PLEASE, MR. GROCER

The grocer is a sadder sight, for those who have an appetite, than ever he has been before—when seen within the village store. His face is often long and drawn—and all his jubilance is gone; his stock a sad and thinning lot of many things he now has not. Does he have this? Does he have that? Have ration troubles knocked him flat or is he simply in despair and burden-ed with a load of care? I weep for him, and sher a tear— and view him a sort of fear—lest he because of his distress may quit, and leave us in a mess.—N. A. Lufburrow. The grocer is a sadder sight, for

The horrors of war struck home, on Thursday morning, when word came to Taneytown that Corporal Arthur D. Neal died from the effects of an explosion of a gun shell. The Asso-ciated Press, quoting the Public Rela-tions Officers stated "Corporal Arthur D. Neal The State of Corporal Arthur D. Neal, Taneytown, age 26, with other members of a gun crew at an Air Base in Pueblo, Colorado, were manning a gun in training when a shell burst killing Neal." The citizens of Taneytown were

RADIO MAN TELLS OF HIS WAR EXPERIENCE Containing Thanks for Thrilling Trip Across the A Atlantic

Operating on a "railroad timetable schedule," German dive bombers and torpedo planes tried to blast a United Nations convoy enroute to a northern Russian port last fall for 10 successive days, only to be driven off by terrific antiaircraft fire that knocked from the skies half of the attacking air force.

"They came over us in waves of 10 and 60 planes every day shortly afternoon," Radioman (Third Class) Robert J. Shreeve, Garfield Heights, a grandson of Mrs. Grace Shreeve, of Taneytown.

Shreeve arrived home on March 20, 1943, after 11 months duty in the At-lantic and the Mediterranean aboard

In his 11 months at sea, Shreeve witnessed much action --participated in rescues of crews of torpedoed ships in convoys and underwent numerous submarine and air attacks-to return home unscathed and eager to return to duty

"Last September my ship was among those that made the long trip to Archangel, up through the North Atlantic and the Barents and White Seas," Shreeve related. "When we left the United States I didn't realize I wouldn't be back for nearly a year. You know you never realize what a wonderful place this country is until you find yourself in a spot like I had.

"I can't tell you where it was, but we were expecting to be attacked be-cause German reconnaissance planes had been flying over us for several days. "As radio man I handled all the communications for our ship and we had constant reports on developments "Then one day at 12:30 P. M. the German planes started coming over in waves. In each wave there were 10 planes. One wave had 67 planes. "The planes, torpedo and dive bomb-ers swept in and let go at us. We countered with our anti-aircraft guns and the skies were really filled with our popping shells and planes. "We seemed to have a lucky ship, we never got hit at all. We did have a lot of near misses, though, I was kent husy receiving reports on what kept busy receiving reports on what to watch for and where it was coming from.'

Air raiders were not the only haz-ards facing the convoy; submarines hit at the ships each morning at dawn and each evening at dusk. "Every day the Germans came back in their planes, at the same timeshortly after noon. It continued like that for 10 days-we couldn't rest or relax and had to be on guard against attack every minute

The dogwood is a favorite of all those who love trees and flowers. Its beauty in early spring is stimulating and warms the heart. The following legend about the dogwood is reprinted from a newspaper of another state. "At the time of the crucifixion, the dogwood attained the size of an oak and other forest trees. So strong and firm was the wood of it that it was chosen for the timber of the cross. To be thus used for such a cruel purpose greatly distressed the tree, and Jesus smiled upon it, and in his gentle pity and sorrow, said to it: "Because of your regret and pity for my suffering, I make you this promise. Never again shall the dog-wood tree grow large enough to be used for a cross. Henceforth, it shall be slender and bent and twisted, and its blossoms shall be in the form of a cross—two long petals and two short petals, and in the center of the outer edge of each there will be nail prints, brown and rust and stained with blood. In the center of the flower there will be an image of crown and thorns and all who see it will remember that it was upon the dogwood tree I was crucified, and this tree shall not be mutilated or destroyed, but cherished as a reminder of my death upon the cross."-Mrs. F. Through enemy action more than two thousand sacks of U. SOUVENIRS ON DISPLAY

The feature exhibit at the Tanevtown High School Library for the week was a continuation of the one on World War 1 souvenirs which was held a few weeks ago. This exhibit was loaned by Wirt Crapster and included many interesting and unusual objects.

Souvenir postal card booklets of Paris, Verdun, Ais, Les Bains, and Cholet were filled with views of the cities in their pre and postwar days. A lace bordered silk handkerchief with the flags of our Allies in World War I were embroidered on it. Orna-mental vases made from German 77 and American 33 mm, shells were included in the exhibit. "Petit sabot" or "little shoes" of sawed wood were minatures of shoes worn by the French peasants. Souvenirs made and sold by French soldiers such as ornamental boxes made from shells, paper knives, crucifixes were on view. bead picked from the floor of the cathedral of Verdun originally hung in one of the chandeliers before the cathedral was shelled by the Germans.

We wonder how many practice being a booster for his, or her, own community, or town? We have "random thoughts" this idea for a long while, and make no excuse for continuing to do so. There is but little real need for the "knocker" anywhere. If things are not just right, why not try to right them instead of criticizing.

Was it Sir Walter Scott, the Scotch poet who wrote—"O wad some power the riftie gie us, to see ourselves as others see us" or some near like this?

LENTEN LIGHTS

As the lights of the world are dimers of the earth, there is more than ever need for those of us who believe to light little candles in our heartscandles of devotion and faith to see us through dark days and darker nights and to enable us to face whatever may come unafraid, because we have seen the light.

Our first candle is the clear, steady so that we may not be led astray into

Our second candle is the slow burngave their reasons for so voting, and ing lights of patience-the light given not a single flattering answer was in us by which to wait and work for the fulfilling of the law. We must guard non-partisan paper. We have some sage came "The people from this well this light in our hearts for we county do not care for any more will have need of it in the dark hours "campaign oratory" from Windy before the dawn of the new day of peace, and the resurrection morning

Our third candle is the gentle gleam Those people out there want no of mercy-not a condescending chari-

> Our fourth candle is the warm glow of friendliness-the spirit of love for our neighbor, regardless of his class, creed or color. We must cherish this light, for in it lies all the law and the prophets, for "if a man love not his neighbor whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?" Our fifth candle is the high reaching flame of gratitude-of thankfulness for the mercies of the past, for the opportunities to serve of the present, and for the courage to face the future-"assured alone that, life or death, His mercy underlies." We must keep this candle burning as a sacrificial fire which warms our hearts even as it burns.

> The sixth candle is the brilliant light of faith, of a belief in the Goodness of God, of the knowledge that in the words of St. John, "We are the sons of God." We must place first the light of faith, for through faith all things are possible-faith not in man alone, but in God and in the Godgiven power of man to do right that

U. S. Infantry Battalion "I have never had more wholehearted, serious-minded co-operation from any troops than I receive from my present command," was the statement received by the war department from Lieut. Col. Farrant L. Turner.

This statement was considered worthy of official release not because it differs from the feeling that most commanding officers have about their present outfits, but because it doesn't. The outfit in question is the 100th Infantry battalion composed of men of Japanese ancestry.

All the soldiers of the 100th are American citizens, born in the Hawaiian islands and members of the Hawaiian National Guard. All of their officers of Japanese ancestry are graduates of the University of Hawaii. The members of the 100th Battalion were not stationed at Pearl Harbor on December 7, but many of them lost relatives and friends. They are grimly determined to prove in action some day that their memory of Pearl Harbor is a vivid Six soldiers of the 100th caused quite a furore in Washington one week-end when they registered at one of the hotels. A hotel clerk became suspicious and called army intelligence, reporting "some Japs dressed as American soldiers.'

Wars Stimulate Women's Activities in Chemistry

The scope of opportunities for women in chemistry is almost un-limited, Dr. Helen I. Miner of Wayne university declares. Surveying the Detroit area, Dr. Miner finds that, while three years ago the majority of women chemists were engaged in teaching or medical research, today a larger proportion is represented in the fields of industry and medicine and the number is limited by the supply rather than the demand.

"Conclusion of the war will not contract this extended horizon for women chemists," Dr. Miner as-"In the reconstruction period serts. which must follow there still will be acute needs for trained Americans of both sexes and of varied racial backgrounds to go abroad to assist in the multitude of problems-nutritional, medical, agricultural, and industrial-which must be solved in winning the peace."

World War I provided the initial stimulus for the first large-scale participation in scientific endeavor by women, Dr. Miner points out. "In 1918 the number of women chemists in the American Chemical society more than tripled the 1914 figure and enrollments in medical and scientific courses in the universities throughout this country were greatly increased."

Flamingo Diet A special diet, devised to prevent red flamingos at the New York Zoological park in the Bronx from fading to a pale pink, is proving successful not only for the red flamingos but also is starting to tinge the normally white feathers of other flamingos a light red. The diet was introduced in August after the zoo acquired four bright red flamingos from the Hialeah race track, in Miami, Fla. Other red flamingos, upon exposure to New York's environment, had always faded to a light pink, barely distinguishable from white. Addition of special vitamins and oils to the mashed "game food" and rice customarily fed to the birds supplied the new diet.

Removes Stains

Wartime restrictions on various chemicals narrow the choice of a stain remover, but sodium perborate, one of the best, is still available at drug stores at relatively small cost. Textile chemists of the department of agriculture report that it is particularly useful for white woolens. It leaves them soft and fluffy. Some ink and metal stains, iron rust, dyes and running colors do not respond. But many other stains yield to sponging with a solution of four tablespoons of sodium perborate in a pint of lukewarm water. The mixture must be used quickly or it loses strength. The sooner a stain is treated after it occurs, the better the chance of complete removal. Thorough rinsing with water is necessary after stains have been removed.

Stuttering Nervous Disorder

Breakdowns of soldiers who are afflicted with dysphemia-stuttering -are increasing, because "many draft boards fail to discriminate in drafting these speech cripples," says Dr. James Sonnett Greene, medical director of the National Hospital for Speech Disorders. If he had his way stutterers would be rejected for active military service because they suffer grave danger of permanent impairment. Their speech disorders are merely symptoms of an underlying nervous condition. Local examining boards see only the symptoms; they cannot understand what speech has to do with a man's ability to shoulder a gun, and that he is nervously and emotionally disorganized.

Save Radio Batteries

Battery-run radios, including a great many used on farms, should be operated on the basis of obtaining at the very most only a single set of replacement batteries a year. Pointing out that production of farm radio batteries has been cut due to restrictions on zinc and to other factors, radio owners are urged to follow simple conservation rules for assuring maximum service from their present supply. The rules include: 1. Don't waste your batteries. 2. Avoid long, continuous radio operation. 3. Keep batteries away from heat. 4. Have the tubes checked regularly. 5. Disconnect batteries from radio when not in operation.

Plan Garden Carefully

Careful selection of the varieties of vegetables for victory gardens this year is necessary if gardeners are to harvest good crops. Richness of the soil, amount of water available, amount of space, the length of the frost-free season, and the amount of sun or shade should be considered before seeds are bought or other preparations made. Among the kinds which need special care in selection of varieties for early maturity are bush and pole beans, sweet corn, eggplant, peppers, tomatoes, carteloupe, cucumbers, squash, pumpkins and similarly easily frosted vegeta-

For every five dollars of allowable expenses that can be deducted from gross farm income in making out a federal income tax return, a farm family saves about one dollar in the amount of the total tax paid. Farm families are willing to pay their just taxes, just as are other citizens, but they should not unknowingly pay more than they are expected into the federal coffers, experts point out.

Horse in Need of Conditioning Now

Important Factors In Care of Horses

Since the horse has returned to stay-for the duration at leastfarmers should start now if they want to put their animals into top condition before spring work begins. According to the department of animal pathology and hygiene at the University of Illinois college of agriculture, good feeding is essential, but consideration should also be given to methods of ridding horses of internal parasites. Bots live in the stomach, while roundworms, strongyles and other parasites live in the small and large intestine and, during certain stages of development, in other body tissues.

The best time to treat horses for parasites is during the winter months. Carbon disulphide is effective in ridding horses of bots and roundworms. Phenothiazine, the drug now so widely used for the control of internal parasites of sheep, is particularly effective in removing strongyles from the digestive tract.

There is, however, an element of danger in the treatment of horses for parasites. Such matters as correct dosage and methods of administration, as well as care given before and after treatment, require the skill and judgment of a veterinarian. A few farmers have used parasite control measures upon advice of a veterinarian for many years.

Two other things, trimming the feet and removing sharp corners from the teeth, should be taken care of before horses are harnessed for field work. These jobs can be done at the same time the horses are givHolds Key Plant Job by Minding Others' Business

Woman's Slight Shoulders Carries Problems of Many Workers.

DOWNEY, CALIF.—On the slight shoulders of Mrs. Loreen Clevenger, the official wailing wall of a big aircraft plant here, are deposited the problems of thousands of workers, with or without tears.

Her formal title is "women's counselor," but that merely begins the story. Her job consists of everything from telling a widower where to find a home for his child to ironing out an 18-year-old's heart problems.

She's an attractive woman, grayhaired, slender, laughing. She dresses well. She is not in the least formidable.

"The most important thing about my job is that I be a good listener,' Mrs. Clevenger says. "And the second most important thing is that I never tell the people who consult me what to do. I let them talk, in conference in my office or on the factory floor, and I suggest outlines of thought to them. But I always let them work out the final solutions to their problems themselves."

All Kinds of Problems. What sort of problems come her

Mr. H. was left stranded with two young children when his wife decided existence would be better without him. He was in trouble, for he didn't know how to care for his children and had no chance to learn, owing to his working hours. He came to Mrs. Clevenger to ask if she could possibly find him a housekeeper. Within a few hours and after a few telephone calls, a woman was in charge of his babies and his home. Mr. H. slept soundly that night for the first time in weeks. Much of Mrs. Clevenger's work, of course, has to do with the children of war workers. This is one of the greatest industrial knots of 1943 and, as yet, little has been done to unravel it, either by the federal government or by the factories or states.

DOUBLE-GLAZING

Question: I intend to double-glaze my steel casement windows instead of putting on storm sash. Naturally, extreme care would have to be used to avoid soiling the glass. What do you think of the possibility of condensation between the glass, causing spots on the surface of either pane?

Answer: The possibility of condensation between the two sheets of glass will depend entirely on how well you seal the spaces between the two pieces of glass. Eventual-ly, the inside surfaces of the glass will become soiled by infiltration, making it necessary to remove one pane of glass in each frame for a thorough cleaning. You can get a double glass that is factory sealed, with a dehydrated air space between. Ask your glass man about this.

Time to Paint

With the winter months behind, your home may be due for a coat of paint. Surface dirt should be brushed off with a wire brush, then wipe off with rag. Blisters should be scraped.

Dark Woodwork

Question: The woodwork in my house is oak, finished quite dark. I wish to paint it ivory, semi-gloss How should I go about doing this?

Answer: For the best job, remove the present finish with varnish remover, which will soften the finish enough to be scraped off. Clean off all traces of the remover with benzine-being very careful of fire. Sandpaper, wipe off dust and then refinish with two undercoats of ivory and the semi-gloss enamel. An alternative method is to roughen the old finish by sandpapering, wipe off

Agriculture in Industry By FLORENCE C. WEED

Hardwoods

At the U. S. Forest Products laboratory at Madison, Wis., new wood uses have been uncovered which have been adopted by industry. Among these are wood plastics, made by heating millwaste with acids which convert it into a molding powder for floortiles and switchboard panels.

Corrugating board for shipping containers is made from chestnut chips discarded after tannin is extracted. Black jack oak and red gum may be substituted as chestnut wood disappears through disease.

Over 200 recent buildings have utilized glued and laminated structural beams and arches which are made from cheap, low-grade smallsized boards put together under pressure. Prefabricated houses are being marketed with panels for walls, floors and roofs made from plywood glued to light frame.

Strong papers are being made for wrapping from maple, birch and as-Cellophane is made from pen. pulped wood, treated chemically to convert it into jelly. This is filtered through narrow slits to become transparent sheets.

At a California lumber mill, red wood sawdust, chips and shavings are compacted under pressure into small logs sold for fireplaces, dining cars and ship galleys. Shredded redwood bark, known as Palco wool, is being marketed for insulation. When finished, it is a fluffy material resembling a mass of red hair.

More Farm Machinery

Success in meeting farm production goals for 1943 will be dependent to a great extent upon getting the last possible ounce of help from machinery. Every piece of power farm equipment should be given a general overhauling to make certain it will be ready to operate when needed. Efforts also should be made to make community work schedules for tools which will not be used full-time on the farms of their owners. All this will help our war effort.

nursery schools for some, parentplacement homes for others (in which both the child and the father or mother receive lodging and care), and full-time care for still others. But the question of war workers' boys and girls is far from being settled, by Vultee or any other company

> Mrs. Clevenger tells the new worker that she is to feel free to come to her at any time. Her problems will be held in confidence, and she will receive all possible aid. To facilitate this, the counselor has office hours during the employees' lunch periods, seeing them there by appointment and making records of each conversation.

She also makes daily tours of the plant, talking for a few minutes at a time with men and women on the factory floor. In these talks, she utilizes nine years of varied experience in social work in California, plus many years of teaching.

Cockatoo Taken Prisoner

By Americans in Buna WITH ADVANCED ALLIED FORCES IN NEW GUINEA .- One of the prisoners of war taken during American occupation of Buna Mission was a spirited dusty white cockatoo with a yellow crest.

The bird, evidently the pet of some Japanese soldier, fluttered into the American lines and was caught by Corp. Irwin Toler of Bellingham, Wash., who took permanent possession and named his prize The General. The General took a fancy to Corporal Toler, who fed him hardtack and bugs.

"He's been yammering some kind of talk at me all day," the corporal remarked, "but I can't understand it. I suppose it's Japanese."

warping and rotting within a year? | struck down.

Answer: I presume that it is a cement floor. For a good job, you could use the following method: First, mop on a coating of liquid tar or asphalt. Then put down a layer of heavy asphalt or tar-saturated felt, overlapping the sheets half their width, with a mopping of liquid tar or asphalt between the laps. The wood flooring, in parquetlike blocks, then is laid in an asphalt mastic cement. Most flooring contractors are familiar with this method.

Faded Curtains

Question: Grayish-tan crash window drapes were drawn most of the time, so that the folds exposed to the sun became faded, the underfolds remaining as they were originally. What can I do to them to get a uniform color?

Answer: Have the curtains dyed a slightly darker shade. If done by a reliable dyer, the color will be uniform.

Cracked Door Panel

Question: I have a cracked panel in a bedroom door that I should like | tles of different sizes; bread box and to fill before giving the door a coat of flat white paint. How can I fill the crack?

Answer: You can get a prepared crack filler, which is on sale at hardware and paint stores. Or you could try filling the crack with thickened paint, scraped from the upper part of a half-used can. After drying, smooth with fine sandpaper.

Pitted Laundry Tubs

Question: Can you advise me about my two-part laundry tray in the basement? The bottom is pitted and very rough and it has been in this condition for a considerable length of time. Is there something I can put on it to make a smooth

Answer: If the tray is made of soapstone or slate, the bottom can be smoothed by rubbing with a block of carborundum stone. If the tray is made of china or enameled iron nothing can be done to make it smooth.

FEESERSBURG.

March went out like a lamb, and April entered with sunshine and showers, and the grass turned as green as emerald--0 but the fields look brilliant: The next day was cold and windy, proving that April is as fickle as ever, but we find her very interesting in all her moods; the time of planting and cleaning, new leaves everywhere, blossoms, and some early vegetables.

This has been 'Negro Health Week' -as was explained by the preacher on the program of The Southernaires, on Sunday morning, when he gave an urgent talk for "Health on the Home Front, and victory on the war front." On Wednesday of last week Mrs.

W. F. Miller, Sr. and Mrs. Addie Crumbacker attended the sale of stock implements and household goods of Ernest W. Flanagan, near New Midway, where many people gathered and good prices were paid for articles sold

Amos Crushon who recently made sale of his home and possession near Detour, has come to live with brother Joseph, of this place; and just now they are cultivating 5 acres of ground for potatoes. Roy Crouse helped them cut 50 bushels, then they'll be put into a solution to protect from insects, dried again, and put into the soil by a planting machine—another labor saving device.

The George Roelke family moved last Thursday from the G. S. LaForge place in our town, to what is now known as the cement farm, beyond Union Bridge, with his sister, Miss Margaret Roelke and her aunt, while their brother Paul, is in military service in the South-one hates to lose good neighbors.

From a friend a copy of the Record Herald, of Waynesboro, tells of the rededication service at the Lutheran church there on March 28, when Rev. Harry F. Baughman, D. D., Professor of Homiletics at Lutheran Seminary, Gettysburg, was the guest speaker-"basing his discourse on three New Testament churches: the church be hind barred doors in the Upper Room in Jerusalem; which he characterized as in danger of dying—until persecu-tion scattered it over the world and the blood of the Martyrs became the seed of the church; the Church at Sardis which had all the appearance of being prosperous, was well organized and would have sent good reports to Synod-but was dead; the Church at Smyrna-which suffered much, but like its pastor—Poly Carp was faith-ful until death, and received high praise from the Lord." The cost of the splendid repairs amounted to $8,000 and liberal gifts were made by members and friends of the congregation and the addition of Lenten offer-ings with the gifts of S. S. classes made it possible to pay for all improvements, without a special appeal for funds. The Monday evening Devotionals from Westminster are well received and appreciated. The ministers of Carroll Co., give earnest service, and the singing from the various churches is good and uplifting."As there are diversities of gifts"-so some of our ministers excel in prayer, some delivery, and others in reading of Scrip-ture, etc. Once at the Lutheran Church in Taneytown, we heard young Rev. Wm. Wheeler, the pastor, read the story of Paul's ship wreck. and he made it so real one almost felt the beat of the waves, the excitement on board, and at last the grounding of the vessel-which was a sermon in itself. Blessings on our faithful pastors!

daughters, Evelyn and Gladys and G. W. Slonaker, visited Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Talbert, Silver Spring, on Saturday.

Due to illness Mrs. Annie Caylor, left town on Wednesday to be cared for by her sister, Mrs. Emory Baust. On Tuesday "Aunty" Brough was removed from her home to the home of her nieces, Mrs. Lillian Byers and Miss Edna Erb, Westminster.

Mrs. Glennie Crouse is slowly recovering from a recent illness. The Minute Men of Baust Church and Frizellburg under the leadership of their Captain Rev. Miles Reifsnyder made an effort on Tuesday evening to capture our town, but as they drew near they found it to be well guarded by our Minute Men under the leadership of their Captain Clarence Lockard. While prisoners were taken on both sides yet the Minute Men of Uniontown were able to prevent the capture of the town. Mrs. W. P. Englar, Mrs. Myers Englar and Miss Betty Englar, visited and Mrs. H. Channing Rash,

Easton, on last Sunday. Rev. Paul R. Fillion, student at Westminster Theological Seminary, was a supper guest at the Methodist parsonage last Sunday evening. Mr. Fillion gave a very inspiring address to the young people at the evening worship. The Woman's Society of Christian

LETTER FROM DETROIT

There is always a lot of things happening in a large manufacturing city like Detroit, that interest the people of the city, but which do not apply to any of the problems you folks in there have to solve. A lot of new ones have sprung up since last writing, and I want to give you a little idea of what ome folks do to pass the time, telling you of some of the new things that have turned up since last week. The first is a statement of how the heads of the Labor Unions are endeavoring to increase the power and revenue of the organizations they lead with having all employees who are not officials of the different firms, in their ranks, they are now trying to organize the foremen, so that they can control which they are firmly established. If they succeed in doing this, about all the stockholders and higher officials can do is to furnish the money and brains to run the business, while the Unions capture the profits.

We often hear factory employees refer to the good times of the period previous to 1929, and I always think that then we had very few unions, and I am sure that the men and their employees enjoyed more confidence in each other than they do now, as then men were paid according to what they were worth, while now, under the Un-ion plan, a worthless workman gets much pay as one who is valuable, if they both work on the same job.

I believe in organization, but not the kind we have out here, with racketeers running everything in that line. A man cannot call his soul his own, for he is told when to strike in what manner-sit-down, slowup, walkout, etc---and usually he is afraid to not obey the orders of these Union officers.

stores, which are now subject to this

Another thing that is attracting the attention of our people is the effort that is being made by the decent element in the city, to have the saloons and beer gardens closed on Sundays, putting them in line with the drug stores and State Liquor

Sunday closing law. Opposed to this effort are, of course, the above mentioned saloon keepers, but also some of the law-enforcement officers of the city, and others who do not seem to know that that Sunday, which, at least, should be observed as a day of rest, is now the principal day of the week, on which the majority, I think I may say, of those who are making these high wages are squandering their money, and in many cases, are rendering themselves unfit on the following day, for work in which they are engaged, which, we are told, is so important to our war effort. The claim is made that workers need recreation, and that the saloon is the only place to get it. I do not hold to this idea, and am glad that there are those who are engaged in the effort to make our city a better place to live in. Whether this effort will be approved by the Legislature, remains to be seen, but those of us in this area, where there are twelve establish ments selling liquor, in two blocks, on one street, are sure wishing it success. Another one of our neighboring nen, over 38 years old, who has been stationed in a Southern Army camp, has turned up with an honorable disras R. H. Thompson. This weather is like Hitler; put on a glad to see him back. It certainly seems that the War Department has found out its mistake in calling up

Vitamin B's Will Banish

Lowly, Droopy Feelings One of the best tonics for spring and every other season is food providing B vitamins. This group of vitamins in your food can give you a lift without a letdown, may change just fair health to buoyant health, may steady the nerves and even improve a frayed disposition.

In wartime when every one needs to be at his own peak of fitness, it pays to mind vitamin B's. The war demands for longer hours, for heavier work, for enduring more nervous strain, all may increase the body's needs for B vitamins. And the wartime food situation calls for wise shopping, to get enough B's in the market basket, and proper cooking to get them on the dinner plate practically intact.

Because the B vitamins are so important to health, it is unfortunate that they are sometimes thought of as problem children of the vitamin family-difficult to understand and difficult to get into meals without special attention.

First, in their raw or original state most plant and animal foods comtain some of the B vitamins, but only a few foods contain much. In fact, the really rich sources of B vitamins can be counted on one hand. Some of these foods are relatively rich in one B, some in another. For special mention we might note lean pork, liver and kidney and other meat organs, whole grains, dried beans and peas, soybeans, and nuts -particularly peanuts. Other foods that supply vitamins of B group include lean meats, eggs, milk, vegetables, and fruits. Today all white flour and bread are enriched with thiamine and niacin, and soon riboflavin will be required also.

Burglar Tries Plan to Beat Coffee Rationing

AKRON.-A thief with an eye for beating coffee rationing was the guilty possessor of 16 pounds of the golden" bean.

Not only did the thief take the coffee after he had forced the rear door of a grocery store, but he took a large ham and 16 cartons of cigarettes, Sam Levine, the store proprietor, said.

Thug Insists His Record Be Read in a Whisper

NEW YORK .- Although his criminal past is known to the police across the country, Pat Moriarty, 46 years old, is very sensitive about being publicly proclaimed the most expert safe burglar in America.

He demonstrated this in Judge Jonah J. Goldstein's part of general sessions when he stipulated that, unless his police record of 17 arrests in the last 30 years, including four felony convictions, was recited in a whisper, he would not plead guilty as a fourth offender to carrying burglars' tools.

This stipulation was conveyed in a whisper to Judge Goldstein on the bench, and the court, also in a whisper, agreed to it. Then the court clerk accepted Moriarty's guilty plea in a whisper and Moriarty whisered "Yes' in separate admiss that he received a prison term for a burglary in Mississippi in 1919, another term as a burglar in Tennessee in 1921 and a term as a hold-up man in Massachusetts in 1928.

The various papers have made men-tion of many flocks of Wild Geese passing over recently; but we've failed to hear their honking or see their formation. Their instinct for moving from South to North is beyong our understanding-and seems wonderful!

While one of our neighbors was plowing last week, two while birds flew down from the air and secure. worms from ris furrow, then soared skyward again leaving him in wonder as to their species and whereabouts Might it be that two wild fowls went astray and soared and sought food from the earth and passed on? We only know of white pigeons, doves and chickens, but no other white birds, and they are not so large as the above visitants.

April 1, 1826 contruction began in Mass on the first railroad in the U.S. and proved no April Fool; April 2, 1792 the first U.S. mint was estab-lished at Philadelphia and it took us a long time to understand they couldn't give out all the money everyone wanted. The cold winter was hard on rose bushes and perennials as a number of friends inform us, so they have been trimmed very close to the ground—as most of the branches were found dead --perhaps that will improve the stalks and blooms. The grapevines too have been cut back and we hope for good results.

For 'Rationing' Doctors

An increase in the number of students in the medical schools of the country may be necessary, according to Dean Rappleye, but the effect will not be felt for several years, because of the length of professional[®]education.

"The over-all medical needs of the country for military, civilian, and public health activities have not yet been visualized," the report points out. "At the present time there are about thirty-five thousand doctors in the army, and it is likely that by the end of 1943, on the basis of the present estimates, the army will need about forty-five thousand

"Should the ratio of doctors per thousand men in the army be reduced the figure would be modified. The navy's requirements will reach close to 10,000 doctors. At the present time the number of licensed physicians under 45 years of age is 81,-000, and those between 36 and 45 total about 38,000."

Provide for 'War Appointments'

Two West coast cities-Los Angeles and San Francisco-are making temporary appointments to municipal jobs as a wartime measure to meet manpower needs, according to the Civil Service assembly.

Los Angeles has made DNE (Duration of national emergency) appointments to more than 50 classes of civil service positions. The temporary appointments duplicate positions vacated by those leaving for the armed forces, offering their salary range, but not civil service status.

San Francisco will have "limited tenure appointments" if a charter amendment approved by voters is ratified by the state legislature meeting this month.

Judge Goldstein leaned over the bench and whispered to Moriarty, "I sentence you to 15 years to life imprisonment." "Thanks," whispered Pat, in appreciation of something.

Corn Shucker 'Bombed'

From Way Down Under CHICKASHA, OKLA,-Hoot Tucker thought the day of aerial bombing had struck Oklahoma.

He was shucking corn and minding his own business on a farm near Tabler, when there was a terrific blast nearby, a big hole was torn in the ground, and flames spurted 20 feet high.

Tucker's team ran away. He admitted he felt like doing the same thing, but he had to investigate, found a high-pressure natural gas line had burst.

Cop Tries Out Handcuffs; Finds They Fit Too Snugly

NASHVILLE, TENN.-Police Sergeant Sam Norton decided to test a new pair of handcuffs issued to his patrol. He snapped them on his wrists.

"They fit rather snugly," he commented, inserting the key to remove them. The key broke. He was escorted to a locksmith, where the cuffs were removed.

Blackout Lessons Are

WHEELING, W. VA .- Wheeling civilian defense workers are taking lessons on how to get about during blackouts from one who knows-C. C. Cerone, blind merchant, who has been in a blackout of continuous darkness for 30 years.

Cerone explained methods employed by the blind in getting "about in the darkness." He said that in darkness any person could "feel" objects when near them by a "sixth sense," coupled with the superactivity of the other senses with sight impaired, the sense of hearing playing a major role.

He also demonstrated the use of the cane in darkness, the functions of which are many, for instance the tapping of cellarways and doorways. One year has past, dear father, Yet it seems but a day: No one knows how much I miss you, Since the day you went away. His Loving daughter, BLANCHE. He also demonstrated the use of

1,000 Women Keep One Of Britain's War Secrets

LONDON.-Who said women can't keep a secret? Well, more than 1,000 of them kept quiet for years about one of Britain's secrets-radio-location. Sir Robert Watson-Watt, inventor, disclosed there were three stenog-raphers on his staff a decade ago when he started his experiments and 5. Corporate stocks (including $None stock of Federal Reserve bank) gradually he let more and more in on the work until, shortly before the war, more than 1,000 knew the details

Slate Up in Air Tells

Aviator He's a Daddy WITH THE U.S. PACIFIC FLEET .- It's a safe bet that Lieut. Louis De Camp, a naval aviator from Hollywood, found out he had a new daughter via the strangest birth announcement ever put out.

It was written on a slate and said: "Mother and baby daughter doing nicely. Congratulations.'

The slate was held up, so Lieutenant De Camp could read it, by another pilot in a plane which drew near De Camp's while he was on flight.

Baby De Camp now is three months old.

The Nation Dare Not Fail in This Greatest Financing Task in History—"They Give Their Lives-You Lend Your Money."

Washington, D. C .- Coming as it does upon the heels of income tax payments, the people of America will face an acid test this month when the Treasury's Second War Loan drive opens April 12 with an objective of thirteen billion dollars to be raised through sale of Government securities.

A substantial part of this huge financing, the most stupendous ever undertaken by any government in the world's history, must be loaned by people in ordinary walks of life.

High Government officials have pointed out that the nation must not fail in this duty to our men on the battle fronts who are now carrying the offensive to the enemy at every stage. It is obvious to every thinking man and woman that as the United Nations take this offensive against the dictators, the cost of war operations increases in proportion.

The American people must no longer think of war costs in terms of equipping a soldier, building a tank or plane or a ship. We must now think in terms of the cost of battles, invasions and new offensives. Attacking armies cost more money than equipping that army and we must meet that increased cost by buying more War Bonds and Second War Loan Securities.

the Lesson-Sermon will be the following from the Bible Exodus 20:2-"I am the Lord thy God, which hath brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage." The Lesson-Sermon also will in-clude passages of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, among which is the following, page 272—"God is the divine Principle of all that represents Him and of all that really exists."

Darn Clothing

"Those inclined to 'darn' everything might follow a literal meaning of the term if they hope to make their clothing, much of which has been curtailed for the duration, last longer by patching, mending and darning it," says Edna Gray, cloth-ing specialist. "A hand darn in replacing the plain weave of the fabric is best in mending most small tears in wool material, while for a large tear, it is better to use a darned-in patch or an inset patch. To darn a straight tear by hand, start and finish about one-quarter inch beyond the tear, keeping the rows exactly in line with the yarns in the cloth. The darn will show less if the rows of stitching are extended unevenly into the fabric. To give added strength, darn over a piece of the same cloth or over a piece of net basted to the underside allowing raw edges of the hole to go to the underside.

They Give Their Lives.

It is not only necessary that the American people left here at home assume this additional participation in the war effort-it is an honor to do so . . . for we here at home can do no less than attempt to approach the sacrifices of our brave men out on the fighting fronts to whom the last great measure of sacrifice is but a daily offering. They give their lives . . . we are asked only to lend our money.

And that is the theme of the Second War Loan, "They Give Their Lives-You Lend Your Money.'

Financial experts who know monetary conditions in the nation point out that at the present time there is in liquid funds, cash and commercial bank deposits over and above taxes and present investment in Government Bonds, and over and You lend your money.

its mates, will tend to increase inflation. Uncontrolled inflation might raise the cost of living to a point where the dollar is worthless. It can happen. It happened in Germany after the last war when the price of a loaf of bread cost more than an annual wage.

Invested in Government securities, your dollar will work for you. It will hold down inflation because it is harnessed in war work; it will help buy food, transportation, munitions for our boys on the front lines and it will be earning interest that, together with your original loan, will come back to you later to help you buy the things you cannot buy today . to insure your peace of the future.

Remember those boys out there . . . in Tunisia . . . in the South Pacific . . . They give their lives-

Six-Footers Now Given Preference In Show Business

Tall Girls Are in Demand on Stage and Wages Are High, Too.

NEW YORK .- Pulchritude is hitting a new high in the show business. Show girls six feet tall are much in demand. Wages are up because of that demand.

In Hollywood there is a genuine scarcity of showgirls, both six-footers and those nearer the traditional five-feet-two. In New York there is no pronounced shortage as yet, but a showgirl who really has something to offer in the way of looks is having little trouble finding a job.

Sooner or later, the Hollywood shortage probably will be felt in New York, if only because secondchoice showgirls decide to buy tickets to Hollywood. But veteran showmen here anticipate no trouble in finding girls-yet.

To begin with, a showgirl should not be confused with a chorus girl. All a showgirl has to do is look pretty and strut around in as few clothes as the law or her conscience will permit. A chorus girl has to know how to dance, and if she wants to work steadily, should be a bit decorative as well.

War Causes Shortage.

Charles R. Rogers, Hollywood producer who came here for a preview of "The Powers Girl," attributed the West coast shortage of showgirls directly to the war. Girls in and out of films, he said, are finding their time taken up with interests like the Red Cross and the wartime services. There is a great consciousness of uniforms, he said, and many girls are finding it embarrassing not to be wearing one.

There also is a big trend toward all-girl pictures in all the major studios, and showgirls and dancing girls who formerly got jobs when-ever they could now have contracts and are loaned back and forth between studios.

"The girls are in a patriotic frame of mind," Rogers added, "and are not doing style shows and personal appearances. They are 'making down' instead of 'making up,' using less lipstick and rouge, and as a result we are seeing a more natural beauty.

On the West coast also, many girls felt it their duty to work on the harvests, and a great number have left the films altogether for jobs in aircraft plants that pay more than the showgirls average, and take much less for clothes.

WAAC Calls Girls Away.

New York seems to have more male employables for the war industries, and there was not the same concern here over harvesting. Also, according to such Broadway showmen as George Abbott and Michael Todd, New York can draw its showgirl recruits from a bigger area, including the profession's training schools.

There never has been an oversupply of really beautiful girls, however, and Broadway is showing the ame demand for all-girl casts Hunt Stromberg, unable to find enough six-foot showgirls in Hollywood, carried his search to New York and located 10 to which he offered jobs in the film version of Gypsy Rose Lee's epic, "The G-String Murders." Before the picture went into production, however, two of the girls had joined the WAAC, four were doubling between Broadway shows and posing for artists and changed their minds about leaving, and the four others had night club contracts and couldn't get away. So Stromberg went back to Hollywood and began casting all over again.

UNICE read the paragraph again.

"Will anyone knowing whereabouts of Lawrence ('Larry') McNulty please communicate with Rita, Pelton, N. He was last known to have been in the vicinity of eastern Pennsylvania."

After the second reading she became aware of a queer sensation. It had been Eunice's habit to read the personal column in the morning Sun every noon while eating her sandwich and drinking her glass of milk at Ned's place. There was no particular reason for it. It was just something to do during her lunch hour. Personals always interested her.

Eunice folded the paper neatly and put it on the table. Tony, who always brought Eunice her sandwiches, would pick up the paper when he cleared off her table-as he had been doing every noon for three years.

Eunice sat for a long time on this particular day and stared at nothing. She was thinking of Larry Mc-Nulty, to whom her engagement had been announced a month ago. They were to be married on Thanksgiving eve, only three weeks away.

In a sense she had taken Larry at his face value. That is to say, he had come to Norton and had gone to work for an insurance company, and had chosen to offer no information about where he had come from or what he had done in the past.

He was, so to speak, a sort of mysterious person. Perhaps it was this mystery that had intrigued Eunice. She loved Larry for what he was, not for what he had been.

But now this! What in the world could it mean? Who was Rita, Pelton, N. Y.? Who was it who wanted to communicate with Larry? From whom was he hiding? Yes, he must be hiding. There was no other explanation for it.'

Eunice felt a little ill at thoughts of the possibility of Larry's being married. And on the heels of this agonizing thought came another: He

"Larry, dear, do tell me something about yourself-where you lived before you came here-you" folks.

Larry grinned: "Oh, bother! Time enough later to meet the folks. The town I came from is only a pinhole on the map, anyhow.'

"But-but you must have some folks; you must have someone who is interested in you?"

Larry sobered instantly. "My folks are all dead, Eunice. All but one."

Eunice felt a curious feeling of mixed pity and fear. All but one. She struggled to keep her voice nonchalant

"And that one-who is she?" "She? What makes you think it's a she?" Eunice's eyes opened wide. There! She'd put her foot in it that time. Without thinking, too. Well, it showed pretty clearly how her thoughts were running.

"I don't know," she said casually. "I just took it for granted."

Larry leaned across the table. "Would it make any difference, dear -about us? I mean, in regard to my folks?"

Eunice couldn't resist that look. 'Of course not, darling. Not a particle. But a wife naturally is interested in her in-laws."

Larry was grinning again. "Good. That's what I wanted to hear. You see, I have only one sister-left. Father and mother were killed in an auto accident. It upset me terribly I had to get away. And I couldn't bear to talk about the old home town -or them. You understand, don't you, dear?"

A sense of relief swept through her. "Of course, darling. I'm sor-ry." Eunice suddenly began to laugh. "It was so silly, but this noon I was looking through the personal column of the Sun and I chanced upon an item asking a Larry McNulty to get in touch with a mysterious Rita. I was curious for a while. But of course it wasn't you."

"Oh, but it was."

Eunice looked at him, a little startled, a little bewildered. "It was? Then—then—" She couldn't finish.

And Larry smiled at her puzzle-ment. "I inserted the advertisement myself, darling. I knew you looked through that personal column every noon, and I couldn't for the life of me understand why-especially so when you never discovered an item about anyone you knew. I, therefore, decided to give you a little surprise. I'd like to have been there when you read my name."

"I wish you had," said Eunice, looking at him in mock severity. "For it wasn't until ten minutes after I'd read the item that I decided to take you on face value."

'Fiery Serpent' Found

To Be Parasitic Worm The "fiery serpent" of the Old Testament was probably the Medina or guinea worm, which still parasitizes man in Egypt, the Near East, Russia, India, and the Dutch East Indies, according to Dr. James T. Culbertson of Columbia university. In the Western hemisphere, the guinea worm occurs in the islands of the Caribbean sea, Brazil, and the Guianas. It measures up to four feet in length and lodges deep in subcutaneous tissue.

To make up present food deficits of our allies alone, we would have to feed 80 to 100 million persons, or nearly an additional three-fourths of our own population, it is said.

New Zealand, Australia and Argentina have been great producers of surplus food in peace time, but the long transportation lines from these countries make it difficult to get food from them to Europe. The east coast of North America is only 3,000 miles from England, while Buenos Aires is 6,000 miles away, and Australia and New Zealand are 11,000 miles away.

Europe imported 10 per cent of her food before the war, or enough to feed 50 million persons. Today the deficit is probably 40 per cent or the quantity needed to feed 200 million persons.

Food has always been the No. 1 problem of the world, for even in recent years only western Europe and the New World have had adequate food, as a result of mechanized agriculture and rapid transportation.

Woman Neighbor Chokes

Girl With Apron String CINCINNATI, OHIO.-Gail Marie Bradner, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bradner, was strangled to death by Miss Marie Thiel, 33, a neighbor, who surrendered to police. "I don't know why I did it," she said.

The child's body was found in Miss Thiel's apartment. The child's parents live in the same apartment dwelling.

Miss Thiel told police she pulled an apron string tightly around the child's neck.

Detectives found the body of the child on a small stool. Efforts of a rescue squad to revive the child were unsuccessful.

Police said the woman walked into Central police station and announced:

"I have choked a baby to death." Miss Thiel recently was an inmate of a hospital, police reported, and lived with a sister, Mrs. Alice Goode.

The child's father was working while the mother had left the building on an errand.

CINCINNATI, OHIO .- The thief who is wearing the jacket stolen from Walter Vizcarrondo, army ordnance department employee, had better be careful.

Vizcarrondo told police the jacket. which was stolen from his automobile, contained a two-ounce bottle of chemical more explosive than TNT. A plaid shirt saturated with gunpowder also was stolen. Vizcarrondo is employed in the laboratory.

might be a fugitive. Impossible! Larry, whatever else, wasn't a criminal.

But what could it mean? Eunice struggled against a vague premonition of impending disaster. She tried to tell herself that there was another Larry McNulty. But this was little comfort. If she had only known something of his past, where he came, from, his folks.

Eunice roused herself at last. The time lacked five minutes of the end of her lunch hour. She went out and hurried to the dentist's office where she was employed as assistant. The afternoon dragged. Tonight she'd see him. She must find out . . .

Eunice departed sharply at five o'clock, following a rather unsatisfactory afternoon for both the dentist and herself.

En route to her apartment she reached a decision. She couldn't openly ask him. That would betray a doubt. And not for a single instant did she doubt Larry's love, or her love for him. She was willing, despite all the hideous possibilities that constantly and persistently crowded into her mind, to take him at face value. Yet, somehow, she must know. She'd have to be tactful. She'd have to hedge, beat about the bush. But she'd have to get it out of him-if for no better reason than to satisfy her curiosity.

Larry, as usual, arrived promptly at eight o'clock. He was a tall youth, with fair hair and blue eyes that constantly twinkled, and made Eunice love him more profoundly. On this night he was in a jubilant mood. He had received a raise at the office. The boys were going to throw a stag party in honor of his forthcoming marriage. He had obtained tickets to the best play in town to celebrate.

Eunice couldn't very well refuse the theater. She'd have to postpone her tactful inquiry until later. And even later, when they were seated in a dine and dance emporium, she had difficulty in bringing herself to the ordeal. But it had to be done. She

Knowledge of the largest helminths-parasitic worms-had begun to accumulate by the time of the first written records available today. Dr. Culbertson. assistant professor of bacteriology in the Columbia university school of medicine, points out. In the Papyrus Ebers of the 16th century B. C., a helminth is mentioned, along with a remedy for infection with it. Some of the teachings of Moses were directed toward protecting the Jews from the helminth parasites in scavenger animals. Hippocrates as well as other medical men recognized cysts caused by the parasites, although the relationship of the cysts to tapeworms was not then suspected.

An infusion of pomegranate bark described in the Papyrus Ebers was evidently the first substance employed successfully for removing tapeworms, Dr. Culbertson says. The principal material used at the present time, obtained from the fern Aspidium filix-mas, has also long been known, and was recommended about 300 B. C. by Theophrastus, a student of Aristotle.

Almost Always Veiled

In northern Africa the Moslem woman of the city is almost always veiled. The desert women go unveiled. In Turkey the situation is somewhat reversed. The city woman has given up the veil, but the more conservative villager and the woman of the older generation still cling to this ancient custom which had its origin in pre-Islamic days when morals in Arabia were low and rough Bedouins from the desert roamed through the cities and towns. Moslem men-a trifle on the jealous side-veiled their women from roving eyes and insults. The veil, however, has not always been a screen for feminine beauty alone. The Tuaregs of Africa, sometimes referred to as "the people of the veil," cover the faces of their men, but allow their women to go unveiled. To these men the veil is so important that it is never removed. The men of the upper class wear black veils while the men servants must wear white.

Postwar Period May Bring

UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL CHOOL Lesson By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago eleased by Western Newspaper Union.) Lesson for April 11

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts se-lected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by "It is possible," said Professor PETER AND JOHN WITNESS LESSON TEXT-Mark 9:2-8; II Peter LESSON TEXT-Mark 9.2.6, If rece. 1:16-18. GOLDEN TEXT-A voice came out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloved Son: hear him.-Mark 9:7.

Christ is God! The one who comes to know that truth is ready to follow Christ, and to make Him known to others. The want of such a true conception of the Son of God weakens our convictions and hinders our usefulness.

CHRIST'S GLORY

"Where there is no vision, the people perish," said the wise man (Prov. 29:18). For want of a true vision of Christ as God, and the Godgiven constraint which makes men give themselves in sacrificial service, the people perish in their sins.

Peter and John saw our Lord in His transfiguration, and the glow of that experience lighted their entire life and ministry. The touch of the supernatural was on these men and their message-for they had seen the glory of Christ.

I. The Amazing Glory of the Son (Mark 9:2-6).

The transfiguration of Christ is one of those wonderfully beautiful and deeply spiritual experiences which defy analysis or satisfactory de-scription. Poetry and art have vain-ly tried to depict it only to become "in fact a confession of the impotence of the loftiest art to rise to the level of the divine" (Van Dyke).

Peter was so dazzled that he could only suggest that they remain there, forgetting for the moment that down in the valley was demon-ridden humanity waiting for the divine deliverance of the Son of God (see Luke 9:37-42).

What took place on the mount can possibly best be explained as the outshining of the inner glory of the Christ. He had laid aside His glory when He became flesh, but not His divine attributes as very God. There in the presence of God and the heavenly visitors that glory shone through His humanity and His appearance became dazzling in its whiteness.

II. The Approving Word of the Father (Mark 9:7, 8).

A cloud, like the cloud which filled the Temple of old (I Kings 8:10,11), covered them, and the Father spoke out of it words of approval of His Son.

These words carry "both judgment and command; judgment concerning Jesus, 'This is my beloved Son.' and command to the disciples, 'Hear ye him'-that is, 'Listen to him' " (Lesson Commentary.)

John and Peter came to a fuller

Chance to Trade in Homes After the war you may be able to turn in your old house for a later model, just as you have been turning in your old car for a new one, Harry G. Guthmann, professor of finance at Northwestern university, predicts. This interesting possibility is the result of the wartime development of demountable prefabricated houses.

Guthmann, "that World War II may do for the prefabricated house what World War I did for the gas buggy. "Not only has prefabricated housing developed into a very lusty war baby, but there has been a large increase in the building of demountable units. Of 126,315 dwelling units for defense housing placed under the Federal Public Housing Authority last year a total of 65,883, or 52 per cent, were labeled as demountable prefabricated units.'

He pointed out that the houses built by the National Homes corporation at Indian Head, Md., costing $2,980 on the average, were demounted, trucked 40 miles, and reerected on new foundations at a cost of $474. "If houses are readily movable in this fashion, neighborhood will have less significance than it does now," Professor Guthmann said. "A badly located house could always be moved to a more satisfactory location.

"A householder, wishing a more up to date dwelling, could turn in his old house on a new model, and enjoy the latter on the home site upon which he had lavished landscaping care and around which the homes of his friends were located."

Marines Invent New Game: Knocking Japs From Trees

U. S. marines are becoming experts at playing a new game inaugurated at Guadalcanal.

Operating amphibian tractors, tanks, trucks and jeeps, Leathernecks ram their vehicles against coconut trees in which Japanese snipers are perched. The resulting impact usually hurls the tree's occupant earthward in the manner of an arrow springing from a bow.

Points acquired by contestants vary in accordance to the distance Japs are sprung from the trees, according to Capt. Harry L. Torgerson of Lynbrook, N. Y., a paramarine who recently returned to the United States from Guadalcanal.

Captain Torgerson, a six-footer, is a former New York university athlete and is well-known as a semipro football player. He spent his first hours on Guadalcanal dynamiting Japanese out of caves, staying up all night to construct the bombs before making a tour of Japanese hiding places.

One of Captain Togerson's bombs, exploding prematurely, ripped his trousers to shreds and blasted his watch from his wrist.

British Execute Dutch Nazi Spy

Sought Information on U.S. Troops in England.

LONDON. - Johannes Marinus Dronkers, a Dutch subject who was brought to England last May after being "rescued" from the English channel, was executed as a German secret agent seeking information on American and Canadian troops in England, an official report said.

Dronker's was a member of the Dutch Nazi party, the report said, and, although a seaman by profes-sion, entered the Dutch postal serv-ice at The Hague shortly before the outbreak of war in 1939.

He was found in the channel May 18 in a small yacht, flying the Dutch flag and a distress signal, and was taken aboard a British trawler. Dronkers said he had bribed a Rotterdam fisherman to give him the yacht and sang "for joy" when he was found by the British. He said he wanted to work either for the British or The Netherlands Government-in-Exile.

After a long examination by both British and Dutch officials who were suspicious of his story, Dronkers finally admitted that the Germans had sent him to London to locate American and Canadian troop encampments in Britain and determine the strength of their forces. He said the Germans had trained him intensively in the use of invisible ink and methods of transmitting information to a list of addresses in neutral countries.

He was the third Dutch subject executed as a spy and the 12th enemy agent executed in Britain since the outbreak of war. Dronkers was convicted under the 1940 Treachery act following a secret trial in November.

He appealed against the death sentence but the court of criminal appeals dismissed his plea in a secret hearing.

Marseille Was an Old but

Active Mediterranean Port Marseille, Mediterranean city of 600,000 held in a state of siege by the Nazis to enforce evacuation of the port district, was normally the busiest of all French ports and the country's chief gateway to the Orient.

The old port section, with its narrow, winding streets, tumble-down houses, Apache hangouts, and sailor taverns, is the core of the modern city. Beyond the old town has developed the Marseille of broad, busy streets, fashionable shops, luxurious cafes, and residential neighborhoods.

Nature blessed Marseille with a deep harbor. But use of it was handicapped by hills almost isolating the city from the continent. Access was provided by tunnels. Canal barges as well as trains come and go through underground tubes. Highways were built as alternate routes. Completion of the Suez canal in 1869 made Marseille the premier port for cargoes to and from India and the Far East. The city came to regard itself as the promotional center of France's sea-borne commerce with eastern Mediterranean countries and the African colonies. As trade increased, the port outgrew its harbor. A policy of ceaseless improvement was established. Additions include three miles of breakwaters, 15 miles of quays.

Catholic University

The Catholic University of America is an institution for higher learning founded with the sanction of the pope and governed, under his supreme authority, by the Episcopate of the United States through a board of trustees composed of bishops, priests and laymen. As defined by Pope Leo XIII its purpose is to "provide instruction in every department of learning for clergy and laity alike."

NEED FOR UNITED EFFORT

Same Standard for All

"The committee believes that the same standard of strictly essential driving should be applicable to government employees as now applies to individual citizens.'

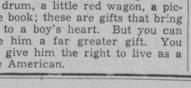

The committee gives figures upon which its conclusions are based. In the last fiscal year the government owned 17,305 passenger automobiles, exclusive of the Army and Navy and exclusive of trucks and motorcycles. It now owns 18,953 passenger automobiles. agencies.

The Committee's finding "that the same standard of strictly essential driving" should apply to government employees as is applied to individual citizens is too downright sensible to require discussion.

Why More Payrollers? Another example of the need for united effort is found in the problem before Congress as to whether excessive profits on war contracts require new bureaus and additional payrollers or whether the Department of Internal Revenue can do the job. The average citizen struggling with high taxes and a shortage of manpower answers: If necessary, amend the Internal Revenue Act for conviction that He was the Son of God as they saw Him transfigured and heard the words of the Father. They learned more plainly the fact that He was God manifest in the flesh for the redemption of man. They saw in the indescribable beauty of that moment a foregleam of His coming glory. What important truths -His deity, His redemption, His coming kingdom. Have we learned them as we have beheld His glory?

III. The Assured Faith of the Disciples (II Pet. 1:16-18).

These words were written by Peter when he was nearly eighty years of age-about thirty-five years after the transfiguration. John wrote sixty years after the event and said, "We beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father'' (John 1:14).

The one who follows these eyewitnesses in believing in Christ may share their assurance expressed by Peter that we do not "follow cunningly devised fables'' in making known to the world the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. Our faith is built on God's Word, and upon such testimony as this by eyewitnesses. Here is real ground for assured belief in Christ.

Great experiences of spiritual renewing and power lead to effective life and testimony for Christ. They may not be in outward manifestations, in fact they are most often in the inner recesses of man's soul; but they do transform men and send them forth to magnificent living for God. One wonders if much of the dearth of power in the Christian Church is not to be attributed directly to the lack of such experiences with God.

The disciples had an unforgettable mountain-top experience. Even so have many others found the secret of power. It came to D. L. Moody as he walked down a New York street, praying in agony, "Deliver me from myself. Take absolute sway." The story of what happened to him and through him as a surrendered instrument in God's hand is written large on the pages of history. Others have had similar experiences.

Let us remember that such privileges are not reserved for a few, they are the birthright of every Christian. Power without knowledge is a dangerous and destructive thing, but knowledge without power is a dead thing, resulting in a stale and unfruitful orthodoxy that in turn produces a dreadful and unchristian religious system.

er's biggest beauty problem is the hair. Even when there is a good permanent, the hair needs more than the usual amount of care. If the atmosphere is dusty, shampoos should be much more frequent than usual. Once a week is not too often. The head sweats profusely, and seems to gather and hold tenaciously the dust and grit from the air. Besides giving off an unpleasant odor, the scalp often feels itchy.

Comfort is quickly restored by washing the hair. Rub up a lavish lather, massage the scalp with it, and rinse it out. Then repeat. Rinse with warm water until all the soap is out, and then cool off with an almost-cold rinse.

Make Good Coffee

Rationing has revived the old arguments about the best way to make good coffee. Boiling, the drip method, percolation, and the vacuum return process each has loyal supporters. On one point, however, there is no disagreement. If coffee is to have the satisfying flavor that makes it one of America's favorite beverages, the inside of the container must be spotless for each fresh brew. Wash the coffee-maker thoroughly after every use. Scour the inside until not a trace of brown stain is left, then wash in warm suds, rinse, and dry with a clean towel. A coffee-maker that has been properly washed will not leave a speck of brown stain on a white cloth.

All That Glistens-

All rock that fluoresces is not tungsten, a mining expert said recently. Prospectors use fluorescent lamps when searching for the muchvalued war ore, but some are fooled when they think that everything that glows under the lamp is tungsten. Besides tungsten ore, materials which will fluoresce include zircon, calcite, zinc, uranium, phosphate, anthracene, powellite and common sagebrush.

Slacks Legal

Women wearing slacks in public no longer break the law in Chicago, where the city council has amended an ordinance of long standing that prohibited either sex from wearing the other's clothes. The ordinance was changed to read: "With intent to conceal his or her sex," after a war worker wearing slacks to her job as machinist was brought into court on a charge of violating the

HIS situation isn't covered by Army regulations. But we're betting that Butch will find a way to handle it without spilling a spoonful!

In fact, we electric companies know just how he feels. We have the same problem. Right now, we're being called on to balance good service and low, regulated rates against fast-climbing costs and tremendously increased demands for electric power.

We're doing it, too. Filling all our war orders. Giving America far more power than all the Axis countries combined. Pushing production up and up. ... And besides that, we're balancing a big plate of taxes.

Don't get us wrong. We know the need of wartime taxes. We're proud that business-managed electric companies paid $620,000,000 in taxes last year. That was 23c out of every dollar you paid us - 8c to local and state governments - 15c to the federal government — enough to outfit 1,687,762 buck privates like Butch.

How is it possible to make so much power and meet so many taxes at the same time? Because of sound business methods and long experience-because men, women and management worked together as a team.

But while we're doing all this, government and municipal power systems ernment and municipal power systems are not paying a penny in federal taxes Eccison to help win the war.

Shouldn't every one do his full share?

French 'Reunion' Isle

Has Interesting History Reunion's history is as varied as its topography. Discovered in 1545 by a Portuguese, Mascarenhas, the island bore his name until 1643 when it was claimed for France and renamed Bourbon Island. Colonization began in 1664 at St. Paul bay under the direction of the French East India company. In 1764 the island reverted to the French government. When the Revolutionists came to power in France they called the is-land "Reunion," an idea that endured only to the rise of Napoleon. "Ile Bonaparte" then became the fashion. The English seized the island in 1810, and gave it back five years later. "Reunion" again emerged as the island's official name. Reunion has been administered as a department of France through a resident governor and consul gen eral. Three delegates, one to the French senate, two to the house of deputies, traveled the 7,500 miles to Paris to represent the island's interests in the French parliament. Their constituents are, for the most part, Frenchmen, British, Indians, Chinese, Africans, and natives of Madagascar. To Reunion, France has sometimes sent political exiles, notably Abd el Krim, famed Riff leader, in 1926.

Largest of the many strange birds of Borneo are the cassowaries, relatives of the ostrich and emu. Characteristic features are possession of horny casques and neck wattles. Some six species of these flightless birds of the genus Casuarius occur in Australia, Borneo and neighboring islands. They inhabit the forests and, while preferring a fruit, vegetable and rodent diet, have strong digestions, for, in common. with the ostrich, they will eat almost anything. All are about five feet high, with a black, horny-plated casque on the head, writes Edith M. Laing in Nature Magazine. Stout gray legs, capable of high speed, can deliver a bone-breaking kick and the long, horny, spiked claw of the inner toe can mortally lacerate an enemy. Would-be molesters had better beware, too, of the spine-like quills with which the rudimentary wings are equipped. These black spines are used by the natives to make bracelets.

Detroit Wipes Out Deficit

With the help of careful budget planning, Detroit has wiped out a 25year deficit which reached its peak in 1933 when the city was $21,600,000 "in the red," the municipal finance officers association said.

By June 30 the city will have a surplus of between $1,000,000 and $3,500,000, according to estimates of Detroit fiscal officials.

Relief expenditures, bank closings and failure to collect taxes in 1933 stretched the deficit to its $21,600,000 peak by the close of the first depression year. Careful budget operations, revenues from delinquent tax sales, liquidation of closed banks, decreases in welfare costs and some general revenue increases wiped out the deficit and promise the surplus.
