And so, The Record circulates information long distances. Mrs. Frock says her brother, Charles, at Clear Spring, Pa., has been quite ill for two months, but is better.

FOR BRITISH RELIEF

Money, and Bundle Supplies are Much Needed Wants.

A large number of citizens interested in forming a permanent organization for British war relief, met at the home of the Historical Society of Carroll County on Monday night to devise ways and means of supplying the most needed wants of the British, who are, at present, the most hard pressed people. The president, Kale Mathias, called upon various members to express their views as to the advisability of forming such a society. At this point, the question arose as to whether such an organization might not conflict with the work of the Red Cross.

Thereupon the leaders of the Carroll County Red Cross were requested to give, in detail, an account of their work. David H. Taylor read from the news letter of the American Red Cross a summary of the thousands of garments, kitchen units, etc. which have been sent. Miss Evelyn Mather the production chairman, gave the number of articles sent out by the Carroll County Branch. All of these objects were brand new. There are no worn or used articles collected by the Red Cross.

Then it was suggested that the British War Relief Society make "Bundles for Britain" their project, the idea being to collect bundles of used clothing with the request that all articles are to be warm and clean and that the bundles be tied securely. Mrs. Mirise, a newcomer to Westminster, who lived in England a number of years, stressed the necessity of woolen garments for the approaching winter. There is also a crying need of shoes, overshoes, and galoshes. All bundles are to be taken to the Westminster Army on October 4 or 5, from 2 to 9 P. M.

Those persons having no means of transportation are requested to have their bundles outside their doors at 12:30 P. M. on October 4, and collectors will call for them. If the weather is inclement, persons are asked to place a sign in a conspicuous place on the front of their homes. J. David Baile was appointed a committee to communicate with key people in various districts of Carroll County, and Mr. Baile will also be responsible for the transportation of all bundles to Baltimore. These bundles will be sent through the English consular by ships direct from the docks in Baltimore to England.

All funds contributed are to be sent to the treasurer of the Carroll County Society, John H. Cunningham. This money is to be used in full, to buy articles in England. There are no expenses set up for the Society, and all services and expenses are being donated.

Mrs. Paul Wimert was made chairman for carrying out the work. The plan she submitted was as follows: Westminster is to be divided into districts and collectors are to be appointed. Kale Mathias will have general oversight in connection with Mrs. Wimert. Mrs. David Baile and Miss Larue Herr will receive all bundles at the State Armory. Those responsible in parts of Westminster will be: Liberty Heights and Washington road, Mrs. Carroll Crawford; East Main and Court Sts., Mrs. Harry M. Kimmey; W. Main St., Mrs. Fred G. Holloway; Pennsylvania Ave., Mrs. Mirise; Green St., Mrs. Francis Keefe; and Mrs. H. C. Mackenzie; West Green St., Truman B. Cash; Carroll St. and Milton Ave., Mrs. George Bare; Willis St. and Longwell Ave., Miss Evelyn Mather; George St., Mrs. Gloyd Diffendal; Liberty and Chase Sts., Mrs. Earl Shipley; Westmoreland St., Ridge Road and New Windsor road, Mrs. Paul M. Wimert and Miss Carrie Mourer.

Former Senator J. David Baile contacted persons in outlying communities to be responsible for gathering the bundles on October 4. Each person contacted was gracious in his response. These persons will collect the bundles on October 4, at 12:30 o'clock, and take them to the Armory in Westminster.

The key people contacted are: Taneytown, Mrs. Walter A. Bower; Union Bridge, W. H. B. Anders; Mt. Airy, Dr. J. Stanley Grabbill; Sykesville, Millard H. Weer; Hampstead, Mrs. Homer L. Twigg; Gamber, Mrs. Henry J. Muller; Manchester, John Baker; Uniontown, Mrs. Walter Speicher, and New Windsor, Dr. Jas. T. March.

HANG UP THE DIRECTORY!

A Brighton, Mass., jeweler one evening slipped $1,500 in bills into the telephone directory at his residence. He forgot the currency the following morning. On his return that evening he found a brand new directory in place of the old book, which had been collected and stored in a local garage with about 100,000 others. The jeweler called his sister, her husband, and a couple of nephews and hurried to the garage and started the search. It lasted all night and all day, as they took turns to dash home for food and a couple hours' sleep. They had gone through more than three quarters of the directories before the money was found.—The Transmitter.

BRUCEVILLE-KEYMAR BRIDGE AND ROAD.

Contracts Advertised for not later than Sept. 24.

The State Road Commission has advertised for bids on a Federal Aid Project No. 247D, contemplating the construction of a bridge over Big Pipe Creek, and the approaches thereto, a continuation of the Francis Scott Key Highway, north of Bruceville toward Keymar, a distance of 1.104 miles (concrete surfacing).

The minimum wages to be paid on this work by contractor shall be 35c; intermediate grade, 45c; and for skilled labor 50c. Bids will be received until 3 P. M. on Tuesday, Sept. 24.

At the same time, bids were asked for short stretches of road in the vicinity of Warfieldsburg; and one near Fenby on Westminster road. No time is stated in the advertisement when work on contracts is expected to commence.

The work on the Bruceville-Keymar project has been urged for several years by a wide spread of traffic, made all the more important because of its connection with central Pennsylvania and the South, through Frederick; and its being named the "Francis Scott Key Highway" with a historic background.

DODS-BRUCE

Marriage Contract of 1774.

For some years I have had within my possession of Genealogical Records, a photostatic copy of the original marriage contract of Robert T. Dods (1732-1806), of Prova, in Parish of Atholstoneford, county of East Lothian, Scotland, and who married, 1-20-1774, Selkirk Bruce, of Edinburgh, Scotland (1752-1825).

She was the daughter of Charles Bruce (D1729) a Glazier, of Edinburgh, who married 7-30-1727 Helen Cleland, daughter of James Cleland a merchant, who married 4-5-1696 Helen Selkirk, daughter of James Selkirk.

The above Robert Dods and wife, Selkirk Bruce Dods came to America before 1800, as they are to be found in 1800 census in Frederick Co., Md. Their daughter, Ann, married Dr. Wm. Crawford, of Gettysburg, and the late Judge McPherson was one of their descendants. Their daughters Sarah and Margaret, with the aged mother, lived in New Windsor, with Dr. Robert, a son who graduated 1897 at U. of Pa. and was the first physician there. These three are buried in Presbyterian cemetery, in New Windsor.

Helen Dods married in Scotland, John Landers, about 1795. She being the eldest daughter 1777-1860. The Landers family came 1812 to America, and Pirates took all their belongings at sea. They had Robert Landers, 1796-1883, father of Mrs. Margaret J. Reindollar, of Baltimore, (one of his youngest children) and who is buried at Middleburg, Md., and Isabella Landers, 1797-1823 who married James Curry, Jr., and she is buried at Greenwood cemetery near New Windsor, Md.

Then Harriet Landers 1800-1871 who married David Morrison, and lived S. of Emmitsburg—parents of Mrs. Ellen Fleming, of Taneytown and their youngest daughter being my grandmother, Virginia Morrison Krise, and others.

Robert Dods and Selkirk Bruce Dods, and their first born child, John 1774-1816—are buried in the Normand Bruce cemetery, at Bruceville.

She was the youngest sister of Normand Bruce. Their stones are standing, but there's no stone for Normand Bruce (D1811) or his wife Sallie Dagworthy Key Bruce—the sister of John Ross Key, and aunt of Frances Scott Key.

TRIBUTE TO A FRIEND.

(For the Record.)
Sad indeed is the news of the passing of the close companion of my youth, T. Kurtz Warner, of New Windsor.

Together we learned the three R's in the little red schoolhouse at the foot of the hill, together we trod the highways back and forth, full of youthful pranks and animal spirits with not a care in the wide world and no thoughts of life's responsibilities to follow. In the summer we roamed the sun drenched meadows barefoot and unbrowned, shouting the glee as we splashed through the gleaming ripples of the streams chasing the elusive finny tribe, followed by our ever faithful dogs. Finally, tired out, we refreshed ourselves, dogs and boys alike, by a dip in the deep pools of the rushing stream and departed happily homeward.

Later, as we grew older, we frequented the old store at Linwood. Returning late at night through the dark and fearsome bottoms side by side, elbows touching for courage and companionship, we communed much together, wondering about life's mysteries as boys will, and planned many things for the future with never a thought for the day of reckoning ahead. Alas! few of these dreams ever came true, as all too soon ambition and the changes of Father Time forced us apart.

Always our friendship endured and our thoughts remained constant to old homes and friends and on the rare occasions when we met met hand clasped hand in perfect confidence and trust. When sorrow came as it must to all of us it was he, strong and reliant, who stood by my side with kindly hand on my shoulder, strengthening me with words of sympathy and understanding. And now this strong one is cut down in his prime and there is so little we can do except to mourn his passing and keep his memory in our hearts. God rest him, and may he have the peace that passeth all understanding.

KEEPING AN EGG "FRESH."

How long will an egg stay "strictly fresh" on a hot day? It is strictly fresh when the hen lays it. But how fresh is it after it lies in the nest all day in hot weather?

Tests were recently made by the Department of Agriculture in which newly-laid eggs were stored at a temperature of 100 degrees for 18 hours, to approximate a long hot day in the laying house. At the end of 18 hours the eggs were stored at 35 degrees, just a little above freezing, for the balance of a week.

The eggs were then tested to see how much thick white in them had changed to thin white, a high percentage of thick white being a standard measure of freshness in eggs.

The eggs exposed to 100 degrees temperature for 18 hours and then stored at 35 degrees were compared with eggs stored immediately at 35 degrees, and found to have 15 per cent less thick white. The high temperature for a few hours robbed the eggs of their claim to being "strictly fresh."

This experiment shows the importance of gathering eggs several times a day in hot weather. In addition, as soon as the eggs are gathered they should be spread out in a cooling room; and the eggs should be marketed at least twice a week.

A NEW SEWING FACTORY FOR UNION BRIDGE.

The following news local was clipped from last week's issue of The Pilot, Union Bridge:

"After hanging fire for several weeks, an agreement was reached on the sewing factory building and work will begin at once. The structure will be about 42x46 and modern. Two 50x160 lots have been procured from the editor and an adjoining lot contracted for from Mrs. E. Lee Myers. This gives a frontage of 150 feet on Lightner Street with a depth of 160 feet on Thomas Street. The contract has been awarded to Monroe Pfoutz of this place and the building will be laid off today. The grounds were surveyed on Thursday. The cost for the structure will be raised by subscription, the greater part of which has already been subscribed.

THE EUROPEAN WAR.

German raids fail to check the manufacture of British war planes. German raids continue over all parts of London, while British forces invade the port of Havre.

British losses are reported to have slackened as compared with those a week ago.

War activities in other portions of Europe seem not to be of major importance.

A VISIT TO INDIANA.

Hubert T. Spangler, has recently returned from a two week's visit to his nephew, Dr. Jesse Spangler, in Kokomo, Indiana, and also attended the Indiana State Fair, which was quite up-to-date in every respect.

His nephew Dr. Jesse, son of John Spangler, near Mayberry is enjoying an extensive practice, and maintains private rooms for surgical operations.

PRESIDENT SIGNS DRAFT BILL

The First Peace Time Draft in U. S. History.

President Roosevelt, on Monday, signed the first peace-time draft bill in the history of this country, and immediately issued a proclamation requiring the registration by October 15 of 16,500,000 men of 21 years through to 35 years of age.

In a statement signed at the same time the President said "America has adopted selective service in time of peace, and, in doing so, has broadened and enriched our basic concept of citizenship.

"In thus providing for national defense, we have not carved a new and uncharted trail in the history of our democratic institutions. On the contrary, we have merely reasserted an old and accepted principle of democratic government.

"The militia system, the self-armed citizenry with the obligation of military service incumbent upon every free man, has its root in the old common law," the President continued.

THE FREDERICK FAIR.

The Frederick Fair will be held this year on October 8, 9, 10 and 11. One of the oldest agricultural fairs in the United States, it is, nevertheless, thoroughly modern and up to the minute.

Here are shown practically every variety of farm and garden produce grown in Frederick county, the largest in Maryland. Live stock, poultry, flowers and fine handiwork of women are shown in the thoroughly modern buildings.

A feature this year will be the State-wide House Building Contest which will take place on the track in front of the grandstand on Tuesday, October 8, at 7:00 P. M. There will be a general admission but no grandstand charge.

Night shows will be held Wednesday and Thursday and will include displays of special fireworks in addition to the grandstand attractions.

Friday afternoon has been designated as "Thrill Day" when "Suicide" Bob Hayes and his original Hell Drivers will put on two hours of vehicular pyrotechnics. The usual program of trotting races will be on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons.

HINTS FOR THE KITCHEN.

Strong soap and boiling water may take the decorations off your china. Use mild soap and medium hot water.

In making tea, never use water that has boiled before or been standing in the kettle; use fresh water and bring it to the boiling point.

Dry salt sprinkled immediately on new fruit stains will prevent their being permanent.

Dingy oilcloth can be brightened by washing with a borax solution, then wiping with a flannel cloth dipped in milk and wrung dry.

Prunes should be stewed in the water in which they are soaked.

Cloudy jelly is caused by improper straining after the juice is extracted.

If the hands are stained from peeling vegetables, dip them in left over tea and then wash them in warm water and soap.

To restore luster to cut glass, rub with a piece of lemon.

Use a hot knife blade for cutting fresh bread and a wet knife for cutting soft cake.

INCREASE IN MARRIAGES.

A large number of marriage license issued during the past two months, means chiefly that young men are taking a wife partly with the hope of escaping the draft.

Sixty licenses have been issued in Carroll County during the past three weeks. In Frederick county, twenty two licenses were issued, last Saturday and Monday. The September total so far, is ahead of the whole month of August.

Random Thoughts

PLANNING AHEAD.

Those who plan ahead for known coming needs, are very wise. Waiting until one must have something "right away" places him or herself at a disadvantage, perhaps in cost or in the position of being compelled to take what they do not want.

It may be, too, that if work is required to meet the need, mechanics may be busy working for those who did not forget. Or, if it be a purchase of merchandise, one can not expect to be waited on until others ahead have been supplied.

So, by all means, plan for your wants ahead of their need. It is both good sense and good business to do so. When your neglect is pure carelessness or forgetfulness, you can not expect to be helped out, as so doing but encourages you and somebody else to get the waiting habit.

The Record office has many customers for work "right away," that can not always be supplied. It is our business to be accommodating, but this does not include helping the forgetters to continue with their bad habits. It is only common fairness to supply those who do not forget.

THE AGRICULTURIST OPPOSES LABOR UNIONISM.

The American Agriculturist, the oldest of the numerous farm papers, pretty generally opposes Labor Unionism, and Strikes. It strongly favors all who work for a living, but opposes the communist methods employed by striking labor, as they are similar to revolutionary tactics, threats, violence and boycotts, and are not the "American way."

The following is a portion of an article appearing in a recent issue of the Agriculturist, written by Robert Eastman, son of Editor Eastman—

"Statistics and authorities are cited to show that agriculture cannot stand the increased costs which labor union organizers seek to put upon farmers. Bankruptcy or the acceptance of a price-fixing economy, says Mr. Eastman, must result from an extension of the unionizing drive into rural sections. He adds: 'Farmers know that a price-fixing economy is one of the corner-stones of a National Socialist, Nazi or Fascist state. They know that a suffocating bureaucracy would be needed to keep it going.'

"It was once thought that the industrial trusts were too powerful even to try to curb their abuses, but our people in their wrath did curb them. The abuses of the labor trust must likewise be curbed before the western light of liberty is snuffed out."

There exists today in the United States a colossal labor monopoly, an oligarchy of professional labor unionists whose every action is bent toward maintaining themselves in power regardless of the effects of their action on workers or the nation. Not all, but a too large number of labor leaders are among this group.

"This monopoly," continues Mr. Eastman, "has been created by un-American methods of violence, coercion, threats, ballot box stuffing, and includes among its number criminals, racketeers, and Communists. Despite this, the government has supported and encouraged this labor monopoly, so much so that it is in the saddle of power today."

"Although only 8,000,000 workers out of the national total of 54,500,000 are under direct control of the labor monopoly, still the monopolists speak as the 'Voice of Labor.' Since the government accepts the word of these professionals as the will of all workers, behold they have created a monopoly as deadly to national welfare as any Oil Trust or Beef Combine ever was."

Mr. Eastman describes organized labor as "one of the largest unregulated businesses in the country" and says it works not only against the welfare of farmers but "a great deal more to the disadvantage of the laboring man." Under practices which have been allowed to grow up unchecked by government, Mr. Eastman says the worker "strikes not when he has an honest grievance but when the monopoly tells him to. If he refuses, he may be fined, dropped from the union and so lose his job, or in extreme cases he may even suffer personal injury."

OUR REAL GOVERNMENT.

The Record has said frequently that we place too much stress on the election of a candidate for President, for what he has the power to do for us.

We forget that this country is governed by laws passed by Congress and our State Legislatures, with the Supreme Court of the United States having final decisions of disputed questions.

Except to a limited extent, a President has little "say" on legislative matters, except advisory, and through his messages that may or may not be agreed to. His influence is largely advisory only.

It is his chief business to see that laws passed by Congress are executed—he is the Executive power.

By and with the consent of Congress his powers are great. He appoints members of the Supreme Court; names his advisory cabinet, each member having specific duties to perform.

So, when a candidate for President says "If elected I will"—always means that he will keep well within his executive powers.

Why not then take a great deal more account of electing capable men to Congress—the real law-making body in our American system of government?

THE SWISS SYSTEM.

As I understand it, the Swiss system of military service demands of each Swiss youth physically fit, that he serve a month each year from 18 to 30 in military drill and activity, but that all other times he is permitted to go about his own business in his own way.

Such a service is far better than a selective draft of men, where about one in ten is chosen, the nine going free without service. There is room in such system for favoritism, and politically dominated, as we have become those without pull would do the fighting and those with pull, the bossing.

I don't know what system is best. I am not employed or paid to know; but there are those who are so employed and paid and they should know. If they have a system developed that takes in all citizens and apportions the time as needed well and good; if not, we need those in places of planning who can develop such system.

With proper teaching of the youth in high school and college, little more training aside from a two-weeks vacation training period each year would be needed to keep our country always prepared.

We do not want an army of 12 million, or 24 million, or even one million soldiers under arms for a period of one to five years. If Congress passes any such law we will the minute it is enforced enter the realm of Totalitarian states, and will never again get from under such domination except by bloody revolution.

Sure, we want to be prepared, and the Swiss system seems the best, because Switzerland has not been attacked yet by idiotic Germany, or "me too" Italy, though these two countries practically surround Switzerland.

It is a safe bet, right now, ten to one, that Switzerland leaders are not as jittery as U. S. leaders, and they are under war's shadow, while we are 3000 miles removed from it. A little common Swiss and the Swiss system will prepare us for any emergency.

W. J. H.

GET READY TO PAY THE BILLS.

As the armament program swings into gear, the biggest question facing this country is, "Where are we going to get the money?"

The expenditures which have lately been authorized or considered dwarf anything in our history. Close to $15,000,000,000 has been voted for national defense purposes, and the best estimates indicate that the total figure will touch $25,000,000,000. And even that marks only the beginning. The vastly expanded army, navy and air forces must be maintained, and the cost of that alone will probably come to about $7,000,000,000 a year.

So far, Congress has almost completely side-stepped the financing problem. It has extended the $45,000,000,000 debt limit by authorizing the issuance of $4,000,000,000 of national defense bonds—a step which provides no permanent solution whatsoever. It has passed new tax measures which will produce about $1,000,000,000 a year in new revenue. And it is now considering an excess profits tax which will raise in the neighborhood of $200,000,000 a year if passed. All of that is simply a drop in the bucket. And, as hard statistics prove it is impossible at this time to raise enough money by taxes to pay for current expenditures. For, if you took every dollar of net income made in this country, on the basis of 1938 figures, the total would be only $16,000,000,000.

What, then, is the answer? It is two-fold. First, it is no longer excusable for this country to spend $8,000,000,000 a year for "regular" government activities, along with the other billions required for defense. Many political projects and budgets and bureaus must be cut or eliminated. Our program of waste must be changed to a program of thrift, individually and nationally.

Second, the national income must be increased in order that we may retire our debt, just as we paid off most of the World War debt between 1920 and 1930. That means that we have to get rid of artificial, punitive restrictions on business—so that business may go to work and put the unemployed to work. A national income of $90,000,000,000, or $10,000,000,000 must be attained if we are to provide for today's gigantic expenditures without destroying our standard of living.

We can't dodge the issue and pass the buck any longer. We can't make this country secure until we have a fixed, long-view fiscal policy and a definite plan for paying bills.—Industrial News Review.

THE FARM JOURNAL FOR WILLKIE.

In seven weeks comes a presidential election. On November 5 decisions of staggering importance are to be made.

The easy way for Farm Journal and Farmer's Wife would be to follow the course of timid neutrality. We would then offend no subscribers and no advertisers by declaring our position. We might be many dollars ahead.

The obligations of citizenship are, in our opinion, too sacred for any responsible publication to be neutral. We cannot stand by with our hands in our pockets and watch, without an outcry, the form of American government gradually being changed from a representative republic to government by executive decree.

We cannot watch the productive powers of the nation shrivel while billions of debt that only productivity can ever pay are being heaped up. Nor can we be conscience-clear if we make no protest at the brazen effrontery of the New Deal in undertaking to perpetuate personal power by seeking a third term.

If he is elected, we may not agree fully with Mr. Wendell Willkie's administration. We are not now in full accord with his ideas of foreign policy as we understand them. We shall be no less outspoken in the event of his election.

Mr. Willkie has, however, declared himself against encroachment upon representative government. He opposes wasteful spending. In strong language, he has revealed his understanding of the truth that the productive powers of the nation must be unleashed.

"Only the strong can be free and only the productive can be strong," he said in the greatest sentence he has yet spoken.

Therefore in this issue we openly support Mr. Willkie's election.

Mr. Willkie is a long-time Democrat running on the Republican ticket because he opposes the New Deal. Farm Journal, non-partisan but not neutral, neither Democrat nor Republican, opposes the New Deal.

We shall continue, regardless of the election outcome, to support a program of constructive freedom for Americans.—The Farm Journal.

A SIGNIFICANT TREND.

One of the most significant trends of the present day is the manner in which the women of this country, as reflected through the activities of the various women's organizations are concentrating their efforts and abilities on the solution of serious social and community problems. Programs of women's groups are attaining sharper objectivity, reflecting a desire to get right down to business, to an even greater extent than has been apparent in the past.

The Board of Directors and 500 state committee chairman of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. have subscribed to the conviction "that women must participate more vitally, more intelligently in the everyday mechanisms of government if the people's rights to 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness' are to prevail—if they are to weather the storms coming towards us from within as well as without our country."

What many persons, and perhaps men particularly do not appreciate is that the host of time and labor saving devices and better household products, the yield from American industry working under the private enterprise system, permits the American woman to accomplish her household duties better and much faster than was possible even a few years ago. The result is that the women of this country have an increasing amount of time available to accomplish those civic and social tasks that naturally fall within the scope of their special abilities. 'Women's place is in the home" might today well be altered to read: "Women's place is to be of the utmost helpfulness in her sphere of life."—I. P. Service.

AMERICAN BOY IS COMPANION TO THOUSANDS.

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys' clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

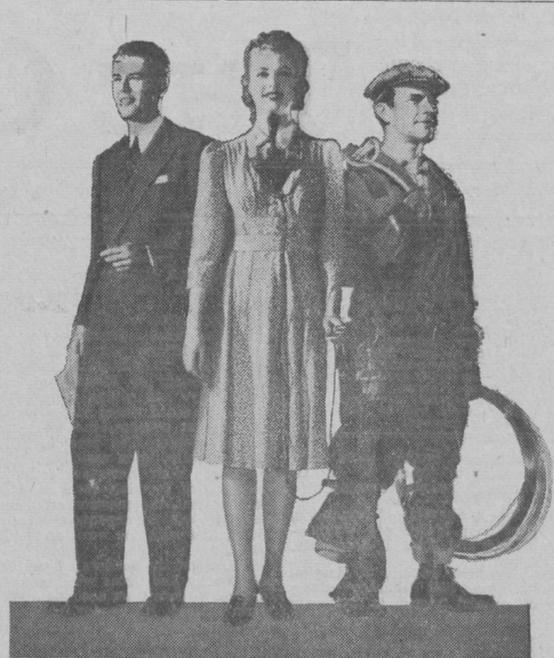

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 25c a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Foreign and Canadian rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

YORK INTER-STATE FAIR—ADVANCE PUBLICITY.

Pennsylvania's super fair will open Tuesday, October 1 at York. It will continue through Saturday, October 5, day and night. This is the 88th year of York Inter-State Fair, the biggest exposition of its sort in the eastern United States. Exhibits and attractions already in prospect stamp it as the greatest of all York fairs.

York Inter-State Fair is unique in that it has, as a nonprofit community enterprise with only a nominal State appropriation, survived the buffeting of the years which has sent so many fairs onto the rocks. Instead, York Fair has yearly grown in size and quality. Today its more than a million dollar, 120 acre enclosure is a show place for visitors from many states. Hard roads and permanent buildings including a great modern steel and concrete grandstand make this in many respects an all weather fair.

Among the exhibits this year may be anticipated as usual the greatest apple show in the country. Nowhere else are apples of as fine color and flavor produced and this has been a banner apple year in the York area. The cattle display will be exceptional, as the pick of royal herds assembling for the National Dairy Show in Harrisburg will pay York a preliminary visit. The exhibit of agricultural implements will be the largest to be seen at any Eastern Fair.

Grandstand attractions this year include a nightly all-girl Broadway Revue and the pick of American and European circus acts. Strate's Carnival Company will present 25 carloads of shows and rides on the mammoth midway. There will be a daily balloon ascension with parachutists shot from a cannon and a nightly display of fireworks with a patriotic theme.

The program of horse racing on the fastest half mile track in the country includes events with some of the fastest steppers in harness competing for attractive purses and for special cups. There will also be daily running races.

Saturday, October 5, will be "Thrill Day" on which occasion the regular daily attractions will be supplemented by a double-barreled special program including the Pennsylvania State Police Rodeo and the Jimmy Lynch Death Dodgers in automobile dare devilries.

MAKE CORN WORTH MORE Money

One of the best ways to get a good price for corn is to market it on the hoof through hogs. Properly balanced corn does a better pork-making job than grain fed alone or in unbalanced rations. Many leading hog men are getting more money for their corn on the hoof by balancing it with Purina Hog Chow. Come in—let us show you some feedlot records that show what this combination will do.

CORRESPONDENCE

Latest Items of Local News Furnished By Our Regular Staff of Writers

We desire correspondence to reach our office on Thursday, if at all possible. It will be necessary therefore, for most letters to be mailed on Wednesday, or by Fast Mail, west on W. M. R. R., Thursday morning. Letters mailed on Thursday evening may not reach us in time. All communications for this department must be signed by the author; not for publication, but as an evidence that the items contributed are legitimate and correct. Items based on mere rumor, or such as are likely to give offense, are not wanted.

FEESBURG.

In the absence of your regular correspondent, who is taking a vacation in the Blue Ridge mountains we will try to write a little for the paper so as not to lose our place.

We have heard of women doing all kinds of work that should be done by men, but never did hear of them working on the road until last week. A woman told us the rain had washed such a large hole in the road, and none of the neighbors would fix it so she got her wheelbarrow hauled stoves there, and says it's a big improvement, so if the County Commissioners need any help, perhaps this lady would help if they pay her wages enough.

Edward Dayhoff, L. K. Birely and Frank Snyder spent three days last week working on the cemetery fence at Mt. Union which hasn't had anything done for 30 years.

Speaking of beautiful flowers, just stop off at Mr. Maurice Grinders dahlia garden and see his huge rich bloom. There is a white one that took my eye.

Mrs. Katie Williams Graham and sister, Mrs. Mary Starner were callers at the Birely home last Friday. Mrs. Graham is as spry as a young girl now Roy Crouse is having a sorry time with a boil on his arm.

Ross Wilhite and son are cutting alfalfa for J. H. Stuffle; not very good hay drying weather.

Joseph Cushman has been working his ground, preparatory for seeding, but since the rain of Sunday night, and not much sunshine on Monday to dry the ground, work has been suspended.

The congregation at Mt. Union has voted to buy a new organ—without any money; but they are hoping some one will want to give some money as a memorial.

On Saturday afternoon Frank Snyder, L. K. Birely and sister Sue, and Mrs. Addie Crumbacker were out for a drive; first stop was at the Crouse sale at Tyrone, from there to Mayberry to Mr. Edgar Pleagle's, where they purchased a little brown puppy, then on to Taneytown, Keymar across the district and back home—tired and hungry.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Wolfe and Geo. Skinner, of Union Bridge motored to Baltimore, on Monday evening for a K. of P. meeting and banquet at the Belvedere Hotel; leaving Mrs. Wolfe with her cousin, Mrs. Harry Utermahlen on North Ave.

Hope the regular correspondent's vacation is over before another weeks items have to be written, as its hard on the nerves to make news fit to print. Heard a certain party say they would write about Noah building the Ark; and we replied, "Everybody knows about that" and they answered "I don't believe they do."

We are spending a few days on the mountain top—"where every prospect pleases," and cooler breezes blow. Thought perhaps it might interest you to know some of the doings at Blue Ridge Summit. Of course some of the houses closed after Labor Day, Monterey Inn closed on the 15th, and persons with children have all gone home to get them in school—but there are a number of lodgers at some of the boarding houses, and others linger—or come and go during the Autumn, so it is still a lively town with beautiful cottages surrounded with flowers. The cooler weather has turned the hydrangeas a lovely pink of varying shades, and the shrubbery, and large pines are splendid, and ash trees cover the surrounding mountains—no chestnuts any more.

The finely completed Sunshine Trail from Rozersville to Fountain Date—about 8 miles, was dedicated last Saturday afternoon, Sept. 7th, with appropriate ceremonies. There was the Waynesboro High School Band for good music, and a parade. Several ministers assisted with the program. Charles S. Gardner, Jr., as chairman, made the introductions, and a pleasing opening speech. C. M. Buckins, Asst. Secretary of Pennsylvania highways made the chief address, and Major R. F. Barriek, and Civic Officers of Waynesboro, Emmitsburg and the State were present and voiced their commendation. The Star-Spangled Banner pealed forth, then the Benediction—and another bit of history was added to the annals of this region.

The High School Band, of Waynesboro, under the direction of Jack Schuler is an outstanding one, composed of boys and girls in fine uniforms, and recently was awarded the grand championship of the Berkeley Springs, W. Va., Tomato Festival. Grand work for the young people.

Camp Ritchie is nearby, awaiting the conscripted men—more than a thousand of them, to go into winter quarters and training. The two past years the Md. National Guards have been sent to N. Y. State for drill with other clubs and organizations have practiced on these well ordered grounds.

Yesterday three of the fellows said—"I go a-fishing"—so they drove down to the Monocacy, and in a few hours returned with smiling faces, and a fine string of bass—two of them weighing 3½ lbs. They were beauties—and I think we are going to have one on our dinner menu.

Last evening, we drove into Waynesboro to see the Screen Version of "All this and Heaven too"—which is a bit of French history.

Having read the story last year we found the play very interesting, only the part about Cyrus Field and laying of the Atlantic Cable was left out.

One afternoon we drove across the mountain and called at the Raven Rock Goat Dairy—owned by Mr. and Mrs. David G. Fleagle. A score of purebred Nubians, not at all like the Nanny-Goat variety we know. The owner has built a model barn of mountain logs with an office at one side nicely equipped with a beautiful desk of native wood—a stone fireplace and mantel. All these long-eared goats have names, and are well mannered. A small cooling cellar for the milk is conveniently arranged. A goat in good condition produces one gallon of milk per day, and sells at 40 to 50 cents per quart—and have ready sale.

We visited Mt. Dunlap Fire Tower known locally as "Jesse's Tower" because Jesse Thompson is State Guard there, and dwells in a cozy log cabin with home conveniences (limited). In dry times he remains there for days and nights, and from his Tower—84 ft. high—can see across this mountain world.

On Friday some of the State Police visited the Monterey Elementary School and taught the boys how to Patrol roads and crossings; and one small man was on duty as we passed by, in uniform and much dignity directing the school children at the intersection of the roads—and all obeyed his orders.

One evening we took a midnight drive to view the moonlight on the mountains from some high points to look across the valleys and the mountain folds one against the other flooded with heavenly light. Around Camp Ritchie to see the reflected paths of light across Lake Royer, and up, up to old Buena Vista Hotel—now owned and used by the Catholic Order of Jesuits as a Retreat for a few months in Summer; past the home of several Episcopal Bishops, and one home with its outdoor altar. We feasted our souls with beauty, then returned to rest.

Early Sunday morning we attended service in St. Mark's Lutheran Church, at Sabillasville, which has a pretty auditorium, and friendly members, and Rev. C. H. Corbett, Thurmont, preached a fine sermon on "Who is God?" and he surely introduced Him to his audience as the great "I Am."

After a delightful sight-seeing visit—which we've tried to share with you, but much of which remains untold, we are saying farewell, dear friends—we are going home.

UNIONTOWN.

Mrs. Robert Roland and Miss Lois Roland, Hagerstown, spent from Friday until Sunday with the former's sister, Mrs. C. Edgar Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hoy returned to their home in Philadelphia, on Sunday after a two weeks stay with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lockard.

Rev. J. L. Updegraph, Findlay, Ohio, called on friends here Saturday.

The flower show which was held on Friday by the Garden Club was quite a success. The entries were very artistically arranged.

Prof. and Mrs. Ray Whittlesey and daughter, Margaret, Princeton, N. J., were guests of Mrs. Whittlesey's mother, Mrs. E. K. Fox during the week-end.

Misses Dorothy and Betty Hoch, were hostesses to the Mary and Martha Club at their home on Friday last.

Mrs. Thyra Welty spent Tuesday evening with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Heltibrude.

Thomas Cover and bride, Easton, visited friends in town, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stuller, of Taneytown with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Haines, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frank, Halethorpe, Md.

The Fire Company is having a busy time this week, had three calls in two days. The first one was at 11 P. M. Monday night at the edge of town along the Gettysburg road when a truck driven by Mr. Weatherholtz, of Baltimore, caught fire caused by short circuit. The firemen used water from a booster tank. The engine and front of the truck were badly damaged. Police Roberts estimated the damage at $300. The truck was towed to Mr. Sneringer stone quarry.

The second fire was at 4 A. M. on Tuesday morning when a fire was discovered by Mr. Goeken and Dr. Stonesifer who saw the fire at the same time, called the Fire Company.

The fire was in a four car garage back of Dr. H. F. Goeken house and Miller Restaurant. All frame buildings around it. The garage is on the property of Dr. Goeken. The two cars belonged to Theodore Miller and son. Dr. Goeken had a call that night and on his return left his car out on the street. Police Roberts estimated the damage at $1600. The efficient work of the firemen and the fact that the Goeken Garage were constructed of metal sheeting kept the fire from being much more disastrous. A frame garage on Dr. Stonesifer's property only a short distance from the burned garage was blistered by the heat but the firemen kept the flames from spreading to it and other building. The third call was made Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock what was supposed to be a house fire along the Westminster and Littlestown road but proved to be only smoke from a fire that was made in a stove. I forgot the name of the person to whom the house belonged.

Gain on 'White Plague'

Great gains have been made in the fight against the "white plague" during the past 30 years. The fact that eight out of ten victims reach an advanced stage before they are diagnosed indicates the need for finding unsuspected victims earlier.

The 1940 education campaign stresses the fact that "healthy looks" can hide tuberculosis and urges each to be examined for this preventable and curable disease. Since only the doctor can identify tuberculosis by means of a complete examination, including the tuberculin test and X-ray.

'Mirror-Minded'

America is a mirror-minded country, with annual mirror production running to some 80,000,000 square feet, according to William Peacock of Philadelphia whose new process for silvering mirrors is expected to produce truer, finer reflections.

Chemicals in Textiles

Textile fibers, including cotton, linen, rayons, silk and wool, are built up mainly from carbon, hydrogen and oxygen, although silk has in addition some nitrogen, and wool has nitrogen and sulphur.

Perishable Baking Powder

Baking powder is a somewhat perishable product. If overexposed to the air moisture is absorbed. It should be kept in a tightly closed can and in a cool, dry place.

DON'T SHOOT!

This isn't a blitzkrieg. It's only York! Florence Allen doing her stuff at York Inter-State Fair. To land added thrill and novelty to the always popular daily balloon ascension, Miss Allen is shot with her parachute from a cannon which hangs beneath the high gas bag.

Political Oratory

Doesn't Win Votes

Political oratory, as far as winning votes is concerned, is the bunk, according to Dr. Allen L. Edwards of Northwestern university, who recently described an experiment he had made.

To make his test, Dr. Edwards used three groups of listeners. One was composed of strong believers in the Roosevelt administration's New Deal. The second group was composed of strong anti-New Dealers. The third group was made up of neutrals.

Then Dr. Edwards recited as strange a political speech as has been made for many months. Half of the speech was a stirring tribute to the New Deal. The other half was a strong condemnation, denouncing everything the New Deal has attempted.

Dr. Edwards then sat down, getting ringing applause from both sides, and the listeners were given an examination to test what they remembered of the speech.

The memory results were just what you might expect.

Those who favor the New Deal remembered the sections that praised it.

Those who hate the New Deal remembered the sections that criticized it.

It indicates, Dr. Edwards concluded, that you remember what agrees with you, and don't remember much else. He put it in somewhat more scientific terms.

"Material that harmonizes with respect to an existing frame of reference," he said, "is learned significantly better than material that conflicts with the same frame of reference."

Bird

Residents of Visalia, Calif., were interested in what seemed to be the barking of a small dog night after night, although the dog itself was never seen. Investigation developed that in reality it was a mocking bird that apparently had its inspiration for a new vocal routine from a small dog in the neighborhood.

Antarctic Lemonade

Scientists have discovered a mixture of chalk and lemonade in mineral form at a depth of 13,000 feet in the Weddell sea of Antarctica. The scientists cannot explain how the citric acid of lemonade, heretofore found only in plants, came to be at the bottom of the Antarctic.

Automobile Beetle

An "automobile" beetle with two shining white lamps in its head and a red reflector in the rear which glows at night, is the oddest of some 2,000 African and North and South American beetles collected by Dr. Neal A. Weber, University of North Dakota biology instructor.

Unhappy Landing

Eldon Carter, Boise, Idaho, private pilot without a federal license, picked the wrong place to land. He crashed directly in front of the civil aeronautics authority office at the Boise airport when his motor failed. He escaped with slight injuries but his plane was confiscated.

County Leaders Urging Adoption Of People's Court Amendment

Leaders of the Maryland Bar, outstanding jurists and civic minded men and women in every section of the State have accepted invitations to serve on the general committee of the Non-Partisan Citizens group seeking adoption of the People's Court Amendment to the Constitution of Maryland. W. Clinton McSherry, State Chairman of the Committee, announced that the following civic leaders have become members of the Committee and are actively engaged in enlisting the support of voters in all parties for the Amendment:

William H. Adkins, Easton, Maryland, former Judge of the Court of Appeals; Bruce T. Bair, Past Commander of the American Legion Department of Maryland of Westminster; James E. Boylan, Jr., Westminster Attorney.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, President of the University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland; J. DeWeese Carter, Denton attorney; Emanuel Gorfine, Chairman Judicial Proceedings Committee of the Maryland State Senate.

Mrs. J. Stanley Grabill, Mt. Airy, Maryland; Milton Tolle, Chairman Judiciary Committee of the House of Delegates; Francis Petrott, Secretary of State for Maryland, of Frederick.

J. Bryan Hobbs of Laurel, Maryland; John H. Hesse, Grand Master of Masons, Baltimore; Mrs. Harry L. Harcum, Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, Salisbury, Maryland.

Gasoline Tips

You already know that unnecessary idling while waiting for a freight train to pass, for example, wastes gasoline. Other wasters: Underinflated tires, dirty air cleaners, worn spark plugs (worn plugs can waste one gallon of gas in every ten), and a clogged-up cooling system. Obviously, it pays you to have a factory-trained serviceman keep your car properly tuned up.

Another little-known tip on gasoline economy: Gasoline expands when it gets warm. If you fill the tank to the top, expansion will cause some of the gasoline to spill over. In hot weather, you lose gasoline through evaporation.

Speed, incidentally, exacts equally heavy toll from tires—they wear twice as fast at 70 miles an hour as they do at 45.

Not Always Colic

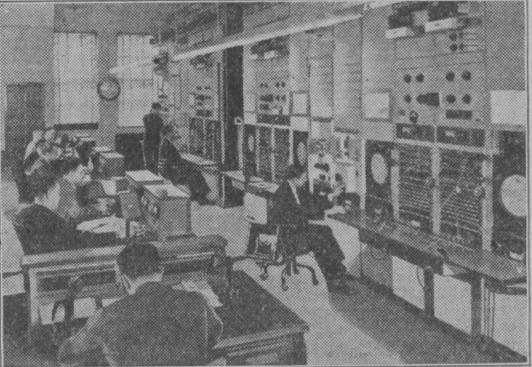

If your infant wakes up and issues a series of piercing shrieks and you think it's colic, think again. Mayhap the poor kid's just scared.

This is suggested in an article quoted in the American Medical Association News by Dr. Frank C. Neff, of Kansas City, Mo.

Especially in the period of from one to three months of age do infants give manifestations resembling colic symptoms, such as hysterical crying. Complete quiet is more important than feeding changes in this case, Dr. Neff writes.

Twenty-One Different Colors Used For Designating Radio Networks

"Red" And "Blue" Chains Originated When Telephone Engineers Drew Layout With Red and Blue Pencils

In this room, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's general radio control office, skilled technicians monitor radio programs and safeguard day and night their high quality transmission.

Telephone engineers responsible for arranging and maintaining radio networks in this country have to know their colors. It's necessary because the networks are designated by various shades. In addition to the "blue" and "red" networks, there are purple and gold, amber, slate, bronze, peach, maroon, green, brown, ivory, black, ebony, white, gray, russet, salmon, yellow, rose and violet ones—in all 21 networks, each designated by its particular hue.

The Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company which arranges and maintains the networks has six shades yet unassigned. They are azure, crimson, orange, scarlet, tan and silver. If the number of radio networks continue to grow, color experts can probably add other shades.

The idea of colors for designating networks originated with the Long Lines engineers. In drawing the layout for the first two NBC networks years ago, they used a blue pencil for

War Fears Add Deaths In U. S., Says Professor

Hate and fear rising out of the general war in Europe will undoubtedly be responsible for many deaths in this country, Prof. W. Don Craske of the Chicago College of Osteopathy recently told the Illinois Osteopathic association.

"High blood pressure resulting from the tension, excitement and frustration of modern living accounts in part for the increase in the heart-disease death rate," said Professor Craske. "This strain, which has been aggravated by the worries of the depression and recession years, will now be further intensified by the intrusion of war fears and war news."

"Millions of Americans fear we will be drawn into the European conflict and, additionally, the outbreak of the war has increased hatreds many Americans have against one side or the other."

"Hate and fear have extreme physiological effects. Tension caused by these powerful emotions causes the heart beat to increase, the minute muscles in blood vessel walls to contract and the internal organs to labor under pressure."

Warmongers or others who act to increase fear and hatred, he concluded, are enemies of public health. He pointed out that the death rate for heart disease in the United States is twice that of its nearest rival, cancer, and three and a half times that of tuberculosis, accounting in all for about one of every six to seven deaths.

Budgeting Budgeteers

Most cities use a budget system, according to the National Consumers Tax commission, but the problem in many cities is getting the city fathers to live within their budget. Most common error is the assumption that the full levy will be collectible when experience shows that from 10 to 50 per cent will be delinquent.

Vocational Coiffures

Paris hairdressers are designing coiffures which tell each woman's occupation or position in life. A woman doing a man's work will have a coiffure based on the short-cropped curls of a Greek athlete, much like the Amelia Earhart bob. Permanently waved, it may be arranged in close curls over the head with a few swift movements of the comb. For leisured women who would avoid long hours dressing their hair, special chignons of false hair clip onto the back of the head, hiding short ends of the wearer's locks. Plaited chignons give the impression of long natural hair. A special coiffure for Red Cross nurses sets rather high on the sides of the face, with a "bang" frilling forward on the forehead beneath the cap.

Most Spanish Spot

The most Spanish spot under the American flag is the romantic city of Ponce, on the southern coast of the United States territory of Puerto Rico. Although Ponce was the first city to be entered by the Americans who took Puerto Rico in 1898, it has been the last to give up the Latin heritage it derived from its Conquistadores. English is spoken widely in Puerto Rico, but Spanish is the prevailing language in this stronghold of old Castille.

This Is News

It's no longer news when man bites dog.

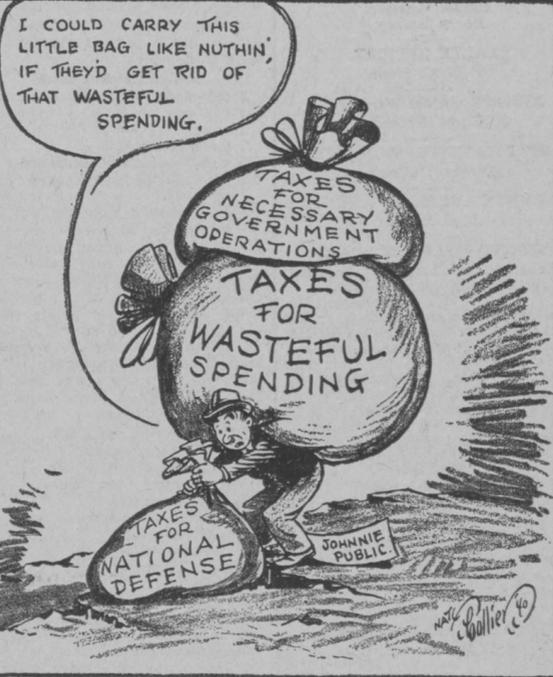

But when dog collides with car—Walter P. Smith, 55-year-old mechanic of Seattle, had a new one for the books.

He told police he was driving his car when he spotted a 90-pound collie dog traveling at a fast clip—and on Smith's side of the street.

Smith stopped his vehicle and waited for the dog to pass. Instead, the animal crashed head on into the car, smashing the grill and radiator.

The collie was injured and Smith estimated damage to his automobile at $200.

Desserts Not Sole Uses for Gelatin

There Are Salads and Other Tempting Dishes

By EDITH M. BARBER

WHEN I was a little girl, there was always much discussion in regard to the choice of desserts. We were allowed to choose, in turn, our favorites. The one upon which we all agreed and which usually appeared on the table at least once a week was known in our household parlance as "shaky."

For your information, it was merely lemon jelly which had been molded, then cut into squares and piled in a glass bowl. It was topped with whipped cream and occasionally garnished with cherries, if there was company. Coffee jelly was another favorite, and for party use or for a pampered convalescent, sherry might be used as a flavoring. We were much impressed when a kindly neighbor arrived one day bearing gifts, especially designed to tempt the appetite of a recovering invalid. An orange had been halved, the pulp removed and replaced by wine jelly. After this was set, the two halves were put together again and tied with blue baby ribbon.

Today we have discovered so many new uses for gelatin, both in its flavored or unflavored form, that we do not limit its use to desserts. The clear jellied salads or those of the mousse type when used as a foundation for meat and vegetable combinations often serve as main luncheon dishes. A ring of tomato jelly or of that gelatin with a meat-like flavor is attractive to both eye and palate when filled with a vegetable, meat or fish salad. A jellied mixture of crabmeat or chicken with mayonnaise and whipped cream may be molded, chilled, turned out on a platter and garnished with lettuce, sliced tomatoes and green pepper. A molded cheese jelly may furnish the central note for a buffet platter. Stuffed, hard-cooked eggs, cold sliced ham or sardines, tomatoes stuffed with a meat or fish salad may be arranged on lettuce leaves around the mold.

Among the newer uses in which gelatin has a part at dessert time is in chiffon pies.

Jellied Chicken Loaf.
2 tablespoons granulated gelatin
1 cup cold water
1 onion
1 stalk celery
2 cups stock, well seasoned
2 cups chopped cold cooked chicken
1/2 cup canned pimentos, cut into thin strips
1 tablespoon minced parsley
Soak gelatin in cold water about five minutes. Add sliced onion and chopped celery to the stock and bring to the boiling point; strain and pour over the soaked gelatin. Cool, and when mixture begins to stiffen, add chicken, pimentos and parsley. Turn into a wet mold and chill. Unmold on platter and garnish with watercress.

Molded Sea Food.
3/4 teaspoon gelatin
2 tablespoons cold water
1/2 cup celery, cut fine
1/4 cup pimento
1/2 tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon mustard
Cayenne
2 egg yolks
1 1/2 tablespoons melted butter
3/4 cup milk
1/4 cup vinegar
2 cups shredded lobster or crabmeat
Cucumbers
Sour cream dressing
Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes. Add celery and pimento. Mix dry ingredients; add egg yolks, butter, milk and vinegar. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add gelatin mixture and stir until dissolved. Pour over fish and mix well. Fill mold; chill in refrigerator several hours, and serve with cucumbers dressed with sour cream dressing.

Bavarian Cream.
1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
3/4 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
Salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 pint heavy cream, whipped
Soak gelatin in milk five minutes and dissolve over hot water. Stir in sugar and salt. Cool, and when mixture begins to thicken, add vanilla and fold in whipped cream. Pour into mold and chill until set. Serve with crushed fruit or with chocolate or caramel sauce. Variations: Use strong coffee instead of the milk. Fold in one cup crumbled macaroons with the cream. For chocolate Bavarian cream, melt two squares of chocolate in the milk.

Chocolate Chiffon Pie.
1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/2 cup sugar
2 ounces melted chocolate
1 cup hot milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup cream, whipped
Soak the gelatin in water five minutes. Make a syrup of the sugar, chocolate, hot milk and salt. Add the softened gelatin to this mixture, stirring thoroughly. Cool; add the vanilla, and as the mixture begins to thicken, fold in the whipped cream. Fill a baked pie shell with this mixture and chill before serving garnish with whipped cream.

'Tis the Cat Has But Nine Lives

By A. B. LINCOLN
(McClure Syndicate—WNU Service.)

SERGEANT John Barker was unhappy. In the first place it was a grievous task for this horny handed wearer of the blue uniform of the city's finest to take his pen in hand for any purpose. The particular reason for his present effort, his resignation from the police force of which he had been an honored member for the past 22 years, further bowed his head in despair.

The writing was done at last. Almost as slowly as he had penned the few words, John read them through, right to the end—"tender my resignation for the good of my health." He waved the paper in the air slowly.

Under heavy brows his eyes glowed at a book on the table. Laying down the paper for a moment to allow the ink to dry, he pulled the volume toward him.

It was innocent enough in external appearance, a loose leaf scrapbook into which had been pasted innumerable clippings gleaned from the daily press.

They dealt with but one subject: John Baxter was the hero in each adventure recorded, and the earliest date extended back twenty years.

He had but done his duty as any one else on the force would have done, but the fickle public must have its hero, and for a brief moment he had basked uncomfortably in the spotlight.

He had never thought of his own safety in those moments of flirting with death.

In the thick of the excitement one had no time to think of other things than the task of the moment. It was only afterwards, when the encomiums of the press were read to him by his loving wife, she who had assembled this book, that he realized how people felt about it.

That was all over now, this resignation at his elbow would end it.

The doctor had told him that he would be out of his care in a week and back on active duty within the month; but the doctor had not known about the resignation.

One man had been the cause of this mental torment, a smart aleck reporter who had not even written a true report of that gunfight which had been the latest episode, and from which he was but now recovering.

Toward the end of a highly colorful account had been that foolish paragraph, over which he had laughed—but without mirth.

"This is the eighth time that the records of John Barker have been glorified with a deed of daring," he read, "an almost reckless disregard of his own safety in the effort to save life or in performance of duty. Take warning, John, a cat has but nine lives."

That final sentence had seared his brain as though it were a death sentence.

John realized that it would be the first thing to flash into his mind when duty next called him. For the first time in his life he was afraid.

It was of the little wife he was thinking. She had too large a family to be compelled to go out and earn a living. He must take no more undue chances, the cards were stacked against him.

He folded his resignation but found that he had no envelope. His foot was throbbing and he did not feel like seeking one across the room. He opened his scrap book gloomily.

Almost at once he was lost in the account of his first adventure with death, the stopping of a runaway horse, which had endangered a crowd of children.

That had been 20 years ago; he noted in an accompanying picture how differently the uniforms had looked in those days. He turned the page.

Next was recounted his experience with the wild animal which had broken loose from the shipping crate. He had stood between the ravenous beast and a terror-stricken crowd of cowed city dwellers, bringing it down with the last shot in his gun. A severe clawing had permanently stiffened his left hand.

Not a year later he had helped in the rescue of a number of reckless bathers caught in a treacherous undertow.

It was on his third trip in that he had sunk under, and had it not been for the keen sighted life guard he would have passed in his checks that afternoon.

Two years later had come the battle with the loft robbers, staged in the dim regions of the building where he had discovered them at work. After a brief exchange of shots his gun held them cowed until help came, although he had been so faint from the loss of blood that he had been compelled to lean against a bale to hold himself upright. That had brought his name onto the front page.

A dozen pages were turned before he came to the next episode, the lurid description of a fire rescue. After bringing an aged woman to safety he had turned back into the raging furnace to seek her little "Fanny," whom he had found to be but a cat. The fire had chased him out of an upper window, and he had been compelled to leap into a net, which all but sent him to the hospital with a broken nose, but the cat had been returned to her owner. They had given him a big hand on that.

The succeeding page contained but a single paragraph, clipped it from a country newspaper. It told of the rescue of a boy from a burning motor boat. John Barker, a policeman on leave at a nearby camp, had swum out from shore, dived twice to bring the body up, and narrowly escaping death as the boat exploded nearby, brought the youth to safety. Barker grinned; that had not appeared in the city papers.

It had been three years later before he had again attracted the attention of the public.

He had entered a burning building to bring out firemen overcome with a treacherous chemical smoke. That experience had almost cost him his life; his lungs had never been the same since.

The next account was of a routine matter of duty.

In quelling a riot crowd a flying brick had knocked him out. The doctor had feared brain concussion, but later admitted laughingly, that his patient's head must be too hard.

The remaining pages recounted his last adventure. They had been read to him so many times that he did not need to go over them again. He had hung onto the trail of the fleeing bandits, and had shot it out with them, although they had all but got him. The doctor had called it a miracle that he had pulled through.

Now it was all over.

No more would he experience that carefree joy as he swung into action at some stranger's call for help. He was condemned to some routine, drab existence. His life of adventure was closed with the eight adventures recorded.

From memory he counted them over, one, two-seven, eight—what, one yet uncounted! Breathlessly he went over the pages, enumerated the events one by one. There were nine in the record. That blundering reporter had missed one.

For a long minute John Barker sat silent.

The weight of a dreaded monotonous future rolled from him. He picked up the resignation and hobbled to the window. A moment later bits of paper were flying out onto the breeze. The sun shone, a hurdy-gurdy ground out a tune, life was worth living once again.

John laughed contentedly—it was only a cat that had but nine lives.

Atoms Visible Now by Accidental Discovery

An accidental discovery has made it possible, for the first time in history, for atoms to become visible and to be traced chemically, according to scientists at the California Institute of Technology.

The discoverer is Dr. Alexander Goetz, associate professor at the institute. He was engaged in the effort to develop the use of silver as a disinfectant and purifier when he found out that one atom of silver would kill a living cell, that for the first time an atom was made visible chemically.

Dr. Goetz explains the experiment as being fantastically sensitive. The living cell, he said, becomes an amplifier of the silver ions, or the negative constituents of an atom, amplifying them 1,000,000,000,000 times, so that death becomes "visible" when stained.

The research workers had been working on the theory that a single disturbance could stop the experiment gave them the necessary proof. Under the process which Dr. Goetz developed, the silver atoms are dropped into a tube of living cells kept in a yeast solution.

The silver is dropped in slowly with the result that one silver atom, on striking a cell, kills it.

Dr. Goetz then stains the cells in the tube with dichloro-tetraido fluorescein, giving them a rose color.

They then are placed under a powerful microscope where the dead ones are clearly visible.

The task of making the death of a cell visible consumes about 20 minutes, making it the fastest known means of accomplishing this phenomenon, endowing the process with importance to research in other biological and physiological questions.

Heretofore, scientists have not been able to trace atoms chemically.

Dr. Goetz proposes as his next step in the research problem to find out what there is in the cell that makes it so sensitive to the action of silver as to kill it.

So far, no other metal has been found that will accomplish this result, he said.

Dr. Goetz believes his discovery will make silver the great purifying element for drinking water, replacing the present use of chlorine.

Worker Finds $1,000

George W. Leggett, Oakland Negro, discovered $1,000 in gold in a house being demolished in preparation for a $2,000,000 low rental project of the Oakland Housing authority.

And now old-timers are wondering if the gold coins found were not cached by John Frederick, former Tulare railway conductor, who built the house in 1885. Leggett has retained an attorney to protect his interest.

Levant Excellent Pianist

Oscar Levant, known to millions of radio fans as one of the famous four on the "Information, Please" program, is an excellent pianist, and a celebrated wit. He wrote a book, "A Smattering of Ignorance," that has a background of music against which he has etched in a fascinating manner some of the life and many of the impressions and opinions of himself.

Tantalized Tantalus

Tantalus was the name of a mythological king. Because of crimes he committed he was punished by being plunged up to his chin in a river of Hades. Whenever he tried to drink the water receded, and whenever he tried to eat the fruit nearby it was just out of reach. From Tantalus we get the word "tantalize."

Submarine Detectors

Submarine detectors in 1917 picked up sound vibrations that traveled from the submarine's electric motors to the listening devices of the U-boat hunters. In the present war a new type of detector is being used which bounces sound to the submarine hull and back again. The time interval shows the precise depth of the lethal "fish." It is reported that this echo machine makes it possible to locate submarines fairly consistently at distances up to six miles.

In the Kaiser's war the "subs" sometimes were able to avoid detection by running so slowly that their motors were virtually vibrationless. But few submarine commanders, it is said, could resist the temptation to flee at high speed—especially when a depth bomb or two was dropped in their general vicinity.

ADVERTISING

The recognized value of advertising is a skittish thing. Naturally, it must depend on FOLKS WANTING the THING YOU HAVE TO SELL, and they want it at a RIGHT price. You can form the habit of advertising—or you can experiment. DO NOT take more space than is necessary for easy reading. If you make your ad STAND OUT, there is very little difference in what page you use.

THE VOICE OF WISDOM

LESSON TEXT—Proverbs 4:10-27.
GOLDEN TEXT—Keep your heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life.—Proverbs 4:23.

What to do and how to do it—these are the vital things which the book of Proverbs imparts. It deals with every condition of life, good and bad, in the revealing light of God's holiness and love. Good advice may have its value, but we also need to know how to put it into practice. Therein is wisdom distinguished from knowledge. A man may have an unbelievably great store of knowledge, and yet be a foolish man because he does not have the wisdom to use it.

Knowing that these notes are used by a great many boys and girls, as well as by their teachers, the writer would suggest an outline for next Sunday which can be remembered by everyone who has ever crossed a railroad track. What does the warning sign say? "Stop, Look, and Listen." Then what? If all is clear, go ahead. That is just what our lesson tells us. Stop, for someone has a message for you; look, at the two ways of life; listen, to the wise words of counsel. Then go straight ahead in the right way.

I. Stop (vv. 10-13).
Life moves on at a rapid pace. One of the devices of the devil to gain and keep his hold on us is to keep things moving so fast that we never stop to think, or to heed the counsel of others. The wise man has something of importance to say to the young man whom he calls his "son." Let us stop and give heed to his warning, for we are assured that it will mean for us a long and happy life (vv. 10, 12).

Nobody but a fool would hasten past such a "stop" signal, nor trust aside this opportunity for life-giving instruction (v. 13). Here is something far more important than mathematics, literature, or economics. Here is life.

II. Look (vv. 14-19).
There are really only two ways of life—"the path of the just . . . that shineth more and more unto the perfect day" (v. 18), and "the way of the wicked," which is "only darkness and stumbling" (v. 19). There is no middle way. We cannot walk in both paths; it is "either-or." Young people should get hold of that fact, for in these days there is a constant attempt to blur the colors, making things neither black nor white, but gray; neither good nor bad, but just advisable or inadvisable.

The moral laws of God are not changed; right is still and will eternally be right, just as wrong is and always will be wrong. Wickedness is so wrong that it causes men to spend sleepless nights trying to entrap others (v. 16). But no one need get that way; just do not "enter" that path, "avoid it," and if by chance you have wandered into it, "turn from it" (v. 15). God will help you.

III. Listen (vv. 20-25).
Listening is important business, calling for real attention and application. Especially is that true as one listens to the truth of God. It should be received by an attentive ear (v. 20), kept before one's eyes, and pondered in the heart (v. 21). Such listening is sure to bring results, and we find them enumerated in verses 22 to 25.

Life is assured to those who heed the words of God's messenger; not just a bare existence, but a healthy life (v. 22). God's spiritual children are not (or at least should not be) invalids or weaklings.

Keeping the heart right (v. 23) keeps the whole life right, and the way to be sure that the heart is right is to fill it with God's Word (v. 21). Then see how the whole life responds; the lips speak no forward (v. 24), the eyes look straight ahead along the shining path of the just.

Now that we have stopped to give attention to the Lord's word through His messenger, and looked carefully at the two ways of life, and listened to words of wisdom and guidance, what comes next? Do we stand idly by and commend ourselves for our wisdom, or do we sit down and take our ease? No. Being assured that the way is clear, we

IV. Go Ahead (vv. 26, 27).
God wants His people to move on to greater glory and usefulness. At the red sea, God told Moses, "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward."
"Move forward! valiant men and strong, Ye who have prayed and labored long, For lo! the sun rolls up the skies."
Thoughtful, vigilant, lest he be led into a bypath on the right or left, turning his feet away from every evil path, the child of God goes forward, and as he goes the road becomes brighter and brighter with the glory of the presence of the Lord, shining more and more until that perfect day when he shall find himself at the end of his journey and at home forevermore in the Father's house.

CHAPTER 381
AN ACT to amend Section 1, Article II

of the State Constitution, to provide that a Governor shall not be eligible to succeed himself for the term directly following that for which he was elected.

Section 1. 1. The Governor shall not be eligible to succeed himself for the term directly following that for which he was elected.

FARM TOPICS

CATTLE GRADED ON TWO TESTS

Beef Type Is Rated by Body Measurements.

Two simple body measurements of beef cattle—plus a record of feed consumed by the animal in reaching a certain weight—give the stockman a good picture of the qualities transmitted by the most important member of the herd—the sire. The two measurements are height at withers, and weight or heart girth.

The measurements give the index to carcass quality and the feed record tells how efficiently the animal puts on weight. Together they make a record-of-performance test by which beef herd sires may be "proved." The herd owner knows whether or not the offspring of a "proved" sire are likely to make efficient gains and yield carcasses of good quality.

The greatest drawback for such tests has been the lack of a simple method for determining carcass grades of test animals before slaughter. Only trained cattle graders could do the job.

The two-measurements method, which makes it possible for the farmer to do his own grading on the farm, was devised by Bradford Knapp Jr., animal husbandman of the United States department of agriculture, after studying weights, measurements, and grades of 167 slaughter steers, including Herefords, Shorthorns, Aberdeen-Angus, and steers of dairy breeding. The grade or score as determined by the two measurements for the most part tallied with the grade given the same animals by two competent graders.

New Poultry-Keeper Needs Proper Start

There are three economically sound ways to get started in modern poultry keeping.

The first and probably the most efficient method of getting started is to buy day-old chicks from a recommended source during the early spring months. This involves the least capital expenditure for stock, permits the beginner to obtain valuable experience while raising the chicks, and gives him time to acquire the information that will be needed to handle layers in the fall. The disadvantage of this method is that, aside from sale of surplus cockerels as broilers, there will be little income until the pullets mature to the egg laying stage, which they will reach at about 24 weeks of age.

The second method is to purchase ready-to-lay pullets during the later summer or early fall months. This usually means an increased capital investment, but does provide for almost immediate income.

The third method is to purchase adult breeding stock in limited numbers at any desired time, and then from this stock produce chicks in season. The advantage of this method is that one may buy few but very high quality breeders and from a relatively small investment soon build up required numbers, gaining much in experience during the process.

Bang's Disease Cure Is Still to Be Found

Recently a national farmer's magazine contained an article quoting a chemist who had just returned from Switzerland, and who told about a powder used in that country to "cure" cattle infected with Bang's disease.

Dr. C. P. Fitch, of the University of Minnesota, says that "miraculous new medicines to cure and prevent Bang's disease" have been bobbing up frequently for many years. But it is very unfortunate, Fitch said, that so much attention should be paid to a remedy that is not known and has not been proved effective by reliable experiments.

"I am not familiar with the particular compound referred to in that article. I am, however, familiar with the veterinary literature from Switzerland. I know that there has been no mention made of any discovery of a cure for Bang's disease. To the best of our knowledge at the present time there isn't any cure for this disease."

"The nature of Bang's disease is such that it is quite easy to be mistaken in regard to so-called cures. In my judgment it is a mistake to encourage people to believe that there are cures for this disease until they have been definitely proved by competent investigators."

Blister Ailing Horses

Blisters are the best remedies for curbs, windgalls, spavins, and similar disorders of horses. A common blistering ointment for horses may be made of half an ounce of Spanish flies, an ounce of oil of turpentine, and four ounces of hog lard. Another good one may be made by thoroughly mixing two ounces of Spanish flies, with half an ounce of oil of origanum, one ounce of oil of turpentine, two ounces of hog lard, and four ounces of common tar.

Motion Picture of Heart Shows Beginning of Life

A motion picture of the origin of life—the formation and first-beat of the heart of an embryo chicken—was shown recently at an assembly of the International College of Surgeons.

The film, photographed through a microscope, provided the surgeons an exciting drama of the most mysterious of all the phases of their work. It covered a 10-hour interval, from the time the incipient chicken's heart, little more than a thin-walled tube, first began to twitch, until blood circulation started. It showed the spasmodic twitching become a pulsation; the blood cells and blood vessels begin to form, and the heart gain strength until it was able to pump life fluid through the embryonic blood vessels.

Dr. Bradley Patten of the University of Michigan's anatomy department, gave the demonstration. In a paper he explained that he and his associates had cut a tiny window in the cell of a fertilized egg and exposed the embryo, the size of a pin head. This preparation was transferred to a glass chamber and supplied with nutrient fluid.

The first flutterings of the tube, later to become the heart, are not rhythmic or orderly. Different parts of it merely contract and there are periods as long as five minutes when there is no activity. Then comes a series of fibrillations and gradually, after two or three hours, the twitches seem to combine, although mostly on the right side of the tube.

After another hour, scattered areas of the left side begin to contract. Then right and left sides twitch in time with each other. Still there is no regular rhythm to the movements as a whole. Three hours later there is a change, so gradual it is impossible to tell when it starts. The motions are starting at one end of the tube and rippling in waves to the other end.

Tradition, Modernism Combined in New Homes

American home-builders are striking a happy medium between staid traditional and the "nudist" type of ultra-modern architecture by swinging more strongly than ever to traditional forms, but with modern treatments, says Architect Arthur E. Allen. "Colonial, American-looking homes which are true to their heritages and traditions can be and are being constructed without sacrificing the spaciousness and light which constitute a chief feature of modernistic architecture," says Allen, who has been the architect for more than 18,000 homes throughout the nation in the past 11 years. "The newer homes of Georgian design have picked up the outstanding good points of the modern trend, notably the large window areas. They are made bright and cheery inside, in contrast to the colonial houses of our forefathers, through use of plentiful windows, modern interior planning, generous use of wall mirrors, and smart selection of furnishings." Architects and home buyers are shunning extreme modern styles to such an extent, Allen said, that modernistic styles are actually barred in some planned suburban communities.

'Ma' Is Good Truck Driver

Driving a 12,000-pound truck is a cinch for Mrs. Katherine Rainville, who weighs 95 pounds.

Averaging 50,000 to 75,000 miles a year, "Ma"—as she is known to truck drivers—carries new automobiles between Buffalo, N. Y., and Providence in all kinds of weather. When loaded, the weight of her truck is doubled.

Mrs. Rainville not only drives the truck but makes whatever repairs are necessary. She also loads and unloads the vehicle after getting the 200 pound runways in position. "I'm not afraid of any kind of weather," she says. "Many's the time I've driven by trailer truck through the Berkshires when it was so slippery you didn't even dare put your brakes on. I've never had an accident."

Most truckmen know and like "Ma," but occasionally she meets someone who doesn't approve of women truck drivers. "Then," she says, "I just act a little high hat too."

"Ma" learned about machinery on her father's farm and bought her own truck while helping her husband in his trucking business.

When not busy on the interstate highways, she likes to cook for her husband and two children at their Longmeadow, Mass., home.

Those Mexican Dishes

Chili is by no means the only flavoring for food used in Mexico, as the uninitiated sometimes think. In fact, so delicious are many dishes there that American Express guides have had to pick up a knowledge of cooking in order to answer the questions of travelers. They have learned, for instance, that Mexican gravies are colored and flavored with just a pinch of cocoa, to give them that delicious taste; cilantro, onion and carrot are very often used in the preparation of fish; and lamb chops may be rubbed with marjoram, laurel or just a touch of ground garlic. Among the unusual spices to be seen in the markets are comino, tomillo, cilantro, laurel and lemon grass.
