THE CARROLL RECORD

THERE IS NO BETTER MOTTO THAN—PROTECTION TO HOME, ITS INTERESTS, AND INDUSTRIES.

VOL. 37

TANEYTOWN, MARYLAND, FRIDAY, AUGUST 1, 1930.

NO. 5

THE GREAT DROUGHT STILL CONTINUES.

The Average Heat for July Breaks All Previous Records.

The great drought that has been prevalent generally east of the Rockies for over a month, continues unbroken except in a few scattered localities. The heat has subsided to some extent, but at present no relief is predicted for the drought—at least not for several days. The month of July closed with the highest average heat on record.

From many states official reports are to the effect that the corn crop will be almost a total failure, and that even the fodder will be unfit for silage.

Stories of horses dying by the thousands, and of farmers rushing their cattle to market to prevent them from dying from thirst, are common.

The Weather Bureau says the losses will run into millions of dollars, and that the present experience is the most severe on record, from the standpoint of length and area.

While the world's crop of wheat is the largest in history, it is believed that present prices must react, on account of the shortage in this country of feed crops.

For a single month since last December has Maryland had a normal rainfall, but has been only 72 percent of normal. In July, according to Baltimore records, the rainfall was only seven-tenths of an inch, whereas the normal rainfall for July is four and three-tenths inches.

The water situation is very, very serious, not only for cattle but in almost all cities and towns. Hanover, Pa., reports a supply that will last less than a week, unless rains fall.

Fortunately, storms and fires have not been numerous. Fire Companies in most towns, would be unable to cope with a serious fire. The most extreme caution should be exercised by everybody. Picnicking in groves is especially dangerous.

One of the results of the drought is a marked decrease in the milk supply, which may soon become serious. In fact, just another week or more of no rain will make many situations serious that do not now appear so.

Seventy forest fires are burning in Pennsylvania, chiefly in the central and south-western sections, many of which are extremely dangerous and cannot be extinguished without rain.

In New York City near 75,000 persons are reported to have slept in Central Park, each night, during the heated term.

In Washington, favorite sleeping places were in the park between the two branches of the Potomac, Rock Creek Park, the slopes at Washington's monument, and the gardens surrounding the Lincoln memorial.

THE DROUGHT IN FREDERICK AND CARROLL.

The following dispatch to the Baltimore Sun, from Frederick, concerning the effect of the heat and drought, applies equally well to the situation in Carroll County.

"Sugar corn canners are facing the leanest year in the history of the industry in this county. The early crop is practically ruined and unless rain comes soon the late yield will be reduced to an extent that some canners probably will not open their factories this year. Never before, not even during the World War, have any of the factories skipped a season.

Heads of canneries in Frederick, Walkersville, Woodsboro, Buckeystown and Adamstown said that the situation this year was without parallel. Fields are scorched and dwarfed and promise practically no yield, it was said.

Some farmers have turned their cattle in cornfields, while others have cut the fodder and stored it in silos for winter feed.

One of the largest canners said the early crop was about gone and unless rain came within a short time the late crop would be less than the yearly yield of last year, which was considerably less than half a normal crop.

Pasture fields are scorched and farmers are hauling water long distances for their cattle. A number of farmers have reduced their herds on account of the expense of feeding. The drought, the worst in thirty or forty years, has affected all kinds of vegetation and crops."

THE BIRNIE TRUST CO. ELECTS OFFICIALS.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of The Birnie Trust Company, held Friday, July 25, Mr. Arthur W. Peeser was elected President of the Company, and Merwyn C. Fuss, a director, in both instances to fill the vacancy due to the death of Edward O. Weant, president and director of the Company.

The officers of the Company are: A. W. Peeser, president; J. J. Weaver, Jr., vice-president; G. Walter Wilt, cashier; Milton A. Koons, George A. Arnold, William F. Bricker and Merwyn C. Fuss, directors, and Chas. R. Arnold, assistant cashier.

UNION GROVE MEETING.

Grove meetings will be held, afternoon and evening, on the Sundays of August 3, 10, 17, 24, and 31, in Flickinger's woods, 2 miles from Taneytown, at Big Pipe Creek Bridge. Special music and preaching by the various County Ministers. Ministers and members of all religious bodies are invited to attend these services.

EDWARDS IN PENITENTIARY.

Enters Upon His Sentence of Eighteen Years.

Paul Edwards, of Taneytown district, who had been in the county jail since March, and who was tried and convicted on the charge of poisoning his foster-father, William T. Keefer, at Bark Hill, was taken to the Maryland Penitentiary, on Wednesday night, to begin an eighteen year sentence.

An appeal in the case had been pending since the trial, instituted by his counsel, Edward O. Weant and John Wood. Mr. Weant has since died, and Mr. Wood, on Wednesday announced the withdrawal of the appeal.

The incentive for the alleged poisoning was claimed to be that Mr. Edwards had forged Mr. Keefer's name on certain notes, all of which was made public during the trial, to which the defense was that Keefer had given his consent that Edwards might sign papers for him.

HESS-BUSHEY REUNION.

The sixth annual reunion of the Hess-Bushey families was held on Wednesday, July 30th., in the grove at Piney Creek Presbyterian Church, near Harney, Md. The three living members of the Samuel Hess family were present and Mrs. Rebecca Bushey Hess the only living member of the John Bushey family was also present. The morning was spent socially and a splendid dinner was enjoyed by all, with the usual dessert of lemonade and ice cream.

At 2:30 all assembled in the church. The meeting was called to order by the Vice-President, J. Maurice Hess, Woodbine, Md. The following program was rendered, Hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name"; Prayer, by Dr. Wm. Hess, of Hagerstown. As it was impossible for the Secretary, Mrs. Flory to be present the minutes were read by Mrs. J. D. Belt; Treasurer's report; the Statistician reported additions for the year as follows: four by marriage and nine by birth; four lost by death; Remarks by Rev. C. W. Hess, of Brunswick, Md.; Address by Dr. R. B. Nell, Dean of Hamline University, St. Paul, Min.; closing Hymn, "Blest be the Tie that Binds."

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Pres., Rev. C. W. Hess, Brunswick, Md.; Vice-Pres., Mrs. Earl Rudisil, York, Pa.; Sec., Roy Hess, of Virginia; Treas., Elmer S. Hess, near Taneytown; Statistician, Mrs. J. D. Belt, Westminster.

The next reunion will be held the last Wednesday of July, 1931, at the same place. The arranging committee consisting of Elmer S. Hess, Geo. W. Hess and Norman Hess will serve for another year. New benches, new building and see-saws were added to the equipment.

WE WONDER WHY?

As a rule, the Governor of Maryland and the Mayor of Baltimore are not easily obtained as speakers at country pic-nics. When asked other years, as they occasionally were, the "previous engagements" of these gentlemen was most likely to interfere with spreading the attraction of their presence over the country-side, except once in a while at special big occasions.

This year, however both Gov. Ritchie and Mayor Broening hardly miss a chance to orate anywhere, notwithstanding the abnormally depressing heat and drought, and we wonder why? Next year, we will be willing to wager, these officials—or private citizens—will be as ungettable as yore, and the country pic-nics will have to be satisfied with lesser lights.

This Summer, some events are able to secure both of these much in demand men, but they are equal to the emergency with a much in evidence desire to supply the demand—and gratis, too, which suits the pic-nic managers. There must be some special—but deep and unknown—reason for the present generosity on the part of these officials!

A FIRE ALARM SYSTEM.

When the Taneytown Fire Company was first organized, a fire bell alarm code was established, but it was too elaborate for the needs of so small a town, and it was but little used. Since then, and a long while ago, the only alarm given is a general ringing of the bell, the same for fires in town and in the country.

Three different alarms for the town, and one for the country, would meet the needs of the situation; one for the town west of York and Frederick Sts; one for the section east of York and Frederick Sts. to George St.; another for all east of George St., and one for out of town fires. A general alarm to be sounded first, and the location alarm afterwards.

Westminster has a very simple system, on this order. A general alarm is first given; then, for the centre of the city 6 slow taps; West end 4 slow taps; east end 8 slow taps; out of town 2—2 slow taps; the alarm to be repeated as long as considered necessary.

So far as the interested general public is concerned, it would seem that a system of this sort would be desirable for Taneytown.

FOX-YOUNG REUNION.

The fourth annual Fox Reunion will be held at Mt. Tabor Park, Rocky Ridge, Md., on Wednesday, Aug. 13, 1930. All relatives of Baltzer Fox are invited to attend. Everybody bring lunch.

A grain of gold will extend over a great surface, but not so much as a grain of wisdom.

FARMERS' MARKETING CONFERENCE

To be Held at University of Maryland, August 12-15th.

The people of Maryland have always been proud of the agriculture of their state, and those engaged in the industry are among the best classes of people anywhere, engaged in any industry. Maryland's agricultural operations are not nearly so large as in many other states, but they are greatly diversified, and for general up-to-dateness can not be surpassed.

This year, for the first time, a Farmers' Marketing Conference will be held at the University of Maryland, College Park, August 13 to 15th. The planning and arrangement of this conference is in response to the manifested desire of faru people to develop their marketing method, in accordance with developments that have taken place in other lines of business.

These four days will be full of interest and information to farmers, and a very large number of them should take advantage of this opportunity. We regret that we have space for only a very brief summary of each day's program, as follows:

Tuesday, Aug. 11, addresses on the Co-operative Marketing; plans of the Federal Farm Board; four periods on Dairying; fruit and vegetables; grain, live stock, poultry, Reception in the evening.

Wednesday, Aug. 13. Addresses on quality production; prevention and control of surplus; dairy and fruit marketing; live stock and poultry discussions. Moving pictures in the evening.

Thursday, Aug. 14. Co-operative marketing, buying of farm supplies; dairy farming; marketing of fruits and vegetables, the live stock situation.

Friday, Aug. 15. Chain store and co-operative movements; consumer and demand; membership relations; leasing system for farms; many problems discussed.

The following are a few of the speakers; Dr. T. B. Symons, E. Nest Kelly, Dairying industry, U. S. D. A.; Hon. J. G. Stone and Hon. C. S. Wilson, Federal Farm Board; W. H. Rice, poultry specialist; R. A. Pearson, Proc. Univ. Md.; Dr. H. J. Patterson; Dr. F. B. Bomberger; I. W. Heaps, Sec. Dairymen's Ass'n.; Jas. W. Davis, Pres. Agr. Corp. Md.; Dr. S. H. DeVault, Ag. Economist; Wels A. Sherman, marketing specialist, and many others.

The University has placed all of its facilities at the disposal of the convention, including dormitories and dining room. A nominal charge of $5.00 will be made to all who register for four days, and lodging for three nights—Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. No bed clothing furnished. All who desire to lodge in the dormitories must send, or bring with them, two sheets, one pillow case, one blanket, two towels.

GETTYSBURG BARN BURNED.

A large bank barn, a chicken house and hog stable on the property of Ohler and Spangler, Gettysburg, located off the Lincoln Highway, east of Gettysburg, were destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon. The barn, 80x45 feet, had been built about 5 years ago.

All of this season's crops, consisting of 105 bushels of rye, unthreshed oats, 2 crops of hay, and all the wheat, were destroyed by the flames. Nearly all of the livestock, which was in the fields at the time of the blaze, was saved with the exception of a calf and four pigs in the barn at the time of the fire.

The farm is tenanted by Mr. Kirkendoll, whose son-in-law discovered a small blaze near a straw stack. He had almost succeeded in putting out the blaze when it suddenly caught the straw stack and then spread to the barn.

Mr. Spangler, one of the owners of the property, saw the blaze from the highway and turned in an alarm. The Gettysburg Fire apparatus responded but on its arrival the fire had gained such headway that the firemen confined their efforts to saving the house and nearby buildings.

The roof of a cement silo was also burned off by the blaze. The cause of the blaze is not known.

QUIT "KNOCKING."

We clip the following paragraph from last week's issue of the Sykesville Herald-Messenger.

"We are told that several young men from a competitive paper have been going among our residents here in Sykesville, 'trying' to get subscriptions for the paper they represent, claiming that their paper has 'news' that the Herald-Messenger cannot get, etc. We do not object to a little friendly competition, but we do draw the line on 'knocking.'"

Here is a finely expressed sentiment with which The Record fully agrees. It is frequently true that in some communities there are those who, for pay, or other reasons, operate against the best interests of the "home paper," and do so very unfairly.

BOYD FAMILY REUNION.

The 6th annual Boyd reunion will be held at Hershey Park, along the Lincoln Highway, on Thursday, August 7th. In case of rain will be held the following day. All relatives please accept this notice as an invitation.

WESTMINSTER BANKERS DIE.

Jacob H. Handley and Geo. R. Gehr Die Within A Week.

Jacob H. Handley, aged 74, for thirty years Secretary and Treasurer of the Westminster Savings Bank, died at Maryland University Hospital, Baltimore, Sunday night. He was regarded as one of the most efficient and popular bank officials in Carroll County. He is survived by two daughters, Miss Flossie, and Mrs. J. Gloyd Diffendal, of Westminster, and by one son, Harry Handley, of New York.

Funeral services were held at Kridler's Church, on Tuesday, in charge of his pastor, Rev. Paul W. Quay, of Westminster Lutheran Church.

George R. Gehr, cashier of the First National Bank, Westminster, died early Wednesday morning at Md. University Hospital, where he was undergoing treatment for some internal trouble. Death ensued before there had been an operation. His age was 79 years.

Mr. Gehr had served as cashier of the bank for 55 years, and prior to that was a clerk in the bank for five years. He stood high in banking circles, holding official position in several bankers' organizations in the state, and was at one time president of the Maryland Bankers' Association.

He was for many years prominent in high Masonic circles in Maryland, was for 25 years teacher of the Men's Bible Class of Centenary M. E. church and a director or member of numerous local organizations.

He is survived by his wife, three daughters and three sons, Mrs. H. Herman Reckard, Baltimore; Mrs. Frank L. Johns, Seaford, Del.; Mrs. Landis C. Burns, Westminster; and George R. Gehr, Jr., Hagerstown. Also by a brother, Denton S. Gehr, Westminster, and one sister, Mrs. Gertrude Shriver, Westminster.

Funeral services will be held this Saturday at 11 A. M., at his late residence. Interment in Westminster cemetery.

THE LUTHERAN ASSEMBLY.

The Gettysburg Lutheran Assembly opened its 24th session on Wednesday, to continue one week. Twenty instructors, including four Indian Missionaries, will conduct the classes; all of which will be held on the seminary campus.

A feature of the assembly, this year, will be a pageant directed by Mrs. C. E. Rice, of Neffsville, Pa., in which almost 1000 children will participate. It will be given on the campus on the evening of Aug. 5.

Officers of the Assembly are: Rev. Dr. S. Winfield Herman, Harrisburg, president; Rev. Dr. John Aberly, and Rev. Dr. H. C. Alleman, Gettysburg, vice-presidents; Rev. T. C. Sternat, Millersburg, secretary, and Rev. E. S. Falkenstein, New Cumberland, treasurer.

"As the blessings of health and fortune have a beginning, they must also have an end. Everything rises but to fall, and increase but to decay."—Sallust.

THE SPECIAL SESSION VERY BRIEF.

Only an Hour and a Half Required to Pass a Law.

The special session of the Maryland Legislature, held on Tuesday, was such a brief and formal affair as to hardly furnish a big one-day's news item. The purpose of the session was to amend the registration day law for Baltimore city, this year, in order to prevent the disfranchisement of about 20,000 Jews this Fall, due to the fact that the legal registration days happened to hit important Jewish religious holidays.

With a rapidity heretofore unequalled both Senate and House organized, appropriated $9000 for the expenses of the day, unanimously passed the bill changing the dates for registration, and adjourned within an hour and a half.

The special session was believed to be the shortest ever held by the Maryland Legislature. It was the first special session since 1920, when Governor Ritchie convened the Legislature to provide additional registration days in order that women might qualify themselves to vote, following enactment of the Nineteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution. That session lasted three days.

Tuesday's session was the first special one ever held which confined its activities to the object for which it was called. The attendance also proved a surprise. With Annapolis sweltering in one of the hottest days of the year, 112 members answered their names in the House, all who possibly could attend. In the Senate 25 members answered present, but of the four absent members, 2 had resigned and 1 was dead.

MEAT CONSUMPTION SHOWS INCREASE.

Chicago, Ill., July 29.—The consumption of meat in the United States is increasing. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, is authority for this statement.

According to figures furnished by the Bureau, meat consumption for the first five months of 1930 shows an increase over the average of the same periods for the past seven years. These figures are based on the number of Federally-inspected slaughter animals and net imports, but do not include exports or re-exports or changes in cold storage holdings.

The average total consumption of all meats—beef, veal, pork, lamb, and mutton—for the first five months of the years 1923 to 1929 inclusive was 5,057,415,000 as compared to 5,083,055,000 pounds for the first five months of 1930.

The increased consumption of meat is due in part to the fact that more meat is coming into the market. For a good many years the production of meat animals has not kept pace with growth in population. The increased demand for meat products has resulted in increased production of cattle, sheep, and hogs, according to Charles D. Carey, chairman of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, Chicago.

Another factor influencing greater use of meat is the modern trend in the field of nutrition. New discoveries of the food value of meat, as for example, liver in the treatment of anemia, have caused the pendulum of dietetics to swing back from the extremes of a few years ago to a more liberal inclusion of meat in the diet.

Incidentally, and of special interest to the consumer, the retail price of meat is lower than it has been for a good many years.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION FOR WOMEN.

Carrots are a good source of vitamins, if quickly cooked or grated raw in a vegetable salad.

Solid spruce-pulp and fillers and specially treated strawboard fillers are used considerably in packing eggs for cold storage. These fillers help to prevent the characteristic flavor of cold-storage eggs.

Sweet potatoes, when properly dried, can be ground into a meal or flour which will last indefinitely and making pies and custards, according to the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Sweet potato flour, used with wheat flour, makes bread of good texture, color, and flavor, says the bureau.

French toast is an appetizing way of using stale bread, and provides a main dish for breakfast, lunch or supper. Allow 1/2 to 3/4 cup of milk to 2 eggs. Beat the mixture, salt lightly, and dip slices of bread into it until well soaked. Fry in butter or well-seasoned fat in a heavy smooth skillet. Use moderate heat and let the toast become golden brown on one side before turning.

At the markets this Fall you may find potatoes in handy size cotton bags of unique design. The Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the North Carolina Agricultural College developed this new "consumer package." One side of the bag is an open-mesh fabric through which the buyer may inspect the size and quality of the potatoes. The other half of the bag is a close weave to display the producers brand. The bag increases the incentive for growing good potatoes and marketing them as a graded product under a trade brand. The sacks also expand the market for the cotton crop.

USE OF WHEAT FOR FEED

Farmers Should be Careful How They Experiment.

A bulletin issued last week by Dr. De Voe Mead, chief of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry, in reply to many inquiries directed to him concerning the feeding of wheat to animals, said in part:

"In feeding wheat, certain things should be kept in mind. Except for sheep, wheat should be fed either ground or rolled. Since wheat is a rather heavy feed, it should be mixed with some concentrate such as bran, which is lighter and more bulky in character. Wheat, like corn, is carbonaceous in nature and low in mineral matter, hence, for best results, it should be supplemented by feeds high in both protein and lime in order that it may be properly balanced and most highly effective. If these precautions are observed and the price of wheat in relation to other grains is right, wheat may be utilized as a feed for livestock with economy and profit."

"Actual feeding trials wherein corn and wheat have been compared in value have shown that for dairy cattle and for fattening beef and swine the two grains are equal. Since corn and wheat pound for pound may be considered equally effective in the production of milk and for fattening, one may be substituted for the other, either in whole or in part, when the prices for the two grains per pound or per unit of weight are equal without materially modifying the efficiency of the ration."

The proportions of ingredients in a good dairy ration are given as follows: 100 pounds of corn and cob meal, 100 pounds of ground oats or barley; 100 pounds of ground wheat, 50 pounds of cotton seed meal, and 50 pounds of linseed oil meal. In this ration, which is rather cheaply produced, the farmer would likely have to buy only the linseed oil meal and the cotton seed meal, and there would be about 14 or 15 percent protein. The use of wheat in dairy feeding in instances when farmers have the corn, oats or barley, will certainly reduce the cost of feed and be cheaper than selling the wheat at the present price. However, in cases where the farmer has only the wheat, it is problematical whether or not he should sell it or hold it in the event wheat prices should go up again, a matter upon which there is considerable speculation and a great deal of doubt.

When farmers are not fully informed as to how to utilize wheat for feed, it will be decidedly best for them to depend on feeds of known value, rather than experiment haphazard.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHPLACE BEING RESTORED.

Washington, D. C.—The contract has been let for the moving of the monument which now stands on the site of Washington's old homestead at Wakefield, Va. This monument, of Barre, Vermont, granite, is 51 feet tall, and was erected by the United States Government in 1896, to indicate the birth site. It is being moved to a site nearby that a replica of the house in which Washington was born may be built on the original location.

Already workmen are busy at Wakefield making bricks by hand from the native clay, to be used in the restoration of the house. As soon as the monument is removed the work of building a replica of the old house will be undertaken as well as the restoration of the grounds. This work is being done in co-operation with the Wakefield National Memorial Association and is planned for completion before the celebration of the Bicentennial of the birth of Washington in 1932.

Many plans are being made that the celebration of the Bicentennial will be a nation-wide event. Organizations and communities are asked to co-operate to assure the success of the undertaking and Masons especially should take an active part as the Fraternity played a great part in Washington's life.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Melvin F. Burdette and Sarah R. Bowers, Mt. Airy.

Thurston Fleming and Mildred Dorsey, Union Bridge.

Luther H. Hankey and Evelyn Dehoff, Littlestown.

Thomas D. D. Broum and Ruth H. Schlincke, Pittsburgh, Pa.

MT. TABOR PARK PIC-NIC.

Frederick county's largest pic-nic will be held at Mt. Tabor Park, Rocky Ridge, Saturday, Aug. 9. This is an annual event at this popular spot, and this year's program is unusually attractive.

The main speakers will be Mayor Broening, of Baltimore; Hon. Wm. S. Gordy, State Comptroller; Hon. Fred. N. Zihlman, Cumberland, and Theodore B. McKelden, Baltimore. The Westminster Band will furnish the music. There will be games and contests.

HAHN REUNION.

The third annual reunion of the late Jacob Hahn family, will be held in Mt. Tabor Park, Rocky Ridge, Md., on Sunday, Aug. 10th., 1930. Basket lunch. Come early and make a big day.

A man may look to be worth a million, but not be worth a nickel.

TAXES! TAXES! TAXES!

In a recent magazine there were these headings to articles, "Taxes Strangling Industry," and "The Taxpayer Pays, Pays." Another article on "Tax Facts" attempted to show that taxes are passed on to customers, but does not tell who the "customers" pass their taxes to. Still another article was headed "Tax-exemption for Privileged few." Of course, we have always heard "tax" talk of some kind, but never so much as now, and one need not read the magazine and trade journals of various kinds, to find this out.

Thomas B. Reed, when Speaker of the House of Representatives a good many years ago, on being taunted with the truth that a Republican Congress had spent a "Billion Dollars," came back with the reply "This is a Billion Dollar Country," and this, in substance, may be said of our country today relative to taxes, for largely we are collecting and spending large sums in taxes, because "the country" wants to collect and spend them.

Our taxes are the result of legislation, directly or indirectly; and there are so many objects for which money is wanted to be spent, publicly, that not all of them can be voted on, directly, by the people. Consequently, we must depend largely on government by representatives elected by us, and they must be responsible to us for their acts—among other things, for increased taxes.

As a matter of fact, there is a comparatively small amount of taxes levied and spent for things which the majority does not want. If such spending should be kept up against the wishes of the majority, those who did the spending would be elected to stay at home, and be placed where they could no longer spend.

There are, of course, many instances in which the true voice of the people can not be exercised. Mere partisanship often so befuddles matters of financial importance, that actual majority sentiment on a question involving taxes is not expressed. Whenever possible, therefore, the referendum method best determines majority sentiment, and serves as a warning, or precedent to follow, in succeeding like cases.

There is also the fact that as all persons over twenty-one years of age, qualified under the laws, have the right to vote; and this unquestionably means that non-taxpayers, or those who pay but little tax, "put over" propositions on the heavier tax-paying public, that they oppose. A majority vote may not mean a majority of the worth-while taxpayers; but we have not yet succeeded in finding a better form of government than that of the majority, without considering either educational or property qualifications.

It may be, however, that the time is near at hand when the taxpayers must have relief. The plan forever placing the burden of government on visible property, must have its limitations. Taxes should be more equally distributed on incomes, than on mere property. The salaried man with little or no property, should be a taxpayer. The well paid professional man, or mechanic, with only a little furniture—and that except—should help to bear the tax burden. The boy or girl, on becoming twenty-one years of age, should hardly have the right to vote on questions of taxation, equally with those who own, and are heavily taxed for, unprofitable farms, or other property, "Majority Rule," in its complete analysis, may be, and often is, a means of imposing injustice, and especially with its relation to tax-paying, is likely to be given more attention in the near future than it has had in the past.

There has not been, for many years a time when the receipt, of—and the size of—the tax bills is as unwelcome as in this year 1930. The reasons why, need not be listed. They are apparent to all. But, what may be listed with profit is a warning to those who labor in directions that stand for not only no tax relief, but their increase. There could be no worse time for this, than right now.

THE FARMERS' TRIALS.

Any one who is not awake to the discouraging times that farmers are passing through, is not awake to anything, unless he is living in some strange part of the country, or in some very large city, where the name farmer is practically unknown, as well as are the many operations and chances that combine to make up his business. His troubles are very present, and very real, without the shadow of doubt.

However, there is a close neighbor of his, not always a farmer, who is in serious trouble too, but is not so much considered; and he is the owner of the farm, possibly living in a town, or at least not personally operating his farm. The real farmer works hard, and gets little return; while the farm owner works less, but gets far less—if any return at all from his investment—and there is no fair price demand for his farm. As between the two, the actual farmer gets "his living" if nothing less, while the owner must make a living, somehow.

This particular summer, with its great drought and heat, but doubles the regular troubles of both; and there is nothing to be done about it but take things as they are, as calmly and reasonably as possible.

But, these two large and important classes are not the only sufferers—the greatest, but not all. Sooner or later, in one way, or many ways, the trials of the farmer class extend to many other classes, and have a far reaching effect on business in general.

If the heat would subside, and the rains come, even now, there would be a decided return to cheerfulness, and appeal to the bravery of all to "keep on" and make the best of an unfortunate season. And this is the big hope of all—that out of this severe trial there may yet come courage for the future, and not permanent discouragement.

IS RESTRICTING LAW-ABIDING CITIZENS UNFAIR.

In the American Journal of Police Science, Calvin Goddard shows up the "pistol bogey" in a rather striking manner.

Last year Colonel Goddard visited 13 European countries, studying police systems. Only one of these countries, Switzerland, had no restrictive legislation to curb use and ownership of firearms. And in no other European country, with a single possible exception, are there so few crimes of violence as in Switzerland. As Colonel Goddard says, "Let that sink in."

He shows that the state of Iowa, between 1916 and 1921, had a steadily increasing number of bank robberies. The Bankers' Association, meeting in 1920, decided to take drastic action as the constituted authorities seemed powerless. Several thousand citizens were armed with rifles, carbines, revolvers and shotguns and taught how to use them. Immediately there was a falling off in robberies, and in 1925 Iowa was the only state in the nation to be given a reduction in bank hold-up insurance rates.

Anti-gun laws never disarm the class of persons at whom they are aimed—the criminals. They merely disarm the law-abiding citizen. The death record from guns is as nothing compared with the automobile, which killed 31,000 in 1929. Would we countenance "anti-automobile" laws in order to prevent the reckless, incompetent and criminal drivers from owning cars? It would be as sensible.—The Manufacturer.

FEDERAL RELATIONS TO EDUCATION.

The National Advisory Committee on Education, appointed by President Hoover to formulate the principles and policies which should guide and control the Federal Government's activities in the field of education, has had printed and distributed a memorandum of the progress made thus far by the committee, including the different phases of the problem as viewed by the committee as well as the suggestions that have been made for the solution. The committee states that widespread understanding of the problem, full discussion and constructive suggestions are wanted. Every layman or educator is invited to forward comments to the committee at 26 Jackson Place, Washington, D. C., before September 14, when the Steering Committee meets.

In regard to formulating policies to guide the Federal Government in Education, it was stated by the Director at the meeting of June 20:

"The need is an urgent one. Vast economic, political, and social changes have been occurring in the United States and they are already modifying the administrative and teaching processes of the American system of education. It is time to appraise our circumstance, formulate our necessities, and substitute an inclusive national policy of education for the present attitude of drift, with its piecemeal readjustments and its innumerable inconsistencies and confusions.

"In the attempt to meet every new condition in the personal, the social, and the economic life, education has greatly extended its domain.

"Rural life and the agricultural occupation have been subjected to severe shifts and strains, and agricultural instruction enters all our levels of education, rural extension services are provided, experiment stations for investigation of problems related to rural life have been set up in all the states.

"Health education gains a new importance in the national values which aim at a happier and a more effective humanity.

"More people now go to school than before and attend longer. To adjust to all the kinds of people at school, multiple curricula take the place of old fixed curriculum.

"As the school population increases, and the school courses multiply, so does the need of more and better equipment, more and better teachers.

"Schools are overcrowded. There needs to be relief. The cost of education increases, often beyond the apparent ability of some localities to pay.

"Approximate equality of opportunity through education begins to be desired. This requires more of facility for the old kinds of education and for many new kinds.

"Systems of taxation, once adequate, break down and aggravate the difficulty of giving every child a fair chance at education. The states attempt to equalize their school funds.

"We have begun to widen the area for collecting and distributing taxes for schools. First it is the state and then the Federal Government itself which is utilized. We reach for quick means of educational reform to the centralized power of the state or to the more centralized influence of the United States. The times are confused; the need is urgent. Let education be changed for better, everywhere at once, by one fell swoop, in all of the forty-eight states and the hundred thousand localities. Appeal to the central government is economical of legislative argument, and more sweeping in its power.

"One has only to read a portion of the vast contemporaneous literature of criticism in newspapers, magazines, official documents, books, public addresses, to perceive the lack of a guiding social and political philosophy for the determination of the Federal Government's policy toward education in the states."—Scottish Rite News.

PITY THE POLITICIAN.

The wets and the drys will never agree on whether prohibition has been a good thing or a bad thing for the people, and they will continue to argue the thing indefinitely. But there can be no doubt whatever that the prohibition question is hard on one class of men—the politicians.

A candidate for office does not like to limit his appeal to wets only, or to drys only. He wants votes from both camps. So he is faced with the hard problem of trying to walk on both sides of the fence. Of course if his supporters are all on one side or the other that makes it easy for him. He will be for what they are for.

But standing one way publicly and another way privately has its inconveniences. There was, for instance, the confidential document seized by the Senate lobby committee containing names of members of congress who drank in private, but voted dry in public. Doubtless a number of those poor fellows were trembling in their boots until the committee decided there was no use publishing the names. Verily, the life of a politician is an unhappy one.—Elliott City Times.

SENATOR BORAH IS STILL "IN SESSION."

Although Congress has quit, Senator Borah, according to a popular saying, is "always in session." There is no surprise, therefore, in the announcement that he is planning to take the stump in the West in the endeavor to defeat congressional supporters of the Administration on the issue of its farm-relief policies. Ever since the Republican majority side-tracked his plans for tariff and farm legislation Mr. Borah has been bitterly resentful toward the party and toward President Hoover. The break between him and Mr. Hoover, which occurred a year ago last May over the debenture scheme, has been steadily widening as the gentleman from Idaho has opposed the President and his party brethren on other public questions.

In the 1928 campaign Mr. Hoover had no more militant and perhaps no more effective supporter than Mr. Borah. He stumped the country from Boise to Boston, talking tariff protection and farm relief. No Republican regular was more orthodox in his campaign addresses. But when Congress met in special session, Mr. Borah resumed his accustomed role of "independence." When the farm-relief bill came from the House, his insistence caused the insertion of the debenture provision in direct opposition to President Hoover's wishes as expressed in a letter to Republican Senators.

To that letter Mr. Borah replied in heated terms, declaring that when he supported Mr. Hoover for the presidency he did not surrender his freedom of action. The debenture was knocked out of the farm bill, but Mr. Borah had it put into the tariff measure. It was taken out against his vigorous opposition. He also opposed the President's flexible tariff plan and other measures too numerous for mention and helped to prevent confirmation of Judge Parker and delay that of Mr. Hughes for the Supreme Court.

Last winter his condemnation of the Administration's prohibition force as inefficient from top to bottom led to an interchange of pointed correspondence with the White House. It is regrettable that Mr. Borah should now feel moved to boost the game of playing politics with farm relief by making campaign speeches, but it is quite consistent with his recent performances.—Phila. Ledger.

Wolf Killed by Brave Woman

There are many stories of how the last Scottish wolf met its doom; many places in Scotland claim the honor of being the scene of the kill. Glen Morrison may be the one, and here a woman was the slayer.

On her return home from taking food to her men-folk, she was attacked by an angry and famished wolf, but she wound a cloth round her wrist and hand, then, gripping a knife, thrust it down the animal's throat, and dispatched it without receiving a wound.

Old Fire Insurance Company

The Green Tree marker is the emblem adopted by the Mutual Assurance company in 1784, at a time when other insurance companies refused to insure against fire losses properties having trees in front of them. In order to prevent cutting down their shade trees, tree lovers in Philadelphia organized their own company in 1784, and thus established perhaps the earliest concerted action toward the protection and preservation of shade trees. Fire marks bearing the emblem of the company holding the insurance were placed on the front of houses.

Turning Back Time's Pages

Tracks which animals left in Alabama 250,000,000 years ago, a petrified crocodile which succumbed in New Mexico 60,000,000 years ago, dinosaur bones at least 80,000,000 years old, the petrified skeleton of a man who settled in Florida perhaps as much as 20,000 years ago and the frozen bones of animals which roamed Alaska at about the same period, were among the important scientific discoveries announced by the American Museum of Natural History recently as a result of the activities of the organization.

Canfield Never Played Game

To be remembered chiefly because his name was given to a game which he never played and which was never played in any of his establishments, has been the fate of Richard Canfield, the world's greatest gambler. Another twist of fate has turned the sedate brownstone house where millions of dollars nightly passed across the tables into offices for a brokerage firm. Playing the market was Canfield's favorite form of gambling and he lost more on margins than he ever did on a roulette wheel or a card game.

Credited to Novelist

The phrase, "a verdant green," is one which seems to have been with us for a long time as a reference to somebody who is gullible, who is easily deceived, who may be a plain simpleton, in fact.

Actually, however, this expression is not so old as might be surmised. Indeed, it is only three-quarters of a century since it was introduced into the English language, it being taken after a character in Cuthbert Bede's novel of that very name, published in 1863.—Kansas City Star.

In the Same Light

Jimmy's father was a playwright, and Jimmy had just arrived home at the end of school term. The father took the report and read it. It was not very favorable.

"Look here, young man, they don't say very nice things about your work." "Coming up in the train, Dad," retorted Jimmy with a grin. "I was reading about the play you had produced last night, and they didn't say—"

"Better have your lunch," said the playwright quickly.—Answers.

Collections of Noises

A British film company has a rather extensive phonographic library of the sounds which they are likely to have use for in the making of film pictures. This includes the sound of the surf, shots, crowd noises, cheering, hissing, train sounds and similar ear disturbers. The results are said to be very satisfactory, although the process is more costly.

Windshield Decapitates Two Men, Five Others Injured in Collision

A Guillotine on Wheels: Crushed roadster in which two men were beheaded.

By E. W. Melson

NEW YORK CITY (Special)—Two men are dead and five persons injured in the most gruesome automobile accident that has shocked New York in recent years. Frank Suda, 27, of Warren Ave., White Plains, driver of one car, was hurled through the windshield of his car with such force that he was entirely decapitated. On the front seat with him was Dominic Yellow, 25, of Manhattan Ave., White Plains, who was hurled through the glass windshield to a similar fate.

From the tangle of crushed wreckage on the Bronx River Parkway, near the Leewood Golf Club, Tuckahoe, N. Y., a mystery woman emerged who first told police she was Edna Sherman but quickly reconsidered in favor of various other names, none of which satisfied the police. A brunette, about 25 years old, her ride in a drive-it-yourself auto, piloted by Siegfried Swendson, 34, of 361 E. 188th St., The Bronx, N. Y., ended dramatically when both were taken to the Lawrence Hospital for treatment. The Suda party, which was attending a show in New York, included William Petite, 38, of Longdale Ave., his daughter, Mae, 17, and Ferdinand Stillman, 22, of Fairview Terrace, all of White Plains. They were occupying the rumble seat of the roadster when Swendson's machine collided with them at terrific speed virtually head on. All of them were taken to the Lawrence Hospital suffering from shock and possible internal injuries. Witnesses of the disaster said the victims suffered a ghastly death and terrible mutilation due to the lack of safety glass in the windshield.

We desire correspondence to reach our office on Thursday, if at all possible. It will be necessary, therefore, for most letters to be mailed on Wednesday, or by Fast Mail, with the W. M. R. R., Thursday morning. Letters mailed on Thursday evening may not reach us in time.

FEESERSBURG.

How quickly we accustom ourselves to circumstances! One of our neighbors came in rejoicing because it was getting cooler—"Why it's almost down to 90 now."

Mother Gilbert returned to the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. Wolfe, on Saturday evening. She must have been in the land of plenty, as she helped her daughter, Mrs. Blacksten to jar 114 quarts of beans and several dozens of berries and apples. But we've known for some time that Uniontown is the place where gatens grow, as some of their ravens have been feeding us.

Miss Ruth Utermahlen is spending her vacation with her mother, at the Wolfe home. Jesse White, of Baltimore and Hattie Smith, of Frederick, visited with them over the week-end. Visitors at Grove Dale last Thursday included friends from Philadelphia, Frederick and Uniontown. Mignon and Adele Rinehart spent the week-end with their sister, Mary R. Plaine and children, at LeGore.

Middleburg is improving Main St., with a concrete pavement in front of the home occupied by Benjamin Fleagle and family.

A letter from Wm. H. Trumbo, of Baltimore, who with his wife was crushed by an auto last November, informs us he was dismissed from the Hospital at the end of 6 months, and is living in his home with his only sister, as housekeeper and nurse. He can begin to walk on crutches but cannot bend the left leg. Some power is coming back to his right hand and arm, he eats and sleeps well, and is hopeful of recovery.

On Monday, relatives of the Koons-Crumbacker family received notice of the death of Clarence Fritz, of Waynesboro, Pa., from tuberculosis. He leaves a wife (nee Annie—oldest daughter of George and Ella Koons Crumbacker) and six children under 9 years of age. Funeral services at the home on Thursday and burial in Green Hill cemetery.

Preaching service will follow Sunday School at Mt. Union, next Sunday morning, then the pastor, Rev. Kroh, will have a month's vacation.

We are all watching the clouds—with hearts full of hope—while the hot winds blow and dried leaves are falling from the trees.

LINWOOD.

Charles Etzler and family, of Cambridge, are spending the week with Robert Etzler and family.

Robert Garber and family, Washington, D. C., were Sunday visitors in the home of John E. Drach.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Englar entertained a few friends, on Wednesday evening. A very pleasant evening was spent. Refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake, candy and nuts were served.

John S. Messler and family, of Union Bridge, were Sunday guests of J. W. Messler.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse P. Garner and Miss Emma Garner returned on Tuesday from a very pleasant sojourn to Ocean Grove, New Jersey.

Mrs. J. W. Messler, and Mr. and Mrs. Seward Englar were entertained to supper, Thursday evening, by Rev. and Mrs. L. H. Brumbaugh, of Westminster.

During the absence of Rev. J. L. Bowman, pastor of the Linwood Brethren Church; the pulpit was filled the first Sunday by Rev. L. H. Brumbaugh, of Westminster, a former pastor, who gave a splendid message, and the second Sunday by Rev. Wimmer, of Union Bridge, who also gave an inspiring message. Rev. Wimmer brought with him a quartet from Baltimore; and their message in song made a most impressive service.

S. E. Pfoutz and family motored to Sykesville, on Saturday.

Mrs. Willis Ronk and two children, of Myersdale, Pa., are spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Brandenburg, Rev. Ronk, who is attending school at Huntingdon, Pa., visited his family over the week-end.

Mrs. Claude Etzler, who was taken seriously ill, Sunday evening, is very much improved.

KEYMAR.

Mrs. Wm. F. Cover is seriously ill, at her home, with no hopes of her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll V. Bohn, daughter, Aileen, sons, Carl, Jr., and Murray, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Truman Whitmore and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baker, of Chester, Pa., were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Whitmore, near this place.

Wilbur H. Otto, is making an improvement at his home, by giving his house a coat of paint, which will add greatly to the improvement to the home.

Eugene Angell and lady friend, of Baltimore, were visitors at the home of the former's grand-mother and aunt, Mrs. Fannie Sappington and daughter, Miss Cora.

Mrs. Fannie Sappington and daughter, Miss Cora, and grand-daughter, Miss Frances Sappington, spent on Wednesday until Friday in Baltimore, at the home of the former's daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Artie B. Angell.

Mrs. Bessie Mehring is confined to her room, but is improving.

UNIONTOWN.

Mrs. Annie Meredith Devilliss, widow of the late John S. Devilliss, died in Baltimore, Sunday, July 27th. They were former residents of this place. She was the last of the Meredith family, and is survived by one step-daughter, Mrs. Will Hedges, near Wakefield. The burial took place in the M. P. cemetery, this place Wednesday morning. Services were held by Rev. T. Volk.

E. K. Fox, father Albert Fox, sister, Miss Margaret Fox, and friend, Washington, spent a day last week at Dr. J. J. Weaver's; Miss Grace Fox, left today (Friday) for Europe, to spend part of her vacation. She expects to take a two weeks' study course in Geneva, while away.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse P. Garner, sister Miss Emma, returned from Ocean Grove, Tuesday evening, after a ten days' vacation.

A number from town and vicinity spent Tuesday at Sandy Beach, most of them acquiring the coveted tan shade.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Will and daughters, near Winfield, were guests of Mrs. Will's brother, Harry Wilson, on Sunday.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Will moved her furniture to her new home. Rinaldo Repp is sick at the home of D. M. Englar.

ELABORATE BURIAL FOR DOG.

A pet female airedale dog, owned by Miss M. J. Norcross, of Sterretts, Gap, near Carlisle, died on Monday, in a dog hospital of Dr. Charles W. Selemeyer, York, following an operation for a hernia, performed by Dr. Selemeyer, in an effort to save her life. Miss Norcross took the animal to York several days ago.

Elaborate plans for the burial of the animal have been made by the dog's owner, Miss Norcross. She has employed the services of C. A. Strack & Son, York, funeral directors, who furnished a beautiful silk lined and trimmed casket in which to convey the dog to its final resting place. Miss Norcross has also employed C. C. Kottcamp & Son, York plumbers, to make a solid copper casket in which the dog is to be buried in a cemetery near Carlisle.—Hanover Record.

THE UNFIT DRIVER.

Only 12 states require all automobile drivers to pass tests before they are licensed, and in 12 other states anyone, however incompetent, may operate a car, according to Dr. Julius Klein of the Department of Commerce.

"In the absence of a driver's license law," he states, "any or all of these potential killers and wreckers can be let loose with the utmost freedom and impunity upon the roads of the community."

Statistics show that the accident rate, in proportion to the number of automobiles registered, has increased much more rapidly in states where examinations of drivers are not required than in states where they are required.

Even if all the 48 states had strict examinations for drivers the accident problem would not be solved. But it is the consensus of much expert opinion that nation-wide laws which will force potential drivers to learn how to drive, are the greatest single need. The fact that last year 31,000 people were killed by automobiles should cause a demand for quick action in every state.—The Manufacturer.

MY DEBT TO MY TOWN.

"My Town owes me nothing. If accounts were balanced at this date, I would be the debtor. Haven't I, all these years, lived within the limits of the Town and shared all its benefits? Haven't I had the benefit of its schools and churches? Haven't I had the use of its libraries, parks, and public places? Haven't I had the protection of its fire, police, and health department? Haven't its people, during all this time, been gathering for me, from the four corners of the earth, food for my table, clothing for my body, and material for my home?"

"Hasn't this Town furnished the patronage by which I have succeeded in my business? Hasn't it furnished the best friends of my life, whose ideals have been my inspirations, whose kind words have been my cheer, and whose helpfulness has carried me over the greatest difficulties? "What will I give in return? Not simply the taxes which cover so small part of what I have received. I want to give more; I want, of my own free will, to give enough that I can rightfully say, "This is my Town," so that I can take pride in its prosperity, in the honors which come to its citizens, and all that makes it greater and better.

"I can do this only by becoming a part of the Town—by giving to it generously of myself. In this way only can I, even in small part, pay the great debt I owe to my Town."—Selected.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Adopted by the Directors of The Birnie Trust Company, on the death of EDWARD O. WEANT, its late President.

Whereas, The Creator in His infinite wisdom, has taken from us a friend and associate of tested worth and proven loyalty, and

Whereas, Edward O. Weant devoted himself assiduously to the growth of the Trust Company of which he was President, and

Whereas, His counsel was an invaluable asset to its progress; therefore, be it resolved, That in his death this Bank has suffered an abiding loss; that the organizations with which he was associated have been bereft of a wise counsellor; and that we, his colleagues on the Board of Directors of The Birnie Trust Company, have sustained a deep and lasting sorrow, and be it further

Resolved, That we mourning his loss extend our profound sympathy to his bereaved family; and be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Board; that a copy of them be published in The Carroll Record, and that a copy be sent the family.

ARTHUR W. FEESER, Pres. J. J. WEAVER, JR., Vice-Pres. G. WALTER WILT, Cashier. MILTON A. KOONS, GEORGE A. ARNOLD, WILLIAM F. BRICKER, MELBYN C. FUSS, Directors.

Adopted July 25, 1930. G. W. WILT, Secretary of Board.

Impenetrable Disguise

Miss Shirley Moor, the first woman graduate of the Yale Law school, was criticizing the modern girl.

Two modern girls ornamented the terrace of a country club the other afternoon. They wore boots and riding breeches and bowler hats—a groom had just led off their horses—and as they waited for their cocktails to be served they smoked cigarettes in long amber tubes and swaggered up and down in mannish fashion.

"Oh, by the way," said the first one, "what about the masquerade ball next week?"

The other tapped her leg with her crop stick. "Well, what about it?"

"What shall we go as?"

"Let me think. There! I've got an idea."

"Spill it."

"We'll go as girls!"

Mercenary

"You never talk scandal?"

"Never," answered Miss Cayenne. "If you have any scandal on your mind it is foolish to publish it free, instead of writing a book."—Washington Star.

DIED.

MISS ANNA M. DERN.

Miss Anna M. Dern, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frank H. Wantz, Taneytown, early Monday morning at the age of 71 years, 11 months and three days. She was the daughter of the late Frederick and Mary Jane Dern and she made her home with her sister for the last 25 years. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Frank Wantz and Miss Jane Dern, Hagerstown.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning at the Wantz home with further services at the Harney Lutheran Church. The pastor, the Rev. Mr. Sanders, officiated and interment was made in the cemetery adjoining the church.

MRS. GEORGE STULTZ.

Mrs. Mary Catherine Stultz, wife of George Stultz, died at her home in Uniontown, on Sunday morning at the age of 60 years, 11 months and 11 days. She was the daughter of the late David and Sarah Bloom and is survived by her husband and the following children: Mrs. Walter Baile, New Windsor; Mrs. Gertrude Stem, Westminster; Luther, of Winter's church; Edgar, New Windsor; Roger, New Windsor; David, Baltimore; Theodore, Uniontown; Howard, Margaret and Roy, at home; four grandchildren; two brothers, Geoffry, of Philadelphia, and Harry, Littlestown; and one sister, Mrs. Charles Fritz, of Uniontown.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning, at the late home. The Rev. J. H. Hoch, pastor of the Uniontown Church of God, officiated.

CARD OF THANKS.

We hereby extend our sincere thanks to all friends and neighbors who in any way assisted us following the death and burial of our mother, Laura E. Vaughn. BY THE FAMILY.

Chinaman's Funeral

For 23 years Soo Hoo Tong was a cook in mining camps of southern Nevada. He was a friend of everyone, and especially of those in need. No penniless prospector was ever refused food at his kitchen. He died the other day, aged seventy-three, and many he had befriended bought a metallic coffin for him, and covered it with flowers. Judge Frank Dunn of Tonopah delivered the eulogy. An orchestra made up of the dance hall players provided music and a community choir sang. It was the largest funeral ever held in that part of Nevada. He was just a Chinaman, but he loved his fellowmen. That made the difference.—Capper's Weekly.

Hoping

Little Billy, age five, had been pestering his father all evening as to the age of his parent. Finally, growing a trifle weary of asking questions, he said: "Daddy, are you one hundred and fifty years old?" His father, greatly annoyed by the endless inquiries, absent-mindedly, said: "Why sure. Of course." The next day Billy related his newly acquired bit of information to a neighbor, across the street. "My gracious!" exclaimed the woman in mock surprise, "he hasn't much more time to live, has he?" "Guess not," Billy admitted, "but I hope he lives a couple more Christmases."

We have joined with Firestone to not only meet but BEAT Mail Order and other Special Brand tires on Price-Quality-Service

Come in and see the facts for yourself

YOU no longer need to send for tires by mail, nor do you have to buy tires made by some unknown manufacturer. Firestone prices are now the lowest in tire history, but more important than that, Firestone quality has never been higher.

We've taken the mystery out of tire buying

Visit our store and we will show you the "inside facts" about tires. We have actually cut up new tires and have the cross sections for you to examine—you will easily see why Firestone quality is so outstanding.

Don't worry about punctures and blowouts

Punctures and blowouts are bothersome and most people fear them—but NOW, because of the patented Double Cord Breaker, Firestone has practically eliminated them. Come in, and let us show you this feature that puts two extra plies of cord right under the tread where most road wear comes and where punctures and blowouts start.

Compare Prices and Specifications

Because Firestone Tires hold all world records on road and track for speed, safety and endurance, many people think they are high priced—but just check these low prices—then compare quality—you will be dollars and miles ahead.

Table comparing Firestone tires with mail order tires. Columns include Size, Our Tire (Cash Price), Mail Order Tire, and other specifications like Width of Tread, Thickness of Tire, Volume of Rubber, etc.

Table listing Firestone Oldfield and H. D. Truck Tires with prices. Columns include size and price.

Advantages of Our Tire

- Wider Tread, of Long-Wear Non-Oxidizing Rubber. Thicker Tread, of Long-Wear Non-Oxidizing Rubber. Heavier and Bigger All Around. 10% More Rubber in Tread and Sidewall. 7.2% Thicker Tire Section.

NOTE: Just passing on to you the savings of the one tire manufacturer who controls own sources of raw materials and who uses the most modern manufacturing methods in the industry—Leadership, gained in actual performance on race track and other endurance runs. The Inventor of the Balloon Tire. "Most Miles Per Dollar."

Foresight Not One of Daniel Webster's Gifts

When the bill carrying an appropriation for $50,000 to establish mail service to the Pacific coast came up in congress for consideration after the American conquest, its most violent opponent was Daniel Webster, senator from Massachusetts. In his speech of opposition, Mr. Webster said:

"What do we want of this vast worthless area, this region of savages and wild beasts, of deserts of shifting sands and whirlwinds of dust, cactus and prairie dogs? To what use could we ever hope to put these deserts or these endless mountain ranges, impenetrable and covered to their bases with eternal snow? What can we ever hope to do with the western coast of 3,000 miles, rock-bound, cheerless and uninviting, with not a harbor in it? Mr. President, I will never vote one cent from the public treasury to place the Pacific coast one inch nearer Boston than it is today."

In 1848, during the administration of President Polk, Postmaster General Cave Johnson recommended the establishment of a post office in San Francisco, which was authorized November 9, 1848.—Kansas City Times.

Men of Wisdom Seldom Perfect "Health Risks"

History tells us of few really distinguished men who were completely healthy: the biography of the high-toned is always largely concerned with aches and malaises.

In the great days of the Greeks only the athletes were good insurance risks—and of the athletes, then as now, we hear nothing save that they were athletes. There must have been thousands of them, first and last, but not one of them, as he grew older, ever amounted to anything.

No doubt the average hero of the games spent his last days keeping a wine shop or serving as night watchman at the academy. Meanwhile, the philosophers pored over the works of Hippocrates and were steady customers of all the quacks who swarmed in from the East.—American Mercury.

Venice Built on Mud

Venice is at the head of the Adriatic sea, between the mountains and the sea. The whole of the plain has been formed by the debris swept down from the Alps by rivers. In the process of time some of these banks, as in the case of Venice, raised themselves above the level of the water and became the true shore line, while beyond them lay large lagoons, formed undoubtedly by fresh water brought down by the rivers and partly by the salt water tide which found its way in at the channels of the river mouths. On a group of these mud banks, about the middle of the lagoon, stands the city of Venice. The soil is an oozy mud, which can only be made capable of sustaining buildings by the artificial means of pile-driving.

Favorite Recipes of a Famous Chef

As Told to Anne Baker By FREDERIC FRANCOIS GUILLOT Chef, Hotel Astor, New York City

As a means of adding a bit of variety to the menu, Mr. Guillot suggests these two new ways of preparing carrots and beets:

Chef Guillot

Golden Mountain—Scrape and boil until tender enough young carrots to make two cups when mashed. Mash thoroughly and add two well-beaten egg s, one-fourth cup cream, one teaspoon sugar and salt and pepper to taste. Place in well-buttered mold. Stand in pan of hot water and bake until firm in a moderate oven. Turn out on platter and surround with cooked peas.

Savory Beets—Boil one-half dozen medium size beets until tender. In the meanwhile, mix together two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon grated onion, one teaspoon sugar, one tablespoon vinegar, one-half teaspoon salt, a dash of nutmeg. Cook for five minutes. Peel and slice the beets. Arrange in serving dish and pour the sauce over them.

Trees That "Make Good" on the Home Grounds

Elm and oak trees are ideal for the home grounds, not only because of their beauty and long life, but because their shade is not so dense as to kill plants and grass beneath them.

Oaks are considered to be slow growing trees, but they will grow almost as readily as the elms. The burr oak, which grows with a widespread head and rugged branches, is the finest for the yard and the pin oak for parkways. Red oaks do best in light, dry soils. Oaks are not difficult to transplant if one buys nursery-grown trees of the small sizes and prunes them back severely at planting time. If this is neglected the oak is quite likely to die even after it puts out leaves.

Black walnuts are fine shade trees and grow readily. They produce nuts whose merit is recognized by all good cooks and their wood is the most expensive of native woods.

The gongko bilboa or maiden hair tree, which has a leaf shaped like that of the maiden hair fern and which grows in a perfect cone, is much used for parkway planting in eastern cities. It is especially immune from insects and disease attacks.

Opinions Vary Greatly

Concerning Model City

Inspired by talk about a "model" city, the question arises, What is a model city? It cannot be answered, for the reason that the answer depends on the cultural viewpoint, with reference to the word "culture," in its dictionary application to "refinement of mind, morals or taste."

To say that a city is great or opulent or beautiful conveys a meaning more or less satisfactory to every one. But a "model" city in the sense here understood raises a conflict of opinions. Your model city may, for instance, be either too puritanical for some tastes or too wicked for others. One man's meat is another man's poison. My model city may not be your model city.

New Orleans would not suit Boston as a model city.

Washington, as a model city, may not please Wayback or Hickville. The model city of a Washington, a Jefferson, or a Lincoln might be to others Sodom or Gomorrah.

And so it goes. What we should do is to make our city a better city, not a model.—Washington Post.

Water Supply Important

Of the thousands of privately owned water supply companies, a few hundred have been brought together in the last few years into holding companies which were able to give each individual unit up-to-date management. Able engineering brains were introduced. Improvements and extensions were scientifically planned, and, in this way, the needs of the communities were anticipated in advance, so that the growth of the communities was, in many cases, furthered instead of retarded by lack of water facilities for industries, home developments, fire protection, sanitation, street cleaning, etc. The importance to the communities of a progressive water company can scarcely be overstated because an adequate supply of pure water is the basis of a higher standard of living, greater comfort, better fire protection and industrial progress.

Wooded Setting Effective

Consider a wooded setting for your brick house wherever it is possible. Nothing is quite so effective in enhancing the charm of a richly colored common brick wall as the constant change in the play of sunshine and shadows. This is especially appealing where the color tones are varied and sharply defined.

A ray of sunshine focusing suddenly upon a single brick of unusually vivid coloring, searching it out as a branch is swayed in the breeze, endows it in a twinkling with a flash of new and startling beauty akin to the glow of a firefly in the dusk.

Unpainted Building Decays

The recent authoritative estimate that the weathering of unpainted buildings and implements costs American farmers $800,000,000 a year leads the Farm Journal to point out what is really happening to a building while the owner thinks he is saving money by delaying the needed coat of paint. It is decay, but the actual wearing away of the exposed surface that makes a ruin of the neglected building long before its time.

Brick Veneering Pays

Many old houses have sturdy frames despite the shabby and old appearance of the exterior. Given a veneer of face brick, these houses will put on an appearance of new and will give service that compares well with an entirely new home, for the brick exterior provides protection against the elements and takes on added beauty with the years.

Favorite Recipes of a Famous Chef

As Told to Anne Baker By FREDERIC FRANCOIS GUILLOT Chef, Hotel Astor, New York City

The two following recipes, Mr. Guillot points out, are sufficiently unusual to be well out of the ordinary routine of the family menu, but at the same time are both economical and easy to prepare.

Chef Guillot

Deviled Bones—Brush the drumsticks, wings or back of a cold fowl with melted butter. Mix together one tablespoon prepared mustard, one tablespoon chutney, and one tablespoon curry powder. Cover the parts of the fowl with the mixture and broil lightly. Mix together over the fire one cup gravy, one teaspoon sugar, juice of one lemon, one tablespoon ketchup, few grains cayenne, and salt and pepper. Cook the parts of the fowl with the sauce for five minutes and serve.

Spanish String Beans—Shred two medium-size onions. Sauté in two tablespoons butter until tender. Mix with two cups strained, stewed tomatoes. Add salt and pepper to taste, one teaspoon sugar, and a few grains cayenne. Bring to boil and add one quart of freshly cooked string beans. Simmer for a quarter of an hour, add two teaspoons butter, and serve.

TRUSTEES' SALE

— OF —
VALUABLE FARM
located in Taneytown District, Carroll County, Maryland.

By virtue of a decree passed in a cause wherein Joseph M. Reaver and others are plaintiffs, and Ethel R. Fuss, infant, and others are defendants, in the Circuit Court for Carroll County, it being No. 6097 Equity, the undersigned Trustees will sell at public sale on the premises hereinafter described, on SATURDAY, AUGUST 2, 1930,

at 1 o'clock, P. M., all those three contiguous tracts or parcels of land, being parts of a tract of land called "The Addition to Brooke's Discovery on the Rich Lands," containing in the aggregate

124 ACRES, 1 ROOD AND 27 SQ. PERCHES OF LAND, more or less, improved by a 2½ STORY DWELLING,

with summer house, large bank barn and machine shed, wagon shed, approved dairy house, hog pen, chicken house and all necessary outbuildings. All the buildings are in good condition. The land is in a high state of cultivation and very productive.

This farm is located on the Littlestown and Emmitsburg road, about 4 miles northwest of Taneytown, in Taneytown District, Carroll County, Maryland, and adjoins the lands of Vernon Ridinger, Luther Zimmerman, Dalbert Spangler, Dallas Shriver and others, is known as the Milton A. Reaver farm, and now occupied by Vernon C. Reaver. Being the same three parcels of land described in the deed from John D. Hesson and wife to Milton A. Reaver, dated April 1, 1925, and recorded among the Land Records of Carroll County in Liber E. M. M. Jr. No. 145, folio 204 &c.

Possession of said farm will be given April 1, 1931, the purchaser to have the privilege of sowing the Fall (1930) wheat crop, etc.

TERMS OF SALE—One-third cash on the day of sale, or upon the ratification thereof by the Court; and the residue shall be paid in two equal payments, the one to be paid in one year, and the other in two years from the day of sale, with interest, and to be secured by the notes of the purchaser or purchasers, with approved security, or all cash at the option of the purchaser or purchasers.

PUBLIC SALE

— OF —
Valuable Real Estate

By virtue of the power and direction contained in the last will and testament of Samuel H. Mehring, late of Carroll County, Maryland, deceased, and by virtue of an order of the Orphans' Court of the said county, the undersigned Executrix of the said last will and testament will offer at public sale on the premises, on TUESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1930,

at 1:30 P. M., all that

containing 166 Acres and 24 Square Perches of Land, more or less, situated along the Taneytown-Littlestown state highway, 3½ miles from Taneytown, in Carroll County, Maryland, and being the same land that was conveyed to the said Samuel H. Mehring by the heirs-at-law of Hezekiah David Mehring, deceased, by deed dated the 13th. day of July, 1898, and recorded among the Land Records of Carroll County in Liber J. H. B. No. 87, Folio 399, &c.

The farm is in a splendid state of cultivation, and improved with a large brick farm house and summer house in good repair, a large and convenient bank barn, wagon shed, implement sheds, hog pen, chicken house, ice house and other necessary buildings, all on the same side of the concrete road. There are wells of excellent water at the house and barn, with wind pump at the barn and force pump at the house. The place is equipped and splendidly adapted for dairying. There is some timber on the place. This is a most desirable place, both for a home, with concrete road to market, stores and church, and as a place for general farming.

SECOND. On the same day and by the same authority the said Executrix will offer at public sale at 3:00 P. M., on the premises in Taneytown, the undivided one-half interest in the situated on the northeast corner of the Square, in Taneytown, Carroll County, Maryland, having a frontage on Baltimore Street of 164 feet, and on York Street of 70½-ft., being the same property which was conveyed to David M. Mehring and Samuel H. Mehring by George W. Albaugh and wife, by deed dated the 29th. day of September, 1904, and recorded among the Land Records of Carroll County in Liber D. P. S. No. 100, Folio 323 &c.

This property is improved with a large brick building containing the Central Hotel, now leased to Motter & Leister, a large and convenient store room now occupied as a hardware store by Roy B. Garner, and several smaller rooms for small stores or office, now rented. This is a very valuable business property. The other one-half interest is owned by David M. Mehring. On Baltimore Street there is available as part of the property a large lot for building purposes.

TERMS, as prescribed by the Orphans' Court: One-third of the purchase money to be paid to the said Executrix on the day of sale, or on ratification thereof by the said Court, and the residue in two equal payments, the one payable in six months and the other payable in twelve months from the day of sale; the credit payments to be secured by the bonds or single bills of the purchaser or purchasers, with sufficient security, bearing interest from the day of sale, or all cash at the option of the purchaser or purchasers.

Sales to begin at the hours mentioned, sharp.

EXCEPTIONAL SALADS

WE all want salads in summer. They form a cool and refreshing part of the diet, and furnish mineral salts and vitamins beside acting as a whip to jaded appetites. But those jaded appetites are just the thing we have in mind. We want salads, but we want new salads with new tastes and colors as well as the old standbys which everyone likes.

What are some of the things that can find a proper place in salads? The list is one of astonishing variety and length. It includes not only vegetables and fruits, but meats, nuts, cheese, consommé, gelatin and fish.

An Almost Endless Choice

Among the vegetables which are served in modern salads are tomatoes, peas, cabbage, beets, string beans, asparagus, cauliflower, potatoes, chickory, peppers, celery, artichokes, radishes, corn, onions, carrots, lettuce, parsley, spinach, cucumbers, capers and pimientos.

Among the fruits are alligator pears, cherries, cranberries, oranges, grapefruit, hearts of palms, apples, pears, grapes, pineapples, dates, watermelon, apricots, peaches, cocoanut, olives, and ginger.

The meats include turkey, chicken, sweetbreads, tongue, ham and roast beef.

The chief nuts used are almonds, walnuts, chestnuts and pecans, and the cheeses are Roquefort, American and cream.

Consommé, gelatin and marshmallows frequently form part of a summer salad, and the fish include shrimp, crabs, lobster, tuna, salmon and sardines.

Some Meat Salads

But let's get specific and tell some of the ways in which this bewildering array of ingredients can be used to make tempting salads. Here's a hearty one to be served from a buffet table to people who come in hungry from outdoor sports:

Turkey, Sweetbread and Pineapple Salad: Toss together lightly one cup cold diced turkey, one cup cold diced sweetbreads, one-half cup white grapes, skinned and seeded, and one-half cup diced pineapple. Season with salt and pepper, and moisten slightly with mayonnaise. Pile on a large chop plate or in a big salad bowl well garnished with lettuce. This recipe will serve eight people.

Financier's Luncheon Salad: Cut cold rare roast beef in thin, small shavings, drain a can of stringless beans, and slice one cucumber very thin. Marinate the meat, beans, cucumbers and some canned artichoke hearts separately in French dressing very thoroughly before serving. Then pile the beef in a lettuce leaf in center of plate, and surround with three small leaves holding a spoonful each of the three vegetables.

Salads Including Nuts

Pea, Cheese and Nut Salad: Drain two cups of canned peas, and marinate thoroughly in one-fourth cup French dressing. Drain. Add one-half cup diced American cheese, and one-half cup chopped nuts, mix with mayonnaise, and serve on lettuce.

Grapefruit and Almond Salad: Toss together lightly the contents of one No. 2 can grapefruit, one cup shredded blanched almonds, one-half cup chopped dates, one-fourth cup preserved ginger, and one green pepper cut in rings. Dress with French dressing made with grapefruit juice instead of vinegar. Serve in lettuce nests and garnish with tiny hearts cut out of canned pimiento.

A Fine Fruit Salad

Witch Salad was devised for Hallowe'en, but it tastes equally good any other day in the year. To make it, mix one cup chopped apple, one cup chopped celery, and one-half cup chopped dates, and moisten well with mayonnaise. Arrange a mound of this mixture in the center of nests of shredded lettuce. Over each invert a half peach, rounded side up, from a No. 2½ can of peaches. On each peach make a face, using whole cloves for eyes and nose and narrow strips of canned pimiento for the mouth. Pass extra mayonnaise with the salad. This recipe will serve eight.

Some Salmon Salads

Salmon and Rice Salad with Deviled Eggs: Mix together very gently, so as not to mash, the contents of a No. 1 can of salmon, one cup boiled rice and one and one-half cups sliced celery. Marinate fifteen minutes in French dressing. Add one tablespoon capers, one-fourth cup chopped sweet pickles, and one-fourth cup sliced radishes, and moisten slightly with mayonnaise. Arrange in a large bowl lined with lettuce, mark with mayonnaise, and arrange eight deviled egg halves around the edge. This recipe will serve eight.

Spiced Salmon in Cucumber Boats: Mash the contents of one large can of salmon. Boil three-fourths cup vinegar, twelve whole cloves, twelve pepper-corns, six allspice berries and one-eighth teaspoon salt two minutes. Pour hot over the salmon, and let stand several hours. Drain and serve cold in cucumber boats, or on lettuce garnished with sliced cucumbers. This recipe will serve eight.*

Lesson for August 3

NAOMI AND RUTH: A STUDY IN RACIAL RELATIONSHIPS

LESSON TEXT—The Book of Ruth.
GOLDEN TEXT—And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Ruth a Helpful Daughter.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Naomi's Faithfulness Leads Ruth to God.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—Our Neighbors of Other Races.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC—The Way to World Brotherhood.

I. How Naomi and Ruth Were Brought Together (1:1-15).

On account of famine in Bethlehem of Judah, Naomi with her husband and two sons sojourned in the land of Moab. After the death of her husband, her two sons married Moabitish women. After a time her sons died also. After the death of her sons, Naomi resolved to return to her homeland, having heard that the Lord had visited his people in giving them bread. They went to Moab to escape trouble but only got into more. This is always the case when God's people go into the world to escape difficulties. It was not until Naomi was thus chastised that she resolved to return.
When the time came for her to go,
Ruth and Orpah accompanied her for a distance.

II. Ruth's Noble Choice (1:16-18).

Greatly as Naomi loved her daughters-in-law, she would not have them go into this matter blindly. She wished them to know the seriousness of their action.

1. No chance for them to marry again (v. 11).

Naomi told them that she had no more sons for whom they could wait.
In that day for a woman to be unmarried was the greatest disgrace.
Society differed then from now. No avenues were open by which women could earn their living.

2. Heathen gods must be renounced (v. 15).

Idolrous worship could not be carried on in the land where God's people dwell. This was delicately touched upon when Orpah went back. She went back when it was plain that there was no chance for her to get a husband.
After Orpah's return Naomi put an additional test upon Ruth, that of giving up her religion. Ruth was equal to the occasion. Her mind was fully made up. She was willing to accept as her God the One who was able to produce in his subjects the nobility of character she had observed in Naomi.
Ruth's determination was so definite and unflinching that her expressions have come down to us in words which
"no poetry has outrivaled and no pathos has exceeded, and which has gone through centuries with the music which will not let them be forgotten." She was determined to share Naomi's journey, her home, her lot in life, and grave in death, whatever or wherever that would be. To crown it all, she renounced her heathen gods and worshiped Jehovah, the true God.

III. Blessings Which Attended Ruth's Choice.

1. She found the true God (1:16).

Instead of a heathen god who was unable to help her, she had the Living God, the God of Israel.

2. She found friends (ch. 2).

As she went to glean she was led to the field of Boaz, a man of grace and wealth. The servants of Boaz treated her with consideration.

3. A good husband and happy home (chs. 3 and 4).

4. An honored place in the Israel- itish nation (4:13-17).

5. She became a link in the chain of the Redeemer's ancestry (4:18-22 cf. Matt. 1:5).

The one who fully decides for Christ and gives up all for Him shall receive a hundredfold in this life and in the world to come eternal life.

The story of Ruth is a fine example, first, of right racial relationship. The union of Ruth with Israel was around the true God. And, second, of dis-pensational truth:

(1) The famine in the land indi- cates the testing of the Jews in the great tribulation.

(2) The going into Moab indicates the sojourn of the Israelites among the nations.

(3) The sickness and death in Moab indicates the chastisement of the Jews and their sorrows in the present age.

(4) The return to the land indi- cates the gathering of Israel to their own land, Palestine.

(5) Ruth's decision indicates the gathering of the Gentiles through the influence of the Jews.

(6) The marriage between Boaz and Ruth indicates the union of the church with Jesus Christ.

Adds Charm to Character

Small kindnesses, small courtesies,
small considerations, habitually practiced in our social intercourse, give a greater charm to the character than the display of great talents and accomplishments.—Ketty.

Finding Happiness

God made the world to be happy in,
but all the happiness some people get is hunting for trouble on a dark night with a dim lantern.—Herald of Gospel Liberty.

Fur-Bearers Wiped Out

by Forest Destruction
Fur-bearing animals are naturally creatures of forest and stream, and it is interesting to note the effect forest destruction, either by fire or lumbering, has on the fur-bearer.

Animals like the valuable pine marten and fisher are simply lost without green timber, and you will rarely see tracks of either of these animals in burnt-over lands or slashing.

Foxes and coyotes as a rule quickly return to burnt-over areas, for the simple reason that forest destruction generally results in a new growth of light brush and grass, which affords a great breeding ground for mice and other rodents. The same can be said of moose and deer, as the new growth of tender shoots from alder, birch, cottonwood, etc., makes good feeding ground for these animals.

But, on the whole, forest destruction marks a wide devastation of the fur-bearing species. It is known of several instances in northwestern Canada when rival trappers, in order to drive their enemies out of a certain section, have stooped to the nefarious practice of firing large timbered areas.

Self-Control Prominent

Attribute of Socrates Socrates was a graduate of the school of hard knocks who learned to talk by talking and to preach what he had himself practiced.

His two main tenets were self-control and self-knowledge, and here
the stories about him are quite consistent. When he made friends with people of means he could enjoy their luxuries. He outdrank Aristophanes at Agathon's banquet, but generally he preferred not to drink too much lest he might think too little. He believed in temperance, and when made symposiarch, or leader of the feast,
he called for "little cups."

Good food he enjoyed, but he could endure the poor cooking of his wife.
The same with clothes. During the campaign at Potidea, when others were clad in sheepskins and furs, he walked barefoot on the snow. But unlike many moral reformers Socrates did not insist that what he did was the only thing to do.

If the Greeks had smoked tobacco
he would not have belonged to the Anti-Nicotine league. No, his doctrine of self-control seemed to be this:
"I can do with, and I can do without,
and I trust that you can do the same."

Or, as he put the matter when present at the fair: "How many things there are which I do not need."—Woodbridge Riley in "Men and Morals."

Nothing to Distinguish

Murderer From Others

It has been discovered that only two per cent of the murderers in New York in the past fifteen years have been fat men, and that the most ghastly crimes are usually committed there by those who are devoid of vitamins.
One of the most famous murderers in the world, Charles Peace, was described by a counsel who once defended him as "a small, spare man, clean-shaven, with a very prominent chin, which he could so distort as to make himself unrecognizable." The police description of him issued at the time was: "Thin and slightly built, 5ft. 4in.,
high, grey (nearly white) hair, beard, and whiskers." Crippen was spare of chest, narrow of shoulder, meager in height, and devoid of muscle, with protruding eyeballs which gave his face a meaningless stare. Scotland Yard was asked about the Cassius type, but no encouragement was given to the New York theory. "My experience is,"
said an official, "that murderers have few characteristics to distinguish them from the ordinary men you meet in the street, train, or omnibus."

NUTTY NATURAL HISTORY

BY HUGH HUTTON

THE GREAT CORNED WHIFF

THIS strong creature is almost extinct, except in certain mountainous regions. It intercepts rum runners between there and the sea coast and drinks their gin. When they can be found, these birds are captured by the farmers and staked out in ripe cucumber patches, where it is claimed that the breath of one whiff will turn

a bushel of cucumbers into pickles in three hours.

The expression on this whiff after two and one-half barrels of gin is accomplished with split almonds for the head, split lima bean ears, and eyes of white circles with ink spots. The body is an English walnut, the legs and neck toothpicks, and the feet split peanuts. A popped popcorn forms the nonsensical tail.

Must Be Done in Time

A Portland letter writer says that pedestrians who stand correctly are not likely to be run down by automobiles. He says you may know that you are standing correctly by "marking the center of the ear, the shoulder and the hip, and dropping a plumb bob through the center of these marks." That is highly interesting and very valuable information, but would you have time to attend to it before the auto hit you?

Woman Medical Pioneer

Elizabeth Blackwell, who was graduated from Geneva Medical college in 1849, was the first woman to obtain a medical degree in the United States.
She and her sister, Emily, started in New York the Infirmary for Women and Children in 1853, the first institution of its kind conducted solely by women. She was afterward connected with other forward steps in medical education, both here and in England.

Property Owned by "Nobody"

"Nobody" has property rights that are respected in England.

Every now and then the efforts of county authorities to acquire a piece of land for public purposes disclose that the land is owned by "nobody."

Two plots near Hampton court recently were discovered to be such "no man's land" when the Surrey County council tried to buy them, and similar cases have turned up in the older and poorer parts of London.

The usual procedure is to have such land valued by a disinterested person and the money paid into court by the county council or incorporated town.
Then if "nobody" ever shows up he can collect his money, knowing that his rights were looked after while he was gone.

Meeting the Needs of Millions of People

The low-priced automobile has brought greater opportunity and added hours of recreation to millions of men and women.

BECAUSE the automobile is such an important factor in the lives and prosperity of so many people, the purpose of the Ford Motor Company is something more than the mere manufacture of a motor car.

There is no service in simply setting up a machine or a plant and letting it turn out goods. The service extends into every detail of the business—design, production, the wages paid and the selling price. All are a part of the plan.

The Ford Motor Company looks upon itself as charged with making an automobile that will meet the needs of millions of people and to provide it at a low price. That is its mission. That is its duty and its obligation to the public.

The search for better ways of doing things is never-ending. There is ceaseless, untiring effort to find new methods and new machines that will save steps and time in manufacturing. The Ford plants are, in reality, a great mechanical university, dedicated to the advancement of industry. Many manufacturers come to see and share the progress made.

The greatest progress comes by never standing still. Today's methods, however successful, can never be taken as wholly right. They represent simply the best efforts of the moment. Tomorrow must bring an improvement in the methods of the day before.

Hard work usually finds the way.

Once it was thought impossible to cast
gray iron by the endless chain method.
All precedent was against it and every previous experiment had failed. But fair prices to the public demanded that wasteful methods be eliminated. Finally the way was found.

A better way of making axle shafts saved
thirty-six million dollars in four years.
A new method of cutting crankcases reduced the cost by $500,000 a year. The perfection of a new machine saved a similar amount on such a little thing as one bolt. Then electric welding was developed to make many bolts unnecessary and to increase structural strength.

Just a little while ago, an endless chain conveyor almost four miles long was installed at the Rouge plant. This conveyor has a daily capacity of 300,000 parts weighing more than 2,000,000 pounds.
By substituting the tireless, unvarying machine for tasks formerly done by hand, it has made the day's work easier for thousands of workers and saved time and money in the manufacture of the car.

All of these things are done in the interest of the public—so that the benefits of reliable, economical transportation may be placed within the means of every one.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY

The Final Test

by Lawrence Hawthorne

One thing I need if I succeed
In Life's energetic game;
One force must be supreme in me
If honors I hope to claim;
For this I know: The prize will go
To him whose morale is true.
The best of luck is found in pluck—
The power to see it through!

No kindly Fate can make men great Unless they have set a goal,
Until they name a worthy aim
And work for it heart and soul.
The men today who fight their way
To lasting success are few;
Lord, grant to me in great degree
The power to see it through!

Not every man who says, "I can!"
Continues to do his best,
Yet fame is known to him alone
Who answers the final test;
So, this I ask: Whatever task
Is waiting for me to do,
Give me the might to win the fight—
The power to see it through!

TANEYTOWN LOCALS

Items of news from town, or vicinity are always wanted for this column. Especially accidents, sales of real estate, fires, important happenings, visits to or from the community social events, and all matters of general interest to those at home, and away from home.

This column is not for use in advertising any money-making program, fair, supper, party or sale; except for non-denominational charities or special benefits, Fire Company or Public Library support. Churches, Lodges, Societies, Schools, etc., are requested to use our Special Notice Department.

Mrs. Margaret Stott and Miss Anna Galt are visiting Robert A. Stott and family, at their home in Hagerstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart F. King, were callers to Frostburg, Md., by the sudden death of Mrs. Otto Hohing, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jones and two daughters, from Florida, spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mohney.

Pouring the cement on the Keymar road contract commenced on Wednesday, and is progressing toward Taneytown.

Taneytown's water supply has as yet shown no signs of failing, though the demands on it have been stronger than ever.

Miss Jane Hohing who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Stewart King, near town; has returned to her home at Frostburg, Md.

The official weather man failed to deliver the showers forecast for Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, but did deliver the promised lower temperature.

Miss Jane Dern, of Hagerstown, attended the funeral of her sister, Miss Anna M. Dern, and is visiting her other sister, Mrs. Frank Wantz, on George St.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eckard have moved into the dwelling on Baltimore St., formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Fuss. Mr. Eckard continues as an employee of C. O. Fuss & Son, and the change in residence will be a convenient one.

The concrete work on Taneytown-Littlestown road contract has been completed, and is one of the finest bits of highway in this section. It was comparatively easy to grade, and the straightened-out stretches have apparently been made with but little objection from property owners.

Notice is given in this issue, to water consumers to economize in the use of water. The supply is apparently keeping up very well, but all other towns are taking precautions against a shortage and Taneytown should do so too, and not use water unnecessarily. Sprinkling is of little or no value now.

A letter received here this week, from Mrs. Margaret E. Seiss, written on the Steamer Leviathan, July 21, shows that she is on a trip to Europe. She was having a fine time and had not been sea-sick. There were 2000 passengers on the vessel which is the largest passenger vessel in the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clingan and family entertained, on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wm. Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Leppo, Mrs. Irene Leppo and Irvin Miller, of York; Mrs. George Miller and grand-children, of Altoona; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Clingan and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mort and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hartsock and family, Mr. and Mrs. Steiner Englebrecht and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clingan and son, John Mort and son Raymond, Claude and Albert Welty, Roy Wantz, Marvin Weishaar, Vernon Smith, Ray Shriner, Ruth Floyd and Irvin Ridinger.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart F. King, near Taneytown, was the scene of a very enjoyable gathering on Sunday, July 27th. A picnic lunch was served at one o'clock to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Young and Miss Mary Coates, of Aquasco, Md.; Mrs. James E. King and daughter, Carrie, of Littlestown; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart F. King, Agnes Ford, and George Roberts, of Taneytown; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hohing and sons, Robert, Richard and Otto; Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Hohing and daughters, Betty and Jane, and Miss Emma Hohing, all of Frostburg, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hockensmith, of town, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Roop and two children, of New Windsor, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Boyd, near town. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dubbs and two sons, of Gettysburg, spent Wednesday evening at the same place.

The contractors for the Keymar road have a power shovel, or lift, that makes loading the trucks at the railroad siding with crushed stone, or sand, very easy. The cars are dumped at the side of the track, and the shovel lifts the material into an elevated bin from which the trucks are easily filled by gravity.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lemmon and four children, of Pittsburgh, Pa., spent several days with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Lemmon. An outing was held by the Lemmon family in Birnie's Grove, at Pipe Creek, on Sunday, July 27. 64 of the family were present, including the children and grand-children.

Charles Koontz, near Bridgeport, who suffered a heat stroke, on Monday, was removed to the Frederick Hospital on Sunday, and is in a critical condition.

FEED YOUR WHEAT TO HOGS.

A Bushel Cracked Wheat is worth more when fed to hogs than 60-lbs. pure corn meal.

E. T. Robbins, Illinois College of Agriculture says when wheat cost 80 cents per bushel and corn 75 cents that it pays to feed wheat to hogs.

C. M. Vestal, Purdue University says that they have found in feeding wheat to hogs in comparison to corn that it pays to feed wheat at 90 cents per bu. when corn sells for 80 cents.

Dr. C. W. McCampbell, Kansas State Agriculture College—says that wheat is more satisfactory as a feed for hogs than it is for any other live stock, because hogs like wheat better than any other animals, and that when wheat is properly CRACKED OR ROLLED it is worth 10% more than corn.

Wheat does not cause digestive or other disturbances in hogs, hogs may be fed all the CRACKED wheat they will eat—this is not true of any other animal.

Comparison by actual test at Nebraska Station in six trials, on Barley, Corn and Wheat to produce 100-lbs. pork.

480-lb. Barley and 36-lb. Tankage	Gain per day	1.33-lb.
400-lb. Corn and 43-lb. Tankage	Gain per day	1.59-lb.
395-lb. Wheat and 35-lb. Tankage	Gain per day	1.54-lb.

These are not recommended as balance rations for hogs, as they are lacking in vegetable protein and minerals such as 34% Oil Meal, Alfalfa Meal and a good mineral mix.

Feed your wheat CRACKED with The Key Pig Meal or some other good balanced ration.
