SENATOR BAILE GIVES STAND ON SCHOOLS.

The Situation in General Applying to Various Efforts.

In a lengthy published statement by Senator J. David Baile, with reference to the borrowing of money for Schools and for the rebuilding of the Jail and Court House, he made clear his position on the subject in gener-al, and quoted this portion of the Republican platform of 1930.

"No unnecessary or unauthorized debts; that without the consent of the people, we assume no right to impose any debts upon the county;" and said that "I subscribed to that promise just as though I had signed my own name under every published article at that time." With reference to the bill for $115,000 for repairs to the Court House and Jail, he said Judge Parke, following the report of the Grand Jury, laid a duty upon the County Commissioners that "the law imposes upon the County Commissioners the mandatory duty to have charge and control over all property owned by the county and the law confers upon the Board the power to levy all taxes." The report of the Grand Jury was to the effect that the jail was badly in need of repairs. The report of the Bench was that the Court House was overcrowded, and that there was no adequate space for the keeping of records; and as the Court House and Jail were so closely connected, it was the desire of the Carroll County Bar Associa-tion to request such improvements.

The County Commissioners passed resolutions favoring both improve-ments, as follows, "Be it resolved that money for the improvements necessary to correct the situation be levied and collected in the next annual levy of taxes, unless other means be provided by the General Assembly at its present session."

He stated that owing to the stress laid on the emergency of the repairs, and feeling the strength of the County Bar Assocation back of it, he presented a bill covering the $115,000 in the Senate.

Further, commenting on the $200,-000 debt on the county, contracted by former Commissioners, for the buildby term notes at 6 percent, and as money can be had at 4½ percent to pay off this debt, in three one-year instalments, at the request of the Commissioners he presented bills in the regular way to cover these obli-

This led to the terms of the platform pledge, as heretofore stated. He closed with this statement, "I would consider it a dishonorable thing to provide money for building more schools, without the consent of my constituents."

MR. MATHER MAKES REPLY.

In a letter to the Hanover Sun, on Thursday, George Mather, Chairman of the Citizens Committee for a new High School for Westminster, severely criticises Senator Baile's state-ment, especially for adjudging the needs of the Court House and Jail an 'emergency measure," and apparent-y not so considering the needs for a Westminster school building. He says that the Citizen Committee considers both emergency situations—that of the school building far more so than the Court House and Jail-and that if a loan is proper for one, it is for the other.

He declares that the position the Senator is untenable; that if agreeing to the plea for Court House of candidates for the legislature, neither would agreeing to a loan for a school building; and at the close of his letter says;

"To say that it is dishonorable to incur any debt to relieve a school emergency, and then turn right around and provide a similar debt to make the jail more comfortable for criminals, si to stand up so straight you fall over backwards."

(The bill for $200,000 for retiring a previous debt of the Board of Commissioners, and the bill for $115,000 for repairs for Court House and Jail passed the Senate, but so far no action has been taken on the bills in the House.—Ed. Record.)

NEW WINDSOR SCHOOL PLAN A New Proposition Placed Before County Commissioners.

A delegation from New Windsor again appeared before the County Commissioners, on Tuesday, in interest of securing a new school building, and with a new plan to finance one. The proposal was for a building to cost $60,000, for which the citizens would furnish the money for five years, the County Commis-sioners to apply the rental money now paid to Blue Ridge College for housing of the High School students, for interest, and the principal to be paid over a term of years.

The Commissioners suggested that the plan be submitted to the Board of Education, as the Commissioners not make appropriations for schools except such as are first recommended by, and placed in the budget of, the Board of Education, and then only with proper regard to the county tax rate.

It is reported on good legal authority, that while the plan submitted seems attractive and likely to work out well, it would nevertheless be unconstitutional for the Commissioners to be a party to it.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS.

(For the Record). You've heard the old expression that first impressions are usually lasting, which to my mind applies in the following case. Soon after we were the successful bidder on the road leading to the Pennsylvania line our road suderintendent and an as sistant passed through your city. Being strangers and looking for a business place in the town, they failed to notice a stop sign hidden behind a parked automobile. They proceeded for a short distance when they were stopped by a road cop who told them that they had failed to come to a stop at this intersection.

They explained that it was not intentional, and that they did not see the sign, but regardless of this they were placed under arrest and told to appear before the magistrate the next day. After explaining their case to the magistrate, he stated that he was sorry, but he had no redress other than to fine them, and that he would have the state of the state o give them the minimum fine, which was $5.00, plus the costs. He also said he would request the Mayor to have a "no parking" sign erected

It seems to me it would have been better (after the men explained about the poor vision near the stop sign) had they been allowed to proceed without arrest and fine. It was our intention to spend as much money in your town as we could consistently do so while building this road, although we do not like to spend it in this way. We have some very good friends among the capable business people in your town, and mention especially our old friend, Rev. Guy P. Bready, who is a native of our vicinity. We still feel rather grieved, although we will not take offense, at this treatment, which we are identically as the streatment which we will be stream to the stream of the stream

I think under the circumstances, the judge would have been more justified in not fining these men, but in giving a reasonable interpretation of the law. We think the trap should be removed and better treatment strangers, especially to those who use reasonable care in crossing the street, even though failing to come to a full stop.

GOOD WORDS RARELY USED Anti-climax.

WEBSTER-A sentence, or passage, &in which the ideas fall off in dignity, or become less important and striking at the close-producing a ridiculous effect.

In plainer words, we sometimes make a good point, then keep on talking after we have said the best we know, and spoil the effect of the good point we have made. We produce a climax, and then "anti" it, so far as our hearers are concerned.

Anti-climaxes also occur on a larger scale. For instance, the Wickersham and Jail would not violate the pledges report may be said to be one, in apparently making a bone-dry report, while the majority of its members favored tion laws. The recent session of Congress—or the average session—fumishes abundant specimens of some sort of change in the prohibifurnishes abundant specimens of long-winded efforts that defeat their aims.

There is a story, credited to "Eli Perkins," about a visitor to a church during a special appeal for money for a certain purposes, who become so impressed with the appeals of the minister that he made up his mind when the plate was passed to place $10.00 on it; but the minister continued on so long and so tiresomely that the visitor's generosity gradually wilted to $5.00, and then to $1.00, and when the plate came around he stole a quarter out of it. This is of course a "Perkins" yarn but it forcefully illustrates an anti-climax. It is a wise person who knows when he or she reaches the effective climax or his or her argument, or appeal. The best salesmen know the go with further solicitation. SUFFERING POOR IN BALTIMORE

Campaign for $500,000 is now Urgently Under Way.

Baltimore is making a heroic effort to meet the necessities of thousands of poor citizens financially unable to support themselves. It is stated that the poor have helped each other, landlords have been lenient, local merchants have extended credit to the limit, many donations have been individuals and various agencies, numerous relief organizations have been doing their best, but with it all, the condition is still very serious.

This Friday has been set by Mayor Broening as "self-denial" day, when all who can possibly do so are asked to do without something that they would otherwise have bought, and the value of it be given to various designated receiving stations. Hundreds of stories of privation and want are in the possession of pulice stations, where many of the appeals for help are made.

The plan of self-denial day is to "stuff" about 800 ballot boxes with money that will be turned over to accredited charitable organizations, by the Citizens Emergency Relief Fund. From $500,000 to $600,000 is estimated to be needed.

The total subscriptions to Thursday evening were $194,615. The city is "on trial" to show its spirit of generosity and charity—an opportunity to show that "the city cares for its own" is the statement made by Police Commissioner Gaither.

The ballot boxes used for the "Self-denial" offering will be the regular ballot boxes used at general elections, and their "stuffing" will not be a crime.

From his actions it is supposed that he suddenly went insane. He had been given $1.25 by Dr. Rees, of the Hospital staff, for his bus fare to Baltimore, but because he possessed a B.

& O. pass he gave the money to Station Agent Formwalt, requesting that he return it to Dr. Rees; then taking the money back, he threw same across the station floor, and began dancing and standing on his head.

Later he was seen pacing the sta-

According to witnesses, the man first threw his suit case in front of the engine and then jumped himself. His skull was crushed by the cowcatcher, both legs, one arm and hip were broken, and he had many bruises about the body. His death was almost instantaneous. The contents of his grip were scattered from the depot to Mr. Beach's house, a distance of two city blocks. Weer and Son took charge of the body and will send it to his late home.

Deale is said to have been a boiler maker in a Cumberland machine shop. He is survived by his wife and two sons, one a boy of 12 years, and the other, Mr. Justin Deale, a chemist of Baltimore. He also leaves a mother in Virginia.—Sykesville Herald.

BIBLE CLASS CONVENTION. Will be Held in Elkton, Cecil County, April 11 and 12.

This year for the first time the Maryland Federation of Men's Bible Classes will hold its annual State Convention and election of officers outside of the city of Baltimore when it meets in Elkton on April 11-12

Every county in the state has been circularized and it is hoped that a strong representation will attend from each as a leader will be elected to represent the federation in each county; it will be the duty of those so honored to develop the work of the federation in their respective counties.

From every part of the state Bible class leaders and members will gather to discuss problems of mutual interest and arrange plans for co-operative work in interesting the nonchurched man in the service of the Christian church. Group discussion will be held under competent leadership on such subjects as "Building a Class," "Social Activities," "Class Welfare Work," "Evangelism," "Pub-

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS.

Last year the death rate from automobile accidents in the United States totaled more than 30,000. At that speed it won't take us long equal the number which were lost by us in the recent war. Those deaths aroused a great sense of national loss, but what about the thousands of men, women and children who pay with their lives each year, due to automobile accidents. These figures do not include the hordes who are crip-pled and incapacitated for life.

In this State where an eye test is given to all applicants for a driver's license, the number of fatalities is much lower than in the States where no attention at all is given to the condition of the eye. You may say that all these deaths cannot be laid to poor eyesight, but on the other hand, only a very small percentage can be laid to faulty mechanism of the au-tomobile. It is the human element that does not keep pace.

The eyes are still shaped as when our forefathers spied another moving object far down the road, coming slowly towards them. Then there was plenty of time to speak to the oxen and in the later generations, to rein in the faster horses, so there would be plenty of room for both vehicles on the narrow road. But now an automobile is no sooner in sight The salary of Kenesaw Mountain adds, baseball commissioner, is $50,-00 a year.

GARDEN POINTERS.

A half-acre garden, if properly cared for, will produce enough vegetables for the average family during the summer, and some surplus for storing, canning and drying for winter. Sunshine is one of the most important considerations in planning a truck garden. Even foliage crops such as lettuce, kale, and spinach, which do fairly well in partial shade, need at least three hours of direct sunshine a day. Plants which ripen fruits such as tomato and eggplant need at least five hours and should have more.

If the soil varies in different parts of the garden, plant crops such as celery, onions, and late cucumbers in low, moist soil. Plant early crops and those that need quick, warm soil where the land is high, warm and dry. Make successive plantings from 10 days to 2 or 3 weeks apart of string beans, bush lima beans, sweet corn, lettuce, peas and radishes, so there will be a fresh supply throughout the season. Include small fruits with the permanent crops.

The big question is—Are our abundantly schooled children wiser than the children of a generation or two ago, or are they only smarter?

Does decency and propriety vary according to "the times?" If so, who makes "the times" vary—or do they just grow, without any planting or cultivation?

INSPECTION OF CAMPS

All Camps or Pic-nic Grounds Must be Inspected Each Year.

Owners and others interested in summer camps have been notified by Dr. R. H. Those who wish to obtain a renewal of permits for the operation of such camps and all who are plan-ning to establish camps, this year, are asked to file their applications, as promptly as possible, in order that the sanitary inspections-upon which the permits are based—may be completed before the season opens. "NO INCREASE IN TAX RATE."

The above sentence is now frequently used as a sort of knock-down argument in favor of continuing heavy public expenditures. How about giving the "lower" tax rate argument a chance? What thousands of our tax-payers need, is not that the present burden will not be increased, but that it will be decreased. The fact is, that the "no increase" argument actually means that the maintenance of present rates, is an increase, because ability to pay has very decidedly decreased.

There is no real economy, nor good business sense, in either government authorities or individuals continuing on with the same scale of expenses, when incomes decrease. Because a man buys an automobile for $1000. one year, does not mean that he can afford a $1000. trip to Europe the next year, unless his income has been maintained, or increased, the second

The "live within your income motto" in many quarters, is entirely lost sight of, if we apply the test of truth The situation is something like "bidding" games with cards when we do not so much depend on our own "hand" as we do on the chance of what "luck" may bring us if we get the "bid."

It represents a gamble that works, when it works as hoped for. But, the difference is that if we get a "set back" in a game there is no actual loss-it's only a game; while in matters of finances the loss is real to many, even though it may be distributed over a period of years-over years of "no increase," but worst of all, "no decrease" in already heavy loads of encumbrance, and without relief in prospect.

There should be a better argument developed than "no increase in the stead of bread. tax rate." No one ever authorized it, as either a virtue or as a justifiable motto. Standing still, means not going forward, merely holding one's own, means stagnation. Continuing one's high expenses without larger income, is a condition for good business people to get away from.

MORNING NEWSPAPER?

There is perhaps nowhere else in the United States, outside of Baltimore, where a city of even one-third its size, has only one morning newspaper. There is a reason for this, we understand, that relates to the ownership of certain press services; but even so it would seem that there would be other press services available that would be sufficient to supply the needs of another paper.

The situation is not only peculiar, so far as the city itself is concerned, but in the further fact that the natural patronage field tributary to Baltimore is very large, which would ed the point when safety for the benseem to reasonably well encourage efactors must be given more thought? the necessary capital to enter the Baltimore area.

SENATOR BORAH NOW ON FULL PAY.

There is just one Senator Borah, and he represents Idaho. He also represents the only Senator who refused to accept increase in his pay as Senator, from $7500.00 to $10,000 passed he claimed that he was elected to represent his state, at $7500.00 a year, and would not accept more.

That term, however, has expired, and he now feels that he can conconscientiously accept $10,000 a year during his present term that begins April 1. In fact, there is some doubt as to just what a Senator's services are worth; and whether many of them are actually worth the former pay of $7500.00 a year-except possibly in their own

VARIOUS WAYS IN WHICH WE ARE GROWING.

About 2,000,000 children were born in this country in 1930. Who says 'Mother Goose's Rhymes" are out of date? But, what the late B. T. Barnum is reported to have said with reference to the crop of persons who like to be humbugged, is out of date, for instead of one, two are now born every minute. His statement, however, was likely true when he made it.

Just what the net increase in population in this country was in 1930, we do not know, but there was a material increase of births over deaths. Neither do we know the figures concerning increase in foreign immigration, by comparison with the number of foreign born who left this country with money they made here, to go back to their homeland to enjoy it; but again, in this respect, there was likely left here an increase in popu-

All of this is perhaps a natural consequence and a part of the responsibilities devolving on the more fortunate-and more provident-and there is not much to be done about it but meet the changes as they come along. But, may we not be inventing luxuries along with our benevolences, and may we not be encouraging thriftlessness and pensioners from among the classes that prefer to beg rather than work? and may we not in other ways spend recklessly for free advantages, until we have about reach-

Naturally, agriculture has changed in many parts of the country in recent years. Most farmers are interested to a greater or less' extent in the dairy business. To some the milk check is but a small contribution to the support of the family, while to others it is the principal business. The farmers are, therefore, interested in the production of milk and, necessara year. At the time the law was ily, in a place to sell it. In 1917 the per-capita consumption of milk in the United States was 754.8 pounds. In 1927 it had gone to 967.3 pounds. This is an increase of 212.5 pounds of milk per individual through the entire United States.

The writer does not contend that all of this is due to prohibition, but, nevertheless, the Eighteenth Amendment healthful products, all of which have been increased in recent years. We delivered to factories in bottles than to have beer delivered in bottles. Necessarily to produce this enormous increase much more feed is consumed.

The brewers and distillers combined used 2,500,000,000 pounds less than the increased production of grain for dairy purpose alone as stock feed to produce the extra amount of milk consumed since prohibition. This does not include the enormous amount of rough feed used to produce milk. The wet press seems to forget that the farmer is a man of experience with business ability and common sense.-The American Issue.

A GERMAN VIEW.

Some students from Germany who are now studying at a United States University were recently shown articles and letters published in a religious magazine and relating to the number of unemployed in Germany, the want and suffering in that country. They indignantly repudiated the statements. They declared that there are want and suffering in Germany, but also want and suffering in many countries and want and suffering in the United States. Most of the articles shown them were written by visitors to Germany, from America particularly. The controversial comment enhances the value of some conclusions of a noted Germany scholar which have just reached this desk. In part they are as follows:

"Disarmament has been forced upon Germany, the other nations have pledged their word they would follow suit. President Butler of Columbia University in an able speech which has been greatly appreciated in this country, has warned the allied nations

Germany will continue to distrust each other, or will the fighting which has been lasting for centuries come to an end. Innumerable persons on either side have no wsh but to become friends. For the Frenchman, it seems difficult to believe in a friendly Germany when he reads of the success of the Hitlerites. We Germans on the other side, see a long and unbroken line of fortresses building, and no arms are open to receive us but the mouths of big guns. And still the general distrust must disappear and the must come to agreements with our we must come to agreements with our great western neighbor, if Europe is not going to waste and ruin. We are in need of an organization that unites the different European states, and the union Franco-Germany will be its

The proposition has been made by a French writer in a French magazine, that for the coming two years Germany should be released from 50% of her incumbrance toward the Allies, if at the same time the United States would for the same period of time let off half their claims against the allied nations. Also in France there begins to arise an understanding of the German position. The develop-ment of peace must be the prime ob-ject. If force and evil are part and parcel of our being, why talk of peace? We all have to learn that the old ways will not lead up out of the universal stagnation of the economical crisis."

This is part of a statement from a well known German scholar, writing from his own land and presenting valuable points for thought and consideration .- A. F. S. Committee.

Prussia Long "Sprucia"

According to Vizetelly "A word that has a very interesting history is spruce with its double meaning (1) 'smartly or finely dressed' and (2) 'the fir tree' known as spruce fir," writes Frank H. Vizetelly in a New York paper.

"On its face, this word does not bear any resemblance to Prussia, yet on special occasion it was the custom among our forebears to deck one's self out in the dress of other countries. Men who adopted the particular dress of Prussia were arrayed in a style to which the epithet spruce might have been applied with perfect propriety. They were appareled after the style of Prussia, or, as it was commonly known and spoken of in those days, Spruce.

"The reason that Prussia should have been called Spruce instead of Pruce is to be attributed to the English fondness for initial S, which may have been drawn, in this case, from the German das Preussen.

"That Spruce really meant Prussia and was used instead of Pruce may be found in 'Piers Plowman,' where we read Spruce for Prus, although Chaucer used Pruce in his 'Canterbury Tales.' Prussia was called Sprucia as late as 1614."

Breaking Rock by Powder

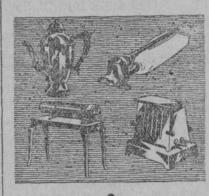

The bureau of mines says that the amount of powder necessary to break one yard of rock ranges from 2-10 pounds per ton to three to four pounds per ton, depending upon the kind of rock, its hardness and toughness; the number of free faces exposed, and the tightness of the opening from which it is to be blasted. A smaller amount is necessary in proportion for large quantities of rock. The percentage of powder would depend also upon the rock. On some rocks a better breakage is obtained on lower percentages, as some rocks require a slow-acting explosion. From 40 to 60 per cent powder is used for ordinary blasting.

Chestnut as a Food

In some of the French provinces the robust peasants subsist to a great extent on chestnut bread made by roasting and finally grinding the kernels into a meal or flour, to which is added milk and salt. A toothsome dish, tasting not unlike sugared almonds, is the sweetmeat, marron glace, made by dipping the nuts into clarified sugar and then drying. An old English dish is chestnuts boiled soft and served with sugar, juice of lemon, cinnamon, nutmeg and rose water. Chestnuts are also made into cakes and porridge and are boiled and mashed like potatoes.

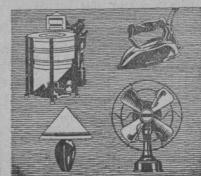

Effect of Blown Salt

How salt, blown 20 miles from the sea, causes a breakdown on insulators of a 33,000-volt power line in south Wales is described in Nature Magazine. A series of breakdowns due to "surges" on the lines had attracted the attention of electricians who, on careful examination of the porcelain insulators, discovered that they were covered with a thin deposit of salt. The insulator nearest the sea had the thickest salt deposit and broke down more frequently than others.

Running the Gauntlet

The word "Gauntlet" came into use at the time of the Thirty Years' war (1618-1648), as "Gauntlope," meaning the passage between two lines of soldiers. It is derived from the Swedish "gata" way, and "lopp" meaning course. "Running the gauntlet" was a punishment common among soldiers and sailors. The delinquent had to run between two lines of men provided with rope ends, each of whom hurt him as much as possible. The phrase now means to be attacked on all sides, or to be severely criticized.

More Than Million in Twenty States Fed by Red Cross Volunteers

Hot School Lunches and Balanced Rations Given to Drought Victims-Seed Programs Instituted on Wide

More than 1,000,000 persons in 862 drought-stricken counties of 20 States came under the care of the American Red Cross in what developed into the most extensive relief operations in half a century of ministering to stricken

Measures to lessen the severity of the blow inflicted by drought were taken as early as last September, when seed was distributed to more than 58,-000 families for the planting of rye and other pastures, and to more than 27,-000 families for the planting of kitchen gardens. The expenditure for this purpose amounted to $326,800. Green vegetables were made available up to the first of January.

Early in February another Red Cross garden program got under way and 507,000 packages of seed were distributed in 15 states. Quarter-acre plots were planted to beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, collard, sweet corn, kale, lettuce, mustard, okra, onions, peas, spinach, squash, tomatoes and turnips. Once again were farm families given the opportunity to participate in their own salvation.

A comparatively mild winter contributed to the success of the Spring and Fall seed campaigns. Many habitual single-croppers were introduced to the advantages of kitchen gardens, balanced cropping and balanced diet. Numerous land-owners have expressed the opinion that this constitutes the one apparent blessing to come out of the drought catastrophe. The United States Department of Agriculture and the local county agricultural agents and home demonstration agents cooperated in making this part of the re-Yief operations outstandingly success-

Balanced Meals Served

Red Cross feeding was aimed at adequacy and scientific correctness, as well as simple economy. In large numbers of schools, where children were found to be attending with little or nothing in their lunch boxes, hot meals were served at noon. A typical menu consisted of vegetable soup and bread one day; thick beef soup or stew with vegetables another day; cocoa or milk and cheese, peanut butter, or jam sandwiches, a third day.

In some places where lunches were not served in the schools, but were provided for in the regular food orders, each family having school children received extra staples for school lunches including peanut butter, raisins, prunes and tomatoes. Red Cross nutritionists instructed mothers in the preparation of lunches.

County health officers and private physicians commended the adequacy of rations procured on orders issued by Red Cross chapters, which were filled at local stores. Besides the usual staples, such as corn meal flour lard meat, beans and potatoes, such items as canned salmon, cabbage, tomatoes vegetables and milk were provided, each order being adapted to the special needs of the family for whom it was issued. Where pellagra threatened, eggs, yeast and other preventives were

Thousands of Volunteer Workers

Many thousands of volunteers, through their local Red Cross chapters, gave freely of their time, experience and efforts, as in other Red Cross disaster operations. They searched out needy cases in their communities, many persons being restrained from asking assistance because of pride. Chapter committees investigated circumstances, distributed food and cloth-

More than 500 carloads of foodstuffs were contributed. These were given free haulage by railroads. L'armers of more fortunate sections embraced the opportunity to help their pastoral cousins of the affected area. Shipments ranged from live poultry to fish, from grain to grapefruit. Carloads of flour, eggs, beans, vegetables, onions, rice, corn and mixed vegetables were included.

As the result of co-ordinated Red Cross chapter efficiency, not one authenticated case of starvation as a result of drought has been uncovered.

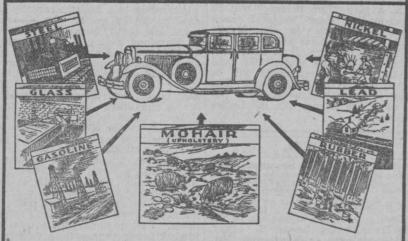

Large quantities of new and used clothing were distributed. In direct consequence many school children resumed their studies who had been kept at home for lack of sufficient protection from the elements. In some instances, rural schools that had been closed were enabled to reopen as a result of Red Cross relief work.

States involved were: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia.

Many of these States had been hard hit by a succession of floods, crop failures, low prices and economic depression, and drought constituted a climax to the cycle of distress.

"Wherever I went," wrote one observer, "I made a point of asking what would have happened if the Red Cross had not been able to respond. In widely scattered points, from leading citizens, came the answer that undoubted ly there would have been many deaths. directly from starvation, with epidemics preying upon the undernour-

With the exception of rubber which is grown in Africa, India or South America but manufactured in this country, all the basic materials that go to make an automobile are produced in our midst. Steel, mohair, plate glass, nickel and lead are not only American products, but are, together with rubber, used to a greater extent in making cars than for any other purpose.

Practically every state in the Union contributes to these materials, either in their raw state or in their manufacture. For example, our youngest and fastest growing livestock industry, that of angora goats, provides the mohair which is used in making mohair velvet for automobile upholstery. BABY'S BIRTH BARES QUEER MASQUERADE

Wife Toils as Man; Mate Poses as Woman.

Luxembourg.—In all the principality of Luxembourg there did not seem to be a happier couple than Jean Brugen and his wife, Antoinette.

Jean, a bricklayer, was noted for his good workmanship. He could drink his "chope" of beer, tell a spicy story, smoke and even swear with the rest of them. His wife had the reputation of being one of the best housewives in the country. Her home was wel kept, and she was as good a cook as she was marketer. The only drawback to the happiness of the family was the absence of children, of which the couple appeared to be fond.

Hear of Happy Event.

A few days ago the husband was absent from his work for the first time in ten years, and the wife, too, ceased to make her usual round of the shops to buy the provisions. It became noised abroad in the district that a happy event in the model famlly had at last put an end to the childless regime, but all the efforts of the neighbors to verify the report were vain. The only persons admitted were the doctor and the nurse.

The doctor eventually felt called on to report to the police the facts he had discovered during his visit.

Then the truth came out. For ten years this pair had lived a lie. The husband was the wife and the wife was the husband. When first they married they had found that the husband could not get employment at his trade of engineer, but there was a demand for bricklayers, and, despite her sex, the woman had learned the art of bricklaying while living with her father, a master builder.

Swap Identities.

The couple decided that the only way to overcome the difficulty was to "swap" identities, and accordingly they moved from their native village and settled in Luxembourg town, where the wife appeared as the husband and the husband as the wife.

The only difficulty they were unequal to surmounting was that of the birth of the child for which they both craved, and when after ten years of married life in masquerade the babe came, the secret could not be kept any longer, though they both made an attempt to guard it.

They had intended to make some excuse for the husband's absence from work and keep the facts of the birth a secret, but when the time for the advent of the baby neared, the husband became anxious and called in the doctor, with the result that the tenyear-old secret is now out.

"The big bum!" she exclaimed, expressing her disapproval of the policeman who had ticketed her car. "I'll bet he can't spell Washington street."

A few days later the friend who accompanied her on the double-parking tour inquired how she came out in traffic court.

"Did he know how to spell Washington street?" the friend inquired. "I'll say he did-say, the guy could have spelled Geisendorff street if I had been parked there!"-Indianapolis News.

The pile fabric made from this fleece in New England mills is generally accepted as being the ideal material for automobile upholstery because of its long wearing quality, usually outlasting the life of the car itself, because it is easily cleaned and because it affords the greatest riding comfort, all in addition, of course, to its lustrous and beautiful appear-for Healing Qualities It is very evident that balm from trees or plants was quite commonly applied as a salve in Old testament times, and that the Balm of Gilead derived from a tree known as the Tzeri, in the beautifully wooded and fertile land of Gilead, by far the most highly favored part of Palestine, then as now, was esteemed an exceedingly valuable, perhaps and most valuable of all balms.

At the time of the Crusades, the Sultan Saladin and his physicians were credited with the possession of salves-"balms" or "balsams"-of almost miraculous healing potency for wounds. No doubt the knowledge of the value of the Balm of Gilead had been well preserved through many generations by the Arabs, and was still made use of by the Moslems, who had much to do with the spread of information which led up to the present position of medical science.

Increasing Caution

"You are compelled to devote a great deal of study to certain questions?" "A great deal," agreed Senator Sorghum. "You must consider popular sentiment as well as the principle involved?" "Of course." "And is that why you are so slow in making up your mind?" "Partly why. But the main reason for deliberation is that the longer you study any subject in which your public is informing itself, the more cautious you become about going on record with a vote."-Washington

Reminiscing

The two were talking over old times. Said one: "You remember my saying one time that if I ever got married it would be good-night to my hunting or keeping a dog, don't you? Well, I was right and I knew I was right when I said it. So when you come around wanting me to go hunting just keep in mind that we're on a business trip, and if we take a dog remember that the dog travels in your car. The missis has got a nose that tells her at once if I've had a dog in our car and she can spot a dog's hair a mile away. If I use a little diplomacy I can get away with a good time once in a while."-Brookton Enterprise.

AIRPLANES LINK ALASKA TO WORLD

Once Isolated Points in Touch With Outside.

Seward, Alaska.-Alaska is becoming more of a compact territory through the medium of aviation. It once was a vast sparsely settled land in which communication between isolated points required days or weeks of dogsled travel.

Modern airplanes and skilled pilots have taken the place of malamutes, huskies and sled drivers. Days and weeks have been reduced to hours. The danger of isolated communities being nearly wiped out by plagues has been lessened.

Only six years ago Nome, far away on Bering sea, had to depend upon dog teams to deliver quantities of serum to combat a diphtheria epidemic.

That history-making dash of valiant dogs and their determined drivers, who covered 900 miles in five days when ordinarily such a trip necessitated ten to twenty days, has gone into the traditional tales of hardship and heroism that constitute so much of the territory's past life history.

In the summer following the Nome tragedy, steps were taken to establish the air routes that now cover the interior of the territory, although preliminary commercial aviation had been started by Carl ("Ben") Eielsen in

In the summer of 1925, Noel Wien, former circus flyer, amazed the natives by flying to Fairbanks. Then Joe Crosson came in with a plane and the two pilots began making mercy flights to isolated communities.

Aviation developments attracted the attention of Aviation Corporation of America in 1928, and Eielson organized several commercial lines. He was killed with Earl Borland last winter when their ship crashed in Siberia.

The next big movement will be the establishment of regular air mail service between Alaska and Seattle.

Course in Relaxation

Pleases Seattle Pupils Seattle.-A subject has been found in which even the most rebellious school boy should revel.

"Relaxation," the new "course," has been added to the curriculum of Seattle kindergartens and the children have been taking to it with enthusi-

Scientifically planned to overcome nervousness and fatigue, the new subject is being taught with the object of educating children in the fundamental and strangely difficult methods of complete relaxation.

"It is not a new idea," said Miss Winifred Chamberlain, one of its most ardent advocates, "but it really never has been developed. Very few of us know how to relax, and it's hard to learn. We are hoping that by teaching it to children it will eventually come a natural and valuable asset. All children, or most of them, know how to play; many can settle down to intensive study, but very few know how to relax, in mind and body." In Miss Chamberlain's classes the children are required to lie prone on mats for ten minutes each day. They lie face downward, head turned to the left, right leg extended and left leg slightly bent.

It is difficult to teach the children the methods of relaxation. They must be carefully coached, but most of them learn rather quickly and all are enthusiastic over the idea.

The system has resulted in marked improvement to the nervous systems of the pupils and has shown its effect on their ability to learn.

Nebraska Saved by Trees

When the Missouri was first crossed by settlers, Nebraska was known as the largest body of treeless land in the country. There was scarcely enough wood for fuel for the wagon trains. Today there are 2,500,000,000 trees in Nebraska. And the annual rainfall has increased to such an extent that the once "great American desert" has become "Nation's Bread-

These "hand-made" forests are scattered all over the state. Settlers were permitted to homestead 160 acres of land and then were given an additional 169 acres as a "timber claim" if they would plant one-quarter of this second claim to trees. These trees have been long in coming, but they now cover the state with a great green blanket which is credited with increasing the annual rainfall to more than 30 inches.-Exchange.

Canned Ones Now Suit Him "My husband used to be crazy about fresh, green peas and made a regular pig of himself when we had them," remarked Mrs. Brown. "Well, isn't he still fond of them?"

asked Mrs. Black. "No," smiled Mrs. Brown, "not since my ultimatum that he would have to shell them whenever we had them."

RUSSIA SPENDS HUGE SUMS BROADCASTING PROPAGANDA

Every Hamlet and Crossroads Can Be Reached Through Its Community Center. New York.—Red Russia is embracing the radio. The Soviet government has made remarkable use of broadcasting for propaganda purposes. "There is probably no parallel in history to the trial which ended at Moscow in December," writes Roger Shaw in the Review of Reviews.

"Eight Red engineers found their lives at stake for alleged treason, with the entire Russian population as an audience. All court proceedings were broadcast by radio to the delight of the Communist proletariat; and the whole episode was designed to furnish the Soviet government with magnificent propaganda.

"The value of radio broadcasting is fully realized by the Red leaders. In 1925 Moscow had but one sending station; but in 1929 there were 65, of which 44 were continuously active. Additional large stations were then under construction, and there were many short wave stations which may be set up by anyone.

"The five-year plan provides for 87 new sending stations of 948 kilowatt power, and 101 subsidiary stations. Two million rubles (more than one million dollars) has been alloted to the Third Internationale propaganda station in Moscow! "In 1929 there were 400,000 receiving sets in Russia (largely crystal, partly tube) for a population of close to 150,000,000 people. Ten per cent of these were in the cities. But these sets were so distributed that every public institution, workroom, and club was radio equipped. Here lay the success of the "framed" Moscow trial, for every Russian hamlet and crossroads could be reached through its community center (often an abandoned Orthodox church). A high percentage of the Russian masses, still illiterate, cannot read newspapers, but they all can 'listen in.'"

London School Children

Reveal Some Learning London. - Christopher Columbus didn't discover America, a schoolboy here has discovered; but "he discovered something just like it."

Another studious lad, presumably after considerable research, reached the startling and profound conclusion that "the best way to preserve the teeth is to put them in water overnight."

A glance over some of the errors made by schoolboys in examinations and published in the University Correspondent, the college publication, may explain the gray hairs of many of the teachers.

"A passive verb," said one student, "is when the subject is the sufferer and the object the doer, as 'He is married to her.'"

Other interesting observations: "White is a color that stands for joy; women are married in white, but men never are."

"Curtail-The end of a mongrel." "A bankrupt is a man who broke the bank through gambling and taxes." "A toadstool is a thing that looks like a mushroom. Then if you eat it you die and you know it is not a mushroom."

"Venus was a goddess who used to cure colds with lightning."

Egg-Swallowing Champ

Sets New World Record Le Roy, N. Y.-Charles Drayo doesn't intend to have himself egged out of a national championship.

Drayo, proprietor of a restaurant, acquired a certain distinction when he swallowed 40 raw eggs in no more than five minutes almost a year ago. Recently he was chagrined to discover that H. O. Fredericks of Reading, Pa., had devoured 45 eggs in ten minutes. It looked like a challenge, and Drayo accepted it. While several of his patrons looked on, Drayo chose the hour of 4 a. m., and in a series of gulps he disposed of 25 eggs in one minute, 58 seconds.

"That," he gasped afterwards, "is a world's record."

conditions by eliminating grade crossings. He said, also, there is need of greater co-operation between public and private bodies and individuals to disseminate information as to safety precautions, adding that the greater number of automobile accidents, in proportion to population, are in states where there are no, or insufficient, regulations, and are largely due to carelessness.—

Phoenicians Not Above

"Seaking" the Gullible Faking art works so as to make a cheap article appear rare and valuable is an old, old trade, and was practiced by Phoenician traders to fool their Etruscan customers in Italy, more than 2,500 years ago.

A vase, which is now recognized as one of these ancient art forgeries, was dug up recently in Italy, and for a time it has perplexed archaeologists at the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania. But the mystery now is solved.

The vase bears symbols which are apparently Egyptian hieroglyphics. But Egyptologists pronounced the markings meaningless. It appears that the Egyptians were famous as glass makers and workers in ceramics at the time this vase was made, about 700 B. C., and Egyptian ware was in demand among connoisseurs of Italy. Some Phoenician traders who sold such articles overseas, made cheaper signs and hieroglyphics to look like Egyptian, and so cheated the Etrnscans.-Kansas City Star's Science

Brother Knew

Little Dorothy believes the quickest way to find out anything is by asking questions. Sometimes mother thinks she has not time to answer all of them, so brother tries to help her out. When mother, who generally makes ples with one crust, decided to make an apple pie, using a top crust, Dorothy wanted to know what she did that for. After asking three times, brother answered: "To keep it warm, Dorsie."

APPOINTED TO FARM BOARD.

Sam H. Thompson, for the last five years, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, has recently been appointed a member of the Federal Farm Board by President Hoover. Mr. Thompson tendered his resignation as head of the National resignation as head of the National Farm Bureau organization at a recent meeting of the National Board of Directors and is was accepted in compliance with the request of Mr. Hoover that Mr. Thompson serve on the Federal Farm Board.

following statement with reference to his appointment on the Farm Board:
"In accepting the appointment to the vacancy in the membership of the Federal Farm Board caused by the resignation of Alexander Legge, I have been moved, first, by the earnest request of the President of the United States that I make available to the Board my understanding of the desires of organized agriculture, and second, by the uanimous approval of the organization which it has been my honor to head for the past five years. I feel that in stepping into this new position I am still carrying out the principles to which this organization. out the principles to which this or-ganization has been dedicated and for which it has assumed leadershipsince its creation in 1919, the principle that the agricultural industry is entitled to the rights and privileges which other groups in our nations indus-trial life have enjoyed for years through governmental aid and pro-

It is as a representative of organized agriculture that I have agreed to serve on the Federal Farm Board. This Board was created by the Agricultural Marketing Act, a measure for which organized agriculture battled for seven long years. That Act laid the foundation of a national, policy for agriculture. The full development of this policy holds great promise for the equalization of the economic position of our farm people.

I have frequently stated in my public addresses that back the present economic depression is the plight of American agriculture. If the buying power of agriculture can be restored business in general will soon be back on a sound basis, our national economic life will be restored to its normal condition and prosperity will again bless the land."—Maryland Farm Bureau.

Hen Takes Over Job of Raising Small Puppies

Russellville, Ark.-Fronie, the police dog, and Henny Penny, the hen, are on the "outs" with each other. One day Fronie left her seven newly-born pups to search fer something to eat and returned to find the hen sitting on as many pups as her wings would cover. Fronie objected but reedived only a sharp peck for her pains. Now Henry Penny sits all day trying vainly to "protect" all seven of the pupples at once with quick pecks at anyone who dares touch her foster children.

Every now and then Fronie, by force, chases the Rhode Island hen out of the dog box and gives her offspring a light lunch.

The Caves at Han

One of the most beautiful spectacles in Belgium is the famous grotto of Han. The nearest rail point is Rochefort. After making the ascent from the village of Han-sur-Lesse by tram to the Faule rocks one enters the grotto and fresh wonders, wonders which have been fashioned at the caprices of centuries of time, appear before the eyes at every step. The exit is by canoe and the sudden reappearance of daylight, framed in verdure, which so strikingly cuts across the absolute obscurity when vessels and covered them with de- one emerges, leaves upon the mind an indefinable impression of coming to the last page of Arabian Nights.

Divisions of Poetry

The three principal classes of poetry are epic, dramatic and lyric. An epic poem is a long narrative poem dealing with events in the life of the hero or heroine. For example, "Evangeline" and "The Eneid" are epics. A lyric is a brief poem which expresses the sentiment of the poet. As Dr. William A. Wilbur expressed it, "An epic is always the story of some one other than the poet." This is contrary to the lyric. The word "drama" means the deed. A dramatic poem is one the emphasis in which is upon action.

SIMPLE TRICK HID THEFTS BY SEATTLE BANK CASHIER

Deposit Cards Removed, Says Embezzler When Brought Up for Sentence.

Seattle.—By the simple expedient of removing savings deposit cards Horace Greeley Phillips, former assistant cashier of the Asburn National bank, evaded for five years detection of serious shortages in his accounts.

His method of covering up defalcations amounting to $6,000 was revealed in Federal court when Phillips anpeared for sentence on a charge of embezzlement to which he pleaded guilty recently.

Such a strong plea was made for leniency, however, that Judge J. Neterer directed Federal Probation Officer Adrian B. Miller to investigate the circumstances. Sentence was put over.

So successful was Phillips' system, Assistant United States Attorney Jeffrey Heiman said, that examiners did not discover the shortage until a savings depositor whose card had been removed made demand for his money. The cards were found in Phillips' home.

Through his attorney, Paul D. Coles, Phillips admitted his peculations began when he was a teller.

"Money had been missing at various times in the bank and several employees under suspicion were discharged," Coles said. "One day Phillips discovered that he was $100 short. Some one else had taken the money, but he was afraid to report it for fear he would be blamed. So he removed a savings deposit card to make his accounts balance."

A few months later, Coles stated, Phillips took $120 himself and covered it up in the same manner. From then on he used the system for his own benefit. After he was found out Phillips, the court was told, made partial restitution, turning his home and other property over to the bank.

"This man cannot suffer more for his misdeeds than he has already," Coles declared in asking for a suspended sentence.

Paris Seeks to Avoid Ravages From Seine

Paris.—The Paris council general of the Seine will shortly ask for 10,000,-000 francs to supplement existing appropriations for the protection of Paris and its suburbs from the frequent rising of the Seine. Judging future floods by past performances, M. Lenarchand indicated that Paris has a real flood every 11 years and an important rise in the river about every three years.

The city council has drawn up a plan which when completed will make the valleys of the Seine and Marne near Paris safe from sudden floods.

Reservoirs will be built letting in the overflowing water: new buildings along the quai which have cellars below the Seine will be rigorously inspected and constructions in zones which are not considered safe will be forbidden.

It is suggested that the Pont de L'Alma be rebuilt, especially the substructure from which floods always escape in bad weather. Near Notre will begin making the Seine deeper and the current faster, although at other places in the suburbs the river will be widened.

Brest to Heap Honor

on American Navy

Brest, France.-Officials of this port have sent invitations to Gen. John J. Pershing, Ambassador Walter Edge and officials of the Navy department in Washington to attend the dedication July 4, 1931, of the great granite memorial to the United States navy's heroism in the World war.

The naval memorial is being erected in the Cours d'Ajot. It will commemorate the gallantry of the men of the United States navy.

It is expected that part of the American fleet in European waters will steam into the roads for the ceremony.

The memorial is a granite tower 135 feet high, resembling a lighthouse. The design was approved by the American battle monuments commission. At the summit an electric lantern which will be seen many miles at sea will be erected. A public garden will surround the shaft. The cost is estimated at $125,000.

ists to depict Moses with horns. The colossal figure in the church of St. Pietro in Vincoli at Rome, regarded the Israelite leader with horns. It is described as a representation of the wrath of Moses when he came down from Mount Sinai, and found his people worshiping the golden calf. It has been explained that the horns were used to give an effect of strength, and this is supported by the fact that horn is frequently used in the Bible to mean strength. Bible scholars believe, however, that the mistake arose from a wrong translation of Exodus 34: 29, 30, where it is stated that "the skin of his face shone." In Hebrew, the word for this is qaran, meaning "rays of light darting out," while the word for horn is qeren, and it is believed that the first translators

Chevrolet is the world's largest builder of six-cylinder trucks

Wherever you go—on city street or country road—you find Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks very much in evidence. Tens of thousands of these sturdy workers are on the job daily, delivering goods, moving supplies, doing all types of light and heavy hauling.

Large fleets of Chevrolets are covering the nation for prominent public utility firms. Nationally known packers, oil companies and manufacturers are using Chevrolets in steadily growing numbers. Every line of business, every field of industry is coming to rely more and more on these big, powerful Sixes.

Indeed, the demand for Chevrolet trucks during recent years has been such that Chevrolet ranks today as the world's largest builder of sixcylinder trucks and commercial cars.

Lesson for March 29

REVIEW: JESUS THE WORLD'S SAVIOR

GOLDEN TEXT—How God anointed Jesus of Nazareth with the Holy Ghost and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil; for God was with him

PRIMARY TOPIC-Jesus Busy Doing Good.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Busy Doing

Good.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus the World's Savior: Preparation and Popularity, YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus the World's Savior: Preparation and Popularity.

Since the lessons of the quarter center in one person and have one theme; namely, the world's Savior, the best method of review for senior and adult classes will be to refresh the mind with the principal facts and leading teachings of each lesson. Assignments should be made a week ahead. The following suggestions are offered:

Lesson for January 4.

John the Baptist was a great preacher. He had a great heritage in his godly parents. Much can be expected from a son of such parents.

Lesson for January 11. Jesus, as to personality, was divine and yet his human nature developed in the normal way. He waxed strong in body, was filled with wisdom, and God's grace was upon him. Though conscious of his deity, he lived a life of filial obedience.

Lesson for January 18.

John the Baptist came in fulfillment of prophecy, calling upon men to prepare for the coming of the Messiah by repenting of their sins. Baptism was the appointed sign of their repentance. With fine humility, John turned the attention of the people from himself to Christ.

Lesson for January 25.

Jesus was led into the wilderness by the Holy Spirit to be tempted of the Devil. His temptation was Messianic. The purpose was to demonstrate the reality of the incarnation. Jesus went from the place of anointing and heavenly recognition as the Son of God to meet and to spoil the enemy of God and man (Heb. 2:14).

Lesson for February 1. Jesus demonstrated his power over various diseases and over demons, thus displaying his Lordship. Even while demonstrating his mighty power, he operated through benevolent chan-

Lesson for February 8.

Jesus made clear to the disciples that they would be hated and opposed as they went out into the world with his message. These who follow Christ must expect opposition and suffering.

Jesus is the friend of sinners. There is no one so steeped in sin as to be shut out from him. Christ came into the world "to seek and to save that which was lost."

Lesson for February 22. Jesus' supreme mission was to make known the good news of salvation to a lost world. In spite of the good seed sown by him, only a small portion brought forth full fruitage owing to the unfavorable condition of the

Lesson for March 1.

The greatness of the harvest-man's lost condition moved Jesus to ask the disciples to pray the Lord to thrust out laborers. The real ferce back of missionary endeavor is prayer. When the church begins to pray about missions, there will be missionaries and money to sustain them.

Lesson for March 8. The parable of the Good Samaritan shows who is my neighbor and what being a neighbor means. My neighbor is the man needing my help, whether next door or across the world. Being a neighbor is the most important thing for me. To be a neighbor means to be on the lookout for those in need and to give sympathetically the needed help.

Lesson for March 15. The Bethany home was always open to the Lord. Jesus will come into such homes as will give him welcome. The inspiration of the Bethany home must have greatly helped Jesus as he went out to meet his foes. It is the inspiration of the home which gives men courage to go out and fight the battles of life. Lesson for March 22.

The parable of the rich fool shows the peril of allowing the heart to be set upon even the fruits of legitimate toil. To seek gold and thus forget God is to play the fool.

The next quarter continues the lessons from the gospel by Luke.

Our Love to God

Our love to God brings us a gleam in earth's darkness to show us whither we are going. It keeps us in sympathy with God's work everywhere. It is our enlistment in the army of good will toward men.-Isaac Edward-

Men of Genius

Men of genius are often dull and inert in society, as a blazing meteor when it descends to earth, is only a stone.--Longfellow

That Other "Clod"

Two fellows were playing a dingdong golf match, into the exciting spirit of which even the caddles had

Going to the last hole all square, one man sliced badly while the other had an equally wild pull. The first man found himself in a jungle. His first niblick shot raised a huge divot and moved the ball about six feet. He took turf with his second effort also, but got the ball well away.

"By the way," he said, as he replaced the second divot, "what happened to the other clod?"

"Oh," said the caddie, with satisfaction, "he's playing six out of a bunker."

. What Would Happen?

"You know," said old Bill Tomaine, president of the Spit and Argy club and a philosopher of wide renown, as he slumped downtown to get a good seat on a sunny curbstone for the parade, "you know, I have often wondered why I like parades so much, and at last I know. It's because when the fire trucks are in the parade I am always wondering what will happen if an alarm comes in."-Emporia Gazette.

English as She Is Spelt

When Britishers find fault with our way of spelling "color," "labor" and similar words without the "u," we can reply that we prefer to be purists and follow the original Latin. Research reveals that the "u" crept in via low Gallic, the language of the uneducated Roman soldier.-Collier's

Good Use of Criminals

In the reign of Henry VIII a thriving trade was carried on in killing men, whose bodies were sold to surgeons for dissection. The human body became a part of medical education in 420 B. C., under Hipprocrates. In 300 B. C. criminals condemned to death were turned over to the medical fraternity for dissection and experiments, the only requirement being that the surgeon at the end of his experiments should put the criminal to death-Detroit News.

Stoned by Monkeys

According to a report from Paris, a Frenchman was killed in Algeria by a stone thrown by a monkey. Large monkeys in northern Africa, it is said, are sometimes extremely dangerous. They travel in large bands, and often different bands engage in battles, using stones as missiles. The Frenchman in question was killed when a band of monkeys bombarded the taxi in which he was riding.-Pathfinder

Now, Here's Good Advice:

Get That Half Century In becoming rich, it is the first million that is the hardest. In fact, it is so hard that many are exhausted at $50,000 and stop there. After the first million is banked it multiplies itself automatically. A fat million has only to sit down and grow in adiposity.

It is like a magnet drawing dollars. But $50,000 has to be taken care of like a helpless baby. It is subject to many infantile, juvenile, adolescent, mature and senile ills. "Fifty thousand" is never very well, but is always a pleasant companion. To know it is there, intact and rearing a crop of modest dividends each year, inspires a restful state of mind. You never will be reduced to the extremity of cracking rock. "Fifty thousand" nurtured and cherished will last a lifetime, will last for eons if it doesn't have to be split up among heirs.

It is a wand to summon the less ambitious satisfactions of life, and it does not suffer from being overshadowed by the leviathan fortunes of multimillionaires. Its revenue is as sure

Young man, get $50,000-not too hastily, but year by year.-F. H. Collier in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Six Simple Principles

for the Argumentative The six principles of effective argument might be worded in many ways, but stated in very simple terms they

1. Don't try to do all the talking. Remember your opponent wants to talk just as badly as you do. Give the other fellow a chance. 2. Don't interrupt your opponent's talk with a counter-argument.

3. Do not assume an argumentative, dogmatic attitude. Don't wear boxing

4. Ask questions in a pleasant, inquiring tone of voice during the first half of the argument.

5. Restate clearly and fairly in a very few words of your own the gist of each argument your opponent advances as soon as he advances it.

6. When you reply, stick hard to the subject. Bring out the key issue and stick to it. Don't digress and don't let your opponent digress.

In explaining the application of these principles I wish to emphasize first of all that the only way you can get their full benefit is to paste them on your mental hatband and use them consciously, deliberately. Most persons who use them at all apply them unconsciously. And most persons who violate them are unaware that they are doing so. If you do not practice them until they become a habit, you will forget and will not use them at all .- Albert E. Wiggam in the American Magazine.

Pronounced Dead, Man Aged 86, Comes to Life

Marengo, Iowa.-William H. Delzell, eighty-six, was the liveliest corpse this town ever saw. Though he had been pronounced dead several days before, Delzell walked to the mail box, read his mail and ate a hearty dinner.

He suffered a stroke of paralysis, his second in a week. The family physician pronounced him dead. Other members of the family and an undertaker were called. In the meantime the body was moved from the chair where the attack occurred to his bedroom.

A cold sheet was thrown over him. Suddenly there was a sign of life. Stimulants were given him and a halfhour later he was able to exclaim that there was nothing the matter with him.

Report Shows Four New

Navy Hospitals Needed Washington.-New naval hospitals at Philadelphia, Washington, Quantico and at the Great Lakes station were urged upon President Hoover by Secretary of Navy Adams in his annual report for 1930. The new buildings are needed urgently, Adams said, to replace temporary "war-time" structures. The report said a large proportion of the patients at these institutions now are housed in buildings which are "rapidly deteriorating and are serious fire hazards."

Not Afraid of Losing Job;

Enters Race Against Boss

New York.—Deputy Sheriff Robert Battipaglia of Queens is one fellow who isn't afraid of his job. He is running against his superior, Sheriff Samuel Burden, for executive member of the Democratic organization of his district. Sheriff Burden is the favorite candidate of the district.

Fishermen Fight Beacon

Astoria, Ore.-Local fishermen have protested against the construction of a revolving beacon light on the banks of the Columbia river. The fishermen contend that the beacon will ruin the salmon fishing in one of the best "drifts" in the lower river.

Thief Hunted for "Stolen Operation"

Milwaukee. - Police looked for a thief who "stole an operation." Dr. J. H. Sum told officers he found forceps and other instruments lying in a wash basin with additional evidence that an operation had been performed.

IN making pastry, roll in one direction only. If you roll first in one direction and then in another, your crust is always sure to be tough. To improve both flavor and appearance, brush a sugar syrup over the crust just before taking from the oven. Make the sugar syrup by dissolving one-half cup of sugar in one-quarter cup boiling water.

When preparing fruit salad, sprinkle bananas, peaches, pears and apples with lemon juice and sugar, as soon as they are cut. This helps to prevent discolora-14 FEEDS...all in one tiny thimbleful. 14 good feeds which are there in just the right proportion. There's the story of a real chick starting feed...Purina Startena Chow. A real story because one thimbleful of feed is all one chick can put into its little crop

Out of this tiny thimbleful a chick must get so much. That's why the 14 different feeds are there. Cod-liver oil...dried buttermilk...alfalfa flour... granulated meat...wheat germ meal...linseed meal ... these and eight other feeds are in every thimbleful of Purina Startena Chow...each one with a real job to do. Mixed over and over...960 times... every thimbleful alike.

The 1930 national feed survey of 1,834,513 chicks tells you the kind of a job these thimblefuls do. At six weeks of age, 92 out of every 100 Purina-fed chicks are alive and growing. And they weigh an average of one-fourth of a pound more than other chicks. There's the story for you! The proof that the 14 feeds in Purina Startena Chow (mash or allmash) actually give a chick the many, many things it must get from a thimbleful of feed. If Taneytown wants to do something along the line of progress; why not number the buildings on our main streets, at least? We think that dividing Baltimore Street, East and West, was a good idea, but why should not York Street have been divided North and South? Anyway, it would be a bit of inexpensive progress to number buildings.

Why are some local events of minor importance noted in our "local" columns, and some not? The answer is easy, some are handed in at our office, and some are not. Some we do not know about, while others we do know about but forget to write up. Then, there are "locals" that are of interest to some, but are objectionable to those that they directly concern. And, do you know that not many papers now publish ordinary visits and small social events?
