side and went through Galilee preaching with triumphant success.

Lesson for January 26.

This lesson shows the characteristics and responsibilities of the subjects of the kingdom, the beatitudes showing the characteristics, and salt and light the responsibilities. The life and testimony of the disciples are to light up the darkness of the world and preserve it from decay.

Lesson for February 2.

This lesson displays the principles which are to control the lives of the subjects of the kingdom. They should live a life of prayer, putting their trust in the Heavenly Father for temporal blessings. Spiritual affairs are to be first.

Lesson for February 9.

The subjects of the kingdom should be free from censorious judgments, be on the lookout for false teachers, avoid empty profession, and obey the words of Christ, the King.

Lesson for February 16.

In the performance of mighty works the King demonstrated His ability to administer the affairs of the kingdom. He showed His power over the chief foes of mankind—sickness, sin, satanic power, death, sorrow, and storms.

Lesson for February 23.

The kingdom was to be propagated by sending forth twelve men to preach the gospel of the kingdom. Their mission was authenticated by supernatural deeds.

Lesson for March 2.

In the propagation of the kingdom, violent opposition arose, resulting in the plan to kill the King. Opposition will be experienced by all who go forth in Christ's name.

Lesson for March 9.

The parables display the admixture of moral and spiritual conditions in the world between Christ's crucifixion and second coming. The parabolic method of teaching makes clear the truth to those who love it, but conceals it from those who do not.

Lesson for March 16.

The parables of the wheat and tares, mustard seed and leavened meal, show the outward growth and inner decay of the work inaugurated by Christ in the interval between His crucifixion and second coming.

Lesson for March 23.

Though rejected by the nation, the King continued His ministry of healing and teaching.

Straightening the Kinks

The kinks and tangles in our lives would straighten out wonderfully if we would let them come oftener under the influence of the calm, clear life of Jesus.—Presbyterian of the South.

Christians

The young Christian thinks himself little; the growing Christian thinks he is nothing; but the mature Christian knows that he is less than nothing.—John Newton.

DO HIRSUTE ROMEO'S WIN MARITAL RACE?

NEW YORK.—Is a gentleman with a moustache any the sweeter in the—kissing?

Does he look more important or distinguished for allowing his upper lip to run rank into a hirsute garden?

Has he more of the virile male about him as a result of letting his beard grow?

Just what women think of whiskers as an aid to manly charm will be determined by a poll of 1,000 beauties along New York's rialto, it is announced here by Charles M. Pritzker, an official of the AutoStrop Safety Razor company.

"In business the man who spends a few minutes every morning in front of his mirror, stropping his safety razor to insure a perfect edge and shaving off the stubble, is a two-to-one favorite in the race for success," said Pritzker. "It remains to be seen what's what in the race for the haven of marital bliss."

VARIETY OF FOODS BEST AID TO HEALTH

CHICAGO.—Science has blasted the theory that nature has provided a single and complete food for the human body in some form or another, according to a bulletin issued here by the American Research Foundation.

"Pigeons and doves are more fortunate than human beings in having a single food provided for all their needs, since they can thrive readily on grain alone," says the bulletin. "But human beings must eat a wide variety of foods to obtain all the elements necessary to the health and well-being of the body."

"The average varied food ration contains plenty of vitamins and other elements needed to nourish and sustain the health. An adequate amount of fats is necessary, since fats supply energy to the body in the form of heat and power to work. Tests have proved that wholesome margarine, which is a combination of animal fats, vegetable oils, salt, and milk, supplies the body pound for pound with the same amount of heat and energy as any other fats."

90 PER CENT OF NATION'S BABIES DUE FOR RICKETTS

CHICAGO.—The average baby has only one chance in ten of escaping ricketts, dread deforming malady.

"Ninety per cent of the babies of America have ricketts in some form or another," declared Esther Ackerson Fischer, nationally known dietitian. "Prevalence of this disease could be reduced by proper preventive measures. Ricketts is due to under-nourishment or to lack of a correct program of feeding and infant care. If mothers consulted their family doctors more frequently and followed their advice on nutrition and care, the ravages of this disease could be greatly lessened."

"Ricketts occur most frequently in temperate zones and may be cured by giving the baby sufficient direct sunshine or by feeding him regularly a good grade of pure cod liver oil."

Original Jury Function

A well-known law writer has said, writes Judge Robert H. Day of the Ohio Supreme court, that originally juries were called in, not to hear, but give, evidence. They were the neighbors of the parties and were presumed to know when they came into court the facts about which they were to testify. They were chosen by the sheriff to represent the neighborhood. The verdict was the sworn testimony of the countryside.—Detroit News.

Secrets

"What is the secret of success?" asked the Sphinx.
"Push," said the Button.
"Never be lead," said the Penell.
"Take pains," said the Window.
"Always keep cool," said the Ice.
"Be up to date," said the Calendar.
"Never lose your head," said the Match.
"Make light of your troubles," said the Fire.—Great Western Magazine.

URGE REPEAL OF TAX

CHICAGO.—Repeal of federal and state license taxes on retail grocers who sell margarine will be sought by the National Association of Retail Grocers, it was disclosed at the recent annual meeting of the board of directors here.

The association representing 80,000 retail grocery establishments in the United States regards these taxes as an "unjust discrimination against both grocers and consumers," according to C. H. Janssen, of St. Paul, secretary.

URGES DAIRYMEN TO ADOPT DANES' FARMING SYSTEM

CHICAGO.—Unsound advice is being given to American dairy farmers in an attempt to convince them that they are themselves responsible for the present surplus of 38,000,000 pounds of butter and a resulting depression in butter prices, according to Harry Edward Freund, noted economist and lecturer.

Harry Edward Freund.

Freund cited the case of Denmark, recognized as one of the world's most thrifty and prosperous countries, to prove his contention that American farmers are receiving "unsound advice" when they are told to "eat more butter and keep the prices up." Instead, he said, American farmers should be advised to follow the thrifty Danes toward economic stability by "making good butter and eating wholesome substitutes if economically advisable."

"Denmark relies almost entirely on its dairying industry for prosperity," Freund pointed out. "The people of Denmark consume nearly sixteen times as much margarine per capita as do Americans. Yet the Danes are noted for their sturdy health and physical development. The death rate in Denmark from tuberculosis, various forms of kidney diseases, and other ailments due to improper diet is about 30 per cent less than the death rate from similar causes in the United States."

"While the Danes ship their butter abroad, they are great milk drinkers and patronize their dairies for milk and cream to a much greater degree than do Americans. And thus they avoid vast butter surpluses."

"American dairy farmers would do well to follow the successful Danish plan rather than the economically unsound advice of those whose chief aim seems to be 'blame the farmer.'"

CURING COLDS COSTS WORKERS $50 YEARLY

CHICAGO.—Catching cold is an expensive pastime. Among other things it costs the average American worker $50 a year for time off from his job and doctor bills for curing up colds.

"Sneezes, coughs, sore throats, sniffles, and wheezes and the impaired efficiency which common colds impose on the nation's army of workers result in an economic loss to the United States of more than $200,000,000 annually," declared Ferdinand A. Bunte of Bunte Brothers, Chicago candy manufacturers. "The nation's bill for cough drops alone, to alleviate colds, runs into millions of dollars a year."

"Children constitute one of the biggest groups suffering from colds, and rank as large consumers of cough drops. Many parents instead of dosing their youngsters with syrups which may upset the juvenile stomachs, soothe their little throats with cooling menthol in candy form."

TOURISTS INFLUENCE U. S. EATING HABITS

CHICAGO.—What Uncle Sam spreads on his bread is due in large measure to the influence of American tourists returning home with a liking for European eating habits.

"In the case of both butter and margarine the influence of foreign travelers is apparent," says a bulletin of the American Research Foundation. "The demand for a light-colored, milk-flavored spread for bread, such as trans-Atlantic travelers are served in Europe, has caused manufacturers to adopt this type in America."

"Similarly the shift from a high color to a straw color in the spreads for our bread, is attributed by many to the influence of European margarine on American tourists. The widespread use of margarine in Europe is having a profound effect in promoting the popularity of this toothsome product in America. The American traveler abroad finds margarine on the table in the most fashionable cafes and restaurants of the Continent. He acquires a liking for margarine and naturally asks for it when he gets back home."

Put Health First

The views of students as to what makes life happy are revealed by a ballot competition conducted by the National Union of Students throughout the universities of England and Wales, says the London Observer. The following was the order of importance voted for the various attributes conducive to a happy life:

A sound constitution; a sense of humor; a congenial occupation; an assured future; a charming wife (or husband); a blameless reputation; £400 a year; a brilliant career; a thick skin; a good cook; a persuasive manner; a library and a poker face (equal); an artistic temperament; a schoolgirl complexion.

FATS MAKE UP THIRD OF FOODS CONSUMED

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Women who have made New Year vows to shun all fatty foods might as well haul down the "never again" sign and either resign themselves to rounded contours or find some other way of reducing. And here's why!

Something like one-third of the food the average American eats comes under the category of fats, it was explained by Dr. J. S. Abbott, secretary of the Institute of Margarine Manufacturers here.

"The average person on a diet may not realize he or she is eating fat," declared Dr. Abbott, "but they're getting it in large quantities in one way or another daily. It is essential to life."

"There is fat in a surprising number of the foods we eat. The crumbly coconut covering on the layer cake the bridge club hostess serves is full of delicious fat. Mayonnaise and salad dressings are made with highly refined olive oil or cottonseed oil. A steak would not be fine and savory if it were not fat. The wholesome margarine, made from milk, vegetable oils, and meat fats, that goes on millions of American tables daily and into the cooking of toothsome dishes is another valuable source of fat supply. There is a fat content in milk, cream, and dozens of other articles of food."

So it's no use, girls. You're going to have to eat fat.

Mites Eat Feathers

There are several reasons for the loss of feathers on the head and neck of a fowl, but it is usually due to the fowls themselves in scratching and breaking the feathers off with their claws. This is apparently caused by a mite, thought to be the same as that causing scaly leg, and which gets under the skin, causing irritation. Application of carbolated grease into which has been worked a little sulphur will be found helpful for this trouble.

Poultry Paralysis

Poultry paralysis is so far an incurable disease, the cause of which is unknown, says the Oregon experiment station. Where the disease is present, the station urges rigid sanitation in rearing next year's young stock as possible preventive measures. Important factors to bear in mind in this connection are brooding on concrete or wire, and removing the fowls immediately after the brooding period to land not previously used for poultry.

Put Twins to Death to End Prolonged Drought

Superstitions relative to rainfall appear still to exist in remote parts of the world. A story from South Africa, related in Wide World Adventures, tells how natives, following tribal law, put to death two pairs of twins in order to bring rain during a prolonged drought. The tale, which comes from the province of Bulawayo, places the guilt not on the parents, but specifically on the mother-in-law of one of them and generally on the other grandparents of the children. The accused, so runs the record, pleaded that they were unaware that they had committed a criminal act. They "were merely acting according to their law."

In India caste distinction also plays its part in the rain ceremony once practiced with regularity. In one district, when drought descends on the land, Brahman women are sent to plow the fields. This is looked on as a great hardship. For the beauties of a high caste in India are very proud and look with scornful eyes on people who work with their hands. So various subterfuges are resorted to by the lazy beauties. Refusing to be seen in daylight performing labor usually done by their servants, they arise early in the morning before men are astir in the streets and merely touch the handles of the plow that is to be used in plowing the parched fields. Thus they comply with the requirements of their country's custom without being seen in undignified surroundings. The actual plowing is done by servant plowmen.

More Fish in the Menu — Less Work at Meals

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON
Director, Home Economics Dept.,
H. J. Heinz Company

Old-Fashioned Salmon Fritters
2 cups canned salmon; 1 teaspoon mayonnaise; 1 teaspoon pure cider vinegar; 1 cup flour; 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1 egg; 2/3 cup milk.

Flake the salmon, and add the mayonnaise and vinegar. Then sift the flour with the salt and baking powder, and add the beaten egg and milk. Thoroughly mix this batter with the salmon.

Halibut Creole
2 lbs. halibut; 1/2 cup tomato ketchup; 1 tablespoon onion juice; 2 tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons flour; salt and pepper.

Place the ketchup, water and onion juice in a pan and heat to boiling point. Mix butter and flour together, and stir into the sauce. When it boils, season with salt and pepper, and cook for several minutes. Pour boiling water into a deep pan to a depth of one-half inch. Lay fish in it for one minute, skin side down. Remove from water and take off skin. Place in a well buttered pan, and season with salt and pepper. Top with slices of pickle, and pour half the tomato sauce over the fish. Bake 30 to 45 minutes, basting with remaining tomato sauce. Garnish with parsley and serve the fish surrounded with sauce from the baking pan.

Tuna Fish with Pickle Sauce
1 cup canned (or cooked) tuna fish; 2 tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons flour; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/2 cup milk; 3 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle; paprika; 1 tablespoon minced parsley; dash of Worcestershire Sauce.

Steam fish over hot water until heated. Melt butter in saucepan, add flour and salt, then gradually add milk. Cook until thick and add the chopped pickle. Place fish on platter, pour sauce over it, and sprinkle with paprika and parsley.

Drop from a spoon into deep fat, and fry to a light brown. These are especially good with chili sauce, tomato ketchup, or Worcestershire sauce.

Salmon or Tunafish Au Gratin
1 cup canned salmon or tunafish; 2 tablespoons pure cider vinegar; 1/2 cup bread-crumbs; 1 cup drawn-butter sauce; Salt and pepper.

Chop the fish. Add the drawn-butter sauce, pure cider vinegar, salt and pepper, and mix well. Place in a buttered baking dish and cover with bread-crumbs. Brown in a moderate oven. Serve on a platter garnished with stuffed Spanish olives, slices of lemon, and parsley.

Drawn-Butter Sauce
1/3 cup flour; 1 pint boiling water; 1/3 cup butter; 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Melt two-thirds of the butter in a double boiler, and add the flour and salt which have been sifted together. Slowly pour in the boiling water, and cook until smooth and thick, carefully stirring to prevent lumps. Remove from the fire and stir in the rest of the butter.

The Borough Council, of Hanover, has granted the W. M. R. R. permission to increase the speed of trains in the city limits to 12 miles per hour, from 6 miles per hour. Seems pretty slow yet, at 12 miles. The permissible speed of autos through Taneytown is 20 miles per hour, but everybody knows that 30 miles, or better, is often witnessed. The question is, who would be responsible if somebody would be killed, or seriously injured, when the 20 mile limit force it?

Moscow.—Investigations of the pensions bureaus in various cities have revealed that some men who fought against the Soviet government have for years been drawing stipends as patriotic war veterans. Because of the chaotic conditions during the civil war period it is frequently difficult to establish on which side people fought. Some "whites" have thus managed to find a place in the red pension lists.

The Key Feeds.

It is not nearly so important, to buy feed to the best advantage as it is to buy the feed which will produce the most profit.

Plenty of feeds are cheaply inviting, but few are profitable when it comes to feeding them.

Hundreds of feeders pay more money for The Key Feeds but win it all back thru better conditioned cows, producing more milk, better and stronger Poultry which lay more eggs, last but not least, more Pork per dollar invested.

Sold and recommended by:

Why be satisfied to buy adulterated Paint at all. When you buy Paint containing inerts, you are just taking money out of your own pockets and putting it, as added profit, into the pockets of the manufacturer.

80% WHITE LEAD 20% ZINC OXIDE

The only ingredients needed in any good house Paint are White Lead, Zinc, Linseed Oil and Dryer. Anything else, except coloring matter enough to make the tint, is adulteration. Diamond Paint is a strictly pure, 100% pure, Paint. $10.00 per gallon cannot produce a better paint. In white and colors, buy
