Mrs. Ruth Fleagle Jones has a White Rock hen 3½ years old that is "all out" instead of "all in" regarding the War Effort, and egg production. She hatched a good brood of chicks; is taking fine care of them, and laying eggs. Her family gathers around her patiently during the laying process, and when accomplished, they all start out again in search of grubs, cut worms and other enemies of farm production. Three cheers for the old biddy.

The management of the band hopes that in view of the religious and patriotic nature of these engagements, all band members will be present to take part in the performances.

DESTROY EXPIRED RATION STAMPS

Housewives are urged to destroy all expired red or blue ration stamps to help guard against black markets in food. Reports to OPA indicate that many storekeepers have asked customers for expired stamps, and in turn have used them to buy more food from wholesalers. Because foods bought at wholesale with these stamps can be sold at retail without points, every expired stamp given to a storekeeper is a potential contribution to an illegal market.

PLEASURE DRIVING

Renewed Ban Will be Rigorously Enforced

The renewal of the ban on pleasure driving about ten days ago has made a marked change on the volume of traffic on the highways.

All members and clerks of the local Rationing Boards connected with the mileage rationing program were called to a meeting held in the Longfellow Hotel, in Baltimore, Thursday night, May 20, to hear Richard Harrison from the National Office OPA.

His message concerned the critical shortage of gasoline along the Atlantic Seaboard. He gave very interesting figures as to our consumption of this product and the delivery of gasoline in this shortage area. He also commended the Boards for the splendid job they are doing in this mileage rationing program and emphasized the fact that we must still be conservative. Leo H. McCormick, State Director of the Maryland OPA was also heard at the meeting.

Local and State officers have been asked to lend their cooperation in enforcing this ban. The public has been warned that all violators will be severely dealt with. After a hearing before the local Board the more extreme cases will have all the gasoline rations revoked for the duration of the war.

HEALTH FOR VICTORY CLUB NEWS

The monthly meeting of the 'Health for Victory Club' met Thursday afternoon in the demonstration room of the Potomac Edison Co. building with a very good attendance. The fact that each month new members come shows that the ladies of the town and vicinity appreciate what the Home Service Department of the Edison Co. is doing. The subjects "How to preserve foods by dehydration" and "How to preserve foods by brining" were ably presented by Miss Mary Meehan.

We learned what foods may be preserved by dehydration and the secrets of successful dehydration. And the two main methods of brining, namely: how to dry salt foods without fermentation and how to dry foods with fermentation. In our presence Miss Meehan prepared carrots for drying and got them started in the oven; made one quart of sauerkraut; brined a two gallon crock of spinach; and cooked some beans which had been dried. Since we could not wait until the food was entirely finished it will be shown at the next meeting.

SYNOD MET AT GETTYSBURG

The Maryland Synod of the Lutheran Church met at Gettysburg Seminary on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The sessions were shorted on account of the war situation. The opening session was held Tuesday morning and the meeting closed with the service of Ordination and Communion Wednesday afternoon.

The president's report showed a large number of pastoral changes in the Synod, due somewhat to pastors going as chaplains to the army. The report of benevolent contributions was good, coming close to the 100% mark. Contribution for Lutheran World Action, special work due to the war are coming in promptly, and much larger than last year.

The churches of Carroll County were all represented by pastors and lay delegates. Rev. A. T. Sutcliffe, William F. Bricker and Rev. L. B. Hafer, of Taneytown, were present at all sessions. Additional local representatives at the Brotherhood meeting Tuesday evening were Merwyn C. Fuss, who conducted the devotional service, William B. Naill, George R. Sauble and Andrew D. Alexander.

Officers of the Synod and the Brotherhood were re-elected. Harry B. Fogle, Uniontown, is president of the Brotherhood and Merwyn C. Fuss, Taneytown, is first vice-president.

The Synod voted to return to Gettysburg for its meeting next year.

ESCAPES FROM JAIL

Prisoner Attacks Deputy Sheriff in Westminster

Harry Handleman, of Baltimore, who was in jail in Westminster awaiting a hearing on a charge of burglarizing Hull's jewelry store recently, escaped Wednesday evening, and was promptly hunted by Carroll county officers and all available State Police.

Deputy Sheriff J. Lee Cramer was taking a tray of food to the cell block a little after 6 o'clock when he was attacked by Handleman who had in some manner gotten out of his cell and was hiding behind the cell block tier.

The man was armed with a pen-knife, Cramer said, and that when the prisoner attacked him, he managed to trip him and throw him into a cell on a cot. In the scuffle, he said, Handleman cut him in the back of the head with the knife and then pressed the blade against his chest, demanding the jail keys.

Handleman managed to get the keys out of Cramer's pocket as a trusty and Mrs. Charles Conaway, wife of the sheriff, heard the noise and arrived to find Handleman trying to truss Cramer by the use of sheets.

The three were forced into a cell by Handleman, who was threatening death to them.

Handleman went to the Sheriff's office made a quick search for a gun and found none. He took Cramer's coat and hurried from the jail after severing the telephone wires.

Handleman was captured Thursday while walking along the Liberty road near Harrisonville.

LETTERS FROM SOLDIERS

Dear Sirs:

I want to write you and thank you for your swell paper that means more to me than all the papers out here. There's nothing better than news from home.

My course has put me here at the Air Base Hospital on the Chief Surgical Ward. We get most all patients going to and from operating room. I also go to school part the time. It don't matter how long you are in the Army you have to go to school.

This base is a part of the Second Air Force which commands all the West and Southwest. The weather here is very hot and plenty of dust. We don't have any rain at all. The night are very clear; seldom a cloud can be seen, now and then a sand storm.

I may be away from home but I remember others that aren't so well off as myself. So let's all work together for one cause—that's Victory—so all our boys can come home. One thing sure this war won't last forever.

I want to thank you and all the many friends of mine. The best of luck and health. Sincerely,

Pfc. RALPH F. WEANT,

Det. Med. Dept

Davis-Monthan Field,

Pvt. George E. Crebbs who entered the armed forces at Camp Meade last Saturday says: "I wish to thank the ladies and all the people of Taneytown who had a part in presenting me with the fine service kit. I am sure it will come in quite handy."

TANEYTOWN SCHOOL NEWS

The Taneytown Elementary School will hold the annual seventh grade commencement Friday morning, June 4, at 10:00 A. M. at which time a program will be presented, entitled "Neighbors Near and Far." The theme of the program stresses the spirit of inter-American cooperation which is as old as the American Republics themselves. The existence of many of them as independent states is due to their spirit of working together. As we visit Puerto Rico, Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Mexico, the descendants of these countries greet us with their native songs and dances. Returning from visiting our neighbors we join in the spirited finale "America the Beautiful," for it was this song that built our cities, strengthened our brave builders.

Directors of the program are Mrs. Wallace Yingling and Miss Margaret Shreeve.

The seventh grade of Mrs. Lane's room has completed a course on South America.

JUNIOR RED CROSS NEWS

The entire group of Freshmen and Sophomore girls aided by a few Juniors and Seniors of Taneytown High School enrolled as members of the American Junior Red Cross early in January 1943.

This membership entitled the girls to eligibility in the Community Service Division of the Victory Corps as organized earlier in the school year.

The girls are very proud to announce that they ended their five months work with a display in the school auditorium on May 14, at which time they had completed for exhibition three knit arghans 4x6 feet, twenty-five hand made bridge sets consisting of the score pad and four tallies, three hundred book marks made of multi-colored art paper, two hundred holiday napkins appropriate for Christmas and Memorial Day, fifty very colorful dinner favors, twenty five holiday menu covers appropriate for each holiday of the year, two scrap books, eight olive drab utility bases, ten hand painted vases, twin dolls and numerous other hand made toys.

The girls plan to do individual projects during the vacation months, and to continue their group projects immediately upon the reopening of school.

CANNING SUGAR

Sugar for home canning can be obtained by using stamps 15 and 16 in War Ration Book One, instead of "sugar allowance coupons" as previously announced. Each stamp is worth five pounds. Consumers who require more than ten pounds per person for canning will apply to their local ration boards for an additional allowance.

DETROIT LETTER

Discusses Many Subjects Interestingly

I have been waiting for the past two weeks in hope that something worth writing about would enter my mind. After reading the articles in the daily papers written by regular columnists, the wish has often been that I could have had some of the training those fellows had, so that instead of it being a difficult matter to write an interesting letter, I would, maybe, by this time, be able to entertain my friends and readers of The Record in a way that would be satisfactory to myself and them.

But that much-desired wish was never to come true, and so I will do the best I can, even if I can find nothing much to write about, except the weather, and the way that is treating us, makes us feel like saying nothing, about it, according to the old saying, that "if you can't say anything good about a person, you should say nothing at all." But I will say that we are having a dose of the kind you had last year, as we have had only four days of sunshine so far in this month of May. Farmers and Victory Gardeners are getting worried, as they are not getting their crops in the ground, and if they have been able to do so, are afraid that their work has been for nothing, on account of the seed rotting in the ground. The outlook, at least around here, is not very encouraging and may cause a scarcity in quantity of the foods for which the Government is so earnestly asking an increase. But let us hope that it will come out all right in the end.

A few months ago, a joke was being told about the man who was zealously guarding a small jewel box, and on being asked what was in it, proudly exhibited a small pat of butter. The same joke has been told about meat and other articles, and now potatoes have been added to this list, as, although the price has come down somewhat from what I reported in my last, they are mighty hard to get. Think of it—that old stand-by being scarce. In all my 78 years of living in this world, I can recall no such a situation. But maybe before this war is over, we will experience the same trouble with other stand-bys in the food line.

And speaking of the war, I wish I had the same confidence in the final result and early ending that my friend, Wm. James Heaps has. My opinion is, that if all the emphasis is placed on knocking Hitler out, and a lot more pressure is not placed on doing the same to the unspeakable Japs, we may have a very long and difficult fight to make. To my mind they are our toughest problem and we do not

SOME SPEED

Our friend, W. J. H., whose contributions have for a long time appeared frequently in The Carroll Record, has favored us with a copy of an address delivered in 1920 to a group of Scottish Rite Masons. His topic was 'The Seventh Step.' In explanation we may say that in his travels, somewhere our friend climbed a flight of stairs which carried the names of branches of learning, grammar, rhetoric, logic, arithmetic, geometry, music and astronomy. Having mastered 'all the other six,' he tackled the seventh 'Astronomy.'

As the address is quite scientific and comprises about 2000 words, or enough to fill two columns of this paper, we can not reproduce it, but we do want to make some notations about it.

In describing our solar system, our friend H. tells us some striking facts about the earth. He says: "We know considerable about the earth, and that it is inhabited by sentient beings; that the diameter is approximately 8000 miles, and that its circumference at the equator is approximately 25,000 miles, and that it revolves upon its axis once in 24 hours and about the sun at a mean distance of 92 1/2 million miles once in a year of 365 1/4 days.

"We know furthermore that earth weighs approximately six sextillion tons and that the sun is 860,000 miles in diameter, and 1,300,000 times as large as the earth." By this time we are a little dizzy, but we read on. "We know that a man at Quito, Ecuador, travels 25,000 miles in twenty-four hours without budging an inch; but we have not perhaps considered the infinite speed that man travels on earth in its orbit about the sun.

"We know that the diameter of earth's orbit about the sun is approximately 200 million miles, and that a circle is three and one-seventh (times) greater in circumference than diameter, and hence the earth travels more than 600 million miles per year in its path about the sun; or if we took the time and trouble to figure it out, we would find that man in his journey about the sun on earth is going forward at the astounding speed of eighteen miles per second."

Now stop right there. That's going too fast. With the "Victory" speed limit at 35 miles an hour, when anybody talks about 18 miles a second it is time to call the cop. Why, at that rate you could send your order for breakfast from New York to London, hop over, and still have to wait for the chef to fry the eggs.

CHICKENS COME HOME

The old adage—chickens come home to roost—is as true today as when first uttered. The President and John Lewis were bed fellows in the days when Lewis was handing over to the president a half million dollars of miners money for campaign purposes. Roosevelt accepted the generous gift graciously and Lewis thought he then had a seat with the mighty. When Lewis began to demand a quid pro quo for this gift Roosevelt received, and "all h—busted repose." So Lewis and Roosevelt stand and snarl at each other—not a pleasing picture that. The two of them have acted like school boys rather than as grown up men should act, and the pity is the people pay the bill and suffer the consequences.

It is a deplorable condition that permits one man, leader of a few hundred thousand miners, to endanger our war efforts when our boys are dying by hundreds daily on far flung battle fields.

Men who "strike" under such conditions should be put in uniform at once and sent to the firing line where bullets fly thickest.

It is time to quit coddling "labor" and time to smash labor leaders, who become recalcitrant. Organized labor should be compelled to incorporate, and be treated as all other corporations. Let's have done with this unholy political labor alliance.

THEORIES DON'T CHANGE FACTS

The farm situation is a number one domestic problem, for after all everyone has to eat. The draft rulings have at last officially recognized this fact. The question now is how much damage has been caused by delayed decisions, that cannot be corrected this season.

To get increased milk production, once the supply has been depleted, requires several years. Cows must be milked and fed regularly, and anything that interferes with that, as has been the case for some months past, depletes supply, or prevents an increase.

Farm wages have increased until they are prohibitive on most small farms where a major part of the milk comes from. All the theorizing in the world and planning from swivel chairs will not change these facts. Fortunately, the small farmers working through their marketing cooperatives, are at last making themselves heard. Otherwise, this country would be in a bad way for its milk supply right now and in the future.—Industrial News Review.

POST-WAR PLANS

Thinking and discussion of post-war plans may be a bit on the premature side, as some suggest, however, thinking and discussion of such plans is bound to be uppermost in the minds of many of us at one time or another.

In this connection, many have ventured opinions as to the state business will find itself in when the war has been brought to a close. C. F. Kettering, inventive genius of General Motors, has offered a very pertinent comment which may well be considered. One of the major problems after the war, he feels, will be to return business rapidly to competitive operations. He says, "The big thing is to let business keep on being competitive. Nobody is going to a ball game if you don't keep score. Profit making is just keeping score."

When competition is taken out of business, what is left? There is nothing there to challenge the skill of men. Man makes progress only as his skill and ingenuity are challenged and find a way to meet the challenge.—County Record, Towson.

Counterfeit Money Racket Hit Hard

Priorities Make Life Tough For Bogus Coin Boys.

DENVER.—A "depression," induced by priorities and an educational campaign by the treasury department, has hit the counterfeit money racket, Rowland K. Goddard, U. S. secret service supervisor in Denver, says.

Goddard says that both branches of the spurious money craft—coin and note—have felt the pinch caused by the war.

Coiners, who rely heavily on babbit metal (an alloy of copper, tin, antimony and other vital war materials) have been affected at the source of their supply, Goddard reports. Sale of those metals are carefully regulated by the War Production board to see that they go to war industries.

The "note men," the artists of their "profession" who must be skilled in engraving, chemistry and printing to escape detection for even a short time, also are unable to obtain the materials they need. Chemicals they once used to bleach $1 notes so the false imprint of larger denominations could be superimposed are hard to get, Goddard says. Other materials also are unavailable.

Combined with the ceaseless campaign the treasury has waged to advise the public on easy ways to spot bogus coins and paper money, priorities have made the counterfeiting racket profitless.

Two simple ways in which phony money can be detected, Goddard says, are:

1. The old "teeth and ear" test for coins. If it isn't fairly biteable and doesn't ring, it's not real.
2. Counterfeit bills usually have a "greasy" feeling, or contain noticeable flaws in materials or workmanship.

Wood Pulp and Flour

Wood pulp is an important source of cellulose from which a vast array of products are derived, including smokeless powder, essential to every arm of the service. Wood flour enters into the manufacture of commercial explosives, now of untold value in military projects and in the mining of strategic metals needed for war.

Treat Wood

Hundreds of millions of cubic feet of lumber are now treated with chemicals for control of wood-rotting fungi, termites, and marine borers; for seasoning and preserving of wood; for flame-proofing, bending, bleaching, plasticizing; and generally for making wood and its products more durable and valuable.

STILL MASTER

"Tom had saved a little money and he was undecided for a time, whether to get married or buy a radio."

"What was his decision?"
"He decided to buy the radio. He can shut it off when he's tired of listening."

Raspberries for Bottling
One hundred raspberry plants might normally be expected to produce upwards of 100 quarts of fruit a year.

Swab With Acid
Swabbing a freshly chipped streak in a pine tree with acid is reported to have increased the flow of turpentine as much as 50 per cent.

Oldest Mines in World
The lapis lazuli mines in Afghanistan, which have been worked for 6,000 years, are probably the oldest in the world.

Sugar From Puerto Rico
Nearly 900,000 tons of sugar were imported from Puerto Rico in 1942, an increase of 2,880 tons over 1941.

Long Range Telescope
The marine exchange lookout station at Land's End, San Francisco, has a telescope with a 30-mile range.

British Supply Batteries
Among other reciprocal aid items, about half a million electric batteries a month have been supplied to American troops in Britain by the British government.

New Wood a Substitute
Termite-resistant woods found in the tropical forests are expected to serve well in place of steel and concrete in bridges, pilings and culverts of roads.

Violators Do Homework
Denver traffic violators now can "sit out" their penalties at home by the radio. Under the city's traffic school system, now discontinued, offenders could elect to attend the school in lieu of a fine. Now, they listen once a week to a half hour radio program simulating a traffic court. To insure the proper listener response, offenders must write out answers to radio questions on traffic safety and return them to the police judge.

What Workers Eat
The average soldier eats about 5½ pounds of food daily. This means an army of 5,000,000 men will eat 27,500,000 pounds every 24 hours. And civilian workers eat plenty, too. It takes the food from 155 acres to feed the workers who build one bomber; food from 43 acres to feed the men who build one medium tank. And workers who construct a 35,000-ton battleship need the food products of 42,000 acres.

Wash Refrigerator
When the directions for cleaning a refrigerator or an ice box call for washing with warm water and soda, does this mean washing soda or baking soda? The answer is baking soda or sodium bicarbonate. Use one level tablespoonful to each quart of warm water. Washing soda is too strong, both for the finish of the refrigerator and for your hands.

To High School Graduates:

ROBERT M. HUTCHINS

Your generation is taking its place in the world in much the same circumstances as mine did. Our elders gave us a world at war; we are passing on to you a world engaged in a conflict of even greater dimensions which will have even more drastic repercussions on your lives. If civilization is not to move blindly from one catastrophe to another your generation must succeed where mine has failed. Not the least of your handicaps will be the interruption of your education by the war. Most of the young men, and many of the young women, will enter the armed forces. These exist to win a war, and the education they provide, even for those they send to training programs in the colleges and the universities, is intended to produce effective fighters. But the education which will be needed after the war to preserve and keep the freedom which you have defended is liberal education. You cannot preserve your freedom, you cannot use it well, unless you know what freedom is and what to do with it. Only liberal education can so enlighten you. Without it you cannot replace our concern with materialism with the moral and spiritual reformation which alone can create a world concerned with the highest good of man and society. Your part in winning the war is only the beginning of what you must undertake. After the war you must see to it that you get a liberal education.

We desire correspondence to reach our office on Thursday, if at all possible. It will be necessary therefore, for most letters to be mailed on Wednesday, or by Fast Mail, west on W. M. R. R., Thursday morning. Letters mailed on Thursday evening may not reach us in time. All communications for this department must be signed by the author; not for publication, but as an evidence that the items contributed are legitimate and correct. Items based on mere rumor, or such as are likely to give offense, are not wanted.

FEESERSBURG.

May 24, cool and wet, after the floods of last week. The man who has always lived along the creek, says he never saw the water raise so fast as last Thursday night—but rain didn't often come as fast either. One neighbor's family visited another and couldn't get home that night. At 4 A. M. the man ventured home by a round-about road, but didn't get his family home until 3 P. M., just another adventure.

Miss Charlotte Bohn is home again from Texas after a delightful visit with friends. She and Mrs. Ross Myers with whom she traveled, lodged with a woman in Austin who is now a taxi-driver and away all day, and gave them the freedom of her home, so they could do as they pleased. The days were warm but the evenings delightful; and they did some interesting sight-seeing.

Mrs. Rosellen Wilhite Lesight taries in Tenn., at Murfreesboro, while her husband is in training at Camp Forest. This war is dividing families and scattering them far and wide.

Last week Mrs. Addie Crumbacker accompanied her father, W. G. Crouse, to Baltimore, for another examination of his eyes—at Md. University. His sight is improving slowly but he must visit the oculist this week.

L. K. Birely returned home from Frederick Hospital on Thursday of last week, after a five-day stay, not much improved; but able to walk out and sit in the air and sunshine.

Mrs. and Mrs. Maurice Grindler gave a party for their son, Cletus at their home on Saturday evening—before him return to service on Monday. Friends were present from Baltimore, Taneytown, Union Bridge. Dancing and games were indulged in, as well as delicious refreshments.

Last Friday Mrs. Rosa Koons Bohn completed her 7th. year of service in the cafeteria of the Elmer Wolfe School where she has labored efficiently; but vacation will break the monotony of daily toil.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Lenhart and two children, of Buckeystown, visited Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Wolfe on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Lenhart (nee Nettie Pyle) was a room mate of Mrs. Wolfe on her first stay at Frederick Hospital, 18 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. George Simpson, who owned and lived for many years at the former Buckey's Mill south of Middleburg, but now reside with their son Blair Simpson beyond Ladysburg, are spending a few days with the Silas Klein family lately located on the Preston Rinehart farm.

Mrs. Addie Crumbacker spent Tuesday and Wednesday of this week in Taneytown with Mr. and Mrs. Joel Brooks, who were close neighbors a few years ago.

Charles Buffington is suffering with a very large carbuncle on his back. The Doctor is in attendance, but pain doesn't fly away at their approach, and this is bad for lying down or setting up—we sympathize.

The road men were repairing the State road thro' this place on Thursday of last week; applying oil and stone chips—with much heavy machinery.

Because many would not obey the law against pleasure driving, now all are under restriction of travel; the Good does not seem fair—but the Good must suffer with the bad. The State Cops were patrolling the roads at the end of the week and made some arrests, and gave warnings—with quiet results on Sunday.

On Sunday morning after S. S. at the regular preaching service at Mt. Union. Rev. Bowersox delivered a splendid sermon on the Indwelling of the Holy Spirit. 'Twas a beautiful morning, a good attendance, sweet music; and two large baskets of flowers for decoration; Mock orange and large red poppies from Mrs. C. Wolfe, Shasta daisies and pink columbine arranged by Mrs. Bruce Shirk. The infant child of Elvin and Alma Reaver Bair was baptized—Bonita Ellen—at the beginning of the service. F. P. Bohn, Superintendent S. S., read the announcement that the annual S. S. Convention of Middle Conference of Md. Synod, will not be held this year, but the usual fee is requested to carry on the work. Children's service at Mt. Union will be omitted because of renewed ban on driving cars and rationing of gas and tires.

The church Bulletin contains spiritual advice on receiving and giving. It tells of the pleasant recent attendance at the Gettysburg Seminary week, and hearing about outstanding religious leaders; of meeting former friends and schoolmates—among them two former ministers of Uniontown Parish, Rev. Saltzger and Rev. Krohn; the latter was pleased to find several relics of the Civil War on the battlefield during the week. There was also a word of thanksgiving from General Anderson of the British Army.

Next comes, Decoration Day—to memorialize our Soldiers gone by spreading flowers on their graves; but now we also remember the resting places of our loved ones. A few years ago flowers were scarce in this section, but on May 30, we drove to other cemeteries and saw abundance of bloom along the way; so we trust there'll be plenty of flowers this year for all.

Every failure teaches a man something if he will learn.—Charles Dickens.

KEYSVILLE.

Mrs. Charles L. Ritter, of Frederick, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Clutz for the past two weeks returned to her home, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Clutz had as dinner guests Thursday, Mrs. Charles Harner, son Paul and Mr. George Ohler, of Emmitsburg, and Mrs. Chas. L. Ritter, of Frederick.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Heaps, of Street, Md., spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clutz.

A farewell part was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fox, in honor of their grandson, Richard Ohler, who left for service Saturday, also the birthdays of William Fox Austin and Barbara Lee Fox. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fleagle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ohler, Mr. and Mrs. Upton Austin, Mrs. Vergie Ohler, Carmen, Charlotte, Karl Melvin and William Austin, Joseph Ohler and Barbara Lee Fox.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bolter, Rocky Ridge, and Mr. Harry Bolter, Gracehom, called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Clutz, Tuesday evening.

LITTLESTOWN.

The baccalaureate services of the High School was held Sunday evening in the school auditorium, filled to capacity by relatives and friends of the members of this year's graduating class. The services were held at 8:30 o'clock. Notwithstanding the black-out test, which occurred while the services were in progress, it continued uninterrupted. The curtains were drawn and the Rev. D. S. Kammerer who was delivering the sermon continued. The commencement exercises will be held this Thursday evening.

The members of the John W. Ocker Post, placed flags on the graves this Thursday evening.

St Aloysius Catholic Church was filled Sunday evening when the annual May celebration was conducted. Many persons gathered outside the church to witness the procession.

The Rev. D. S. Kammerer, Charles M. Weikert and Joseph Wilson, of St. Paul Lutheran Church and the Rev. Kenneth D. James and Ray King of St. John Lutheran Church attending the sessions of the Central Pennsylvania Synod at Harrisburg this week.

The home of Donald Feeder, Lombard St., was damaged by fire. Mrs. Everett Feeder who lives in one-half of the double dwelling, smelled paint burning and upon investigation found that the kitchen of Donald Feeder was afire. The Fire Company was called. Before the firemen arrived Mrs. Feeder played water from a garden hose on the flames and extinguished the fire. It is thought an oil stove flared up causing the blaze. The smoke did a lot of damage.

The Lions Club entertained the workers of the local Red Cross war fund drive in the Social Hall of St. John Church. The guest speaker was L. L. Strader, Carlisle, field director of the Red Cross. In Loving Memory of my dear wife who passed away four years ago,
May 22, 1940

I do not forget you, nor do I intend
I think of you often and will to the end
Gone and forgotten by some you may be,
But dear to my memory you ever will be.
Devoted Husband,
EDW. WINTER.

KING—In loving remembrance of my dear
wife, EMMA CATHARINE, who passed away two years ago, May 29, 1941.

I mourn for you dear wife,
But not with outward show.
For the heart that mourns sincerely
Mourns silently and low.

Keep her, Jesus, in thy keeping
Till I reach that shining shore
Then, O Jesus, let me know her
And love her as I did before.

By her loving husband,
THEODORE KING.

Women in Great Farm Mobilization

Taking Over Jobs Of Fighting Kin

Food is becoming more and more "woman's business."

In 1943 she not only buys it and prepares it for her family.

She's growing it and harvesting it, as well! From the Atlantic to the Pacific come reports of a highly successful feminine occupation of the land. Women are handling tractors, driving farm trucks, running combines and other machines, and even riding the range on some of the West's broad grazing acres.

They're taking over the jobs of husbands and brothers in the armed forces, and of the thousands of hired workers also lost to Uncle Sam's army and navy and industrial plants.

Back in the days of World War I women "farmettes" did their part, too, but agriculture has changed since 1917. Today's farm is a highly mechanized plant, with tractors numbering about 1,800,000 as compared with the 85,000 of 25 years ago. Motor trucks in operation have jumped from around 245,000 to close to 2,000,000. These and many other mechanical aids to the farmer require trained operators and repairmen, even though they are releasing a lot of manpower.

Milking three times a day will help meet '43 goals.

Women are being prepared for both jobs, and thousands are already busy keeping the farm machinery rolling. Vocational agriculture classes in the schools and instruction offered by farm implement companies have both contributed to providing skilled feminine mechanics.

Colleges and universities, as well as high schools, are giving courses in agriculture for the girls. To increase their interest in farm work, the University of California at Los Angeles has instituted a series of farm festivals.

Manpower experts estimate that 70 per cent more women were doing farm work in 1942 than in 1940.

Good Care Assures

More Young Lambs

Saving a high percentage of the new lamb crop and getting them ready for an early market is one of the important wartime jobs of the American farmer, according to Dale C. Snodgrass, animal husbandry extension specialist of North Carolina State college.

By following a few simple, well-established practices, the sheepman can be sure of success with his young animals. Snodgrass lists some of these practices as follows:

Have the ewes in a good, strong, thrifty condition before lambing, and be sure that the flock is securely separated from other stock, especially hogs.

Do not disturb a ewe at lambing time, unless she needs help, but be sure to stay on the job. Carelessness may mean the loss of a lamb. See that the young lamb nurses and does not become chilled. Should the ewe disown her lamb, try to get her to claim it.

Gradually increase the feed given to the ewe after the lamb is about one week old to stimulate the flow of milk. During lambing time, the ewe should be housed at night and during bad weather.

If a new-born lamb becomes chilled, take it to a warm room and put it in warm water up to its neck. After the young animal is warm, take it out of the water and dry it thoroughly before placing it with the ewe in a warm dry place.

Conserving Fuel

It is clear that farmers have a vital stake in the conservation of gasoline and fuel oil. If supplies run too low, not only will production and distribution of essential food and fiber be hindered, but the ability of many farmers to continue operation will be endangered.

Farmers can be assured the amounts of gasoline and fuel oil which they actually need for productive uses and heating. Any uses beyond these must be eliminated.

INSIDE DOPE

Mrs. Brown had a treasure of a maid, and she was praising her wonderful qualities, especially her trustworthiness, to envious friends, when the girl herself entered the room with tea.

"Oh, Jane," said Mrs. Brown, "will you run upstairs and fetch that letter I left on my dressing-table?"

"Er—er—which one, ma'am?" inquired Jane. "The one about your brother's divorce or the one about the piano payments being late?"

Superfluous

The gilt was still on the wedding ring of the customer who was buying a cook book.

"I think I'll take this small one at 30 cents," she said at length.

"We have a larger edition of that at a dollar," the assistant said temptingly.

"No, thank you," replied the bride shyly; "you see, both my husband and I are small eaters."

ROBIN HOOD'S BARN

"I say," said a bumptious individual to a man standing at the street corner, "just tell me how I can get to Blank street."

"Well," was the reply, "take the third turning on the left, first to the right, second to the right again, fourth to left, first to right, fifth to left, cut across a square, pass through a crescent, take the second to the left, and you'll get it."

The stranger jotted down the particulars and followed the instructions given. After three-quarters of an hour he was startled to arrive at the place where he had asked the question, and to see the same man still standing at the corner.

"Why did you direct me wrongly?" he demanded, angrily.

"You asked for Blank street, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"Well, then, I directed you all right. This is Blank street."

THAT DOES IT

"Is she pretty?"

"Well, she always gets a seat in a bus."

Cryptic Response

The landlord of offices tenanted by a firm of Scots lawyers whose lease was about to expire wrote to ask whether they were going to continue in occupation. Their reply was:

"Dear Sir, We are, Yours truly—"

Not appreciating this effort in economy of words—and paper—he wrote again to demand whether or not it was their intention to remain. The answer was:

"Dear Sir, We remain, Yours truly—"

The landlord is not trying again.

Gained a Bit

An Irish priest had been transferred from one parish to another. One of his old flock met one of the new.

"Well," he said, "and how do yez like Father Murphy, Dennis?"

"Ah, to be sure," answered Dennis, "he's a fine man; a fine man, but a trifle bellicose."

"Bellicose, is it? Well, if that isn't quare. When we had him, he was as thin as a rake."

Gambling Instinct

A Scotsman visited Niagara Falls with an American friend.

As they approached the great rush of water, the latter said: "There's a story that if you throw a penny into the falls, it will bring you luck."

"Is that so?" inquired the Scot.

He considered a moment, and then asked, hopefully: "Ha' ye a long bit of string?"

GOING UP

"When water becomes ice," asked the professor, "what is the greatest change that takes place?"

"The price, sir."

Wrong Method

"Look here, Mrs. Murphy, why have you been hitting my little Bobby?"

"I only hit him because he was rude and called me a fat old pig!"

"But, good gracious, Mrs. Murphy, you ought to know better than that. Hitting my son won't do you any good; you'll have to start dieting!"

Painting Fire Escapes

Question: I have large fire escape platforms which we use as porches on my three-family brick house. I have to paint them, but the paint chips easily. Last year I gave them a coat of best bridge paint and then a coat of best outdoor green paint. In no time rust began to show. What can I use that will last?

Answer: Paint is apt to chip if the metal has many coats of paint on it. If this is the case, remove the paint down to the bare metal. This can be done by burning with a blowtorch. When the metal is clean and free of rust, apply a coat of good quality red lead; allowing at least a week for thorough drying. Finish with two coats of top quality floor paint, the kind used for porches. If you are not familiar with the use of a blowtorch, get someone with experience to do this part of the job.

Oil Burner Finish

Question: An oil burner used in a living-room has a dark brown, rough finish, and always looks dusty. What kind of paint can I use on it that will be glossy and not so much of a dust catcher?

Answer: There are not many kinds of paint that withstand the heat of an oil burner. Aluminum paint will do it, but because of the priorities, it may be difficult to obtain. Another is the black finish that is used on boilers. Whatever you use, the first step must be the thorough cleaning of the surface with something that will take off the remains of the finish: a solution of three pounds of washing soda in a gallon of water, for example, followed by thorough rinsing.

Her Landlord

By CLARISSA MACKIE
McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

THE morning after Doris Ware moved into the little seaside bungalow at Yellowsands, she became acquainted with her next-door neighbor, a stout, black-haired, red-cheeked woman in a faded blue bathing suit of popular design.

"Nice morning," said Mrs. Brady, cheerfully over the back fence. "It is lovely," smiled Doris, as she hung out her tea towels on the bit of clothesline. "I can hardly believe it is true that I am here for the rest of the summer. It is too good to be true."

"You said it!" retorted her neighbor. "Your husband not up yet?" Doris stared amusedly. "No, he isn't—you see, I haven't any husband!"

Mrs. Brady laughed heartily, and several small Bradys, climbing into bathing suits in the small house, heard her and scrambled to the window where they stood sunbaked and grinning. Doris became acquainted with them at once. Before they parted, Mrs. Brady was aware that Miss Ware wrote for a big newspaper in the city and was having her rest all alone just to get away from people, and Doris knew that Mr. Brady owned a busy plumbing shop in the city.

That first day, Doris found an isolated bit of blue water where she could swim all alone. It was great sport at first, but, after awhile, she felt rather bored.

Once as she floated, looking up at the cloudless sky, she heard the sound of paddles and sank into the water, swimming a little. It was then that she could see the canoe and its single occupant, a tall young man with a grim unsmiling countenance crowned with a thatch of ruddy hair. As soon as he saw her, he increased the speed of his canoe and in a moment had rounded a bend in the shore.

Doris waded ashore and sat down on the sand to laugh heartily. "If it isn't temperamental Peter Clarkson," she giggled to herself. "The poor man didn't recognize me in this bathing suit—I do wonder if he is really stopping near here."

That noon when she returned to the bungalow for lunch, she asked Mrs. Brady about the man in the canoe. "What is his name?" she artfully asked.

Mrs. Brady put up her hands in amazement. "Don't you know your own landlord?" she exclaimed.

Doris shook her head. "I rented it from an agent," she said. "Poor Mr. Clarkson—he has owned all these cottages since his uncle died and left them to him with a great fortune, so I have heard, Miss Ware—but there is a whisper that he is sad and gloomy because the girl he loves won't have him! And him with a million dollars or more. Anyone could be happy with all that money!"

Because Doris Ware was so much alone, for loneliness was what she sought these days, she thought quite often of lonely Peter Clarkson, living there in his handsome stone summer residence on the top of the hill behind them.

Then, one day, an imp of perversity prevailed upon her to tempt excitement when she saw Peter Clarkson coming her way in his bright canoe. She was swimming toward him and across the canoe's bow. Just beyond that, she threw up one arm and slim brown hand and called "Help!" and then, "Save me!" before she sank beneath the waves.

In exactly three minutes, gloomy Peter Clarkson had jumped overboard, dived down, rescued Doris Ware, dropped his dripping burden into the canoe, tossed a rubber coat over her, and paddled desperately back to his own wharf and called to his boatman, Jerry, for help.

"Really, I am entirely all right," assured Doris in quite a strong voice as she struggled to throw off the heavy rubber coat. As she finally sat up and pulled off her bathing cap and her toss of dusky hair fluffed out, she became aware of the strange behavior of Mr. Peter Clarkson—he was kneeling on the sand beside the canoe, and his great eyes were fairly worshipping the small person whose life he had saved. He grinned foolishly as Doris smiled gratefully at him.

"It is you—really?" he demanded in a deep voice.

"Of course," said Doris meekly, because her heart was pounding, "who else could it be?"

"That's right!" he muttered softly. "Who else could it be than the one girl in all the world whom I loved—my first and only love—I wish you thought it such a big thing on my part that you would give your life to me, Doris Ware!"

"Ah, Peter Clarkson, if you were not such a diffident youth—you might have known long ago—years ago—that there was only one girl in the world that loved you as I—do—ah, Peter!"

And all their friends said that it had happened just as they expected it would when they had first met a year or so ago—and Mrs. Brady laughed and said that now her landlord would never do anything except laugh and be happy all the days of his life "for" she said, "tis the sweetest romance I ever knew about—and her so innocent about inquiring his name!"

Work for Civilians
Employees of the Fort Atkinson, Wis., public works department who might otherwise be laid off because of work curtailment are opening clogged sewers and laying drains for residents, work done formerly by private contractors. The work is done on a cost basis plus a 20-cents-an-hour charge above the regular hourly rate to pay for compensation insurance, public liability, supervision and use of small tools. A deposit is required before work is started to eliminate possibility of unpaid bills.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Prevents the "Bends"
Before our fighting pilots take to the air for stratosphere flying they must be "suped-up." To do this the pilot just before he takes off pedals a stationary motor driven bicycle to reduce the amount of nitrogen in his blood. Otherwise gas bubbles would collect in his blood stream.

The stationary bicycle is an inexpensive piece of equipment, but the vast quantities of this and other materials of war make it imperative for all of us to keep our fighting men well supplied by greater and greater purchases of War Bonds.

Memorial Day Recipes

By BETTY BARCLAY

This year women have more cause than usual to worry about "what to serve on a holiday." Rationing and food shortages are with us in full force. Perhaps the following unusual recipes will help a bit. I sincerely hope so.

Fish Savories

2 cups Grape-Nuts Flakes, finely crushed
1 cup flaked cooked white fish
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1/2 teaspoon scraped onion
1 egg, beaten with 4 tablespoons milk and dash of salt

Combine 1 cup Flakes, fish, salt, pepper, onion, and 5 tablespoons egg mixture, mixing well. Shape in 2-inch cakes. Roll in remaining Flakes; then in remaining egg mixture; and roll again in Flakes. Fry in skillet in small amount of fat, browning both sides. Serve with tartare sauce or lemon slices. Makes 6 small savories.

White Gold Salad

1 cup grated raw parsnips
3/4 cup orange sections
1/2 cup shredded tart apple
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Combine the peeled, grated raw parsnip, orange, and apple; chill. Add lemon juice and mayonnaise to the parsnip mixture and just before serving; mix well. Serves 6.

Celery Knob Ragout

4 small celery knobs or roots (about 1 pound) or 3 cups coarsely diced celery
2 1/2 cups boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 pound ground beef
1 cup 40% Bran Flakes, crushed
5 tablespoons water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon finely chopped onion
1/4 cup cold water
4 tablespoons flour

Peel and cut celery knobs into small cubes. Cook, covered, in boiling water and salt 20 minutes, or until done. Remove from liquid. Combine meat, bran flakes, 5 tablespoons water, salt, and onion and mix well. Shape into small meat balls and drop, several at a time, into hot celery stock. Simmer. As balls rise to surface, remove; keep hot.

Measure stock and add water to make 1 1/2 cups. Add cold water gradually to flour, mixing to smooth paste; pour into celery stock, stirring vigorously. Cook until thickened. Add celery and meat balls. Serves 4 to 6.

Marshmallow Maple Rennet-Custard
1 package maple rennet powder
1 pint milk, not canned
5 marshmallows, diced.
Dissolve marshmallows in 1 cup hot milk. Then add 1 cup cold milk and warm slowly, stirring constantly until lukewarm. Then proceed according to directions on package. Chill, then serve.

Dividend Printing

There is one kind of printing that you want—printing that pays a dividend on the investment.

A letterhead with right sort of type properly balanced is a real business asset. It wins the approval of the person receiving your letter, and while he is in this frame of mind your letter is read.

The same reasoning applies to any other job of printing. Neatness, the right weight and kind of paper, the color of the ink, the selection of the type, all play an important part in the production of dividend printing.

We are equipped to give you that kind of printing. Let us prove it to you.

THE ONLY ANSWER

A countryman heard that the job of watchman at a single-line railway crossing was vacant.

"You'll have to undergo a strict examination," the man in charge said when he applied for the job.

"Ask me anything!" bragged the applicant.

"All right," spoke up the examiner. "Supposing you are at the crossing and two trains are coming along from opposite directions, what would you do?"

"I'd blow my whistle."

"Supposing your whistle was out of order?"

"I'd always wear a red shirt, and I'd take it off and flag the trains."

"Let's say this happened at night."

"Then I'd swing my lantern."

"But suppose you had no oil in your lantern?"

"In that case I'd call my sister."

"Your sister? What for?"

"I'd just say to her: 'Come on down, sis, and see the mightiest wreck you ever saw in all your life!'"

CHEERFUL GUY

Employee—Mr. Bangs, I am about to be married, and on my salary we will starve to death.

Boss—Well, well; who is the lucky girl?

And He Did

At an eastern camp a chaplain saw a new soldier, in civilian clothes, about to leave camp. He had been discharged, he said, and was going home. Then he unfolded the story:

After 12 days in the army, the soldier told his sergeant he didn't like it. . . . thought he'd go home. The sergeant, busy at something, looked up. "Scram, buddy," he said briefly. "And," the soldier told the chaplain, "where I come from 'scram' means 'go home.'"

All in Vain

As the old woman wearily pushed a baby carriage up the hill the vicar overtook her and volunteered to relieve her of her burden.

Puffing and blowing, he reached the top of the hill. Then he turned to her.

"Now may I have a look at the dear little baby?"

"Baby, sir!" the woman replied.

"Bless your heart, that's my groceries."

Dog's Life

The teacher was giving a health talk to her class, and warned her pupils never to kiss animals or birds.

"Can you give me an instance of the dangers of this, Bobby?" she asked one boy.

"Yes, miss, my Aunt Alice used to kiss her dog."

"And what happened?" asked the teacher.

"It died."

HUNTED MAN

"What are you doing here, dear?"

"Looking for a husband."

"But you've got one!"

"That's the one I'm looking for."

Realistic Job

"How realistic that painting is! It fairly makes my mouth water."

"A sunset makes your mouth water?"

"Oh, it is a sunset, is it? I thought it was a fried egg!"

Wage Earner

Swift—Where are you going to spend your vacation?

Smith—I'm not going to.

Swift—Huh?

Smith—I just earn that vacation, my family spends it.

Not Rationed

Landlady—You must try some of this hash, Mr. Shye.

Mr. Shye—Is it compulsory?

Landlady—Of course not—it's beef.

Making Progress

"Have you made friends with your new neighbors yet?"

"No, but I'm making progress. Their cat invited our cat over for a musical last night."

Helpful Chap

"I suppose you tried to save every penny when you started in business?"

"I did more than that. I rescued a lot that other people were squandering."

Same Like Him

"The boss says that when he was a boy on the farm they had a mule that was just like one of the family."

"Yes, and I know which one."

Under Protest

"How have you arranged to pay your income tax?"

"With wailing and gnashing of teeth."

Lesson Learned

"How is it that you let your wife have her own way?"

"I once tried to stop her."

The Silent Witness

By COSMO HAMILTON

McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

AMONG the many cautions of the old wise men of China there is this: "When a woman discovers that the man she is going to marry possesses the secret of her past she must smile and keep the terror from her eyes. Having for the moment thus disarmed suspicion let her creep forth when the moon is hid and steal it from its place."

At the moment when George Ringwood picked out an undeveloped roll of films from his brother's goods and chaffs which had just arrived and read "Pictures of an angel; Monte Carlo, 1931," these words of ancient Chinese philosophy slipped from Ann Riveley's mind so that she left the films in his hands.

"Monte Carlo, 1931? The place and the year of my brother's ghastly crash," he said. "I have often wondered who the woman was in that bad chapter of his. I'll take it into the village and have it developed at once."

She kept the terror from her eyes, forced a smile and spoke. "I should. Or shall I save you the trouble and take it myself?" If, without arousing suspicion, she could so obtain the silent witness to her part in that boy's crash there would be no need to creep forth when the moon was hid and steal it from its place.

"Or perhaps it will be better to give it to him," he said. "He's coming home today. He will need us both. He loved that woman, you see. If his hand had been steady when he tried to shoot himself—"

Ann shuddered and held her breath. Never could she forget that moment when the rumor had been brought to her of Noel Ringwood's suicide. Off had gone her fool's cap after that frightful shock. Then George, the man who counted, had immediately won her heart. The discovery of the roll of films and that day's return of Noel threw the shadow of disaster over both their lives.

They were to separate for an hour or two because George had work to do. Would he remember her offer to take the films to the village or was he determined to give it to Noel? In terror and despair she reentered the garden of the old house an hour afterwards. She was seen by George, who called and waved his hand. A sweep of physical weakness held her to her place, but to her intense surprise Noel held out his hand. She heard almost nothing that was said—introductions, congratulations, the usual conventional things. But she did hear his knife-like cruelty when they were left together.

"I would rather see my brother dead than married to you," he said. "If you've grown out of your idocy do you suppose that I haven't?"

"You're going to put up a fight?"

"To the last ditch," she said.

"All right. But my immediate job is to rescue my brother from you. Quite simple I find. He has given me the films. I shall develop those snapshots which show you with me at Monte Carlo in 1931."

"Are you going to do that merciless thing without giving me a chance? Aren't you going to discover what love has done for me?"

"Love doesn't alter nature and yours is callous and selfish."

"Give me today and tomorrow. Be as fair as you would be to a man."

Once he had loved this girl! "I'll be fair," he said.

Fear and cowardice left her.

Then came Sunday night and his announcement of a climax which threw her into despair. "Your butler," he said to his brother, "takes photographs. I hear. I'm going to borrow his dark room and develop my telltale films."

Ann sprang to her feet, excused herself and followed Noel out. "Is there no way by which I can stop you from doing this thing?"

"No." He had never seen her look so lovely as she did.

"There is nothing I can say or do to make you hold your hand?"

"No."

"You're convinced after all these hours that I am unworthy to be George's wife?"

"Yes. Behind your outward devotion I can still see the superficial and merciless person who pushed me into disgrace."

She went to the door, stood for a moment and then quickly walked away.

Thoughts whirled about in her mind as she went into the sitting-room where George drew her to his heart. "When you're mine you will come to a home made excellent by effort and harmony. At the end of every day we three will say with confidence, 'Pass night, all's well.'"

"That you and Noel are such good friends is a great delight to me."

And then Noel came back. With a quick look at his brother and the girl he had tried to win he went to the fireplace and stood with his back to it.

"Well, now we shall know," said George.

"As a matter of fact we shan't. I was hopeless with a camera in those Monte Carlo days. Not a shot comes out."

"What? There's nothing of that woman?"

"Nothing at all," he said.

Noel threw the unbroken roll of film into the fire.

George looked at the fire with courage.

"I once tried to stop her."

Manure Holds Nitrogen

With the supply of chemical nitrogen in commercial fertilizers reduced to a minimum because of its use in war materials, special attention should be given to the conservation of barnyard manure which will supply a great amount of the needed nitrogen. A ton of manure contains 10 pounds of nitrogen, 5 pounds of phosphorus and 10 pounds of potash. At least half of this food value can be retained if the manure is carefully and properly handled.

Floating Hospitals

According to the reports from Colombia, the doctors and sanitary engineers at work there plan to install one or more small hospitals and hospital dispensaries on the rivers in the rubber-producing regions. The larger floating installations will consist of a launch to tow a hospital with eight or ten beds. Among the supplies they will carry are anti-malarial drugs, which are being distributed widely in the Amazon area to protect workers against malaria.

Many Spiders Helpful

Although most people kill spiders on sight, there are in reality only a few species that are to be feared. They even have an actual utilitarian value, their webs being employed for cross hairs on telescopic gun and bomb sights, range finders and optical instruments. In defense of spiders, it also may be said that for food they prey on insects, many of which are injurious to plants and man.

Keep Shoes Fit

Give every pair of shoes the best possible care. Keep them in good repair. Keep them clean and polished. Treat them carefully after a soaking in slush or rain—dry them slowly, rub them with a rough towel so the leather does not stiffen up, and polish them to replace the oil which has been lost.

Tallest Trees

The American Forestry association has records of five tree species in which one or more individuals tower at least 200 feet. Tallest trees on record for the five species are Redwood, 300; Sequoia, 272; Douglas fir, 221; red gum, 200; sugar pine, 200. Alaska has a Sitka spruce which measures 204 feet.

Space Between Vegetables

The space between rows of vegetables depends partly on the amount of ground available, the type of vegetable and should be wide enough to run the wheel cultivator, if that tool is to be used. If not, easy hoeing width should be the minimum.

Best Leather for Army

The five top grades of sole leather are reserved for the army, the navy, the coast guard and the marines. Many of our largest manufacturing plants have turned their production to military shoes.

Never Whistle on Ship

A navy man never whistles while he is aboard ship—it's forbidden because it might be confused with the shrill sound of the boatswain's pipe which is blown to attract attention and silence when orders are given.

Keep Kraut Cool

Kraut made from a surplus of early cabbage should be kept cool during fermentation and subsequent storage, since failure is usually caused by high temperatures.

Right Names, Different People

To give one an idea of how fast the army works, it took Hollywood, with all its glamour and extravaganzas, several years to "discover" such names as Lana Turner, Hedy Lamarr, Ronald Coleman and Robert Taylor. In one week, Keesler Field's B-24 Liberator Bomber school turned up a Charlie Chaplin, Joe E. Brown, Charlie McCarthy, Bob Burns, two Ronald Colemans, three Robert Taylors, three William Powells and a half dozen Charles Boyers—all airplane mechanics students, no movie stars.

PETER'S COUNSEL TO SCATTERED CHRISTIANS

LESSON TEXT—I Peter 1:1; 2:11-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Honor all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king.—I Peter 2:17.

Persecution for Christ's sake has been the lot of believers from the first century down to 1943. Sometimes it has been official, but more often unofficial, yet nonetheless severe and trying.

The manner in which Christians face their difficulties is one of the best testimonies to the reality of their professed faith. Sometimes, however, in the midst of their trials the enemy of their souls brings discouragement—and then they need the counsel and encouragement of others.

Such was the situation when Peter addressed his first epistle to the early believers who were scattered abroad (1:1). His counsel was just what they needed, and is equally helpful to us. They were to be

I. Separated As Pilgrims (1:1; 2:11, 12).

Christians are in this world but not of it. They are passing through, wayfarers on their way to the eternal dwelling place of God. That does not mean that they are not interested in the welfare of those round about them, or delinquent in sharing the responsibilities of life, but it does mean that they are to have the pilgrim's detachment from the things of the world and the flesh.

In the days of Peter, membership in the church was not considered a normal or respectable thing. It marked a person as belonging to a hated sect, one which was falsely accused of many evil deeds. For example, Christians met at night, men and women together for communion service. Because they spoke of this as a "love feast," they were accused of immorality, and because they spoke of the body and blood of Christ they were said to be eaters of human flesh.

Christians must meet such malicious reports. How? By silencing their accusers by their good works.

II. Submissive As Citizens (2:13-18).

One of the hallmarks of Christian character is willing and gracious recognition of proper authority, whether it be in the state, in the place of employment, in the school, or in the home. He does this for the Lord's sake (v. 13), and even when that authority is in the hands of an unreasonable man.

This does not mean that the Christian is to encourage or countenance tyranny and oppression, but that he is loyal to the state and to his employer, even though the present representative be a hard, unjust man. In all well ordered society there will be proper and effective means to correct injustice. But in and through it all the Christian shows his faith by his behavior.

Observe that government, in the plan of God, is for the purpose of keeping order, encouraging the good, and punishing the evil (vv. 13, 14). The powerful influence of the Christian Church should keep it in that right channel, or bring it back if it has strayed. Always loyal and obedient, the believer should use his ballot and his personal influence to establish and support good government.

III. Suffering As Christians (2:19-25).

Christ is our "example" (v. 21). Since some have interpreted this word and the statement "that ye should follow in his steps" as indicating that we are saved by our imitation of Christ, it is well to point out that this would be quite impossible. We would have to begin where He began—He was without sin (v. 22). But we have all "sinned and come short of the glory of God" (Rom. 3:23). We need a Saviour—not an example as far as redemption is concerned.

In the ever present problem of suffering, we as redeemed ones do have Christ as our example. He who was sinless and without fault bore the shame and suffering of Calvary without complaint. When He was reviled He did not retaliate, when He was hurt He did not threaten revenge (vv. 22, 23), but was willing to leave the ultimate judgment in the hands of God, who will have the final word.

We ought to do the same when we suffer for Christ's sake. If we suffer because of our own sin or folly, we can claim no credit for bearing it patiently (v. 20). But when we have done well and then are persecuted, we have opportunity to show whether our profession of being followers of Christ really means anything. At this point some Christians lose their testimony and influence by a bitter, vengeful spirit.

These are trying days for the souls of men. In many parts of the world Christians are forced to drink the bitter cup of persecution. To the glory of God we record the fact that they are doing it heroically and in a true Christian spirit.

Rub Out Bathtub Ring
Bathtubs which are stained badly by the use of rubber mats can be brought back to whiteness by this easy method: Try rubbing with a paste of scratchless scouring powder and kerosene. Wash with soap and water. What remains of the stain might be bleached out by covering the bottom of the tub with clear water, then pouring two or three table-spoonsful of a good stain remover into it; thoroughly mix this with the water and allow it to remain over night.

Exempt Handwork
Indian and Eskimo handicraft articles were exempted from price control by the Office of Price Administration. OPA pointed out that these objects made by the skill of the workmen range from simple articles made in standard form to objects of art. Because of the difficulty in administering price control and the relative unimportance of the objects in the cost of living it was deemed best to exempt them.

Best Milk Cows
Although the evidence was not entirely one-sided, tabulation records indicated that cows which freshened in the fall and early winter were more productive than those which freshened in spring and summer. They produced an average of 11 per cent more milk, 11 per cent more butterfat and 11 per cent more income over feed cost.

Haiti Makes Cloth
Primitive weaving has been carried on in Haiti for centuries. Christopher Columbus brought back from Haiti the first cloth found in the Western hemisphere, hand-woven cloth that he secured from the Indians of that ancient island of Hispaniola on his first voyage to the New world.

Wars Raise Prices
During the first 40 months of both wars, farm prices in the United States rose about 80 per cent. However, that does not mean that each product rose 80 per cent since the war started. Some rose more, such as hogs and potatoes, and some rose less, such as eggs and butter.

Freshen Lima Beans
There's a trick worth knowing in restoring lima beans to their original freshness. After soaking them four to five hours in cold water, cook the beans in the same water. Cook about 20 minutes, add salt and cook 20 to 30 minutes longer till the beans are tender.

Contour Plowing Old
Contour plowing was practiced by George Washington and Thomas Jefferson. In fact, a son-in-law of Jefferson invented a hillside plow for facilitating this method of plowing which many people consider as a new phase of farming.

Find Indian Ruins
Rich new archeological finds, including a pyramid, a fortress and parts of a statue, all dating from the mysterious Toltec era of the seventh and 11th centuries, was recently announced from Mexico.

Quinine in Peru
The cinchona tree, source of quinine, was discovered in Peru 300 years ago. But, like rubber, it was transplanted to the Far East to become the basis of plantation industries dominating the world markets.

War Boosted Prices
During the last war the mail-order price for a pair of overalls rose from 82 cents to $2.95, and at one time a 10-pound bag of sugar cost $2.67.

Strengthen Wood Joints
Use of steel-ringed timber connectors to increase the strength of wood joints saved 400,000 tons of steel in 1942.

Machine Makes Rivets
A new rivet-making machine used in airplane production is said to turn out 450,000 rivets a day, with rejections, or duds, cut to 2 per cent.

Forests in Morocco
There are more than 5,000,000 acres of forest in French Morocco. In the Atlas mountains cedars attain a height of 100 feet.

Took Your Shirt, Too
For years the Fuggers, 16th century German bankers and industrialists, made 54½ per cent on their money.

Tree Halts Erosion
The black locust is an excellent tree for planting to prevent soil erosion on land too hilly or stony for crops.

Clean With Cloth
A wooden bowl should not be put down into water. To clean, wipe with a damp cloth and dry thoroughly.

Boil Cracked Eggs
Cracked eggs can be boiled without their contents oozing out if a teaspoonful of salt is added to the water.

Cornbread Stuffing
Cornbread stuffing is tasty with braised chicken cooked in a covered roaster.

Russian Pompeii
Kerch is called Russia's Pompeii because of its many tombs and relics.

Peru Produces Coffee
Peru produced over 9,200,000 pounds of coffee last year.

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE By ROGER B. WHITMAN

Roger B. Whitman—WNU Features.

You may not be able to replace worn or broken household equipment. This is war. Government priorities come first. So take care of what you have . . . as well as you possibly can. This column by the homeowner's friend tells you how.

Blistered Veneer
Question: I have an antique table with a large crotch mahogany top. Alcohol has made blisters in two places where the crotch is joined together. Would it be possible for me to get the blisters down, or should I send for a carpenter?

Answer: If the table is of value, you should get a good cabinetmaker. If you wish to try the job yourself, begin by removing the finish with a varnish remover or by scraping. Then, to flatten the blister, make a slit down its length in the direction of the grain, using an old razor blade (if you still have one). Soften the veneer by laying a damp cloth on the blister. Glue is then pushed under the loosened veneer with a knife blade by pressing down first one side of the slit and then the other. The veneer is then pressed back into position, where it is held by weights until the glue dries. Finish with two coats of good quality quick drying synthetic resin varnish.

Paint Mixture for Cracks
Question: I have mixed some old paint and a quantity of plaster of paris with the idea of using the mixture to fill up small cracks, holes, etc., particularly in wood. It was rather brittle. Do you know of anything which could be used with old paint to make a good filler for joints, holes, etc., or even a substance which would dry to as hard a filler as plastic wood?

Answer: Try mixing powdered whiting with the paint. Many paint stores now stock a prepared crack filler which works very well. For cracked plaster walls I prefer using a prepared patching plaster instead of plaster of paris; for it hardens more slowly and gives more time to work it.

Rough-Textured Walls
Question: Our one-family house has a couple of rooms with rough-textured plastic paint on the walls. My wife would like to have the walls smoothed. What is a good way to do that?

Answer: Remove the roughest part of the surface by rubbing with coarse sandpaper wrapped around a block of wood. Light depressions that remain can be filled with a mixture of glue size thickened with whiting. The surface can be made smooth with a trowel or with a rubber squeegee of the kind used by window cleaners.

Sap in Wood Panel
Question: We had a closet built, and the one narrow panel of wood used on one side, inside and out, has sap running from it. The wood is natural and therefore we put only stain on it, but still the sap keeps oozing out. How can this be stopped? We are anxious to varnish and complete the closet.

Answer: Wash off the sap by wiping with benzine (be careful of fire); then coat the affected areas with a good quality of pure white shellac. Dull the gloss by rubbing lightly with fine sandpaper, wipe off the dust and finish with varnish.

Dyeing Grass Rugs
Question: I want to stain two grass rugs green or blue. What type of stain should I use?

Answer: Use a dye; get it at a drug store. It should be kept hot by floating the can of dye in a bucket of hot water. After dampening the rug with clear water, apply the dye with a wide brush, using even strokes. Protect the floor under the rug with a pad of newspapers. Dry the rugs quickly and thoroughly by hanging in such a way that air will circulate on both sides.

Stained Clothes Dryer
Question: I have an old wood clothes drier that leaves brown stains on clothing, in spite of washing and using a bleach. The staining continues. Can I do anything to stop it?

Answer: The staining is probably from sap in the wood, or dust that the wood has absorbed. Your best move will be to discard the rack, and to use some other way of drying the clothes.

Cleaner for Stone
Question: Stone facing around my front entrance is soiled. How can it be cleaned?

Answer: Scrub with soft water, boiling hot and a little soap. For a water softener you can use borax or trisodium phosphate.

Drip From Water Pipe
Question: How can I stop a drip caused by condensation from a water pipe?

Answer: You can cover the pipe with a special jacketing of the right size. Hardware dealers and plumbers carry it in stock.

Water Too Hot
Question: I have an all steel tankless boiler, which during the winter, while making steam, overheats the water. The lead pipes leak due to the fact that the temperature of the water cannot be regulated. Do you know of a valve that could be applied to this boiler to control the temperature?

Answer: Your local plumber should be able to install a thermostatic water mixing valve at the outlet of the water heater coil. There are several firms making this type of valve.

Lovely Graduation Dresses Are Shown Sturdy Pique Is Pretty but Practical.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Now is the time of year when the fancy of a young maiden turns happily to thoughts of the dress she will wear when she proudly receives her diploma. Most of the opinions are that even though it be wartime, so far as is possible young girls should not be deprived of having a pretty dress and the happy memories of that momentous occasion—her graduation day.

This season's showings of graduation gowns is particularly interesting in that such simple, inexpensive fabrics are made up so attractively. The outstanding favorite with young girls who want a pretty, yet practical, dress they can wear all summer, is pique. For both the long dress and the short length, pique has an enviable fashion rating.

The basque bodice remains a favorite with juniors and teen-agers: Likewise the dirndl skirt is a first choice. In a very successful pique model shown in a smart collection, the dirndl has a dropped waistline which is seamed to a long-torso, pointed basque. To give the feminine touch and yet remain on the tailored side, wide scallops edge the pointed basque, the short sleeves and a generously large fichu-like collar. Huge mother-of-pearl buttons add a clever touch.

Stepped in winsomeness is another pique model. It also is a short-length version. The glory of this dress, with its long-torso, fitted bodice, are the ruffles of tiny eyelet-embroidered pique that encircle the neckline like a peplum. Unique, too, is the sleeve treatment in that the embroidered ruffles also form epaulets at each shoulder top.

Sheers are lovely for graduation frocks, especially marquisette. White rayon crepe is also a favorite, and there is a rayon voile that makes up charmingly, is inexpensive and launders white as snow. With little lace edging at throat and sleeves and on fancy pockets, such a gown can be easily made at home. A frock of white organdy that is lavishly ruffled looks the very picture of refreshing youth. Marquisette also makes up prettily in this same manner.

Starched chiffon with a velv-ray patterning of lily-of-the-valley sprays has a loveliness all its own. Many graduates insist on the floor-length dress rather than the short version. The current collections include both. Pastel sheers also are favored for the graduation frock. As to bows in the hair, or flowers (preferably a gardenia), they are the rule and not the exception.

Gray Faille

To dress smartly, choose gray with white for your color scheme. The material for this costume is rayon faille striped with white. Very new and chic! Here the white stripes on the glamorous pearl gray faille are used vertically. Nice details that give distinction to this tailored version of the new suit frock for all-season wear are the tiny black velvet collar, self-covered buttons and crisp detachable gilet. The stunning darker gray felt suit hat with towering crown is typical of the sort of hat that is considered fashion-correct with a smartly tailored costume.

Style Notes

A new winsome simplicity has come into fashion. It's smart to wear your lapel whimsies in pairs.

Victory gardeners like the new rickrack-trimmed denim aprons. Crisp taffeta ruche is a popular trim for voguish little sailor hats.

Current style trends give prominence to Chinese-inspired fashions.

The wide-brimmed black hat is coming in as an after-Easter favorite.

High styling is given to crochet hats and to smart knitted costumes.

Lavish use of flowers brings romance into the spring and summer fashion picture.

Lacy mitts, lacy hats, boas of net ruffles are among prettily feminine details that add charm to milady's costume.

Good Care of Tractor Required at Present

Production Limitations Requires Check-up

With limitations on production, it's extremely important that every farmer gets full power and longer life from his tractor by taking the best kind of care of it, says E. R. Gross, professor of agricultural engineering at Rutgers university, in offering tips on making adjustments to the valuable machines.

"In order to get the maximum use out of every ounce of fuel, it is necessary to adjust the carburetor once or twice a year," Gross reminds farmers.

"This should be done with the tractor warmed up and while in operation on a normal belt load. A carburetor is not easy to adjust while on traction load. Too lean a mixture of fuel is as bad as one that is too rich.

"Although the right adjustments vary, you can gauge it accurately if you lean the mixture first by turning the load needle valve until there is missing or back-firing. Then turn the needle back until the engine carries the load smoothly, and adjust it slowly so that the full effect of changes in the mixture reaches all cylinders. If there is a separate idle adjustment, set it while on no load, but do not change the main needle except while on full load."

Ignition must be right for fuel economy and full power, Gross continues. Plug porcelain must be perfect, not fouled, burned nor broken.

Test the source of electricity. The spark should be continuous and give a good flame when jumping a three-eighths-inch gap. Be sure the plug is of the right type. Use the cold type plug for gasoline and the hot type plug for distillate or heavier fuels.

Ronal Miller, four-year-old son of Albert Miller, hired man, helping Peter Quist run the tractor and cultivator on the Quist farm, Isanti county, Minnesota.

Time the breaker points, adjust for proper gap, a little less than the plug gap. See that they act freely, meet flatly rather than at a point and separate without a spark.

Wiring may be tested visually but the coil or condenser require a tester set for maximum and minimum capacity.

Study your tractor as you use it.

Wisconsin Researchers Hint Greater Use of Urea

Urea will be post-war cow feed. Such is the prediction of Wisconsin research workers who are continuously searching for ways to cut the cost of feeding. They believe that if milk prices should drop after the war, farmers will hold one high trump in the form of cost-cutting urea rations, now being tested at the University of Wisconsin.

Heroine of this work is the famous heifer with the "window" in her side, who allows research workers to take samples of partly digested feedstuffs from her paunch. By analyzing these samples, it is possible to learn what the animal's digestive system is able to do with the various rations fed to her.

The scientists also tested the opposite extreme of the timothy-urea ration by supplementing the ration with molasses, whose sugars are even more quickly fermentable than starch. That worked all right, but not any better than farm grains.

Accidents on Farms

The National Safety council rates agriculture the most hazardous industry in the United States with 4,200 accidental deaths during the last year on record. Tractors and farm machinery are at the head of the farm-accident list.

Replacement of Cows

About 20 per cent of the 26,000,000 cows that comprise the nation's milk producing factory must be replaced every year.

Mahogany Is Tough
Mahogany is used extensively in making plywood and veneers. A thin outer coating or surfacing of mahogany placed over a base of soft tough wood makes fine material for building fast PT mosquito boats. Thin sheets of mahogany and other woods from one-hundredth to one-tenth of an inch thick are cemented together under heat and heavy pressure, thus providing a semi-plastic material that is boil-proof, waterproof and lighter than steel.

Built Ships Early
Before the Mayflower arrived in the New World, the first ocean-going ship to be built on these shores had been launched on the Maine coast. The time was 1607 and the ship, the "Virginia" made many trips across the Atlantic. Today, American shipbuilding is one of the major industries and the only one to meet and exceed presidential directives in 1942. Deadweight tonnage in 1942 was in excess of 8,000,000 dead-weight tons.

Grow Fence Posts
Farmers who plan to grow their own fence posts in a plantation of trees may wish to set out seedlings of osage orange, the most durable post wood that grows in the north. Better even than black locust, osage orange posts only two or three inches through often last for 12 years as fence supports, it is said. Posts four to five inches thick, cut from the trunk of an osage orange tree, are practically indestructible.

Treat Tool Handles
Commercially treated handles on picks, shovels, pitchforks, and other tools have that blonde look because they are bleached with hydrogen peroxide. Numerous other wood products are bleached either by spraying the chemical on the veneer to produce a surface bleach or by immersing the veneer to give a bleach that will permit deeper sanding operations.

Concealed Blood
In the 18th century, Lord Nelson is credited with having the sides of decks, gun carriages and sometimes the guns on a warship painted red. The theory was that blood stains from men killed or wounded in action would blend in color with the paint and the morale of gunners who replaced the dead or injured would be less likely to be affected.

Eat Apples Unpeeled
Eat your apples whole and unpeeled for more vitamin C, or serve them sliced in the following salad combinations: Cabbage and red apple; cottage cheese, nuts, and red apple; alternate slices of oranges or grapefruit and red apple; banana, grapes, and apple; carrot, celery, nuts, and apple; or chicken, celery, and apple.

To Clean Windows in Cold Seasons
Windows are best cleaned by the dry method in cold weather. Finely powdered whiting mixed to a thick paste with water or alcohol and rubbed over the glass in a thin layer will dry before it can freeze and may be rubbed off with a soft cloth or paper.

Re-Use Packages
As many factories now make packages for war supplies instead of for food, and since steel for nails and wire is scarce, re-use of crates boxes, barrels, baskets, burlap and cotton sacks is urged, to prevent a widespread shortage of food packages.

Earth Moves Irregularly
The earth appears to be somewhat irregular in its movements. It was 36 seconds late for an engagement in 1940. This discovery was made as a result of observations on the transit of Mercury across the face of the sun.

Don't Overheat Iron
Overheating an electric iron wastes electricity, damages the element and creates a fire hazard. Dropping an iron may break the thermostat or throw it out of adjustment.

Sacks for Clip
An adequate supply of burlap and paper sacks for handling the 1943 wool clip is expected. Paper twine should be used for tying fleeces.

Rats Expensive Boarders
It pays the farmer to get rid of excess population today: the rats that cost about $2 each for their room and board a year.

Measures Color
An instrument known as a photoelectric tristimulus colorimeter, or "artificial eye for color measuring," has been developed.

Mustard Gas Strong
A scientist points out that mustard gas poisons even the rubber gloves of a surgeon.

Columbus Found Sea
The Sargasso sea was discovered by Columbus on Sunday, September 16, 1492.

Ants Have Strong Jaws
Ants are considered to have the most powerful jaw grip of any animal.

Tested Blood Pressure
Blood pressure was first measured in 1733 by the Rev. Dr. Stephen Hales.

War on Foxes
Northern Ireland has started a war on foxes, which are killing sheep.

LETTER FROM DETROIT

seem to have made much progress against them so far. Our army is certainly growing, judging from the number of men who are being sent to the induction center, from this section, daily. Of course, we are not acquainted with many of them, as you folks in there are when our boys are called, but when an average of 200 are being called every day, we realize that our army is reaching an enormous size. There are still ugly rumors going the rounds about the doings of the different Draft Boards, and how easily it is, in some cases to get a deferment. One man, who has been doing all he can to keep out of the Army, said in his presence that if he had been in the same board that our boy, who is now overseas, he would have been among the first to go, but that he had an easy board to contend with. There is no doubt that a lot of crooked work is going on—not only on the boards, but on the part of the eligible men themselves, as we read of over 200 draft dodgers being rounded up in one day. That may be a very small number if you consider the size of this city, but multiplied by a good many days, it amounts to a considerable number.

When we started to write this letter, we said that nothing was happening worth writing about. Well, when we were nearing the end, we found that about the largest and most costly strike that has occurred since this war began, is being pulled off, this time by the workers in the Chrysler plants. Over 24,000 employees are out of work and the heads of the company say that if the trouble is not settled by the end of the week, their whole force—over 120,000 in number, will be out of work, on account of shortage of stock. We certainly hope that some kind of anti-strike action will soon be enacted by Congress. And in this connection, we again repeat what we wrote some time ago—that as soon as a man goes on strike, he should be automatically inducted into the army, where he would soon learn that he would be in the position of the boys who are there now, and who cannot strike when little things do not suit them.

MARYLAND GUARD HONORED

Emphasizing the front rank enjoyed by the Maryland State Guard among the State military units of the country Gov. Herbert R. O'Connor made known Monday receipt of a formal invitation from the British Crown, through the British Embassy at Washington, for a group of Maryland military officials to visit England and review the British Home Guard.

Brigadier General Dwight H. Mohr, Commander of the State Guard, and Brigadier General Francis Petrott, the Acting Adjutant General, were designated by the Embassy to represent the State, and will be accompanied by several members of their staff.

The invitation, intended by the Crown for the Commanding Officers of the foremost State Guard organization in the United States, was transmitted to the Maryland officers when the Embassy found, on checking military records in Washington, that the Maryland State Guard had been rated above 91 percent in a recent country-wide checkup, while the next highest State organization was rated only 78 percent.

POTATO CROP IN CARROLL

Government statistics show that if Carroll county meets its 1943 goal in the production of potatoes, the increase, over and above the production of last year, will be enough to provide a year's ration of this staple food for 2,060 soldiers. The average soldier eats five bushels a year.

Although the shortage of seed and labor have made the grower's problem difficult, Carroll County is expected to effect a substantial increase in production, even if it does fall short of its goal of harvesting 1,400 acres.

The Maryland potato crop last year had an estimated value of $2,423,000 as compared with $1,536,000 in 1941.

WATCH FOR FLEA BEETLES

County Agent L. C. Burns warns tomato growers and Victory gardeners to keep a close watch for the flea beetles. They are tiny black or varied colored beetles that jump when disturbed, and their presence can be determined by small round holes eaten in the leaves of tomatoes, potatoes and other plants. If allowed to feed unmolested, they may completely sap the life from young plants. The cooler weather checks the growth of plants and enables these pests to do greater damage than under more favorable growing conditions.

It has been the general practice to use ordinary hydrated lime as a dust to keep the insects from the plants. Though lime may be a good repellent the practice should be discontinued as it retards the development of the plant for a week to ten days and frequently leaves a permanent stunted effect. Where early tomatoes are desired, everything possible should be done to encourage quick establishment and rapid growth. Mr. Burns recommends the use of a dust composed of 9 pounds of land plaster (gypsum) or talc and 1 pound of arsenate of lead applied as soon as the insects appear.

MORE THAN 400 TO GRADUATE

More than 400 graduates of both the Baltimore and College Park Schools of the University of Maryland will receive their diplomas at commencement exercises which will be held in Ritchie Coliseum at 11 A. M., on Saturday.

The total number of students to be graduated this June is considerably less than for last June because many students have taken advantage of the accelerated program offered by the University and are graduating at various times during the year. For example more than 300 students received their degrees at the first mid-winter graduation held last February.

Degrees this May will be distributed to graduates of the various colleges and schools as follows: Arts and Science, 83; Agriculture, 34; Engineering, 12; Education, 40; Business Administration, 24; Home Economics, 33; Law, 16; Pharmacy, 27; Nursing, 30; and Graduate School, Master's degrees, 41; and Doctor of Philosophy, 29. Only two are from Carroll County. They are: Emory C. Leffert, of Woodbine, and William F. Wheeler, of Hampstead.

MY ROBIN

You killed my robin—you—
What good did that do you?
She troubled not the things you had,
Destroyed no fruit or flower for you,

And yet you killed her—you—
Was it right, or did you do it
Just for spite? You killed her
She who in your apple tree
And reared her young,
And sung her song
And yet you killed her—
That was wrong.

Can you figure out the cost
In fruit and vegetables lost,
Because of Vermin that survive
Because my robin's not alive?

And can you measure any way
The joy I got when robins play
Beneath the sprinkling water spray
Out in my back yard?

Why did you do it—murderer you?
Blighter of beauty—is it true?
Did you do it just to try
That gun you own? Why, why?

Oh Robin Red Breast—old time friend
Send on your young to build a nest
Out in the apple tree when you
Long years ago first to it flew.
