Diffendal, District Deputy Game Warden, delivered 30 partridges this week, to the Taneytown Sports-men's Club for liberation. Our Game Warden also promised our club an allotment of pheasants. The Sportsmen's Club takes this opportunity to express its appreciation of and for the excellent co-operation received from Mr. Diffendal.

The Club organized to put game on our farms and fish in our streams. We thus far have been successful in promoting both of these aims. However, the club feels that it has only made a start, and that much, very much more, can be accomplished in promoting healthful and clean sports for the community. The Sportsmen's Club has 160 paid members. It should have many more because through such an organization is the only way for a community to secure state and national support stream and field sports. The liberat-ed partridges are banded. ## FARM MORTGAGE BILL Provides that Foreclosure May Not be Under 3 Years.

An amended Frazier-Lemke Act, designed to give farmers a three-year moratorium on foreclosures, became law last week when it was signed by President Roosevelt.

The bill, which it is hoped by its sponsors, will take the place of the Act held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court after it had been invoked by many farm-debtors, including a number in Carroll, would permit agriculturalists, after claiming bankruptcy, to have payments on their mortgages deferred as much as three

Under the former act, the farmer was not required to file a petition in bankruptcy, but merely applied to the Federal Court for relief and adjustment of debts. It was held by the highest court in the country that nullified the sanctity of contracts with-out due regard for claims of creditors.

The new act is made an integral part of the bankruptcy law. If a farmer's petition is accepted, mortgage foreclosure proceedings may be stayed for as long as three years. The farmer may remain on his property for that period, paying a rental fixed by the Court. At the end of the per-iod he is given the right to redeem the property if he then can make necessary payments.

The bullet entered the abdomen.

The legislation under way, during the day, was to lessen the influence of the Senator's Louisiana foes, and to ward off Federal influence over the State. The program will go on, it is stated, despite the shooting of the

THE COUNTY STATEMENT.

The annual statement of the re ceipts and expenditures of Carroll County, appears in this issue. It should be read, and preserved for future reference. It contains important information that the taxpayers of the county, without regard to "party" papers, are entitled to have; which justifies the present Board of Commissioners in giving it general circulation. As we considered it better not to publish the statement as a "supple ment," including it in our regular size issue naturally decreases our usual amount of general reading.

The Reverend says: "I've often noticed that the fellow who is not up on a thing, is generally down on it.'

RELIEF FOR PROFESSIONALS To Include Artists, Actors, Editors and Historians.

The latest "new deal" proposition, authorized by the President, is the appropriating of $27,315,217, out of his $4,000,000,000, work relief appropriation "to put 26,000 unemployed" artists "weights providers and these areas of the second states. artists, musicians, writers and thea-tre folks" to work, for half a year at Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator, only 26,000 of these will come under the classifi-cation of "white-collar workers." The rest will be stage hands and laborers. The average overall outlay per person employed for the six months will be $815, which is more than the average a person outlay contemplated for WPA projects in general. The latter figure, according to Mr. Hopkins, is "just over $700" for a year.

"The art project," the announcement said, "will include approximately 5,000 workers in the arts and crafts and a small group of clerical and other assistants. The music program will include more than 10,000 workers including 700 unskilled laborers. ORIGINALITY.

The rarest thing in the world, is originality in thought, speech and character. We have great inventions along mechanical lines and remarkable advancement in science, and discovery, but the mind of man, and his disposition, have been the same, in general,

NEW WHEAT CONTRACT.

The new wheat adjustment contract has been approved in final form and will be offered to farmers in this county soon, County Agent L. C Burns, Carroll Co., has been notified. This corntact will run for four years from 1936 to 1939, inclusive, as compared with the three-year period of the present contract. Producers will receive a first payment each year, and then at the end of the year, the second adjustmnt payment will be fixed at such amount as will tend to give the producer parity according to what the price of wheat has been during the marketing year.

The reduction in acreage each year will depend upon the national and world wheat situation. The extreme limit that may be called for is 25 percent under the base acreage, but for 1936 the figure is set at 5 percent. The base years for the new contract are the same as those for the present contract—1930-32 for acreage and 1928-32 for production. Under certain conditions, four-year and fiveyear base periods may be used, to meet special practices.

All wheat producers who can establish a base production and acreage are eligible to sign contracts, whether or not they are signers of present contracts. Producers who have not been contract signers and who wish to sign the new program are advised to get in touch with their county

The adjusted acreage is to be used for such purposes as pasture, hay, timber, shelter belts, soil-erosion prevention, weed control, and soil improvement.

First 1936 adjustment payments will be payable in the sum of 1936 after compliance with the contract for that crop has been checked.

WELFARE BOARD ACTIVITIES,

A meeting of all Executive Secretaries of the Welfare Boards of Maryland was held in Baltimore, Friday, September 6, from 11 A. M. to 4:30 P. M. Mrs. Esther K. Brown of the local Board attended. On next Tuesday, Prof. Lewis H. Brumbaugh, chairman of the local Board will be in attendance at a similar meeting of county chairmen.

Various plans of the Works Prog-ress set up and the means of expedienting the investigating of old age pensions were discussed at the Friday meeting. It is expected that some of the Works Progress Projects will get under way soon after October 1st. Families on relief will be transferred to the Works Projects just as soon as

The County Commissioners are sponsoring the improving of county roads, as well as several small com-munity projects. Citizens of Pleas-ant Valley have submitted to the Baltimore office a request for side-walks.

Mt. Airy's request for a project was submitted to the Baltimore office on Thursday, September 5. It is sponsored by the Mayor and Town Council

The grading of the Winfield school ground, which was requested by the Board of Education and approved by the County Commissioners, has had federal approvement and work will likely begin in the near future. The Board of Education has made requests also for painting and repairing, and for grading and erosion projects.

There have been submitted to the Federal Government several projects for unemployed women, sewing and book-binding. The sewing will be under the supervision of Dr. Emma Ward, of the Women's Division, Baltimore. The book-binding will be under supervision of the Fresh Prett der supervision of the Enoch Pratt Library. Fifty-two Carroll County women may be employed on this work. The projects will be centered in the places of greatest needs. The com-munities are asked to furnish rooms, heat and light; and, in the case of sewing, tables and chairs. All mater-ials and wages for the laborers will come from the Federal Government. The wage scale allows $32.00 per month for unskilled labor and from $38.00 to $44.00 per month for skilled labor. Garments made will be distributed to families in Carroll and probably to some counties in which there are no sewing projects.

A small project, under the U.S. Department of Agriculture has been employing four Carroll County men for the last two weeks. The families represented have been removed from the relief rolls.

All persons for work must be certified by the County Welfare Board. All persons eligible for direct relief must co-operate with the Board, furnishing true statements of their situation in regards to supplementary earnings. Failure to do so will deprive them to immediate service.

Old age pension applications now number 239. Beginning Monday, September 9, Mr. Dyott, Baltimore, will assist with investigations, continuing until the end of the month. Mrs. Carter, state supervisor, and Mr. Callahan, state accountant have frequently visited with the local workers to give instructions and assistance.

The next meeting of the Carroll County Board members will be Friday September 13, at 2 P. M., in the new office rooms.

E. K. BROWN, Ex-Sec.

Dainty Edelweiss Called Bride's Flower of Europe

According to Swiss stories, only the brave and the pure may find and pluck the edelweiss, a little white starshaped mountain flower, notes a writer in the Washington Star.

Many poems and songs have been written about the little flower which grows high up in the Alps and the Pyrenees, and perhaps it is because of these stories that the edelweiss has won the reputation of growing only in remote and inaccessible places where he who would pick it must be daring to venture.

Only part of these legends are true, for the edelweiss is grown in many English and American gardens. It is a hardy little flower, kin to our daisy and black-eyed susan, and it flourishes with very slight encouragement. On the other hand, left to its own devices, the edelweiss takes only to its favorite mountain heights, where it wears a little fuzzy coat as if for warmth against the icy mountain blasts. High up on rocky cliffs, it thrusts its roots into the cracks of limestone rocks and blossoms in a profusion of starry white flowers surrounded by wooly leaves. Its center is clustered and yellow. But whenever and wherever it is domesticated, it invariably doffs its fuzzy cloak of hair and assumes the more commonplace texture of its garden neighbors. Because of its romantic history the edelweiss has been much sought and much picked, until now it is protected by law in most of the Swiss cantons. Like the orange blossom in the United States, it is the bride's flower of Europe—a symbol of purity. Literally translated, its name means "noble white."

Boy Strangled as He Plays on Swing

Cairo.-A longing to swing as he had seen English children do, caused the death of Aly El Hag, a thirteen-year-old boy. He made a swing by tying a large towel between two lengths of rope. As he was swinging gaily to and fro, the towel slipped. One of the ropes entwined round his neck, and, before help could reach him, Aly was strangled to death.

CARE OF THE BABY TEETH

Reminding mothers that baby teeth need to be protected from decay as carefully as the 'second' set, Dr. Richard C. Leonard, Chief of the Division of Oral Hygiene of the Maryland State Department of Health, said, "In spite of the enthusiasm with which the appearance of baby's first tooth is announced to friends and relatives, by the time the entire set of uppers and lowers—20 in all—has established itself, most of the early thrill has evaporated into dangerous indifference. indifference.

"It is a great mistake to think of the baby teeth as more or less ornamental, 'only temporary,' soon to be replaced by others and consequently not requiring any particular care. There are a number of reasons why the baby teeth are as important as those that come later and should be as intelligently cared for. Here are three of them:

as intelligently cared for. Here are three of them:

"First: To safeguard the growing child against unnecessary pain and suffering. Neglect of the baby teeth is likely to result in decay. Decay brings on toothache. Throbbing teeth are quite as hard on a youngster as they are on a grown-up.

"Second: To hold the fort for the second teeth so that they can erupt in proper position. Too early loss of the baby teeth is likely to make the second teeth come in 'crooked.' This not only spoils the appearance of the mouth but it makes it more difficult for a child to chew his feed thoroughly. This in turn affects the digestive system and the general health. In addition, crooked teeth are harder to keep clean and therefore are more apt to decay than 'straight' teeth.

"Third: To protect the growing child against damaging diseases. Nerglect of the baby teeth may result in the formation of an abscess—as often happens when the second teeth are neglected. Such abscesses, even in very young children may affect the entire system and may be responsible for the development of conditions which will seriously impair the general health. Many cases of heart trouble in children of high school age—long after all baby teeth are shed—may be due to an infection which came originally from an abscessed baby tooth.

"To safeguard the growing child from these possibilities special are

"To safeguard the growing child from these possibilities, special care should be given to the baby teeth. Such care includes a proper diet— Such care includes a proper diet—which is essential to the growth and development of healthy teeth; careful and thorough cleansing twice a day, and continuous advice and cor-rective care by the family dentist."

TIMOTHY

LESSON TEXT—II Timothy 1:1-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Give diligence to present thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, handling aright the word of truth. II Timothy 2:15.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Boy Timothy.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Missionary in the Making.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Training for Service.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC-Training in Home and Church

Timothy's training would be the proper training for every child. In the measure that such training be given there would be a more abundant supply of Christian workers.

I. Timothy's Parentage (Acts 16:1). His father was a Greek and his mother a believing Jewess. On his mother's side at least, he had a godly ancestry. Usually the influence of the mother makes the son. A pious mother and a pious grandmother were back of Timothy.

II. Timothy's Training (II Tim. 1:5; 3:14,15).

A wise and faithful mother and grandmother carefully nurtured him in God's Word. Through this training, he knew the Scriptures from his childhood. The faith which came to him from his grandmother through his mother did not come through the laws of heredity, but through careful training and teaching. Grace is not received by the laws of heredity. The factors involved in his training were a godly ancestry, a home where God was feared, and a diligent study of the Scriptures.

III. Timothy's Call (Acts 16:1-3). While on his second missionary journey in company with Silas, Paul found Timothy at Lystra near Derbe. Perhaps he had been converted on Paul's first missionary journey, but, hearing a favorable report of him by the brethren, Paul circumcised him so as not to offend the Jews because his father was a Greek. This was not contrary to the decision of the Jerusalem council. It was a case where conciliation could be made without compromise of truth.

IV. Timothy's Character. 1. Of a retiring disposition (II Tim. 1:6). He had received a gift from God at the hands of the apostles, but it needed to be stirred up; that is, fanned into a flame. Such a temperament would mature in touch with a great personality like Paul.

2. Courageous (II Tim. 2:1-8). Having been stirred up, he was freed from the spirit of fear and deliberately identified himself with Paul in his suffering and trials.

3. Faithful. He continued in the difficult field of Ephesus during many years. He was the only man of the needed fidelity to minister to the Philippians (Phil. 2:20). The secret of his place in our food economy. faithfulness in such a position was his fidelity to the Word of God.

V. Timothy's Ministry. 1. As fellow missionary with Paul (Phil. 2:22).

2. As pastor of the church at Ephesus. Here he labored for many years, tactfully meeting the difficulties of that great church. The Christian minister must believe in the Scriptures as God's Word and be able to rightly divide them so as to meet the need of those who hear him.

VI. Paul's Farewell Message to Timothy (II Tim. 1:1-14).

1. Personal relationship (vv. 1, 2). Timothy was Paul's spiritual son, therefore a peculiar love went out to him. This strong affection was a vital factor in influencing Timothy's life. 2. Paul's deep interest in Timothy (vv. 3-5).

a. Prayer for him. While a prisoner in a lonely dungeon, he thinks of Timothy and prays for him.

b. Longed to see him. This reveals the vital reciprocal affection between Paul and Timothy, and also Paul's inner self. He was intensely human. Gives Timothy Earnest Counsel

a. To stir up the divine gift within him (vv. 6, 7). To stir up means to fan into flame. Enthusiasm of the Christian worker has a tendency to wane and, therefore, needs to be constantly stirred up. b. Be not ashamed (vv. 8-12). He must be willing to suffer affliction for Christ's sake. c. Hold fast the essential truths of the gospel (vv. 13, 14). This means the fundamental truths of Christianity, including the incarnation, atonement, resurrection, and coming again of Jesus Christ. These doctrines have been committed to God's servants as precious deposits. Servants of Christ are charged with the solemn obligation of guarding them as the shepherd guards his sheep or the soldier that which has been committed unto him.

Two Rules

There are two good rules which ought to be written upon every heart. Never believe anything bad about anybody, unless you positively know that it is true. Never tell even that, unless you feel that it is absolutely necessary, and that God is listening while you tell .- Van Dyke.

Judgment

I have learned to judge of men by their own deeds; I do not make the accident of birth the standard of their merit.-Hale.

EMBALMING THE LILY?

Milk is much in the news-often in the headlines.

In Maryland, the (legal) battle royal is on between the Dairymen's Association and the State Milk Control Board created by Governor Nice and the late General Assembly.

Across the Mason-Dixon Line, last week, in York two dairymen were arrested because they refused to comply with an order of the (Pa.) State Milk Control Board that they cease business on August 29, and until the matter of their licenses is settled by the

On both sides of our borders, and elsewhere, the familiar cry of "Unconstitutional" is the slogan of the opposition to the official regulatory bodies and their "rules."

Milk, in its economic and legal aspects, is much in the minds of readers of this newspaper, many of them producers as well as consumers. Partly for that reason, milk is often the object of this column's attentions. We are most concerned, naturally, with the nutritional, bacteriological and epidemiological phases of the milk "problem."

An important development bearing on these phases, and also the economic factor, particularly insofar as they pertain to raw milk, arose out of the recent meeting in Atlantic City of the American Association of Medical Milk Commissions with the Certified Milk Producers Association of America. A resolution was there adopted in which pasteurization of certified milk was approved by the two organizations, but such pasteurization was not made mandatory.

Why pasteurize certified milk? Well, it's a long story, and quite controversial, but may be summarized here, and without being too controversial. The fact is that medical opinion is divided on this matter. It is fair to say that the "official" opinion of organized American medical and public health authorities is that all milk for human consumption should be pasteurized.

Physicians who subscribe sincerely to this view believe-also, no doubt, sincerely-that nothing of milk's nutritive and "vital" values to the body is sacrificed by heating it. At least, they say, if anything valuable is thus lost, it can be replaced by other foods.

From this opinion there are a great many medical and other expect dissenters, nany of then men and wamen whose opinions merit consideration. It is on this body of opinion, and the recommendations of these men that the certified milk industry has grown to an important, and conceded, Pasteurization of certified milk is proposed to meet the requirement of persons and physicians who want the very highest quality of milk, produced in the cleanest way-and then pasteurized, as the final possible safe-

To persons, and physicians, who look upon such pasteurization as a work of supererogation, and prefer to drink, and prescribe, their milk (produced under the highest possible standards of cleanliness and sanitation) raw, certified milk will still be available. And this is quite as it

Although there is no public record of dissent from the resolution mentioned above, Dr. Harris Moak, secretary of both the Medical Milk and the Certified Milk Associations, stated prior to the Atlantic City meeting, that "one group of medical and health men holds that certified milk should continue to be sold in its raw state.

just as it comes from the cow." Undoubtedly, the opinion of this group was not changed by the debate heard and the resolution passed at Atlantic City, and just as undoubtediy certified milk will continue to find a steady, if limited, market. No reader will overlook the obvious fact that certified milk must be sold at a higher price than pasteurized, and that this necessarily reduces consumption of the raw product, particularly in this time of economic stress and uncertainty.

Over 5000 WOMEN using our service COOK ELECTRICALLY

READ WHAT SOME OF THEM HAVE TO SAY

THERE are over 5000 housewives in this territory who are doing their cooking electrically. That in itself is some indication of the desirability and efficiency of this MODERN method of cooking.

But they not only Cook Electrically—they tell us about its advantages and we like what they say so well that we just have to pass it on to you.

Read what a few of these Electric Range owners say. Some of them are probably friends and neighbors of Here's what one enthusiastic housewife says: *"I like the fact that one can be away from home the entire day and return to find dinner perfectly cooked and ready to serve whenever you wish. Another convenience that I find most gratifying is its cleanliness—no more blackened pots and pans to be scoured! And, last but not least, I like its economy in operation."

Another housewife likes the ease with which canning is done. She says: *"I do a great deal of canning and with an Electric Range that becomes a pleasure. Processing in an electric oven is much more simple and convenient than using the water-bath method. And what a job it is to work in a kitchen kept cool by a stove that does not throw out heat into the room!"

A third modern housewife tells us: *"I have found the cost of operation very low. Outside of being economical to use, it is clean, odorless, quick and entirely dependable."

And these are but three of many such comments from letters we have received. Why not judge for yourself?

Come in today and see the new, low-priced models and hear the fascinating story of Electric Cookery.

*These are quotations from letters received from Electric Range owners using our Electric Service. The original of these letters are on file in our office.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY MEET-

The Quarterly Board meeting of the Children's Aid Society of Carroll County was held in the CAS office, Westminster, on Sept. 9. The various districts were all well represented. This was a very important meeting as it was the first to be held since all of the relief work had been taken over by the Welfare Board. Th president, Mrs. Frank T. Myers, presided. She explained the sets up of the two organizations, and their functions. The Welfare Board which is a public agency, will handle the old age pensions and all relief cases whether due to unemployment or disability. The CAS which is a private organization, will continue to care for the dependent children. This plan had been decided upon by the Board of State Aid and Charities, following the passing of the bill at the last session of Legislature, defining the duties of County Welfare Boards. The two county organizations work in complete unison thereby getting better results and fore-stalling any possible over-lapping of work.

Miss Bonnie M. Custenborder, Children's Aid director and Mrs. Serick S.

dren's Aid director and Mrs. Serick S. Wilson, treasurer, read comprehensive and very satisfactory reports. Miss Custenborder stressed the fact that the CAS is now able to carry on its original purpose of caring for and doing constructive work with Carroll County's dependent children.

County's dependent children.
Mrs. Esther K. Brown executive secretary of the Carroll County Welfare Board explained to the Children's Aid Society Board the possibility of obtaining a sewing and book-binding project for the unemployed women of the county. The government furnished all material and remuneration, provided the project is sponsored by some official organization—that is, one handling public funds. The gar-ments are to be used in the county. Mrs. Brown mentioned also plans for adult education classes during the winter. The Board of Education is very strongly in favor of adult education, which will not only give work to the county's unemployed teachers, but will provide night classes to those people, who because they had been forced to stop their education in order to go to work or because of lack of money. Mrs. Brown also stated that the main object of the welfare board to replace direct relief with work relief, that is, providing men with work and expecting them to help their families on the wages which they will After an informal discussion of a number of subjects pertaining to Social Welfare Work in the county, the meeting closed with a social hour. (Miss Custenborder's report will be published next week. It is omitted this week because of lack of space.)

EMMITSBURG HOTEL REMOD-ELED.

For a hundred years one of the most popular hostelries in the Emmitsburg section of Maryland, the Emmit House, located at the forks of the Waynesboro and Mountain roads, has served its last days as a hotel.

Recently purchased by Dr. D. L.

Beegle and converted into an apartment house, it was occupied as such this week, Doctor Beegle and family occupy the entire first floor using the former lobby and other rooms as a reception room and office. The renovation, not yet completed, will provide for six modern apartments.

John Horner, of Emmitsburg, recalls the early use of the hotel as a wagoner's tavern. In those days, during and following the Civil War, such inns were established at short intervals along the Baltimore to Pittsburgh road. All freight was hauled by wagons and traffic was heavy. The Emmit House, not then known by that name, was one of the most popular.

A field in the rear of the inn was used for the wagons and teams, the wagoneers employing ingenious de-vices for forming their own private corrals by running gear poles and tongues through the spokes inside of which they stabled six or eight horses.

During the period of the Civil War During the period of the Civil War the hotel was used as the town polls. Mr. Horner recalls the bitter skirmishes there on voting days when challengers frequently tried to disallow the franchise of a prospective voter on the grounds of southern sympathy which was interpreted as disloyalty to the Usion and consequently recognition. the Union and consequently reason for loss of citizenship. As indication and proof of loyalty, voters had to pass under crossed sabres to reach the polls. Much blood was spilled and so intense was the hatred against secessionists that soldiers returning from the war to vote were not permitted to carry their guns to the polls. The James A. Helman history of Emmitsburg states that the present Emmit House was built by Samuel Smith in 1879. Its history, however goes back much farther to the time it was known as Hoffman's tavern, after its owner Harry Hoffman.

Smith and his two sons, Charles and Edward, came from Taneytown, buy-ing the property and rebuilding the hotel to its present proportions. Later it was operated successfully by Messrs Sutton, Michael Hoks, Wilson, Smith

Later, about 1902, it was purchased by Doctor Kalbach, who leased it first to Hamilton Hemler. J. William Breichner next operated it from 1906 ming shears—by which a man can to 1912, when the late Mrs. Annie M. Slagle took over its operation. After purchasing the present Hotel Slagle. purchasing the present Hotel Slagle. Mrs. Slagle gave up the Emmit House. After that it had numerous leasors under the Kalbach ownership, ending with Charles Wynn. It was sold two years ago to Messrs Robert Gillelan and Herbert L. Gingell who leased it after improving it for a brief hotel venture last year to Royal K. Standorff, closed at the end of the Summer season, it was not reopened until mer season, it was not reopened until purchased by Doctor Beegle.

It was realled that during exhibitions and fairs held in Emmitsburg in former years, the hotel was packed to capacity and guests were "rented out" to private families. The coming of automobiles, making metropolitan hotels so very accessible, caused a constant dwindling of patronage until, at last the old institution had to yield

Taneytown defeated the strong Mc-Sherrystown team last Saturday, on the Sauble field, by the score of 2 to 1. The attendance was small, as the game had not been well advertised.

The game scheduled for Monday, with the Canadian Clowns, had to be called off, due to rain.

TURKEY LOST HIS HEAD.

A group of people were trying without success to shoo a frightened turkey off some telephone wires at Chambersburg, Pa., when two telephone troublemen came along. They feared the turkey would cause trouble on the line and threw stones at him, stand on the ground and cut small branches off trees. You can guess the rest. The turkey lost his head in less
