CHILDREN'S HOUR.

This Saturday afternoon, April 12, from three to four o'clock, the Children's Hour will be in charge of Miss Gertrude Shriner and Miss Virginia Teeter. Miss Shriner will tell the children stories and Miss Teeter will teach them to color Easter eggs.

MAY WELL BE THANKFUL.

In a world where barbarous deeds are rampant, Easter has unusual significance this year. We may well be thankful today that America still enjoys the Four Freedoms, chief among which is Freedom of Worship. Let us all unite to keep it so. The members of our organization join in wishing you and your family a very Happy Easter!

SOME APRIL TEARS

Story of Heather Larry and Sylvia.

(For The Record.)

Heather noticed that the forsythia by the doorway of the chapel was turning yellow. The pine trees and shrubbery looked greener than ever. The sky was dusky lavender and you could hear sleepy birds in the softly green trees. The world fairly breathed Spring. The most evident sign that Spring was here was the couples that you could see strolling down toward the lake in the velvet evening. Arm in arm they were, and quietly happy. Every one was happy, it seemed, except Heather, and here she was looking desolately out of her dormitory window—alone.

Tears filled her eyes as she thought of the time, only a few short weeks ago, when she and Larry would walk down to the lake in the evenings—just the way the other couples did now. She wouldn't cry, though, she would be brave and take it, the way people did when everything was knocked from under them. She had known it was coming, though. She knew it when she saw Sylvia smiling coyly up at Larry that day in Sociology class and she knew it when she saw Larry's eyes follow Sylvia longingly off the baseball field on the day of the "Big Game". She hadn't been blind to the fact, but Sylvia had more money and personality and a "way with men". Heather had a "way with men", too, but not so much of a way. She just tried to be natural and friendly, but it wasn't enough, somehow.

Larry had sworn there would never be another, but then, he was too young to really know. Heather had believed him when he said nice things to her. She had banked her future on him and he had failed her. Now she felt all hurt and small. Larry had seemed so wonderful, though. "Heather knew that she would always love him. He was tall and dark and quiet; everything that she had dreamed a man could be. Even when she knew it wasn't any use, she thought of the way he had of smiling boyishly, half shyly, at her, and loved him. He hadn't really been in love with her—just in love with love, maybe—and she had been foolish enough to believe him. So Heather had written him a note: "Larry, I know that it's Sylvia, now, so I'm just leaving. I love you too much to stand in the way." Love could hurt so but you had to be brave about it.

Outside it was sweetly warm. The sun was just going down behind the hills. Heather decided to walk down to the lonely little white chapel in the grove where she knew it would be calm and peaceful and that she would be alone. The chapel with its tall white spire looking heavenward was a haven for those with troubled minds. Heather walked up the steps and in the heavy door. It was dim inside but she could see rows and rows of benches and the altar where a last beam from the sun came through a stained glass window and fell upon someone kneeling there. Heather stood very still for she hadn't meant to intrude. She was awed by the beauty of it all. Somehow the figure kneeling there looked familiar. Why—it was Larry. He was the last person in the world. Heather would expect to find in the Chapel. He just wasn't the type, but she was glad he was there.

She started to leave quietly but Larry looked up and breathed, "Heather". Slowly he rose and came to her. Tenderly, softly, yet shyly, he spoke, "Heather, I thought you had gone. Your wanting to leave me brought me to my senses. Then I knew I would love you forever." "Heather" smiled radiantly and took his outstretched hand. "Forever" she pledged solemnly with tears again in her eyes. Together they left the chapel and walked down to the lake through the velvet dusk. Manchester, Md. CARL JONES,

LATE REPORTS FROM THE WAR

A Much Mixed Up Situation in Europe.

There are a number of outstanding facts connected with the war in Europe (1) British for bravery and fighting ability; (2) German strategy in destroying weaker opponents; (3) Italian weakness as a great nation (4) Russia's uncertain attitude as to what it can be depended on to (5) the watchful waiting plan of Japan (6) the present outlook that the bravery of Greece may meet with the fate of Finland, and other smaller nations since the beginning of the war.

The German forces are reported now to have trapped the Greek army results in a loss of 200,000 men, but the nation will continue fighting to the end. The loss is reported to have been due to the retreat of the Yugoslavian army, an ally of Greece.

Premier Churchill of England, has warned Russia that the present German drive is directed toward Russia, as well as toward Turkey, and another report from Berlin, is that the Suez Canal, a British possession, is the next.

Following the bombing of Berlin by British forces, the Germans promptly responded by again bombing London, both attacks were accompanied by fire and considerable loss.

The Germans claim to have taken 100,000 prisoners, so far, in Balkan states. Greeks and British have prepared for a Nazi attack in the mountains of Greece. Yugoslav forces are making a strong effort to break the German front. These situations may radically change within a day.

DR. BRUBAKER HONORED.

The following, is a portion of an article from the April 2 Altoona, Pa., Tribune. The Dr. Brubaker will be remembered by some of Taneytown's older citizens. He is a brother of Mrs. Ida B. Kootz, and formerly visited Taneytown occasionally.

Along with its monthly open house night at the Memorial Park Pavilion, the Juniata Civic Association has formulated an extensive program of entertainment in conjunction with the dedication ceremonies tonight at 8 o'clock.

The ceremony will honor Dr. J. L. Brubaker, Juniata's No. 1 citizen, and will offer a number of Altoona's city officials in the roles of guest speakers. George G. Patterson, president Judge of Blair county will give the main address.

Tonight's program is sponsored by the board of directors of the Juniata Civic Association, assisted by the Ladies' auxiliary.

The festivities will open with the Brubaker Memorial band playing "God Bless America", followed by the assemblage singing "America", with Edouard Trout leading.

Donald Brubaker, president of the Juniata Civic Association, will welcome the public after which Rev. W. A. Nicholson, pastor of the Juniata Presbyterian Church will offer the invocation. Mr. Brubaker will then turn the program over to Hiram Shellenberger, who will act as the master of ceremonies for the remainder of the evening.

The orchestra will dedicate a number to Dr. Brubaker while a basket of flowers is presented to the honored guest by two little girls, Flora Shaffer and Tiny Summers. Following the presentation another selection will be played by the orchestra.

CHERRY BLOSSOM TIME.

According to an announcement of the Automobile Club of Maryland, Westminster Branch, the single blossom Japanese cherry trees around the Tidal Basin and Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D. C. are expected to be at the height of their beauty by Saturday, April 12. The cherry blossom festival has definitely been set for April 12 and 13.

The ceremony will start at 2 P. M. Saturday at the Tidal Basin. It will include the Coronation of the Queen, the presentation of "Blossom Time" by the Columbia Light Opera Co., and other features. Saturday night there will be a cherry blossom ball with two orchestras. Sunday at 2 P. M. the festival will be repeated with the exception of the Coronation and possibly the demonstrations by the army mounted units.

MORE HIGHWAY SAFETY

A New Commission has Been Established.

Annapolis, April 8: Of paramount importance to the thousands of motorists of the State are the various measures in the interest of safety on our streets and highways passed by the 1941 session of the General Assembly, at the instance of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

First of all in importance is the Act that legalized the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission and established it on a permanent basis, along with the state's many other commissions and agencies.

Although instituted by Governor Herbert R. O'Connor nearly two years ago on a State-wide basis, the Commission had no legal status and hence no guarantee of the permanency that is absolutely necessary if its activities are to result in any lasting improvement in traffic conditions.

Convinced that the fundamentals of Safety should be provided for first, the Traffic Safety Commission introduced and had passed by the Legislature three bills, and sponsored two others. One by the State's Attorney's Association, and the other by the State Police. All of which will insure greater protection to everyone who rides or walks along our streets and highways.

Because accurate facts about accidents are imperative before adequate steps to eliminate them can be taken, the Commission advocated and has secured a central statistical bureau to which police and other agencies concerned must return reports on all accidents, which reports, when recorded, will give for the first time in the history of the State a complete factual record of the times, places and causes of accidents.

Glaring headlights, one of the leading causes of accidents, were next given attention, and a law passed to require all motorists and truck drivers to dim their lights when approaching and passing another car. Pedestrians in our rural sections may well be thankful, too, for this measure which will undoubtedly save many lives that otherwise would be sacrificed.

In its studies, covering every phase of road traffic, the Safety Commission discovered to everyone's great surprise, that there were no laws on the books to require drivers to stop at traffic lights or other control devices. This has been corrected by legislation and the state police now can charge drivers with failing to observe signals, with assurance of conviction.

The two sponsored measures, one setting enforceable penalties for manslaughter by automobile, and the other authorizing the State police to enter towns and municipalities to enforce traffic regulations, both will help tighten restrictions on reckless and unlawful driving, and thus add another link to the chain of safety that slowly but surely forged by Gov. O'Connor's Maryland Traffic Safety Commission in the interest of the safety of our people throughout the State.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

Carroll County farmers will be interested to know that there will be no marketing quota on corn for 1941 crop year. This will mean that corn producers will not be subject to any tax for corn raised on any acreage in excess of the allotment set up under the Triple A Program. There has been no changes however in the corn provision of the Agricultural Conservation Program.

As previously announced by the County Agent L. C. Burns, all farmers staying within their corn allotments will be eligible for special benefit payment on corn. But they can produce as much corn as allowed within their usual acreage without any penalty.

Other than that they will not be eligible for benefit corn payment. Producers interested in securing details of the program with regards to their corn allotment, or their usual acreage should contact the county office or one of the committee in their local community.

OUR NATIONAL DUTY.

Notwithstanding our numerous troubles in this country, it is still a good place in which to live, as compared with Europe of today. No people are ever fully contented, whether judged by large or small divisions. If there is too much monotony in life, and how we are "getting along" we can usually find something to squabble over.

We have political and industrial unrest to perhaps a greater extent than ever before in our history; but it is largely self-made, and can be remade when we choose to do so. And some day, in all probability this choice will be in operation.

Truthfully, we think, much of the trouble we have is prevented by our immense foreign population, who have brought along with them too many un-American ideas and practices. What we need more than ever, is an united assertion of our own "ism"—a house-clearing, and notice to other "isms" to get out, and stay out. It is a National duty and opportunity. P. B. E.

An American in London was bragging about his automobile. He ended his eulogy by declaring: "It runs so smoothly that you can't feel it, so quietly that you can't hear it, has such perfect ignition that you can't smell it, and as for speed—you can't see it." "But, my word, old topper," interrupted the Englishman, anxiously, "how do you know the bally thing is there."

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM CAMP MEADE.

Varied Experiences of our Maryland Boys.

There has been a lot of publicity about how the army is being mechanized. That modernization applies just as well to methods of instruction for officers and non-commissioned officers of the 115th. Infantry. They are going to the movies now for their lessons.

Twice a week all of the officers and non-commissioned officers attended schools at night for instructions in various phases of military tactics. Heretofore the schools had been conducted separately by the three battalions of the regiment. Col. D. John Markey, of Frederick, commanding officer of the regiment, Monday night, however, instituted a regimental school for the officers and non-commissioned officers. This school will replace one of the twice-weekly battalion schools.

Through Col. Markey's efforts visual educational methods were introduced to keep the 115th. in step with other advanced army techniques. The motion picture method is explained by Col. Markey as being particularly clear in its instruction. Monday night every available seat in the regimental recreation hall was filled as a capacity attendance observed the first motion picture class. Map reading and all its details were distinctly outlined.

Not only is the visual method outstanding for its clarity but it also is a time saving device particularly for expediting instruction. As Capt. Guy Anders, commanding officer of Company A, of Frederick, expressed it after the map reading movie on Monday night, "If I could have seen such films before attending map reading classes it would have saved me about three gallons of midnight oil."

Even the privates first class and the buck privates are taken into consideration in the new educational system. Many times it has been impossible for all different classes included to attend this intensive military program and the men who did not rate as non-commissioned officers got their instruction by the older teaching method. But when the movies for the officers and non-commissioned officers are finished (the showing lasts about forty-five minutes) the film is shown again for any interested privates. That way Col. Markey believes that each man will be able to gain better and sounder instruction. Not that the officers and non-commissioned officers are not capable—the movies just do it a little better in some subjects. They have been prepared by experts in the particular subject matter presented.

The paymaster came around on Monday for the second time since Company "H" has been in the Federal service. The paying of the men went along very smoothly and everyone began to plan how he would spend his month's pay.

The men this week have been on the firing range. Many of the men for the first time felt that kick of the rifles and pistols and heard the chatter of the machine guns. Each evening the men came home to their barracks dirty from gun smoke and dust, tired and hungry. Most of the men were in bed before "taps" sounded. The men claim this week passed very quickly. They are interested in their work and prove it by shooting very good scores. Each man tries to out-do his buddy in shooting. It is apparent that all the time spent in teaching about the guns was not spent in vain. Sgt. Luckabaugh has worked hard keeping us supplied with ammunition, and seems to enjoy this work.

Members of this company were invited to participate in a show this week at the recreation hall. The men who participated were as follows: Sgt. "Russ" Dayhoff gave a selection on his banjo and mouth organ combination; Sgt. "Pate" Krebs told some very good up-to-date jokes; Corporals "Charlie" Maus and Ira Bassler sang a duet and Pvt. First Class (Continued on Fourth Page)

Random Thoughts

WHAT WE THINK.

If everybody would say what they honestly think, there would be a lot of "saying" different from that which we hear. Whether it would always be wise that this should be done, is another matter; but in any case, we should not tell lies—or, are there legitimate exceptions to this?

Our opinion is that some of our thoughts should be kept to ourselves unless they are properly and honestly asked for; and even then, speak very, very, carefully.

A witness in Court is warned that what he "thinks," is not evidence—that it is what he "knows" that is permissible testimony before a jury, unless the witness is directly asked for what he thinks, and follows it with explanations.

But it is by thinking that we develop facts. The inventor of a practically useful machine, is a development. When we go to school, we study and think. And so, we may find it an evidence of ignorance—this business of thinking—and this "random" corner is no exception. Don't you think so? P. B. E.

A political cartoon by W. B. Miller. Two men are pulling a wooden cart. The man on the left, wearing a hat and a dark jacket, is pulling the reins and saying "GIDDAP!". The man on the right, also wearing a hat and a dark jacket, is holding the reins and saying "WHOA!". The cart is loaded with three large boxes. The first box is labeled "NATIONAL SECURITY". The second box is labeled "DEMANDS FOR MORE DEFENSE PRODUCTION". The third box is labeled "ANTI-INDUSTRY ATTITUDE". The cart is moving along a path, and there are some small figures of people in the background. The cartoon is signed "W. B. Miller" in the bottom right corner.

MRS. ROOSEVELT WRITES ABOUT TELEPHONE IN SYNDICATED COLUMN

Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt recently made mention of the usefulness and value of the telephone in her newspaper column, "My Day." The excerpt from the column, reprinted by permission of the United Feature Syndicate, was as follows:

"We shall telephone our various far distant children wherever it is possible to reach them this evening. This always gives me a sense of nearness. The sound of someone's voice, whom you really care about, tells you so much more than any written words.

"I often think, when the telephone becomes a nuisance in my life, and I am irritated at its constant ringing, how grateful we should be for the joyous moments it brings us and for the relief which can come over the wires in cases of emergency. News from far away, a few years ago, took days and weeks to reach us. Today a voice can be carried straight into the sickroom and relieve uncertainty, which is perhaps the most difficult thing to bear."

Mrs. Raymond Kaelzel and daughter, Joyce Fidelia, Bbonsboro, are spending the week with the former's father, G. Fielder Gilbert.

Mrs. B. L. Cookson was hostess to the Union Bridge Homemakers' Club on Tuesday afternoon. Delicious refreshments were served to twenty-seven members and guests.

Messrs Thomas and Carroll Slonaker, Baltimore, called on relatives in town, Saturday, enroute to New Windsor, where they attended the funeral of their uncle, William Hesson.

Mrs. Harry Fowler spent Thursday with Mrs. Harry Barnes, of McKinstry's Mills.

Rev. and Mrs. Cover, Linwood; William H. Stone, Baltimore, and Mrs. Romeo Perry were week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. John Stone.

Mrs. Andrew Gagel and Mrs. Pearl McGregor, Baltimore, spent the week end with Corporal and Mrs. Harry Haines and Miss Doris Haines.

Messrs J. Walter and Dwight Speicher, Aberdeen, visited the latter's home in Accident, Md., on Saturday and Sunday.

Misses Lola and Dorothy Crouse, Westminster, were callers in town, on Monday evening.

The Pipe Creek Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. W. P. Englar on Wednesday for quilting.

Miss Betty Englar spent Friday in Washington, D. C., in company with a number of Westminster High School pupils.

James Caylor who has been employed by the Western Electric Company, was transferred from Baltimore to Newport News, Va., and left on Sunday for that place.

Mrs. Roy Haines was called to Showells, Md., on Monday to the bedside of her mother, Mrs. John Stuller who is quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stem, daughters, Gladys and Louise, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown.

Mrs. Edward Best, Allentown, Pa., is spending the week with her mother, Mrs. W. G. Segarfoose. Mrs. Best is recuperating from a recent illness.

Mrs. Hugh Heltbridge spent Tuesday in Westminster with her daughter Mrs. Roger Lambert who celebrated her birthday.

On April 6, Melvin W. Routson completed 38 years of perfect attendance at Sunday School with the exception of one Sunday. He was present at his own Sunday School each of these Sundays except six.

Mr. and Mrs. John Heltbridge and Richard Welty were entertained to a double birthday dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Alva Heltbridge, Westminster, on Sunday.

FEESERSBURG.

Spring is here! Sassafras tea is in order, and we had our first mess of dandelion on April 3, good as ever. The youngsters are playing ball these evenings and their shouts ring out; but marbles and kites have not appeared yet, except the tail of one that lodged in the top of a high tree a year ago—and has withstood all storms.

Claud E. Moore, wife and three children from near Creagerstown, moved into the Wilbur Miller tenant house recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wood on the rainy Tuesday of last week, and are trying to get settled.

Huber Nusbaum who has spent much of the winter at the home of his uncle, J. N. Starr and wife, called to see Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stuffle last Wednesday evening. The young man is doing nice work as a sign painter.

Westminster last Friday morning for shopping and calling on relatives. People have ailments and trouble down that way too.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Boston with their son, Joseph Boston and wife, spent last Wednesday in Baltimore for business interests, and visited their only daughter, Miss Mary, in training as a nurse at the Maryland General Hospital, who is getting along fine.

Mrs. C. S. Wolfe spent Saturday in Baltimore, with her sister, Miss Ruth Utermahlen at her place of business on North Avenue Market, selling goods from the work shop of the blind. Why not buy some goods from them?

A letter from Private Frederick Crouse tells us he is with the 71st Coast Artillery at Fort Story, Va., "down among the pine trees and sand, and just a few yards from the Atlantic Ocean". He has to drill from 7:30 until 10:00 o'clock in the morning; and every night at 9:30 the lights go out, so he's getting plenty of sleep. He thinks "this army life will teach a lot of fellows to appreciate their homes more in the future" all of us have to learn lessons.

At the Preston Rinehart farm, for many years known as the Bowman property, he is planning to modernize the barn for the cattle, by putting in stanchions, drinking cups, electricity, and will build a new dairy house—a la milk Association of Baltimore. Some of our up-to-date farmers have blooming flower-plants in the windows of the stable—which is kept very clean; and others have radios in operation—presumably to entertain and soothe the cows, but we suspect it is good for the milkers as well.

Mrs. Marie Moss, possessor of a new car, brought her aunt, Mrs. Chalk to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Buffington, on Sunday. Mrs. Moss is teaching Spanish to the children of a wealthy family in Baltimore.

Monday the Cowan family moved from beyond Otterdale to the Hess home at Log Cabin Branch on the Uniontown road.

Mrs. Robert A. Kemp, her sister, Mrs. Lillie B. Parker and daughter, Mrs. William Slemmer were callers at Grove Dale on Tuesday. Mr. Kemp is in failing health suffering in his foot and Mrs. Parker is on her Easter vacation from Hood College.

Have you secured your license and badge to sit on your own land along the creek and do some trout fishing? Tis fine sport or occupation for some, but often we wonder if we are dwelling in the land of the free, so many personal rights have been denied—or curtailed.

We have the little sketch for April according to the old Hagerstown Almanack, and see one man digging post hole, the other making fence, and another plowing long furrows in the field with a yoke of oxen. We've had so much rain the past week that our farmers cannot plow the ground yet, but they will be busy as soon as dry enough. A few persons have some early garden, but not many close by. We had lakes, rivulets, and rills on Saturday and Sunday, and now the fields and lawns look green.

And now Easter—with its wonderful lessons of glorious hope. There will be many special sermons and services in the various churches, so enter one and worship the King—and enjoy it all.

What bright sunny days we are having (when it doesn't rain), and lovely nights with new moon, and the Star-Spangled sky. Venus has been a brilliant morning star, but after the 19th. will be seen in the evening and Jupiter is still an evening Star until May 19th. a wonderful plan!

HARNEY.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sherman and son, and Mrs. Jennie Welty visited with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Welty and family, on Wednesday evening.

The Brotherhood of St. Paul Church will hold a special meeting on Monday evening. The public is invited. Moving pictures will be one of the special features.

POTOMAC EDISON NEWS.

For the second time within three weeks, the weekly prize winner in the Electric Range Safety Contest sponsored by The Potomac Edison Company was a resident of Carroll Co., Md.

The judges in this popular contest have just announced that Miss Marie Senseney, of Union Bridge has been awarded the weekly prize of an electric range for having submitted the best entry out of the hundreds of entries in the sixth week's contest.

Mrs. Robert R. Stone, of Union Bridge, won the fourth week's contest.

Miss Senseney's prize winning statement reflected the thorough knowledge of her subject that comes from actual experience in the kitchen using various cooking methods.

This entry of Miss Senseney's thus becomes eligible for consideration for the grand prize of the beautiful electric range which is to be given to the person who wrote the best of the eight weekly prize winning statements. The selection will actually be made from at least nine letters because of the double award in the second week's contest when the entries of two different persons were judged to be so good that a tie was declared.

With the award of the first week's prize to a resident of Mr. Airy and the two later winners to Union Bridge people, it may be seen that interest in this series of electric range safety contests is not only running high in this part of Maryland but is bringing results in the form of valuable awards.

One more weekly contest remains to be decided in this series before the contest is concluded. The last one, this present week, will close on April 12, this coming Saturday. With only this short time remaining before the close of the contest and the final judging, it is expected that Frederick and Carroll County people will not delay sending in their entries to the Contest Editor.

Further details and the rules of this electric range safety contest appear elsewhere in this paper.

FRIZELLBURG.

TANEYTOWN KIWANIS CLUB WEEKLY MEETING.

The Taneytown Kiwanis Club held its regular weekly meeting at Sauble's Inn, on Wednesday evening, April 9, at 6 o'clock. There were present twenty-four members. President, Harry M. Mohny presided.

The musical part of the program was in charge of Merwyn C. Fuss, with Mrs. Wallace Wingling at the piano.

The program was in charge of the Committee on Public Affairs, Clyde L. Hesson, Chairman. Mr. Hesson introduced Rev. A. T. Sutcliffe as the speaker of the evening.

Rev. Sutcliffe called attention to the history and meaning of "Golden Rule Week" as observed by Kiwanis International. About ten years ago, the Chairman of the Committee on Business Standards of the Kiwanis Club of Dallas, Texas, conceived the idea that the Golden Rule should be applied in business transactions and relations. He presented the idea to his own Club with the result that it was enthusiastically received and adopted. The plan was so successful and popular that by 1933 it had been adopted by the governing body of the Texas-Arkansas District and recommended to all the Clubs in its jurisdiction. The plan involves two things: To vitalize the Second Section of the Constitution of Kiwanis International which adjusts the daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationships, and to teach that the Golden Rule is the only philosophy of life; and the recognition of the principle that the only right anyone has is the right to be decent and fair.

For the first time Kiwanis International is this year applying the principle formally in its annual program and featuring it by the observance of a "Golden Rule Week" in all Kiwanis Clubs.

The program next week will be in charge of the Committee on Publicity. The program will consist of the rendering of musical selections by the Taneytown Choral Society, and an illustrated lecture: "The Crucifixion and the Resurrection in Christian Art," by Mr. George Mather, Westminster.

COMMUNITY-LOCALS.

Miss Margaret Reindollar, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Henry Reindollar, of La Plata, Md., are spending the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry I. Reindollar.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thomson, Mineral Ridge, Ohio, arrived Thursday to visit her mother, Mrs. M. H. Reindollar and family. Mrs. Thomson will help care for her aunt, Miss Sue Williams, who is quite ill.

The Spring Conference of the Missionary Societies of the Lutheran Churches of Middle District will be held Thursday, 24th., in St. John's Lutheran Church, Thurmont. Speakers, Mrs. Ritz, Mrs. Fogle, Mrs. Eckert and Mrs. Machetzki, Missionary to South America.

CARD OF APPRECIATION.

I wish to extend thanks and appreciation to my many friends for their remembrances of cards, letters, flowers and gifts sent to me while I was a patient at the Frederick City Hospital and during my convalescing.

LUTHERAN CHURCH EASTER PROGRAM.

The Sunday School of the Lutheran Church will present the Easter message in song and story on Easter Sunday evening, at 7:30. The program will include a welcome by Graham Wildasin, an exercise by Beginners, a playlet, and a pageant.

It will be given by: Kathleen Sauble, Louella Sauble, George Sauble, William Amos, Joseph Amos, Jimmy Fair, Mildred Ohler, Ruth Jean Ohler, Lorraine Myers, Betty Linton, and a choir from the Primary room. The pageant is "The Way of the Cross," by Dorothy Clarke Wilson.

In it, a present-day man, to whom the Easter message has become a little unreal, suddenly finds himself thrust bodily into the center of those events of the Crucifixion and Resurrection of Christ; and with the experience comes a new unfolding of the message of the Resurrection.

The cast is: The Stranger (the present-day man), Martin Zimmerman; the spirit of Easter, Elizabeth Shorb; Gaius and Marcellus (two Roman Soldiers), Herbert Bowers and Francis Staley; Children, Dorothy Alexander, Donald Smith, Donald Hess and Estella Hess; women of Jerusalem, Betty Cashman and Alice Cashman; Mary Magdalene, Elizabeth Ohler; Mary, the mother of James, Vivian Shoemaker; Salome, Betty Hess; Joseph of Arimathea, Wilmer Nail; Peter, Sterling Stambaugh; John, Richard Bollinger. The hymns in the pageant will be sung by members of the church choir.

CHRIST SHOWS HIMSELF ALIVE

LESSON TEXT—Luke 24:13-17, 25-35.
GOLDEN TEXT—"I am he that liveth, and was dead; and behold, I am alive for evermore.—Revelation 1:18.

Certainty and assurance—these are at the heart of our observance of Easter. We declare with Paul, "Now is Christ risen from the dead" (I Cor. 15:20), and that He is "declared to be the Son of God with power . . . by the resurrection from the dead" (Rom. 1:4). We would join the apostles who "with great power gave . . . witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus" (Acts 4:33).

Someone may say, "That's well enough for you who have faith in God, but I'm bewildered, uncertain, fearful, in a disordered world. What shall I do?" Come with us as, in our lesson, we join two men who had become bewildered, who felt that all their hopes had been crushed, that the future was only to be feared.

We join them as they walk wearily along the road from Jerusalem to Emmaus. Suddenly there is Another with the little group. Let us listen to their conversation. First we find

I. Hidden Eyes and Slow Hearts (vv. 13-17, 25, 26).

The two sad men who had left Jerusalem to go to Emmaus were disciples of our Lord who had just been through the crushing experience of seeing Him crucified. Now, as the jeering mob held triumphant sway in the city, they left the dead Christ (as they supposed) in the tomb and went their way. True, there had been some reports on the morning of the third day that the women had seen Jesus alive (vv. 23, 24), but their hope and faith was at such low ebb that they could not—or did not—believe. Even when Jesus appeared to walk with them and questioned them, they did not know Him.

Eyes closed by unbelief; faith hindered by doubt and fear; a despondent heart slow to believe God—how very effectively these shut out the blessing of God and of His Word, even to the believer. Even deeper is the darkness in which the unbeliever finds himself. But all is not lost; there is One here who can open unseeing eyes and warm cold hearts—even Jesus.

II. Burning Hearts and Opened Eyes (vv. 26-32).

Although they did not realize it (how slow we are to appreciate our blessings!) until after He was gone (v. 32), their hearts began to burn within them as soon as He began to expound the Scriptures to them.

What a Bible exposition that was, as Christ Himself opened all that the Scriptures taught concerning Him! Bible teachers have talked about, and it makes one's heart burn just to read their suggestions (see for example Morgan on Luke, page 278). Little wonder that these men were "strangely warmed" as they listened.

The way to have a burning heart is to read God's Word or to have it expounded by a Spirit-filled teacher or preacher. Especially is there blessing in reading and studying what the sacred Book teaches about our blessed Lord.

With the heart "strangely warmed," as John Wesley described his Aldersgate experience, comes the opened eye. "They knew him" (v. 31) in the breaking of the bread. Perhaps they saw the scar in His hand, or possibly they identified a familiar gesture or something in His voice; but until their hearts were warmed they did not see. Paul knew that truth when he declared: "But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned" (I Cor. 2:14).

Some reader who has trouble believing in the resurrection will find the problem solved when he meets Christ and has his heart changed in regeneration. What follows?

III. Quickened Feet and Glad Testimony (vv. 33-35).

The seven miles (sixty furlongs, v. 13) which had passed so slowly were now quickly retraced. They had glorious good news to bring to the disciples at Jerusalem. How swift are the feet of the one who has good tidings to bear (see Rom. 10:15). One wonders why so many professed Christians are so slow about carrying His message. Can it be that they do not yet know the risen Christ? For if we know Him, surely "we do not well" to keep silent in a day of good tidings (II Kings 7:9).

Note in verse 34 that before they could speak, the others gave them the good news of the resurrection. It is proper and delightful that believers share spiritual blessings (Rom. 1:11, 12). That's why we come together in God's house.

Brother in the Lord, Christian sister, how long is it since you had a new and stirring experience of the presence of Christ? Not necessarily spectacular or exciting, but a real spiritual experience. Let's ask Him for it!

Good Pasture Foundation For Economical Beef

Good pasture is the foundation of economical beef and sheep production because it furnishes much cheaper food than harvested crops, states J. E. Comfort of the University of Missouri college of agriculture. Unless beef herds and flocks of sheep are maintained on adequate pasture during as large a part of the year as possible, the costs will generally be increased and the profits reduced.

Beef cattle, especially cows, are the most liberal users of pastures and the use of pastures with cows.

On most farms the principal grazing problem in handling beef cattle is that of extending the grazing season to reduce the quantity of harvested feed required. In general, the costs of winter feed for four to six months are from two to four times as great as the cost of grazing for a period of from six to eight months.

To extend the grazing season most effectively one must have more than one permanent pasture in order to save ungrazed forage for grazing in midsummer, late fall, winter or early spring. Temporary annual pastures such as winter barley, wheat or rye and Korean lespedeza, sweet clover or sudan, may be used to supplement permanent pasture.

With such crops it is possible to begin grazing from two to four weeks earlier in the spring, to have an abundance of feed during July and August when bluegrass and other pasture grasses are dormant and to extend the period of good grazing from four to eight weeks in the fall and early winter.

Spinach Is Conducive To Physical Activity

Experiments with rats at the Pennsylvania State college have shown that spinach, which contains vitamin A, is conducive to physical activity. Dr. N. B. Guerrant, professor of biological chemistry, who conducted the experiments, declared that the effects produced in rats may be the same in humans.

In some of the tests, the rats were allowed to take voluntary exercise in special types of rotating cages, and in others the cages were rotated a definite number of times daily, a practice which forced the rats to "go for walks." The animals which were fed no vitamin A were less inclined to exercise voluntarily than those which were allowed an adequate amount of this food element in their diet. The energetic rats made smaller increases in body weight and required less vitamin A than the lazy rats, apparently because their systems made better use of the food eaten.

Thus far the investigation has shown that an adequate amount of vitamin A in the diet is conducive to physical activity. Rats which were forced to exercise actually consumed less food than litter mates which were confined or allowed to exercise at will. The fact that they consumed less food when performing vigorous exercises may not be strange, said Dr. Huerrant, pointing out that men doing hard work are inclined to eat more on their days off than when actually on the job.

Origin of Nicknames

The name "Heinie" given to the German soldier by the American doughboy during the last World war still clings to our popular speech and now refers to any German. The giving of national nicknames, so popular today, has permeated history for centuries.

From the time of Queen Elizabeth the Spaniard has been known in England as Don Whiskerandos. Cousin Michael is the European term for Germans, and Mynheer Cosh, or simply Mynheer, for Hollanders. The inhabitants of Switzerland are Colin Tampon. The Danes are known as Danskers, and Italians are Lazzaroni.

The common nickname for the French, is Jean Crapaud, or Johnny Toad.

John Bull was first applied to the English people by Dr. Arbuthnot in "The History of John Bull," a satire on the duke of Marlborough, published in 1712.

Giving Them Away Cheaper

Alvie Frey of Mount Carmel, Ill., bought three cabins for 15 cents each. His were the only bids on the three buildings, included in a group of 11 items offered for sale by the Rock Island district army engineers.

The buildings, consisting of cabins and outbuildings, are on the Iowa shore of the Mississippi river and on islands near lock and dam No. 13, Fulton, Ill.

Three other cabins on which awards were made were a little more expensive. Walter Crawford of Sabula, Ill., got two for $1.25 each and Donald A. Arnold of Savanna, Ill., bought one for $5.

"It's cheaper to give them away at these prices," the engineers said, "than to go to the expense of burning them."

Founded by Sailor

Boys in Sports

Any athlete will be "thrown for a loss" if he poisons himself with wine, or beer, or whisky, in the opinion of outstanding coaches.

As the late Lord Baden-Powell, Boy Scout founder, wrote: " . . . the old saying that 'strong drink makes men weak' is a very true one."

Players and coaches would say "amen" to that, as they did in the following statements in a W.C.T.U. survey:

Red Grange: "You cannot smoke and drink and expect to succeed as an athlete."
Bill Tilden: "It is certain injury to touch alcoholic drink in any form . . . it is a poison that affects mind, eye, and wind."

Helen Wills Moody: "The precision that tennis demands makes necessary total abstinence, even from beer . . ."

Pop Warner: "Abstainers are better athletes than even moderate drinkers."

Alonzo Stagg, grand old man of football: "A drinking man has not clear sight, and the athlete has got to have it; a drinking man has not full capacity in nerves, and the athlete has got to have it because he calls upon every particle of the stuff that is in him to produce in the particular sport he is in."

Fielding Yost: "I have never observed any good from the use of it. I would not waste my time trying to train or develop one who uses it. A boy or young man who drinks does not give himself a fair chance."

BOOTLEGGERS

Introducing an editorial listing the bribery and bootlegging now existing in wet states, the Jackson, Miss., Clarion wrote: "Come up close, all you poor, deluded, intelligent, respectable people who have had dust thrown in your eyes by the liquor interests to such an extent that you are deaf to the truth and blind to the facts."

Telephone Engineers Find More Economical Method For Insulating Wires

It has often been said that the simplest solution to a problem is often the hardest to find because it is so easily overlooked. This is true in the telephone industry as proven by the little story behind the efforts of telephone scientists to produce an economical means of insulating wires with paper in telephone cables.

A group of Western Electric engineers were one day discussing how they could keep down the cost of this paper insulation. One of them had an idea.

"Why not," he said, "make the paper right on the wire?"

Several of his associates smiled at this suggestion, but the Western Electric engineer took a bottle, filled it with a wood pulp solution and stirred a bright new wire in it. Sure enough, the pulp stuck. Thus began a new and revolutionary process of wire insulation better than the old process of wrapping each wire with spiral paper ribbons.

The shorter the time required to bring pullets into laying the higher the records they make, says Missouri Bulletin 78.

Most birds will not lay until they have attained 90% of their mature weight.

There's a lot of truth in the old saying that a poultryman makes or breaks himself by the way he cares for his pullets from the sixth to twentieth week, but he doesn't find it out until the following winter.

Throughout the growing period, pullets need proteins, minerals, and vitamins to develop properly. Green stuff, grain and insects are not enough. To keep young pullets from being stunted, they need a growing mash like Purina Growena to furnish minerals in proper balance for building large frames; a variety of proteins for making blood, bones, egg organs and muscles; and an abundance of the proper vitamins to make it possible for these proteins and minerals to do their work.

NEW TELEPHONE OFFICIALS,

It has been announced that L. M. Griffin has been elected to the position of vice-president of the four Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies serving Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia. At their meeting on Monday, the directors accepted his resignation as vice-president and general manager of the Maryland company to permit him to accept his new position.

Mr. Griffin plans to continue to live in Baltimore and to identify himself with the business activities of Baltimore and Maryland. He will maintain his office in Baltimore and also have an office in Washington. In his new position his responsibilities include the customer relations and personnel activities of the four companies as well as other executive duties.

Born in Oregon and educated in California, Mr. Griffin was employed as a traffic student by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company in 1918, and continued in their service about four years. In 1922 he joined the Chesapeake and Potomac organization and since that time held successive positions in Washington and in Virginia with headquarters in Richmond. In 1936 he was appointed general commercial manager of the Maryland company, and in June, 1938 advanced to vice-president and general manager.

The directors elected August B. Haneke, a native of Maryland, vice-president and general manager to succeed Mr. Griffin. Born and educated in Baltimore, Mr. Haneke was employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company as a messenger in 1914 and worked in Baltimore in various positions until 1921, after which he was employed by the Washington company for eight years. In 1929 Mr. Haneke was appointed general commercial manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of West Virginia with headquarters in Charleston and for the past four years has been vice-president and general manager of that company.

H. Randolph Maddox, born in Princess Anne, Maryland, has been elected vice-president and general manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of West Virginia to succeed Mr. Haneke who comes to Baltimore. Mr. Maddox started as a student engineer and has been in the service of the Chesapeake and Potomac Companies for 19 years. He has been general commercial manager and later assistant manager in Maryland since August 1938.

Tasker G. Lowndes, president of the Second National Bank of Cumberland, Maryland, was elected a director of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore city at the regular meeting of the Board, held in Baltimore on Monday, March 31, it was announced today by Lloyd B. Wilson, president of the company.

Mr. Lowndes is a graduate of Yale University and attended the University of Maryland Law School. He has long been a leader in the business, civic and social life of his community. He is chairman of the State Board of Education, chairman of the Board of Governors of the Memorial Hospital, member of the Board of Visitors of the Maryland School for the Deaf, a director of the Cumberland Free Public Library, and the Cumberland Fair Association.

Mr. Lowndes practiced law in Cumberland from 1909 to 1921, when he was elected president of the Second National Bank. He is a member of the Allegany County Bar Association and a member and past president of the Maryland Bankers' Association and the Cumberland Rotary Club.

Army Selectee's Error in Age Costs Him $9,748

DALLAS.—Buck Private Louis A. Neveleff, a former $10,000-a-year executive, wishes he had looked up his age before registering for the draft.

Private Neveleff was a buyer for a Dallas department store until a month ago. Then the army packed him off to Camp Bowie and gave him a rifle.

Then Private Neveleff discovered that he was born April 10, 1904, instead of 1905. The year will cost Neveleff $9,748, the difference between $10,000 a year and $21 a month.

43,000 Different Designs

A total of 43,000 different designs of telephone apparatus for use in nation-wide telephone service is made by the Western Electric Company, manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System.

A Vast Organization

About 300,000 men and women, including the manufacturing and research groups, render Bell System telephone service throughout the nation. Their wages and salaries amount to more than $48,000,000 a month.

Gunsmith's Wife Walks In On Holdup, Routs Bandits

STAFFORD, KAN.—Mrs. F. L. Heyens walked in on three men holding up her husband in his gun shop. Ignoring their shouted "Hands up!" she opened fire. One surrendered. The other two fled, but were captured after a 90-mile-an-hour chase by sheriff's officers.

There Is No Shortage Of Grandparents Here

TIPTON, IND.—Lynda Marie Burton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burton, who was born a few weeks ago, has an ample quota of grandparents. Living are a great-great-grandmother, four great-grandparents and three grandparents.
