Mr. Wm. F. Kehn and Mr. T. Hall, of Baltimore, and Mr. G. I. Harman, of near town, visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Coleman, at Bark Hill, and found Mr. Coleman's mother very much indisposed. She is about 92 or 93 years old.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Baker during the past week were: Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Baker and daughter, Catherine, Johnsville; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kooztz; Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Baker; Mr. Albert Smith and Charles Baker.

Taneytown contractors landed two jobs for the new Westminster High School building. Allen Feeser, the construction work, at $163,629.00; and George L. Harner the heating and plumbing, at $25,357.00. There were two other bids on construction, and four others on heating and plumbing.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Sauble, Rev. A. T. Sutcliffe, Mrs. Margaret Nulton and Rosa Wiles made a swift visit to the Lutheran Iron Mountain School for Boys, at Konnarock, in the mountain section of southern Virginia, on Tuesday and Wednesday. The round trip was 855 miles and the running time averaged over 40 miles an hour, a fine record considering the long distance and heavy mountain grades. They carried with them a large donation of gifts from the Taneytown church.

The Lutheran choir, under the direction of Miss Hazel Hess, on Sunday evening, at 7:30, will present the following program: Candlelight procession; "The First Nowell" and "Come all ye Faithful" by the choir; "In Excelsis Gloria," Harker, by a women's sextette; "O Bethlehem," Dickinson, by the choir; "Star of Peace," Parker, by Richard Sutcliffe; Hallelujah chorus from "The Messiah," Handel, by the choir; Recessional, "Joy to the World," "Silent Night, Holy Night," several numbers on the organ by Mrs. George Harner.

A chimney fire that came near serious results occurred last Friday night, about 11 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Samuel H. Mehning, on Baltimore St., near the R. R. Persons passing noticed smoke and sparks coming out of the chimney, and caused the Fire Company to be called out. The chimney was in the centre of the house, in which the kitchen range is located, and evidently the fire had been smoldering for some time. The firemen worked about three hours before all danger seemed to be over. A heavy timber in the chimney, near a large built-in cupboard, caused most of the trouble.

The musical program entitled "The Promise of the Son" from the Hope Publishing Co. contains some very charming selections for solo, duet and chorus, not admitting some of the old choruses, not deemed to us by memories of other days and other participants in our Christmas services. There will be recitations and songs by the little folks as well as by older ones, and a playlet "There is no Room" will vividly recall the story of the birth of the child Jesus.

There will be a special offering for Foreign Missions. Our generosity will show whether we have room in our hearts for Him.

Each Homemakers' Club will plan their own program for January and February meetings.

WHAT DOES PAYING THE SOLDIER BONUS MEAN?

Who can tell us, with reasonable clearness, in figures, just what "paying the soldier bonus" means, to each individual, whether wounded, incapacitated, or not?

Does it mean a final payment for services rendered, or will it be subject to various "pension bills" hereafter for the benefit of soldiers and their widows, or dependents?

Will those now provided for in permanent hospitalization, also receive the bonus?

Will those who never reached "overseas" service, be included alike in a bonus payment?

Will the financial status of veterans, at present, be taken into consideration?

Has a "bill" been prepared and published, that sets forth these details?

We are asking these questions because we lack the information; and as many are asking questions of this kind, we should like to give reply. . . . Clarity on the subject is necessary before one can form an opinion concerning what the "payment of the bonus" means.

CHILDREN'S AID, & CHRISTMAS.

Four more days and Christmas will be here, the day of the year when our thoughts are not of self, but of others. Only Christmas makes us feel the joy of giving to make others happy. We all wait for the holiday of gifts to come. After all, that is what it is. God gave us his greatest gift on Christmas day, surely the giving of gifts is in keeping with this festival.

We wonder, will Santy visit every home, there are so many? Some are such tiny little houses and have such tiny little chimneys. Will he slip them? We can't take any chances. Let's dig down into our already overflowing stockings and make the myriads of dreams of Santy come true. We all have toys from last year's stockings too, that just a touch of paint, or a few stitches will make them new. How happy we could make all the Jacks' in the world with a mechanical toy and all the Jill's in the world with a jumping rope or doll. How happy and contented our Christmas is going to be when we have given something to someone else in appreciation for God's greatest gift to us.

The Children's Aid Society is doing our local "wholesale" Santa Claus work. It has a big job on its hands, but it has done it other years and will not fail this year. If you are unable to deliver your own gifts send them to the Children's Aid right away. There is still time.

CHRISTMAS COMMUNITY PROGRAM.

The Taneytown Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual Christmas party and treat for the community on Monday afternoon, Dec. 23, beginning at 2 o'clock. The party will be held on Middle St., between Main St. and Shaum's Produce House if the weather is favorable. In case of bad weather, the party will be held in the Opera House.

The features of the program are a concert by the Taneytown Band, and address by Rev. I. M. Fridinger, and of course, the annual visit of Santa Claus, who will appear and supervise the distribution of the treats to the children of the community.

At the close of the program, four turkeys, provided by the Chamber of Commerce, will be given away to those persons holding the numbers on merchandise tickets, corresponding to those which will be drawn at the time of the party. In order to get a turkey the person holding the lucky number must be present at the time the drawing takes place.

These tickets have been distributed to our merchants and will be given to those who do their Christmas shopping in Taneytown, one ticket for each purchase of fifty cents or more. It is expected that a large crowd will be present in Taneytown, on Monday afternoon to enjoy the program.

G. O. P. SELECTS CLEVELAND.

The Republican National Committee has selected Cleveland, Ohio, for the National Convention of 1936, and the date will be June 9th. Other cities that had offered to put up $150,000 for the convention, were Chicago and Philadelphia.

The delegates to the convention were fixed on the basis of the 1932 election which will reduce the size of the convention from 1154 delegates to 997. Maryland will have 16 delegates instead of 19. All states that went Republican in 1928, but lost in 1932, were reduced.

The sentiment of the delegates seemed to be that neither Hoover nor Borah would do. The committee met in Washington. It voted down a motion to wait, and set a date later than the Democratic convention.

TANEYTOWN BIDS WIN LARGE CONTRACTS

Proceedings of Regular Session Board of Education.

A special meeting of the Board of Education of Carroll County was called to order in the office of the Board at 10:20 A. M., on Friday, Nov. 29, 1935, for the purpose of opening the bids on the Westminster High School building. All the members with the exception of the President, Harry DeVries, were present. Harry Zepp, the Vice-President took charge of the meeting.

The following bids were opened and examined by the Board and two representatives of the PWA in public. The totals for construction were:

Allen Feeser, $163,629.00; Thomas Hicks & Sons, $167,165.00; Price Construction Co., $181,300.00. The totals for heating and plumbing were: J. H. Allender Sons Co., $29,431.00; Westminster Hardware Co., $27,984.44; Mumford Engineering Co., $28,475.00; George Harner, $25,267.00; Wm. Kirwan, Inc., $27,890.00.

The totals for electrical work were J. H. Allender Sons Co., $15,806.00; Blumethal Kahn Co., $15,275.00; Morris & Ward, $16,187.00.

The Board of Education in company with the Board of County Commissioners discussed the bids. The Board decided to cut out Alternate No. 1 and use Alternate No. 2 and 3 in the general contract. If this meets with the approval of the County Commissioners. The Board also decided to use Alternate No. 1 in the heating and plumbing contract, also subject to the approval of the County Commissioners.

Before deciding on the alternate to be used in the electrical contract the Board felt it needed more information on them and asked Superintendent

THE LITERARY DIGEST POLL.

The recently published result, so far, of the poll being taken by the Literary Digest, that shows a strong trend against the "new deals" and a majority against them in all but a few southern states, may not mean anything definite as to the sentiment, of the total vote. However the fact the previous polls of the Literary Digest have uniformly been substantiated by results, gives the present one more than a "guess" status.

It will be recalled how Republican newspapers and leaders belittled the 1932 poll, that foreshadowed the election of Roosevelt; but now these same newspapers and leaders appear to think that the poll is likely to be right, this time, and considerable courage is drawn from the figures.

But, if we rightly recall the facts, the poll of 1932 was taken much later, after the nominations had been made, and this makes a difference to be considered. As a full six months intervenes before the work of the National Conventions will be known, it must be understood that the present poll does not represent a choice between two candidates.

Therefore a poll taken during next August and September, would be much more to the point, because it would attract individual sentiment and action, concerning how the ballots will be marked in November.

THE WAR IN ETHIOPIA

How would American women like to be Italian women just now? As well confirmed news reports say that this Wednesday was "Faith-Day" in Italy, when women will give their wedding rings to the government to aid in the fight against the sanctions of other governments in withholding the shipment of oils and war supplies to Italy. Whether this was a governmental order, or a voluntary expression of patriotism, we do not know.

Severe fighting has been in progress this week, apparently leading up to a general engagement that has been in preparation for weeks. Up to this time, the Ethiopian forces have largely been abandoning territory, and falling back toward regions more favorable to their style of fighting, and the chief damage done by the Italian army has been through their superior air force and the use of bombs.

Early in this week the Italian forces over one front were defeated and compelled to fall back, though it does not appear that losses were heavy on either side.

Later reports show that the Italians repulsed a flanking attack, with tanks and machine guns, and claim a victory after a three days battle. These reports come through Rome.

Efforts at peace between Italy and Ethiopia, conducted by France and England, have met with such strong opposition by other members of the League, that they are likely to be abandoned.

CHRISTMAS FOR WAR VETERANS IN HOSPITALS.

On Christmas morning, every war veteran in a hospital in Maryland will be personally presented with a "Christmas Remembrance Box" by the Maryland Department of the American Legion Auxiliary. There are about 1500 veterans in hospitals in Maryland.

This great work for those boys to whom the war is not yet over, is a labor of love for the women of the Legion, working through the Department Rehabilitation Committee, of which Mrs. Mae Butts, of Westminster, is the Senior Chairman, and Mrs. Louise E. Couper, of Sparrows Point, the Junior Chairman.

To make ready the boxes for the veterans Christmas party, Mrs. Butts and Mrs. Couper have announced that Saturday, December 21st, commencing at 9 A. M., at the War Memorial, in Baltimore, will be devoted to the packing of the boxes, and the full state Rehabilitation Committee and many other workers and Legionnaires in addition, will be on hand to help pack the boxes, and label them for each veteran and the hospital in which he is located.

Each box will contain articles of everyday use to the veteran, together with appropriate Christmas remembrances. Gloves, ties, socks, cigarettes, candy, etc., will be included.

Governor and Mrs. Harry W. Nice, Mayor Howard W. Jackson and Walter E. Quenstedt, member of the Maryland Veterans Commission, will personally help to pack some of the boxes and will address the ladies of the Auxiliary at 2 P. M., at the War Memorial.

GOLDEN WEDDING EVENT.

A number of relatives and friends were entertained on Tuesday of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Addison Kooztz, near Taneytown, in honor of their 50th. wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Kooztz were married December 3, 1885, in the Lutheran parsonage, Uniontown, Md., by Rev. Mr. Delp. Mrs. Kooztz before her marriage was Miss Emma Williams. The attendants at the wedding were Miss Kate Williams, sister of the bride, and Andrew Graham, who are now Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Graham, Mt. Union, Md.

Five children were born to this union: Charles, who died in infancy; Leslie, whose death occurred in September, 1927; Mrs. Myrtle Sentz, Roland Kooztz and Mrs. Alfred Zollickoffer.

Mr. and Mrs. Kooztz were the recipients of many valuable and beautiful presents. The wedding cake was baked by their daughter, Mrs. Alfred Zollickoffer.

The occasion was brought to an end by a number of relatives and friends serenading Mr. and Mrs. Kooztz.

FREDERICK MERCHANT KILLED IN A ROAD CRASH.

John M. Culler, prominent Frederick grocer, was instantly killed, shortly before 7 o'clock, Sunday evening, when the auto he was driving was sideswiped by a large truck carrying a load of horses. The accident occurred while going up a small knoll, near Mt. Pleasant, on the Liberty road.

He was accompanied by his wife, who was badly injured. They were returning home after taking their son John M. Culler, Jr., to Western Md. College, where he is a student.

The truck was driven by Howard Lee Smith, of Hagerstown, who was transferring three horses from Charles Town, W. Va., to Timonium, at Baltimore. The auto was a complete wreck, and the moving van was damaged on the left side.

Smith claims to have been far to the right side of the road, with one wheel off the shoulder. It is supposed that the auto came over the knoll, slightly on the left side, and could not be swung to the right in time to avoid the collision.

OUR SPECIAL SUPPLEMENT.

The Record circulates with this issue a special advertising supplement prepared by Mr. F. G. Housworth, an experienced advertising solicitor. To the best of our knowledge all of the firms represented are among the most reliable in Gettysburg, Hanover, Westminster, Littlestown, Frederick, Biglerville and other places.

From our previous relation with Mr. Housworth along the same line, covering a period of about ten years, we have no doubt that his service will be found true to contract in every respect. The supplement is being circulated to all subscribers within reasonable trading reach of the firms advertised.

A girl who is worth having will not value a "fellow" according to the cash value of the present he gives her—at Christmas, or any other time.

THE TOWNSEND PLAN

The Most Radical of all the New Movements.

The "Townsend plan" originating with Dr. Francis Townsend, California, that seems to have a good many supporters, is, that the government should pay every needy person over 60 years $200. a month, on condition that he spend it all within 30 days.

Notwithstanding its wildness, it appeals to many enthusiasts, and Townsend Clubs have been organized pretty freely in all states. Frank R. Kent says of it.

"Of all these proposals, the most plausible and persuasive in the last fifty years is the Townsend Plan. Its utter unworkability is completely provable by figures. Yet so appealing is the idea and so clever its presentation that some millions of respected and sincere people have embraced it with almost religious enthusiasm. Directed by efficient organizers of the Anti-Saloon League type, there is scarcely a State in which its clubs are not established, and particularly in the West it has achieved a political power to which Congressmen and even Senators with national reputation defer. Yet, at bottom, they know it as the "cruel hoax" which one Republican President aspirant, Col. Frank Knox, was courageous enough openly to assert.

It is not surprising the New Deal strategists should have been shocked by the official announcement a few days ago of the purpose of the Townsend people to put a Presidential candidate in the field, not with the idea of electing him, but to demonstrate their strength and impress the next Congress. It is easy to understand the apprehension the news has created in the Roosevelt circle. As between Mr. Roosevelt and a Conservative Republican the great bulk of the Townsend vote conceded would be for the former. They naturally lean toward the New Deal and their only complaint against Mr. Roosevelt is that his old-age pension legislation is inadequate. Mr. Roosevelt would get the Townsend vote just as he will get the radical vote, not because he suits them perfectly, but because he suits them better than a Conservative."

SOME BASEBALL RECORDS.

A compilation of baseball records for the year in the American League, shows many interesting facts. "Buddy" Myer, Washington Senators, leads the batting record with .349% which wins a prize of $500.00; Joe Vosmick, Cleveland, is second, and Jimmy Foxx, third, close after Myer. Vosmick made the most hits.

Hank Greenberg, Detroit made 46 doubles, and tied Foxx with 36 home runs. Greenberg also collected the biggest assortment of total bases, 389.

Lou Gehrig, N. Y. Yankees, wound up in 6th. place, but led in the number of runs scored, 125, followed by 123 for Gehring, Doc Cramer, Athletics, set the record for six consecutive hits.

Aim at perfection in everything; though in most things it is unattainable. However, those who aim at it, and persevere, will come much nearer to it than those whose laziness and despondency make them give it up as unattainable.

Random Thoughts

YOU STILL HAVE THE TIME TO DO IT—

But you must act quickly. What is it? Help that somebody you know who needs a bit of Christmas cheer that YOU can give. It may be a little cash, a little appropriate gift, or only a bit of service.

Maybe you prefer to do it secretly? Maybe you can get up a little donation party? Don't be selfish in limiting your Christmas spirit to your own home or little circle. Don't be too glad over it, that you are better off than others. Whatever you do in the way of giving, don't "show off" or praise yourself for giving. These are not Christmas signs at all.

Don't do so much of "throwing together" to get something for somebody not in need, just to make a "splurge." Try to give where need is real.

Think seriously of what you can do—that you may have never done before—just before Christmas, and do it. Folks do not go around with tags on them saying, "I need a gift." The most worthy usually need to be hunted up. Try it, and see what happens."

DEMOCRAT-REPUBLICAN.

Gen. John Philip Hill, Baltimore, once a Republican member of Congress from a Baltimore district, has announced that he will again be a candidate for nomination in 1936, as a Democrat-Republican, as some new or hyphenated party will be just the thing next year to focus anti "new deal" sentiment.

He may not be far wrong in his conclusion; and if a one word combining the actual meaning of the two words could be invented, no doubt it would fit the 1936 situation; for the excellent reason that the outstanding issue will be for, or against, Roosevelt and the new deals.

The actual difference in the meaning of the two words is rather slight. Republican means one favoring a republic—a form of government in which the sovereign power is vested in the people, rather than in a monarchy; a body of free people, so far as government is concerned.

Democrat means the opposite of aristocrat; hence, democracy stands for power exercised by all, either directly or by delegates. A representative form of government as opposed to centralized individual power, except that which has been conferred by the majority.

The unreal difference between the two words has been made largely by their associations, originating many years ago, and carried through many campaigns, often with a bitterness with which the words themselves have had no relation.

Without much doubt, the coming battle of ballots will not so much represent a contest between candidates, or parties, as it will be between what the Roosevelt "new deals" are estimated to stand for, and opposition to them. There is still quite a bit of water to run through the mill between now and election day, but in all probability by that time, there will be more certainty than just an estimate of what "for" and "against" new deals actually means.

If that is the case, then, candidates need only be fairly well qualified and popular, to head the contests. For, boiled down, the situation would represent a case of "for," or "against," President Roosevelt, and the question of making it easy to poll this differing sentiment, emphasizes the possible importance of the "antis" uniting on a name—assuming that the renomination of the president is settled beyond doubt.

The word "Republican" has not outgrown adverse public sentiment in the South. It is still despised because of the memory of Civil War days, and the "carpet bag" governments that followed, as well as for the estimated steal in 1876 when Hayes was adjudged to have been elected over Tilden by an electoral commission, 8 to 7.

So, while the South may not relish new deals it will not likely vote under any party banner with the word "Republican" in it. Indeed, considering all of the problems and exigencies that may arise there may be different "tickets" in the field in 1936, that will differ more in name, than in candidates.

TRUTHFUL ADVERTISING BY LAW, IF NECESSARY.

Untruthful advertising, has greatly handicapped honest and truthful advertising. There is not the slightest doubt of it. The employment of advertising writers who can think up the most catching slogans, and the most appealing argument to entrap the glib public, has been too much the rule.

Salesmanship has been estimated according to sales made, rather than according to value given, or methods used. The present bill before Congress, an amended pure food and drug act, aimed largely at the lies and deception in advertising—sales talk.

It is full time that salespeople be compelled to tell the truth, through the use of newspapers, the radio, the mails, as well as in their stores and on package labels. One who deceives, or overstates the merits of an article of merchandise, medicine or food, is more than a common liar.

Many newspapers are opposing this proposed food and drug act on the grounds that it is bureaucratic—and interference with legitimate advertising, which actually means that it would interfere with the cash receipts from advertising.

A newspaper should tell the truth in its advertising space as well as in its news and editorial space; and a little more "must" in the direction of the first named department would be a sort of bureaucracy very much like the visitation of a penalty for crime.

We agree that a publisher should not be held responsible for the truthfulness of an advertisement, unless he has reason to believe that it is untruthful or unreliable; but the advertiser should be held to the truth, strictly. When this is done, honest advertising will be given a fair deal, and only the falsifiers will lose.

REAL CHRISTMAS JOY.

The following is a portion of an editorial that appeared Dec. 22, 1894, as the first Christmas editorial to appear in The Carroll Record.

"The Christmas holidays stand for good will, fraternity and good-fellowship, and above all for thanksgiving for the gift of gifts in the Incarnation. To dwell much on the social and other more worldly joys and pleasures afforded by this season, is to catch some of the mere echoes of Christmas, rather than the true note.

To be brief, if we would enjoy aright this blessed bright season with its hallowed memories we must get at the head of the matter, and be assured that God has come to us in the coming of the Christ-child."

This is a bit serious; but we are given too much to thoughts of self, as though we are independent of eternal truths. Too much intent on what we esteem the "joys of the world" without considering the need of any thankfulness for them, nor of restraint in their enjoyment.

Surely, we should take account of things proportionately and gratefully, especially as there is not a thing on or within which we have permanency nor in which we can exercise pride of unaided production.

True, we need not be cast down by such serious reflections, day in and day out; for our legitimate joys may be many and to spare, but to forget entirely the giver of all good, is no better than to act like the various forms of animal life that possess no souls.

WHEN MEN ACHIEVE.

"We all have a tendency to collect slogans and catch words which, if we are not careful, may become more or less meaningless. 'Achievement' is a high-powered word but if it becomes ambition without attainment it will be just about so much excess weight. If by achievement we mean belonging to a club without a plan or a program there will be little gained.

If we mean by achievement the winning of blue ribbons in competition with others there will be some value in our effort and activity. If by achievement we mean the learning of correct processes and practices, the value will be still greater.

But if by achievement we mean the gaining of useful information which one can use in later life, and learning how to work with other folks in the community and the training of ourselves for lives of greater usefulness and for positions of greater responsibility our project will be of very great value."—Chris L. Christensen in the University of Wisconsin Press Bulletin.

THE PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

A great deal is still going on concerning the possibility of a new constitutional amendment to give Congress and the Executive powers which the Supreme Court, in the NRA and similar cases, have decided they do not now possess.

A short time ago Walter Lippman, the well-known publicist, challenged an editor who has often written in favor of the amendment, to put it into words—that is, to prepare the text of such an amendment in the clear and legal form in which it must be submitted to the people. It was Mr. Lippman's expressed belief that no one could do it—and his belief was partially proved when the editor replied that the job was beyond him.

The actual preparation of such an amendment would seem a task almost beyond human power. How could we further centralize and augment powers of the Federal government—and at the same time preserve the rights of states, which are at present guaranteed by the Constitution? How could we give to the government at Washington absolute and dictatorial powers over commercial and industrial life—which is what the sponsors of the amendment want—and at the same time keep operative the existing Constitutional guarantees that protect the lawful activities of individual initiative and enterprise? How could we give into the hands of politicians sweeping authority over our basic social and economic institutions—and at the same time make sure that such fundamental principles of democratic government as freedom of press, speech and action were not infringed?

The Constitution has existed for more than 150 years. It has made possible our growth from a handful of relatively unimportant colonies to the greatest industrial power in the modern world. It has preserved, in the face of a hundred onslaughts, the human rights and liberties for which men have fought since the dawn of time—liberties which have been entirely destroyed in other nations. It has given us the highest standard of living for the masses, in the world. Perhaps those who would emasculate and change this document are less wise, less foresighted, less in tune with the forces that make for freedom and progress, than were those great men who wrote it.—Industrial News Review.

FARM IMPORTS UP, AND EXPORTS DOWN.

One of the matters as to which farmers are but little informed, yet which is of vast importance as a whole, is the question of what farm products are exported and what are imported. In other words, how much we sell abroad, and how much from abroad comes into this country, and why.

It seems a strange situation that we control wheat acreage to keep up prices, and that this control lets millions of bushels of foreign wheat come in. But this is the fact.

The following report of the Department of Commerce for October, may be of interest, and raise some new questions.

"Imports of wheat, for instance, rose from 4,342,229 bushels in September, 1935, to 6,582,671 in October. In October, 1934, imports of wheat totaled only 2,334,873 bushels. Besides the drought, crop-reduction programs added their weight in sending American wheat prices soaring to a point where foreign importations were profitable.

Hams and bacon were imported to the extent of 751,889 pounds in October, as against 450,397 pounds in September. Only 107,453 pounds were brought in during October, 1934. While imports of meat products dropped from 10,399,345 pounds in September to 8,450,535 in October, the imports for October, 1934, amounted to only 5,846,110 pounds. Figures for beef and veal imports show an even greater discrepancy over 1934 statistics. Imports in this classification dropped from 568,712 pounds in September, 1935, to 357,818 in October, but total imports for October a year ago were only 2,471 pounds.

Although there were some gains in exports in October over September of this year, they had little bearing on the general downward trend of exports and upward sweep of imports for the first 10 months of 1935, as compared with the corresponding period of 1934.

The figures showed that of a number of selected items, only barley, oats and raw cotton registered export gains last month, as compared with October, 1934."

THEY PREFER JOBS.

When Harry L. Hopkins declares that "they'd rather work," referring to the recipients of relief, his assertion loses some weight because, in the role of the world's largest spender, he naturally has to justify his job. "Boon-doggling" has been a handy epithet, sometimes justified by bureaucratic absurdities, but more often carelessly thrown about by the comfortable and complacent. No one wants to minimize the danger of abuses in the handling of relief. But isolated instances of shirking have been too much used to imply that millions of Americans would rather beg than work.

Statistics in the November issue of The Survey throw a different light on the picture. Investigations disclose the heartening fact that the shirkers are so few as to be almost negligible. In Memphis, Tenn., of 11,000 workers on relief, there were just thirty-nine instances of alleged job refusal. Boiled down, all but two of the thirty-nine gave reasonable explanations. In Washington, D. C., over a nine months' period, 220 alleged cases of refusal were investigated. Result, only four were unwilling to work. Of 17,000 cases on relief in Denver, sixty-six instances of alleged work refusal were reported, which upon examination filtered down to four.

Illuminating. Yes. But, after all, only something thoughtful persons knew. Few there are who do not number in their own acquaintance men and women sturdily combating recourse to relief as long as there is any kind of work to do.—Christian Science Monitor.

"NOT a cent to spare for gifts this year, Clare dear, I'm sorry," Mrs. Jordan told her daughter shortly before Christmas. "We can afford cards, though, so you figure up how many you have to send and I'll get them when I go to the store tomorrow."

No gifts, and yet there was money for greeting cards. Well, why not spring a surprise on all of them. Yes, that would work and it would be a grand surprise and yet heaps of fun, too.

"No, I don't want any greeting cards, mother, but if you'll just get me a dozen stamped envelopes instead, I'll be all set for Christmas."

"Well, I must say you take this like a good sport and you are easy to please, but you might let me in on this secret, child!"

"Nope, it wouldn't be a secret then," she sent back, smiling with her knowledge.

Granny Hitchcock, over on the corner, was the first always on her Christmas list. "My Christmas gift to you this year is—my promise to come to read to you once every week in the new year and I'll write your letters, too, on that same day each week."

The envelope sealed completed the wrapping of that gift. The next on the list was the garage mechanic's wife.

"Dear Mrs. Simmons: My Christmas gift to you this year is my promise to stay with and keep Buddy after school, one day each month—the day the Mothers' club meets from 4:30 to 6:00. You won't have to hire any one on those occasions."

There was a promise to Mina Hillman that Clare and some of her classmates would come down and recite their pieces and sing some of their songs for the next school show, as long as Mina's broken leg kept her home and abed. So on till there were 12 easy, willing promises made.

"Other folks will be thanked just once during the year, but I'll be seeing folks smile and hear them saying 'thanks,' and know they really mean it, the whole year long. Money prescribes cheat the givers out of a lot of fun, that's sure," she reminisced.

He Was a Dutch Boy

Christmas was celebrated long before Santa Claus was ever thought of. His prototype was the Dutch boy bishop, St. Nicholas, who on December 5 used to go round punishing little children who did not say their prayers and rewarding those who did. Gradually he was changed from a boy into a jovial old man, while the sledge and reindeer are modern additions. Actually, Santa Claus was unknown in England a hundred years ago. The Dutch founders of New York introduced him to America, and England borrowed him from the States.—London Tit-Bits Magazine.

THE CARROLL RECORD

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1935.

CORRESPONDENCE

Latest Items of Local News Furnished
By Our Regular Staff of Writers

All communications for this department must be signed by the author; not for publication, but as an evidence that the items contributed are legitimate and correct. Items based on mere rumor, or such as are likely to give offense, are not wanted.

We desire correspondence to reach our office on Thursday, if at all possible. It will be necessary, therefore, for most letters to be mailed on Wednesday, or by Fast Mail, west, on W. M. R. R., Thursday morning. Letters mailed on Thursday evening may not reach us in time.

GREETINGS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We would like each and all of our correspondents to know how highly we value them as our co-workers, each week. And how careful we try to be in securing the very best help we can in this line, to represent The Record creditably.

We should like our correspondents to feel, and know, that publishing a county newspaper is a co-operative business; never very profitable, but still worth while as a business that is needed, if one has enough of the spirit of helpfulness to overcome lack of financial profit.

We should like to have our correspondents feel that in writing "items" for The Record, they are also helping their separate communities. We are having so many new changes nowadays, that seem to belittle the villages and towns and local communities.

The loss of postoffices and schools—and in many cases—stores—and mechanics—has helped to make small places still smaller—places to get away from, rather than strengthen. "Community Spirit" is needed now, more than ever, unless we are satisfied to lose our identity on the map.

We would like our correspondents to feel, too, that their "items" are not merely to help the Editor to "fill up" his paper; but to remember that The Record—for instance—has many subscribers who have gone "away from home" from all communities; west to the large cities, some to the far west, but who still have a warm spot in their hearts for the old home neighborhood.

So, in writing, try to think what John White, who lives in Philadelphia, or Harry Brown, who is in Iowa, would like to see in the items about his old home neighborhood. And, most of them take The Record just for this. What else would they want it for?

Send the little visits and young people's social events, by all means; but don't forget the doings of the older folks, and what is happening in the way of changes, improvements, and in general how folks are "getting along".

The most of our correspondents are doing this, and we are proud of our family of helpers; and during this coming year, we hope to have a few more localities represented. Again, we thank you all!

Despite the inclement weather on Sunday the services at Mt. Union were well attended for Sunday School and preaching in the morning, and again in the evening when about 20 members of the C. E. Society of the Methodist Protestant Church, of Union Bridge met with them, including their pastor, Rev. C. H. Stocksdale and wife.

Miss Marguerite Gaither conducted the service on the subject, "Keeping Christ in Christmas." Some pertinent questions were asked, and good responses made by those appointed. Solos were sung by Mrs. Robert Gray, "Dear Lord Forgive" and Howard Gray "Confidence" and a quartette by Mrs. Stocksdale, Miss Gaither, C. E. Easterday, and H. Gray with Miss Marguerite Anders at the piano. Rev. Stocksdale spoke on "Christmas giving" and C. E. Easterday on "Christmas Living." While members from both societies gave brief readings or remarks. The guest speaker was Ervin Flickinger, of Silver Run one of the county officers who spoke well on the lesson for the evening and as a Booster for the State C. E. Convention to be held in Westminster in June, urging 75% attendance from each society, and 100% registration fees. A good helpful meeting indeed.

Christmas is in the air and the real Santa Claus is our faithful Post-man with his car overflowing with packages, and scattering joyous cards of greeting like snow flakes along his way.

One such card just received from Helen Plank Hutchison, who was reared in this community, informs us they are still living in Manty Glo, Pa, a large town in the mountains—2200 ft. above sea-level, where her husband, Hugh Hutchison has been Principal of the High School six years. Their only child is now in school, and all are in excellent health.

Skunks seem to be plentiful: we heard of one man who has sold 42 hides of skunks this season, and our local trapper has captured several, and an opossum—besides rabbits.

Just now the funeral procession of Clayton Houck, who died suddenly on Saturday evening, is passing by from his home southeast of Union Bridge where services were held, to the Woodsboro cemetery for burial.

Last week we received the "Last Rose of Summer" from a neighbor's garden, a well-blown pink rose plucked outdoors on Dec. 11, and full of fragrance.

There are weddings, and rumors of weddings—but this is the season of Love and Happiness.

Here's wishing a glad Christmas to everyone. Do not eat too much, do not give too little—think what was given to us!

IN MEMORIAM.

In Loving Memory of my dear father, who passed away six years ago, December 23, 1929.

The face we love is now laid low,
His loving voice is still,
The hand so often clasped in ours,
Lies now in death's cold chill,
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.

His daughter and son-in-law,
MR. and MRS. ALBERT SIMPSON.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance,
Just a memory sad and true,
Just the love and sweet devotion
Of one who thinks of you.

His Grand-children,
HAROLD & MADELINE SIMPSON.

Mistletoe, a Tree Parasite
Despite its popularity as a Christmas green, there is little worry about conserving the country's supply of mistletoe. For this attractive plant, with its shiny, dark leaves and waxy white berries, grows as a parasite high on the branches of trees and does considerable damage to its host trees. Science has revealed that the mistletoe seeds are carried from tree to tree by birds.

SANTA CLAUS
THERE is a Santa Claus. His real name is Spirit of Charity. He is the symbol of benevolence, compassion and altruism. He is the ideal of that small legion of really human humans who pave unselfishly numerous paths to happiness with kindness, sympathy and charity.

Mr. Fleming of the International Business Machines Company explained the advantages of the two alternatives under the electrical contract for the Westminster building.

Since this freedom was allowed them by the Board of County Commissioners, the Board decided to cut out Alternate No. 1 and use Alternates No. 2 and 3 under the General contract for the Westminster building and recommended to the PWA authorities the award of this contract to Mr. Allen Feiser of Taneytown, and as their second choice, Thomas Hicks & Sons of Baltimore.

The Board accepted Alternate No. 1 of the heating and plumbing contract and recommended to the PWA authorities the award of this contract to Mr. George Harner, Taneytown, the low bidder, or Wm. Kirwan, Inc., as their second choice.

In the matter of the electrical contract the Board accepted the base bid, which includes the installation of the proper wiring for either of the proposed alternatives, and recommended to the PWA authorities the award of this Blumenthal-Kahn Electric Co., of Baltimore, the low bidder. The alternatives were not accepted.

The Board granted a leave of absence for personal illness of Mrs. Eleanor Smyth King for the remainder of the school year, 1935-36 and appointed Miss Evelyn Maus as substitute to take her place for the remainder of the year.

Supt. Hyson reported that a survey had been made of the Sandymount school lot, which includes about 6½ acres, and that a price of $2300 was settled upon with the consent of the County Commissioners. He also reported that the deeds in the New Windsor land case were almost ready to be executed.

The Board approved the organization of a basketball league in the county this winter but disapproved the playing of night basketball between teams from different schools. Games between the school and its alumni were approved.

The Board passed a resolution canceling the contract of Oscar Unglesbee, effective as of Jan. 7, 1936, which allows for the usual thirty days' notice for reasons which Supt. Hyson was directed to give Mr. Unglesbee in writing. The Board also directed Supt. Hyson to advertise for applicants to take over Mr. Unglesbee's routes after its meeting on Dec. 13.

The Board approved, closing the schools at 3:30 P. M., on Dec. 20 and opening them on Jan. 2, at 9:00 A. M., for the Christmas holidays.

A plan proposed by the Superintendent and Supervisors to divide the 7th grade graduates into two groups and have two sets of graduation exercises instead of one, one in the morning and one in the afternoon and charge no admission, was approved.

Supt. Hyson called the Board's attention to the change in the date for the Mt. Airy dedication, Dec. 12.

The Board approved keeping the nurse's car in the county garage.

The offer of C. Edgar Myers for $70 to install wiring and lighting facilities in Harney school was approved.

The Board designated the First National Bank of Westminster as one of the depositories for the construction account subject to the approval of the PWA.

The schedule of salaries for substitute teachers was approved by the Board.

The Board approved the elimination of the circular drive in front of the Mt. Airy school in favor of one in at the north side or around the building.

The Board adjourned at 2:45 P. M. (The proceedings of two special sessions will be published next week.—Ed.)

MARYLAND'S POTATO ALLOTMENT PRODUCTION.

Although Maryland's allotment for tax exempt sales of potatoes is 2,110,000 bushels, it represents a normal production of about 3,006,000 bushels, according to S. B. Shaw, potato agent for this state. He explains that the difference between the 2,110,000 bushels tax exempt allotment and the 3,006,000 bushels represents the portion of the potato crop in this state usually used for seed, consumed at home, fed to livestock, wasted, or unfit for human food. It is his opinion that the production estimated under the sales allotment plan of the A. A. A. compares very favorably with the state's average crop of 3,040,000 bushels for the five years 1929-34.

Administrative rulings, particularly with reference to grower allotments, packaging regulations, and records to be kept by growers and handlers, have been simplified and shaped to follow as nearly as possible the established customs within the industry and will be applicable with a minimum of effort.

Forms for allotment applications will soon be available in states where signing is not already in progress. Announcement as to the procedure to be followed in applying for allotments will be made by Mr. Shaw through county agent offices and growers committees as soon as these forms are available.

The national sales allotment of 226,600,000 bushels and the individual grower allotments into which this will be distributed by state and county committees will not be taxed. Tax-exempt stamps will be given to each grower for his allotment.—Md. Farm Bureau.

THE GOVERNOR'S MANSION TO COST $110,000.

The cost of remodeling the Governor's mansion, at Annapolis, is likely to amount to $110,000. When the remodeling was proposed, the Governor asked for $97,000, of which $75,000 was made available, and there was $22,000 in the cushion fund.

But, the contractors condemned the heating and lighting system as being in bad condition, and a number of walls required replastering and finishing, and numerous small items cropped up as the work progressed.

It is thought that sufficient funds will be "found" to make a good job of it without special legislation.

Doing good is one of the certainly fine actions in a man's life.

Fudge for Your Family
Double Chocolate Fudge: Melt four squares chocolate, add two cups sugar, one-half cup evaporated milk, one-half cup water and two tablespoons corn syrup, and boil to 236 degrees, stirring as little as possible but being careful mixture does not burn. Add two tablespoons butter and one-half teaspoon vanilla and cool to lukewarm. Add one-half cup cream fondant base (see following recipe, but any other good fondant will do) and beat until it can be taken up in the hands. Then knead smooth and press out onto a buttered plate. Cut in squares. Makes one and a quarter pounds. Add nuts, if desired, or it can be molded into balls or logs, rolled in coconut or a layer of it pressed into a pan and then covered with fondant or divinity.

Cream Fondant Base: Combine two cups sugar, two tablespoons light corn syrup, three-fourths cup evaporated milk, one-fourth cup water and a few grains salt in sauce pan, and heat until sugar is dissolved. Then boil gently to 238 degrees, keeping sides of pan wiped down with damp cloth and stirring only enough to prevent burning. Pour into a wet platter and let stand till lukewarm. Then work back and forth with a spatula until creamy. Add a few drops vanilla, take up in hands and knead until smooth and a light cream color. Use in making patties, balls, stuffing dates, etc., as you would any fondant.

Patties and Nuggets

Rum Patties: Cook three cups sugar, one cup evaporated milk and one-fourth cup light corn syrup to 242 degrees, stirring only enough to prevent burning. Add one tablespoon butter, and cool to lukewarm. Add three tablespoons rum and beat until creamy and light colored. Drop by spoonfuls onto buttered tins, making round patties. Press a walnut meat into each patty. Makes one and a quarter pounds.

Fruit Nuggets: Put one cup walnuts, thirty-two stoned dates and one cup canned moist coconut through food chopper, and add one-fourth cup condensed milk. Mix well and knead in hands until of uniform consistency. Form into small balls or nuggets and roll in one-half cup ground nuts. Makes one pound.

Jean Ragland made the round trip—and loaded a mule at the other end—in a little over four hours, which was wonderful time on those night trails. But she might as well have saved her animals; for an hour before she reached Trap canyon Lee Bishop was dead.

When Kentucky had packed the body to the Bake Pan camp of the Bar Hook, where he placed it with that of Jim Humphreys, he faced his horse into the steep switch-back trail up the rim, and started for the main ranch.

Kentucky had agreed with Jean Ragland that to take Lee Bishop to the Bake Pan camp was a shorter and more convenient pack; and Kentucky had seized upon the opportunity to release Jean from the mournful procession and send her home.

He now put his horse up the trail stiffly, climbing fast. He felt no weariness, but only a black temper. Now that he knew for the first time what set of ugly circumstances he was up against, he knew what he had to do; it was not easy, and he wanted to get it behind him.

The voices of the guns and the circumstances of Lee Bishop's death had brought him an odd new alertness, an almost painful consciousness of everything that moved within the limits of the rimrock horizon. It was as if he had found himself returned to the days of his forefathers, when an awareness of far-off details had a lot to do with keeping on a man's scalp.

And long before Jean Ragland came in sight, he knew that two horses were coming toward him along the trail, that they had but one rider, and that the second horse was not driven, but led.

For a moment after Jean came in sight he was absorbed by the sight of her. She rode a little dark pony, and her short white storm coat was in key with the snow. Hardly anybody ever saw Jean Ragland ride without following her with his eyes, as a man looks after a bird that is a bright living decoration against the snow. And now the girl and the pony she rode looked better because the led horse was rawboned and mud colored, with only a sharp, well-tracked leg action to suggest that it might be more horse than at first it seemed.

As they met in the trail he saw that her face was quiet with the resignation which had characterized it for the last two days; but her eyes were alive. There was a touch of feverish light in them which told him that she was still fighting, though what she was fighting, or how, he was no longer sure that he knew.

"I've brought you a fresh horse," she said immediately. "Maybe it doesn't look like much horse, but it is a whole lot of horse. Pretty near any Bar Hook horse would give down under you before this plug would."

"I suppose I kind of ought to appreciate that," Kentucky said; "but, Jean, how come you think I am going to need such a long-traveling horse?"

"Kentucky," she said, "Kentucky—" She drew her hand across her eyes, as if what she was trying to say was almost beyond her ability. "Look here. I've asked a lot of favors of you, Kentucky; a lot more than I ever had any right to ask. I have to ask you one thing more. If you'll do this one thing more for me, I'll be grateful to you all my life; and I swear I'll never ask anything of you again."

"Jean, girl," Kentucky said, "what's happened here?"

"Take this horse, and the mule, and such of the stuff as you need. I don't need to tell you where to go or how to get there, nor how to get along; but do as I say! Go a long way, and go fast, and lose yourself; and never come back until some day this ghastly thing is over with and forgotten!"

Kentucky Jones stared at her a long time, studying her face; but her eyes did not flinch from his. At last a crooked one-sided smile changed his mouth.

"I know this is a terrible sacrifice for you," Jean said. "I wouldn't ask you this, Kentucky, I swear I wouldn't, if I wasn't so positive that there's no other way. Believe this—I'll be your friend, always; it may be later that I can help you, and send your money to you, or something like that. That will work out later. All I can say now is that I'd rather be dead than sitting here telling you this; but there isn't any other way."

"Why do you ask this?" Kentucky said curiously.

"Kentucky—God forgive me!—I can't answer that! But I tell you that there isn't any time to lose! Not an hour, not even—I can't tell you any more! I can only—"

"You'll have to tell me, I think," Kentucky said.

His face was hard, and the fatigue of it she had been unable to detect before now had carved lines about his mouth, emphasizing the crooked line of his broken nose.

"You've got to do what I say," she told him passionately, "without any question of why about it."

"You hardly expected me to do that, I think," he told her.

Jean cried out sharply, "Don't! Take the horse and go. Kentucky, as you love me—but you don't love me; I know that."

"I think," he said, "just now it doesn't matter a whole lot who loves who, or who doesn't."

There was a touch of hysteria in her voice as she answered him. "No, not to you—I think you don't care anything about anybody in the world!"

"God help the man who does," he said. "As for taking that horse and making a run of it, I'm sorry not to do something that you ask. But I can't imagine anything on the face of the earth that would make me do that now."

"Then," she said quickly, "I'll tell you why you must. My father—my father—" It seemed for a moment as if she were unable to go on. But she pulled herself together and spoke evenly, her words distinct and quick. "You know by this time why Bob Elliot is swamping the Bar Hook range. You have eyes that see things—I don't think anyone can hide from you what a thing means. You can't make me think that you don't know why Elliot has no fear of Campo, nor the Bar Hook."

"No," he said slowly, "I wouldn't pretend that I can't see that."

Her words tumbled out of her incoherently. "It's because Bob Elliot was close to the Bar Hook when Mason was killed. Poor Lee Bishop knew that—though I don't think he knew that he knew it. I—"

Kentucky Jones said, "Bishop told me that he knew."

"And now," said Jean, "now I've got to tell you that I've known this all along—almost from the first. And I—"

"You're sure you want to tell me this, Jean?"

"I have to tell you—you make me tell you—"

That was a strange meeting, there on the trail in all that dazle of sun-whipped snow, while all the sharp, sad, hidden things that this girl had never meant to tell a living soul came trembling out of her in a panic disorder. Perhaps he should have wept or gathered her in his arms; but he could not.

"All right," he said. "What, exactly, is Bob Elliot holding over your father?"

"Somehow he's guessed the truth: that—whatever killed Mason killed him with my father's rifle. I knew that when I put the bullet into your hand at the inquest; I've known for days that you must know that, too, though you said nothing to me."

"Yes," he admitted, "I figured out that."

"And Bob Elliot knows it—I'm certain he knows it. Though I swear I don't know how he is so sure."

"But you yourself are sure that it is true—that the murderer used your father's rifle?"

"The—the—yes; I'm virtually certain of that. And my father knows it. He—"

"Have you talked this over with him?"

"No—how could I? It's changed him so I hardly know him. He used to have a terrible fighting temper—but where is it now? He doesn't dare come to a showdown with Elliot; he's afraid of the effect the shock would have on my mother."

"And on you."

"On my mother," she repeated. "He doesn't dare face it out because of her. But just as he won't fight Elliot because of that—something in his makeup keeps him from protecting himself, too. Nothing would bring him to hide evidence—though that evidence might turn against him, as well as against the true murderer. He must have known—"

"Then," said Kentucky, "his alibi—about being somewhere else at the time Mason was killed—is not so good as some people have been led to suppose?"

"He hasn't any testimony in support of it but mine. They'll discount that, because I'm his daughter; even—even if they don't break my testimony in some other way."

He did not stop to tell her that he knew by this that her support of Campo's alibi had been perjury. Instead he asked her, "How many people know that Campo—your father set out to kill Bob Elliot the day Mason was killed?"

She cried out with a shudder in her voice, "You even know that?"

"Bob Elliot told me that," he said shortly.

Jean Ragland looked dizzy, and sick.

"Then who can tell how many people Bob Elliot has told?"

Kentucky Jones stripped off his gloves and made himself a cigarette. "And how many people," Kentucky said slowly, "do you think can tell a living man from a ghost?"

Her voice quavered irregularly, no longer fully under her control. "What do you mean?"

"There used to be a picture hanging in the Bar Hook ranch house," Kentucky said. "A picture in a dark wood frame. That picture was stolen because somebody thought it had something to do with the Mason case. When you saw that picture was stolen, you were panic-stricken, and hid the empty frame from your father. Now I'm going to tell you what that picture was."

"You can't—you never saw—"

"It was a picture of a man on a horse. When you first looked at that picture it seemed to be an enlarged snapshot of Bob Elliot. Only—when you looked close, it was not Elliot, but John Mason. Do you deny that, Jean?"

"No," said Jean miserably. "You see? It's just as I said. Nothing escapes you, nothing's able to hide itself away from you. That—that's the rest of the case against my father. Lee Bishop didn't know who it was he saw near the Bar Hook when he thought he saw Mason, and Joe St. Marie only thought he saw Mason's ghost. But—when they rested sideways in their saddles with their faces hidden, a long way off or in the dark—anybody could—could mistake Bob Elliot for Mason."

"Or," he said, "an angry man might—just possibly—mistake Mason for Elliot."

She drew a deep breath and pressed her gloved fingers against her eyes, but did not reply.

"It's my belief," Kentucky said, "that it was the sheriff who searched the house—or had it searched; in which case, he must have that picture."

"I think you're right about the sheriff; he must have been looking for the gun to match the Mason bullet. But he didn't take the picture of Mason—because I took it myself."

"You did? But you looked so scared—"

"I didn't hide frame and all, at first, because it left a pale spot on the wall, that Dad would have noticed. I meant to slide some other picture into the frame. But I forgot it. And then, with Dad hunting all through the house, to see what had been taken, I thought he'd notice the empty frame—and I was terrified."

"And that rifle—" He paused, watching her, and licked shut his cigarette.

"The rifle!" she burst out, jerking her hand away from her eyes. "Who knows where that is now? How do we know that Bob Elliot doesn't have it himself? Sheriff Hopper has the other bullet. If ever the bullet is fitted to my father's gun—"

"No," he said, "Bob Elliot doesn't have the rifle."

Her voice rose hysterically. "How do you know he hasn't?"

"Because," he told her, "that rifle is dismounted and hidden in the mattress of your bed."

She stared at him blankly for a long moment. "Oh, dear Lord," she said at last in a broken voice. "Why did I ever try to hide anything from you?" She did not avert her face from him, sitting very straight in the saddle. "Yes, I hid it. Campo must have known at once that Mason was killed with his rifle; but do you think anything in the world could have persuaded him to do away with that rifle, to pitch it into the bottom of some canyon?"

Watching her face in half profile he saw her begin to cry, silently, and without tears. "Is that all?" he said. "That's one side of it." She steadied herself.

"And what's the other side?"

"The other side is that he—he thinks that—that you might have killed Mason, Kentucky."

He said slowly, "Jean, are you lying to me again?"

She rushed ahead, a little of her color returning. "With everything against my father, what could I do but keep silent?"

"And hide what evidence you could," said Kentucky. "And now you want me to jump the country."

"For your own sake," she said quickly. "I swear to God, Kentucky, it's for your own sake I want you to do that. All the time he's spent in Waterman, when we didn't know what he was doing, he's been trying to build a case against you. Everybody knows you were at the house at about the time Mason was killed. Campo's figured all along that only one thing was lacking to implicate you so deeply in the death of Mason that you could never—"

"And that one thing lacking was my reason for killing Mason."

"Yes, of course—and now he thinks he has it. Maybe he would have held off still, but Lee Bishop's killing has driven him wild. He's phoned Waterman. Sheriff Hopper is coming out. I don't know what he has or how he dug it up and put it together—but this I know: that he believes that he can show that you had a motive for killing John Mason stronger than anyone else could possibly have had. I—"

"Jean, do you think he believes I killed Mason?"

This time she averted her face; when she spoke her voice was hardly audible. "I only know that he would be glad to believe it—if he could."

Lesson for December 22

MALACHI FORETELLS A NEW DAY

LESSON TEXT—Malachi 3:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me, Malachi 3:1.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Best Promise Comes True.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How God Kept His Best Promise.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Bringing in a Better Day.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Preparing the Way of the Lord.

(The lesson committee has provided as an alternative a Christmas lesson, using the text Matthew 2:1-12).

The subject of today's lesson is broader than the printed text. In order effectively to teach this lesson, the entire Book of Malachi should be surveyed. The prophet pointed out the sins of the corrupt priesthood, mixed marriages, and failure to pay tithes, with the portrayal of the coming judgment and glorious new day with Christ reigning in his glorious kingdom.

I. The Base Ingratitude of Israel (1:1-5).

God approached them with the tender affirmation, "I have loved thee." It was the burden of the prophet to declare this fact unto them (v. 1). So worldly were the people that they failed to discern God's good hand upon them. Israel's attitude toward God is shown in the skeptical question, "Wherein hast thou loved us?" (v. 2). Malachi answers this question by showing God's choice of Jacob and his passing by of Esau, his destruction of Edom and his saving of Israel.

II. God's Severe Indictment (1:6-2:17; 3:7-15).

1. Against the priests (1:6-2:9).

a. Profanity (1:6). Their profanity consisted in despising the name of God. To fail to honor God is to be profane. To use his name in any unbecoming way is to be thus guilty.

b. Sacrilege (1:7,8). Their sacrilegious act was in offering polluted bread and blemished sacrifices.

c. Greed (1:10). They were not willing even to open the doors of God's house without pay. Service to God should be out of a heart of love for him.

d. Weariness (1:12,13). Because of the absence of love, the routine of priestly duties became irksome.

e. Not teaching the law to the people (2:1-9). Those set apart to teach God's law to the people have a great responsibility and God will most assuredly demand an accounting.

2. Against the people (2:10-17; 3:7-15).

a. For ungodly marriages (2:11, 12). God's purpose in the prohibition of mixed marriages was that he might raise up a holy seed (v. 15). Marriage with the heathen would frustrate this purpose. Marriage of the believer with the unbeliever today brings confusion into the fold of God and turns aside his purpose.

b. Divorce (2:13-16). Divorce in Israel was the source of great sorrow. Even the tears of the wronged women covered the altar (v. 13). The offerings of the man who had thus treated his wife would be an abomination to God.

c. Public wrongs (3:5, 6).

(1) Sorcery or magical arts. This includes the practice of occult sciences, such as spiritism, necromancy, fortune telling.

(2) Adultery. This is a sin of wider extent than the direct parties concerned. It is a canker which gnaws in the very heart of society. Unfaithfulness to the marriage relation should be regarded as a public sin. Such sinners should be ostracized from society.

(3) False swearing.

(4) Oppression of the hireling, the widow, and the fatherless.

(5) Turning aside the stranger from his rights.

d. Withholding tithes from God (3:7-12). Failure to pay tithes is robbery of God. His claim upon Israel was a tenth, plus free will offerings. Our responsibility is to give as God prospers us (I Cor. 16:1).

e. Blasphemy (3:13-15). They openly spake against God, saying that it was profane and vain to serve him.

III. The Awful Judgment Which Shall Befall the Nation (3:1-5; 4:1-6).

1. By whom executed (v. 1). It is to be done by the Lord. All judgment hath been committed unto the Son of God (John 5:22, 30; cf. Acts 17:30, 31).

2. The time of (3:2-4:1). It will be at the second coming of Christ. John the Baptist was the forerunner of his first coming. Elijah will be the forerunner of his second coming.

3. The result (3:5, 4, 10-13; 4:1, 2). For the righteous it will be a day of healing and salvation; for the wicked it will be a day of burning and destruction.

A Mother's Love

"PLANNING" FOR HEALTH.

One of the big laughs in a "hit" musical comedy of the closing Hoover era was evoked by a stage-character's "blessing" upon a pair of newly-weds, in these words: "Posterity is just around the corner."

Posterity, by definition, is always just around the corner. Happily, even the stresses and privations of depression years have not greatly reduced the birth-rate in the U. S. A. (The national birth-rate has, of course, been slowly declining since long before 1929.) To the contrary, the highest birth-rate in our population is shown to have been among those families of which the male head was out of work and "on relief." But that is another story.

Posterity—the generations of the future—is perhaps the chief concern of the Social Security Act passed by the 1935 Congress and soon to go into effect. This means that Maternal and Child Health will loom large in the programs which are being, or will be, set up in the various States. True, we hear much of the old-age pensions which are provided for; which are, indeed, already being paid in several Maryland counties including Carroll. There is less objection to this than to the unemployment insurance features. Neither will be discussed here.

The expenditures which will yield the greatest returns for the future men and women of America are those which will go for Maternal and Child Health. Much of this will be used to continue and broaden activities long under way in States, such as Maryland, which have efficiently organized Health Departments, including special bureaus for maternal and child hygiene.

In passing, it should be emphasized to the public (what officials already know) that the part of the Federal government in this program is merely advisory, consultative and, of course, contributory, in the financial sense. The States will not be told from Washington how they shall set up their enlarged departments, or just how they shall spend the money that the Federal treasury allots to match their own appropriations. Obviously, certain fundamental requirements must be met.

Whatever the political fate of the "New Deal" and its sponsors, there is ground for belief that the Maternal and Child Welfare program will be a permanent and vital part of our future economy. Mr. Hoover, as President, was deeply interested in this problem, calling the White House Conference on Child Health to consider it. The present Administration has continued and expanded his work; it seems to us unlikely that a succeeding President and Congress, whatever its party label, will place obstacles in the way of this altruistic program on behalf of the mothers and children of America.

It may surprise some to see, as the conjoint program gets under way, the emphasis which is placed upon education. To this observer, it comes not as a surprise but as a long overdue step toward the fulfillment of an urgent public need. It must be apparent to even the most casual observer that the state of the public health still leaves much to be desired. While the specific infectious diseases are being conquered by the laboratorians, and more babies being brought through their "second summers" by the pediatric specialists, there yet remains a shocking increase of middle-aged deaths from the degenerative diseases of heart, kidneys, brain and nerves, etc.

To prevent this waste of human lives at what should be their prime, the message of health, right living and disease avoidance must be brought directly to the individual in a way that will interest him, if only because of its importance to his and his family's future. It cannot be done through such departments as this, because the persons who most need health information and advice do not read health columns. (Obviously!)

The aim of the Federal Children's Bureau, in its newly enlarged field, is two-fold. It will, first of all, work to raise the quality and effectiveness of public education in health. It will plan that instruction in health methods and ideals shall burst its present narrow bounds, and be given not only to school-children, but to parents and other adults, in the most interesting and appealing ways that can be devised by experts in this field, acting in co-operation with State authorities. It is to this type of instruction that we must look (in my opinion) for any worthwhile reduction of the death-rate from adult, degenerative disease, referred to above.

Besides this, the Bureau will suggest to the States, and help to organize where desired, review classes for physicians, dentists and nurses—especially for those professional persons whose exacting work in rural communities or small towns makes it impossible for them to take post-graduate instruction or attend clinics at the large medical centers, where the newer methods of medicine are tested and demonstrated. While this is an intra-professional activity, of which the public will probably hear little, it cannot fail, if carried out as planned, to have fine and far-reaching results in raising the standard of small-town medical practice, particularly bearing upon maternal (obstetric) and child health.

It seems to be the view of the Children's Bureau heads that a larger hand in the supervision of school health teachers, and of school courses, in health and hygiene should be taken by physicians. To this end, they have embodied in the Federal service a classification of Health Educator, who shall be a "recognized physician with teaching ability," and whose duties it shall be to conduct health institutes for teachers in normal and other schools, and in general to "integrate" the school work with the activities and aims of the State Health Department.

The Nicest Santa Claus

BY BLANCHE TANNER DILLIN

AS SHE sat watching the fading winter sunset Martha Weeks could hear the kitten crying at the front door. Every day for a week it had been at one of the doors crying to be taken in. It was a cute little thing with its white body and black feet and tail. But Martha couldn't have it tracking mud into the house. Besides what would she do with it when she went away? For it would be foolish to refuse the offer to return to her old position from which she had resigned last spring.

It was at that time that she returned to her old home. Her agent had written of numerous necessary repairs, so Martha had decided to see for herself what those necessary repairs were.

He Was Looking for a Home for His Family.

When she saw the condition of the house and grounds, she concluded the only thing to do was to take over the work herself; find someone to help with both inside and outside work; even give up her position if necessary. It was time she was showing more love for the place; she had neglected it entirely too long. From now on she would try hard to prove worthy of her heritage. She would attempt to restore the order and beauty that had been there in former years.

All spring and summer she and her companion worked tirelessly and lovingly inside the house, painting and sewing, and outside planting and transplanting, while workmen did the heavier work. Many asked would she ever get out what she had put into it? Martha felt she was even now getting much out of it through seeing order and beauty taking the place of disorder and neglect. That her work had borne fruit was proved by many stopping to add a word of praise and those whose admiring glances were sufficient in themselves. If one of those would admire it enough to rent it.

There wasn't much time left—she must report for work the first of the year and Christmas just a week away. How many wonderfully happy times she had had in this house at Christmas. How gay the house always was with holiday decorations. A wreath here, a rope of pine or tinsel there, here another wreath—and now the little evergreen on each side of the front step would make beautiful outdoor Christmas trees. She opened the door to look at the trees. "Meow," the kitten greeted her. Martha hesitated, then picked it up and stepped back into the house. Once inside, the kitten bounded out of her arms, looked around the room, then selected a bright orange cushion on which to take a nap. Martha's hearty laugh brought Hilda Gray, her companion, into the room.

"Behold our new tenant," Martha indicated the peacefully slumbering kitten.

"He certainly looks as though he had decided to stay."

The sound of the knocker sent Martha hastening to open the door. The man standing on the steps asked if she was Miss Weeks. Martha gave an affirmative answer and invited him to step inside. He was the manager of the iron mills across the river and he was looking for a home for his family. He had been interested in the place ever since he first saw it, and today when he saw the kitten standing before the door he felt he just must have the house. Some one had told him that she would rent it. He hoped she would let him have the house and the kitten. The house was so like a real home and his little daughter would love the cat as she had had one just like it. He had promised her another one and if he could have the house before Christmas, he could have his family with him for the holidays, and he could give the kitten to his little girl for a Christmas gift. Satisfactory terms were soon arranged and later Martha told the kitten:

"You are quite the nicest Santa Claus I ever saw, although a queer one. And to think I almost turned you away."

Use of Christmas Candles

The custom of using Christmas candles was introduced into this country from Europe. In Scandinavia, particularly, it is usual to place candles in the windows on Christmas eve to light Kristine, who brings the gifts. Bayberry candles are particularly appropriate because they are green, aromatic and burn for a long time.

CHRISTMAS EVE.

By F. L. N.

I climbed on a chair and hung it,
That great big stocking of white;
And I asked my father to let the fire
Die down to the tiniest light—
Just enough for Krissy to see the way
When he slid down the chimney before it was day.

I've pinned on a note to tell him
Why the stocking is quite so tall,
For he mustn't think that I'm selfish
And want him to empty all
His pack at my house, so the letter will tell
What I want him to do; but 'twas hard to spell!

I want him to leave some presents
For the Larsens who live down the block;
They say he never has stopped at their house,
Though they watched until twelve o'clock!
So I thought I would tell him, it seemed so queer,
And I asked him to leave their things right here.

My mother thinks he will do it;
Indeed, she says she's quite sure,
For they need to have Christmas so very much more
Than other folks do, they're so poor;
And I'm going to help him with toys,
and you know,
I've slipped all the money I had in the toe!

I think it's the loveliest stocking!
I'd like to stay with it all night;
But mother is calling to come for my prayers
And then she will tuck me in tight;
So I'll have to leave it and run away,
But I'll be downstairs as soon as it's day!
—Apples of Gold.

GOOD NEWS ON CHRISTMAS MORNING.

Good news on Christmas morning,
Good news, O children dear!
For Christ once born in Bethlehem
Is living now, and here!

Good news on Christmas morning,
Good news, O children sweet!
The way to find the Holy child
Is lighted for your feet.

Good news on Christmas morning,
Good news, O children glad!
Rare gifts are yours to give the Lord
As ever wise men had.

Good news on Christmas morning,
Good news, O children dear!
Still doth the one good Shepherd hold
The feeblest in His care.

Thank God on Christmas morning,
Thank God, O children dear!
That Christ who came to Bethlehem,
Is living now, and here.

WHEN TEMPTED TO QUIT.

"When you're tempted to quit and as blue as can be,
And your life is as wild as a storm-ridden sea,
Then grab at the wheel with knuckles of steel,
And keep your old boat on its galloping keel.

"When you're tempted to quit and see nothing ahead,
And your plans lie about you all mangled and dead,
Then buckle your belt and go it again,
For failure's a challenge to red-blooded men.

"When you're tempted to quit and you're tired and spent,
And you're sick of your bills and are back in the rent,
Then start out again with faith in yourself,
And vow by the stars you're not on the shelf.

"When you're ready to quit and you give up the fight,
And the skies all above you are black as the night,
Then lift up your hand through the lowly night air,
There is power and triumph in confident prayer."

DR. JOSEPH T. HUNTER

Located In The Penny Bldg. At 22 Carlisle St., Hanover, Is An Optometrist Who Has Brought Eyesight Troubles To An End For Many People Of This Vicinity—His Thorough Education On The Subject Of The Eye—Modern Equipment And Practical Experience Are At Your Service If You Are In Need Of Treatment And Glasses.

Dr. Joseph T. Hunter of Hanover is prominent in the professional life of this section of the state and has many patients over the surrounding territory.

He has complete equipment for the examination of the eyes and does not trust to luck or judgment in the making of the examination. Prescriptions are not based on opinions but upon facts measured by delicate mechanical instruments. Then the glasses are ground to great accuracy by an expert. When it comes to the frames he has a complete assortment of the very latest in style and is able to give anyone just what they desire.

With the evolution of the human eye and its adjustment to our modern and fast civilization it is necessary to keep it in the very best of condition. In order to do this it is essential that frequent examinations be had and that adjustments be made in glasses occasionally. Children especially should be taken in here occasionally and the eyes examined.

He offers a very special and rapid service in furnishing duplicate lenses. Should you break your glasses take them in to him and he will do a very neat and accurate repairing job.

In making this review we are pleased to compliment Dr. Joseph T. Hunter upon the excellent standing that he has attained among the people of this section and would recommend his services.

McCRORY'S

With Store At 4-6 Carlisle St., Hanover, Offer Exceptional Values In Every Department And Offer A Complete Assortment Of Holiday Items—Have An Amazing Variety Of Inexpensive And Useful Gifts For Father, Mother, Sister, Brother, Friends And Relatives—Have A Complete Toy Department—Make McCrory's Your Headquarters For Christmas Shopping—Plenty Of Parking Space.

The success of McCrory's is due to two primary elements in the organization and conduct of the modern stores—the fact that they are conducted along the most modern lines of organization and collective buying and, too, the service in the establishment is of the highest order.

McCrory's is a store where you can do your Christmas shopping for all under one roof. Their toy department is very complete and from now until Christmas Santa Claus may be found there and will personally give a present to every kiddie taken to McCrory's. In their many other departments you can find an amazing number of gifts appropriate for all other friends and members of the family and you will find everything inexpensive.

The idea of large buying and the conduct of a number of stores from one large central buying establishment where buying is done on a large scale is a creation of the hour and the fact that it has met with such success proves that it has taken its place in latter day merchandising. This gives the advantage of a buyer who understands style, materials and prices as he makes them a continual study and comes in contact with world trade.

The appointments at this store are the very latest, all the display arrangements being of the latest type. Special attention is paid to seeing that the stock is kept in perfect order and good condition.

You will find that they give prompt attention to all customers. The manager and all of the assistants are familiar with their stock and trained to judge the demands of customers and to show the products which they may wish—and not just everything—causing the customer to be in a maze of things, not knowing which to select, thus wasting time.

In making this review of our progress we cannot fail to compliment McCrory's as an institution that is an elemental factor in social, economic and business life of the people of the community.

The buyer is an excellent judge of stock by his continual contact with everything in the line.

Stoner & Hobby offer a most modern insurance service and represent the clients as well as the companies, seeing that justice comes to everyone in the way of adjustment.

In these days of storms all over the world the value of insurance is brought home to people more than ever. It is easily seen that no man is exempt from disaster. At nightfall no one knows what the morning will bring. Patrons of this office sleep well as they are certain that no matter what comes up they will be taken care of financially and be as well to do as before. It is this comfortable feeling that has built up their business.

They always aid the claims department, which assures people carrying insurance that they will be promptly and liberally taken care of in all adjustments. You do not have to wait for someone to come from some distant point but are given immediate attention.

One of the features of the service is the courtesy and accommodation that marks all the transactions. If you have a policy in any company and do not understand it just take it here and they will explain all the features. If you do not know what insurance you ought to carry, have a consultation and they will be able to give you good advice that may save you from disaster.

In this review we are glad to compliment Stoner & Hobby upon the modern service and to say aside from the great success in a business way they are rendering the public a benefaction that is worthy of great consideration.

The Good Bros. Motor Co. are presenting the new 1936 line of Chryslers with the confidence that they are presenting real worth from the fact that they contain new engineering and designing advancements alone that are worth the price of the cars not to speak of their comfort and style which is always found in Chrysler products.

For 1936 Chrysler presents four great new Chrysler cars. There is the big new Chrysler Six which costs just a little more than the lowest-priced cars but is a bigger, finer, safer, sturdier car and with Chrysler engineering surprisingly economical to own. The DeLuxe Eight is a fast, powerful, commanding-looking car, long and low swung with a thrilling performance which bows to nothing on the road. The beautiful new Airflow Eight is a magnificent car alive with new beauty and a new grace in hood design. Here are the glorious Floating Ride and drawing room spaciousness that only Airflow design makes possible. The 1936 Airflow Imperial is the finest expression of Chrysler engineering. No car however costly, can match its luxurious floating ride and with all its power and brilliant performance it holds the astonishing economy record of 18.1 miles per gallon on a transcontinental run. All the 1936 Chryslers have Chrysler's time-tested hydraulic brakes, Floating Power and strong, rigid, safety-steel bodies.

The new Plymouth is offered in many new body types, all with individual front wheel springing and 77-horsepower engine and offers you a new kind of bump-free, leveled ride. It is the only low-priced car with individual springing plus floating power, safety-steel body and hydraulic brakes and is also characterized by airwheel tires and new perfected all-weather ventilation.

They offer every service and have mechanics who are thoroughly familiar with Chrysler engineering. They will keep your motor tuned as you like it, have a complete line of Chrysler parts, and are ready to service any model you may have.

In making this review we are pleased to compliment Good Bros. Motor Co. and know that their success is assured as they are offering a distinctive service in advance of the day.

The Impending American Boom

IS SPRINGING INTO LIFE IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTRY—THE FOUNDATION WHICH WAS LAID LAST YEAR IS NOW PASSING THROUGH THE SECOND STAGE AND WE ARE KNOCKING AT THE THRESHOLD OF RENEWED BUSINESS ACTIVITY—AMERICA WILL RETAIN THE LEAD OF NATIONS ON ACCOUNT OF ITS UTOPIAN ACTIVITIES AND SHOW THE WORLD A NEW CIVILIZATION—OUR COMMUNITY KEEPING PACE WITH THE GREAT ADVANCES OF THE DAY.

The United States in its transition from an international to a nationalistic trade policy has been busy with the fundamentals which are necessary for the coming days of the new prosperity. As a creditor nation we have been forced to do business with each other, and, until other nations emerge from this policy, our development, largely lies within the confines of our great republic.

More Equitable Distribution of the Products of Labor

The President, Congress and people of all political parties who are students of the times realized that to emerge from the world depression, that things must be better equalized. In the old haphazard days, it made little difference as we were all spenders and there was plenty to spend. With our national income confined chiefly to trading in our own country, and, for all our people to participate in the prosperity, it was necessary for various changes to be made. During this process of transition, while progress has been slow and in waves at times, yet, we have been, continually, going forward. Some of the measures of reconstruction have not attained their goal, but, as a whole, we are riding on to better days. So great and fundamental a change from not being able to dispose of our surpluses abroad, but to restrict them and dispose of them at home, takes time, but, as the proposition of supply and demand has now about been equalized, we are on the threshold of expanding demands from our own people and this is the great underlying fact that is certain to bring an ever expanding activity.

Dole Days Succeeded by Jobs for All

The vast program of public works, which is now being instituted to supercede the dole, assures all of a job at a living wage. This, in itself, means prosperity, as, when everyone is able to spend, all are doing business and the money is kept circulating. America is yet a comparatively new country and there is much needed in the way of public works. Various sections will have ideas, all of which cannot be fulfilled, even, in this vast program. We could continue this for many years and yet there would be much necessary work undone. The harnessing of nature has been the work of man from his discovery of fire at the brink of the burning volcano to the modern irrigating systems. While the Pharos built the Pyramids that stood for thousands of years, yet they are only an ornament, while the public works which will be constructed in this new program in this country will have both utility and beauty, and will surpass the Pyramids by 5000 years of progress in engineering. We are entering upon a substantial campaign

PEAS in party dresses

MODEST peas appear so constantly on our tables that one would think that they would get over their modesty, but they never seem to. Perhaps that's the reason why they appear new and green every year. But, around the holidays, they can be made to appear as "partied" as any other vegetable, providing one will take a little trouble to dress them up. Here are ways of doing it that will make them seem at home in even the most elaborate dinner.

Peas and Radishes Baked in Cream: Cook one cup sliced unpeeled radishes for four or five minutes in the boiling liquor from a No. 2 can peas; then drain. Add the peas to the radishes. Dice four slices bacon, fry crisp, drain off fat, and add bacon to vegetables. Season with salt and pepper and turn into a buttered casserole. Pour over three-fourths cup thin cream or rich milk, and bake thirty minutes in a 375-degree oven. You will get the best results by using the thin cream. Serves five or six.

Peas with Cheese

Peas au Gratin: Heat the contents of a No. 2 can peas in their own liquor until it is almost all absorbed, then spread them out in a buttered glass pie plate or shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, and pour over six tablespoons cream. Cover with one-half cup grated cheese, and dust with paprika. Place under broiler flame or in a very hot oven until cheese melts and browns and the cream bubbles. Serve from dish in which baked. Serves six.

B. C. Washers, Phil- co Raidos And Service, Delco Light Plants And Delco Gas And Ranges —Also Offers An Expert Service In Electrical Contracting — Tel. 609.

The store of E. J. J. Gobrecht of Hanover is typical of the present day civilization and also aids in making the homes of the people more com- fortable than any other field of en- deavor.

Steinmetz, the late wizard of the General Electric Co., forecasting the future said that soon people would only work four hours a day on account of the marvelous development in labor saving appliances. This applies both to the work of the house- hold where the labor problem has long been a feature of importance as well as in the field of industrial endeavor. At this store you can see Leonard Electric Refrigerators, toaster, sweepers, ironers, curlers, in fact every modern electrical ap- pliance that alleviates the work of the household. The mis- taken idea that these appliances are more expensive to operate than other help systems can easily be shown to be false by a visit to this store and a demonstration. It is impossible to enumerate everything as they are getting in new inven- tions all the time and the best way to get a concrete idea of the latest developments in the field is to occasionally drop in here and look over the stock. It is necessary for the happiness of the home and the effi- ciency of the office to keep every- thing fully modernized.

Mr. Gobrecht also features Delco Light Plants and Delco Gas and ranges. It was Napoleon who invented and fostered canning and packing in order to feed his armies and little did he realize that he was developing an industry that would be so necessary in the ever increasing population of the world. If it were not for the packing industry of today there would not be ample food supplies in and out of season. And Hagerstown, Taneytown And Frederick, Md.

While it is of the greatest importance that the most strict legal regulations as regards sanitation be observed, many communities are placed at a disadvantage in the enforcement of these requirements because they have no industry which is devoted to the conservation of the public health exclusively. In this respect we are fortunate, and in the taking up of this phase of our onward progress we wish to direct your attention especially to A. F. Rees.

Because of the prompt and satisfactory service which this well known firm offers the public in the removal of dead stock and the able and efficient manner in which this enterprise is operated, this concern has won the confidence and the liberal support of the people. While the death of live stock is an incident always to be regretted, the immediate removal of the carcass is always desirable, and should be accomplished at the earliest possible moment. No matter how far from town you may live, you need only inform this popular firm and dismiss the matter from your mind.

The people are fortunate in having a plant of the sanitary value of this kind located so near, for its operation is a distinct gain in this section both from a sanitary and commercial standpoint. This establishment is always in close touch with the state board of health and always ready to act upon any suggestion which may accrue to the benefit of the people of this community.

They buy fats and bones and remove butcher offals, etc. These together with the animals arriving daily at their plants require up-to-date and sanitary methods of handling and reducing them properly by the quickest possible method. The Rees plant is kept clean and wastes are eliminated by the most modern equipment and machinery. If you do not have complete coverage and one of these hit you it is up to you to repair your own car or buy a new one as often you are unable to collect a cent. Also no one should be without public liability insurance.

There can be no question but that this is the day and age when insurance is one of the essential necessities of every individual. Chas. M. Pensyl offers his patrons the service not only of an insurance expert, but of companies that enjoy enviable reputations throughout the country.

BREAK!

For some time silence had reigned in the busy office of the busiest executive of the busiest firm in a busy city. At last, just as the clock hands reached four in the noisy outer room and the slaves started checking off the last sixty minutes, the busy business man cleared his throat.

"Well, now," he suggested, "how about that letter to Ecks, Wie & Zie?"

The stenographer rose reluctantly. "Darling," she remonstrated, "don't let's talk shop."

Store Manager: "What do you mean by arguing with that customer. Don't you know our rule? The customer is always right."

Floorwalker: "I know it. But he insisted that he was wrong."

HERE I COME

Mother: "Johnny, if you eat more cake you'll burst."

Johnny: "Well, pass the cake, and get out the way."

J. W. Little & Son

Located At 49 E. King St., Littlestown, Are Funeral Directors Who Offer A Service Of The Highest Character And Deepest Sympathy—Their Equipment Is The Best Obtainable—Dignified And Economical Service Is Within The Reach Of All—Day And Night Service—Tel. Littlestown 72-J.

Throughout the long pages of history one characteristic has been common to all people and races of all time and that is the proper care and respect of the dead. The pyramids and tombs of the early Egyptians, the catacombs of the Romans and our present form of embalming and burial all illustrate this. In a present day funeral the two points of greatest consequence are that the embalming be expertly and skillfully done and that the funeral service combine dignity and sympathetic understanding. The services of J. W. Little & Son have been found by the clientele to consistently satisfy both these conditions.

They have made a very wide study of modern professional practices in the direction of funerals and thus are in a position to offer the clientele not only a service that they have in mind but have creative minds and are able to make suggestions that have individuality and distinction about them.

They have complete equipment for the conduct of funerals no matter how large nor how small. Their service is always ready and at the beck and call of the public when in need of this type of service.

It is our desire in this review to point out to our readers the valuable service rendered the public by some of the enterprising members of the community. It has been a pleasure for us to relate this account of their services and point them out as the men to call when our loved ones are taken from us.

THERE'S A REASON

"But why did your father spank you for joining the Book of the Month Club?" asked a visiting lady.

"Is he opposed to better literature?"

"No, that's not it," said the precocious child. "You see, pa's a mail carrier."

PLAYING IN LUCK

"Lend me a dime for my carfare home, will you, old man?"

"I'm sorry, but all I've got is half a dollar."

"Splendid! I'll take a taxi."

SOLD

First Class: Would you like to go to the school play?

Tenderfoot: I'd love to.

First Class: Well, be sure to buy your ticket from me.

OH, YEAH?

"Pa, what's the difference between a hill and a pill?"

"I don't know my son, unless it's that a hill is high and a pill is round—is that it?"

"Naw! A hill is hard to get up and a pill is hard to get down."

Rouzer & Wildasin of Hanover are now showing a fine line of cars which are worthy successors to the long history of Nash successes. They are all new in design and many innovations have been added both in style and engineering. The greatest achievement is the prices at which they are being offered.

The Nash Motor Car Co., of Kenosha, Wis., have built a world wide reputation for the past generation for not only the most reliable engineering but for body designs of surpassing beauty. Their cars are in the hands of buyers who buy again because of the great ride, performance and style one gets with a Nash. The new 1936 Nash is offered in three series, the Standard line, the DeLuxe "400" and the Ambassador line. All give you great motor car values for your money.

Along with the Nash they are now showing the new 1936 models of the "400" Lafayette which is the finest, best looking, most brilliant performing Lafayette ever built by Nash. All models are in the lowest price field and yet in the Lafayette you get big car design, big car performance and riding ease and big car values but at small car price.

In connection with their automobile sales they take in trade many cars, a large number of which are in excellent condition and are offered for sale at quite reasonable prices. Every car taken in trade is carefully valued and offered at a price which represents its value. They do not sell second-hand cars at exorbitant prices, but they conduct their second-hand sales on the same policy of full-value for every cent paid that characterizes all their dealings.

They also offer the most excellent service on all models of Nash, and Lafayette cars of this and every other year and will be pleased to talk with you on any service problem you may have on any car you may be driving.

In making this review we are pleased to compliment Rouzer & Wildasin upon the modern motor cars they are showing the public and would compliment them in advance upon the very promising outlook for their sales activities.

NOT SERIOUS

One of the partners of the firm had died, and young Ronald, the senior clerk, fancied there might be a chance for promotion, so he visited the other member of the firm.

"I'm sorry to hear of Mrs. Jones' death," he said, "and wondered if you would like me to take his place."

"I should very much," came the reply, "if you can get the undertaker to arrange it."

POOR OUTLOOK

Times were dull and debts were pressing for a pair of yeggs.

"Let's slip over to Simpson's Corners and clean out the Farmers' Bank there," suggested the first.

"Pooh" poohed the second. "Are you crazy? What do you expect to get out of a bank that ain't got but three vice presidents?"

FREDERICK ADVERTISING CO.

Located At 504 N. Bentz St., Frederick, Offers A Very Complete Service In All Kinds Of Outdoor Advertising, Poster Signs And Bulletins—They Have Had Much Experience And Understand Conditions In This Section Of The State—Publicity At A Minimum—Tel. 226.

There is no institution that is conducted in this section which is deserving of more favorable comment than this well known studio for it is bringing before the public the signs of the times in a most comprehensive manner.

Advertising in general and poster advertising in particular has exerted a tremendous beneficial and social influence. In hundreds of different ways advertising adds to the happiness of life by increasing ease and convenience. It often inculcates good habits of health and cleanliness. The long continued successful advertising of soap has no doubt made us a cleaner nation. The advertising of prunes, raisins, oranges, lemons, other fruits and various cereal breakfast foods has changed our dietary habits for the better. The tremendous sale of tooth paste and dental creams, largely brought about through advertising is steadily increasing the percentage of those who brush their teeth regularly. Such advertising has a universal effect upon the health and efficiency of the American people.

Where the landscape is unsightly and marred by rubbish heaps and old ugly buildings, advertising structures relieve the eye. Modern commercial artists have stepped to the front and have lent their aid in making the city beautiful. Merchants and business people have become patrons of these commercial artists, paying them a certain sum for creating a beautiful picture for advertising their wares. Poster advertising is an excellent medium to put your goods before the public, and brings many new customers so in a variety of things we consider it a very beneficial thing.

In making this review we are glad to compliment The Frederick Advertising Co. upon their great work and to say that the work is all accomplished with the ideas of the artists combined with modern business.

that will be planned, continuous and progressive, unfolding new ideas that are today beyond the imagination of many.

The Even Distribution Of Wealth Is Changing The Living Standard

The foundation of the future demands that all be prosperous. In the old days some were making too much and others too little. The present more equitable distribution will make life more on an even tenor. The automobiles are getting smaller for the well-to-do and better for the commoner and this same trend goes through the various phases of life. Business men who see the trend of the times will reap the golden reward of clear vision. The principle in business of "more for less" is a service to the people that brings its promoters greater prosperity. We are now on this step upward in our climb to greater days. This will balance the public and private budgets and place the country on the certain foundation of sound business and finance. There will be no poverty, the many will consume more and the rich will be saved from the glut of inordinate spending. Businesses and stores which deal in articles for small sums are, now, exceedingly prosperous. This will expand into broadened lines and soon we will be ready for the next great expansion.

"Trade Follows the Sword" will be Superseded by the Winning of the Western Idea of Commerce

It has been the history of world commerce that trade has followed the sword, but, the new day is dawning, when people are becoming more individualistic and will follow their desire to trade with whom they please. Regardless of this interim of a few dictators in the process of action and reaction, the pendulum of democracy will swing again to the idea of individualism and trade will thrive among nations. The western idea, as exemplified in the career of Captain Macy in New York of one price to all, will win, and, America being the great promoter of this system, will assume world leadership and dominate the great arteries of trade and commerce in the air, on the sea, and, in fact, all corners of the globe.

United States Able to Give More for Less on Account of Mechanical Equipment

With fair trading established we will be able to give the world more for less on account of our superior mechanical equipment. Other nations, who as a whole are just imitators of our factory systems and inventions which follow each other so rapidly in this country, will have to keep buying our ideas to stay in the procession at all. The American inventive genius has been tuned to this idea, and, we are only in the days of its inception. The really great inventions of the morrow will far eclipse the ones of today. The conquest of nature and the development of the human mind are academic, until we are able to imitate all the forces and elements of the universe.

Build Cities on Each Continent for World Depots

Following or coincident with our internal public works' program, we suggest the laying of the foundation of world trade centers which will be ready for the new day in commerce, when the barriers will be broken down by population seeking travel, knowledge and desiring the advanced products of the modern Utopia. In Little America, we suggest the City of Byrd. This would be a city suited to the development of the life in the Antarctic. Airconditioned and built to withstand the Antarctic winter, it would be the center of a vast development in the mining world where metals yet untouched by man would be a source of wealth. Mining activity can be carried on under ground with modern air-conditioning in any climate. In Liberia, we suggest the City of Africa with shining, white skyscrapers that would enhance and amaze the chiefs of Africa. This would be the center of the tropical trade. In Alaska, we suggest the City of Arctic, a stopping place on the new highway, which is being built so that one can motor from America to Europe. It would have many activities in commerce. These cities can all be made self liquidating by rentals, concessions, etc. They could be zoned and centers of travel by air, train, ship and auto. Their modernity would make them the amusement centers of the continents and leading ports of air and ocean travel. Connected by radio, they would herald the American idea of civilization and commerce to the millions in many lands.

Leidy Reduction Plant

Located Near Westminster, Offer The People Of This Section A Most Modern And Scientific Rendering Service—Prompt Removal Without Charge Of Your Dead Animals—They Are Always On The Job—Under The Personal Management Of Mr. Frank Leidy, Jr.—Tel. Westminster 259.

The Leidy Reduction Plant is one of the most advantageous industries as they serve the people in many ways.

Scientific farming has eliminated many causes of death in stock but death from natural causes is inevitable. It is always wise to have dead stock removed immediately. In calling a concern to remove dead stock, select the one which will come immediately and give the best service.

The burial of dead stock is all wrong as it spreads disease among live stock and in many states laws have been passed prohibiting this old custom. The methods used by this concern eliminate all risk. The animals are gathered up and all sanitary precautions are taken, both in the process of gathering and around the plant to see that there is no chance of any infection of other stock.

They remove dead stock free of charge, and in case you are so unfortunate as to have some stock die, all you have to do is notify them by telephone, and they will be right out for it.

They have a most modern plant equipped with the very latest machinery that has been approved by the leading authorities on reduction of animals. Here they are converted into materials that are valuable. This makes the industry one that aids in the conservation of our resources.

They have the latest of equipment in the way of auto trucks which are manned by men who understand the work and handle everything with facility and dispatch. They respond to all calls.

In this review we are glad to compliment The Leidy Reduction Plant upon its excellent service and to call the attention of its advantages to the people.

The West Manheim United Farmers Association is headquarters for farmers for dairy supplies, feeds, hay, grain and fertilizer of all kinds and the fact that their service is so complete brings much trade activity to Hanover from farmers in the surrounding territory.

Every farmer should occasionally have a talk with them and keep up on the very latest in feeds.
