OUR SERVICE MEN Many and Varied are their Experiences

Somewhere in New Guinea, February 45, 1944.

Dear Mr. Stonesifer: Having a little extra time at present, I think it would be a good idea to again say hello to the folks in Taneytown. You really don't know how lucky you are. Especially when you have cold and invigorating weather.

The rains I have so often talked about seem to have let up quite a bit in the past few days. Whereas we used to have rain all day long, we now only have rain all day long, we now only have it in the evening. Seems as though it is timed with the showing of our movies for it invariably starts with the show. As a result, we look like a pack of half drowned rats as we slowly trundle back to our tents after the showing.

The other evening we heard quite a rumbling in the sky, and naturally thought it to be another thunder sterm coming up. But the noise continued for about an hour. Early the next morning, we were showered with what appeared to be fine ashes, almost a soot. After investigating this strange occurance, we found that there had been an eruption of one of the many volcanoes that exist here on the island. There was no damage done, however, as the volcano was a very small one that has been active intermittantly throughout the years. But it was a new experience for me as well as a lot of other boys who have never been within thousands of miles

Although we are steadily advancing toward the fall of the year down here, the temperature seems to be increasing. We have the winter season down here alright, but I am told that the only way to tell it is by the lack of rain. Which means that it will probably be hotter in the winter than in the summer. of volcanoes.

than in the summer. There are numerous rivers through-out New Guinea, and you may welf ask why we don't go swimming to stave off the heat. We do sir, but very cautiously, for the rivers are full of germs that effect the ears. We have had several boys contact ear trouble swimming here, and some of them have nearly grown deaf. Then, too, we always have to be on the look-out for crocodiles. Although there are few of them around this particu-lar section, those that are here can cause plenty of damage if they once get you caught in the streams.

I hope that all my friends in town wishes to you and all the folks. Maybe it won't be too long, any more, until we have things cleaned up a little bit. Until then, I am sincerely, WILLIAM R. SELL, Lieut. Air Corps.

THE RED CROSS

The Response to This Appeal Has Been Very Gratifying

The response so far in the 1944 Red Cross War Fund Drive has been very gratifying to those solicitors who are contributing their time and effort to make this drive a success. In many instances, this year's contributions have been doubled, because there is hardly a home in this land where the war is not almost a personal matter with every family. These homes have sent their sons and daughters to all parts of the globe to fight this war, and these families realize only too well that the Red Cross may be the only means of contact with and succor to these fighting members of their families. President Roosevelt stated, some time ago, that the American Red Cross is now engaged in "the greatest crusade of mercy in all history". This crusade is the War Fund Drive of $200,000,000, for the sole purpose of aiding the members of our armed forces, wherever they may be located and for the alleviation of suffering and for the alleviation of suffering in the event of disaster at home. Also through the Red Cross, mercy ships carrying food, clothing, and medical supplies are sent to the occupied and temporarily conquered countries of Europe, as a gift from those of us who have given so much in this war. Have you made your supplications to this worthy cause?

MD. LEGISLATURE Now in Special Session at

Annapolis

The war-time special session of the Maryland General Assembly convened Tuesday evening at 8 P. M., completing most of the formality of organization and heard Gov-ernor O'Conor urge that the session be kept short and business-like.

The House got things under way at 9:41 o'clock, with the Senate fol-lowing a few minutes later. The Governor appeared before the two branches in joint session about an hour later to deliver his message.

The chief executive asked the assembly principally to approve the soldier voting and teacher-state employee bonus bills. Seven new bills, all of them on the approved list, were submitted in the brief session that followed. Four were introduced in the Senate and three in the House.

The Senate Democrats selected Senator James J. Lindsay, Jr. (D-Baltimore) and Delegate John S. White (D-Prince Georges') as presiding officers in the special session The republicans named Senator Wilmer Fell Davis, (R-Caroline), and Delegate J. Milton Dick, (R-Allegany) as floor leaders in the Senate and House.

and House.

The Senate introduced thirteen new bills on the second day session with the House presenting eighteen, with indications of more to come.

Legislative leaders held out hopes that the session would end at the close of this week. One of the Senators presented a bill to appropriate an amount up to $25,000. to pay the expenses of the special session.

THE HOMEMAKERS' MEET

The Taneytown Homemakers' Club met at the Potomac Edison Demonstration room, Thursday, March 9, at 2:15 P. M. In honor of St. Patrick's Day, the music chairman, Mrs. George Harner, directed the club in a series of Irish songs. The roll-call response was, "What new Vegetables will you Grow."

Miss Crosby, the Home Demonstrator talked on "Gardens and their Importance." She stated last year there were 20,000,000 gardens. This year the goal is 22,000,000 gardens. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The treasurer gave a most interesting report. The various donations are to be given to the different organizations: Red Cross, $10.00; Service Kits, $5.00; and books for the Library, Thanks were extended to Mrs. Joseph Elliot for the successful card party which was held at her home.

Thanks were also given to Mr. Walter Bower for his helpfulness.

Miss Crosby told about Homemaker's Day, which is to be held,

DETROIT LETTER

Describes Politics in That City and a Post-War Plan

Many years ago, we who lived in Maryland, had something to be ashamed of when the vast amount of fraud and graft was exposed as it existed in Baltimore, but to-day we folks in this state are reading evidence that is being given in the investigation of the actions of quite a number of the members of the legislature, that is surely amazing. That such a wide-spread plot to buy the votes necessary to pass or defeat certain proposed laws, as existed in the session of 1939, is almost beyond belief. But last week, the principal payoff man in these transactions, in his testimony before the investigators made statements that certainly

Other members of the County Agricultural War Board and the agen cies they represent are: L. C. Burns, Agricultural Extension Service; J. H. Snyder, Farm Credit Corporation and Bureau of Agricultural Economics; Carol Remsburg, Farm Security Agency and Carl H. Ingling, Soil Conservation Service.

Heat the testimony goes to show that we were correct in our statements in former letters that these men acted on the idea "of getting while the getting was good," and is also an argument against the Primary law, as it exists out here. HONOR LIST

STATE AGRICULTURAL WAR BOARD CARROLL CO.

Has been enrolled on the Food for the Lodge entrance and garage, which in itself is such a fine building that it is often taken by strange tourists for the main buildings. So we have never been able to even get a glimpse of it. The advertisement says it is pattened after the English shepherd's cottages, and that stone and men-were brought over from England to build it. It does seem a pity that a-person who had gone to such pains to create such a beautiful home, should be compelled by death to leave it, especially as Mr. Ford was a comparable young man. But such is life and we must make the best of it.

The new draft orders will hit Detroit very hard, and we often hear young men, who considered themselves safe, by reason of occupational deferment say that they are looking for their call. The Detroit boards have all been ordered to reclassify all men who are above 4F, regardless of any deferment or size of family. Just now the cry for more factory workers has let up a little, as needed production seems to have caught up to schedule in some cases, and there is a great deal of trouble being experienced in getting stock, especially steel, in the scarcity of which the numerous strikes in that industry are playing a big part.

And while all the above is going on, the dreamers of a model city are buisly engaged in bringing out new buisly engaged in bringing out new schemes for an orgy of wild spending "after this war is over." The newest thing in this line is put forth by one of our Councilmen, who proposes that the city shall buy all the land between the river and Jefferson Avenue which paralells the river, and turn it into a drivery and parks. Where into a driveway and parks. Where the money is to come from to carry into effect such a fine scheme he does not say, but as it would cost several billion dollars, we do not think he will get much support for his dream, especially as the city is now so heavily

OUR WOMEN AT WAR

Why should many of us wonder "What the moral situation is like where boys and girls are thrown together" in the Navy, any more than we wonder what it is like when they are thrown together in normal. every-day living? May we ask what the men soldiers, sailors, and marines are doing to help lift those same morals of the girls with whom they are thrown? What do you consider? What do you consider, "first hand sources from the Army, Marines and Spars?" DO YOU KNOW, or are you just repeating something that you have heard? Let's get down to facts-Would our government have sent you men out to fight a war if our nation's rights had not been infringed upon? Did you want to go? Does anyone? The majority of these girls in question would much rather lead a normal home life with their friends, families, and sweethearts than go out and be continuously shifted around in the effort of winning a war. Each of them joined the armed forces voluntarily in hopes of shortening the time of winning this war, and to enable them to once more to live a happy, carefree, and normal home life. They joined for you, for their parents and for the country which is their homeland. Can in any way the the holding up of news for the sole fact be denied that they are doing a job and doing it well? HANDLING WARTIME NEWS

The weekly newspaper always has been respected as the champion of the free press in this country.

During a war period, in which the greatest danger to the free press is that of censorship of war news, the weekly newspaper is put somewhat in the position of a very much interested observer. For the average non-daily newspaper does not carry much war news. Therefore, its own news columns are not affected by news columns are not affected by on, 3 sets hay carriages, two 16 ft, whether the War Department does or and one 20 ft; U. S. corn husker, four does not release a story as soon as it obtains it.

But, even though the news in a weekly newspaper is not greatly affected by wartime censorship, we are vitally interested in watching how news is handled-for we realize that restrictions on freedom of the press necessitated by war could easily become permanent unless we are on our

We have no objection whatever to the general function of the Bureau of Censorship—to prevent the release of news which might be of aid to the enemy. But we do strongly object to reason of releasing it when it is apt to do the most to influence the people

How much does it cost to bomb Berlin?

CUPPOSE, in the dusk of an English evening, 1,000 huge bombers soar over the Channel and head for Berlin.

By the time those planes return to England, their motors will have consumed 2,400,000 gallons of gasoline! .

The cost . . . of the gasoline ALONE ". . . will be more than $380,000.

To pay for the gasoline used on ONE such raid, 96,000 Americans would have to invest at least 10 percent of their next pay check in War Bonds!

You get a big kick out of reading about those 1,000-plane raids. You know that such raids, if repeated often enough, will soften up the Axis. But . . .

What are YOU doing to help pay the cost of those raids? (In addition to the gasoline they use, it costs Uncle Sam TWO HUN-DRED MILLION DOLLARS to build 1,000 4-motored bombers . . . plus the cost of training the 10,000 men who make up

Modern war is expensive business . . . its cost runs into fantastic figures. 30,000,000 American wage earners are now putting an average of 10 percent of each pay check into War Bonds every pay day . . . but still it isn't enough!

Our air raids on the Axis are increasing in frequency and intensity. When land operations really get going, the cost will be staggering.

More and more Americans must join the Pay-Roll Savings Plan . . . more than those already in the Pay-Roll Savings Plan must begin to jack up their War Bond purchases ... must start to invest more than 10 percent!

Remember . . . War Bonds are the finest investment in the world today. You get back $4 for every $3 you invest. And . . . the more War Bonds you buy now, the quicker the Axis will be licked . . . and the less the war will cost in the long run.

Think it over. And every time you're tempted to put a nickel in something you don't absolutely need-put it in War Bonds instead!

FEESERSBURG

March came in like a lamb—with a strong breeze to make it frisky, but not high wind roaring like a lion, and its been calm ever since-with snow falling all day on Saturday. February gave us 10 clear days, 14 cloudy and 5 of snow—and bitter cold weather.

Those who were at the meeting at Baust Church last Wednesday eve-ning were much pleased with the Lenten Service when Rev. G. E. Bowersox explained the picture of the Last Supper, from the wonderful painting by Leonardo DaVince; a small copy being given to those present to follow his remarks—which made it very in-teresting. The artist worked almost three years on the original picture done on one of the walls of a monastery in Milan; and it almost breaks one's heart to know that through the horrors of war many of these marvel-ous old buildings and fine paintings home from a Camp in Tennessee, last Wednesday evening—looks fine and well. On Thursday evening he and Miss Corinne Rosensteel, of Emmitsburg were quietly married by Rev. J. E. Lippy in the parsonage of the Reformed Church in Westminster; and on Saturday he returned to camp, hoping his wife can soon be with him there. May happiness attend them

On Tuesday Nurow Nusbaum was inducted into military service; making the fifth son of Rockward and Pearl Starr Nusbaum to enter the service of our country. Neurow expects to be sent at once to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station as he is in the Navy Division. He and his wife were calling on friends in this community on Monday. Also Huber (Pat) Nusbaum and wife were home recently.

Pvt. Charles Bostian was home from Camp Meade, over Sunday with his wife living at their home in Mid-

Sunday morning Lenten Service there for this Wednesday evening was announced—the theme "we we were the sunday self-of the sunda was announced—the theme "we would see Jesus" and the subject "In Dark Gethsemane." $20.00 was voted out of the treasury for the Red Cross drive now on.

Last week we had another kind of trouble; toothache, earache (oh my stars!) headache—and the left cheek swellen like a little balloon, not a bit funny to the victim. But on Saturday the Dentist extracted the tooth in less than a minute and the pain was gone. How foolish any one is to suffer all that when there's such quick relief!

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. jamin Fleagle entertained Miss Mary Repp, Mrs. I. Douglass and daughter and Miss Gloria Fleagle—all of Washington; Alva Repp, of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. George Stansbury, a pleasant family gathering.

Fit Deserters For War Front

Over Half of AWOL Men Put in Fighting Trim at Processing Center.

CAMP EDWARDS, MASS.—Within a heavy, barbed wire enclosure covering more than three acres of this military outpost the army is proving that it can make a good soldier out of a deserter from overseas duty.

It is here that the army has established its east coast processing center. It is one of the two in this country and until now has been veiled in military secrecy. Into the center pour men who have gone AWOL and have been picked up in states east of the Mississippi.

Program Is New.

The program in operation is new. In World War I, men who went AWOL from their outfits at the embarkation points got little individual attention. Disregarding their psychological and sociological problems, the army thrust them back into the life from which they had fled and branded them as misfits.

Now, however, the army has recognized the individual weaknesses of such men and believes it has hit upon a method of returning its "black sheep" to embarkation ports fit, both mentally and physically, for battle. It is rebuilding their moral stamina, sapped by the fear of danger at the front.

Since the center was set up here, about 7,000 men have been processed. Its population varies with the movement of troops overseas and cannot be told, but it is revealed that 4,000 soldiers have been turned back to staging areas for overseas duty. About 450 have been judged misfits and discharged.

Specialists on Job.

In command at the processing center is Lieut. Col. George A. Parker, a Boston attorney before being recalled to service. He rose from second lieutenant to captain in the First World war and came here from the 756th Military Police battalion at West Springfield, Mass.

On his staff are 13 doctors and two psychologists who weed out the 'physical and mental unfits."

A soldier going AWOL is sent here after being picked up. The most frequent reason he gives for deserting is that he "wants to go home" to see his family or girl friend.

The deserter's civilian and military records are studied closely. Then a court martial is ordered and a sentence is pronounced. If a man appears to be what Colonel Parker terms a "bad actor," he is turned over to other military posts for more rigid rehabilitation or is discharged.

When a man, who has successfully passed through the center, is returned to an embarkation port, an effort is made to assign him to the same type of outfit from which he deserted. His background is kept confidential, however, and no stigma remains to endanger his future. If his record remains clean he gets an honorable discharge upon completion of service.

Smiths Replace 'Macs'

As Most Numerous Scots LONDON.—The Smiths have now conquered Scotland. Whereas names beginning with "Mac" used to predominate, now the surname Smith outnumbers all others.

After Smith, the commonest names are MacDonald, Brown, Wilson, Thomson, Robertson, Campbell and Stewart. These facts were disclosed by J. G. Kyd, registrar general for Scot-

Dilution of the original Scottish stock is partly attributable, said Mr. Kyd, to the fact that 1,500,000 Scottish young men and women have emigrated from Scotland in the past 80 years-900,000 of them since the beginning of the century.

"The vitality of Scotland is being or has been sapped by export of the most virile of people," Mr. Kyd complained. "The population is gradually growing older."

There has been a dramatic increase in the marriage rate during the war, but unless this is kept up after the war he could not anticipate an increase in the birth rate, Mr. Kyd said.

This Dentist in a Rut

Even When He Is Fishing DES MOINES, IOWA. - Dentists get in a rut, too. Dr. T. G. Wheeler just couldn't get away from the extraction business even while fishing. The dentist hooked what seemed to be a sizable fish. After a tussle, the line went limp, and he reeled it in. You guessed it: the hook was imbedded in a tooth, which had been "extracted" from the fish's mouth.

Last of Warsaw Jews Interned, Poles Report

NEW YORK .- The Polish Telegraph agency said that the last 25,000 Jews in Warsaw had been shipped to Bernebostel, a concentration camp near Hanover, Germany.

These were the last of the 40,000 Jews left in the Polish capital at the time of the battle of the Warsaw ghetto a few months ago. Before the war, Warsaw'had a Jewish population of 300,000, one-third of the city's inhabitants.

Turn Out Airmen Three Every Hour

Navy Speeds Up Process at Training Stations.

WASHINGTON. — Naval airmen are pouring through the navy's air intermediate training stations at an average rate of nearly three an hour.

A little rate continues 24 hours a have heard regarding our present income tax problems was the one published in the Sunday American coming from "Bugs" Baer who wails "Take My Income; Gimme the Tax." day, 365 days a year, it was shown by statistics on training at two big intermediate training bases.

It is at Corpus Christi in Texas and Pensacola in Florida that the unbelievable speed rate is being established, and even may be stepped up. Approximately 25,000 men annually "come aboard" at those schools, already acquainted with rudimentary flying methods and ready to learn the tricks of the masters.

The Women's

Average of 16 Weeks.

They buckle down to work—or else —and in a minimum of 14 weeks, although the average is 16, they've stored away in their minds information that some day may mean the difference between a Mitsubushi in flames or a crippled American plane.

Some of the men assigned to the schools can't make the grade. That is to be expected. But their training isn't a loss. If they can't qualify as fliers but are good officer material, they retain the status of air cadet, and with additional training are commissioned ensigns and assigned to nonflying naval aviation

Records show that student fliers at the two intermediate training bases last year flew a total of 3,553,-858 hours, learning the fine points of their flying assignments.

All of that flying was in an average total of 3,586 planes, a tribute to the ground crews that keep the planes in shape. Fatalities and accidents occur, of course, but they aren't frequent, for the lessons emphasize the safety factors of flying.

Far East Vet Eager to See What WAC Looks Like

CALCUTTA.—Four sergeants who were among the first Americans to reach the China-Burma-India thea-ter are heading homeward after amassing a total of 3,550 hours in the air the past two years, ferrying supplies to India and China.

They are: Master Sergt. Robert Bailey, 26, Arlington, Va.; Crew Chief Sergt. Spencer Holland, 27, Baltimore, when they reached home, Cohen said: "I want to see a detachment of WACs. I've never seen any WACs, WAVES, SPARS or anything else that nice." Bailey wanted to hurry home to his wife and a 21-month-old daughter he has never seen.

"Some good food for a change," was Holland's answer. Nadzak wanted most to see his girl, Lois Schicke, of Lemay, Mo., a suburb of St. Louis.

Voluntary Boosts in Pay

7 Times Over Disputes WASHINGTON. - Voluntary pay increases granted with WLB approval during the first year of wage stabilization contributed almost seven times as much to the increase in average straight time hourly earnings of factory workers as did raises ordered in dispute cases. The WLB reported to congress for October, 1942, through September, 1943, an increase in factory straight time average hourly earnings of 1.09 cents. Adjustments voluntarily proposed by the employers or agreed to by unions and employers contributed .95 of a cent and increases ordered by the WLB in dispute cases averaged .14 of a cent. The board said this rise of 1.09 cents represents only 1.3 per cent of the average level of straight time hourly earnings prevailing at the beginning of wage stabilization.

9 Missionaries Lost in

Wilds of Amazon Valley BUENOS AIRES.—The great and mysterious hinterland of the Amazon valley apparently has claimed the lives of nine American missionaries who entered the Bolivian jungle near the Brazilian border last November. The missionaries, eight men and one woman, representing the New Tribes Mission, left the village of Robore, last outpost of civilization 300 miles east of Santa Cruz, Bolivia, in the direction of the Brazilian frontier and the unexplored Matto Grosso region further east.

They plunged into a region inhabited by wild Indian tribes completely untouched by civilization.

Disregarding the advice of Bolivian frontiersmen, the missionaries refused to carry arms, explaining that they did not wish to antagonize the Indians.

It is believed that they died at the hands of the savages.

Eisenhower's Dog Runs Afoul of Law in Britain

LONDON. — Everywhere General Dwight D. Eisenhower went his pet scottie Telek went, until Telek and his boss ran into Britain's duty-conscious dog catchers.

Telek was flown from North Africa to England when General Eisenhower came here to assume command of the western invasion armies and the general planned to take the pup with him into Europe.

But the British canine health authorities stepped in and ordered Telek impounded for six months until it can be determined that he is not bringing any canine disease into the count

Guardian Ready To Aid Veterans

Rights Earned in Service of Country Are to Be Fully Protected.

WASHINGTON.—When men and women of our fighting forces are honorably discharged to return to civilian life, the federally financed veterans administration steps in as official guardian of the special rights they earned in service of their coun-

If the veteran has disabilities, due to or aggravated by service, he is entitled to a federal pension.

Veterans administration physicians examine the veteran and an administration board determines the pension amount on a basis of dis-

Minimum pension is $10 monthly for 10 per cent disability. Pensions scale from this amount to $100 monthly for the 100 per cent disabled. Amputation cases receive $35 monthly in addition to the amount to which they are entitled by the percentage of their disability.

Free Hospitalization.

All veterans, regardless of disability, are entitled to free veterans administration hospitalization for the remainder of their lives, a $100 burial allowance and a flag to drape their caskets.

Servicewomen of this war and army and navy nurses also may claim these rights.

The veterans administration estimates there will be approximately 15,000,000 United States veterans at the close of this war. This includes 2,000,000 veterans of World War I and the Spanish-American war.

With the present 70,000 a month discharges from the armed forces, it is predicted there will be 2,000,-000 veterans from this war alone by midsummer, 1944.

The war department recently announced that as of September 30, 1943, fewer than 10,000 men have been discharged because of battle persons have suffered vocational handicaps during service in this Under the administration's vocational rehabilitation program these veterans may receive training for new jobs. More than 31,000 veterans of the present conflict have been given ei-

Lights of New York by L. L. STEVENSON

Pals: Robert Brogan and his pal Charlie reached New York recently. Brogan is a second assistant engineer in the merchant marine. Charlie is a talking snowbird he picked up in Murmansk. Charlie and Brogan think a lot of one another. Together they have shared no little adventure. In the first place, on the return to this country from Murmansk, their ship was torpedoed. As a result, Charlie, Brogan and 11 other men spent 16 days in a life boat. Before they were rescued and brought into Halifax by an English corvette, the Arctic winds had caused the death of eight men. Brogan spent three weeks in a Halifax hospital. Charlie, being used to cold weather, went to the hospital merely to keep Brogan company. On his recovery, Brogan came on to New York bringing Charlie with him of course. Two weeks later, Charlie and Brogan were again aboard ship. The destination of the bird and the man was South America. A torpedo caused an interruption. This time, however, they spent only two days in a life boat before being picked up in the Caribbean by the U. S. coast guard. After an uneventful voyage to Chile and return, Charlie and Brogan sailed for Africa where they were under fire for seven days. From there they went to Sicily and then back again to New York. Charlie has been taught to speak English by Brogan but he doesn't talk about his experiences. Brogan doesn't talk about them much either. He's a full blooded Seminole Indian, 46 years old, and was educated in Brooklyn public schools, Washington and Georgetown universities. He enlisted in the navy in 1916 and saw active service in the first World war. His 16-year-old son is preparing to enter Annapolis.

Pig Tale: Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, lives at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, where, due to the war, it seems, garbage collections were discontinued in outlying districts. Naturally, that was a source of great annoyance and inconvenience to residents. One of Mr. Cooper's neighbors, a woman summer resident, solved the problem very neatly, however, by purchasing a pig for which she paid $5. Not only did the little porker take care of the garbage but thrived on it to such an extent that when the woman was ready to close her house for the winter, it had grown into a sizeable hog which she decided to sell to a farmer. A prospective purchaser came along and inquired how much she wanted for the animal. The woman explained she had paid $5 for the pig in the spring but having had the use of it all summer, she thought $2.50 was a fair price. Needless to say, the farmer closed the deal immediately.

Pioneer Days: When Sergt. Richard N. Jenkins, now an aerial gunner, whom we have known so long we look on him as a member of our family, was in New York on furlough recently, he described some of the ancient equipment used to transport troops west of Chicago and we listened in amazement. Now he writes from Wendover Field, Utah: 'Do you remember what I told you about old, gas-illuminated coaches I rode in while traveling East? Well, there's a friend of mine who had almost the same experience except that in his coach there was a sign which read, 'Passengers will not shoot buffalo from the open windows.' This chap swears it is the absolute truth." . . .

French Traitors Fear 'Butterfly'

LONDON .- French collaborationists find a queer sort of butterfly on their door posts these days-a charming swastika that proclaims the traitor to his fellows. It is just one of the ways the underground movement has of attacking French betrayers.

Another is the professional crime bureau set up by lawyers, doctors and newspaper men to hunt down those who violate French patriotism. The traitor gets a form letter which lists his offenses and promises retribution. In some instances that spells

Here is the log of Operation No. 1 as the French delegation here got the story. The job was to destroy transformers and pylons of the Chalons-sur-Saone main power station, especially the piers carrying high tension cables across the Saone river. The attack began at 6 p. m. An unidentified saboteur relates:

"We crossed the Saone less than a mile from the power station. Hiding in bushes, we prepared our material, explosives, detonators and so on. At 9 p. m., a long, difficult approach through corn fields began. We reached the main pylon of the Berne line, laid some explosives there and went on, crawling from one pylon to another.

"The drone of the power station dies down, searchlights flare up everywhere, the oil of the transformers burns, throwing flames to a terrific height. We are by now well over a mile from the power station and it looks like daylight. I count as many as 28 explosions until 3:15.

To Save His Marriage CHICAGO.-Pvt. Bruce Godar, 20, of La Grange, Ill., appealed from New Guinea for Judge Robert J. Dunne to save his marriage. His bride, Muriel, 16, admitted that she and her husband gave fictitious ages to obtain a license and were married at Fort Sill, Okla., three days before he was sent overseas.

"I cannot defend myself while here," Godar said in a cablegram. "Pray do all you can to save my marriage. It seems impossible that any civilian would deliberately destroy the only thing that keeps me going."

The annulment was demanded by the girl's father, Paul E. Vial of La Grange, despite his daughter's plea that "we love each other and want to stay married." The court denied a motion to delay action until the soldier returns from duty.

"Whatever sentiments I may have I'll have to depend on the law," the judge said.

Tin Can Drive

By FRANK BENNETT McClure Syndica'e-WNU Features.

THINGS at the jail is in a mess. There ain't no place to set, no place to stand, no place to do nothing. There ain't even room to lock up a prisoner if we had one. And Dirge, who is the sheriff of Bass county and my boss, looks at me with loathing and says: "Hod," says he, "the next time you have a brain storm, I hope you choke!" It happened like this:

The other day, me and Dirge was setting in the office, him taking a nap and me wishing it was warm enough to go fishing, when all at once he opened his eyes and says: "Hod," says he, "since all the young fellers has gone to war and the older men are too busy planting victory gardens to get into trouble, we ain't been doing much business. People is liable to forget about us." "Yes," says I, "and there is another election not far off. "Exactly. Hod, as my deputy, I appoint you a committee of one to think up something that will get us in the public eye.

"Dirge," says I, "I have already been thinking. I have seen in the papers where other towns is gathering up tin cans for victory. It is time Rosebloom did likewise."

"Hod," Dirge says, a smile wrinkling up his fat face, "you have hit the nail on the head. We will sponsor a Rosebloom Tin Can for Victory drive. I will be chairman and you will be my assistant. Hand me the phone. We will get the ball rolling right away.

On Sunday Dirge drove up in front of my house and honked. "Hod," he "hurry! We borrowed Joe ing cattle at six." So I run back to the house for my hat. And what should I do but step through a broken board in the porch what I hadn't time to fix, and turn my ankle. "Dirge," says I, limping back, "I cannot hardly walk. Maybe you had better get another assistant."

"Ain't time to find anybody else," he says. "I guess I will have to load the cans while you drive." five o'clock, the truck was full.

"Well, Hod," Dirge says after he had tossed up the last box, "with you crippled, it has been a lot of work for me, but we have really done something for Uncle Sam. am mighty proud of us. Now, Hod, what do we do with these? Joe will be along pretty soon."

"Why," says I, "you know, Dirge,
I never once thought of finding a place to park them cans."
"What!" Dirge says. "Didn't I say you was to take care of the details?

"Yes," says I, "but that is one I overlooked." "Well," he says, "no matter. We can drive down to the city hall and dump them there in the vacant lot.' So we went to the city hall and started to dump the cans, when along came Mayor Osgood. "Gentlemen," he says, "I cannot permit you to leave that junk on these grounds. We are expecting the district representative tomorrow. would look something awful with all them cans there."

So Dirge put them back on the truck. "We will take them behind the jail, Hod," he says.

When we got there who should be waiting but Deacon Stout, a commissioner. "Hey," he says, "we cannot have the courthquse lawn cluttered up this way. I am surprised at you."

Just then Joe Lutz hove in sight. "Well, boys," he says, "I have got to start for the cattle. Get them tin cans off."

"We ain't got no place to unload." I says. "Look," Joe answers, "gathering but I need my truck. You two gents think fast what you are going to do. I will give you exactly two minutes." Now, Joe is a big man with a very determined disposit on

"'Hod," Dirge says, getting pale, "there is only one spot left." He turns to Joe. "Back the truck up to the front door of the prison. We will put the cans inside until my assistant can think of somewhere else." So, as I said before, the jail is a mess. No place to set, no place to stand, no place to do nothing. And Dirge is mad at me on account of he had to do all the work.

A Good $10 Bill

In these days when money is talked about in astronomical figures, a $10 bill still looks pretty good to most of us. It means something at once in terms of food or clothing or other things we want to buy. But billions are beyond most people; just something super-big that the government deals in.

Did you ever wonder how much larger a billion dollars is than a million? It takes just as many millions to make a billion as it does pennies to make a $10 bill. Or figure it this way:

When our government debt becomes 358 billion dollars, as Senator Byrd says it will, we can divide the amount by America's 135 million population and find that the debt exceeds $2,500 for every person living in the United States; $10,000 per family of four. Then we begin to see what this war means in money; why we should work to finish it.

Not Impossible But, big as this debt will be, we can pay it if we can keep business and industry going full blast in peacetime as well as in war time. And this leads us into post-war plan-

If war does not last too long, there will be a short time, right after it closes when we Americans will have more money saved from full employment than there will be things to buy. But this will only make for a post-war boom; an inflation to be followed by depression unless we get ready now to keep factories going and payrolls alive.

But keeping factories running and the country prosperous calls for a lot of things. First of all, the government should do its part. Government has to give private business its chance.

No Simple Recipe a combination of many things. Some can be controlled, which is good. For instance, the quick change-back of industrial machinery to civilian use, so it can serve as a part of our free economy—that's an aim we will all approve, I am sure. means jobs. It means income for workers, goods to buy and markets other arrangements for what farmers grow.

How fast this change-back can be made, and how well, depends almost wholly on the government, on the policy it adopts in terminating war contracts, what it does with government-owned tools and equipment now covering many acres of factory floor-space; how it gets rid of huge stock-piles of war materials, and how it uses the billions of dollars worth of government-owned factory buildings.

There is a common-sense way to solve all these problems and still not gum-up the workings of open competition. After the war the government should not (1) hold back money due on war contracts until the last rivet is checked, (2) leave government-owned tools, and equipment in the plants to hinder immediate reconversion, (3) glut markets with cast-off goods nor start "projects" to plague legitimate business.

Freedom From Fear Simple and vital as all these matters sound, they still can get bogged down in the marshes of bureaucracy. There should be a fixed policy prevent it. Only Congress can make certain that the first necessary steps are taken to give America victory in peace as in war.

Will American workers be jobless when peace comes? Must American farmers expect their selling to cease when firing ceases? Neither is necessary. I think Congress ought to take action now, before a crisis arises, so that an unmistakable policy may exist to be enforced. . . Most of us will be glad when we don't have to hear so much about billions but I, for one, hope to remain on hand-shaking terms with an occasional $10 bill. If the right things are done now, we all may.

Army Dog Has Definite Ideas About Feminine Branch

CAMP ABBOT, ORE .- "Smoky," an army dog of rather obscure parentage, has definite ideas about the feminine branch of the service. Presented to the camp's WAC contingent by members of an advance party of the Timber Wolf division engaged in maneuvers, "Smoky" promptly deserted to join up with an engineer training battalion quartered in a nearby area. Each morning a disdainful "Smoky" stations himself at a barracks entrance to review the WACs as they pass en route to duty.

GOING FISHING

Dwight Moody once said, "Let God have your life; he can do more with it than you can." Does that mean that we don't know how to live. Not exactly that. But it does mean that if we work through the will of God our lives can be made more

Here's what I mean! One day I got, up from my bed bright and early, looked out of the window, and saw that it was a glorious day. One of those days when the sun rises a great big fiery ball and sends its rays over the eastern hills to warm these crinkly joints of mine. Right then and there I determined to play hooky from God. Now you may say that that can't be done. But I know better. That's just what I did.

Across one of those eastern hills from behind which the sun was sending its warm rays lived a good neighbor. He had been sick for some time. Couldn't harvest his crops. His friends came in and did a few chores but on the whole his crops remained in the fields

I knew that if I obeyed my- con science, or that "wee small voice" we sometimes call God, I would hike over to that neighbor and help him husk his corn. That would be giving my life to God. But did I do that? No sir! I decided to go fishing!

I don't know of anything I'd rather do than go fishing. I like to fish for any kind of fish. I get a big kick out of wading along a shallow stream and cast for the fighting trout. But I get the most fun out of sitting on a nice green bank with a lazy line dangling into a smooth deep hole below an overhanging willow. It does-n't matter much whether the hook is baited or not. Just so I can sit there and scheme and dream.

It was a vision of just such a day that persuaded me to play hooky. But things didn't go well with me from the start. I quickly dressed in my fishing togs, didn't bother to shave and came down to breakfast. I kiss-Sound post-war prosperity does and came down to breaklast. I have not depend on any one thing, but on announced my intentions to go for a mess of fish. That "mess of fish" of these are easy to understand and is sort of an excuse I have. I had no more made my auspicious announcement when the phone rang. It was a call for me. Taking up the receiver a voice came through saying that I was invited to join a party to husk my neighbors corn. But I was not to be daunted. I quickly answered that I was sorry but that I had > Gulping down my breakfast rushed for the car and drove away at top speed before another phone call would invite me to other tasks. I arrived at my favorite hole and began to fish, but it was no good. I couldn't get my mind to dreaming and scheming like I usually do. kept thinking of that good neighbor and his corn. All day long I kept skipping stones over the water or find myself pacing up and down the bank Finally I packed up and went home.

Moral: I didn't get any fish that day!

Absent-Minded Traffic

Violator Pays for Walk MERIDIAN, MISS .- J. T. Simms, a garage employee, said he absent-mindedly walked through a red light on Main street the other day and when we reached the other side a man accested him roughly and told him to "come along to the police station."

"You've violated the law," the man informed Simms, who meekly agreed

As Simms and the stranger approached the jail, the stranger stopped abruptly and said Simms could pay a $5.50 fine and have the matter dropped. Simms paid it, thinking he was in the hands of a plainclothes policeman.

Later, he checked at the police station, and found that there was no such officer.

The judge in court had a nervous moment when, after hauling forth four bottles of brandy from the box, "Gentlo" pulled out a sweet pea talcum powder box—filled with dynamite powder and complete with

JESUS BETRAYED, DENIED AND CONDEMNED

LESSON TEXT: Mark 14:10, 11, 53, 54, 6-72; 15:12-15. GOLDEN TEXT: He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief.—Isaiah 53:3.

The time had come! Jesus was about to be condemned and crucified; and though sinful men thought thus to rid themselves of the One who had pierced their hypocrisy and unveiled their unrighteousness, His death was, in the providence of God, the giving of Himself for our sins.

What He endured as He went to the cross is enough to break one's heart, for here we see the denial, betrayal and compromise of men.

I. Christ Sold for Money (14:10, 11).

When one sees the awful things which have been done and are be ing done for money in this world, it becomes clear why the Bible repeatedly calls it "filthy lucre."

"Money! How many awful things have been done for money. How many dishonest officials have secured high places in government by money! How many people have lost their lifesavings because some shrewd, crooked broker schemed to take their money away, because he wanted it. How many millions of people have been kept in poverty because men cared more to increase their wealth than they did to relieve the distress of those who worked for them . . . Money is what keeps the dance halls going; a lust for money is what keeps our breweries and dis-tilleries open; it is money that makes men want to produce lascivious plays and motion pictures" (W. M. Smith).

Fundamentally, it was the love of money that made Judas betray his Lord. "What will ye give me?" was his question (Matt. 26:15).

But money is not the only price with which men may be paid. find next-

II. Christ Deserted for Comfort (14:53, 54).

Peter would not have risen to the suggestion that he sell his Lord for money, so Satan was too smart to stir his loyalty by such a suggestion. He used another method with Peter.

Things had become very difficult for our Lord. He was led away to be falsely accused and subjected to persecution. It was no longer comfortable to be at His side, as it had been when He fed the multitude and healed the sick, and silenced His enemies.

This was cold unpleasant business. Why should Peter get mixed up in it? After all he could just as well keep a safe distance, and besides it was warm at the fire. Oh, yes, the enemies of the Lord had kindled it and stood around it, but that didn't need to make Peter an enemy of His-or did it?

How many Christians who would meet with hasty and courageous denial the suggestion that they sell their Lord, have betrayed Him by warming themselves at the fires of this world.

III. Christ Denied for Fear (14: 66-72)

Peter, the staunch defender of our Lord, who had assured Him that no matter how cowardly the others might be, he would stand fast (Mark 14:29), now quails before a servant maid. He curses and swears to try to strengthen his words of denial. What had happened to Peter? He had become so at home by the fire of the enemies of his Master that he was afraid to confess his relationship to Him. He had followed so far off that He had lost touch with the Lord, and was again like the Peter who on another day looked away from the Master's face and feared the boisterous waves (Matt.

Peter was afraid, and he denied his Lord. How many there are who are like him. They tremble before an unbelieving world, and fearing the scoffing of poor, weak, sinful men, they deny their Lord.

It is time that Christian people took courage and stood up for the Lord in all times and circum-

IV. Christ Condemned for Convenience (15:12-15). Pilate found no fault in Christ. He had no desire to condemn Him. He wanted to set Him free. But it proved to be politically inexpedient. To stand by his convictions concerning this innocent person would have greatly inconvenienced him in many ways. So "wishing to content the multitude" he delivered Jesus to be scourged and crucified.

Men and women today are willing to condemn Christ anew because to submit to Him and bear His name would require of them a sacrificial living which they are not willing to give. So they pass Him by, and go on to a Christless eternity.

It costs something to follow Jesus to stand true to Him in a rejecting world. One wonders at times wheth er this is not one reason why God does not send a revival to the Church. We are probably not willing to bear the inconvenience. It would upset our regular order of life.

Brazil Fosters Poultry Improvement Program

The Brazilian-American Food Commission is fostering the development of the poultry industry in northern Brazil to meet war-expanded demand in that area for meat and eggs by armed forces and workers on strategic projects. The poultry program supplements increased production of fruits and vegetables to reduce the dependence of the area upon imported food-

Nineteen poultry units have been established in five northern states of Brazil. Others are being added. These units soon will have more than 50,000 birds, according to reports received by the Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Af-

Poultry specialists from the United States are working with Brazilians in the chicken-raising projects as part of a cooperative arrangement between Brazil and the United States for expansion of food output in the strategic northern areas. New poultry units are being stocked with improved strains from breeding stocks established from breeds largely imported from the United States and adapted to Brazilian conditions. Stock from these new units will be available for distribution to poultry raisers who wish to improve the quality of their

Domestic Rabbits Spend

Entire Life in Hutches

The domestic rabbit spends its entire life cycle in an individual compartment called a hutch. Outdoor hutches must have solid backs and sides, and a good roof as protection against rain, storm and snow. Indoor hutches, as in the garage, barn, or outbuilding, may have wiremesh floors of five-eighths inch mesh hardware cloth, allowing the droppings to fall to the floor. This type is usually preferred by progressive rabbitmen, since they are self-cleaning, cooler in summer, and a great aid to disease preven-

The floor space in hutches for breeding does should be 10 to 12 square feet-4 feet long and 24 to 30 inches deep. Hutch compartments for each doe range in height from 18 to 24 inches. Outdoor hutches usually have solid floors. In such case, straw or peat moss bedding is used, and each compartment must be cleaned at least twice weekly. If scrap lumber is used when possible, the cost of hutches should not exceed $5.00 for each breeding doe, and are easily built by any saw and hammer car-

Straw and Stubble The burning of straw and stubble actually robs the soil of needed and necessary stability and fertility. The practice gives the land an ideal send-off for a winter of washing and gullying because the stubble is too heavy to be readily incorporated into the soil, or the real value of it as a soil binder and fertilizer is not appreciated.

You may have learned by experience that in plowing under large amounts of straw, particularly in areas where rainfall is low, that the ground is apt to dry out and a reduction in vield results.

Someone may try to tell you that just as much fertility is returned through the ashes as through the unburned stubble. There is a difference though—because one ton of ordinary straw contains about 10 pounds of nitrogen, 21/2 pounds of phosphoric acid and nearly 15 pounds of potash. In addition to this, about 1,950 pounds of actual organic material is contained in each ton. Now, if you burn the straw, you destroy all of the nitrogen and all of the organic material. This just goes up in smoke and is lost. The 21/2 pounds of phosphoric acid and 15 pounds of potash will remain in the ashes and are returned to the soil.

Rabbit Foods

Hit and miss feeding methods won't do in rabbitkeeping. It can be said generally that good quality hays — alfalfa, clover, soybean, sweet clover, and timothy—are the roughages needed, and must be supplemented more or less with grain foods-rolled barley, rolled oats, and even wheat and the grain sorghums. Cracked corn is relished. Feeding expensive grain foods and highpriced hay in wartime is not altogether practical, however.

The facts are that backyard rabbitkeepers have a very wide range in good feeding practice if care is taken to supplement the hay and grain rations with many items of table scraps, garden wastage, garden crops and roadside weeds, which are entirely acceptable as rabbit foods provided they are sweet, clean and palatable.

Use Crumbs

Make the most of every crumb and crust. Dress up your stale bread by using it in escalloped dishes, in puddings, or as French toast. For example, serve French toast just as you might serve waffles and top with a syrup or fruit sauce.

Or, serve French toast for a main dish with creamed meat or vegetables. Remember, too, that dry bread cubes can be used in escalloped dishes and dressings, but will require a little added moisture. Such cubes also brown nicely for croutons.

Shore Signals To Japs Cited

Raids on West Coast Aided By Secret Radio Calls Gen. DeWitt Reports.

WASHINGTON. - Japanese attacks on the West coast during the early stages of the war were aided by signalling from the shore, says Lieut. Gen. John L. DeWitt, who as commanding general of the western defense command supervised the removal of the Japanese from that area in 1942.

In his final report on the transmigration, De Witt adds that it brought virtual elimination of the signals and a reduction in the number of submarine attacks on ships sailing from West coast ports.

The 600-page report noted difficulties of authority in connection with the signals.

Signalling was observed from buildings that could not be entered without a search warrant and radio messages were intercepted and their source determined within an area of a city block, but the justice department, the report said, was unwilling to make "mass raids" and, at the time, the army still lacked authority.

Every Ship Attacked. For several weeks after the attack on Pearl Harbor, it said, every ship leaving West coast ports was attacked by enemy submarines. The submarines also apparently were apprised of the range of coastal de-

At that time it was the only section of the Pacific coast which could have been approached by enemy aircraft without interception by aircraft warning devices.

"Similarly, a precise knowledge of the range of coast defense guns at Astoria, Ore., was in the possession of the enemy. A hostile submarine surfaced and shelled shore batteries from the only position at which a surfaced submarine could have approached the coast line close enough to shell a part of its coast defenses without being within range of the coastal batteries."

West coast flanked strategic installations, while there were no Japanese in near-by, available farming sections. "It was difficult to explain the situation . . . by coincidence alone," said the report.

Shifts in Army Free 28,000 Men for Combat

WASHINGTON.-More than 28,000 officers and men of the army have been released for combat duty through reassignment of duties of military and civilian personnel serving as guards, firemen, etc.

Most of the manpower savings were made by the army air forces. Through December 31 the AAF released 18,000 men for duties nearer the front lines. Army service forces accounted for the remainder.
