FIRE AT MT. ST. MARY'S

Loss to College Estimated at $100,000.00

A fire at Mt. St. Mary's, near Emmitsburg, late Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning destroyed a 60x100 ft kitchen, one dining room, and damaged living quarters, causing a loss estimated at $100,000.

Chefs who reported for work in the morning took over the mobile kitchen units, and the V-12 youths were fed in the second dining room. The students by eating in shifts were all being taken care of.

PRESIDENT PLEASED

Dewey Sent Message of Meeting Held in the Inter-Congratulation Early

Although not more than half the votes were counted in the early hours of Wednesday morning, it was evident that Roosevelt had won in the race. Even at the time this was written the count was not completed, some states may yet swing from one column to the other, but there are Tydings was re-elected from Maryland, and Congressman H. Street Baldwin from this district.

Though there may be a large difference between the number of clectoral votes for the two candidates, yet the election was close. By noon Wednesday, with probably 75 per cent of the work with the probably 75 per cent of the points of the spinish of of the votes tallied, Roosevelt had apsented their registrat down when the total vote is complet-Up to this morning (Thursday) the returns give Roosevelt 35 states with 413 electoral votes and Dewey 13 states with 118 electoral votes.

The large cities where labor unions are strong piled up the totals for Roosevelt, and even though Dewey had remarkable majorities in many other places, they could not overcome the Roosevelt lead in the large centers, and in the solid south.

The vote in the two precincts at Taneytown was remarkable. Dewey had 802; while Roosevelt had only 211. That was nearly 4 to 1 for Dewey. About 73 percent of the registered voters cast their ballots in this district, The local leaders for both parties were active in getting out the vote. Dewey carried Carroll County by more than 2 to 1. He carried Frederick and Adams county Pennsylvania by a large majority.

NOVEMBER TIRE QUOTA INCREASED

The November quota of new automobile tires allocated by the War Production Board will be 1,850,000 or 250,000 more than in October, it is announced by the Office of Price Administration and War Production Board. As near as we can tell, this quota should satisfy normal November re-placement needs of eligible "B" and "C" ration holders," Max McCullough, deputy OPA rationing administrator said. He pointed out that the ration quota this month makes it "clear that recapping will still be necessary for most motorists if they are to keep their cars in operation." Unfilled "B" and "C" tire applications, needed increases in dealer inventories and a higher production rate are required before "A" ration holders can expect --- so much more application, industry and address than the public do theirs that general interest most commonly gives way to particular. We assemble parliaments and councils to have the benefit of their collected wisdom, but we necessarily have, at the same time, the inconvenience of their collected passions, prejudices, and private interests. By the help of these, artful men overpower their wisdom and dupe its possessors; and if we may judge by the acts, arrets, and edicts, all the world over, for regulating commerce, an assembly of great men is the greatest fool upon earth."

With this comment by Franklin in mind, one begins to wonder just what will take place in the field of international commerce after the war. There is to be an enormous field, and likewise, an enormous struggle for the control of that field, unless we miss our guess. Already Britain has been complaining that Americans have been trying to promote their financial and trade interests in France, and likewise Britain has been revealed as already manufacturing cars for post-war use. All we can do is to sit on the sideline and await developments as time goes on .- County Record, Towson.

A "SELL-BELOW-COST" DIRECTIVE

Both organized labor and business were disturbed some months ago by the issuance of the Vinson Directive, which ordered OPA not to grant any manufacturer price relief that would leave him a profit of more than two | money. per cent before taxes. It was widely feared that this Directive would discourage the manufacture of many civilian goods to such an extent as to hold back reconversion, withhold needed products from consumers, and

When the Vinson Directive raised a storm of protest, OPA relented-in a most surprising and unexpected ually cost 21 cents for each $1.00 borway. It eliminated the two percent rowed. Thus it will cost $1.21 to put profit previously announced, and provided that at best a manufacturer may recover his costs when price ceilings are revised because of increased cests. Even this so-called "relief" will not be forthcoming unless the entire production of the manufacturer is being conducted at a loss, or unless it can be shown that it will be conducted at a loss within 90 days. And if the price now being charged by a manufacturer is no lower than product, no relief whatever will be

Undoubtedly the situation points toward a continuation of high wages, but the wild guessers who think that there will be sky-high increases must be mistaken; because they are at the same time preaching against "inflation," and the contrary views of increased cost of living. That means that there must be price declines, not pyramidal rises. All this dovetails questions of lower or higher taxesand that gives an opportunity to express the belief that taxes will be higher after the war than they were during the war.

In short, all these people who are doing tall guessing seem to skip the big idea that our country is already following most of the charts of the Old World where the rich get richer and the poor poorer.-National Industries News Service.

BUILD FOR PERMANENCE

Public construction for the primary purpose of creating local employment is wasteful and defeats its own purpose, according to a report made public today by Harry S. Middendorf, President of the Maryland Public Expenditure Council. The report distinguishes between needed local public construction which should be started as soon as the war is over, but declares that public construction merely to make local jobs is 66% wasted

The study is based on Federal figures which show that approximately only 1/3 of the cost of construction goes to labor at the site. The balance goes elsewhere.

Even less than 1/3 goes to local labor if the money to pay for the construction is borrowed. A 20 year serial bond at 2% interest will event-33 1/3 cents in the pay envelope. And if the Federal Government grants 50% of the construction costs, the proportion that Maryland labor gets is even less. With Federal aid on a 50-50 basis and construction financed by a 20 year 2% serial bond, it will cost the communities of Maryland about $1.46 to creates 33 1/3 cent worth of local labor.

6th WAR LOAN QUOTAS SET

County Chairmen Announced

Frank W. Wrightson, Chairman of the Maryland War Finance Committee,, announced Sixth War Loan quotas for State and Counties this week. The Campaign which officially opens on November 20 and continues through December 16, will seek to meet a $210,000,000 goal which is $18,-000,000 less than the Fifth War Loan quota. In commenting on the State quota, Mr. Wrightson said that we cannot afford to "kid" ourselves on this most important of all campaigns. Not only must we buy extra Bonds for ourselves, but it is our personal duty to convince and sell extra Bonds to the other fellow," he said. "Bulletins from the battlefronts tell of victory after victory, but ultimate victory is still a long way off. We are apt to let down in our war efforts, because we believe it's all over but the shouting! When Germany is finally out of the picture we still have another and much more costly war to finish with the Japs!"

Increased County Participation Mr. Wrightson also stressed the point that in this Drive, Maryland expects a finer and more strenuous participation than ever from the counties. "They have always done a good job, but we believe the agricultural participation this time will be in a position to break all their previous records." An executive meeting of the Agricultural Division was held at the War Finance Committee offices under the direction of R. H. Dixon, Jr., Deputy Manager. The Farm Executive committee includes Paul Nystrom of the University of Maryland Extension Service; Roy Brooks, Master of the State Grange; R. F. C. Weagley, President of the Maryland Farm Bureau; C. E. Wise, Jr., Secretary of the Maryland Farm Bureau; P. D. Brown, County Agent for Charles County and Edwin Englar, Secretary of the Car-

HOME AND FAMILY THE SECURITY AND ELEVATION OF THE FAMILY AND OF FAMILY LIFE ARE THE PRIME OBJECTS OF CIVILIZATION AND THE ULTIMATE ENDS OF ALL INDUSTRY AND TRADE." - CHARLES W. ELIOT

EVER SINCE THE FIRST SETTLERS BUILT THEIR CABINS, STORED THEIR FOOD AND FUEL, IT'S BEEN TYPICAL OF THE NEW WORLD TO REGARD THE SECURITY AND ELEVATION OF THE FAMILY AS PRIME OBJECTS.

THAT'S ONE BIG REASON WHY OUR DEMOCRACY IS WHAT IT IS TODAY - WHY SO MANY OF US OWN OUR HOMES, HAVE MONEY PUT ASIDE IN WAR BONDS AND SAVINGS ACCOUNTS, FAMILY SECURITY IN LIFE INSURANCE - WHY OUR COUNTRY IS THE FINEST IN THE WORLD. -HEART OF OUR CIVILIZATION.

HERE COME THE RESERVES!

CHOCK TROOPS may capture vital beach heads. But then must come the reserves ... to hold them!

In the same way the profitable farm must have financial reserves behind it to be safe. No owner or tenant can operate satisfactorily when one crop failure, one crisis of sickness, accident or weather, can push him over the edge of disaster.

For you, as for countless farsighted farmers and ranchers all over the country, War Bonds are an investment in farm security as well as an obligation to your country.

While they are helping to equip our Armed Forces, your Bonds are also building up a backlog of strength for you against emergencies Just when you'll be needing money most for vital postwar replacements, every three dollars you've invested will come back to you at maturity increased to four... to help pay the bills!

So put every War Bond you can behind the war—and your farm!

For America's Future, for your Future, for your children's Future

5 REASONS FOR INCREASING YOUR WAR BOND PURCHASES

1. The tempo of this war is hitting its highest point. Government expenditures for war are at the peak, MORE MONEY IS NEEDED . . .

2. In proportion to WHO HAS THE MOST MONEY, individuals are not buying their share of War Bonds. America must correct this

3. War Bonds provide the farmer and rancher with the financial reserve he must have to survive the ordinary ups and downs of farm-

THE FARMER

The farmer works from dawn till dark Nor ever knows what rest may be. He heeds the call for food to feed The starving world with all its need. His broad acres produce the wheat That gives the world its daily bread Nor will he e'er less zealous be Until he knows the world is fed.

He does not like grim war's foul touch That sends to bottom of the sea The food that has cost him so much Of toil and sweat and energy; Yet he toils an and bears the hope Within the confines of his heart That he and those who like him, blest Will never from freedom's depart.

He welcomes the bright sunshine hour And likewise the grim thunder shower He knows that God rules over all And humbly at His feet does fall, And raises loud his voice in prayer Thankful for blessings everywhere. He knows blessings come from above Because he knows that "God is Love".

They lived in deeds they wrought and work most nobly done Time will not efface nor blot out what They did not traffic in the blood of men

Nor seek to gain renown by trifling They were tall men, gaunt farseeing, kind

And to there fellow men were never blind To any need that might arise before them. Great men they were with vision clear To penetrate the future and to see Their country as it ought to be, and

We stand in awe and look upon the pedestal

That holds their moulded form and wonder at their majesty And their simplicity. They were not arrogant Nor did they strut before their fellow

To show the power that was in them men found. Bold men, brave men, free men, they lived

To make mankind free. They are gone But time cannot efface their memory The deeds that they have done. Their work lives on And will bridge Time, and hold forth to Eternity.

Mortgage Money

National Resources Planning Board, in a booklet by Miles Colean, predicted last January that residential buildings in the United States would approximate a million new dwellings each year for ten years after the war. There was an "if" in the forecast: If the price could be held down to an average of about $4,000. Well, ten million $4,000 units represent 40 billion dollars, which is a lot of money.

The vision of a million people planking down $4,000 each for a house in a single year is a pipedream. People able to make such cash outlays have houses already. These new houses will be sold on credit. Buyers will sign instalment notes. Debts will be protected by mortgages in the hands of life insurance companies, loan associations and certain kinds of banks. Uncle Sam may insure the mort-

Unfit to Repeat There is an old bromide about history repeating itself but some history is not good enough to repeat. We told last week why 9.4% of government-insured mortgages defaulted and cost the national treasury more than $600 apiece. If that should be repeated on ten million homes to start building soon after the war, government's loss alone would shoot well above half a billion, and that's the small part. Suppose only 9% of ten million new, post-war homes are lost by foreclosure; that would be 900,000 homes. Hopeful owners usually pay 20% down, which is $800 on a $4,000 house. Few buyers, living in such a house a year, could escape a loss of $1,000 at least. This profitless ald total payment for vain hopes 900 million dollars. Worst of all, it would come from frugal, industrious, home-making people.

Need Not Happen The foregoing simple arithmetic would seem pretty gloomy if it absolutely had to happen, but it does not. It offers an idea of how much tax money will be wasted if pre-war methods are used in financing postwar houses. The danger is real. All the controls affecting the quality of building today existed during the boom that followed World War One. Sorry houses may still be built and sold on payments. Instalment home-buying is practical economy. Discounting notes is sound banking. Government insurance of loans has been a blessing; saved many a family from calamity and many a lender from ruin. But shoddy construction blights all this. It makes neither good homes nor good security for a bank loan. Lending is the cue. Mortgage money is the key to better building

Houses Warrantable Buildings under construction need competent and impartial supervision and rating, somewhat as steamships are rated, or as a business firm's credit is rated. This is to protect lender and borrower both against mortgages far out of line with a building's actual worth. Such an agency exists, Certified Building Registry, relatively little used, but known to leading associations of architects, engineers and general contractors.

Few money lenders are qualified to judge structural fitness. Many a home buyer never sees his house until its inner defects are hidden by decorative enticements. Yet buyer and banker both deserve the protection of a rating that means (1) a home worth its price in a working man's money, and (2) security for the bank that holds the paper.

Protects the Buyer In the interest of public safety local governments require periodic inspection of passenger elevators and pressure boilers. Stock selling schemes must stand rigid inspection by state authority. It would seem even more important that ready made residences carry a seal of merit. In the welter of a buying boom it would distinguish a speculative builder to sell impartially rated

Even Nips Amused With Jam Session

Band Plays 75 Yards From Enemy Lines.

WITH THE AMERICAN DIVISION AT BOUGAINVILLE.—First Lieut. Harry A. Tyl of Philadelphia is having chaplain trouble, and the paradox is that Lieutenant Tyl himself studied for two years in a seminary.

An ex-platoon leader in a veteran infantry outfit which has distinguished itself against the Japanese many times, Tyl has taken over a regimental special service since the fighting died down. He immediately set to work devising gags, giggles and groans for his jungle shows-and came to grief when some of the chaplains protested against Tyl's double entendre brainchildren.

One song, for instance, which was going over big with G. I. audiences until a chaplain got Tyl aside and registered a protest, was entitled: "Go Into the Roundhouse Nellie; They Can't Corner You There!"

Tyl since has resigned himself to censorship. His jamdance band, "The Front-Liners," is considered one of the hottest bands in the South Pacific. Its personnel is loaded down with talent, including veterans from bands like Artie Shaw's.

At one stage during the Bougain-ville fighting, Tyl's Front-Liners gave a jam session approximately 75 yards from a Japanese outpost. No shots were exchanged for, as Tyl explains it, "the Nips were getting as much kick out of it as we were.' Next day, patrols from his outfitwere killing all the enemy they could Tyl is probably one of the best-known men in the state of North Dakota. On his own initiative and time, he has written some two dozen news stories in the form of a "Dear Folks" letter, after some of the North Dakota infantrymen came to him and said how much their folks would like to hear from an officer.

Public Will Get Army's

New Serum for Measles CHICAGO .- A new medicine to prevent measles, a discovery used so far only by the armed forces, is going to be made available to the people of the United States at cost, the American Red Cross announced

The preventive is called immune serum globulin and is obtained from the blood contributed by citizens through the Red Cross.

Recent studies disclosed that the serum contains all the blood's antibodies, the substances that provide immunity after one has had a particular disease. So far immune serum globulin has been used only for measles. Five pharmaceutic manufacturers process the material and have agreed—since the blood is donated by the people—to make the product available through health departments at actual cost.

Skipper Saves Warship

FARRAGUT, IDAHO. - Thomas W. Russell, boatswain's mate, first class, of Bridgeboro, Ga., told how a skipper of a destroyer saved his blazing ship by giving it a bath in the wake of the U. S. Enterprise. Russell, now a patient at the naval hospital here, was a gun captain on the Enterprise. The destroyer, he said, caught fire when attacked by Japanese planes. Its skipper swung into the wake of the Enterprise and maneuvered the ship so it rocked heavily, dipping its sides and decks into the sea on one side, then the other. The fire sizzled out and the destroyer moved back into formation. 'A cheer went up aboard the Enterprise," said Russell. "If the skipper of that destroyer had hesitated or had the flames reached the explosives aboard her, she would have been blown out of the sea."

OPA Ceiling Backfires For OPA Office Itself

KANSAS CITY, MO. - OPA reports that the heat has been put on its local office. Funds for six electric fans were approved by OPA and Charles Morphew, panel secretary, set out to buy them. He came back hot-and empty-handed. He had found the six fans all right, he said, but the dealer wanted when he found out that Morphew was from the OPA, he still wanted more than the ceiling price, saying he had paid more than that for Morphew said a check would be made every few days to make sure the dealer hadn't peddled his fans at higher than ceiling prices. The dealer keeps his fans; the OPA keeps warm.

SOIL CONSERVATION

Carroll County has been made a Soil Conservation District, according to official announcement made by Edw. M. Davis, Secretary to the State Soil Conservation Committee. This has been brought about by the vote of farmers requesting division of the old Monocacy District and combining it with the rest of Carroll County that was not in a District. It is now necessary, according to the County Agent, L. C. Burns, elect three farmer supervisors to act in similar capacity to a board of di-rectors in the operation of this Soil Conservation District. The Carroll County farmers have nominated Solomon Hoke, Bachman's Valley; Randall Spoerlein, New Windsor and Randall Spoerlein, New Windsor and J. Harry Koller, Sykesville, for the position of supervisors. The other supervisors have already been appointed by the State Soil Conservation Committee. They are Phillip Beamer, Westminster and Raymond Buchman, Hampstead. These five supervisors will determine policies to supervisors will determine policies in regard to the operation of the Carroll County Soil Conservation District.

erators have the right to cast three votes. Mail ballots are also being sent out by County Agent Burns to farmers to give them the opportunity to vote by mail instead of coming to the polling station.

Homespun Philosophy By Ezra

I am fond of nature. I like to walk along a cool shady path, through a meadow, or beside a murmuring stream. Last summer I took a walk along the Monocacy River, one of Carroll County's delightful waterways a tributary of the Potomac. I had stopped beneath a shady sycamore and was communing with nature—and talking to myself. Way down stream I saw a man slowly approaching me. He was waist deep in the water. His garb was that of a fisherman. At his side hung a creel. With a casting rod he was laying the lure on the most likely spots where some "mon-ster" of the river might strike. When he came near enough I recognized him to be Bob the Barber.

Just as he came to the pool beneath the sycamore in whose shade I was basking, he cast his line with unerling accuracy along side of a large hly pad. There was a dull thud—then a mighty churn of the waters -the rod bent double--and the fight was on. Carefully he played his gam? Here was the cunning and craftiness of man pitted aganst the intuition and instinct of nature. Bob knew that the prize would be exceptional.

At long last the huge fish was exhausted. Bob reeled him in and layed him on the bank. Pride shown in his grinning face. Neither of us had spoken a word. Bob was too excited to talk, and I was afraid to break the Bob prepared to take the creel from his side so that he could place the fish therein. For a moment the fish was unguarded, and in that moment—it gave a mighty heave and a flip-over. Alas and alack, it disappeared in the blue green waters of the Monocacy.

I expected a torrent of ejaculations from Bob, but not a word. He spat about a pint of tobacco juice at the identical spot where the fish had vanished, took up his rod and prepared to resume his fishing. As I returned to my seat on the grassy bank, I heard Bob mutter under his breath, "No one will ever believe it!"

No, Bob, no one will ever believe you! It is just another fisherman's tale—a tall story. Although I was there to see it all happen, and could vouch for your veracity, nevertheless I am not always present when you feel like relating the story of the "big fish that got away." So I am of no use to you. Tell it anyway. It will at least amuse your customers while they are getting a shave or a hair cut.

The homespun lesson I getout of this story is the fact that Bob did not stop fishing when his prize escaped. He kept right on going. His hope was just as fervent, his ambition just as Dog gone it, he would catch another fish, perhaps, a bigger one. This time it would not get away.

Curb on Power

Authority turns men's heads. Human nature changes very little if at all. Bigots and despots are guided by no rule but expedience. govern for their own advantage, to grab and hold power. I saw it at its worst during eleven years under the war lords of South China. The rule applies to mortals of every race and station. It applied to King Saul, the Lord's Annointed; no less to the modern heathen, Hirohito. We are protected from it in America, not by mere luck.

Framers of the American Constitution laid a foundation solid enough to support a government by the people, a representative government in which the representatives are accountable directly to the people who elect them. They were wise pioneers. They knew human nature as well as theory of government. They knew how soon power runs to tyranny when not held in check.

Pillars of Freedom While the United States retains constitutional government it is keeping all the pillars of human freedom on which our liberty rests. Under our Constitution, you can't make me worship a god I do not trust; you have to convert me. You can't make me buy something I don't want; you have to sell me. You can't make anybody shut-up until you prove that he is lying.

No faultless system was ever devised by the mind of mortal man. Many a falsehood has been proclaimed under the cloak of free speech. Many a crime has been committed in the name of religion. Many a pirate has sailed the open seas of free trade. Nevertheless, for all their abuses, religious liberty, free speech and open competition are still essential parts of human freedom.

Integral Liberties "Why," someone has asked, "do you defend free faith and free speech when only free enterprise is under attack?" Here's why: They are all one. Take from a common man his right to own something and before long he will be ready to kiss a gangster's hand for a loaf of bread to feed his hungry children. Too soon then will people be hiding in caves to pray as they did in the dark ages.

There is a danger. Rulings by appointed bureaus and commissions, having no constitutional stability, may be greatly prejudiced by local interests or personal whims. They may be as dictatorial as any edict from the lips of an African chief or proclamation sealed in perfumed wax with the signet ring of a Sultan. Written laws, made by the representatives of the entire nation, however unwise they might occasionally appear, are on a far more substantial basis.

America's Secret

Several foreign countries have more natural resources than have een found in America. But they are poor countries because they have never been developed. It is not a matter of ignorance. They have intelligent people and shrewd technicians. But many of their best minds come to live in America. Why? Under our Constitution they can use their talents and be well paid for their work.

In America, rulers are actually public servants. Their records are checked regularly by the people who choose them. On election day they are re-engaged or dismissed. Scalawags hold office sometimes but no tyrant has ever ruled us. But mark this: Our freedom is not some mysterious element in American soil. Without representative, constitutional government, anything can happen here. Let us be sure that rule by bureaus ends when the war

'Sigh' Chology

By RUTH MAGUIRE McClure Syndicate-WNU Features.

"HERE must be a kink in my personality somewhere," Judy decided.

"You must be more aggressive," Pat Lanning advised. "Stare people in the eye like a-"

"Lion tamer?" Judy interposed. "Sure, same principle. Now you take this fellow, Glenn Dale, who wrote that book 'Personality Plus'; he's a guy who knows his way about. He says, 'The world reflects your estimation of yourself and treats you accordingly.' In other words, if you act like a mouse you'll be treated

"And what is the fate of a mouse," moaned Judy, "but to be caught in a trap!" Then and there she determined not to be snared by her own personality, not if she had to develop the stare of Cantor and the shoulders of Tommy Harmon. And she would buy a copy of Glenn Dale's masterpiece to boot!

Whenever there was a crowd waiting for a bus, an elevator or a streetcar Judy was always the last to get on-even though she was the first to arrive on the spot. Sometimes the bus or elevator door would be shut right in her face. Often she railed at fate for making her a first-shall-be-last instead of a lastshall-be-first type like Pat Lanning. Pat was a diminutive, barely fivefoot-four genus of mental giant who was going to conquer the world. Crowds melted like snow when he waded through subway traffic or tried to get off a crowded trolley.

Today, Judy resolved, gripping her pocketbook, her commuter's pass and Glenn Dale's best seller tightly in her left arm and giving the only other occupant of the station platform her special interpretation of a lion tamer's stare, I will be first! She stood tense and ready

"Good book?" he asked.

The train hove in sight and stopped with an asthmatic puff opposite Judy as she stood, waiting to spring into action. Then, for no apparent reason, the locomotive shuddered convulsively, sighed and hiccoughed itself several yards down the platform. He seemed to have a forgiving disposition for he stood patiently, hat in hand, while Judy, with another glare entirely out of proportion to the courtesy extended her, stalked away menacingly and entered or appeared to enter the train. She was in that state that most women will recognize instantly and sympathetically. With one foot on the step she had attempted to propel herself into the yawning doorway by a gigantic push with the toe of her left shoe. But that toe had unknowingly jammed itself into a wad of gum parked there, no doubt, by some unpatriotic chewer who had hoarded an unladylike or ungentlemanly mouthful. Her shoe was sucked off, Judy was left dangling by handpower alone, her packages and equilibrium equally upset. For her stockinged foot had somehow found its balance in the overcoat pocket of the would-be passenger behind her. Several minutes later a bewildered Judy realized that she had been hurled into the car, her scattered belongings returned to her and that her shaking hand was clinging to a strap. Her erstwhile rescuer hung on to the strap beside her. "Good book?" he asked. "I'm going to donate it to the first ash can I see," "I didn't care for it either. Good enough psychology but never worked for me. Just let me try to be a bombshell with my personality and blooey-I am trampled on.' "You've read the book, then?" "Yes, and until now," he looked into her eyes until Judy blushed, "I've felt that it was a waste of Judy sighed and relaxed, recognizing in her companion a kindred spirit. He was another first-shallbe-laster! Chameleonlike, Jucy's personality returned to its own sweet sunniness and her companion basked in the warmth of her ready smile. One can hardly stand on ceremony with a man who has had one's foot in his pocket. "Perhaps," he suggested some twenty stations later, we might salvage some good from the purchase price of that volume if we discussed it at dinner?" 'I'd love it," Judy beamed, "Mr.

"Dale," he replied, "Glenn Dale, forever at your service?"

10 P. M. Horses' Currew Set Up in Jersey Town

RIVER EDGE, N. J. - Substitution of horses for motor vehicles, due to rationing, has led to the establishment of a 10 p. m. curfew for horses within the borough and requirement that they be registered as are automobiles.

Mayor Martin J. Ferber said that as far as he knew, the new ordinance, subjecting horses to all municipal traffic regulations, was without precedent in the state.

The ordinance stated that the curfew, which ends at 7 a. m. on weekdays and 9 a. m. on Sundays, was "necessary to enable local police authorities to cope with the problem created by the invasion of the borough" by horses.

THE CHURCH DURING WAR AND PEACE

LESSON TEXT-Matthew 5:43-48; Romans MARKERS: for they shall be called sons of God.—Matthew 5:9.

Everywhere men are talking about the coming peace. They are concerned lest having won a war we may lose the peace through the selfishness or the indifference of men. It is a great problem and one about which we are rightly concerned.

Why is it then that the most important factor in assuring a just and friendly settlement of the problem is left out of men's deliberations? Why is there so little (if any) thought of God and prayer to Him for the needed guidance and wis-

We know that there can never be an abiding peace until Christ comes to establish His kingdom, but in the meantime, we should seek to bring Christian principles to bear on the relations of men and nations. We are to show

I. A Higher Measure of Love (Matt. 5:43-48).

The world has established its own principle of conduct based on selfish advantage. It pays to be polite to those who can favor you, so cultivate their good will by acts of courtesy and kindness. Your neighbor may be able to help you in an hour of need, so do good to him as you have opportunity.

But an enemy-what can you gain from kindness to him? Hate him, and treat him like an enemy.

Christianity knows nothing of such a spirit. Even though it be necessary to fight against wicked men in order to hinder their evil plans, we need not lose our love for them. Even those who despitefully use us may be loved for Christ's sake. "Consider Him that endured such contradiction of sinners against Himself" (and went right on loving them), "lest ye be wearied" in your own love for those who bear the sad name of enemies (see Heb.

This is admittedly a high standard, but it is not too high for those who know the love of Christ. II. A Higher Degree of Loyalty

(Rom. 13:1-4) An intelligent Christian is the best citizen. He knows that all government is based on the power and authority of God, and hence he recognizes the legality and authority of duly constituted governmental agen-

No matter how much man has perverted or degraded government, yet it is in essence the expression of a ministry of God (v. 4). How deeply ashamed that should make those who regard political office as a means of personal gain and ad-

or who use their auctity to permit or promote that which is against God

Every public official should recognize God as the giver of his authority and seek the Lord's special grace and guidance in the discharge of his duties. Every citizen should highly regard the one who rules as having a power ordained of God for the good of the nation

(v. 4). Here then is the solution of the political problems which are causing upheaval all over the world, namely, a revival of Christian testimony and faith, for it will lead to a loyalty on the part of the people which is quite unknown where Christianity does not bring its true influence to bear.

That kind of love for men and loyalty to government necessarily brings about:

III. A Higher Standard of Patriotism (Rom. 13:5-7).

There is more to real patriotism than flag waving and high-sounding oratory. There must be a conscientious willingness to serve the nation in willing obedience to the command or the request of proper authority.

The Christian gives just that kind of patriotic support to his country (v. 5). His enlightened conscience demands it, and he responds.

Then too, there must be support of the government by the payment of taxes. Think of the thousands who are engaged in the business of evading their just share of the cost of government

The Christian has no share in such things, for he is ready to pay his share of the expense of government as a ministry of the Lord

No government can function properly nor long endure which does not have the respect and confidence of those governed. There can be nothing but criticism, discontent, and disobedience in such an atmosphere.

We have said it before, but we say it again-the best thing that could happen to America politically is a revival of Christianity. Our national leaders ought to set the example and encourage the people to follow in repentance, restitution and God's blessing. Read II Chroni-

Radio Drying Speeds Up Penicillin Production

NEW YORK.—Penicillin production has been speeded up by 24 hours time through a cooking-by-radio process that has replaced a freezedrying method.

According to Radio Corporation of America, which has perfected the new system, heat generated by radio currents now can accomplish in 30 minutes what it took a freezedehydrator 24 hours. The electronic method of drying the infection-kill-ing drug is also far cheaper, it was Dehydration is vital to penicillin production as a bulk reducer. After penicillin is grown and purified, approximately 90 per cent of the water is removed, increasing the potency of the drug from 40,000 units a cubic centimeter to 100,000 units. Freeze-drying still will be used to powder the drug in ampoules or vials for shipment.

Gun's Range Is So Great

It Needs Fighter 'Eyes' ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUAR-TERS, LONDON. - The Americans have several new secret weapons to use in their march to Berlin, Maj. Gen. Harry Benton Sayler, chief ordnance officer for the European theater, disclosed.

Among them, he said, is a gun with a range so great that the usual low-speed observation planes are useless as "eyes" for it and regular fighters will be used instead.

"We recently opened fire for the first time with the longer range weapon against German headquarters," Sayler said. "A pursuit plane was used for observation. The fliers saw the German personnel trying to get away in cars and went down and shot them up."

Diplomats of 7 Nations

Agree on Whale Values

WASHINGTON. - Diplomats of seven great nations have solemnly agreed that one blue whale equals 2½ humpback whales. Likewise one blue is the agreed equivalent to two fin whales or six sei whales. The table of whale values is set down in a protocol signed by the governments of the United States, Great Britain, South Africa, Australia, Canada, New Zealand and Norway regulating the taking of whales, as soon as the war ends and the whalers can go back to work.

Her Teeth Are Perfect CHICAGO.-Lois Price, 18, of Jefferson, Iowa, who has never consumed pastry, candy, ice cream, soft drinks, coffee, tea or commercial vitamins, has "a perfect set of teeth," Dr. A. G. Barker reported in the July issue of the Journal of the American Dental Association.

"During the years of my dental practice, I have examined the teeth of approximately 25,000 people," Dr. Barker said. "Out of that vast multitude, I have found but one person whose teeth have fulfilled all the necessary specifications."

Miss Price has never eaten fruit other than oranges, Dr. Barker said.

FIRST THREE LESSONS IN DOG TRAINING COME! HEEL! "DOWN!"

Getting down on knee will induce dog to come Dog is always on left side Dog in down position win leash held in left hand tend to get up if petted

Whether your dog is a joy or a When he is a dozen or so feet away nuisance to you and your friends denuisance to you and your friends depends largely on one thing—his training, states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City. The better trained he is, the more valuable and useful he will be. A well-trained dog is more than worth all the effort and patience put into his training.

Actually, a dog is infinitely easier to train than a child. You will succeed best if you keep certain things constantly in mind. A dog is not a human and must never be judged as such. Words to him are not words but simply sounds which, after much repetition he comes to associate with repetition, he comes to associate with certain actions desired of him. If the words are associated with a characteristic gesture, all the better. Words spoken to him loudly or in anger only serve to confuse him. A dog should never be punished unless he is made to understand what he is being punished for, and punishment should follow immediately after his misdemeanor. A dog's training should be handled by only one person, and if he has been properly trained, he will go through the motions for anyone who gives the commands prop-

Below are the first three lessons in obedience every dog must learn if he obedience every dog must learn if he is to live in civilized society. He must come to you whenever you call him, no matter what else he may want to do at that particular time. He must learn to "heel," that is, walk or trot quietly at your side whenever you are out with him—not run ahead or behind you, trip you up, or get into behind you, trip you up, or get into a fight with another dog. And he must learn to sit or lie down when you stop in the street to greet a friend or pay a visit to a neighbor. The principles in these lessons are applicable, to almost anything else applicable to almost anything else you might like to teach your dog. For a list of recommended literature on dog training write to the Gaines Dog Research Center; 250 Park Avenue,

Continue this lesson for 10 or 15 minutes a day, dropping the tidbit

"HEEL!" Place dog on your left side, grip leash above his collar, and commence walking, Should he try to forge ahead, pull him back, the while ordering "Heel!" If he is inclined to drag behind, pull him forward, again with the command, "Heel!" Keep on insisting on the correct heel position insisting on the correct heel position, and he will soon learn to maintain it no matter how you turn. Continue the "heeling" lesson until the dog walks as well without the leash as with it.

"SIT!" or "DOWN!" The difference between these two is solely in the length of time the dog is required to maintain his posture. You take your dog for a stroll. Suddenly you stop, command "Sit!" and press his hind-quarters down until he is seated. Do this with one hand while holding his head up with the leash in the other. head up with the leash in the other. On the first trial he'll probably not hold his position for more than a second or two, but pet him and express your pleasure at his conduct with "Good dog!" or the like. Do this with "Good dog!" or the like. Do this again and again until he remains seated as long as desired. Now you order the dog to "sit" and as he oreys give the command "Down!" while gently pulling his front legs from under him. Pat and praise him as he lies full-length on the sidewalk or grass. Repeat the exercise a dozen times a day until he reacts perfectly. Next is to order him "Down!" as you Next is to order him "Down!" as you move out of his sight. As you back away, he will probably start to get up. It will take a lot of repetition be-fore he has learned to remain in one "COME!" Fasten a long string to position in one spot while his collar and let him run at will.

And since you buy electricity by the kilowatt hour, you should know what you pay for. Even though you can't see a kilowatt hour, there's no mystery about it. You buy enough pounds of meat for a meal-you buy enough kilowatt hours to run your electric appliances. It's that simple. But with cost the similarity ends. Unlike other things the cost of electricity has been steadily coming down.

A TONIC APPETIZER

USE IT IN THE MASH

Progressive poultry raisers and hatcheries all over the United States use Dr. Salsbury's Avi-Tab regularly. Many report benefits and improvements.

This is because in many flocks there are some birds which a tonic appetizer will benefit. Perhaps you have some birds like that in your flock right now. If so, try a ten-day treatment with Dr. Salsbury's Avi-Tab. Watch how those birds respond.
