TRY BIG FAT CHICKEN FOR HOLIDAY DINNERS

duction Program.

If you can't get a turkey for that Christmas dinner, why not try a big fat chicken?

That is the suggestion made by Dr. Morley A. Jull, head of the poultry department of the University of Maryland, who predicts that the army's demand for Thanksgiving and Christmas turkeys will create a good civilian demand this fall for large sized roasting chickens. There are a lot of surplus cockerels and loafer hens on Maryland farms that might well be fattened for the Christmas market. A well fattened roaster is more palatable and the flesh is juicer than on the unfattened roaster.

Putting the cockerels in pens, crates, or large batteries for a fattening period about two weeks before they are sold is advised by Dr. Jull. During that period, keep the birds in as quiet a condition as possible. Be-fore the fattening process begins, starve them about 24 hours but give them water. Feed the birds twice The large house at the corner of Baltimore St. and Mill Avenue, for many years the Hesson residence, large times daily for about two weeks, but be sure to feed them lightly the first three or four days; otherwise the binds large their supplies the sure of the binds large their supplies and the supplies erwise the birds lose their appetites. #### PEDESTRIANS WATCH OUT!

The majority of pedestrian fatali-ties occur after dark. Therefore it may be assumed that the month of December, which has the fewest hours of daylight of any month in the year, is the deadliest. At this time of the year the traffic death rate averages three-fifths higher than the low spring rate. Many pedestrians do not realize that dark clothing absorbs light and that less than 5% of the light which falls from an automobile on the redestrien is reducted back to on the pedestrian is reflected back to the driver. #### WINTER MEETINGS TO DISCUSS FEED AND FEEDING ARE ANNOUNCED BY L. C. BURNS

Thursday and Friday, January 4 and 5 have been set aside for county wide discussion of dairy and livestock feeds and feeding. New methods of producing home grown feeds and combining them into satisfactory economical rations for dairy and livestock should be of vital import-ance to farmers of Carroll County at this particular time. Just as our armies will need more materials of war, so in time will they need more food and fiber this next year to get the job over. We cannot let them down in this final march to victory.

These meetings will be held in the City Restaurant on Main St. Westminster, on January 4 and 5 starting promptly at ten o'clock and ending at three. An hour will be al-

It is hoped that arrangements can be made for the sale of War Bonds where the War Bond Caravan will be on display.

Carroll County has come through with flying colors in previous war loan campaigns, over subscribing its quota well in advance of the closing of the drives. There is no reason to believe that the people of this country will fall down now. Certainly, so far as the war is concerned they so far as the war is concerned, there is every reason now for redoubled ef-

These loans are the sinews of war. They provide in considerable part the funds which go to the production of ships and tanks and planes and guns which our armed forces need in such vast quantities. Those forces now have the enemy at bay both in Europe and in the Pacific.

The moment calls for the united effort of our factories which turn out the weapons, our men on the battle fronts who use them and the people at home who pays for them. A slow-ing up of any one of the three weakens them all.

Carroll County's quota is $800,000.

BOSSY FEEDS THE NATION

Food shipments by lend-lease in September amounted to over 540 million pounds, or more than 270 thousand tons. Furthermore, September was not an unusual month. For the first nine months of 1944 the ship-ments have averaged over 360 thousand tons per month.

Of even greater interest is the quality of foods shipped. In the selection of these shipments, special emphasis has been placed on protecemphasis has been placed on protective foods in concentrated form. Probably the best indication of the improvement in the knowledge of human nutrition since the first World War is to be found in the choices of War is to be found in the choices of foods made, according to the National Dairy Council. In the first World War only 2% of the foods exported came from the dairy cow. In September, this year over 65 tons, or more than 24% of all the food exports were in the form of butter, cheese, evaporated milk, dry milk and other concentrated milk products. For the first nine months of the year, 372 tons of dairy foods were exported. This constituted over 13% of all foods exported during that period. So far this year, the milk of more than one million one hundred and thirty thousand cows has been used for lend-lease shipments alone, exclusive of military needs.

The need for cleaning and checking over the working parts of passenger car engines in anticipation of winter weather was stressed this week in a seven point program drafted by the Maintenance Section of the Office of Defense Transportation. Winterizing

A RIDICULOUS PROPOSAL

There has been a conflict of opinion between the White House and Congress as to the proper rate of taxation for social security. When the law was first enacted the rate was fixed at 1% on the worker and 1% on the employer, with the provision that for the second year it should be 2%-2% and for the third year 3%-3%, at which figure it was to remain perma-

It was soon found that there was no need for such rates, and the law was changed so as to hold the rate at the original figure, 1%-1%, and this has been kept as the rate up to the present time, against the wishes of the Administration.

Now that the election is over the Social Security Board announces that it will press for a "cradle to grave" security policy, the greatest piece of paternalism the world has ever seen, and a piece of governmental, folly that makes former acts of the New Deal pale into insignificance. We are told that under this enlarged plan the rate of tax will be 6% on the worker and 6% on the employer.

We do not have the time just now to demonstrate by an actual calculation what such a fund would amount to, but it is enough to say that in twelve and a half years there would be paid into the fund the amount of the entire wage income of the whole people for a whole year. Assuming that a young fellow started to work at 18 and continued until 65 there would have been paid in for his security a fund equal to 8 full years of wages, which under prudent handling ought to have more than doubled even at a very low rate of interest. Such an amount honestly handled and conserved would be prodigious. It would be more than that, even

We would like to see an honest, sane insurance man figure on the possibilities of such a fund. We may even try it ourselves when we have more leisure than just now. But for the present we hope that Congress will ignore all pleas for increasing the rate, and keep it as it is now, and that when any member of the Social Security Board comes forward with the 6%-6% rate of tax on wages, that quarters will be immediately engaged for him in an insane asylum. gram, which, for all its defects, was the one national program in those tortured years which aimed in the direction of economic sanity. The other object finds its expression in the Moscow agreement, in the Dumbarton Oaks agreement, and indeed in the whole record of his handling of our diplomacy during the most difficult M. ROSK FAIR decade in American history. The record is not without its flaws; and the objects are still not attained. But to his everlasting credit, Mr. Hull set a

Hull the man, then, is by no means ndispensable. But the economic and political programs which he did so much to shape and on which he labored with such deep conviction will be perverted or abandoned at our peril. They are indispensable.

Mr. Roosevelt has lost no time in appointing Mr. Edwin R. Stettinius, Jr. as Mr. Hull's successor. Mr. Stettinius enjoys three very great advantages. For one thing, he has been fully involved, as Under Secretary, in the complex diplomatic activities of the past year. For another, his labors have been largely freed of the distractions of partisanship by the unity which was arrayed behind Mr. Hull. And finally, he has been working under Mr. Hull. If any man was in position to learn the lesson of Mr. Hull's personality, he is Mr. Stettin-

Yet, on the other hand, Mr. Stettinius has never been a policymaker. He is a man known for his allegiances, for his loyal execution of the decisions of others. It remains to be seen whether he has the initiative and the force to adapt the indispensable essence of the Hull policies to events as they unfold.—Baltimore Sun.

HOW MUCH IS A BILLION?

Ask yourself this simple question, 'Am I a billion minutes old?" Then make a quick guess for the answer. A minute is such a short interval in time; think how little it seems when you have a train to catch. Many people would and do guess that they have lived a billion minutes.

When you stop to figure it out, however, 60 minutes to an hour, 24 hours to a day and 365 days to a year, you'll find that to be a billion minutes old you would have to live 1,903 years. And, not counting interest, to accumulate a billion dollars you would have to earn a dollar a minute since the year 41 A. D., or $525,600 a year for 1,903 years.

This simple illustration may help to give you a better idea of how big a billion is. The term is used so frequently in present-day government finance that it means little more to most people than just another expenditure. It takes 1,000 millions of dollars to make a billion dollars. The interest charges on a billion dollars at 2 percent amount to 20 million dollars a year.

Now then, if 50,000,000 employed people in the nation work 8 hours a day, 6 days a week with 2 weeks vacation and only Christmas for a holiday, and each one of these 50,-000,000 employees paid the government one dollar an hour, or $2,400 a year, it would take 2 years to pay off a government debt of 240 billion dollars. This is approximately what the federal government owes today, and the debt may reach 300 billion dollars before the end of 1945. It is well then for every taxpayer to understand the meaning of a billion dollars. We have raised mary killions for the war effort and can raise many more. But we certainly do not want expenditures of billions of dollars piled up on top of the war effort for any government activities which may be non-essential.-Ccunty Record, Towson.

FOR POST-WAR PROSPERITY

In the grist of corporate publications coming to the editor's desk appears currently an intelligent monograph, "Business and Government Cooperaton for Postwar Prosperity.." It is taken from the Marshfield Coos Bay Times, Oregon.

The monograph is by Nathaniel R. Whitney, economist for the Procter and Gamble company. He writes a clear mind and without a scintilla of acrimony and fluff which so unforturately accompanies the outpourings of the "representatives of business."

Whitney frankly admits that our national economic policy may be said to have three aims—to abolish poverty, to diminish unemployment, and to reduce inequality." He wisely adds: "These results cannot be accomplished by either business or government alone. We need private enterprise to preserve democracy and we need the help of government to preserve private enterprise." We quote Mr. Whitney:

"Within the past 18 months I have talked with business men from the east to the west coast, and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf. I have been greatly disturbed by the universality and the positiveness of the pinions expressed that there will be little hope for private enterprise after the war unless government is forced to withdraw from participation in what we have traditionally regarded as private economic activities. That objective of the postwar aims of many able men is so contrary to what I believe to be desirable and to what I believe to be desirable and indeed inevitable that it seems to me national consideration and discussion of the proper relationship of govern-ment and business is of the utmost urgency. We need closer than more distant relations between government

"We have learned through dozens of experiences during the years of depression and of war that there are many situations which cannot be satisfactorily dealt with by the efforts of private individuals alone. In fact, it seems to me, the greatest discovery of our generation, from an economic point of view, has been the recognition of the possibility of using the State for organizing our cooperative efforts for the achievement of objectives beyond the reach of any individual efforts. It is unfortunate that unnecessary animosities have so beclouded the national scene that so much of the most intelligent opinion in the country has not yet grasped the significance of this discovery.

"Free enterprise cannot survive unless it uses the resources and machinery of government without reluctance when an economic task beyond its own capacity presents itself. We can no longer say, with respect to a bad economic situation, 'we will do nothing; let nature take its course' Bad economic situations must be corrected promptly by private enterprise alone, by public enterprise alone, or by private and public enterprise in cooperation.

"The possibility of a stronger nation and a happier world after the war depends upon the acceptance by both government and business of the fact that private and public enterprise are not rivals but inevitable

LIKE TO SWAP NIGHT CLUBS, PAL?"

"Sorry, chum-no ringside seats. You sit in the mud, see?

"You got a floor show of lizards and mosquitoes crawling over your face.

"You got a nice little 4-piece orchestra of Jap mortars, Zeros, machine guns, and your best friend screaming in the next foxhole.

"Come any time, pal. The show goes on all night. For a long time. There's never a cover charge. Not even for the flag they put over you when they carry you out."

We're all human.

We all like to go dancing or see a show or buy an extra suit or dress occasionally. But this war still has a long way to go. There are still 75 million Japs who don't believe in surrendering.

So during this 6th War Loan, how about putting all that luxury money into something a little more permanent-an extra $100 War Bond at least—to help get this thing really over and bring those boys of ours home?

It'll hurt. But not as much as the Jap bayonet in your neighbor's stomach. You get something back-in ten years - $4 for every $3 invested. He

STRAGHT TALK

ABOUT THE

SIXTH WAR LOAN DRIVE

S WE MOVE closer to victory, it wouldn't be surprising if you were saying to yourself—"What's the big idea of asking for all this additional money now? Isn't the war almost over?"

No sir, it is not! Not by a long shot. Of course, for many months now you've heard mostly about the war with Germany, where our greatest effort is concentrated. That's why many people have the idea that the war's practically over.

But make no mistake about it—nothing could be farther from the truth! The Japanese war is a tremendous undertaking, and victory will come high. We'll have to fight every inch of the way.

Everything Costs More in the Pacific War

The European war is expensive, but almost everything in the Pacific war will cost more. Take transport costs, for instance: Because of the longer distances, the same amount of freight costs 25 per cent more when shipped to the South Pacific than to Europe. And it takes twice as many cargo ships in the Pacific to support a task force of a given size because turn-around time is twice as great!

More Planes ... Tanks ... Ships ... Oil

In addition, we shall need more of everything. More B-29 Superfortresses that cost $600,000 each.

More P-47 Thunderbolts that cost $50,000 each.

More M-4 Tanks, with bulldozer blades, that cost

$67,417 each. More amphibious tanks—more aircraft carriers—more supply ships—more gasoline and oil than it took for the invasion of Europe!

Care for the Sick and Wounded

And lest anyone forget, we shall need more battalion aid stations—more clearing stations—more evacuation hospitals—more convalescent hospitals—more hospital ships.

For many, many years the sick, wounded, and otherwise disabled veterans will require medical attention and care. That's the least Uncle Sam can do in appreciation of what they've done for us.

Maintenance for Millions

Did you ever stop to think how much money it costs to maintain the 11 to 12 million men and women in our army and navy? Whether the men are actually fighting or not, they must be fed, housed, transported from one training center or battle area to another, cared for in a hundred and one different ways. That all costs money and will continue to until the last man demobilized is back in civilian clothes.

In addition, millions of dollars will be required for mustering-out pay, for various benefits and services voted by Congress to help the boys get started in civilian life.

These are reasons enough why patriotic Americans will want to buy heavily during the Sixth War Loan. But here are still more—

Winning the Peace—for Your Country

If we're to win the peace as well as the war, the cost of living must be kept down and the purchasing power of money preserved. A reckless inflation that would necessarily be followed by the catastrophe of deflation—with its unemployment, bankruptcies, misery and heartache—must be prevented at all cost.

Let's make no mistake—a dangerous period lies ahead. The American people have nothing to fear, however, if they show in the future the same common sense they have shown in the past, and continue to put every penny over rock-bottom expenses into the purchase of more and more War Bonds.

Winning the Peace—for Yourself

Want another important reason? Yourself! There isn't a better or safer investment in the world today than War Bonds. In helping your country, you are also helping yourself! Never in our entire history has it been so necessary to save as right now. We'll need money, individually, for education, repairs, replacements, retirement—and we'll need a lot of it.

As you can see there are many reasons, important reasons, why our Government must have the financial support of everyone, and have it for many months to come.

Let all Americans do their partfor their own sake, for their country's.

FEESERSBURG

A wet Monday morning—it has been raining gently since midnight; and 'tis now most too dark to write without lights when sitting by a window. Out side the country looks wet and wintery—but interesting for now the trees are bare and one can see their real form and out-line. Isn't it fine that each season brings interests of its own, and surely they are not monotonous in the temper-

On Wednesday of last week Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wilhide attended the funeral of his brother, Maurice Wilhide, at Keysville-where he was an active member of the Lutheran church and his body was laid to rest in the cemetery at that place; after a few weeks of illness, then a paralytic stroke after removal to the Frederick City Hospital.

Sunday School at Mt. Union on Sunday morning was not fully attended, but the lesson on "The Christian view of Industry" was full of interest and discussion. An offering of $25.00 was donated to the U.S. O. call for funds. Every one was pleased to have Roger Sentz and family back to church; all looking well and quite content with their new home in Alexandria, Va.

The Thank-Offering Service in the Sunday School at Mt. Union on

The Thank-Offering Service in the evening at Mt. Union was very good. Frank P. Bohn conducted the Devotions with songs and prayer and reading of the 107th Psalm. Harry B. Fogle was the guest speaker who talked of the need of prayer and thanksgiving and spoke earnestly of our freedom and blessings in America; also of some sympathetic needs and the good result of missions. There was good music rendered by Thursday Myers and his sister, Miss Mildred, on fine electric Hawaiian guitars. The yearly Thankoffering was received and counted while the guitars played sacred hymns which equalled $67.30 and not all reported

Thanksgiving Day was beautiful and very juist. There were not as many visitors in our midst as usual and we didn't get to the church service. Would be glad to know they were crowded, and everybody giving things; but neighbors were butchering all around us on Wednesday and Thursday. We have a full moon this week, and the nights are bright when clear. The sign will be down whatever that means; and at the end of this week the days length will be 9 hours and 30 minutes and one can scarcely be-lieve the Sun rises so far north and sets so far south—but in a short time it will be lengthening its daily trip.

There was much curiosity and awe concerning them, but many people visited their camp and had their fortune told—sometimes true guess-work, but mostly false always the formula mostly false, always the females were going to marry—may be three times to Tom, Dick and Harry; and the men were told they would take a long journey or inherit some money. Then they'd cross their palms with silver; and 'tis amazing how long the ideas would linger with their victims. #### THE WAIL OF OWANITA

Four score years and ten have passed me, Winter's blast and summer's rain Have with veering flaw attended, In the forest, on the plain; During all that time the Indians, Serious changes underwent, Cause his worst of foes—the white man-Always was on mischief bent.

Now Big Chief or all the Sioux Tribe
I the same—Owanita—
Cannot rule my own dear from far, To destroy the Indian's pleasure—
Breaks his happy hunting ground,
And in all this great big country—
Miles and Miles so far around.

Not a trace of it is left us-Not a happy hunting space— All our pleasure has been banished— No game now is in the place. There is left no more the rein-deer,
Moose or Elk or Buffalo,
And for all the game we get, we Must to other regions go, For the wicked man-the White Chief Brings his ways of living here, And no longer can the Indian Find the game he loves so dear. Twas not so back in my childhood, Many, many winters past, When the tribe lived in the teepee

Safe, secure from winter's blast. Then we lived within our tents, while Chiefs went hunting, day by day,
Happy squaws would cook the viands
Little chiefs would stay and play hoot the arrows at the bulls-eye,

Throw the tomahawk so fair, To down to the water daily, Catch the fish with line and spear.

Chiefs in those days had their powwith their war-paints and their dance, Now they turn aside disgusted, 'Cause they've donned the White Chief's pants.

Indians have no more their freedom,
White Chief takes it all away, And when Indian wants to go out, White Chief says: No, No must give, And must never fret nor murmur If he wants in peace to live.' What a narrow little country, This the pale face choose to give, When the Great and Good Monita, Ruler of the Earth and Sky.

Here upon the Reservation, Live on things the White Chiefs

Krumbine over Sunday to a turkey | Navy Now Gets Mail Speedily

Postal Veteran Irons Out Kinks That Caused Some Kicks.

WITH THE U. S. FLEET-Speedy mail delivery to Uncle Sam's great Pacific fleet depends largely on

Chance-his first name is Earle, he's a lieutenant commander and he hails from Los Angeles—is head postman in this vast theater of war, where mail distribution was so slow it was the prime gripe of fighting

Today all that has been changed. The mail is coming through and often letters reach the men in forward battle areas five or six days after mailing from as far away as New York.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, realized the importance of letters to morale and insisted on rapid delivery. But fast mail service in the Pacific was easier to talk about than to accomplish. It was a matter of starting from scratch, for the navy never before had such growing

Letters Were Delayed.

In the first days of the war word from home sometimes was weeks, even months, catching up with the armed services. The mail problem was Vice Adm. William C. Calhoun's. As commander of the service force in the Pacific, he decided it was a job for men experienced in handling and dispatching mail. He called in Chance, who had been in the postal department since 1919.

Chance gathered about him assistants also experienced in the postal field. Most of them, like Chance, were older men who volunteered for the assignment.

Only ammunition, food and fuel for the war hold transportation priority over letters. Sixty per cent of the mail is flown to front line

An example of the mail volume may be seen in the fact that in one month more than 20,000 pounds of correspondence was flown into Central Pacific advanced areas.

The postal system moves always at the heels of the fleet and often before a battle is many days old it is ready to begin distributing the mail to the fighting men.

Navy Lends a Hand.

At Kwajalein mail was delivered three days after D-day to ships supporting the attack and four days later to troops on the island who still were under enemy fire.

A single naval dispatch may change the course of warships, and mail already on the way to them at their previous destination must be rerouted to their new port of call. Because of this, Chance and his men always are on the jump. They must anticipate what the fleet is going to do. They are helped by those in the navy, who know where the ships are going. Civilians at home can help iron out some of the fleet's mail probsays Chance, by making addresses legible and stop sending nonessentials such as cigarettes, cigars and candy. Thousands of letters go to the dead letter office where they are "sweated out" because they are improperly addressed and much space is taken up by nonessentials which may be bought by servicemen on almost any ship or at any camp in the Pacific.

Robot Threat by Germans

At New York Is Reported MADRID. - The Berlin correspondent of the Madrid newspaper Ya, reported recently on the latest brain child of the secret weapon department of Paul Joseph Goebbels' propaganda ministry. The German flying bomb will soon be used against New York by still another secret device - the crewless submarine—he reported.

"Rumor has it that it is possible to transport the flying bomb aboard submarines which, lying many miles off the American coast, will bombard New York, covering it with projectiles," he said.

Dead Man Becomes Very Spry Corpse

Suit Over Insurance Policy Brings Odd Story.

SMITHLAND, KY. - The story of a dead man who became a very lively corpse, with ensuing surprises, was told in Smithland, Ky. In 1925 the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company issued a policy for $2,500 on the life of Lee R. Trail, Smithland, then 21. About Christmas week, 1927, Trail left with his announced destination "the southwest. Trail was last heard from March probably dead and should be so declared legally.

Federal Judge Elwood Hamilton declared Trail legally dead at the Paducah court in March, 1935. The insurance company subsequently paid $2,679.11 plus costs of $73.35.

In June, 1943, the insurance company heard Trail was in Smithland. An investigation proved that Trail, now a soldier, was visiting relatives. The man said he had been in the army several years. Then he was transferred to England.

After correspondence with Trail, Wilson paid to the insurance firm $3,859.09 representing the face value of the policy plus interest. The insurance policy, still in the hands of the company, had been marked "canceled by death," the usual notation. Then the company brought out the policy, blocked out the death cancelation, and rewrote: "Reinstated June 8, 1944," just as if there had been no litigation over the

Claws 4 Zeros Singly, He Wins Highest Medal

WASHINGTON. - The Congressional Medal of Honor has been awarded Lieut. Robert M. Hanson, marine officer who accounted for 25 Japanese planes before he was reported missing. Twenty planes of Hanson's score were downed in six consecutive days. The medal was awarded specifically for his attack on six enemy torpedo bombers over Bougainville island and for shooting down four Zeros while engaging the fighters alone over New Britain island. Hanson was last seen February 24 when his plane crashed into the sea while flying an escort mission to Rabaul the day before his 24th birthday.

Chicken Catching

Take an old chicken shipping crate, cut out one end, and then slide this up to a hole in the brooder house where the chicks are accustomed to passing in and out. In the morning when you wish to catch some for delousing or working, simply put the crate in position, open the door and the chicks come out into the crates by themselves. When the crate is full, shut the door and they can be caught in the crate without any fuss or crowding.

Homespun Philosophy By Ezra

About a year ago I was sitting with Cutie the Cop on a bench in front of the Taneytown Hotel. We were chatting about this and that when a huge negro gentleman came walking down the street. When he saw Cutie he stopped to pass the ime of day.

"How 'ya Cutie."
"How 'ya Mose."

"How 'ya Mose."
"Dis am a nice day."
"Yeh, it is. What are you doing for a living these days, Mose?"
"Well, I'm still at de preachin' game. I goes round to de homes of de colored folks and preaches to dem"
"How's the pay?"
"Oh, I gets what de folks drop in de hat. Sometimes pretty good.

de hat. Sometimes pretty good, sometimes not so good. You see dese blue denim overalls I'se got on. Just bought dose with de collection I got yesterday up at Ted's house. Dey dropped in de pennies and I bought dese pants."
"Must have been a mighty poor collection." "Humph, it was mighty poor preachin', too!"

So it goes. I have found that we usually get what we are worth. Perhaps teachers and preachers (Mose not withstanding) should not be included in this statement because goodness only knows, they often are the forgotten men, especially when the pay envelope is passed around.

But as a general thing men get out of life what they put into it.

The grass looks greener in the other man's pasture. So, we stand looking over the fence wishing that we were in that man's shoes. Then we would make enough money to get along in this world. It does not oc-cur to us that we have just as many opportunities as he has had to make our job a better paying proposition. The trouble lies in the fact that we have not applied ourselves as dili-gently as he has. A little harder work, a little more sweat, a few extra tears will make the grass in our field as green as it is in that other man's meadow.

I have heard men say, "The world owes me a living." The world owes no one a living. You owe the world a life—a life that is worthwhile and useful. Hard work may never make you a millionaire, but you will get a great deal of satisfaction out of hard work. It will make your path full of sunshine; it will make your dreams rosier. Some day you will look back over the way you have travelled and you will be satisfied because your life has been spent in worthwhile effort. Toil, sweat and tears is the formula for a happy life.

Let's all preach better sermons and the collections will be better.

Armory War Show Now In Full Swing

Public Invited to Attend Spectacle

Marylanders were invited this week by Mr. Frank W. Wrightson, Chairman, Maryland War Finance Committee, to attend the spectacular war bond show, "Spotlight on GI," held through Dec. 2, at the Fifth Regiment Armory in Baltimore.

Mr. Wrightson said that the allservice show, featuring mammoth exhibits of latest Army weapons as well as outstanding entertainers now in uniform, is "the most stupendous effort yet made in a Maryland war bond campaign."

Admission Free Admission is free. The show opens at 6:30 P. M. At 7 P. M., officers and enlisted men from nine camps in the Third Service Command participate in numerous exhibits. At 9 P. M., the dramatic portion of the program be-

The "fighting quartermasters" from Camp Lee, Va., display captured en-emy clothing and equipment and demonstrate superiority of American materiel. K-rations and C-rations are shown and their nutritional value explained. Wacs display the latest uniforms.

Signal Corps technicians from Holabird Signal Depot exhibit the "walkie-talkie," a multitude of cameras used by combat cameramen, and radio fungus-proofed for jungle warfare. From Aberdeen, Army Ordnance experts have brought weapons of war ranging from rockets and rifles to a huge 40millimeter anti-aircraft gun, .50 cal. machine guns and a new air-borne

The tremendous savings of taxpayers' moneys by salvage work performed at Fort Meade Combined Maintenance Shops are emphasized by Meade salvage workers.

Wrightson Praises Show "Thousands have already seen the mammoth war show since it opened for a 12-day run on Nov. 20," Mr. Wrightson said. "But we want all Marylanders to see it. It serves not only as an inspiration but as an educational project. People see the equipment their money buys and see how it works on the battlefields."

A completely different variety revue is shown each evening. The program follows: Carlisle Barracks, Thursday, Nov. 30; Camp Pickett, Friday, Dec.

Cohen, War Bond chairman of the American Legion Department, whose quota is $7,500,000. Details of the activities for this day are being planned and will be announced later.

To the People of this Community

The Victory Volunteer goes by many names in the Sixth War Loan. Sometimes he or she is called a Gallant, sometimes a Blue Star Brigadier or perhaps a Bondadier. Whatever the designation, he or she is performing a practical patriotic service. In this community in the next few weeks you will meet many of them at work, in the theatres, at your workshop, in the hanks and in the banks and in your home.

Remember one thing: you do not do them a favor when you buy an extra War Bond. You help your country, your fighting relatives and friends and yourself. The Victory Volunteer gives his time and his energy in a great cause. He or she makes it easy for you to do your duty by buying at least one extra $100 War Bond over and above your regular Bond purchases.

Sandpaper's Handy

During the canning season it's a big help to have a piece of sandpaper on hand. It furnishes a good grip for jar lids.

Clear Cutting

Clear cutting is the removal of all the mature timber from an area at one time. Management for continuous forest production presupposes that clear cutting will be followed by provisions to assure new forest growth by seed from surrounding stands, by seeds which have been left on the ground, by planting small trees, or by direct seeding.

Seal Skins

The processing of seal skins, a carefully guarded commercial secret, is both long and complicated. Months are required to bring a skin from the raw state to its final silken luster. The work requires considerable skill, and lack of manpower has now restricted the output of finished skins to about 45,000 a year.

To the People of this Community

The best way to observe the defeat of Hitler is to buy an extra War Bond. In thousands upon thousands of American homes today there is pride and sadness. From these homes have come fighting men who died to bring us this far on the road to decisive victory over all our enemies. It will take more sweat, more tears, more toil, more and greater individual War Bond buying before we see Japan in the ruins these barbarians of the Pacific planned for us. How much more blood and tears depends on every individual American war worker and Bond buyer.

The Sixth War Loan symbol—a bomb hurling down on the Rising Sun—can only come to reality with your individual help. Buy at least an extra $100 War Bond above your normal payroll savings. That's the least you can do to back up your fighting men.

Predicts Increased Investment By American Farmers During Sixth War Bond Campaign

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A prediction that American farmers will invest more money in bonds during the Sixth War Loan than in any previous drive was made today by the War Finance Division of the U. S. Treasury.

Farmers bought $1,250,000,000 worth of War Bonds during 1943, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Eqonomics. In 1944 it is believed they can and should purchase a total of $2,000,000,000, Ted R. Gamble, national Director of the War Finance Division, said.

Income at Peak

Income at Peak

The Sixth War Loan, starting November 20, comes at an ideal time for agriculture, he pointed out.

This is not only the time when farm income is at a seasonal peak, but 1944 marks three years of record breaking farm income, he said.

Based on information obtained from the BEA, the Agricultural Section of the War Finance Division estimates the 1944 cash farm income at $20,600,000,000, compared with $20,000,000,000 in 1943.

Although net farm income, due to higher operating costs, may not be greater than in 1943, most farmers now have reduced their debts and consequently will have more money to put into War Bonds, the division reports makes them as liquid as a dollar bill, it is no longer necessary for the farmer to maintain a large bank account to meet possible emergencies, Mr. Gamble stated. Therefore, he believes, farmers will convert part of these deposits into War Bonds.

Bank Deposits Gain

After paying all operating costs and necessary family expenses, farmers will have left this year for investment and debt reduction over $5,000,000,000, the Agricultural Section also estimates.

Because of the fact that new machinery is not obtainable, farm deposits are piling up in rural banks. Demand deposits held by farmers in these banks are estimated at $4,500,000,000 and time deposits at $2,000,000,000. Since the new method of redeeming Series E Savings Bonds

By JOHN C. PORT McClure Syndicate-WNU Features.

THE Old Man scooted his chair away from the desk in the corner of the print shop known as his office and handed a sheet of typewritten paper to the boy at the linotype. "Page one, column one," said briefly. Then he stalked to the rear of the shop. "Speedy!" he called, and the youth who was oiling the outmoded cylinder press straightened and ceased his operations.

"Yes, sir." / The Old Man stroked his chin thoughtfully and regarded the boy through narrowed bloodshot eyes. "If you pi a form tonight it will be the third consecutive week you've done it. A pretty poor average when you consider this is a weekly pa-

Speedy ran his hand over his smooth black hair. "Yes, sir."

The Old Man shook a menacing forefinger. "It takes Red a whole day to pick up the pieces and make up the form again. If I wanted the paper to come out on Saturday, it would read that way instead of having Friday on the masthead!" He stopped for breath. "If you could once get your mind off play-acting you might be of some value here But get this and get it straight; if you pi a form again tonight, you're through!" With that final warning the Old Man put on his shapeless hat and left.

Speedy walked over to the linotype. He stroked his chin thoughtfully and squinted his azure eyes at Red. "If you pi a form tonight, it will be the third consecutive week you've done it." He took his hand from his chin and shook a menacing forefinger. "Get this and get it straight; if you pi a form again tonight, you're through!"

still grousing about Walters?"
"Yeah," Red answered. "Page one, column one. He'll land in jail, printing such stuff. Listen:

"The incumbent county treasurer, George Walters, has served his term of usefulness. He is a crook, as his record proves. He vainly imagines that he lends dignity to his office by clearing his throat at the beginning of a sentence and coughing at the end of it. The voters of this town will no doubt be glad to see their most distinguished citizen replaced by an abler man.'

"The Old Man isn't my idea of an ethical editor," Speedy mused. "When he's mad, he'll do 'most anything - unless someone scares him. Then he's not so tough. You know what the trouble is, don't you?" Red asked.

"I could guess," Speedy answered.

"The Old Man's sore because Walters gave the contract for the commissioners' proceedings to our competitor. Well, it's a free country and Walters had a right to do it. The Old Man ought to brag about the opposition candidate and lay off Walters and his asthma or whatever it is.'

"Maybe you're right," Speedy agreed. "Anyhow, what time will you be ready?"

"Midnight," Red answered. "Incidentally, if you'll just lock the forms on the press before you start it, they aren't so likely to fall off.' The Old Man swore as he stumbled through the darkness to the telephone. "Yes . . ." he said. He heard a throat being cleared and then: "If that rag of yours comes out this morning with another of your editorials, I'll sue!' A cough, and another clearing of the throat. "It's libel, and you know it-you won't have a chance! And when I get through with you, you won't have anything at all!" The cough was more violent this time, and the throat clearing more prolonged. "Remember what I've told you!" Then came a veritable spasm. The Old Man hung up. He broke into a cold sweat. "I'll have to go down there," he told himself. 'Speedy'll never hear a phone if that cylinder press is running." He shook as he hurried into his clothes. "Got to stop it," he kept mutter-ing. "Can't let it go out." A few minutes later he was at the shop. "Speedy!" he bawled. "Speedy, stop the press!" But the press wasn't running. Speedy was looking at him, a queer expression in his blue eyes. "I forgot to lock the forms on again, sir," he confessed. The Old Man blinked. Then he sighed and a grin spread over his face. "Oh, well," he said, "it isn't the first time. I'll call Red. There are a few changes I want to make, anyway. The Old Man had left by the time Red arrived. "Congratulahe squealed acidly to tions." Speedy. "I'm surprised to find you're still here."

Speedy shrugged his shoulders. "The Old Man left copy for you," he said. "It's on the machine. He wants it to replace what was originally page one, column one.'

Red sat down at the machine. "Was he pretty sore?" he asked. "He didn't seem so sore," Speedy answered thoughtfully. Then, dramatically, he lifted his pointed chin a trifle. "I phoned him as soon as I made the mistake, but I'm sure glad he didn't recognize my voice.'

Hawaii had been attacked by a huge air armada! The Pacific fleet's great base at Pearl Harbor was wrecked and burning! Our largest battleships had been sunk! Thousands of soldiers and sailors had been killed - the Japs would soon land a large force and capture the islands, almost unopposed. Hawaii was the only real obstacle between the Japanese war machine and the Pacific coast. What did it mean? What fearful days were ahead?

So people thought, scarcely daring to put their fears into words, in those dreadful hours only three years ago. As more complete and reliable reports came in, the proportions of the disaster diminished a little. The Japs had not landed-in fact, they did not follow up their first smash. Losses in ships, planes and men were not quite as devastating as at first surmised. A wave of patriotic determination swept over the land. Three cruisers, a seaplane tender, a repair ship and a floating drydock were also struck by Jap bombs, with varying degrees of damage. All told, there had been 86 ships of the Pacific fleet in the harbor when the Jap bombers attacked.

WORLD-WIDE CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

LESSON TEXT—John 17:18-23; I Corinthians 1:1-3; 12:4-7, 12, 13.

GOLDEN TEXT—Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word; that they all may be one.—John 17:20, 21.

Unity among the believers in Christ is much talked about and desired by many in the church. They seek a single Christian communion in the world, or at least a gathering of all Protestant churches in one body. Such outward unity may be impossible to attain, and in fact might be quite undesirable if it did not express a unity of spirit and of true faith.

That fact, however, should not hinder us from seeking a world-wide fellowship of all believers of every race and creed in the unity of the Holy Spirit. The true church, the invisible body of Christ, is not divided, even though its members are scattered in many denominations.

We are reminded in our lesson that whatever else may be true about us, we (that is, all believers) are united in Christ. We are:

I. In the World—but in Christ (John 17:18-23).

Even as Christ was sent of the Father into the world to be the Light of the World, so we are here in the darkness of sin and sorrow to shine as lights for Him (Matt. 5:14-16). He did not pray that His disciples (and that includes us, v. 20) should be taken out of the world (v. 15) but that they should be kept from sin in the world.

So we are in the world. But let us never for a moment forget that though we are in the world we are also in Christ. He will give us-in fact He has given us-grace and glory so that we may represent Him in the world.

There is to be a oneness about believers (v. 21), not alone because of their good (blessed as that may be!), but in order that the world may know and believe in Christ (vv. 21, 23). The obvious corollary to that truth is that every evidence of division and friction between God's children is an opportunity and an excuse for the world to deny the truth of the gospel. "Behold how these Christians love one another" was the baffled testimony of the pagan world in the early days of the Christian church. They could argue with their philosophy, and question their theology, but they had to admit that something had happened to these people which made them really love one another.

II. In the Church-but in Christ (I Cor. 1:1-3).

The church, even in its outward form of local assemblies and de- at the age of 15. He became ations, has a place of great importance in the world. One could certainly not find a more wonderful body of people nor more satisfying opportunity for service than that afforded by the church.

The ones to whom Paul addressed this letter were members of "the church of God which is at Corinth," but they were what is of infinitely greater importance, "saints"—those who had been sanctified, or set apart from this wicked world, in Christ Jesus.

This glorious distinction was not theirs alone, but belonged to "all that call upon the name of the Lord Jesus in every place" (v. 2). Here again we have that fellowship and unity in the love of Christ which transcends all other relationships and which ignores the boundaries of race, color, social position - yes, even of church membership.

No matter who or where another believer may be, Jesus Christ is "their Lord and ours" (v. 2). One could shout, "Hallelujah—Praise the Lord!" for such a delightful communion of all those who love Him. III. In Service—but in Christ (I Cor. 12:4-7, 12, 13).

God has work to be done in the world. To accomplish that work, He gives diverse gifts to men. How wonderfully He endows and calls men and blesses them in His service! We can think of nothing more satisfying than to serve Him.

But even here we must keep in mind that the important thing is that we are not individual stars to shine in our solitary glory. No indeed, we are only a part of a great plan and purpose being carved out by "the same Lord" (v. 5). We are called, commissioned and sent by the one Holy Spirit (v. 7). We are "one body" (v. 12), baptized by the Holy Spirit into that blessed relationship, and it is that body of Christ which is at work in the world to do His will.

Nor does that in any way minimize the glory or the value of what we are called to do. On the contrary, it enhances our calling and encourages us to greater endeavor. We are not alone. We are in the Lord's service, yes; but first of all we are in Christ, and that means that we move forward with a great world-wide fellowship of those who have like precious faith.

Discovery of One Fat Pig Is Important Event.

WITH THE CHINESE EXPEDITIONARY FORCE. — Eating and sleeping with their Chinese allies in the Salween river offensive, American liaison teams under the command of Brig. Gen. Frank Dorn live on rice, wild pig and pack horses, and lead perhaps the most rugged campaign life of any United States army unit in action anywhere in the world.

On some sectors of the front they live on red rice and half of a small can of "C" ration per man daily. With the Chinese, the Americans forage through deserted villages of the mountain front for anything green that can be eaten. Pack horses that die beside the trail are skinned and divided up immediately.

Many of the wild pigs left to roam by fleeing natives are shot and boiled. There isn't enough fat on the hogs to fry them in.

Lieut. Col. Oscar R. Dips, Freeport, Ill., who has been helping the Chinese direct air support on the mountains, told of a day when the Americans finally found a fat pig.

Some of the American boys on my radio team found a pig that was well filled out the way pigs should be in the corner of a mountain com-

"We were all sitting around the fire, soaked and hungry, when one of the boys brought the squealing pig in. The sight of our guns and drawn knives as we jumped up must have been too much for him. He broke away and scampered down the mountain. There wasn't any chance of catching him.

'That night some strong men broke down and nearly cried. "The next day the boys spotted that porker again and shot him on

Dips said the Chinese general he was assigned to had given him a saddle horse, but he couldn't ride

"The horse's legs were too short, or mine were too long-I don't know Anyway, I couldn't ride him. I would have him walk up the trails, and I would walk behind him hanging on to the horse's tail."

Tender Plants

Squashes are among the tenderest of plants. The seeds should be sown only after the ground is thoroughly warm. Sow in rich soil in the full sun, with 8 to 10 feet between the vine varieties and 3 to 5 feet for the bush sorts. The squash borer is the principal enemy and the best protection against it is to cover the vine with soil at several joints. It will take root where covered and limit the damage done by the borer. To enrich each hill in which squash seed are planted mix a tablespoon of balanced plant food

Famous Financier

Jay Cooke (1821-1905), native of Sandusky, Ohio, went to work in 1836 in 1838, and later a partner of E. W. Clark and company, bankers of Philadelphia. In 1860, he founded the house of Jay Cooke and company, which handled a large part of the two billion dollars in bonds issued by the United States during the Civil war. He was in charge of large enterprises, including the building of the Northern Pacific railroad.

Tire Renewals

Over three times as many tractor and implement tires for renewal purposes were sold in 1943 as in 1942, reaching a total of 670,000. Prewar sales ranged from 179,000 units in 1936 to 261,000 units in 1940 with a sharp advance to 384,000 in 1941.

Wild Horses

In historic times wild members of the horse family have been confined to Africa and southwestern Asia. They were totally extinct in the western hemisphere when European explorers and settlers first arrived.

Training Fatalities

Most recent army statistics indicate that the fatal accident rate is only one for every 43,478 hours of primary flight. On the basis of 100 miles per hour that is only one for 4,347,800 miles! The record for basic and advanced training likewise is remarkably safe. As a matter of fact, one large A.T.S. school doing primary flight training has flown over 395,000 hours without a single

Navy Day Finds U. S. With Powerful Fleet and Personnel

Navy day, October 27, 1944, finds the youngest nation in the world, the United States, with much of its great strength re-flected in the largest navy afloat.

Today's mighty fleet is a far cry from the original six frigates authorized in 1794 to protect American shipping from the ravages of Algerian pirates, and it has grown tremendously even in the last five years to more than double its prewar combat strength.

With the navy's fundamental aim being " . . . to support the national policies, commerce, and to guard the continental and overseas possessions," the U. S. fleet can be found in every major theater of World War II, in the forefront of the nation's struggle against Axis aggression

Whole Nation Helped. Utilizing the unbounded natural wealth of this country, and employing the courage and ingenuity of the American people, the navy has developed the most modern instruments to cope with the scientific progression of the times. Taking the place of the old man o' wars are the mighty 35,000-ton battleships; the sleek, powerful cruisers, and the speedy, dangerous destroyers; and supplementing these surface craft are approximately 100 aircraft carriers, from which bomber and fighter planes can be brought up close to take off and hammer enemy defenses.

With over 1,150 combat vessels in service, a vast array of tankers, oilers, and cargo and ammunition ships are needed to attend them, and with the navy required to bring invasion troops and their equipment ashore against enemy fire, thousands of sturdy landing craft have been put into service. Since the war began, the United States navy has tripled the number of its warships; added 65,000 vessels of all types; brought its air strength up to 57,600 planes; increased-its arsenal of antiaircraft guns to more than 125,000 of 20-millimeter and 40millimeter caliber, and developed a force of 3,717,000 men, with a goal of over 4,000,000.

Naval Chiefs In Charge. Heading this overwhelming aggregation of naval power is Adm. Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the navy and chief of naval operations, with Adm. Harold Stark in charge of the European theater, Adm. Royal Ingersoll of the Atiantic, and Adm. Chester Nimitz of the Pacific. If the navy is part of our strong right arm today, it was not always that way, for, oddly enough, the fleet has had its fight for obtaining proper recognition as not only a surety of our water-borne commerce, but also as a barrier to any coastal assault against us.

Grain Values Corn and other grains contain a ratio of nine parts carbohydrates to

A new water-soluble adhesive makes possible weatherproof containers made out of paperboard for the armed forces. These boxes will support 500 pounds per square inch after being submerged 24 hours in

Sought Citizenship

The Roman Republic was so successful that foreigners paid fabulous sums to obtain Roman citizenship and the benefits of Roman laws and that Roman justice, which is still held up as an example of the best.

Tighten the Closet

A pound of naphthalene flakes is enough to protect 100 cubic feet of clothes closet provided the closet is as tight as a refrigerator. The more the door is opened, the more flakes must be added.
