A RED CROSS APPEAL BY RADIO.

A Splendid Program was given on Thursday Night.

A most important program—appeal for the Red Cross was broadcast by the National Broadcasting Co., in a nation wide hook-up this Thursday night. Many radio owners not knowing of it, or of its participants or of its general importance, thereby missed a most unusual, as well as important event. Between the addresses sketched below were vocal and instrumental selections. The addresses came from Washington, New York, Northampton, Mass., and Little Rock, Arkansas and were limited to five minutes each.

John Barton Payne, Chairman of American Red Cross, told of the immensity of the work of the organization, and stated the present emergency due to the drought, was the largest it has ever worked to relieve; but he said, "it is your problem" and we have confidence that "you will respond," as always before, and that his organization would work as always before.

Mary Pickford well known movie star, gave a fine and touching appeal, mentioning pathetic conditions in New York City, emphasizing the opinion that this is especially women work, but also the work of all Americans to come to the relief of stricken humanity through the Red Cross, and to do so voluntarily, and above all promptly.

As a surprise Amos and Andy had five minutes in which they very effectively approved the operations of the Red Cross, at all times, and especially now urged that it be given quick and generous support; and Amos in his practical way gave facts and figures, telling of amounts needed and also received—all without the levity of their regular programs.

Mrs. August Belmont prominent society woman of New York, and known everywhere for her benevolences and her energetic activity for many social reforms, who has also been at the head and front of Red Cross efforts, added her quota to the splendid appeals of the program, covering the subject in a sweeping and masterly manner.

President Hoover, also president of the American Red Cross, spoke as a "real obligation" to the whole people, in support and commendation of the Red Cross, and told of the breadth of the present disaster, the occasion of the appeal for $10,000,000. His remarks were directed "to the heart of the Nation." His voice had a pathetic tone—easy to imagine discouragement with it—and those who heard him could not fail to be impressed with the depth of his sincerity, and his belief in the Red Cross as the proper channel through which money should be raised for the suffering—and NOW.

Former president Calvin Coolidge spoke in his characteristic style—pointed, condensed, practical, without eloquence but full of concise statements of conditions, and urged that it was the natural work of the American Red Cross with its ready organization and work under way, to meet the situation, and this can be done by the active help of all religious and patriotic organizations, as well as organizations working in the name of humanity—and this help, in the shape of money, should be given AT ONCE.

Alfred E. Smith, ex-Governor of New York, said that there was no institution that this country pointed to with more pride than the Red Cross. Our appeals to it have always met with prompt liberal response, as the leading agency for the relief of human misery and suffering, and this should be the will of the American people everywhere. The President of the U. S. has made an appeal for the Red Cross and it is the duty of the American people to respond as it always has, through the organization best equipped to reach the people. No patriotic American citizen should fail to do his part in meeting his present urgent duty.

Will Rogers, famous humorist, in his characteristic way added his voice saying the radios were out of order in Arkansas, from where he was talking and didn't know who had been talking, or what had been said. He had a lot of fun with the Wickersham report, and suggested that the newspapers had been spending too much space about drinks and other things and not enough for help, and managed to get in a lot of plain hits in favor of the effort being made (Rogers contributed $5000.00 to the fund.)

TAX REVISION PROBLEMS

Senator Coblenz Will Give Whole Time to the Subject.

Senator Emory L. Coblenz, Frederick, has been given the important chairmanship of the Committee on Revaluation and Assessment. Because of his important business connections and general high standing, the appointment was the best that could be made, and it necessarily places him in position to take the lead in recommending revision and improving of the tax laws of the state.

He has announced that he has no definite plans, as yet, but will make a thorough study of the situation which he says he hopes "will enable us to revamp the tax system of Maryland and bring relief to those owners of real estate who are now suffering from excessive burdens of taxation."

He has made the statement that the time is not far distant when the taxable basis of the state, so far as assessment values of land holdings are concerned, will so decrease as to make an unbearable rate a necessity. The Senator has also accepted the chairmanship of the Committee on Education, which may be considered as having some bearing on Taxation.

It is said that the chief reason for his acceptance of the Senatorial nomination, was because of his desire to help improve the tax situation in the state; and that he will now practically devote his whole time to a study of the subject.

THE GOLDEN JUBILEE CONFERENCE.

The Carroll and Sisco-Wright Christian Endeavor Unions will hold a banquet conference in the Church of God, at Westminster, on January 28. The program will be as follows:

6:00 P. M. Open forum and conferences; leaders F. C. Dixon and Rev. Earl E. Redding. 1:00 P. M. Banquet, cost of plate 50c.

8:00 P. M. Twin County Rally. Presidents Armacost and Redding presiding. Orchestra, Silver Run Reform Church. Westminster Male Quartet. Address by F. C. Dixon. Messages by County Presidents. Address by Dr. James H. Straughn, extension secretary of General Conference M. P. Church, Special music. Closing period, F. C. Dixon.

All who will attend the banquet should notify Miss Mabel Albert, of Westminster, by Saturday, Jan. 24th.

EMMITSBURG MAN KILLED.

Newell L. Fitez, of Emmitsburg, was killed Wednesday afternoon on the state highway, about five miles south of Westminster, when the truck he was driving struck an electric light pole and left the road. Fitez was on his way to Baltimore with a truck load of poultry and other produce, and was found dead behind the steering wheel with his neck broken and internal injuries. No inquest was held.

The body was found by Deputy Lee Cramer who came along shortly after the accident. It is believed that Fitez had either fallen asleep, or became ill. He was driving the truck for C. A. Harner, of Emmitsburg, dealer in market produce.

Fitez was married and is survived by his wife and two children, and two sisters, Mrs. E. C. Moser, of Gettysburg, and a Mrs. Maxwell, of Emmitsburg.

AN AUTO ACCIDENT.

(For the Record.)

Mr. and Mrs. J. Elmer Bereaw and three children, of Mason, Ohio, had a narrow escape from death last Friday night when the automobile in which they were riding stalled on a railroad crossing in the path of a seventy mile an hour express train over the Big Four tracks about ten miles north of Cincinnati.

The railroad crossing the pike on an up-grade, and a sharp curve obstructed the view of the approaching train. With the stalling of the engine the occupants of the car, realizing their danger, jumped. Mr. Bereaw and the two little girls cleared the tracks on one side of the car, but Mrs. Bereaw, becoming confused, was dragged from the tracks by her son David, just as the engine struck the car with terrific force, hurling it from the tracks carrying Mrs. Bereaw and her son with it.

The car, a five-passenger Graham Paige, was completely demolished. Mrs. Bereaw suffered cuts and bruises about the head and lower limbs, two broken ribs, and it feared internal injuries. Her condition is reported as serious.

David, was badly bruised and cut about the head, face and limbs. Mr. Bereaw and the two little girls escaped uninjured. Mrs. Bereaw was before her marriage, Miss Daisy Witherow, of Taneytown.

MEETING OF FARM LEAGUE.

Mr. L. C. Burns, County Agent, will conduct a meeting of the Farm League, at Parish House, Baust Church, on Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 27th., 1931, at 1:30 P. M. All men of the community are urged to be present. The topic for discussion will be "Canning Crops."

Mr. Burns will give an illustrated lecture at the Parish House the following week.

GOOD ROADS TO THE SOUTH.

Those who still contemplate a motor trip to the South this winter, may be benefited by reading an article under the above caption on our Editorial page, clipped from a Florida paper. It is evidently correct in all of its particulars.

APPEAL FOR RED CROSS RELIEF FUND

The National Red Cross has issued an appeal for a Relief Fund of $10,000,000 to provide food, fuel and clothes for the destitute and starving people of the United States, our own people.

The quota for Carroll County Chapter is $3000. The need is urgent and the Red Cross is now providing for more than in the Mississippi flood disaster.

While it is impossible to put on an intensive general campaign in this County at this time, there should be a generous and prompt response from individuals, churches, fraternal and other organizations.

Send all contributions to the chairman of the Chapter: H. P. Gorsuch, or to J. Albert Mitten, Treasurer, Westminster, Maryland, and it will be forwarded at once to headquarters.

The Carroll Record does not specially solicit subscriptions to this $3000. fund to be paid at this office, but in case any who desire to contribute find it more convenient to have The Record send in their amount for them, we shall be glad to do so, up to and including Wednesday, Jan. 28th., as it is our desire to aid the movement in every way possible.—Ed. Record.

EMMITSBURG R. R. ROBBED

Haul Not of Much Value to the Robbers.

Robbers forced an entrance to the office of the Emmitsburg R. R. Co., late last Friday night, and made off with a small amount in cash, about $475.00 in checks, and various pieces of property, one being a suit case belonging to a student at St. Joseph's College.

On Saturday morning the empty suit case and practically all of the checks were found in a field about six miles north of Emmitsburg, all of the checks having been torn up and scattered about.

The office was entered from the rear through a window, and was thoroughly ransacked, but nothing was taken from the warehouse portion of the building. It is thought that all of the recovered torn checks will be redeemed by the makers.

A gasoline station next to the warehouse was also broken into, and a lot of gasoline and oil was stolen. No clues to the robbery are said to be in the hands of the officers of the law.

THE ORPHANS' COURT.

Monday, Jan. 19 and 20th., 1931—Violet M. Allport, administratrix of Willoughby Allport, deceased, received order to sell personal property. Wilbur S. Gladhill, executor of William S. Gladhill, deceased, settled his first and final account.

Elvin D. Dern and Roy R. Dern, executors of George W. Dern, deceased, returned inventory of current money.

The last will and testament of Noah W. Rill, deceased, was duly admitted to probate and letters testamentary were granted unto Melvin E. Rill and Marshall T. Rill, who received warrant to appraise personal property and order to notify creditors.

The last will and testament of Benjamin F. Gummel, deceased, was duly admitted to probate and letters of administration with the Will annexed were granted unto Hattie E. Gummel, who received warrant to appraise personal property and order to notify creditors.

Letters of administration on the estate of John William Mann, deceased, were granted unto Minnie Mann, who received warrant to appraise personal property and order to notify creditors.

Letters of guardianship on the estates of John L. Reifsnider, 3rd., and Virginia L. Reifsnider, infants, were granted unto John L. Reifsnider, Jr.

The last will and testament of Lewis Hailey, deceased, was admitted to probate and letters testamentary thereon were granted unto Calvin E. Banker, who received order to notify creditors and who returned inventory of current money.

Ida M. Lambert, administratrix of Harry G. Lambert, deceased, reported sale of personal property.

CARROLL COUNTY MEMBERS ON COMMITTEES.

The following members of the House of Delegates from Carroll County have been named on Committees. As they are all Republicans, appointments were scarce:

Agriculture—C. Ray Barnes. Corporations—S. E. Flannagan. Judiciary—M. W. Routsom. Pensions—C. Ray Barnes. Roads—Chas. B. Kephart.

Senator J. David Baile was appointed to six committees: Agriculture, Elections, Federal Relations, Retrenchment of State Government expenses, Revaluation and Assessment, and Temperance.

CARROLL CO. MINISTERIAL UNION TO MEET.

The Carroll County Ministerial Union will meet at the Westminster Theological Seminary, Monday, Jan. 26, at 10:00 A. M.

The address will be delivered by Prof. Lewis H. Brumbaugh, of the W. M. College Faculty on the subject, "The Inevitability of World Peace." All ministers are urged to attend. Laymen are welcome.

In the average small town there is no other record so complete, no authority so reliable, as the files of the local newspaper. This prompts a few newspaper editors to lay aside an extra copy of the paper from week to week and to have bound each year an extra file for future reference.

FEED BENEFICIAL BIRDS

Insectivorous Birds Very Helpful to Agriculture.

Scientific investigations carried on in every state of this Union has thoroughly proven that the agriculturists, orchardists and those interested in the growing of forests are compelled by nature to have the presence of birds, game, song and insectivorous, to assist them in combating the insect pests which prevail throughout this continent.

Therefore, to assist in the growing of crops, fruit and forest, we appeal to those interested at this time to co-operate with us in trying to save all beneficial species of bird life, whose presence are very necessary to our existence.

Sportsmen's organizations, teachers and pupils of the public schools, rural mail carriers, boy scouts and other similar organizations have for the past few years very heartily co-operated with us in carrying out our winter feeding program.

The drought of 1929-30 has very seriously affected our wildlife supply, not only in Maryland but throughout the entire continent east of the Rocky Mountain Range. It becomes very necessary that we use every effort possible to save the remnant of wildlife left within our State to furnish brood stock for the coming propagating season.

The drought has caused a very serious shortage of natural food, covers are bare and weed seeds which are very injurious to the farmer's crops and on which our game and song and insectivorous birds feed, are scarcer than they have been in the covers of Maryland for years.

There are numerous methods which can be used by the farmers which are inexpensive but very effective. Feeding stations composed of a tressel bench at each side of which corn stalks should be set in teepee style, affording shelter, each end open to allow entrance and exit in case of attack, is a very effective method.

A barrel with both ends knocked out, suspended from an overhead limb or placed on a stationary post in which grain is placed, becomes a very suitable dinner table for the birds and assures us they cannot be attacked by vermin.

Another very effective method is to tie around the bottom of trees corn stalks from which the corn has not been husked, the ears suspended downward at a distance from the ground which can be reached by wildlife.

One of the very best methods is to either leave corn standing on the stalk, breaking the stalks so the ear will hang down within reach or to shock it leaving open spaces at the bottom.

This method not only furnishes adequate feed for the birds from the unhusked corn but the opening at the bottom of the stalks assures them shelter from the weather. It is not expensive to those residing in the counties of our State to furnish scratch feed, corn, wheat, rye, buckwheat, oats, or, in fact, most any kind of grain, any of which furnish nutrition and a well-fed bird can stand bitter cold weather, whereas when they are underfed, they die very quickly from exposure.

The agriculturists, orchardists and those interested in the growing of forests need the presence of birdlife three hundred and sixty-five days a year, if possible, while the hunter is permitted only about forty days a season to hunt game birds and unless the public in general responds to our appeal, the agriculturists will not receive the benefit of the presence of the birds and the hunters of our state cannot expect a bountiful supply of game when they go afield during the season of 1931.—E. Lee Compton, State Game Warden.

FEBRUARY JURORS.

The February term of Court will begin on the 9th., without any grand jury, as is the custom. The jurors drawn are as follows:

Taneytown—James E. Fletcher, Jesse F. Angell. Uniontown Dist—Raymond E. Hailey, John W. Warehime. Myers Dist—Milton J. Straly, John D. Bachman.

Woolerys List—Samuel Z. Reen, Henry Klee. Freedom Dist—Irvin R. Buckingham.

Manchester Dist—J. Hering Brown, Andrew N. Rhoten, Clayton M. Slegman. Westminster Dist—Harry Rosenstock, Ezra W. Harbaugh, Frank W. Mather, Edward N. Chrest.

Hamstead Dist—Wm. O. Meeke, John M. Shank. Franklin Dist—Milton J. Houck. Middleburg Dist—Newton E. Six. New Windsor Dist—Isaac M. Smelser, J. Ross Galt.

THE WICKERSHAM REPORT

Opposes Repeal of 18th. Amendment or its Modification.

The so-called Wickersham Committee, because headed by George W. Wickersham, as chairman, made its report to President Hoover, on Monday, who at once presented it to Congress. There was no unanimous agreement in the report on Prohibition but a compromise majority report was signed by all members except one, substantially as follows:

The official summary is opposed to repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. The Commission opposes the return of the legalized saloon in any form whatever.

The Commission opposes either Federal or State governments going into the liquor business. The Commission is opposed to any modification of the Prohibition Act so as to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines or beer.

That the co-operation of states is needed as an essential element in Enforcement. That there has been some improvement in enforcement, subsequent to the enactment of the law.

That there is as yet no adequate observance or enforcement. That Federal appropriations for enforcement should be substantially increased.

There are a number other points on which substantial mass agreements were reached. The separate opinions of the members were radically different on many questions, varying from repeal of the law and its reference to the states, to the retention of the present laws, without change.

The material is so vast, and the opinions so widely disagreeing, that both dry and wet followings will be able to find a great deal to agree with, and argue over, while the modificationists will be perhaps the best satisfied, as five members of the committee favored modifications, but not to the extent of anything approaching repeal.

In general, the report is accepted as possibly the best one to be expected, and it may be that out of its careful consideration may come some changes in present laws.

President Hoover in general agrees to the result of the findings, and says his duty is to aid in the enforcement of the laws, and concurred in the opinion that the 18th. Amendment should stay. The report of the Committee, of course, is merely made up of a number of intelligent opinions, and has no force or effect in law.

FREE TREES FOR ROADSIDE PLANTING.

The State Department of Forestry, in order to establish suitable demonstrations of roadside planting throughout the State, is offering to furnish free trees to organizations or responsible individuals for such planting under the following conditions.

"The planting must extend for not less than one-quarter of a mile on both sides of an improved highway, the trees to be spaced not less than 40 or more than 100 feet apart on each side.

Trees must be planted within the public right-of-way, and far enough from the edge of the paved highway to meet the requirements of the road authorities.

The consent of abutting property owners must be secured for such planting."

The trees available for roadside planting include white ash, green ash, yellow locust, tulip poplar, Oriental plane, cypress and catalpa. They are furnished at the College Park Nursery, on the Washington-Baltimore Boulevard, or f. o. b. railroad shipping point. The applicant must pay the transportation charges, supply the labor for planting the trees, provide at least one guard stake for each tree, and then must give reasonable assurance that the trees will be properly cared for after planting.

The Forestry Department, in addition to furnishing the trees, will supervise the planting.

Applications will be filed in the order received, and trees furnished to those who comply with the conditions, where it is found by the Department upon examination of the locality that planting is practicable. Write for the application blank to the Department of Forestry, 1411 Fidelity Building, Baltimore, Md.

$9,450,000 AVAILABLE FOR MARYLAND ROADS.

There is available for the state of Maryland, this year, $9,450,000 from the U. S. Government for road building, providing any sum so received is matched by the state. As Maryland is yet without a definite building program, mileage and cost estimates are not available, and may depend on legislative action at Annapolis. The mileage for the whole country is estimated at a 25,000 total, calling for about 300,000 laborers, and a total cost of over $800,000,000, not counting six states at this time unable to give any figures.

JURY SERVICE FOR WOMEN.

A woman's jury service bill is likely to make its appearance at Annapolis as an extension of "Women's rights," backed by the National Women's Party, a delegation from which has registered as "lobbyists." Miss Mary E. W. Risteau, Member of the House from Harford County, is opposed to any such legislation, and says if it should become a law, hundreds of women in her county would forget their right to vote and remove their names from the poll books, rather than be called for Jury service.

TWO ALMS HOUSES ARE RECOMMENDED

That one for Each Shore be Built by a Bond Issue.

The Commission on Alms-house for the Western Shore counties, appointed by Gov. Ritchie in 1929, in accordance with a resolution of the last legislature, filed its report with the Governor or over the week-end. The committee is composed of one member from each Western shore county, Alonzo B. Sellman representing Carroll, and Dr. George Wehler representing Frederick, and with Dr. Frank O. Miller, of Howard County, as chairman.

The Commission rates Carroll County as having the "cleanest" alms-house visited, and praised the superintendent and wife for their care. Frederick and Anne Arundel counties poor farms are ranked as "better than the most," while conditions were reported worst in Harford, Prince Georges, St. Mary's and Washington counties.

Each alms house was described in detail. The report says, Carroll county spends $4526. a year for maintenance of its alms house, the main building of which is 100 years old, lighted by oil lamps and presents a great fire hazard. It is one of few institutions visited that makes any arrangement for amusing its inmates.

The Committee recommends that an infirmary be built large enough to accommodate the fourteen counties, to replace the present system, such a program to be financed by a bond issue against these counties on the basis of the assessed valuation of property, and that the cost of operation be charged to the counties on a per-capita basis, and that the project be entered into at the present session of the legislature.

The report states that there are 486 present inmates in the 14 counties that cost approximately $222. each for their annual care. It is recommended that provision be made for 750 inmates, and that such equipment would likely cost $1,000,000.

A similar committee for the Eastern Shore, reported last week, also recommending a central infirmary to care for the nine counties, at an estimated cost of $405,000 for a capacity for 200 inmates. It also recommended the same style of financing as that presented by the Western Shore Committee.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION FOR WOMEN.

Hot gingerbread, split, and filled with a mixture of cream cheese, dates and chopped nuts, is an excellent dessert.

Red cabbage keeps its bright natural color if it is cooked in boiling water until just tender, and, after draining, served with lemon juice or vinegar.

In roasting meat, sear it first in a very hot oven, then reduce the temperature and finish more slowly. Meat cooked in this way shrinks less than when it is roasted from start to finish at a high temperature.

From the standpoint of nutrition, the egg is really two foods, rather than one. The white part is almost a pure watery solution of certain proteins of high quality for body-building and maintenance. The yolk furnishes not only fat and protein of fine quality, but has an unusually rich store of the minerals and vitamins necessary for growth and development. Children need an egg a day, if possible.

Here's a good tutti-frutti sauce for ice cream or blanc mange: Strain the juice from 4 slices of canned pineapple, add sufficient water to make 1 pint, and combine with ½ cup of sugar and ¼ teaspoon of salt. Cook for about 10 minutes or until the sirup is fairly thick. Break ½ cup of blanched almonds in halves, cut the sliced pineapple into thin pieces, and add to the sirup with 1 cup of candied cherries and ½ cup of citron, both cut in small pieces. Boil for a few minutes, chill and serve with the dessert.

EATING FOR COLDS.

Naturally, our food should be more oily and mucilaginous during the colder seasons of the year. Many believe they are able to ward off colds, to a certain extent, by eating two or three hard, pure gumdrops each day. Others favor the use of onions as a preventive. You know they say, that "an apple a day will keep the doctor away," and "an onion a day will keep everybody away." There is no doubt of the importance of keeping the organs and secretion and excretion in good and regular operation. And our diet should include more oil, salt and water, in order that this end may be accomplished. Fruits, nuts and raisins are included in this diet.—Dr. W. H. Vail in The Christian Herald.

LIVERPOOL WHEAT LOWEST IN 350 YEARS.

Wheat is the lowest in Liverpool England, that it has been in 350 years. Liverpool is the greatest wheat market in Europe, and some day it largely controls the market prices of wheat for the world. A drop in price there is usually reflected in the American market, but this has not been so noticeable since the Farm Board has been laboring to stabilize wheat prices, which are now about 20 cents per bushel higher than the world price.

Because only a little food value is lost in the drying, process dried fruits are a satisfactory addition to the winter diet.

LOYALTY BEGINS AT HOME.

We often hear complaints from business men, mechanics, and even professional men, that certain local people do not deal with, or employ them. The hardware dealer, the furniture dealer, the machinery dealer, and many others make these complaints. But, when the hardware man wants to buy furniture, or the furniture man wants to buy hardware, what happens? Do they deal with each other or on a reciprocal basis? The chances are they do not.

We can not expect patronage generally, when we do not give it generally. We can not successfully criticize others for doing the same things we do. So loyalty begins at home—and so, properly, does the "Golden Rule." Trading away from home is hard on the little town, but the use of jawbone alone will not prevent it.

What can be expected when the members of a Chamber of Commerce, for instance—who put up signs along the public highways welcoming visitors and customers to a town, and who boast of the advantages of their town—turn their faces toward other towns when they want to buy a stove, rug, radio, or even a hat.

No plan of loyalty to ME can be expected to work, when the ME is not loyal to other ME'S in a town.

FENCES.

In the very wide discussion that has been going on for several years over the question of farms and farming, very little has been said on that very important question, the value and expense of fencing. Evidently somebody is wrong on the subject—whole big sections of country wrong—for the evident reason that in some sections a great amount of costly fencing is very much in evidence, while in other sections fencing is conspicuously absent.

Considering the tremendous cost of fencing that is involved, and the cost of keeping it in repair, certainly a conclusion should be reached, as to whether fencing has a value equal to its cost. Western Maryland farms, for instance, are generally fenced, while Eastern Maryland farms are not. Pennsylvania farms are generally fenced, while North Carolina farms are not.

Highway fences, line fences and division fences are involved in the subject. Why, for instance, should public highways be lined with fences, when there are laws against cattle being left run astray? Also, would not the general law against trespassing fairly protect one farm against another, if the law was known to so apply?

The subject is one with which the writer is not as familiar as he might be, but it does seem to him that in these days of enforced guarding of expense, in order to increase the likelihood of profitable farming, the removal of fences might show a way.

WHEN CHICKENS COME HOME TO ROOST.

In consideration of the general subject of food for certain stricken areas in this country, it would be interesting to know what the states and counties containing these areas are doing to help bring about relief? Are they trying to help their own unfortunates, or are they waiting for Washington to shoulder the whole load, as seems to be becoming a somewhat general habit?

Is it, or is it not, first the duty of the general government to relieve suffering and poverty without calling on the states? If it is, then why should the states and counties keep up their Homes, Alms Houses, and their Hospitals for the insane? There are perhaps some hundreds of thousands of tramps in this country, who haunt back-doors for hand-outs. Should not Congress make special appropriations for feeding them?

In the cities there are Settlement Houses, Soup kitchens, charity lodging houses and numerous societies that care for the poor. Why should they, if the General government is under obligations to do it?

No one in his proper mind wants to discount the amount of suffering at present in this country; but we must not overlook the fact that every winter there is a very large amount of it, as an annual occurrence. Truly "The poor we have with us, always," and it does seem that there is, right now, a large lot of anti-Hooverism that is trying to capitalize existing conditions against him, and without consistent fairness.

Everybody should be anxious to do all that is humanly possible to relieve the suffering caused largely by the drought—largely, but not entirely. Other general conditions that depress "the times" also has its share in the trouble. And right now, the government—Congress—is trying to set a precedent that will be cumulative in the years to come.

Millions appropriated now, will mean more millions appropriated later, when conditions are not so acute. The people will have long memories, when possibly Congress may not feel so pointedly generous—as we say, "chickens come home to roost."

TAXATION UNFAIR TO PROPERTY OWNERS.

If somebody could invent some form of palatable taxation, or some means of easily raising money for public expenditures, he would be hailed as the most popular man in existence. Or, if we could only be satisfied to go the other way around, and agree to the paying of taxes as easily as a cow gives up her milk, then "we the people" would represent the most remarkable generation since the creation of the world.

The most of us, at times, indulge in the more or less profitless pastime of complaining about our tax bills, and perhaps offer some more or less wise conclusions on the subject, but hardly any that are workable in practice; and this pastime is worldwide, for nowhere in civilized countries has a generally satisfactory plan of taxation been invented—and never will be.

Our own little contribution to improvement in taxation methods, is not a new one. It is as old as any other plan, either in use or in suggestion. It is, that taxation be applied to incomes, especially in cases in which there is no individually owned real or personal property to tax.

There are thousands of persons working on a salary basis, in every state, who make more money than many big property owners, yet these salaried citizens enjoy all the privileges of good government and the use of public improvements, and pay no taxes, except possibly a little on household furniture—and many not even that much, because of the furniture exemption law.

We further hold to the belief that every adult citizen should pay some taxes—if only a dollar a year, or even a smaller sum providing the cost of collection would not be greater than the sum to be collected. Placing the burden of taxation on real estate and personal property, without any regard to its productive value, is all wrong. It is the easy way for the tax gatherer, but not the fair way, especially when the non-tax-payer, by his or her vote, can increase the burden at will, as for bond issues—on those who are in some cases so unfortunate as to own farms, or other doubtfully productive properties.

To a very large extent, those who pay little tax elect our officials and our law makers. We have not yet learned any better way to self-government than by the voice of the people expressed through the ballot; and by a very little study, and the careful use of a pencil for tallying, any ordinarily wise person, in any community can easily figure out whether property owners have anything like a fair say in legislation.

And we can hold to this doctrine without favoring solely a property qualification for voting, but we do think that property is entitled to vastly more consideration than it gets, and should not be soaked for about nine-tenths of the total tax receipts.

COUNTING OF BALLOTS.

The Commission on Election Laws, in its recent report to Governor Ritchie, does not appear to suggest many advantageous changes, aside from recommending the repeal of the Declaration of Intentions act. In the matter of expediting the count of ballots, it says:

"The present system of voting and the counting of ballots is undoubtedly not conducive to correct or expeditious returns. It has been suggested to this commission that we recommend the appointment of additional judges and clerks of election, whose duties would be the counting of ballots, thereby relieving clerks who have labored all the election day. While this method might be conducive to a more correct count, it would be of very little help in getting returns earlier, and there would be increased possibilities of irregularities. The commission, therefore, does not recommend this system."

We do not get much out of this. If additional election officials counted the ballots, say at the close of every hour of voting, why would the result not be known earlier, as well as aid in the matter of correctness? We see no reason why the ballots should remain in the boxes all day, before counting commences.

THE GASOLINE TAX.

We give below another attitude with reference to taxation, this one concerning the new find—the gasoline tax—on which "The Manufacturer" expands, as follows:

"The gasoline tax has been considered a "painless" means of extracting revenue from the motorist. There are signs on the horizon at present, however, which would indicate that the public is weary of being "painlessly" milked of its money. In the past eleven years the gas tax has totaled more than $2,000,000,000, and it is forecast that an equal or greater sum will be collected in the next four years.

The tax began with levies of one or two cents. But now the average levy is almost for cents and increases are being proposed in many states. Several states have diverted a share of gas tax to general purposes. It is reported that a group in Georgia is seeking to have a "reasonable proportion"—whatever that is—of gas tax funds used to reduce property taxes. By exactly the same reasoning it might be advocated that the gas tax replace the income tax, the corporation tax, the insurance tax, or any other staple source of governmental revenue.

Every time we buy a dollar's worth of gas we get, in reality, about seventy-five cents worth. The rest of our dollar goes to the state. Where a four-cent tax is in effect, we must pay one cent to the government every time we drive three miles. No other commodity in general use, except tobacco, has ever been so over-taxed.

Unless the public puts a stop to the trend, it is not difficult to imagine a time when the tax will be greater than the most of gasoline."

ARE WINTERS CHANGING?

Is nature growing softer and more sentimental, at least in winter time, or is her supply of cold and snow becoming exhausted, owing to her spendthrift extravagance during the ice age, when she attempted to turn the whole world into a skating rink?

Youngsters, who are just discovering this very old world, may think the winters they know to be all that a winter can and should be, but to old-timers they seem tame affairs in comparison with those "old-fashioned winters." In the opinion of reminiscers Madame Nature is still pretty good at cyclones, floods and heat waves, but her refrigerating system seems to be giving out.

The younger generation will never win out in one of these comparative arguments about winter until it becomes the older generation, for the latter can always remember winters "way back" when the snow was much deeper, mercury much lower, blizzards much more blizzardy, winter much more wintry.

It may be that winters are becoming milder, but it is much more likely that the most moderate of the present is being contrasted with the severest of the past, that backward lookers are singling out some freak of a half century ago as a standard for their old-fashioned winters, which aside from that one unusual blizzard were much like winters of today.—Frederick News.

HOW THEY SERVE.

When you catch a glimpse of the public nurse as she starts out on her day's work, just remember that there are fifty more working in the counties of Maryland, as she is doing, for the prevention of disease and the promotion of health among young and old.

Some idea of the many sided activities of the group whose service uniform has become a familiar sight in every section of the State, may be gathered from a recent report from the State Department of Health, showing that fifty-one nurses were on duty in the counties, last year. Every county had one or more. Nine had one, each; eight had two; four had three and two—Allegany and Baltimore had seven, each. Baltimore county started the year with four, and added three in the early Fall. Included in the total were two colored nurses, who were engaged in work among their own race.

The nursing work in each section is carried on under the direction of the County Health Officer, and is adapted to the needs of the particular district. During the year, the fifty-one nurses made a total of 56,019 visits, an average of over a thousand visits for each nurse. Their activities took them into 26,786 homes. They assisted the health officers and examining physicians at clinics, or health conferences, for persons suffering from, or who had been in contact with tuberculosis; for mothers and young children; for crippled children; for children needing dental care; for mental cases, and for venereal diseases.

The nurses also assisted the health officers in diptheria immunization clinics; in the administration of typhoid vaccine; and in the medical examination of school children and the control of communicable diseases in the schools. The number of children examined was 69,156, and of the total

24,701 were found to have some condition requiring correction. Many of the visits to homes were made by the nurses in connection with this work in the schools. They also gave instruction in the home care of the sick to 129 groups of women and young girls in high schools and at health centers, and aided local communities in arranging celebrations of Child Health Day and of Negro Health Week./State Dept. Health.

GOOD ROADS TO THE SOUTH.

The Eastern tier of Southern States, which include Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, present to the motorists who travel into warm climes at this season of the year, a continuation of excellent highways. The bad detours that accelerated profanity in South Carolina and Georgia, have been transformed into fine paved highways. A popular trip this Winter is picked up at Fredericksburg, Virginia, sixty miles South of Washington. By following Route No. 17 down the Virginia Peninsula, across the James River Bridge, the world's longest highway bridge at Norfolk; the motorist passes through Wilmington, Florence, Savannah, Jacksonville, and Daytona to Miami, and in the whole distance travels but five miles of dirt road. This is one of the most perfect stretches of highway on the Atlantic seaboard. It is known as the Atlantic Coastal Highway and runs from Calais, Maine, to Key West. The motorist can even go further South by taking a car ferry to Havana and tour a part of the completed section of the new 700-mile long Cuban Control Highway, which is costing the Cuban Government more than $100,000,000. It is being constructed for the most part by the famous road building of Warren Brothers in Boston. The famed Dixie Highway which only recently opened its last unfinished link brings one down the sun-route abreast of the Atlantic through the orange belt and finally into the American tropics of Miami.

Motor Clubs along the route are also advising the inland route from Washington to Columbia, South Carolina, and the Coastal Highway from Columbia to Miami. Leaving Savannah, Georgia, the motorist finds an uninterrupted ribbon of new road all the way to Miami. From 65 to 75 percent of the tourists visiting Miami last year traveled by automobile according to a check kept by the Miami Motor Club.

A census of the Southbound automobiles passing over the St. John's River Bridge at Jacksonville, shows a tremendous increase in the number of cars this year over a year ago, according to figures compiled by the Florida State Road Department at Jacksonville.

From Miami radiate a number of roads which go far toward proving this city the motorist's paradise. On either coast or inland the cities of Southern Florida are quickly accessible over any desirable route from Miami.

The tours, however, which are among the most popular are those over to the West Coast by the Tamiami Trail, through dense woodland of America's last frontier—the Florida Everglades, and the Overseas Highway, South, to Key West.—Apopka (Florida) Chief.

"Grail" Legend Traced to Fables of Antiquity

The origin of the Grail legend was discussed by speakers at the International Arthurian congress at Truro, England. Prof. Roger Loomis, of Columbia university, discussed the Celtic connection of the Grail legend. It was popularly supposed, he said, that this "Grail" was the cup used by Christ at the Last Supper, and that the story of the quest was always a Christian story. As a matter of fact, however, the earliest form we possessed of the Grail legend was full of details quite incongruous with a Christian interpretation. It was a reasonable conclusion that this, the most fascinating of legends, gradually evolved in Ireland and Wales and passed through Cornwall and Brittany to the French. Doctor Lewes, of St. Andrews university, suggested that the source of the Grail story was the famous legend of the House of Atreus, especially the story of Orestes, avenger of his father Agamemnon.

Scotland Scores Again

The tailor discovered when examining his stock that he had six 30-shilling suits.

"I can't sell them at all," he confessed to his friend.

"Why not wrap them up and put an invoice in for five suits at 40 shillings and send them to MacNab?" advised the other sharp business man.

"What will happen then?" asked the tailor.

"MacNab will think that you've made a mistake and buy them at once," the friend replied.

The tailor called on his friend three days later, and his face was white with rage.

"You've ruined me," he cried. "I sent the six suits to MacNab with an invoice for five, and he returned five suits saying that he did not order them."—Exchange.

American "No Man's Land"

A triangular piece of territory which is now the southeasterly corner of Columbia county, New York, has an interesting history. It was originally known as Boston corner and lies along the southwest line of the town of Mount Washington, Berkshire county, Mass. It was first settled by Daniel Porter about 1763, was incorporated as a district April 14, 1838, and ceded to New York May 14, 1853. This cession was made because persons arrested there could not be brought to a Massachusetts court without going through New York territory, there being no road over the mountains to the eastward into the adjoining Massachusetts town of Mount Washington. Prize fights and similar activities were common there because the New York sheriff had no authority there and the Massachusetts sheriff either could not reach the place in time or was powerless after he got there.

Cult of Laughter

Disbanded by Police

Budapest.—A new religious sect has come to grief in Debrescin, Hungary. The cult of the sect was laughter and members were encouraged to roar with mirth when they attended services. Unfortunately the excellent tonic values of this new religion failed to find favor with the police and the sect was disbanded for irreverence and general lack of seriousness.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to extend sincere thanks to all who assisted in any way during our recent bereavement—also for the use of autos and for flowers.

MRS. HERBERT EYLER & FAMILY.

Man Called as Judge

Thought Self Accused

In Germany the common courts are composed of three professional and two "lay" judges chosen like jurors. At a court in Berlin recently the presiding judge noted the uneasy demeanor of one of the lay magistrates. During the proceedings this man sat without any show of interest, looking miserable and casting appealing looks at the state's attorney. When the judge who had to pass the verdict were about to leave the courtroom, He approached and heard to his greatest astonishment, "I dare not go home, sergeant. I dare not tell my wife, who is ill in bed, that I have been found guilty. I have never been in court before; I have all my papers and testimonials with me; I was never asked to show them. Really, I have never done anything against the law in all my life." The judges crowded around, and under peals of laughter the poor lay magistrate was informed that he had not been asked to attend the court as an accused, but had been summoned to do his citizen's duty as a magistrate.

More Suitable

A young man bought a very old car. Informing his father of the fact he said, "I say, Dad, be a sport. I need one or two accessories to complete the car. Will you give me one?" "Very good," said his father, indolently. "I'll give you a pedometer." The son laughed.

"Why," he scoffed, "you've made a mistake. You mean a speedometer. A pedometer measures the miles you walk."

"Yes," said the father, grimly. "I know that."

Helping the Cause

Two men attended a village church tea for which the tickets were sixpence each. The profits were to go toward providing comforts for the aged poor of the village.

Billson, after accounting for ten cups of tea, eight sandwiches, three plates of bread and butter, five jam tarts, and four small buns, was passing his cup for the eleventh time when he turned to his companion and said: "I think every one should encourage a thing of this sort, as it's for a good cause."—London Humorist.

Life Spans Compared

According to the Argentine bureau of statistics, the average life span in Buenos Aires is thirty-eight years, which is eleven years shorter than the average span of life in New York and seventeen years shorter than that of Berlin. The life span in several cities as estimated by the Argentine bureau is as follows: Berlin and Amsterdam, 55; London and Washington, 53; Vienna, 51; New York, 49; Chicago, 48; Paris, 47; Montevideo, 35; Tokyo, 30; Leningrad, 27; Rio de Janeiro, 23.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Turning the Tables

The husband, who had a great habit of teasing his wife, was out motoring in the country with her when they met a farmer driving a pair of mules.

Just as they were about to pass the farmer's turn-out, the mules turned their heads toward the motor-car and barked vociferously.

Turning to his wife, the husband remarked, cuttingly, "Relatives of yours, I suppose?"

"Yes," said his wife, sweetly, "by marriage."

Prepare That Party Lunch Before Your Guests Arrive

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON
Director, Home Economics Dept.,
H. J. Heinz Company

NOW, when the hurry and bustle of the holiday season is over, and everyone is settled down for the remaining months of winter, is a fine time to plan that luncheon party you have been wanting to have for months.

The luncheon can be followed by bridge, or it simply may be a "get-together" for a few close friends. But no matter what form of entertainment is decided upon for the afternoon, the luncheon itself will be a most enjoyable method of entertaining.

The menu, of course, is very important. Not only must the food be attractive and well prepared, but the meal should be so planned that the hostess is not burdened with work after her guests arrive. Most of the cooking can be done before their arrival, and the luncheon served simply, thus leaving the hostess free to enjoy the afternoon, too.

Paste these luncheon menus in your scrap book. You will enjoy using one of them next time you entertain at luncheon:

- Assorted Relishes
- Chicken or Veal Shortcake
- Buttered Peas
- Hot Biscuit
- Grape Jelly
- Frozen Fruit Salad
- Currant Jelly
- Homemade Salted Nuts

SCANDAL GANG PREYS ON WOMEN

Police and Stool Figeons in Ring That Collects 5 Million a Year.

New York.—A vice ring so powerful that it does not need nor permit the aid of corrupt magistrates and so well organized that it card indexes its women victims and collects $5,000,000 a year has been uncovered by investigations sifting the by-products of this city's municipal graft, it was learned recently.

The ring, according to information being investigated by Isidor J. Kresel, who has charge of the appellate division's inquiry into the Magistrates' courts, consists of stool pigeons, some members of the police department, certain court attaches, lawyers, and ball bondsmen.

The ring preys upon indiscreet women, some of the victims being of prominence, it was charged. Married women, show girls, night club hostesses—any women with money or jewels or lacking either but having beauty—are likely under certain circumstances to find themselves "framed" on charges of immorality.

Story Told by Stool.

The disclosures concerning the vice ring came at about the same time that a Special Sessions court was reversing the conviction of Mrs. Emma Hammerstein on a charge of vagrancy or immoral conduct last June before Magistrate Earl Smith.

Mrs. Hammerstein had been found guilty of improper conduct on the testimony of a policeman. The widow of the impresario had insisted all along that the charges against her were framed. Her case had been under investigation for several months.

The story of the $5,000,000 vice ring came from a Broadway "stool," whose name has not been revealed, but who is called "The Dove" among night life initiates.

A woman known as "Madame Adler," who is said to own three establishments, one in midtown, one in the 70's and another in the Harlem black belt, is mentioned as a leading character in the easy morals-easy money racket. "Madame Adler" is said to have disappeared and the investigators are conducting an undercover search for her as a witness.

"The Dove," stool pigeon for the police at a flat salary of $60 a week, told the sordid inside story of the vice racket for reasons not yet revealed. He was found recently in a midtown hotel, where his comfort was looked after by a butler and a man servant.

"The Dove" told Kresel, it was learned, that for fifteen years he had served the police vice squad. The $60 was just coffee money, the investigators learned, for "The Dove" had an arrangement whereby he received $10 for every woman turned over to certain members of the vice squad. Not all of the details of the vice racket were made public, but it was said "The Dove" had amassed at least $500,000 for his work and that he also had received splits from attorneys, bondsmen, and court attaches.

How the Racket Works.

The vice racket, as "The Dove" is said to have explained it, works like this:

He or one of his mob invites a woman to an apartment or hotel room. A little later the vice squad arrives. The woman is arrested. The man in the case vanishes. The ball bond company is called. Then a lawyer appears. Finally the case is quashed with the aid of court attaches. Then comes the shakedown. In one instance, it was revealed, a woman paid out $1,500 to the ring.

If the woman has no money she is permitted to put up her jewels. If she has neither money nor jewels, but is attractive, she is turned over to the ring's "hostess" to earn enough money to "pay off."

As the result of evidence obtained by the investigators, it was learned, subpoenas have been sent out to a score of women who have been victims.

Statue of Gen. Herkimer Is Disarmed by Boys

Herkimer, N. Y.—The disarmament movement led some one to deprive Gen. Nicholas Herkimer, victor at Oriskany, of his sword.

A statue of the famous warrior sitting astride his horse at the entrance to Myers park, is believed to have been disarmed by school boys.

Bolt Hits Parsonage, but Misses Women

Loxley, Ala.—Injured by a lightning bolt which struck the Methodist parsonage here, Mrs. John Menery and Mrs. J. P. Holmes today were recovering from severe hurts, while twelve other women, guests in the home at the time, are expressing wonder at their narrow escape.

The women, members of an arts class meeting with Mrs. C. H. Carpenter, wife of the minister, were in the middle of their instruction when the bolt struck the house, almost demolishing the living room and splintering the furniture. The splinters struck Mrs. Menery and Mrs. Holmes.

French Mind Slow to Wander in New Paths

The critical intelligence of the French at its best is very far from mere fault-finding, and has a limpid clarity which is unmatched in the mind of any other people, Philip Carr writes, in the London Fortnightly Review.

Even at its best, however, it has its limits. The Frenchman is always reasoning and not often imagining, or rather his imagination—for he is characteristically an artist—always has a reasoning quality. Perhaps it would be more true to say that he is hardly ever dreaming. He is really interested only in what can be defined, and as he has too highly developed the art of getting the very best out of the material beauties and pleasures and sensations of life, he is often unfairly accused of caring only for the material side of it.

A love of system, of generalizations, of abstract principles, makes the logic which is always working in every French mind almost entirely deductive. It gives to the Frenchman the tendency which he always has to take a legal view of any question, unless he takes an even more closely reasoned scientific view. It prevents him from trying in practice any expedient of which he has not first attempted to understand the principle, but it also prevents him from being vague and happy-go-lucky.

Elastic Clause
 Clause 18, Section 8, of Article I of the Constitution is called the Elastic clause. It reads as follows: "The congress shall have the power . . . To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof." This clause does not give any new power, but it does give congress a wide latitude in choosing means and passing laws for carrying out the powers granted elsewhere.

Not Quite the Same
 A maid in the home of a well known Springfield individual caused a sensation in the kitchen recently when she announced that the head of the house had just informed her that "he wanted beer for dinner."

Since the man was known to be an ardent total abstainer, before the order was complied with a cautious inquiry was instituted. This disclosed that what was really said by the man was: "I won't be here for dinner."—Springfield Union.

MACHINE AGE THREATENS MAN WITH DESTRUCTION

Fosdick Says Unless Social Sciences Advance With Other Sciences, There's Little Hope.

New York.—Has man a chance to survive the machine age he has created? Or is he changing his physical world so rapidly that he will be annihilated as were the saber-toothed tiger and the mastodon?

Raymond Blaine Fosdick, writer on political and social problems and a brother of the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, declares that unless the social sciences are advanced to a place of equality with physics, chemistry and biology, there isn't much hope.

"We have utilized our growing acquaintance with the laws of nature to harness new forces and transform the physical world about us, but the scientific study of the human being, of the springs of his conduct, and of human relations, has not been pushed with anything like the same eagerness, and with little of the same technique," Mr. Fosdick says in Golden Book Magazine.

"In spite of his new weapons and of his increased powers, man himself remains as he was and always has been—irrational, impulsive, emotional, inherently conservative to change, bound by customs and traditions which he will not analyze, the victim of age-old conventions and prejudices.

"Except for a certain urbanity, the good nature and good temper of the herd, modern man is probably not far removed from his paleolithic ancestors. Science has exposed this paleolithic savage, masquerading in modern dress, to a sudden shift in environment which threatens to unbalance his brain."

Among current ideas that must be scrutinized and revalued, Mr. Fosdick says, are the conceptions of patriotism and of industry. "Once patriotism was a unifying force that brought order among small conflicting groups," he declares. "Today, in the worldwide society of mankind, it has become a disintegrating force."

He believes industry has upset the scale of human values, for it no longer is one element of life, but the whole of life. "Industry was made for man, not man for industry," he says.

Mr. Fosdick sees the way out in "a fundamental reappraisal of things that have hitherto been regarded as more or less sacrosanct" and in a public opinion "conscious of the growing disproportion of civilization and eager to encourage creative work in the sphere of human relationships."

Monarch's Burial Place Not Definitely Known

There is some uncertainty as to the final resting place of Alexander the Great, who died at Babylon. The body was prepared for transportation to Macedonia, and Philip Arridacus, whom the army chose to succeed Alexander conjointly with the latter's posthumous son, was entrusted with the funeral rites. He left Babylon with the body, intending to convey it to Greece. The accounts as to what happened after that are conflicting. It seems that Philip learned that during his life Alexander had expressed a desire to be interred in Egypt. Philip therefore altered his course and went to Egypt. Lagus, one of Alexander's favorite generals, who was satrap of Egypt, got possession of the body and placed it temporarily at Memphis. Later, it is supposed, it was interred with great pomp at the new city of Alexandria.

The Ampersand
 The sign "&" is called the ampersand. The term is a corruption of the expression "and per se and," meaning "and by itself is and," which refers to the fact that the sign when followed by a c (&c) means and so forth. More common nowadays in this use is "etc.," the abbreviation of the Latin words et cetera. The script ampersand, a cross made with one stroke of the pen, is still very common. In type the ampersand is most commonly used in the abbreviation of firm names.

BATTLING RED HOT WIRES . . . TO OPEN THE ROAD . . . AND RESTORE YOUR ELECTRIC SERVICE

On normal days it would have been a quitting time. Yet even before special orders came, Potomac Edison men set out into the teeth of the storm, to do what they could to keep your electric service intact. At one place they found dozens of red hot wires dangling in the road where a tree had crashed into a high tension line. Using the safety precautions which had become second nature with them, they went to work on this hazardous job . . . cutting the highly charged wires . . . removing every source of danger. All night long they labored . . . clearing the highway . . . making emergency repairs.

The momentary inconveniences that you sometimes suffer when a storm interrupts your electric service would often be of much greater duration if it were not for the pride that the whole Potomac Edison organization takes in keeping interruptions at a minimum. It is this spirit that sends Potomac Edison people out immediately, on their own initiative, to a night of almost super-human effort.

There are Potomac Edison people in your territory, friends and neighbors of yours. Every day . . . day after day . . . these people are using their skill and experience, their training and foresight, to make Potomac Edison service . . . uninterrupted and dependable . . . mean more to you.

POULTRY FACTS

SWAT FLIES AND SAVE THE CHICK

Use of Traps and Destruction of Breeding Places Urged.

By G. T. KLEIN, Extension Poultryman, Kansas State Agricultural College.

Chickens may be of the opinion that flies are good to eat, but when the truth is known, flies are their worst enemies. For flies carry to them that most dreaded of chicken diseases—the tapeworm.

To prevent chicks from eating flies is not easy. Sour milk feeding during the summer months is one of the greatest hazards. If it is fed, the milk should not be too sour, and a small amount of milk fed at a time. The vessels should be washed once a day and kept clean and sanitary. Wet mash should be fed in very small quantities during hot weather. It should not be allowed to sour. Keeping the house clean and sanitary and dark much of the time makes it unattractive to flies.

The use of fly traps and the destruction of breeding places will help to reduce the trouble from tapeworms. Tapeworm remedies should be used on most flocks. A combination of kamala and nicotine sulphate is the best remedy to use, although it should not be used unless the birds are infested with worms and then the flocks should be wormed during the late summer or early fall.

Keeping Mash Sanitary Will Prevent Disease

Often small contrivances will do a great deal of good in helping to prevent the spread of disease. One of the most important is to put a revolving board or stick above open mash hoppers. This can be arranged so that if a bird hops upon it, it will turn around. This will prevent the chickens from getting into the hopper and thereby avoid much trouble from droppings.

Self-feeders are usually built with projecting roofs that answer the same purpose. If droppings are kept from the mash hoppers there will be less wasted feed and at the same time there will be less trouble from both disease and parasites.

Desirable Weights for Many Chicken Breeds

Leghorn cockerles should weigh one pound at six to seven weeks, one and a half pounds at nine weeks, and close to two pounds at twelve weeks. Pullets should weigh two pounds at fifteen weeks, and three and one-half pounds at twenty-four weeks.

Heavy breeds such as Rocks, Rhode Islands, Wyandottes and Orpingtons should weigh one pound each at seven weeks, a pound and a half at nine weeks, and over two pounds at twelve weeks. Pullets should average two and a half pounds at fifteen weeks, and over four pounds at twenty-four weeks.

These figures were obtained after many experiments at the New Jersey state college of agriculture.

Poultry Hints

Clean, dry litter in the hen house adds greatly to the hen's comfort.

Chickens are kept on about 90 per cent of the farms of the United States.

A pullet that eats two bites while her sister is eating one is worth just twice as much.

If the cleanings from the poultry house are left where the chicks can scratch in them the droppings from one diseased chick may cause the death of dozens of others.

A good ration for geese would be equal parts of yellow corn meal, wheat bran, wheat middlings, ground oats to which add 15 per cent of meat scraps, one-half per cent of fine table salt.

Get new blood of a high-producing flock every year. See that they are not related.

Duck eggs are incubated at the same temperature as chickens, rather lower than higher if anything. The difference is that they require more moisture.

There is a difference of opinion in regard to rape pasture for hens. It is generally agreed that it darkens the egg yolk. Rape pasture is usually intended for young stock only.

Duck eggs are generally hatched in machines that have moisture carrying trays. Some go so far as to sprinkle them daily.

Poultry flocks are culled in the summer to remove the slacker hens, and in the fall to select the best individuals as future breeders.

Do not forget the old saying, "A stitch in time saves nine." If you are losing an abnormal number of pullets from disease or other causes, find out immediately what is the cause of it.

Mother Nature Provides Protection for Insects

Many animals, birds, fish and insects are shaped and colored by nature in such a way as to protect them from their enemies. This marvelous provision is seen at its best in some new groups of stick insects and leaf insects which recently arrived at the zoo. The stick insects have come from the East Indies, and they are of a light greenish-brownish color, measuring from 2 inches to 4 or 6 inches in length. They are very thin, indeed, and they are so much like tiny twigs or sticks that it is almost impossible to distinguish them from their surroundings. They imitate the twigs exactly, folding their slender legs close to their bodies, and hanging from the smaller branches just like leafless stalks. Leaf insects are of a bright green tint, and are shaped exactly like leaves, their wings being folded over one another and marked with veins. Even their six legs are shaped like smaller leaves; and as they hunt among the foliage of trees for the smaller insects they feed upon, they are quite safe from the birds, which think they are merely leaves.—London Answers.

Pilgrims Attracted to Historic Swiss Church

The wanderer in the heart of the "Franconian Switzerland" sees from afar the two towers of the "Church of the Pictures of the Holy Trinity," which celebrated its two hundredth anniversary recently. It is one of the most famous goals of pilgrims in Europe. For two centuries these have been coming to pray before its wonder-working picture of the Virgin. Most of the pilgrims still wear the costumes of an earlier day. When one of the Franciscan monks of the church dies the body is tied to a board and carried through Gossweinstein before being placed in a small niche in a catacomb-like cave dug into a cliff. The place in Gossweinstein is said to have served Richard Wagner as a model for the Gralsburg in "Parsifal."

Youth's Zealful Day

The zest of life does not endure forever. The days of pursuit pass and the days of reflection come, and the man who has singing through his memory what is noble and stirring, who can turn with joy and relief to those perpetual friends of his bookshelves, has laid up for himself true riches. It is a great thing for anyone that, before being plunged into the exacting work of his life, he should have had time in which to make himself familiar with some of the great things in his own history and literature, and with actings of deep minds on problems where the search is the reward.—Principal R. Bruce Taylor.

Summerless Year

The year 1816 is popularly known as "the year without a summer." Of course this term is a misnomer and is not to be taken literally. But in the northern states there were frosts in every month of the year, and similar adverse weather conditions prevailed in Great Britain, France, Spain, Italy, and other parts of Europe. Data collected by the weather bureau, however, show that the worst features of this summer were exaggerated by writers, and only a few of the less hardy crops and plants suffered from the cold during the summer of 1816.

Lost!

The minister having failed to appear at the hour for service at a church in a Highland glen, one of the elders, a sheep farmer, entered the pulpit to conduct the service.

He got through the preliminary exercises without mishap, and then gave out the text: "I am the good shepherd." Three times he repeated the words "I am the good shepherd," but could proceed no further.

"No, no, Donald, you better come down," said a member seated in a front pew; "you're just a common sheep like one of ourselves."

Too Prolonged an Experiment

Somerset Maugham, playwright and novelist, says that the wittiest after-dinner speech he has ever heard was made by an American at a London dinner party. To the visitor had been allotted the toast of "The Ladies." He began by saying that a distinguished man of letters had suggested that marriage should be on the basis of a seven years' lease, renewable at the option of both parties.

Followed a pause. Then—with sad deliberation: "Now, gentlemen, seven years is a very long time."—Kansas City Times.

Reversing the Route

Two workmen were having a quiet chat. "Who's that chap over there in the blue overalls?" asked Ted of his companion.

"That's the boss' son. He's working as a laborer," came the reply. "I see," ventured Ted; "starting at the bottom and working his way up."

"No," replied his companion. "He started at the top and they pushed him down!"

Trusting Mothers

When a woman says, "My daughter tells me everything," you know that the little girl is putting something over on mother, because no human soul ever entirely discloses itself to another, unless it is mentally defective.—Woman's Home Companion.

Porcus Literarum—Yes, I want "A Girl of the Luggage Van," by Engine Station Porter.—Publisher's Circular.

Watched His Man

An orator, warming to his task, took off his coat, which rather disconcerted one of the stewards of the meeting, who thought that a reporter would make a sensation out of the incident.

Towards the close, he said to the speaker: "I don't suppose you knew when you removed your coat that a newspaper man was present?"

"Yes, I did," was the reply, "but I kept my eye on the coat all the time!"

Great Singer

JESUS TEMPTED

LESSON TEXT—Luke 4:1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succor them that are tempted.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus True to God.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus True to God.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How to Overcome Temptation.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Conflicting Ideals.

I. The Place (v. 1).
The wilderness of Judea. The first man, Adam, was tempted in a garden with the most pleasant surroundings. The second man, Jesus Christ, was tempted in a barren wilderness, surrounded by wild beasts (Mark 1:13). Adam shamefully failed, involving the whole race in ruin (Rom. 5:12); Christ gloriously triumphed, bringing justification of life as a free gift upon all who believe (Rom. 5:18).

II. The Purpose (v. 1).
Christ was led into the wilderness by the Holy Spirit. His temptation was Messianic. Men today are not tempted as he was, but the same methods are employed by the Evil One. The time had come for the Redeemer to enter upon his mediatorial work. Therefore, he went from the place of anointing and heavenly recognition as the Son of God to meet and to spoil the enemy of God and men (Heb. 2:14).

1. It was not a preparation for his work but rather his first conflict with the enemy. In his baptism we have the symbolic act of the dedication of himself to the work of redemption through the work of the cross.

2. It was not to see if Christ would stand fast, as to whether he would fall under the most crucial test. Being the eternal Son of God, incorporated with the perfect humanity, sin and failure were impossible.

3. It was to exhibit Christ as an object upon which we may rest our faith with unshaken confidence. He came as the second man, the head of a new race, the very source of its life. The temptation was, therefore, a demonstration of the inseparableness of the divine and human natures in the incarnation.

III. The Method (vv. 2-12).
Christ as the world's Redeemer sustained a threefold relation—Son of Man, Son of God, and Messiah. Therefore, Satan made each one a ground of attack.

1. As Son of Man (vv. 2-4). Satan made his first assault upon him as a man by appealing to the instinct of hunger. Satan urged him to use his divine power to convert a stone into bread. The temptation was in satisfying a right hunger in a wrong way. To have yielded in this case though his hunger was desperate would have been to renounce the human limitations which he had taken for our sakes. To do right in a wrong way is to sin.

2. As Messiah (vv. 5-8). Here the temptation was to grasp his rightful dominions by false means. The Devil offered to surrender unto him the world if he would adopt his methods, would worship him. The force of this temptation was in the fact that the kingdoms of the world are Christ's by God's covenant with him. Satan has forfeited his right to rule. God's method by which Jesus was to possess the world was his sacrificial death on the cross.

3. As the Son of God (vv. 9-12). Here Satan tries to induce Christ to presume upon God's care. He quoted a Messianic psalm to induce him to do so. To do the spectacular thing in order to get notice is to fall into Satan's temptation. For Jesus to have placed himself in danger in order to get God's special help in delivering him would have been to sin. To test God as to whether he will keep his promise is the greatest distrust.

IV. Christ's Defense (vv. 4, 8, 12).
It was the Word of God. He met and repulsed the enemy with "it is written." In the most crucial hour of the world's history Christ quoted from the Book of Deuteronomy, which the rationalists of the day reject as not being fully inspired.

V. The Issue (v. 13).
Satan was vanquished. He could not stand against God's Word.

Let the Light Shine

Christian, rest not until thou knowest the full, the unbroken shining of God in thy heart! To this end, yield to every stirring of it that shows thee some unconquered and perhaps unconquerable evil! Let the light shine upon it, and shine it out!—Andrew Murray.

Enmity With God

Friendship of the world is enmity with God because the leadership of the world is directly against godliness; and for this reason it is out of the question for any child of God to forsake the ways of godliness and conform to the sinful ways of the world.—Doctrines of the Bible.

The Empty Cup

Do not let the empty cup be the first teacher of the blessings you had when it was full.—Maclaren.

Specialists Seeking to Extend Use of Honey

Ancient literature, telling of the adaptions of honey to suit the varying tastes and needs of past centuries, provides clues which scientists are now following to revive old uses and to develop the present possibilities of the product.

The early Romans in their writings often mentioned the honeybee and honey. Among the products they mentioned frequently are water honey, salt-water honey, water mead, rose honey, honey foam, and honey vinegar.

The United States Department of Agriculture is studying the chemical properties of honey and methods of inducing chemical changes in it that will open the field for new honey products. Specialists are perfecting methods of making honey candy, and some manufacturers already have secret processes for making this confection. Many housekeepers now use honey to sweeten beverages, cereals, and cakes and generally in cooking. It is also used as a sirup on waffles and hot cakes. Eminent physicians proclaim that honey contains the most beneficial of the sugars.

Ceremony That Marked Era in Life of Nation

When the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific railroads were joined on May 10, 1869, the Union Pacific being built west from Omaha and the Central Pacific east from Sacramento, the two roads composed the first transcontinental railroad. A ceremony, attended by a large crowd, was held at Promontory point, which is on the tip of an isthmus projecting into Great Salt Lake, Utah, from the northern shore.

A gold spike was presented by David Hewes, a prominent citizen of California, to be used as the last spike, and a specially prepared tie of California laurel wood had also been provided for the ceremony. Silver sledges were used, and the gold spike was driven into the laurel wood tie by Leland Stanford, president of the Central Pacific, and by an official of the Union Pacific.

Immediately after the ceremony the gold spike and laurel tie were removed and substituted by an ordinary tie and iron spike. The gold spike is now in the museum at Leland Stanford university.

Tricky Criminals Keep Law Officers "on Edge"

Growing a beard, dyeing the hair, and staining the face and hands with a mixture of butternut oil, nutgall, and permanganate of potash, are old-time dodges that have often been very useful to the hunted man. Stained with the above mixture, a fair-skinned man becomes as swarthy as a Spaniard or Italian; it once made a burglar "on the run" so confident that he actually had the audacity to sell ice cream within a stone's throw of Scotland Yard. Perhaps the most recent dodge for criminals who are anxious to give a wide berth to the police is going on the sick list. Hospital authorities in London and the provinces are much perturbed by this new and deplorable form of trickery. At one London hospital the suspicions of the doctors were aroused by the arrival in the course of one week of several individuals who, according to their own story, were in terrible pain, but whose ailments the medical men were quite unable to diagnose. The surprising speed with which these mysterious "patients" recovered at the end of a few days convinced the doctors that there was "something up." Inquiries were made, and it was learned that at least two of them were badly "wounded" in connection with a motor car theft.—London Times.

Had to Produce Proof of Claimed Accident

The man with a black eye and badly scratched face, who was smashing up a new, good-looking motor car with a sledge-hammer, naturally attracted a crowd. He would hit the car, pause, take a deep breath, and hit it again. He aimed blows at the running-board, mudguards, radiator and windshield.
"Your car?" asked a bystander.
"My car," said the man, as he smashed a headlight.
He surveyed the result and grunted with satisfaction. Then he handed the hammer to a garage man—who, it turned out, had lent it to him—got in the car, and drove off. As he disappeared the garage man explained what it had all been about.
"That fellow got mixed up in a fight last night," he said. "Got badly knocked about, so he stayed at a hotel instead of goin' home. Called up his wife and told her he'd been in an accident. So—the garage man shrugged his shoulders—"so he had to have an accident."

Pluto Planet Is Deliberate

Conversations and calculations of the complete orbit of Pluto places the new member of our planetary family as the most distant from the sun and the slowest in its revolution. It requires 251 years for Pluto to complete its orbit around the sun. This is nearly a century longer than Neptune, Pluto's oldest neighbor, which requires 165 years for one circuit. Pluto's orbit will bring it nearest our globe 58 years from now. In 1988 the new luminary will be distant 30 astronomical units of about 3,000,000 miles.

Trees Repay Care

Although most of us appreciate the great value of our trees we often forget that they need care. As a result, many of them are diseased and starving to death. We know it takes years for a large shade tree to grow, but still we allow them to suffer from neglect. When we consider the large quantity of leaves, seed and wood matured by the average tree every year we can better realize that it cannot thrive without a good supply of plant food.

Community Building

Main Street of Town No Place for Highway

If the New York Central railroad went through every town down the main street, as it goes through Syracuse, the Twentieth Century would take a week to get to Chicago. Arterial highways are now practically railroads, in purpose and potential speed of traffic, still attempting to function while passing through the main streets of every town.

They have got to be taken out of the towns. Send them over wide rights of way, radiating from the cities and crossing the states, and three enormous advantages are gained at once. First, through traffic is greatly facilitated in movement. Second, existing towns are reclaimed to live their local life in accordance with their ancient plan of community coherence and dignity. Third, an expanding population, pressed out from the cities and made mobile by the motor car, can move in and out daily over these rights of way, turning down the side roads to new communities built under zoning laws and in the country, where there is room for decent planning.

Owing to the present choked condition of our highways, suburban living is restricted almost everywhere to half its potential range and half its proper elbow room, while village living has lost its character and charm. The country is rapidly being spoiled for tourists, and there is no compensating gain in the flow of industry or expansion of living range. We are being conquered by the motor car. It is our blind master.—Walter Prichard Eaton in the Atlantic Monthly.

Things to Keep in Mind When Modernizing Home

Home modernization may be a relatively small thing—the substitution of a fire-safe roof for a burnable roof, for example—or it may be extensive, involving drastic changes in the arrangement, equipment and architecture of the house.

But whether modernization is a small or large job, it tends (1) to increase the real value of the house, (2) to increase the owner's enjoyment of it, (3) to tone up the whole neighborhood (just as a shabby house can depress a neighborhood), (4) to increase the family's appreciation of the house as the center of its living, and (5) to make the home a safer, more convenient place in which to meet the exacting demands of today and tomorrow.

One condition, however, governs the effectiveness of modernization. Unless the work is done in terms of permanence and as an investment its benefits will be short lived and correspondingly unprofitable.

Shrubs Transform Grounds

William A. Beaudry, a Chicago landscape architect, tells how the barren grounds around the St. Gabriel church and school were completely transformed within a few months. And when he had finished the story Mr. Beaudry made this sage and encouraging observation, based on more than twenty years of study of landscaping around public buildings: "I have never seen growing things destroyed around public buildings where the trees, shrubs and flowers are properly planted and cared for. The meanest man and the most ruthless child seem to respect well kept plants in their community and often take a great pride in helping protect them."

Loss by Cheap Construction

In securing the financial means for building, the very first and most important requisite is honest construction and material. If the house is well made, it stands virtually as its own security.

Those who slight their work and material are trifling with one of the noblest impulses of the human heart, and are making sport of one of the prime forces of national greatness. Those who build faithfully and well are real patriots, for they are contributing to the solidarity of the nation and the welfare of the people as a whole.

Modern Homes in Demand

The average person wants a home that is up-to-date. He wants to live in a house that has modern fixtures, hardwood floors, well-arranged rooms, tiled baths and clean cut graceful lines. When he finds a place of this sort he is eager to rent or purchase it.

Homes that are modern are always in demand. They sell more easily in the slow market. The house that is difficult to sell or rent is usually the old-timer that has no modern conveniences or with fixtures and accessories that are out of date.

Trees Repay Care

Although most of us appreciate the great value of our trees we often forget that they need care. As a result, many of them are diseased and starving to death. We know it takes years for a large shade tree to grow, but still we allow them to suffer from neglect. A number of interested persons from town and vicinity attended the Pennsylvania Farm Show, at Harrisburg, on Tuesday. Cattle and produce judging made up the program, while some of the visitors attended the inauguration of Gov. Pinchot, held at the same time.

President Hoover, on Wednesday, sent to the Senate the nomination of Harry L. Feeser, as Postmaster at Taneytown (third term appointment) as well as the names of Milton D. Reid, New Windsor; Elwood L. Murray, Hampstead, and William Melville, Sykesville, all reappointments.

Rev. A. T. Sutcliffe was the ministerial speaker at the annual banquet of Keller Memorial Lutheran S. S., Washington, D. C., on Wednesday evening. It is the custom, each year, to have one minister and one layman to speak. The banquet commenced at 6 o'clock, and a program of musical and entertaining numbers followed.

A siren has been placed at the Firemen's building for giving fire alarms instead of by using the bell. This will give better service and avoid confusion of the Firemen's bell with other bells of the town. It will be used on Saturday, at noon for the regulation town alarm—a long steady whistle—and on Monday at noon the out-of-town call will be given representing a waving sound. These trials will continue every day next week. The siren has been placed on top of a recently built tower for drying the hose.

The study of the influence of heredity upon the physical condition of any individual, is interesting. Much more important, however, is a collection of such facts from a large group of individuals from which helpful conclusions may be drawn.

Optometrist find, for instance, unexpected relationship between the eyes and the so-called master hand. Many children develop cross-eyes in their early years; that is, one of the eyes turns inward or outward and does not join with the better eye in seeing. When the eye which turns in is on the side opposite to the master hand, the correction of the eye defect usually effects a cure. In some individuals it has been found that persons who were naturally left-handed, but have been diverted by some unwise parent, or ignorant teacher, into the use of the right hand as the master hand, have also developed crossed eyes. It is said that about 90% of stammering, and speech difficulties, are cases where the master hand and the dominant eye are not on the same side of the body.

Left-handed persons should be encouraged to use their left hand and no influence should be brought to bear upon them to do otherwise. The child should be allowed to develop naturally in this respect, and by so doing the co-ordination of the eyes, the ability to estimate size, distance, proportion and position will be greatly benefited. These are all essential in the safe driving of motor cars or trucks.—State Board of Optometry.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

(This report was unavoidably carried over from last week, having been received too late to use.—Ed.)

The regular meeting of the Board of Education was called to order in the office of the Board on Wednesday, January 7, 1931, at 10:20 A. M. All members were present.

The list of bills presented to the Board were approved and ordered paid.

Superintendent Unger reported on action taken with respect to the heat condition at Mt. Airy and Taneytown. The trouble was not with the heating plant but with the condition of the exposed windows. The Board approved the putting on of weather strips and of caulking of these windows.

Upon the application of the principal of the Mechanicsville school, the Board approved the purchasing of an Eureka program clock for that school.

The following abandoned schools were authorized to be advertised for sale and to be sold on February 4, 1931, at 1:30 P. M.: Houcksville, Washington, Oak Grove, Pleasant View, Spring Mills, Slack, Baile, Wesley, Keysville, Friendship, Mahlon, Miller, Springdale, Walnut Grove Mt. Olive, Piney Creek, Kriedler, Taylorsville, Tracey, Salem.

Superintendent Unger was directed to secure a bid for the laying of a pipe line and the putting in of water into the Church Street property.

The Superintendent was directed to arrange for the drawing up of a contract to rent land adjoining Winfield White School owned by Mr. Conaway. This contract is to include a provision giving the Board the right to purchase this land at any time they desire and while the land is owned by Mr. Conaway he is to receive a rental compensation of $25.00 a year.

The sixth grades from the Mexico School and the Warfieldsburg school were authorized to be transported to the Westminster Elementary school.

Superintendent Unger was directed to arrange for the transporting of the two remaining single portables at Sykesville to Mechanicsville to increase the plant by two rooms and beginning September 1, 1931 transport the children of the East View and Deer Park Schools to the Mechanicsville School and placing the necessary cost in the next budget.

Beginning September 1, 1931 the Alesia School is to be closed and the children transported to the Manchester school.

The Superintendent was directed to place in the budget June 1931 the cost of the Sanitation Annex to Westminster High School which has previously been considered.

Superintendent Unger was directed to arrange for the moving of the fire escape now on the Union Bridge building, and placing it to the New Windsor building.

Commissioner DeVries offered a resolution, seconded by Commissioner Zepp, that the Union Bridge building be erected on the plot of land on the Middleburg road as lately surveyed. Superintendent Unger and Commissioner Allender were appointed a committee to purchase this land and to assume the responsibility of the building program. A letter was directed to the County Commissioners requesting the necessary funds for the erection of a consolidated elementary and high school building for the territory including Union Bridge, Middleburg, and parts of Uniontown districts. In order that the operations may begin at once, so that the building will be ready for occupancy Sept. 1, bids are to be submitted immediately. The old building in Union Bridge is to be bid in by the contractor, and used in the construction of the new building.

Too Friendly
Mr. and Mrs. Grouch, residents of an Indiana town, are possessed of one son, one dog and a perpetual pessimism. They are locally famous for smiling only when they hear of a row in the neighborhood. Everybody ranks wrong with them and the son's entire boyhood has been spent in harkening to his father and mother harpoon their acquaintances.

Recently the parental wrath centered on both boy and dog. Son waited until the trade had ended, then turned to his pet and said: "Never mind, Buddy! They're just sore because you and I are still speaking to each other."—Indianapolis News.

"Apple-Jack"
The word "apple-jack" will pass its centennial anniversary before many years. It first appeared in the American language in 1840, according to the new dictionary of the American language compiled at the University of Chicago by Sir William Craigie, who edited the Oxford dictionary.

Left-handed persons should be encouraged to use their left hand and no influence should be brought to bear upon them to do otherwise. The child should be allowed to develop naturally in this respect, and by so doing the co-ordination of the eyes, the ability to estimate size, distance, proportion and position will be greatly benefited. These are all essential in the safe driving of motor cars or trucks.—State Board of Optometry.

KEELEY CURES GOING.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stanley, formerly a Keeley Cure Manager in Indiana, recently made the following, among many other statements, regarding the gradual disappearance of Keeley Cure establishments.

"We had four Keeley Cures in Indiana in the palmy days of the saloon; I managed one at Richmond, Indiana. There were more than 300 such institutions in the nation, and now practically all of them are closed."

"The largest hospital for inebriates in the world, the Washington Home, closed its doors for want of patronage, as did scores of the Keeley Cures. There was a Keeley Institute in each of Uncle Sam's twenty-eight Soldiers' Homes. In one year those institutes cured 14,000 veterans of the liquor habit. At that time the Secretary of the Keeley League said the saloon was making inebriates at the rate of 250,000 a year; faster than Dr. Keeley could cure them."

"Forty thousand women were treated for alcoholism by Dr. Keeley. The ex-inebriates were so proud of their achievement in getting rid of the thirst for liquor that they formed the Keeley League and held conventions in various cities, claiming 55,000 members in five years. At the present rate of graduates from the Keeley Institute, even if all joined, they could not form a league of such size in seventy years."

Her statement covered facts in Des Moines and Burlington, Iowa; Denver, Colorado, Kansas City, Mo., and in North Carolina and Texas, all showing the disappearance of the "cures" for want of patients. The facts have been given in reply to the claim that these "cures" are now doing a flourishing business.

DOG SHOW FOR BENEFIT OF UNEMPLOYMENT.

Entries from practically all the counties of Maryland are expected at the eighteenth annual dog show of the Maryland Kennel Club, which will be held in the Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore, on Friday and Saturday, February 6 and 7. The show will be for the benefit of the unemployed. Entry blanks for the show are to be got at the office of the Maryland Kennel Club, 514 Park Bank Building, Baltimore, Md.; blanks will be filled out at headquarters if desired. No entries will be received after January 28th. The sponsoring committee for the show is headed by Governor Albert C. Ritchie and Mayor William F. Broening.
