I hope you all have had a Merry Christmas and wishing everyone a bright and prosperous New Year. I wish to take this opportunity to express my thanks for the lovely Christmas cards and boxes that I have received from friends and relatives back home. I arrived safe in England. I had a very interesting trip across. On the way across I met a boy friend on the boat from back home, Pvt. Kenneth Selby and I'll assure it was a happy moment of my trip and sure made me feel good to see one from back home. Again I thank your staff for the good work which you all put into the paper, and for sending it to the boys in the service of the U. S. A.

Dear Sirs:

I was transferred to Camp Blanding about three weeks ago but I could send no address because I was in a casual company waiting to be assigned. I was assigned today so I better send you my new address so I can get the home town news more

I think I will like this camp very much. The camp itself surrounds a large lake. The officers have their own individual clubhouse and pier. The non-coms have the same and it is very nice I must say. The best thing I think is I am only about fourteen or fifteen hours from home if the crack streamlines are all reserved.

I want to thank you very much for the Record and hope I get it again soon. My new address is: CPL. IRA A. CALDWELL, JR. Co B 200th I T Bn 62n Regt

DETROIT LETTER

Political Conditions in the Michigan City

Never since we began writing to the Record, have we found it as dif-ficult to think of anything worth writing about as we do, as we begin this article. If it were not for the kind words contained in a letter from the Editor to us earlier in the week, we should surely take a "va-cation." With this we want to prepare you to not expect much, although we must confess that a great many things are happening out here, but they do not seem very appropriate subjects for comment in a letter that is intended for the edification of people so many miles distant from this part of the country.

But this feeling of obligation is so great that we will have to make a great that we will have to make a try at getting up something in the way of filling up space anrhow. So here goes—we feel that we have given you plenty of warning of what to expect, and feel that we have done our duty in that line. Usually we rely on the daily paper for our supply of things to comment on, but at this time about all they are make at this time about all they are making any or much fuss about, is the bribery investigation going on at the Capital-Lansing, and the gambling situation down across the Ohio line. Of course we have the usual number of strikes, and seizure of the railroads by the Government and threatened seizure of steel mills, furnish material for the daily articles of the columnists of the different papers, but we are not in that class, and so must fall back on what is purely local, and that, sometimes, does not appeal to us.

We have referred to the letters that are written by people to what is called "the peoples' column," most of which seem to us as the products of a Crackpot mind, but every now and then something is written about that we can agree with. A few days ago, we saw a letter on 'Cards' not playing or even visiting cards. but about a sort that almost every one is interested it. The writer said that same one ought to design a container large enough and conveniently constructed to contain all the cards one must carry with him in order to be on the safe side. There are Birth Certificates, Draft cards, registration, drivers' license, liquor cards, four kinds of Ration Books, gasoline coupons, and goodness knows what else, and by the timeknows what else, and by the time-they are all stowed away in a com-mon pocketbook it is too full to put-in it the big wad of money the war-workers receive every week. We-suppose, however, that this will be-provided for if the present situation continues, and we see no signs of it-not doing so A good bit of comment is being made on the way the county jail is being run by the present sheriff, who was put into his present office when the former occupant who was holding the job previous to his conviction of being connected with the gambling and bribery scandals in the recent investigation, was ousted. This present sheriff, who evidently has a soft spot in his heart for some of his former associates, has a system that we never heard of before. Instead of keeping them penned up, as the common herd of prisoners is, he issues "Courtesy Cards," which allow the privileged boys their freedom, until they are wanted by the courts. I wonder what the people of old Car-roll would say if such a custom would be put into effect in there. But you know we are further advanced in civilization since the New Deal has been put to work, and so we are not surprised very much—especially when we learn that men who wre convicted and sentenced to the pen two or three years ago are still living in comfort in the homes they obtained with the funds they obtained unlawfully.

In regard to the Grand Jury investgation that we referred to above, all we can say that it is proceeding slowly, now that the squabble between the Attorney General of the State and the Presiding Judge, over

FRIDAY, JANUARY 14, 1944

MRS. HERBERT HOOVER

Recently the death toll has been heavy, right in our own community as well as in the wider circles of the country. We bow in recognition of our own frailty as we see our friends, one after another, called from earthly scenes.

In the wider circles of the whole country we have suffered notable losses, particularly one in the person of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who died suddenly at the Hoover apartment in New York on Friday evening of last week

The whole nation feels the sense of a great loss in the death of this excellent lady. Being only 68 years of age, she might have been expected to continue her useful life for many years. But death is no respecter of persons, and just as her distinguished husband was preparing to keep a dinner engagement, a heart attack struck her down. Her physician was called immediately, but she was beyond medical aid.

Mrs. Hoover was one of many noble women who have graced the White House, and who will be remembered in love and affection. She was talented and cultured, yet she never sought the limelight. She gave herself to the fulfillment of her task as tradition and the good sense of American people demanded. She was an inspiration to those who knew her and to the millions who could not know her personally, it was inspiring just to look at her picture. The frank, open face, revealed her high conception of womanhood and her life was accordingly unselfish and will be able to enlist our voting pow-

She never stooped to use her exalted position for financial or political advantage, but where she could be of benefit to any who needed her, she was ready.

The sympathy of the best people of the world will go out to her beloved husband in the days of his sorrow. When we are better able than now to forget narrow politics and see the true worth of men and women, we will praise God as never before for the gift to America and to the world of Herbert Hoover and his splendid wife.

More than one thousand people attended the funeral of Mrs. Hoover in New York, Monday, and among the number were many notables, but it was significant that in the vast group there was a contingent of 200 Girl Scouts of America.

The Hoover's were citizens of California, but for years they maintained apartments in Waldorf Towers, New York City from which center they did much of their public and private work.

BELIEF IN AMERICA

I believe in America and that for which it stands-as a monument to the past, as a beacon to the future. I am not one of those who is worrying about what is wrong with our country. There's nothing wrong with America--unless it is with ourselves as individuals.

Three hundred years of personal and collective effort have given to us what we call our way of life. We have built, through sheer determination, a great country. Our agricultural development dwarf those of other peoples; our industrial strides would stagger the imagination of most practical dreamers of even a half-century gone; our scientific progress has been notable; our educational accomplishments have made our literacy among the highest in the world; our cultural advances through the printed word and the arts have kept pace with other activities.

Yet this is no cause for complaency-we must continue.

A Press which dares to tell the truth, regardless of consequences, assures a constancy of purpose to keep Americans informed of right objectives and sinister forces alike. So long as the Press lives up to its high calling, America will continue to grow-in achievement and in destiny.-J. T. Mackley, President Mergenthaler Linotype Company.

SMALL TOWN RESPONSIBILITY

The business leaders of our country are making it increasingly clear that they are depending upon the people in towns like ours to see that free enterprise survives after the

While most of us have been watching to see what industry is going to do to fight the growing trend toward socialism, industry has reached the conclusion that it must come to us with its problems and hope that it er and our vocal cords in the fight to save the American system of busi-

As an individual community we may not be able to wield much influence, but joined with the vast network of small communities throughout the nation the small towns are recognized as the most powerful factor in our government. And, since the outlook of our community is not dissimilar to that of thousands of other prosperous towns which dot the nation, without the necessity of formal organization we are apt to seek the same things and want the same kind of life as the people in those other communities.

For that reason, big business intends to come to us with its social and legislative problems and will leave their solution primarily in our hands.-Rhoderick Papers.

New Assurance

Countless Americans who never have seen Sénator Walter Franklin George nor heard his voice have great faith in the Georgian. The name of Georgia has a substantial connotation. It suggests southern colonial architecture, heritage and comfort with not too much leisure. The indelible appelation "George of Georgia" rightly attaches the state's traditional virtues to the man.

Senator George is a tireless worker. For more than twenty years he has distinguished himself as a member of the United States Senate and has been called the greatest mind in Congress. He is now chairman of the Senate's very important committee on Post-War Economic Policy and Planning

Small-Town Boy. That's a large assignment for a small-town boy, for such he was. When Senator George was born in Preston, Ga., it had a population of 139. It has risen subsequently to 349. His home is now in Vienna, Ga., population 2,063. I can appreciate the size of these communities because Searcy, Ark., according to the latest census, has only 3,670.

Anyone who is familiar with the full cycles of life, business and politics that run their time within the limits of a small community-such a person has before him patterns to measure proposals of broader and more profound import. I am not worried about his perspective. The chances are that he has seen more sides of life than his city neighbors, who see more passing before their eyes but see it less completely.

He Knows Economy. Senator George has a clear understanding of national economy. He knows that trouble in one segment means damage to others. He has shown the broadest kind of statesmanship in guiding the work of his committee on Post-War.

The committee has been giving serious study to delicate adjustments that will be necessary when the war ends, especially the quick return of industry to peacetime production. Coming from the agricultural South, he has had many chances to see how farm prosperity is tied closely to high employment in industry.

Need Fixed Policy. In its recent report, the George Committee declared that although thousands of war contracts have been cancelled already, and that disposal of surplus materials had already begun, there is so far no welldefined government policy on these subjects. The committee rightly urged that congress promptly enact legislation fixing the government's policy on these matters, and especially that machinery be set up for working out all these problems together and for furnishing over-all

In all contract terminations, the committee points out, the factor of continued employment or early return of industrial workers to their jobs is of the most vital concern; also that the largest possible share of funds owing to a contractor should be paid at once. This would make the change-over easier and avoid much financial embarrassment or even bankruptcy. Financial commitments of firms in many industries, such as aviation, have to be so big in comparison to their assets, that even very short delays in contract settlement would leave them

The committee points out also that in getting rid of government-owned war plants and equipment the object should be to do it with the least possible disturbance to private industry, watching out, of course, that nothing is done to encourage monop-

This is all good sense. It gives me renewed confidence in America's democratic system to know that such leaders as Senator George of Georgia are in positions of high authority.

Good to Keep

Flat strip or angle iron, and nuts and bolts that are easy to remove, are worth salvaging from any farm machine before the rest of it is turned in for scrap.

Motor Brakes Fail,

Mental Telepathy Makes 'Ma' Happy

Son Who Told of Corregidor Doom, Writes Home.

BROOKLYN .- You can't tell Mrs. Minnie Strobing that mental telepathy is just something cooked up by crackpots.

She was telling congratulatory visitors that she's had two-way mental telepathic communication between her bedroom and a Jap concentration camp, somewhere, presumably, in the Philippines.

For it was in her bedroom, when she couldn't sleep nights, that in recent weeks she kept tapping off messages, by means of her "mental transmitter,' to her son, Irving Strobing, the Brooklyn signal corps youth who sent the last and heartrending message before the fall of Corregidor.

Perhaps you remember it. In part it read:

"Just made broadcast to Manila to arrange surrender. The jig is up. Everyone is bawling like a baby. They are piling dead and wounded in our tunnel. Arm's weak from pounding key, long hours, no rest, tired. Can't think at all . . . I know how a mouse feels, caught in a

Last January 30 the terrible uncertainty the parents had endured was ended by the war department, which informed them that Irving was alive, a prisoner.

Since then Mrs. Strobing nightly has broadcast her mental dot-dashes to her son. "And he answered he was writing me," the mother explained. "But no word came, though every night I sent him more messages." Recently, however, Irving responded to his mother's telepathic bulletins. The card, undated, bearing Japanese postal marks, and written and signed in ink in a hand indisputably his own,

"Dear Folks: How are things? O.K. here. Wish were home. May be soon. Hope allotment still is coming. Don't worry. Will see you again. My thoughts are always of you. Much love. Irving."

That's the happiest ending to anything Minnie Strobing has read in all her life.

New British Tank-Buster

Makes 'Tiger' Easy Mark LONDON.—Great Britain's new "secret" tank-busting gun was dis-closed to be a 17-pounder capable of blowing the turret from a German tank at 1,500 yards.

An official statement asserted that "it is the complete answer to the Tiger," the German 60-ton Mark VI

British ordnance experts developed the weapon to counter the Germans' heavy armor and big guns. Its first battle test was in Africa.

The statement said the first report was that "the 17-pounder only once has been fired in anger, and on that occasion the third shot blew the turret off a tank at about 1,500 yards." Other reports spoke of the gun's

"astonishing accuracy." The gun measures slightly more than 24 feet from the muzzle to the end of the trail and fires fixed ammunition—shell and cartridge fitted together, as with rifle ammunition. It has semi-automatic breech action, facilitating a high rate of fire.

French Sabotage Rising, Nazis Harsher on Jews

LONDON. - The rising tide of sabotage in France has driven the Germans and their Vichy collaborators to the sternest repressive measures, including new attacks on Jews and a decree giving mobile guards permission to shoot on sight. The situation the Vichy government is struggling to control was described over the Paris radio and recorded in London by Reuters in these words: "Harvests are burning, railway lines are being blown sky high and trains are derailed." The blow at the Jews came from Darquier de Pellepoix, Vichy commissioner for Jewish affairs, who was quoted by DNB over the Paris radio as urging the expatriation and economic and social elimination of Jews as a fundamental policy.

OPA Eases Ration Coupon On Domestic Kerosene

WASHINGTON. - The Office of Price Administration has authorized local ration boards to issue kerosene coupons for domestic cooking and lighting purposes without issuance and expiration dates so they can be used as long as they last.

OPA also increased the maximum kerosene ration for domestic cooking to 30 gallons a month for the first seven persons. The present maximum of 24 gallons for six or seven persons has been found inadequate in many instances.

War-Time TELEPHONE TIPS

Now that telephone materials have gone to war, we must get along with the facilities we have until a happier day. By using these facilities to the best advantage, you can help keep service good for everyone, including yourself. Try following these simple rules:-

- Be sure you have the right number before placing a call. Consult your directory.
- 2. Answer all calls as promptly as possible.
- 3. If you're on a party line, apply the Golden Rule to your use of the line.
- Don't ask "Information" for numbers that are listed in the directory.
- 5. Hang up carefully after each call. Don't let a book, or other object, hold the receiver off the hook.
- 6. Take good care of the telephone instrument and cord in your home and office. They're made of scarce and critical materials.

Welcome
these Soldiers of Victory!

THE "shock troops" of your Government's 4th War Loan Drive—a drive that must raise $14 billion to put the punch behind the punch that may make 1944 the date of doom for the Nazis—will soon call on you to buy your personal quota of Bonds. For, of the $14 billion that must be raised in this Drive, $5.5 billion worth must come from individuals.

Welcome these American men and women—5 million of them—who are not only buying their share of Bonds but are giving their time to call on you, personally.

Every office, every plant, every home, every individual in America has a quota to meet. Your personal quota is at least one extra $100 Bond. That's above your regular Bond buying.

If possible, buy your extra Bonds during this drive at the plant or office where you work. A volunteer Bond worker will sell you there. Otherwise, welcome him to your home when he calls. Or find one in the thousands of retail stores all over the United States. They want to find you—you must help see that they do.

If you are unable to make your purchases from a soldier of victory be sure to go to one of these other special War Bond stations to buy your extra Bonds:

When it seemed best not to venture out on Sunday morning we heard two good sermons in York by Radio; and "The Southern Aires" whom we enjoy, and their preacher paid tribute to that wonderful negro Scientist of Tuskegee, Ala—Dr. George Washington Carver—who passed away a year ago, but because of his wonderful ability and humble disposition will never die. From the lowly peanut he manufactured rubber, explosives, medicines, milks, shoe polish, mock soups, dyes, stains, wearing materials, synthetic leathers, soaps, beverages and very many other things. He would go into the woods and study nature, while communing with "Mr. Creator" who would tell him what to do, and He said "raise peanuts George"—and taught him what to do with them; until he made 272 products from them; and from sweet potatoes alone 165 products; and many other southern crops. LETTER FROM DETROIT (Continued from First Page)

the appointment of a Special prosecutor has been decided, and we are thinking that quite a number of former members of the legislature of 1941 and maybe some of the membership of the present body, will be in hot water, politically and otherwise, by the time the investigation is finished. We notice that the State Highway |Commission-the powerful political organization that ever existed in our state, and which was largely instrumental in the election of former Governor Von Wagomer-is also slated for an investigation. As we have said before is seems as if all that office-holders want to do when they are put in a position of trust, is to feather their nests, and "to heck with the people.

Early this week we were told in big headlines, of the suicide of a prominent citizen of Detroit, who was drven to this step by the fact that he had lost $30,000 in one of the gambling dens just across the Michigan-Ohio line. The papers stated that more than 80% of the patrons of these places, of which there are quite a few are from our city, are quite a few are from our city, thus proving that those who were prevented from frequenting the gambling dear which formerly flourished in McCono county, adjoining our county of Wayne and which have been closed, would find some place to satisfy their craving for those games of chance. The governthese games of chance. The governor of Ohio ordered gambling dens clos-ed, and it is stated that the games did actually stop for fifteen minutes in respect to the memory of the dead gambler. We think that in the course of time they will all be closed for good, and then the only place the gamblers will have left is the Race tracks at the State Fair grounds, where betting is allowed and legaliz-

Can't See Eyes Move Try as hard as you may, you cannot by watching in a mirror see your own eyes move, according to the Better Vision institute. You will know that they are moving from the feeling of the eye muscles in turning them, but you never can catch them in the act of turning about. Another person, however, can easily watch in the mirror your eyes in motion. From these and other facts some investigators have concluded that the eye does not see when moving about in its orbitthat it is stone blind for an instant

while changing its focus. Use Scouring Powder

For galvanized buckets, tubs, and garbage pails, you can safely use coarse scouring powder. Don't try to keep tin shiny because if you keep shining it, likely you will take off the thin coating of tin. That exposes the basic metal which may rust. Dry tin pans carefully for this reason. If you want to take off some particularly hard-to-remove burnt food, try boiling a little soda and water in the tin pan. But never boil it longer than five minutes at the most.

Little Starch in Soya

Soya products contain little if any starch. For this reason women should not expect to use them as a thickening agent, as they would use wheat flour. They will fill up space when combined with liquid, but cannot be depended upon for a binding agent in a cream soup, for instance, though they might well be used as a protein fortifier in combination with a wheat flour in such a dish.

Aviation still sets me agape. The sight of a powerful four-engined bomber overhead, riding thin air in open defiance of the law of gravity, inspires awe. So does its obvious might as an engine of destruction.

Back of this mechanical miracle, on the ground, in not one place but many places, the wheels of industry are whirling to produce such ships. More than 3,000,000 men and women, more adults than live in Chicago, work in the aircraft factories of America, it is said. What a change! Only four years ago the entire payroll of this industry was less than 50,000 people. Imagine what would happen if powers which created this huge expansion were suddenly reversed. Suppose the aviation industry had to go back overnight to its prewar rank and nearly three million workers had to face life without employment.

A Senate Committee.

The United States Senate wisely has appointed a committee on Post-War Economic Policy and Planning to study this problem and related ones. Testimony before this committee recently brought out the fact that nine of the principal airplane manufacturers have a total of 29,430 sub-contractors, and each of these has a circle of suppliers, perhaps 'It is plain to see that anything injurious to one of these nine big manufacturers spreads out quickly into all industry and touches the affairs of small firms in many towns and cities. It hurts millions of working men and women, their grocers and butchers. Sudden cancellation of government contracts would do this. Aircraft manufacturers are especially exposed because of their extremely rapid development.

Plot to Smuggle Gold

By U-Boat Is Revealed

CHICAGO.—Harry Schaetzel, a secret service agent, told how he sat in a New York hotel room for three days awaiting the arrival of a German submarine off the East coast which was to smuggle gold back to Germany. Testifying at the federal trial of three men who are charged with buying gold for Germany, Mr. Schaetzel said he posed as a mining magnate and slipped himself into the trio's operations as a "ringer" under the name of Harry Dexheimer.

Actual contact with German agents was not made because the submarine failed to appear, he said. The three men are Elbridge G. Bates, 43, Chicago representative of a St. Louis electrical firm; Kurt Otto Schimkus, 36, German alien and metallurgist, and Frank S. Smith, 54, Lithuanian rare coin collector. They are on trial for violation of the trading-with-the-enemy act.

They were arrested last April by secret service and FBI agents after Smith had identified himself as an agent for a foreign government.

Jackson Announces Regional and County Chairmen

Regional and County Chairmen for Maryland's Fourth War Loan Campaign have just been announced by former Mayor Howard W. Jackson, Chairman of the Maryland War Finance Committee. Following the organization plan of past Campaigns, the twenty-three counties of Maryland will be divided into six regions with Baltimore City constituting a seventh. A Chairman has been appointed for each region, as well as one for each

Chairman Jackson pointed out that the State organizations will have the help of five executives of leading Baltimore banks to be known as Area Managers. As in Baltimore City, intensive work is already under way among county organizations in which the Area Managers are acting as liaison officers between State Headquarters and the workers in the field. The Regional and County Chairmen as announced by Mr. Jackson include:

Trimly Designed Houses Come in Various Sizes

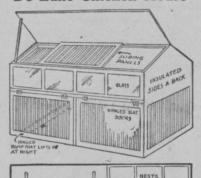

Householders, moved by the red meat shortage, are being converted by the thousands into backyard chicken fanciers. The chicken "population" increase this year over last —in rural areas alone—is about 132 million head. At an all time high, the present chicken population of the country is above 500 million. No census is taken on urban raised chickens, where the rate of increase is greatest.

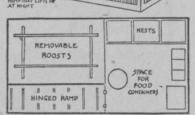

Interest in chicken raising, dealers say, is now spurred by the introduction and display of small ready-made houses in retail stores. As these become easily procurable in complete units or prefabricated for quick assembly, it is thought interest will zoom higher, The designs now being shown range from two-story compact types, about the size of a piano box, to large roomy ones big enough to double as hunters' cabins.

Because of the labor shortage and limitations affecting many kinds of building material, the public is finding the ready - made chicken house most easily obtainable. The commercial fabricator on the other hand may use various kinds of substitute material advantageously, or remnants and knotty pieces of lum-three "departmentalized" nests, removable roosts, and has compartments for charcoal, grit, water and mash. The second story front is of glass, while the slanting top is built of sliding slat panels of wood. Above this is a second top which may be lifted to admit sunlight. By the lowering of this top-lid and the raising of the ramp, drafts and cold are excluded

The larger house is 8 by 12 feet, overall height 7 feet 1 inch; in front 6 feet 7 inches, in rear 56 inches. Of the prefabricated type, it comes in eight sections. Main door is 6 feet high by 22 inches and is fitted with hinges and hasp for lock. Equipped with hardwood floors, ventilators and sliding door for chicken outlet, the house has triple windows, 4 lights each, 9 inches by 12 in size. Side walls are made of 1/2-inch Nu-wood, insulated sheeting, coated with asphalt inside and out. The roof is made of 1/2-inch Gypsum board sheeting covered with 55pound rolled roofing.

Small Farm Engines Get Preference Rating

Farm rationing committees of county war boards again have authority to assign preference ratings for delivery of small engines needed in essential food production.

This will apply to about 37,000 air and liquid-cooled internal combustion engines of 20 horsepower and under which will be manufactured during the current year. No state or county quotas will be established 26-1 o'clock. Mrs. Effie F. Angell, for the distribution of these engines, since the production is estimated to be sufficient to meet all essential needs.

The only distribution control will be at the county level, where county farm rationing committees will issue preference rating certificates to farmers or operators of farm machinery for hire. The certificates will bear a preference rating of AA-2, the highest which can be given a civilian product.

Good Poultry Houses

Experience has shown that the essentials of a good poultry house are a dry floor that can be easily cleaned, walls that give protection from wind and excessive cold, enough light, provision for ventilation, and, of course, a firm foundation and a tight roof. As about threefourths of the heat lost by conduction from a poultry house is lost through the roof, the ceiling is the first part of the house that should be

Saint Petersburg

Saint Petersburg was founded in 1703 by Peter the Great, but after Russia entered the First World war the name was changed to Petrograd, as the Russians thought the form "Petersburg" sounded too German. In 1924, when Nikolai Lenin died, the city was renamed Leningrad in his honor, and the Soviet government announced that mail addressed to Petrograd would not be delivered in the future.

Leningrad has been the target for German bombs and shells for about two years and the outer sections have suffered great damage but observers relate that less destruction than might be expected is apparent in the central part of the city which has elaborate defenses in anti-tank barriers, pillboxes and blockhouses.

Nearly the entire length of the Dnieper river freezes solid in the winter months.

A Promise

By STANLEY CORDELL Associated Newspapers. WNU Features.

FREEMAN had expected that Palmerton would be changed. He didn't know why; unless it was because a college town is apt to change in ten years' time.

He was, therefore, at once surprised and disappointed. A little puzzled, too. The road which led from the depot to the main street was dusty, covered with a layer of cinders. It had been like that ten years before.

Freeman came abreast of "T" Hall and stopped. His smile deepened. There was a change for you. He couldn't for the life of him think of Thompson Hall as anything but Thompson Hall now, which had a touch of dignity to it.

Freeman wasn't sure that he was going to enjoy his visit as much as he had anticipated. This idea to attend his fraternity reunion had been the result of sudden impulse, provoked by a long existing and suppressed longing. There was a girl

Freeman paused abruptly. To the right of him a shaded lane ran off toward a distant growth of hardwoods and pine. Midway between the street and the growth, he remembered, the lane widened and there was a stone bench that overlooked a gentle slope with a river below. Ten years ago Freeman had sat on this bench with Eleanor and made ardent love. He had promised all sorts of things, and Eleanor -Eleanor King, her name was, a co-ed-had returned his love-making and promised she would meet him there ten years hence and-

Erven Campbell and Jack Hyde and Howard Pace were all at the fraternity house when Freeman arrived. They had been his bosom companions. Roommates. Good scouts, all of them. They greeted him profusely.

There was a dance to be held that night in the gymnasium; a ball in honor of the old grads. Erv and Jack and Howard were looking forward to a gay time. They rode up to the gym in Howard Pace's roadster. The cool night air cleared Freeman's head. He followed the others inside and stood for a while near the door. Erven Campbell had already cut in on one of the fraternity members and was

"... of course, I love you, clumsily trying to keep time to the Unconsciously, Freeman found himself comparing Erven with the others. Ten years ago Erven had been considered a good dancer, popular with the coeds, a social success. Tonight he seemed strangely out of place, awkward. The girl with whom he danced looked miserable. It was October. The night was clear and cold, with a full bright moon. Main street was deserted, save for a few late arrivals hurrying to the dance. It would be easy, Freeman thought as he walked back toward the fraternity, to imagine himself young again.

He hesitated at the beginning of the shaded lane that led to the stone bench, laughed a little, and then on impulse turned into the lane. Still chuckling, he strolled along unhurriedly and came presently to the stone bench. Abruptly he stopped. The bench was occupied! Freeman's heart stopped and then pounded ahead. Eleanor then had remembered! Her promise had been more than a youthful utterance of words.

Freeman took a step forward, caught himself in the very nick of time. The figure on the bench had moved, became two. Freeman, steadying himself against a tree, heard the murmur of their voices. Their words came to him distinctly, and unashamed he listened.

. . of course, I love you, darling. And I always will. You'll see. Ten years from now I'll come back here and sit on this very bench and wait for you. I promise. It will prove how much I care—waiting ten years-

Freeman turned away. A smile played about his lips and he seemed strangely contented. Something like a weight had been lifted from inside of him. Perhaps it was because of the fear he had a moment ago known—the possibility of Eleanor's disappointment.

Yet, without knowing why, he was glad he'd come

Castor Beans Furnish Base for Insecticide

U. S. Can Grow Needed Poisons, Say Chemists

For a number of years the United States has been importing many millions of pounds of insecticides and the bases for insecticides from foreign sources, many of which are now cut off by the war, J. Edmund Good, vice president of a chemical company, told members of the Mid-American Chemurgic conference and the National Farm Chemurgic council at their joint convention in Cincinnati, recently.

Raw materials for the larger part of our food insecticide needs today can be grown right on the nation's farms, he continued. Probably 96 per cent of those importations upon which we formerly depended can be replaced with products from our own American farms. There is a direct connection between an adequate domestic supply of insecticides and our domestic crop of castor beans which was recently begun.

A newly developed insecticide, commercially called "Spra Kast," is derived from the castor bean plant, including the stems and leaves. Because of the many uses for castor oil in vital war products, there has not been sufficient quantities of castor plants available to manufacture any important quantity of the new spray, Mr. Good said. This situation may improve, he went on, if dehydrated castor bean leaves can be obtained. We know that we will have to have very large tonnages of materials to meet 1944's demands for the finished product.

For example, one of the large citrus growers in Florida had a crop this year that was much greater and of better quality than last year, and was still better than the previous year's crop. This is the first year that he used the new insecticide ex-

Somewhat similar results were obtained with potatoes in Maine. Two or three years ago when we began experimenting with the spraying of vegetables, we watched those experiments very closely. The results obtained in the years 1942 and 1943 satisfy us that the spray will ade quately protect vegetables from the nsects that infest them, and will pro duce a better quality of vegetables. And remember, Mr. Good emphasized, that no imported materials need be used if castor beans were grown in this country in quantity.

All the possibilities of the new insecticide have not been explored and experimental work is going on continually. For instance, it has been combined with sulphur or copper and used in commercial applications for control of red spider, purple mite, six-spotted mite, rust mite melanose and many soft-bodied worms that infest vegetables.

It is not claimed that this insecticide will kill all insects. In some cases it seems to act as a repellent: in other cases as a contact poison on sucking insects such as aphids, thrips, lice, mealy bugs, leafhoppers, and red bugs; and controls chewing insects such as beetles, leaf rollers and caterpillars. A few of the many crop insects that have been reported to us as being controlled are:

Beans: Mexican bean beetles, aphids, leaf rollers. Beets: Flea beetles, worms. Cabbage: Imported cabbage worms, cabbage loopers.

Cucumbers: Melon aphids, melon worms, beetles. Potatoes: Aphids, beetles, leaf hoppers, leaf rollers and flea beetles. Spinach: Flea beetles, aphids, cabbage loopers, worms.

Tomatoes: Fruit worms, flea beetles. Lettuce: Worms.

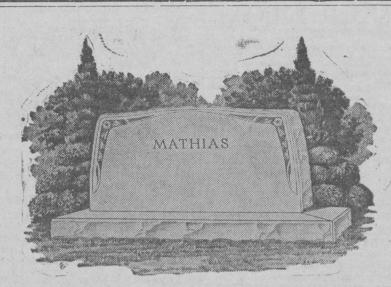

Peas: Aphids, weevils.

The purpose in mentioning these details and properties is not to emphasize one insecticide particularly, Mr. Good said in closing, but to point out that an efficient insecticide can be made from farm crops grown in the United States for the United States.

Farm Notes

Expenditure of a few cents for a vermifuge, such as phenothiazine, for goats, is considered a good investment by veterinarians.

More than a million pounds of beeswax a year is needed for use in war products, adhesives, waterproofing for shells, belts, machinery, and protective covering for fighting planes.

JESUS ANSWERS HIS CRITICS

LESSON TEXT-Mark 2:23-3:6. GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.—Matthew 5:11.

Criticism and opposition was the constant lot of our Lord as He gave Himself in His labor of love for mankind. It follows His disciples to this day, for men seem to have not only ingratitude, but an evil spirit which rewards kindness with hard words and unjust accusation.

The scribes and Pharisees had already found ground for their complaint, for He had eaten "with publicans and sinners" (2:16). The fact that He went there to win Matthew and to heal the sinsick (2:17) made no difference. Then they wanted to know why His disciples did not observe a fast (2:18) in the solemn way they should. How could they, when the Lord was in their midst? They were joyful.

In our lesson we find these hating, watching enemies of our Lord's showing their bitterness in two ways.

I. Open Accusation (2:23-28). They got at Him this time through His beloved disciples. It was the indirect approach so often used by cowardly people who want to hurt someone, but who dare not face him squarely. They spread evil reports or unkind criticism about a loved one, and thus wound the one they hate.

Their accusation was, however, in a sense a direct one. They claimed that He was the one who had permitted His disciples to violate the Sabbath law by plucking and rubbing the ears of corn to prepare them to be eaten. In other words, He had allowed them to do a secular thing on a sacred day and thus to violate the holiness of the Sabbath. What they did was not wrong, but they did it on the wrong day, said these critics.

Jesus met the charge by reaffirming the high viewpoint of God concerning man. We have lowered our conception of man's position, while at the same time exalting his undependable judgment.

Everything that concerns man is sacred in the sight of God. Hunger is natural, God made man that way. He gets hungry on the Sabbath day, so he must have food on that day. The Sabbath was made to serve him, and he must not be harmed or hindered by his servant.

Now, someone will say: "That means I can do what I like on the Sabbath—or the Lord's Day." No, it does not. What you need is right. What you desire may not be. You are more than an animal, so you must have more than physical rest and recreation on Sunday. You are more than a mental being, hence you need more than culture-reading, music or friendship on that day. You are a spiritual being and must have fellowship with God.

See how nicely it all balances up when we go God's way. Then nothing that concerns us is common or secular. It is all sacred.

II. Silent Hatred (3:1-6). Open criticism is bad, but it becomes worse when it is hidden in the heart of a watching man (v. 2), one who looks for his opportunity to strike. The scene is a most dramatic one.

Jesus came into the synagogue on the Sabbath day as was His custom. (By the way, is it your custom to go to church on Sunday?) "In that synagogue was a man with a withered hand. Here occurs one of those incidental things, which are so full of beauty in these narratives. Seeking to find accusation against Him, His enemies nevertheless all unconsciously paid Him a supreme compliment. They associated Him immediately, not with the chief seat of the synagogue, but with the most needy man in the crowd."

"They watched Him" (v. 2). The air was full of silent, malicious, cunning hatred. Jesus faced them with an alternative so high, so holy and exacting that they dared not speak. He pointed out that we either do good or harm, heal or kill, by our response to a human need. It cannot be ignored. What would they do with it? Keep their strict manmade regulations, or honor God by helping a needy one on the Sabbath? They dared not answer.

Then He healed the man. He did not touch him. He did not do any work, except a miraculous healing. But it was enough. The Herodians and the Pharisees, who hated each other, now became friends because they both hated Jesus.

What an awful picture of what may be in the human heart, even in the Lord's house on the day of worship. What was in your heart when you last went into the church? Love and a desire for the good of your neighbor, or hatred and malice?

Here again our Lord declared the dignity of man in the plan of God, and placed his need above the keeping of a day. We are too little interested in the help we can give, and too fearful of the criticism of others. Hughesovka

The Russian government, in 1870, gave to a British subject named Hughes a concession to manufacture iron rails. Operations were started and from 1880 to 1914 British, French and Belgian capital were invested in the industry's development which was profitable because of the Donetz coalfield and the iron and man-ganese deposits in that area, Hughesovka (Yuzovka) was the name of the town where the company was situated but it has since been named Stalin. The iron rail industry fell off following the 1917 revolution but was revived about 1924 and progressed rapidly.

Shipyard Absenteeism

Absences from work from November, 1942, through June, 1943, ran from 10.3 to 7.0 per cent in the larger maritime yards having over 2,500 workers. Current surveys indicate that at least one-third of the absences in maritime shipyards have to do with health and accidents. The shipyards where inexcusable days off are fewest, are those where plant and union committees keep close tab on lost days, and where leadermen are made responsible for the attendance of their crews.

Time Zones There is one meridian from which nearly all world calculations are reckoned, and this basal line passes through Greenwich, England. When it is noon there, it is midnight exactly 180 degrees east or west; and for every 15 degrees east or west of Greenwich the time is one hour later or earlier. If it is 10 a. m. in Hamburg, Pa., Eastern War Time (9 a. m., E.S.T.), it will be just before midnight of the same day in New Guinea.

Outdoor Storage

The most satisfactory outdoor storage is a tight wooden barrel or steel drum, which gardeners may get from a junk yard. The barrel or drum may be buried on its side with a heavy cover of dirt, or it may be set into the ground upright with an inch or two protruding above ground, to be covered by a rat-proof cover, and layers of hay or straw

Clean Up After Crop

Some gardeners feel that the best way to clear the garden is to wait until late fall when all the crops are harvested. Actually, if left this way the job seldom gets done. A bet-ter plan is to follow each crop harvest with a cleanup, onions one week, sweet corn the next, tomatoes, cabbage and so on, as harvests stretch over several months.

Average Incomes

In 1942, better than eight out of ten families had incomes of more than $20 a week. The middle area of incomes from $1,000 to $5,000 embraced 74.1 per cent of all families, and only 18.5 per cent had incomes of under $20 a week. The top group with incomes of over $5,000 embraced 7.4 per cent.

Pleasure Traveling

Every month more than 29 million persons are riding regularly schedand trains merely to make social visits or for amusement. These 29 million persons represent approximately 25 per cent of the total monthly passenger load on intercity buses and trains, the ODT said.

Smokeless Furnace

There's a new coal furnace now which burns even soft coal without smoke. And it saves up to a fourth on fuel. A downdraft forces unburned smoke through the glowing coals, where it's consumed, and only the smokeless gases that don't foul your line go up the chimney.

Women in Refineries

To date most of the women in refinery work are under 35 years of age, but experience with older women has led one refinery to report successful use of women laboratory workers between the ages of 55 and 60.

Dressing Sheep

About all one requires in the way of equipment for dressing a sheep is a clean place to work, a sharp knife and facilities for hanging the animal. The use of a small table for sticking helps to keep the pelt clean.

New Insignia

The red border enclosing the insignia for all United States military airplanes has been replaced with a blue border. It was explained that the red border, caught at a flash in air action, sometimes resembled the Japanese insignia.

Certain Hawks Beneficial Red-tailed, red-shouldered and broad-winged hawks do much more good than harm because their diet consists mostly of vermin. They are beneficial, and as a rule should not

Use Feathers

Feathers from chicken-dressing plants were formerly wasted or used as fertilizer. Now they are being preserved in a weak acid solution and will be used for sleeping bags, pillows, and for camouflage.

Provide Mineral Mixture In hogging down corn and soybeans, soybeans alone, or peanuts, growers should provide their hogs with a good mineral mixture.

Food Buying According to reports nearly 60 per cent of the food buying is still concentrated on Fridays and Saturdays.

BEHAVIOR TREATMENT

One of the difficulties about the treatment of behavior symptoms by the use of insulin or metrazol is that some patients who have undergone this method, or have spoken to patients who have done so are somewhat afraid of it, notwithstanding that they have experienced or observed its helpful results. It is for this and other reasons that many physicians are now using the electrically induced convulsions in cases where the mental symptoms are not due to any true or organic disease of the brain. I have spoken twice before about this method and in the Illinois Medical Journal, Dr. J. V. Edlin, Chicago, reports the use of electric shock treatment in 126 cases.

The length of time the patients suffered with their symptoms ranged from less than six months to 10 years, and included all the functional psychoses such as anxieties, fears, dream states and melancholia.

Of the patients who were ill for less than six months, about 53 per cent recovered; the rate for those ill from six months to one year was about 31 per cent; for those ill from one to five years it was 21 per cent, and for those ill from 6 to 10 years it was 20 per cent.

The best results were obtained by patients suffering from involutional melancholia (depressed feeling of middle and old age). The next best occurred in patients with catatonia (where dream state passes into melancholia) and then those with hebephrenia (silliness which comes on at puberty) and dementia precox combined with hebephrenic and catatonic features.

Dr. Edlin found that just as with insulin and metrazol the symptoms before receiving electric shock treatment determined the chances of his recovery; the shorter the time, the better the chances. Dr. Edlin prefers electrical to metrazol treatment because of the high percentage of recoveries and the almost total absence of fear. He also advises that the usual treatment of mental cases by questioning the patient and explaining the causes of the symptoms should be used in addition to the electric shock treatment.

X-Ray Treatment of Goiter Beneficial

In examining recruits for the last war we were always on the alert so that cases of early thyroid disease (goiter) were not accepted. When the heartbeat was fast the recruit rested for some time and was given a daily paper to read. If his heartbeat was slower after the rest and he was fit otherwise he was accepted. In some cases where, in addition to the rapid heartbeat, there was trembling of the hands and eyes were bulging he was considered a thyroid case and rejected at once.

The cause of the symptoms is that too much juice or extract is being manufactured by the thyroid gland and this juice increases the rate at which all the body processes work. The amount of increase is measured by a special apparatus and if it is plus 15 or more it is considered a case of early goiter, hyperthyroid as it is called. If test shows minus 15 it shows that the thyroid gland is not manufacturing enough juice. When too much juice is being manufactured, all or part of the thyroid gland is removed by operation or by the use of X-ray treatments. If not enough juice is being manufactured the physician prescribes daily doses of the juice or thyroid extract.

Before treatment for removal of the thyroid gland is given, Dr. George E. Pfahler, professor of radiology, graduate school of medicine, University of Pennsylvania, in medical clinics of North America, states that the cause or causes of the hyperthyroid condition should be removed insofar as this is possible. Usual causes are focal infection (teeth, tonsils or other organ), domestic difficulties, worry, overwork or some other strain.

As many patients fear operation and delay should be avoided, Dr. Pfahler points out that X-ray treatment gives about as good end results as surgery and these patients will more willingly undergo the X-ray method of treatment. Where, however, the need for the removal of the thyroid gland is urgent surgery is the proper treatment.

Blind Workers Do Bit to Help Win

All Our Fighting Men Not In Armed Service.

PONTIAC, ILL.—All of Uncle Sam's war-plant workers are not employed inside factory walls, nor are all his fighting men in the armed forces.

A Pontiac man's nimble fingers daily fill orders from four war plants. Part of his success is due to the instruction he has received from another man who is waging war against the forces of despair and incompetency that come to those who have lost their sight.

Both men are blind.

William Leister of Pontiac has been blind since the fifth grade: Earl Knowles, an instructor in the state division of visitation of adult blind, has never known what it is to see. But both guided their families through the depression following World War I and are now working in their own fashion for victory in the present world conflict. Leister has two daughters; Mr. Knowles, two daughters and a son in the army air force.

Mr. Leister has been making brooms for the last 35 years and selling them from door to door in Pentiac. He gradually extended his small business to the larger fields of Pontiac business houses and those in surrounding towns, and is now filling orders from four defense plants.

Mr. Knowles taught him handdrawn brush making two years ago, and some of his brushes, of which he makes 32 different types, have gone as far as North Africa in sol-diers' kits. His latest skill is leather craft, which Mr. Knowles also taught

He has overcome any fear of unfamiliar and unseen things so completely that he makes his own plumbing and electrical repairs about his home—jobs which many men with vision are afraid to tackle.

Pries Bomb Loose While Suspended in Mid-Air

LONDON. - Second Lieut. Owen G. Smith, 27, Norman, Okla., suspended himself from a catwalk over the open bomb-bay doors of his Flying Fortress 23,000 feet over Germany to pry loose an incendiary bomb which could have destroyed the plane, the U.S. army disclosed. Lieutenant Smith, a bombardier, who performed the feat during a raid on Frankfort, said it gave him opportunity to realize a childhood ambition to become a trapeze artist. One hand was frostbitten and his oxygen supply ran out before he finished the job.

Sergt. Robert Ross, Cleveland, the ball turret gunner, noticed the bomb dangling from the bomb-bay a few seconds after Lieutenant Smith had dropped his load over the target. He queried Lieutenant Smith through the interphone:

"Who are you saving that one for, Lieutenant?"

Lieutenant Smith immediately donned his parachute and worked on the jammed bomb until it fell

WHITE ENAMEL ON DARK WOOD

Question: Last year our dark mahogany stained woodwork was done over with white enamel. Now it is cracking and the dark color is coming through. Is there some way to get better results next time we do it

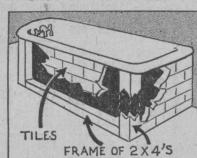

Answer: It is my guess that the surface was not properly prepared before the enamel was applied. Paint will not adhere to a glossy varnish, and the mahogany stain should have been sealed in with a coat of shellac. Your best move is to take off the finish with a hot solution of washing soda or trisodium phosphate—three pounds to the gallon of water. After removing the paint and varnish rinse the wood with clear water. Then bleach out the stain by coating liberally with a hot saturated solution of oxalic acid. Leave it on overnight and then rinse well with clear water. When the wood is dry, smooth if necessary, by rubbing with very fine sandpaper. Wipe off the dust and then finish according to the manufacturer's directions on the can for new woodwork.

Cleaning Entrance Floorings Question: What is the best method and soap to use for cleaning terrazzo, rubber tile and linoleum in an apartment building entrance? Answer: As a general rule, a terrazzo floor calls for no more 1-7-3t than scrubbing with pure soap and water, rinsing thoroughly and drying. For a polish, use thin coats of paste floor wax; rub each coat well after allowing a half hour for drying. The linoleum can be cleaned in the same way, but great care must be taken not to flood it. Work on tiles in the same way as the linoleum, and, when clean and dry, apply bright-drying water wax, or a wax that does not require polishing. Plenty of clean water should be used to remove all traces of soap. If this is not done, the floors soon will become shabby and difficult to clean, particularly the ter-

MODERNIZED BATHTUB Question: I have heard that an old-style bathtub with legs can be converted to the built-in style. Can you tell me how?

Answer: Take off the legs by slipping them out. Build a support of two by fours in one corner of the room on which the tub will rest, wedging one end and side of the tub against the wall. Build a frame around the tub, to be finished with tile or some other waterproof material. The room walls should meet the top edge of the tub so that the tub will catch water that drips from them. Pipe connections should be made according to convenience.

Repairing Pottery

Question: I have a Wedgewood pottery jug, pieces of which are chipped out and missing. Is there any tenacious substance that I could use to fill in the missing pieces?

Answer: Genuine Wedgewood should be repaired by an expert. Home methods might look botched and show crack-lines. But if you still wish to try the job, use white lead paste thickened with powdered whiting. This will take some months to dry hard. Names and addresses of china and glass repair shops can be found in your classified telephone directory.

Bulging Linoleum Question: What should I do for linoleum that has just begun to Answer: Cut a slit across the middle of the bulge with a razor blade, following a line of the pattern; a line between two squares, for instance. Then work some linoleum cement under the linoleum through the slit with a knife blade, pressing down first one side of the slit and then the other. Use plenty of the cement, wiping off wet smears on the surface with turpentine. Press the bulge back into place and put on weights until the cement is dry.

New Carpeting Over Old

Question: We are going to recarpet our dining-room. The floor is of poor, unfinished lumber. As both the new and old carpeting are moth-proofed, would you think it a good plan to use the old carpeting as a padding under the new?

Answer: Yes, but before laying the carpeting, see that all irregularities in the floor boards are taken out—either by planing or scraping with a floor sanding machine. The smoother the floor the longer the floor covering will last.

HANGING MIRROR

Question: How can I make a neat job of putting nails or hooks in a plastered wall, so that I can hang a couple of mirrors?

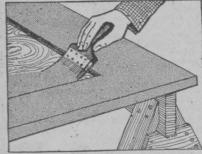

Answer: Nails should not be driven into plastered walls. To hang your mirrors, holes should be drilled into the plaster, wall plugs or anchors inserted and screws used. A hardware store can supply you with these articles. If the mirrors are not too large and heavy you can use a sharply pointed nail, especially made for this purpose, which has a hook attached. These can be had in large or small sizes from a hardware dealer. If the mirrors are very heavy, it might be better to hang them from the picture molding (if there is one), using picture wire or cord. (The wire may be hard to get.)

Here is the way one of our readers runs a screw into a plaster wall: "Mark the position and drill a hole about the size of the screw. Wood putty is then packed into the hole, and after hardening overnight the screw is run into it. This method has held a great deal of weight around my house without any failwres. When you move the screws can be taken out, leaving the wall in a neat condition."

PAINTING A DOOR

Question: I have been attempting a painting job on some of our doors and am making heavy weather of it. The paint does not flow evenly, but streaks and blobs. What ought I to do?

Answer: It is almost impossible to paint a door evenly when it is in position; it should be taken off its hinges and laid flat on boxes or sawhorses at a convenient height for working. When the door is laid flat the paint will flow evenly.

Storing Furniture

Question: I want to store my kitchen, living and bedroom furniture. Would it be all right to store it in an unheated upstairs room Do you think the coldness ruin the finish or warp the furn ture? And what effect would th cold have on the mirror of a vanity

Answer: Low temperatures wi not harm the furniture, but yo should take every precaution against dampness. Before storing the furn ture clean and polish it, and the cover with a heavy kraft paper t keep dust off the surfaces. The re frigerator should be cleaned and pu away with the door partly open Cover the bare metal parts of th stove with a light oil to preven rusting. If the mirror is of good quality it will stand up under all con-

Insulated Hot-Air Ducts

Question: The warm-air ducts from our furnace are covered with the usual sheet asbestos. Dust clings to this surface and is very hard to remove. Can this covering be painted, to give a hard surface that can be cleaned easily? Answer: Asbestos insulating materials are very porous and, because of this, are difficult to paint. The following method will be fairly successful: After brushing off the dust, apply a thin coat of shellac (if you can get it), thinned halfand-half with denatured alcohol. When dry, finish with a coat of brushing lacquer. If lacquer cannot be obtained, apply a coat of flat paint followed by a coat of quickdrying enamel.

Spots on Lineleum

Question: How can I remove spots from my linoleum floor? Neither soap nor kitchen cleaners have any effect upon them. They seem to form under chair and table legs. are up 30% as compared with 1940. The linoleum has been waxed. Answer: Try rubbing gently with turpentine and very fine steel wool. Then, when spots have been removed, touch up with a little paste wax, allow to dry hard and then

. . . Touch-Up on Chairs

Question: My black enameled chairs are chipped off in a few spots to the bare wood, and also are slightly smeared with white paint. How can I touck up these places without damaging the undercoating?

Answer: Rub the chipped spots with fine steel wool; wipe with ben-zine, being careful of fire, and then touch up with matching enamel, building up the chipped area to the with a little paste wax.

SOLDIER'S VOTE

"In this latter connection, I think it unfortunate that the Maryland Constitution makes it impossible for persons under 21 years to vote. I personally would prefer to see voting rights extended to all persons in the Armed Services. If soldiers and sailors, as young as 18, are depended upon by the country to defend the Nation at the risk of their lives, it seems to me that they should be allowed to take part in the elections which constitutes a fundamental part of the American system. "However, this right cannot be given by the Legislature as the Maryland Constitution requires persons must be 21 years to vote. "But we can strive for the most wide-spread voting, even by persons who are 21 and who have not been able to register. This can be accomplished in a simple manner. First, Congress should decide finally what the Army and Navy will be required to do. Then, with this important pattern established, the States can proceed to set up a uniform system which will be workable and which will enable Service men throughout the world to vote. By seeking action first by the Federal government, the various States are not surrendering any of their rights. They merely are securing definite information as to what the Armed Services can and will do in handling the election machinery for the benefit of Service men who are under their command and whose whereabouts they alone
