FIRE NEAR TOWN

Prompt Action by Firemen Saves Much Property

Fire of unknown origin on Wednesday evening caused the loss of a wash house and smoke house on the farm of Clarence Baumgardner, near Taney-

Only the remarkably quick action of the Taneytown firemen prevented a much larger loss.

The alarm was sounded about 7:30 P M. and it is reported that in five minutes from the time the firemen left their building, they had laid 800 feet of hose from Piney Creek to the fire and were ready to throw water. Whether that timing was exactly correct or not we do not know, but at least it was a fast and effective job of fire-fighting. The burned buildings were separate from the house with a roofed passage way between them. The house was badly scorched and all furniture appreciate the "Carro I appreciate th was taken out, but the house was saved and the household goods replaced by the firemen and neighbors. Meat taken from the smoke house was blackened and heated, but was salvaged by turning the hose on these valuprovisions.

While the origin of the fire is not known, it evidently started for some reason in the wash house. The work of the firemen received very great

LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIERS IN THE U.S.

Contain Thanks for the Kits and The Carroll Record

I've finished the 65 hours flying which I mentioned in my last letter from Carlstrom Field, Florida. My training there included acrobatics, cross-country, stages and various other flight maneuvers which were practically everything the PT would do.

Now my basic flight training is beginning. I fly a BT-13 and the cockpit is filled with gadgets of all types. They have to be used in coordination while flying and I have lots of headaches. I'll receive about 70 or 80

I appreciate the "Carroll Record" very much. My new address is: A/c Kenneth Nusbaum, 43-K AAFBFS, Bainridge, Georgia. Yours very

KENNETH NUSBAUM.

To Whom it may Corcern:
I find my kit which was given to me by the Taneytown Project Society very fine to have. It has already proved itself to be very useful in many ways. I wish to thank every one having a hand in this, as I think it proves to be a soldiers "Old Stand

I so far find the army life thrilling but a little bit hard to get used to. Getting up at 5:15 in the morning was hardly my life before this. I am with a group called the Maryland Cadets, who come from all sections of the State.

The climate down here so far is ideal, it is very warm during the day, and about 9 in the evening it gets very cool. We have to sleep under our army cover.

I believe Taneytown is the best little town in the world, it too is up to date and some day after we the peo-ple of the United Nations achieve our total victory, I hope to return to it.
Well I'll say goodbye for now and I will write again later.

Yours very truly, PVT. GEORGE R. HEMLER, 1175 Tr. Gr. B. T. C. No 10 Bks T-913 Greensboro, N. C.

A letter to all relatives and friends back home to let them know that we were shipped out from Sutton, N. C. last Thursday for Camp Forrest,

The Carroll Record Co.,

Gentlemen: On this bright sunshine-filled Sunday, I will enceavor to give you a brief description of life in the heart

Probably the most noticeable thing to an Easterner is the large number of automobiles on the highways. Gasoline is very plentiful, and every one had his car on the road. Of course, there is gasoline rationing, but nothing like the gallon-and-a-half-aweek as there is in the East. coupons are allowed four gallons, but they are very scarce. Hardly ever does one see anything short of a "B" sticker on any automobile.

Salt Lake City is situated in the midst of a great valley, surrounded on all sides by tall, towering mountain peaks that are covered with snow. It is only a mere matter of 18 miles between the city's heat and a nice cool, refreshing sleigh ride in the mountains.

Unlike the cities along the coast, Salt Lake City is a galaxy of bright lights at night. The main thoroughfare, State street, is one of the most beautiful streets of any I've ever It is a six lane highway, very well kept, and most of the city's main businesses and recreational facilities are located there.

The Mormon Temple is one of the most interesting and educational structures I've ever had the privilege of visiting. There is a museum lo-cated on the Temple grounds, giving in pictures, relics and stories the entire history of the Mormon clan, and their terrific struggle for recognition as a Religion. The people are very sociable, treating the soldiers with respect and loyalty

The great Salt Lake is truly one of the fascinating freaks of nature. It is a great experience to swim in this huge body of water. Originally, the lake joined the ocean, but the heavy droughts in the past years have dried the connecting link to the ocean, so that only a large body of water remains. As you have probably heard, it is impossible to sink down into the lake; yes, almost impossible to swim. It is a true fact, that once you learn the art of balancing yourself in the water, it is impossible to sit or lie on the surface and read a newspaper. The water is so heavily laden with

A movement has been on foot for some time to establish a Carroll Co. War Memorial. A few weeks ago an advisory committee was appointed to study the whole matter and to arrange for a county-wide meeting, Friday, August 13, when definite recommendations as to types of memorials, costs and other information will be consid-

The advisory committee comprises Raymond S. Hyson, chairman; Roy D. Knouse, H. H. Hackney and Walter H. Davis. This committee met on Thursday, July 29, and is very acpresent to the county-wide committee at its meeting on August 13.

Reports thus far from some of the districts are very encouraging. Woolery's District is planning a meeting in the Sandy Mount school in the near future at which time their district chairman will be selected and the district organization effected. Reports from other districts indicate

The three service clubs of Westminster are backing the movement. Taneytown has taken no action, but talk of a memorial for this community has been heard.

The order also will permit increased production of shoes at price levels where there is greater consumer demand.

Home canners have been warned by the U.S. Department of Agriculture against the use of "canning powders" and other chemical preservatives. W. G. Campbell, Commissioner of the Federal Food and Drug Administration, said that use of some of the "canning powders" constitutes a definite health hazard. The term "canning powders," includes boric acid and its compounds and substances like metabisulfite which yield sulfur dioxde when brought in contact with an acid-reacting food product. The safe way for the * home canner is to process foods adequately stable, a drop in fresh vegetables and butter prices cut the cost of living for city workers by 0.2 percent in month ending June 15—the first month to show a reduction since a year before Pearl Harbor, the U.S. Department of Labor reported recently. Food prices as a whole, making up over 40 percent of the cost of living index, declined 0.8 percent. The cost of living index now stands at 124.8 percent of the 1935-39 average. Food prices are 45 percent above January 1941 and more than 16 per cent above May 1942.

Despite heavy wartime demands on the supply of edible fats and oils (principally lard, butter, shortening, and margarine), 44 pounds per capita -about 5 pounds less than in 1942-will be made available to American civilians during the 12 months ending June 30, 1944 the War Food Administration has announced. Of the total civilian allocation, approximately 9 ounces per week per capita will be available for direct purchases, and an tive in making a survey of the matter additional 41/2 ounces for indirect conand will have valuable information to sumption in such items as restaurant meals, bakery products, mayonnaise,

Smaller quotas of new passenger car tires for August and larger quotas of used and recapped tires have been announced by OPA, based on rationing allotments assigned for the month by the Office of Rubber Director. The August quota of Grade I tires is the lowest since last April. OPA officials warned that drivers who are eligible for new tires may have to accept used or recapped types as long as the quota of new tires is low.

CHILD CARE PROGRAM Methodist Reorganize and Expand Work

Methodists within the territory of the Baltimore Conference, which embraces the Western Shore of Maryland, the District of Columbia and parts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia and West Virgin ginia, took the first step in the reorganization and expansion of their child care program Monday night, in the appointment of the Rev. F. Reid Isaac as General Superintendent of the denomination's children's homes.

This is the first official action of the Board of Child Care, created by the Baltimore Annual Conference of the Methodist Church at its recent session in June. In addition to consolidating the administration of the three children's institutions maintained by the Methodists of this ed by the Methodists of this areathe Strawbrdge Home for Boys, at Sykesville, The Kelso Home for Girls, at Towson, and Swartzell Home, in Washington-the new board and its Superintendent will study the problems of dependent, neglected and de-linquent children, looking to the formulation of a board program of juvenile assistance. The Rev. Mr. Isaac, who takes over his new duties immediately, has serv-ed as superintendent of the Strawbridge Home for Boys for the past six years. Prior to filling this position, he engaged in the ministry of the Methodist Church as pastor of several churches in the Baltimore area. His activities in the social field have won him recognition in Baltimore, where he is closely identified with the Council of Social Agencies, and in the State, having recently been elect-ed president of the Cheltenham School for Boys.

RESTRICTED DRIVING PERMITS

Here is important information for youths of 14 and 15 years of age from W. Lee Elgin, the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles of Maryland.

To clarify in the minds of these youngsters just why restricted driving permits will be issued, Commissioner Elgins said, "I have been given the authority by an act of legislature as an emergency measure to assist farm operations, to grant special permits to youngsters 14 and 15 years of age. These permits will only be granted to operate a motor vehicle within the particular farm area where the applicant may live or work, and should it be necessary for the motor vehicle or-farm implement which the youth is operating to be moved from one farm to another, which would mean crossing congested areas, main highways, or through cities or towns, it will be necessary for a licensed motor vehicle operator over 16 years of age to operate this equipment in place of the 14 and 15 year old youth."
"When this law was asked for by the Farm Bureau Association, all that with heat and not to use chemical the Farm Bureau Association. all that preservatives. For safety's sake, rely on thorough heat sterilization. old drivers would be issued a permit to operate farm equipment in connection with farm work within the farm area itself. Furthermore, it was plainly understood with the Bureau that the law gave the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles the power to designate the farm roads and lanes where the holders of these permits can drive and at no time will they be permitted to drive beyond the area specified on their permit." Commissioner El-gin stated that he wanted it thoroughly understood that at no time should the 14 and 15 year old youths drive other than in the area stipulated. Deviation from this will mean an immediate revocation of the permit of the person to whom it was issued. He further stated that he wanted to impress strongly the importance of this law being carried out to the letter as a safety factor along Marvland highways. It must be remembered that any negligence on the part of the 14 and 15 year old driver of a motor vehicle would mean that the endorser of the youth's application would be jointly and severely liable, as well as the minor, for any damages caused by their negligence. MASS MAILING FINISHED

Approximately 122,000,000 copies of War Ration Book Three had been mailed by the first of last week. OPA announced that: (1) anyone who does not receive his War Ration Book Three should apply at his local board between August 1 and 10. (2) a plan is now being set up to distribute War Ration Book Three to members of the armed services who are eligible for ration books: (3) persons receiving War Ration Book Three should sign their names and addresses in the space reserved for that purpose on

Arrangements have been completed to provide additional storage facilifor handling the late crop of 1943 Irish potatoes, the War Food Administration has announced. WPB has approved the allocation of materials for the construction of storage facilities sufficient to take care of 15 million bushels of potatoes. PLUS NOTHING

President Roosevelt's radio speech last week has been the subject, and fairly so, of much criticism. This thing of rushing to the radio on every occasion has become a habit, but it is not infrequently true that it adds nothing to our store of knowledge or to our measure of zeal, or to the solidity of our moral. This speech amounted to exactly plus nothing.

That being the case, we could well afford to ignore it if there were not gross sins of commission contained in the spendo-patriotism of the affair. Passing over the statements about the war, about which the world knew exactly as much before the speech as after it, we take note of the looking ahead toward the post-war world. The Chief Executive said the United Nations were substantially agreed on ple. But the small business men plus general objectives. Just what does the farmers plus labor, plus the unorthat mean? This country got along marvelcusly well for much more than a century with its Presidents talking or writing to Congress, and then only when occasion required it. We have not improved things by rushing to the radio taking Congress into account only when it can not be avoided.

The recent speech of Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes was perhaps the most untimely and ill-advised public address that has been made by any member of the President's Cabinet in recent years. The charge that the mandates of congress to reduce the number of federal employees are being disregarded something to it.

In Washington it is claimed that when the appropriation for a department is cut down, or a bureau is abolished, the employees simply shift to other departments or bureaus. Quite often at higher pay. HORSE SENSE

As a sedative to numb the fear of public debt, the people have been told that no harm could result from the debt because the people merely owe it to themselves.

Harold G. Moulton, head of the Brookings Institution, has knocked the "owe it to yourself theory into a cocked hat in a booklet entitled, "The New Philosophy of Public Debt." He shows that those who pay taxes to support the debt are not identical with those who receive the interest on the conduct of business, industry, the debt or the government bounties which the debt makes possible.

Shelters for Turkeys On Range Easily Built

Dead Birds Mean Large Loss of Scarce Grain

Range shelters for growing turkeys protect them against the weather, marauding animals, and to some extent from thieves, says the department of agriculture. By providing protection for their birds, turkey growers can make a two-way saving—the turkeys themselves and the feed they have consumed.

Whenever a turkey dies, there is a loss of a substantial quantity of feed, including protein feed, which is now more difficult to obtain than in normal times. A 10-week-old turkey weighing four pounds usually has eaten about nine pounds of feed; a bird 18 weeks old and weighing 12 pounds represents about 33 pounds of feed; and a turkey 30 weeks old and ready for market weighs about 20 pounds and has eaten about 85 pounds of feed. All these quantities of feed are in addition to what the turkeys get by foraging.

To help conserve investments of this kind, the department's engineers have designed several shelters that are both substantial and inexpensive. Some of the structures are readily portable; other heavier ones are intended for only occasional moving. They are adapted to the needs of flocks of various sizes, and all of them have proved satisfactory in actual use.

The plans include detailed drawings for the construction of feeders and roosts and the arrangement of yards. The general design of the shelters calls for tight roofs, with wire netting or slats on one or more sides, depending upon the climate. The capacity of each shelter is readily calculated from the roosting space by allowing 10 to 18 inches per bird, depending upon their size. The shelters are described and illustrated in Circular A.H.D. No. 48, "Plans for Turkey Range Shelters," available from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Uses of Rve

"The grain of poverty" is the name given to rye because it can be produced on poor soils which would not be suitable for wheat or corn. In this country, it is considered a minor grain because only one bushel of rye is grown for every ten of wheat. But in the northern countries of Europe where wheat does not grow well, rye fills the breadbasket. No one need pity the people who live on this bread since black bread and pumpernickel is much richer in protein than that made from refined white wheat flour. Industrially, rye grain is important in the manufacture of distilled alcoholic beverages and ethyl alcohol. Ground rye and rye bran are marketed in stock feed. Rye straw is used somewhat in strawboard and straw hats.

The north central part of the United States and Pennsylvania produces most of the rye crop. From two to four million acres are grown annually. The price has varied from 81 cents to 35 cents a bushel, so that the annual farm income from rye also varies from 12 to 34 million dollars.

Potato Sprays

Apply either dust or spray when potatoes are 3 to 5 inches high. Repeat at 7- to 10-day intervals as long as the foliage remains green. Apply so leaves and stems are thoroughly covered throughout the growing season. For dusting: Use copper-lime dust (1 part monohydrated copper sulphate, 1 part lead or calcium arsenate, 3 parts hydrated lime).

For spraying: Use 4-4-50 bordeaux mixture with lead arsenate.

CARE OF FLAT ROOF

Question: The guarantee on the flat roof of my bungalow has expired. I will have to repair the roof at my own expense. Will you advise me just how to go about it? That is, what to buy and how to Answer: When the roofing begins to show signs of drying and hardening, the surface should be given a mopping coat of liquid tar or asphalt roof coating. This will prolong the life of the roof. You should find out just which type of roofing you now have, and be sure to use the same type of material for the coating. Do not mix the two.

Flagstone Terrace Question: I am planning to lay flagstones on a dirt terrace. Is it necessary to lay a concrete foundation, or will cement between the stones be enough? I don't want frost and ice to ruin the job. How should I go about it?

Answer: If the joints are to be made watertight, there should be a concrete foundation laid on a six-inch bed of cinders. Water must be prevented from collecting underneath. In a similar case I laid flagstones on the earth and packed the joints with dirt, sown with grass seed. The soil being sandy this has worked very well; there has been no heaving.

Leaky Pail Question: I have a galvanized pail in excellent condition, except that the bottom is rusty and has two pin holes. It is too good to throw away, considering the scarcity of metal things in country places. How can the bottom be made tight? Answer: Coat the bottom of the pail with roofing cement, which can be liquefied either by heating or with turpentine. Cut a piece of building felt to fit, lay it on the bottom, and put a coat of roofing cement on top.

time to paint radiators. The metal should be cleaned with a wire brush, and then washed with turpentine. Two or three coats of flat wall paint, thinned with turpentine, should then be applied. Wall paint seems to be more resistant to blistering than other finishes, but any paint or enamel may be used.

Sweating Windows

Question: Our contractor told us that the sweating of our windows was due to not having heat in the house. But the house having been heated for the month that we have been living in it, our steel windows are still sweating. What will stop

Answer: The air in any new house is damp from the drying out of plaster and concrete. The sweating should stop when the house is thoroughly dried out.

Washing Machine Cover Question: My washing machine

cover is starting to chip on the inside. Can you tell me what to put on to prevent further chipping?

Answer: Nothing but careful handling of the cover will prevent further chipping. The chipped spots can be touched up with a touch-up enamel made especially for the purpose. It comes in small bottles and is sold at most hardware and paint stores.

Leaking Slate Roof Question: My slate roof looks in good condition, but wind-driven rain sifts in. Can I paint anything on the inside? Answer: The slates are apparently nailed to roofing lath instead of to solid boarding. Under that condition about the best that you can do is to raise the lower edge of each slate so that you can put a dab of roofing cement underneath.

Window Screens

Question: How can I clean the copper wire on my screens to bring them back to the original color? They have been on for two seasons. What should I use for painting them? Should the frames be varnished?

Answer: Clean the copper mesh by scrubbing with a scouring powder, then rinse with clear water and wipe dry. Coat the frames and mesh with a good quality spar varnish, thinned with an equal amount of a half-and-half mixture of linseed oil and turpentine.

Kills Banker, Is Given Life Term All on Same Day

Justice Moves Swiftly for Man Who Slew Cashier In Attempted Holdup.

SHAWANO, WIS .- Wisconsin justice moved with such rapidity the other day that Reinhold Flessert, 25year-old farm hand, who shot and killed a bank cashier in an attempted holdup at noon, was in the county jail by evening under sentence of life imprisonment for first degree

This speedy disposition of the case followed Flessert's capture in midafternoon by a posse which pursued him into the woods where he fled on foot after the shooting.

"He wanted to get it over with, so we accommodated him," said District Atty. L. J. Brunner. The official added that Flessert was taken to the state penitentiary at Waupun in the morning and was actually serving his life term behind the prison bars before his crime was 24 hours old

Waives Hearing. Brunner said that he issued a first degree murder warrant for Flessert as soon as the man was brought to his office after the capture. Flessert waived preliminary hearing and was taken at once before Circuit Judge Arold Murphy, who accepted the bandit's plea of guilty and imposed

The victim of the attempted holdup was John Perrar, 45, cashier of the bank in the nearby village of Birnamwood. Perrar was serving a customer in the bank when Flessert, wearing dark glasses, entered and flourished a gun. Sheriff Stanley Brown said Flessert handed the cashier a sack which he ordered him

Lava Molds Figures

Violent explosions in volcanic craters threw fragments of lava, so hot that they were plastic like putty, high in the air. Their rapid whirling motion shaped the plastic masses into characteristic rounded and drum, log and breast chains. elongated forms which by the time they fell were stiffened enough by cooling to retain their shapes.

We are in receipt of the District News Letter, the official organ of the Church of the Brethren of the East-ern District of Maryland, published quarterly, which we find very interesting. The Brotherhood has 1019 congregations with 178,843 members, 262 full-time pastors and 466 part-time pastors. Pipe Creek is the oldest church in Maryland; the congregation was organized in 1758, 6 years before there was a Methodist meeting house in America, and 31 years before the founding of U.S. Government. For more than 30 years preaching services were held in homes and barns. In 1792 Philip Englar donat ed ground for a school house and a church-where the present Pipe Creek Church now stands. (This Philip Englar purchased on Sept. 15, 1764 a part of the land patented by Andrew Hoover, great-great-grandfather of ex-President Herbert Hoover who visited it while President.) The congregation today consists of the Mother Church at Pipe Creek ,and the one in Union Bridgee with 390

We had a pleasant early morning drive to Gettysburg last Friday where we had a session with the Optician and to give an idea of the changes time has wrought—thro' war conditions-we only met 3 cars on the road and saw but one on the battlefield. DETROIT LETTER

We were enjoying a light shower, on the morning of the 25th, and after t was over, we were looking forward a nice cool day, but the temperature began to rise and by evening it was very warm. Then followed another shower—pretty changeable weather, but it was made clear as to the sudden rise in temperature, when ve read in the paper on Monday of the hot air that came from the large auditorium of the Fair Grounds, where one of the most prominent of the New Dealers, was making an address to a large crowd of the pets of the ideas that he advocates, and which form the greater part of the program which is being attemped to be carried out after this war is over. The audience I refer to was composed of members of the Labor Unions, or a very small part of the membership, any how; the crowd numbered around 12,000. The leaders were all there, out where the balance of the over 600,000 workers they say are living n this city were, we have not been able to learn. Surely not all of them were working, while this important address was being made, although we know that a lot of them do work every day of the week. The pictures of the leaders in the papers show that they were highly pleased by what this great man had to sav.

We desired to learn what he had come to Detroit for, especially when we recalled that everybody was called on to cut out unessential traveling. and so read part of his published address, but did not finish it, as we found out that it was just a rehash of what the present Administration has done in the past ten years to elevate the condition of the people of this country, and particularly of the so-called Labor crowd, including the racketeers with which their organiza-tion is cursed. He did not, however, tell his audience of the failure of about every experiment the New Deal has tried out, all beautiful dreams, and of the waste and inefficiency of a great majority of the different departments of government, as now constituted

We did however gather from what we read, that we are to have what we wrote about last week-a whole world free from fear, want, etc., and so I will have to take back what I wrote about that being an impossibility. You know that those wonderful, starry-eyed dreamers in Washington can make all these dreams come true, ven if no one ever has brought about this much-desired condition-not even the Almighty himself—although I firmly believe that he could do so, if

e so desired. But the address pleased his audience. If he had told them and the people who listened to or read his address, instead of telling them what is going to be done to make this Earth a paradise at an indefinite period, about ome effort to straighten out this miserable tangle the OPA has gotten us into, it would have been more interesting to a greater number of

I have come to the conclusion, more so than ever, that this Bureau has done more to increase the number of liars and cheats than anything that was ever created by the minds of men anywhere. I do not want any one to think that Ex-Senator Brown is not doing his best to bring this Bureau out of the confusion into which it has fallen, as in his personal life he is a very likeable fellow, and a fine lawyer but in this case I firmly believe that he has "bitten off more than he can chew" Contrary to all our hopes Contrary to all our hopes, the situation, as regards foods and prices is now in a much more confused state than ever before. When a man like Maxon, who was not entirely innocent of playing square with the bureau in which he was made second in office, felt obliged to resign, after being in office, but a short time, on account of the group of lawyers who were directing the policies of the organization, then there is something radically wrong. And you do not need to go very far to observe the results of their policies, There will be no worship at Trinity either, for I really believe that half, or more of the consumers of good, gasoline, etc., do not know what they are up against. Farmers and dealers in the public markets, make their own prices, usually above the ceiling price for green goods, etc, and the grocers who get their supplies from them, add more in order to make a profit. Just one instance—cabbage, the ceiling price of which is 5c a pound; is sold for 7c, in the market, and a great deal more by the time it reaches the cook pot, and that is about the same way with other vegetables. And this is only one example of what is happening out here, and I suppose everywhere else in the country. If, as they tell us, we should turn in to the authoriities all we catch in boosting prices above the ceiling ones, we should have difficulty in getting any groceries, etc, Mrs. Charles Harner and son, Paul as the grocer would likely say, "we are just out.' So it is no wonder that the Black Market flourishes and this is particularly so in the matter of getting gasoline. There are no doubt, people who can straighten this mess (and I have one in mind now), but unfortu-nately they are not New Dealers, and, as we have had the same experience in the past, no one else need apply. It is a great pity that persons who are qualified are not allowed to take part in the effort to win this war, and help bring order out of this confusion. Now, as the Radio announcers say when working before an army or navy audience, with some variations we say —this letter is not an indorsement of my ideas, by the publishers of the Record, as that Company does not indorse the political deas of any indi-vidual, so I will sign off from this near political stuf. We still have the race question with time to come, especially when we read of the efforts of the Society for the Advancement of the Negro Race, (which our District Attorney tells us was the shief cause of the recent riot), to have the blame placed on the whites, especially the KKK, which raska. She graduated from the Lin-organization has not more than 600 coln School of Commerce, Lincoln, members in the whole state so the S. A. says. This is a straight-forward A. says. ored vote, a very dangerous one to his political career, so he must have the facts. It does look as if the whole plan was laid beforehand, as fourfifths of the people on Belle Isle, where the riot started, were negroes, and quite a number of whites were injured or killed and white business houses wrecked, before any retaliation took place. Everything is quiet now, but the authorities are watchful, not knowing when trouble will break loose again. About twice as many whites as negroes were admitted to the hospitals, during and after the riot, the records show, which tells us quite a story about whose attacks were most violent

Their Hard Luck

He was one of those fathers who believed in trying to answer any questions put by his son. So he did his best when the youngster asked:

"What are ancestors, daddy?" "Well, my boy," he replied, "I'm one of your ancestors, and your grandfather is another."

A puzzled frown marred the childish brow.

"Then, daddy, why do people brag about them?"

The tiny jockey married a woman at least twice his weight. After the ceremony he asked some of the guests to drop over to his flat. The best man looked doubtful.

"Thanks, Sammy," he said, "but after all it's kind of late. Maybe your wife wouldn't approve of company at this hour.

The jockey shrugged. "Oh, I don't expect you chaps to stay long," he explained. "All I want is for you to help me carry the bride across the threshold."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Spirit" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August

The Golden Text will be from Psalms 142:10—"Teach me to do thy will; for thou art my God; thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness.

Among the citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon will be the following from the Bible—Matt. 10:1 "And when he had called unto him his twelve disciples, he gave them power against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease."

The Lesson-Sermon also will include passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, among which is the fol-lowing, page 138—"The supremacy of Spirit was the foundation on which Jesus built."

Petroleum

Uncle Sam has an oil shortage to worry about. This is not the first time but surely it is the worst time one ever developed. Our war machine will not work without oil. On all previous occasions when petroleum got scarce the price advanced and lured venturesome prospectors to the wilds to "make hole" and look for more. They call it wildcatting. But wildcatting is not active now because oil prices do not justify the expense of drilling in unlikely locations and prices are not rising. They are caught under OPA price ceilings.

Experts seldom see eye-to-eye when figuring crude oil reserves but this shortage is more than a gloomy estimate of oil for our grandchildren. It affects us. A thumb-nail sketch of the national picture is this: Prospecting does not pay at today's government - pegged prices. Accordingly not enough of it is being done. No matter how much undiscovered oil there may be underground somewhere, producers must keep their drilling close to proven acreage when prices are low.

Hunting for Oil Some oil producers are big corporations, some are small companies and some are private individuals. Big concerns with capital enough to operate on a large scale. could (if priorities permitted) send drillers and tools to many doubtful, scattered locations and maybe strike oil in a few months. They know, however, from records of prospecting in many states for many years, that hit-or-miss wildcatting wastes time and money.

Big concerns, by the way, confine their drilling largely to known pools. With increasing wealth and number of stockholders, successful companies grow conservative. When it comes to discovering oil, private individuals and independent companies are champions. Records show that they find three-fourths of the new pools. These men are pioneers. They are not rich and there are thousands of them. They, of all producers, can least afford to wildcat at today's need prices. Sharp up's and down's are typical of oil price trends. They follow sudden changes in above-ground supplies. Finding a new field somewhere always lowers prices all over the country. After that, prices tend upward again as new wells quit flowing and have to be pumped. Unfortunately for everybody, oil prices were low just before the war. When the government stabilized prices in general, the oil price was away down, and it is yet. Now the artificial restraint is creating a crisis.

It is no guess that oil prices were frozen abnormally low. The figures are official. The U.S. Department of Labor, for example, has chosen 1926 (a good year for just about everybody) and called it 100%. Prices any time are compared with 1926 as normal. And after the first quarter of 1943 the average all-commodity price was 104.0%, or 4% above 1926. Soft coal at that time was 115.2, farm products 122.8, lumber 134.6, and wages 170.4 but crude oil, by government order, remained at 58.9. This explains why wildcatting is off.

One for the Book When future historians are seeking to illustrate how a government bureau can deadlock an industry and hinder a nation's progress, this will be an example. It will be a classic, because, in this instance, one bureau has shut its eyes to fact offered by another and choked off production of critical war materials, with the nation in a struggle for its life. It was easy to do; just a matter of making it impractical for pioneers to hunt new oil fields with their own money; a matter of holding down the price of oil while costs of materials and labor advanced.

A suggestion that government subsidize wildcatting has come already. There are two alleged reasons: (1) The war machine needs more oil than private industry is finding, and (2) a boost in oil prices would be inflationary. Both statements are warped. Actually, oil men are hindered from finding oil by a bureaurigged price, and a somewhat better price would not be inflationary. Here's why: The price is abnormally low and revising it would increase production. Remember that inflationary prices are out-of-line prices that do not help increase the supply.

Help Is Needed Government subsidy would be a blight to the oil business, discouraging individual initiative, destroying Private Enterprise, and ultimately increasing the cost of production. These reasons for opposing subsidy exist within all industries but every taxpayer has good reason to fight government wildcatting as wanton extravagance. Think of the artless parasities who would "qualify" as drilling contractors the same day Uncle Sam agreed to assume 66%% of dry-hole losses.

Petroleum demand is at an alltime high today because of war, and wildcatting is the only known way of discovering the needed new fields. Producers do not, however, need subsidy nor any such tinkering as the farmers have had to endure. A price increase of, say, 50c a barrel for crude oil, which the industry is asking, would get more oil quicker and at less cost than any form of mollycoddling.

Visiting Vivian

By STANLEY CORDELL Associated Newspapers. WNU Features.

THERE was no rejoicing in the Barber family when the letter came from Aunt Vivian Randall, announcing that she was arriving that evening for a short visit.

"Short, my foot!" Asa Barber stormed. "That woman doesn't know the meaning of the word. She'll stay a month and make a confounded jackass out of herself with her alleged jokes. Ethel," he raged at his wife, "I won't have it! Either write and tell her not to come or I'll-I'll make her want to leave!"

"I can't write," Ethel told him. "She's already on her way." Mrs. Barber's face wore a distracted look. Tomorrow Aaron Colt of the Wearbetter Tire Co., was arriving to talk about the possibility of establishing an agency in New England.

"Jack Turner's got the measles," Bruce Barber, fourteen-year-old, announced brightly, "and nobody can come to see them."

Asa banged the table. "Measles! That's it! One of us will contract the measles! Fun-loving Vivian will throw a fit, won't even stop to unpack her bags. To make doubly sure, we'll get that half-witted young friend of Helen over here to give a concert on his saxophone.'

The idea might have worked except that Aaron Colt arrived a day earlier than he expected and fifteen minutes before Aunt Vivian. Bruce, thinking the ringing doorbell was an announcement of Aunt Viv's advent, appeared with a face so thickly bespeckled with paint daubs that the whiteness of his skin was barely visible. Aaron Colt stared at him and blinked.

"Good lord, boy, what's that on your face?" "Measles," said Bruce innocently and proudly. "Measles! Wow! And I've never had 'em! At my age they'll kill me!" He started for the door, just me!"

as Asa appeared.
"Mr. Colt! How are you? You're earlier than we expected. Come in! Come in and be comfortable."

'Barber,' said Aaron Colt sternly, "what's the idea of inviting me to your home when your boy has the measles?"

Just then Asa caught sight of Bruce and almost swooned. "Good he ejaculated, then tried to gosh! pass it off as a joke, and instructed the bewildered Bruce to wash his face. Aaron Colt was skeptical, but agreed to remain.

Things were progressing smoothly when Vivian blew in. "Blew" is the correct word. Vivian always appeared places as though a gust of wind had propelled her there. Now she took one look at Aaron Colt and he at her, and they flew into each other's arms. It developed, much to the chagrin of the Barber family, that the two were old friends and that Aaron thought Vivian was a

Directly after dinner Asa managed to get Mr. Colt into his study and practically convinced him that the tire agency could be placed in no better hands. In fact, Aaron was about to sign on the dotted line when from outside the window came a blaring and shrieking that would put a squawking hen to shame. Mr. Colt flew into a rage. There was, it developed, nothing that annoyed him more than saxophone playing. He was on the point of leaving when Vivian appeared carrying a saxo-

"You know," she said brightly, "I've been taking lessons for ten years and I can't play the saxophone yet.

"Why not?" asked Aaron. "I took piano lessons," said Vivian and Aaron practically collapsed with laughter. Vivian finally announced that she and Aaron were leaving and were going to be married. The Barber family was too stunned to speak.

"Aaron," Vivian explained, "proposed to me ten years ago and has been proposing on and off ever since. I refused him because I was getting a lot of fun out of life. I thought friends and relatives"-she looked at the Barbers significantly-"liked to have me around because I brought a little cheer into their lives. I see now that I was wrong. Now I know that Aaron is the only person in the world who appreciates my jokes. So I'm going to marry him. We're leaving at once. You have your agreement, Asa, and the rest of you have had your fun with measles and so forth, so I'm sure you won't mind."

After Debut in Crime FRANKFORT, IND.-"I thought I wanted to be a thief, but I guess I don't," said a note to a proprietor whose drugstore was burglarized of $50.

Accompanying the note was the $50 and an extra dollar to repair the front-door lock, which the conscience-stricken burglar had broken in gaining entrance.

Gaston and five others survived the forced landing of their Liberator bomber after returning from a raid on a Japanese base in Decem-

Two of the surviors, Capt. Norman Crosson, Cincinnati, and Sergt. Loy Wilson, were found by searchers 13 days after the forced landing.

Gaston and Co-Pilot Lieut. Arthur Speltz, Albert Lea, Minn.; Bombardier Lieut. John Dyer, Boston; Navigator Lieut. Dale Grimes, Boston, remained lost during days of wan-

Gaston said the four shot a steer on the third day.

The first to die was Grimes, who was drowned while attempting to cross a stream to reach a passion fruit vine.

"We lived on snakes, fish, and crocodiles, which we had to eat raw because we had no matches to light fires," Gaston related. "By early February my weight had dropped from 168 to 100 pounds.

"On February 10 we decided to make for a nearby water hole. Dyer collapsed. We went on to get water for him, but when we returned he was dead.

"On February 24 Speltz died in his sleep. From then on I lost track of time. Some days I found nothing to eat. Once I fought off a pack of dingoes (wild dogs) which had killed a cow, so I could get some meat. "I had nearly given up the fight when some black boys found me."

CHICAGO. - Stalked by tragedy since even before his birth, six-year-old Le Roy Barton of 1530 W. Monroe street, died alone in his home.

Fatefully, it was Le Roy's best friend, his dog, Baby, which was responsible for his untimely death. While playing hide and seek with Baby, Le Roy jumped into the icebox. The dog, anxious to find his master, jumped up against the door, slamming it closed.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Oma ton, was not at home at the time. It was her neighbor, Miss Lucille Niles, who phoned to say that Le Roy was missing. Mrs. Barton hurried home from the club where she is employed as a waitress, and she and Miss Niles started to search the neighborhood. Later, police were summoned. But still there was no trace of Le Roy.

Hours later the two women noticed that there was some untouched food on the back porch. Fearfully the mother ran to the icebox. Her worst fears were realized. For inside lay her son's body. His torn clothing gave mute evidence of his struggle to free himself.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death. Le Roy's father died four months before the boy's birth.

Contractor Refuses to Make Profits on War Work

KANSAS CITY .- J. E. Dunn, Kansas City contractor, doesn't want to make money out of the war, so the government is ahead $400,000 on one big army contract.

Dunn's bid of $1,864,655 last year for contruction of a quartermaster depot at Kansas City was $250,000 below the next lowest bid and he explained to United States army engineers it was his desire to build it at cost. But his profit turned out to be $178,000.

Now he has renegotiated his contract and scaled it down another $158,000. He told engineers he would pay federal taxes and then divide the balance among the Red Cross, USO and other organizations.

Conscience Bothers Man

Who Took Relief Checks OMAHA, NEB.-Clarence Turpin, 27 years old, figured a clear conscience was worth more than the $45 he said he accepted unfairly in unemployment compensation checks two years ago, so he surrendered to detectives here. Held for investigation, he told officers he received the money in his home town of Indianapolis. "I'm not entitled to that money, and I just can't rest until I've been back there to straighten it out," he said. "My conscience won't let me. I accepted the checks after I had found employment."

Good Living

Once upon a time a successful man decided to take a recess from business, and travel. Before leaving, he set up a budget to continue operations, appropriating substantial funds to three subordinates; 621/2% to A, 25% to B and 121/2% to C. When, after a long time, the head of the firm came back and asked for an accounting he learned that A and B both had doubled their money but the incompetent Mr. C had barely saved his principle.

What happened after that? Well, the management dismissed C and assigned his appropriation to the especially capable Mr. A. The story is told perfectly in Matthew 25:14-30. In this text is the origin of the term "five-talent man" meaning a person of exceptional ability in matters of business. It shows why business prospers in the hands of capable, energetic people. It is one of the many parables of Jesus.

Some people naturally have more money-making ability than others, just as some have more musical talent or more eloquence in public address. There is no end to a list of skills at which men have varying abilities, for new crafts are being created every day. But the knack of making money is in a class by itself, at least in the estimation of most people. It is a skill desired by many but admired by few.

It is not unusual to hear people speak with contempt of the moneymaking skill and, on several occasions, curiosity has led me to ask them why they did it. Some answers have been long and some short but they all have agreed on one point. Every answer implied that accumulating capital is selfish. One woman said, "Musicians play and sing for all to hear, artists make pictures for all to see, but the man who piles up money is helping only himself."

How Earnings Come Hers was a tell-tale answer. It disclosed considerable prejudice and not much thought. The truth is that a man with moneymaking ability is almost invariably a blessing to his community. Of course a miser's money is no good to himself or anybody else, but people who know how to assemble capital, put it to work and manage it well, are public benefactors. Such men improve incomes for people around them more than for themselves. The best wages are paid only where big investments have been placed and where good profits are being made. Learned economists have scientific methods of proving that wages increase with the amount of capital invested, but it's more than a mere theory. It is a thing anybody can see by looking about at other people's jobs. Common sense teaches that (1) in the long run people get paid for what they produce, (2) with good equipment they can produce more and earn more, (3) but it takes an investment to provide the equipment.

The American Plan Think of six foreign countries: any six you can name, large or small, rich or poor. The national income of the United States of America is equal to that of all the foreign six put together, no matter if you select the best half-dozen of the lot. This means that the average American earns far more money than the average citizen of any foreign country, and accordingly lives better.

Somebody is sure to ask: "How does this affect me? Of course our country is rich but the big corporations have everything gobbled up. National income and averages are nothing but statistics and I can't spend them. If I walk down the street and meet the millionaire who owns the plant where I work, his wealth and mine may average above $500,000 but that doesn't make me any richer. What about me?'

Protect Investments The answer to such a question is plain and reasonable: Every workman in any plant is richer because of the investment in it. Wages in America are twice as high as in England, three times as high as in continental Europe and six (sometimes 20) times as high as in the Orient. It is because only in America are workmen backed up with 4.5 horsepower of installed equipment apiece, an investment of $8,000 for the average workman's job.

Do American workmen earn more because they work harder? No indeed! They don't work as hard or as long. Their pay is in proportion to their production: twice that of an Englishman, three times that of an European, six time that of a Jap. The necessary investment has been made by men who have prospered and saved and now hope to prosper further by intelligent investment.

Divided Gains Under the American system of Free Private Enterprise, a few fivetalent men in industry are extremely well paid. They earn it because all they get is very little compared to the income they create for others. Less than 16 per cent of national income will pay everybody in America who earns $10,000 a year or more. Occasionally somebody shouts for equalized incomes. What the complainer really says is this: 'Down with competent men. Let's ruin their investments, wreck their machinery and live on Japanese standards."

Ammonia Has Many Uses Ammonia has at least 2,000 industrial uses. It is essential to the manufacture of explosives, it hardens metal parts for tanks, guns and planes, and enters into the manufacture of nylon and fertilizers. It is employed in one process for the manufacture of plastic for transparent sections of fighting aircraft. Synthesized from the elements of air and water with the aid of coal, ammonia is simply one part of the nitrogen in the air we breathe chemically combined with three parts of hydrogen in the water we drink.

GOD SHOWS HIS PEOPLE THE WAY

LESSON TEXT-Exodus 13:17-22; 15-17-GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation.— Exodus 15:2.

The destinies of the nations are in the hands of God. Warriors are mighty in battle, counselors are quick to declare their wisdom, and diplomats are clever in the manipulation of wealth and people. But when they have all exercised to the limit their ingenuity and power they have only succeeded in bringing us "blood, sweat and tears" as the portion of all mankind.

Israel was about to be delivered from the bondage of Egypt, and God through His leader Moses was ready to be their guide. Even so He guides every believer in Christ. We may learn three things from this lesson. I. God Has a Plan (Exod. 13:

17-19). There was a direct, easy road along the coast of the Mediterranean up to Canaan, but God with His pillor of along the coast of the Mediterranean lar of cloud and fire did not lead out in that way.

How strange that He should take them by a longer, more difficult way! Not at all. He knew the danger of the easy way. It was there that the warlike Philistines would be lying in ambush. Such immediate conflict would discourage Israel and tempt them to return to the fleshpots of Egypt. So He took them the other way.

Note that God's guidance for them was one of intelligent planning, not just impulse or chance. He knew what to do, and He did it, for their

God has a plan, not only for the nations, but also for individuals, for your life and mine. Let us find His will for us, for it is good, acceptable and perfect (Rom. 12:1, 2).

Note the honoring of the faith of Joseph in God's promise (v. 19). The memory of his assurance was a blessing to his descendants, and they honored it and him. What will our descendants have to say about our faith in God?

II. God Provides Guidance (Exod. 13:20-22).

God's plan is made known to His people as they follow Him step by step. This means that there must be guidance, moment by moment, if His plan is to be worked out. He gives such guidance and it is only when His children fail to follow it that the pattern of life becomes con-

The field of divine guidance is one in which Christians have widely divergent experiences. Some know the sweet, unconfused daily experience of God's hand upon them, caring for even the minor details (or are they minor?) of life. Others have known the directive power of God in some life crisis, but not in the ordinary affairs of life. Many, and perhaps most, think of divine guidance as a spiritual theory of which the preacher talks, but know nothing of it in their own lives.

What makes this great difference? Faith-or the lack of it. Those who trust God accept and receive His blessed leadership moment by moment. It is as simple as that. Others reach out and take it when the pressure of life makes them cast themselves on God. Others simply muddle along "doing their best." which is not their best, for God is not in it.

The pillar of cloud, which became luminous at night, was ideal for the guidance of Israel. It provided shade by day from the hot sun, and a sure guide in the darkness of the night.

III. God Gives Joyous Victory (Exod. 15:17-22a).

Israel soon came against the insurmountable barrier (humanly speaking) of the Red sea. Then Pharaoh, regretting that he had released them, came up after theman impossible situation, and the people began to berate Moses. This time he stood fast in his faith and said: "Stand still and see the salvation of Jehovah"-and it came!

Then followed the song of victorious joy, which Moses wrote and the people sang. Deliverance brings joy, and forget it not, God is able to deliver those who put their trust in Him.

The application to our spiritual lives is a blessed one. Setting out on God's way does not mean that one will not have trials. They come, and quickly. We do not get farther than our Red sea when the world sees an opportunity to draw us back and comes charging at us from the rear, like Pharaoh. What to do? Trust God, and He will drown the Pharaoh who pursues you in the very Red sea which is now your difficulty. He will bring you through dryshod if you count on Him.

Fearful, fretting, fussing Christian, why not "stand still" and let God work out your salvation. You cannot bear the burdens of all the world. He can, and will set you free so that you too may go forward for Him.

Use Synthetic Rubber

Marking still another adaptation of synthetic rubber to military uses, Chemigum is now helping to insure uninterrupted supplies of fuel and water for mobile military units constructed by the United States army corps of engineers for use in this country and abroad. Chemigum, a Buna type of synthetic rubber, is being used as sealing gaskets within pipe couplings, the means for obtaining quick, leak-proof connections between the 20-foot lengths of pipe which comprise the line.

Chemicals Draw Minerals

Chemical "balloons" are now lifting from low-grade minerals which were once disregarded, quantities of vital copper, zinc, lead, nickel, tungsten, chromium and other strategic metals. In mining camps enormous loads of low-grade ore ground in water flow daily into boxes, called cells. Minute amounts of chemicals are mixed with the ore. The chemicals attach themselves selectively to the grains of the minerals, and air bubbles lift them, to be skimmed from the surface.

Wages Jump

In August, 1939, the month before the European war broke out, average hourly earnings in manufacturing were 63 cents. Average hour-ly wages began to rise early in 1940 and by December 1940, the average hourly wage was 68 cents. Still further rises have been registered in 1941 and 1942 so that by November, 1942, the latest available figure, average hourly earnings in manufacturing were 90 cents.

Tax on Rent
Renters in Moncton, New Brunswick, pay the city a rental tax ranging up to 10 per cent of assessed valuation of property they occupy. The tax, amounting to $9 a year on a rental of $25 a month, yielded $68,-000 last year to the Canadian city. The tax was adopted in 1941 after the Dominion government took over the income levy, which was a source of revenue for Moncton and other Canadian cities.

lease other food for our armed forces and the millions who are hungry in other parts of the world.

"Because most of us at some time during our lives have had a farm background, we do not share the pessimism of some who believe that a majority of Victory Gardens will fail just because hot weather has a tendency to dampen springtime optimism and enthusiasm. We have confidence that this year's Victory Garden efforts will be a huge success."

One hundred and forty prizes will be awarded for the largest vegetables grown and weekly prizes as well as season prizes will be awarded. For the largest cabbage, corn, eggplant, and tomatoes a weekly prize of a the largest tomato entered throughout the season a $25.00 Victory Bond will be awarded. The same prizes will be awarded for the largest cabbage, corn, and eggplant. All entries must be brought or sent to The Big Vegetable Contest Committee, 19 East Fayette Street, Baltimore.

In announcing the contest Mr. Irr stated "The Committee has endeavored to give the city and county Victory Gardener equal opportunity by providing awards for each vegetable class. Anyone living in Maryland is eligible. The competition is open to boys and girls as well as adults.

In addition to the prizes of War Bonds and Stamps and through the cooperation of the Maryland Agriculture Society and the Maryland State Fair Board, official ribbons of the State Victory Garden Committee will be awarded to all prize winners.

Quality Tells Good seed may add 2 per cent to victory garden costs, but it will often produce up to 100 per cent increase in total yield.

Steel Grips in Tires
A new type of winter airplane tire designed to resist skidding on icy airport runways has been announced. The tire is provided with parallel rows of steel coils imbedded in the tread so that the edges grip on ice and snow. The steel coils are bonded to the rubber around the circumference of the tire during vulcanizing, a new method of tire construction having been developed to accomplish this innovation.

America Rich in Shoes

The Machine age brought to the United States a shoe wealth out of proportion to population, just as it brought wealth in automobiles, electrical conveniences and many classes of food, shelter and clothing. The record 1941 shoe output of the nation, home of 6 per cent of the world's people, represented nearly 40 per cent of the total world shoe supply.

salt that boats are unable to plough their way through it, and as I've said before, it is almost impossible to swim, as it takes every effort possible

To say a few words about myself, I am very well satisfied with my life here at Kearns, although I don't know how long I will remain here. As you know, I am on an overseas shipment, subject to go over on a two hours' notice. The camp is located in the valley, 16 miles from Salt Lake City. There are no shade trees, nor trees of any kind of growth in the valley or on the mountains. The sun gets terribly hot in the daytime, and at night it is necessary to sleep under blankets. Sand and dust storms are quite frequent, and are very bothersome. I have acquired a nice tan since arriving here last week, in fact, I'm not just tanned—I'm browned!

Hoping I haven't taken up too much of your time, and waiting for the day of victory, I remain, a "Record" reader,

WILLIAM R. SELL,

Kearns, Utah.

I want to extend my sincere thanks to you for sending me the Carroll Record. Although I have been here but three weeks, I miss my home town, and enjoy reading the paper

I wish to give my fullest appreciation and gratitude to the ladies of the "community kit fund" for the little kit that was so ingeniously contrived and fitted. Everything it contains is useful to a naval man.

Our dental despensary here is the largest under one roof in the world. It is furnished with brand new equipment, and is complete in every detail. operates from 8 to 10 every day This is made possible by using two shifts daily. We alternate weekly working in the morning and afternoon one week and afternoon and evening the next week

Every man that enters, "Boot Camp" for his eight weeks of training is thoroughly examined in our clinics. Most of his dental work is completed by a staff of approximately 85 dentists. In most instances he is completely cured of dental ills before leaving the island. My work here is very educational and interest-

Thanks again for the Record and the kit—and let's all hope for a speedy Victory. Sincerely,

VICTORY POEM 1943

Oh! Say can you see America's air planes a flying
By the dawns early light on their homeward flight
When just a few hours before Oh how they did roar

When they blasted the enemy's fortress and store.

So our task keeps us busy both day and night And we hope in the end to turn the Axis pawns right
And end this war in its perilous flight

We'll keep our tanks and jeeps and all our other War motive a rolling along,

And produce a true definition of our Victory song.

By DORRY R. ZEPP, Westminster, July 28, 1943.

To throw it sil into a foreign strife
That liberty upon this earth might

Their valor won but in the very hour Of victory their hand was held, ere

The chains were riveted on evil power By statesmen knowing only to for-

"Now sons of those who fought must fight again

Against the selfsame beast their sires had tamed; God save them from the curse that comes to men Who grope in darkness where the torch has flamed."

Cause Skin Disease

Very often skin troubles start when oil or grease blocks the pores and causes infection. Sometimes the skin is irritated by direct contact with chemicals. Certain substances such as naphthalene, petroleum, or benzol, cause trouble by dissolving and removing the natural skin oils. Or infections may come from contact with animal hides, waste products, and other materials containing disease-producing germs. Substances harmful to some may be harmless to others. But if the worker is at all susceptible, a slight irritation may be aggravated to the point of infection if rubbed, brushed, or scratched.

Giant Bats

The huge fruit bats or "flying foxes" of southeastern Asia. Australia, and the South Sea Islands are the giants among bats. They may have a wingspread of almost five feet, and weigh three pounds or more. At the other extreme, the tiny pipistrellus found over most of the United States may have a wingspread of less than six inches, and seven together would scarcely weigh Canadian Shoes Plentiful Closest rival to the United States in shoe wealth is Canada, whose cattlehides are of similar high grade. Canadian consumption in 1938 was two pairs per capita. In the war years since 1938 Canadian shoe factories have increased total production by more than half, and percapita production of shoe workers by one-third to keep pace with military requirements.

Cut Glycerine in Soap

Under a government order issued early in the war the finished soap has been permitted to contain only from 1 to 2.75 per cent of glycerine. Now a sub-committee appointed to study glycerine recovery has recommended that the amount of glycerine left in soap be reduced still further to between .8 and 1 per cent, depending upon the type of soap.

Blueprints Stick

Special glues have been developed use in blueprinting machines which have the advantage of a quick permanent adhesion, eliminating slippage of the joints, and a glue bond which will withstand various baths to which jointed blueprint paper is subjected while paper is traveling through the machine.

Bombers Blue Printed
If all the blueprints required to build a fast, modern medium bombing plane were one foot wide and laid end to end, it would take an airplane two hours to fly the length of the strip, and the plane could not even carry the weight of the prints, much less the bulk.
