GEORGE A. ARNOLD Died After Long Illness at Home of His Son

The hand of death took one of Taneytown's most outstanding citizens in the person of George A. Arnold, Sunday evening, February 4, at the age of 77 years. His death occurred at the home of his son, Bernard J. Arnold York Street, with whom he has resided the last three years. Mr. Arnold had been in ill health for about a year. In October of last year he had been regaining strength, and ventured down town to call at his places of business and chatted briefly with old friends, but soon after, in the home he accidentally fell, suffering a fracture of a limb, which necessitated his removal to the Frederick Hospital, where he remained ten weeks. He was returned to the home a month ago but never was able to get out again.

He was the son of Augustine and Helen Spalding Arnold, and was born on the ancestral farm, about four miles west of Taneytown. He spent his whole life in this community. He is survived by three sons, Charles R. Arnold, cashier of The Birnie Trust Company, Bernard J. Arnold, Manager of The Reindollar Company, and George Vincent Arnold, who resides near town. Also by one daughter, Helen A. Arnold, now known as Sister M. Celine, of the Carmelite Monastery, of Baltimore. He is also survived by eight grandchildren, one brother, Robert V. Arnold and one sister, Agnes C. Arnold, both of Taneytown, besides nephews and nieces. His wife, A. Katharine Arnold, preceded him in death by eleven years.

Mr. Arnold was a life-time member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church and a member of the Holy Name Society of the Church. He received his education in the public schools at Pine Hill and Taneytown, later in the Academy conducted by Mr. Andrew McKinney in Taneytown. When the parochial school of St. Joseph's Church was established, he was one of its first teachers. His parents moved to Taneytown when he was about ten years of age, and this has been his home ever since. His first business connection was with George H. Birnie & Co., bankers, the predecessors of The Birnie Trust Company. Later he accepted a position with the late E. E. Reindollar, the originator of The Reindollar.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH PEACE-TIME UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING FOR THE U. S.?

Universal Military Training is the wrong education for peace, National Health, the Prevention of Crime, the strengthening of Democracy, and self-discipline.

Years ago H. G. Wells pointed out that the fate of civilization hung on a race between education and catastrophe. He did not mean military education. That is allied with catastrophe.

We do need better national health, a wiser use of leisure, more effective ways of coping with crime, more constructive ways of public discussion, more adult education and, undergirding all, a self-discipline of the individual citizen resulting in self-dedication to the good of our country and all mankind. But this tremendous task cannot be accomplished by compulsory training in the ways of violence. It could not be done in one year by any method; we must begin such a program long before our youths reach seventeen. Do we want to inject into our civil educational system, with its decentralized local self-determination, this military camel's nose of a regimented year of goosestepping education directed from Washington? Let us be careful lest we sell our democratic educational birthright for a mess of military pottage.

WAREHOUSE BURNS AT CANNING FACTORY

Loss Estimated at $100,000 Covered by Insurance

Fire of an undetermined origin destroyed the large warehouse at the A. W. Feeser & Co., Inc., Canning Factory last Sunday morning on the east side of Taneytown. The damage was estimated at about $100,000, and was covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered about 11:00 o'clock and the three trucks of the Taneytown Fire Company assisted by two fire engines from Union Bridge, and one from Westminster responded to the call. The firemen were unable to save the warehouse containing about 30,000 cases of canned goods, a carload of seed peas and a few pieces of canning machinery but succeeded in saving the main building containing the major machinery used in the canning of food.

An estimated 315,000 gallons of water was used in fighting the fire and the firemen stayed on the job all day Sunday. The local Company kept a truck at the scene, throwing water until Monday morning.

Mr. B. B. Chenoweth, manager of the canning factory, stated that he was assured by the Insurance Company that a large part of the canned goods earmarked for the Navy could be salvaged. The building 40x400 ft., was completely destroyed.

FIFTY YEARS OF SERVICE

Fifty years of service Carroll Record now has given,

Fifty years of service for truth and right has striven,

Fifty years of service two-thirds the life of man,

Fifty years of service since first its course began.

No automobiles then were known - And our good roads had not yet grown

Radio had not begun to send her message thru,

Or airplanes none had yet come into view.

When Spring time came roads were not good

In most places knee deep in mud. We planted corn then just as now

And get white milk from brindle cow; The grass was then as verdant green

As in the fields may now be seen; The Sun still rose out in the East,

And set at night off in the West, And the same changes may be seen,

There's not much difference I ween. This a blessed world in which to live,

A world for which true thanks to give W. J. H.

RATION FREE SHOE SALE COMING UP.

Limited quantities of men's and women's shoes may be sold to consumers ration free at specified price reductions during the two weeks period of February 19 through March 3, OPA announces. Two-fold purpose of the temporary ration holiday, OPA states, is to give consumers the benefit of extra shoe mileage that otherwise might remain unused on dealers' shelves, and to help dealers clear their stocks of the normal accumulation of odds and ends and broken sizes.

Before rationing, such shoes were customarily disposed of in seasonal clearance sales. OPA estimates that about 4,500,000 pairs of shoes will be sold in this special ration-free "sale."

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETS

Westminster District presented a very interesting program at a meeting of the Carroll Co. Historical Society on Wednesday evening, Feb. 7, held in the Court Room of the Court House. The dignity and old world charms of the Court Room could not fail to be admired at any time, but as we listened to the paper on the old patents so ably presented by Mr. Harrison, of W. M. C., bearing names long passed out of the county and some we were familiar with we could not but be impressed. Mr. Whitfield also of W. M. C., gave a very interesting review of the Methodist Churches of Westminster District.

Mrs. John Lynch, Historian of the Society reported the doings of the committee and our aims.

Miss Elderdice and Mrs. Winert gave additional information which proved most interesting. Dr. Thos. Tracey, Pres. of the Society presided. Those present from Taneytown were: Miss Amelia Annan, Mrs. Walter Bower, Mr. and Mrs. B. Walter Crapster, Miss Beulah Englar, Miss Anna Galt, Mrs. Allen Feeser and Mrs. John Smith.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING Sponsored by the Sunday Schools

A leadership training school for Church School workers and all other persons who are interested in the work of religious training is being sponsored by the Taneytown District Sunday School Association. The school will be held in the Grace Reformed Church beginning on Monday night and will continue on Tuesday and Thursday nights. The sessions will begin at 7:30 o'clock and the periods will last for 45 minutes each with two periods each night.

There will be two courses offered this year. The courses are taught by two professors from the Westminster Theological Seminary. Dr. John N. Link, professor of Practical Theology, will teach the course of "Building through Christian Nurture; thru Evangelism, and through Social Action. This is the practical side of religion and the outline as is in fuller detail will be one of great interest.

The other course is taught by Rev. Douglas R. Chandler, professor of Church History who will teach "The Church Through the Centuries." The basis is the early Church foundation, the development and the progress through the years, and the message of Protestantism. This is historical and one who is interested in the history of the church will be delighted with this study. Both of these courses are well qualified in these subjects.

There will be no registration fee and those who enroll are requested to bring a notebook and pencil. The association will give a Certificate of Award to those who are present at five or the six sessions. There will be a devotional period each evening and is led by one of the ministers of Taneytown.

The officers of the school are as follows: President, Mr. Norman Hess; Treasurer, Mr. Murray Baumgardner; Dean, Rev. A. W. Garvin.

KIWANIS CLUB MEETS

The Taneytown Kiwanis Club held its regular weekly meeting on Wednesday evening at 6:30 at Clear Ridge Inn, near Uniontown, President Raymond Wright presiding. Twenty-nine members were present, also visiting Kiwanian Willard Hawkins of the Westminster Club, and Rev. L. B. Hafer as the guest of Edgar Essig.

The period of group singing was in charge of Howell Rover, with Mrs. Wallace Yinging as accompanist. The program was in charge of the Boys' and Girls' Committee, Harry M. Mohney, Chairman. Past-President Willard Hawkins of the Westminster Club, and Principal of the New Windsor High School was introduced as the speaker of the evening. Mr. Hawkins chose as his subject, "Compulsory Peace-Time Military Training."

The speaker explained the provisions of the bill, now before the Congress of the United States, providing, if passed, for the general conscription of all young men after the present war for compulsory military training for a period of one year. He stated that the adoption of such a law would involve not only a new practice but a new philosophy of the meaning of democracy among the American people. The groups who favor such legislation are the armament makers who expect to derive further profit in peace-time from the sale and use of their wares; the army officers' group, who wish to continue in fat jobs after the war to participate and profit in the building up of a military caste in this country; and the group who fear post-war unemployment, and who regard military training of youth as a sure way of finding employment for a large number who otherwise might be unemployed.

Mr. Hawkins stated his disapproval of the proposed legislation, and presented the following arguments in favor of his position:

1. It is not the time now to consider such an important law during present war hysteria. It is not known at present what the requirements for war would be in the future or what kind of training would be needed for members of military forces in the future wars.

2. If the bill is passed, even though we win the war, we will lose the peace. We must have no third world war. If, however, the United States adopts a policy of universal military training, other nations would feel compelled to adopt a similar policy, all resulting in immense standing armies all over the world, and constituting a menace to future peace

OUR HEROES

February is the month in which we celebrate the birthdays of two of our national heroes. But this year while we pay honor to them, we also pay honor to many new heroes who on land, sea, and in the air are giving their lives for that nation which George Washington helped to found and Abraham Lincoln helped to preserve.

What makes a hero? Not his background. Our heroes come from every rank of life, class and creed. It is not a question of birth—we believe more in nobility of ascent, than in nobility of descent.

There is a common yardstick for heroes, one by which we judge these new heroes, one to which Washington and Lincoln measured up in full. It is the willingness to put others first, to give unstintingly of themselves in the cause of right, and for the protection of the country they loved and of their fellow Americans.

That their memory endured throughout the years is not just because of what they did for the nation but because they clearly foresaw the course of events.

Washington said: "My politics are plain and simple. I think every nation has a right to establish that form of Government under which it conceives it shall live most happy, provided it infracts no right or is not dangerous to others."

Lincoln said: "Our reliance is in the love of liberty which God has planted in us. Our defense is in the spirit which prized liberty as the inheritance of all men in all lands."

These are the things for which we fight today. Unless we realize the ideals of freedom for all men, unless we see to it that no basic right is infringed we will have betrayed all our heroes. Our honor of them will be a mockery.

The Lakewood Citizen has an excellent line which it runs in the center of a page containing the names of their honored dead.

"They ask no more enduring monument than final victory."

The achievement of that victory is our task. Don't let us fail any of our heroes—they did not fail us!—Ruth Taylor.

OPPOSE CONSCRIPTION ON MORAL GROUNDS

At a time when Protestants, including many Quakers and other pacifists, are expressing their opposition to peacetime conscription on the ground that it is inexpedient at this time, the Catholic Association for International Peace takes its stand against the proposal on moral grounds. Speaking through its committee on postwar plans, the C. A. I. P. sets forth its objections to universal peacetime military service under five heads. First, it denounces this institution as the symbol of militarism and charges it with having brought about "the modern mass army and total warfare." Second, it holds that conscription is based on an "exaggerated nationalism" which the military then inflates so that the people will accept "the economic and social hardships" inseparable from conscription. Third, it points out that the military draft is "a monster whose appetite is never satisfied," and reminds Americans that military service which begins with one year may easily be extended to two or three, as has happened in other countries. Fourth, it declares that this proposal involves an "enormous waste of human resources" affecting the whole male population, "to say nothing of the economic and financial waste" of this enormously extravagant policy. Fifth, it charges that it is based on the "pseudo-egalitarianism of the French Revolution," whose "tortured acceptance of democracy (requires) all citizens to serve in the ranks, no matter what their calling or other duties." Of course we would not expect that a Catholic publication would recognize that democracy includes liberty with equality and that conscription, which enforces equality, fails of democracy at the same point that Catholicism fails, in forgetting freedom. Notwithstanding this criticism, we freely recognize that the C. A. I. P. has placed Protestants as well as Catholics in its debt by providing the most incisive critique of peacetime conscription which has been made during recent discussions.—The Christian Century.

MISERY OVERTAKES HUNS

There is a great deal that is familiar in the reports that come from Germany through the media of radio broadcasts and information gathered in neighboring neutral countries. It is an old story in a new setting and with a new cast of principals. Another important change is loss of its power to arouse sympathy.

Eastern Germany, according to apparently authentic reports, has been plunged into turmoil and terror by the mass evacuations resulting from war on the "sacred" soil of the Reich. Cities and villages and farms are deserted, as the people, panic-stricken and fear-ridden, jam the roads in their flight toward central Germany. Great numbers crowd into the ruins of Berlin, suffering from hunger and cold and sickness.

It is with reason that the Germans feel sorry for themselves. "No people," laments one Berlin commentator, "can take the measure of our suffering, our heart-rending grief, our buried hopes. In the midst of a once clean and sheltered life, war has overtaken us with all its filth and misery."

What ironic amusement such self-pity must inspire in the Poles, upon whom every conceivable cruelty has been visited for five years, the Dutch, who saw their kin buried in the ruins of Rotterdam, destroyed simply as an act of wanton vandalism, the French, whose old men and women and children were machine-gunned by planes as they fled in the path of the panzers, the Czechs, the Greeks, the Belgians and the Norwegians!

War, with its filth and misery, has at last overtaken the Germans. The only unfortunate aspect of this visitation of retribution is the fact that it has been so long deferred.—The Frederick Post.

ON HOW TO LOSE FRIENDS

The National Association of Manufacturers has formed a National Industrial Information Committee, and that committee has been named to carry on an advertising campaign for the manufacturers. When there was no paid advertising being done by the association, the weekly papers were close pals to the bigwigs. The big boys in the high silk hats condescendingly placed the arm of beneficence about the shoulder of the small town brethren and patted them, not as brothers, it now seems, but as just the little fellows the great feel sorry for.

It all comes out to about this. Now that the National Association of Manufacturers has begun to spend money to advertise, the money is to be spent in daily papers of cities of more than 50,000 population. Free enterprise which will be the basis of the campaign of the big guys seeking to free themselves from what they regard as obnoxious shackles, started out here in the "grass roots" and if the manufacturers, as an association, expect to stimulate the thinking of Americans out here where the common man really thinks, and says what he thinks, they certainly should have arranged their finances so that the weekly papers in the small towns would have carried part of the advertising.

Naturally, the big brother attitude of the tycoons is now patent, even to those such as we way out here in the sticks. They naturally will get not one word of free press-worthy mention in this weekly, nor in the vast majority of other weeklies. And naturally, the bugs in the wool, the Ethiopian gentleman in each wood-pile built by the manufacturers trust will be fully exposed to the public view in every weekly newspaper in the United States.—Casa Grande Dispatch.

TAKING THE PRESSURE OUT OF FARMING

I have a young farmer friend with whom I have frequent visits on ways of making a living and at the same time getting some fun out of farming. This morning he was telling me of a farmer he knew who was a good cheesemaker and made most of his apparatus himself.

Instead of going through all the bother of producing milk for the fluid milk market, this man makes cheese and has built up a special market for every pound he can make.

Another farmer I know claims that he is just as far along at the end of five years by selling cream as he would be by producing milk for the fluid market, and he says he is a darn sight more independent. He keeps several brood sows, raises good heifer calves, has a good-sized flock of hen and keeps all of his livestock growing and his feed bills down because of his skim milk. His land, too is in better shape at the end because there is more fertility going back onto the soil.

Still another of my friends takes the high pressure out of farming by raising on his own farm most of what both his family and his livestock eat. He doesn't keep as many cows as he could if he bought grain, but he thinks he saves just as much in the end.

Some day there will be another long period of low, discouraging prices. It may be a good time now for some farmers who do not have too big a debt, or the responsibility of educating a family of children, to change their system to some plan which while it may not bring in quite so much cash will help to accumulate more permanent property and at the same time give the operation a lot more satisfaction.—Producers' Guide.

Soybeans No Menace To Soil Improvement

Rotation and Proper Fertilization Solution

SOYBEANS were defended against the charge of being "a menace to soil improvement" by a group of Purdue university agronomists. No other crop has had such a spectacular career in America as the soybean, which in little more than a decade has been catapulted into fourth place in value among crops grown for grain or seed in this country. No other crop in history has been so feared by farmers as a potential destroyer of fertility.

Reviewing the results of an eight-year test, these experts drew the following conclusions: "Soybeans are no more soil-depleting in minerals than are corn, alfalfa or some other crops on an equivalent yield basis."

Pointing out that all crops when grown and removed from the land deplete the soil minerals, the agronomists recommend that extra amounts of phosphorus and potash fertilizers be used in any crop rotation that includes soybeans in order to replenish the plant food removed when beans and other grain are sold as a cash crop.

Concerning the danger of soil erosion when soybeans are grown, they declared:

"The problem of erosion with soybeans is much the same as with corn. On rolling land, soybeans should be planted on the contour, preferably drilled solid and should be followed by a winter grain or cover crop.

Inoculation also pays.

"On acid soils, limestone or marl is the prime need of soybeans. Without lime on such soils, fertilizers have little effect. These soils after liming usually gave marked response to phosphorus and potash fertilizer when plowed under for beans."

Considering the total of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash removed in the grain, soybeans are less soil depleting than corn, the agronomists reported.

"In any soil improvement program," they added, "deep-rooted legumes, clovers and alfalfas should always be grown where soybeans are included in the rotation. Extra amounts of fertilizer containing phosphorus and potash should be used in the crop rotation to replenish the plant food removed when beans and other grain are sold as cash crops."

Submarginal Sunflower

Sunflowers may surpass the soybean which has proven America's wonder crop of the present generation.

Sunflower oil sells for about 15 cents a pound. The meal, with a protein content of 53 per cent might prove profitable, not only for its food value, but as a rich source for plastic products.

As sunflowers can be grown on submarginal soil, where rainfall is scanty and nothing else of value is now raised, it promises an outlet for many farmers.

Sunflower seeds long ago proved their value as a poultry feed. While their protein content was not recognized by many poultrymen, it was known that they had a beneficial effect upon the bird's feathers.

Sunflower stocks, ground, prove satisfactory for silage as well as poultry house litter.

Disinfect All Tools

Careless handling of instruments used for dehorning, vaccination and similar operations on cattle may spread the serious and often fatal disease, anaplasmosis, according to the U. S. department of agriculture scientists.

Inadequate disinfection of such instruments will produce what are classed as "man-made" cases of the animal disease. In many cases the loss through man-made disease can be entirely eliminated.

'Voice' Told Him to Slay, Killer of Wife Relates

NEW YORK. — Lewis Wolfe, diminutive 37-year-old Canadian who killed his pretty, red-haired wife to fill a Biblical pact, told recently of a strong voice that whispered in his ear, telling him to slay her because she had sinned.

Wolfe, who plucked at his face nervously with his left hand, the wrist bandaged where he attempted to commit suicide in his jail cell by slashing it with his broken spectacles, was overcome by the telling of his story.

His wife, a former dancer who came to his home in Palestine first as governess for his two children, dared him to carry out their pre-nuptial pact that gave the offended mate the right to take the life of one who broke their vow of fidelity, he said.

Wolfe said he tried to sleep then tried to read.

"I read our favorite Psalms. Then something snapped in my right temple. A strong voice spoke in my left ear. It said, 'Kill her. Pick up that black shoe and strike her once. Strike her twice. Strike her again and again.'"

Wolfe killed his wife with repeated blows on the head with a heavy cleated shoe. Then, Wolfe said, he called police and told them what he had done.

$152,000,000 of Civilian Goods Production O. K'd

WASHINGTON. — The War Production board announced that it had authorized $152,441,000 worth of civilian production in 772 manufacturing plants having labor and machinery not needed for war work.

Included are $10,735,000 worth of vacuum cleaners, $35,971,000 worth of bed springs and inner spring mattresses, and $15,537,000 worth of household aluminum ware to be made over the next 12 months.

Consumers' durable goods accounted for more than two-thirds of the total volume of products approved. Among the items are $374,000 worth of lawn mowers, $655,000 worth of typewriters, $1,629,000 worth of electric irons in addition to production previously approved, a few bicycles, silverware, furniture, electric lamps, office supplies, church goods, fountain pens, mechanical pencils, jewelry and sporting goods.

Last Birthday of President Lincoln

"WITH malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan, to do all which may achieve a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

These words spoken by Abraham Lincoln, not much more than a month after his last birthday, and a month before his death, give expression to the problems that were closest to his heart on his last birthday.

Not only was he concerned with the welfare of his fighting men, but he was sorely puzzled that such a war had to be. He wrote:

"In great contests each party claims to act in accordance with the will of God. Both may be, and one must be wrong. God cannot be for and against the same thing at the same time. In the present war it is quite possible that God's purpose is something different from the purpose of either party. . . . I am almost ready to say that this is probably true; that God wills this contest and wills that it shall not end yet. By his mere great power over the minds of the contestants He could have saved or destroyed the Union without a human contest. Yet the contest began. And having begun He could give the final victory to either side any day. Yet the contest proceeds."

As we honor the 136th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, we find the problems of today similar to those with which the great humanitarian was so sorely pressed on his last birthday.

Lincoln's Books

The library of the Lincoln family was very limited, but it did provide young Abraham Lincoln with the foundations of a liberal culture.

The library contained the Bible, Aesop's Fables, Defoe's Robinson Crusoe, Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, Weems' Life of Washington, A History of the United States and the dictionary. In addition he was able to borrow Franklin's Autobiography, Ramsay's Life of Washington, Life of Henry Clay, Revised Statutes of Indiana.

Lincoln believed that education was the preparation for a complete living, and to secure this complete living spent many hours by the flickering candlelight poring over the pages of the dictionary and his other books.

LOOKING AHEAD

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President—Harding College

For Peace

Prosperity in America is the first step in the direction of a lasting peace. This prosperity ought to spread, as fast as it can, to other countries. It is in America, however, where men have the key to prosperity and the United States must lead the procession to high living standards through open competition. . . . the only way to obtain a more abundant life, for ourselves or others.

At first thought, some people may not agree that prosperity has anything to do with peace. But they will convince themselves if they will think back. Troubles that built up to this present war were economic troubles. Hitler and Mussolini both climbed to power over ruin; ruined fortunes, ruined hopes, ruined lives. They got a following by promising people relief from misery.

Want Is Serious.

People will be patient, and content themselves to wait for solutions to ordinary political problems, but they will do desperate and violent things when hungry; when their families need food. Prosperity helps to maintain peace, and (as I said in the first sentence) prosperity in America is the first step. The reason is plain. Uncle Sam is the world's best customer.

When we think about the importance of the United States in world affairs, these simple figures stand out boldly: We have only 7% of the earth's population and yet we buy 40% of all the raw materials in the world from which manufactured goods are produced. When wheels are turning in America, markets get active to the four corners of the earth.

Looking to America.

When American smokestacks are warm, and American factories hum, the tin mines of Malaya get busy, the rubber plantations of Sumatra swarm with workers, and the Caribbean countries commence shipping coffee, chicla and bananas. Our prosperity is the world's peace. But why discuss it unless we can do something about it? I hasten to say we can!

Foreign lands prosper when they sell freely to America. They sell to America when jobs are plentiful and good here, when most Americans have money to buy what they want. Jobs are plentiful and good, and workers prosper, when business is expanding. Business expands when investors see possible returns from investments. They could see such opportunities now if they were not afraid of taxes.

Uncertainty Kills.

Very few business men in the United States have any idea today that they will be able to expand in peacetime pursuits. Most of them know they can't afford to expand if the present-day 95% excess profits tax remains in force. It was enacted as a war emergency measure. I do not say it ought to be repealed at this hour. But we ought to make certain now that it will not outlive the war.

Revenue measures are the hardest of all laws to repeal. Taxes rarely get smaller. But unless taxes on business get smaller after the war, investors would be insane to spend new billions for expansion. Business men want to plan peacetime sales and employment now. When Congress makes a reasonable tax law to become effective with victory, world peace will have its first guarantee of long life. It will have to be done this year.

Woman Traitor Helped Germans in Maastricht

MAASTRICHT, THE NETHERLANDS. — Beautiful Mme. Aldegonde Zegeurs, whose nude, drunken parties for her German soldier friends are still the talk of Maastricht, was described as a heartless collaborator who used her blonde, Nordic beauty to lure Netherland patriots to their death.

Sweatheart of Elite guard leaders in this section of the Netherlands during the occupation, she was arrested recently. At first she would answer no questions, but Netherland police who have interviewed her say she is calm now and is beginning to talk freely.

She was said to have confessed that she aided the Gestapo in trapping Belgian and Netherland underground workers, meanwhile extorting huge sums of money on false promises to free underground leaders she had helped trap.

The police said Mme. Zegeurs admitted working in collaboration with a Belgian woman who was a Gestapo agent. She obtained the names of Netherland leaders held in concentration camps and told their friends she could have them released. When they paid her huge sums she pocketed the money and turned in the names of those who had paid her.

Lend-Lease Shipments For 9 Months Under '43

WASHINGTON. — Lend-lease shipments of food the first nine months of 1944 were lower than in 1943, Foreign Economic Administrator Leo Crowley reported recently.

The most striking change was in beef and veal, where eight-tenths of 1 per cent of the United States supply was lend-leased to the Allies as against 1.7 per cent in 1944, Mr. Crowley said. Smaller proportions of all other meats were sent abroad.

A slight increase in the lend-lease shipment of milk products was noted, however. Smaller quantities of eggs, fats and oils, canned fish and canned fruits and juices were lend-leased abroad. Mr. Crowley reported. The shipments this year required 12.1 per cent of American eggs, 15.9 per cent of edible fats and oils, 6.9 per cent of canned fruit and juices and 10.3 per cent of canned fish.

Food received as reverse lend-lease by United States armed forces continued in heavy volume, particularly in England, Australia and New Zealand.

FEESERSBURG

The grounds is still white—with a deep snow, and last evening we had some hail and light rain, which makes everything slippery out-door—the temperature is not as low, only 50 degrees this Monday at 10 A. M. January gave us 14 clear days, 17 cloudy—5 of which it snowed and— "Neath the snow, and the sleet— God is keeping His wheat."

Here is February—with no doubt casting shadows on the 2 of January proved the 10th of the Red man's belief, who called it the "cold moon" and now this is their "Hunger Moon" (because food was scarce). 'Twas the month of birthdays of great men—alho our shortest month; and when this is read a third of it will be gone—so quickly, time passes!

Last Wednesday the Doctor pronounced Richard Grinder's illness scarlet fever, and were quarantined, for three weeks, much to their inconvenience; but he is improving and we will be glad for his recovery and their freedom; but how did we do without telephones?

After a week of work and pleasure Mrs. Addie Crumbacker returned on Friday night, the butchering all done at Clear Ridge; on Thursday they visited their mother—Mrs. George Crumbacker, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Shatzerin, Waynesboro, who is improving slowly—but cannot walk yet, nor use her fingers for her fine crocheting, so time drags—but her mind is clear, and she loves company.

On Thursday evening the Crumbacker's at Clear Ridge attended the monthly Missionary meeting of the Lutheran Church in Uniontown at the home of Mrs. H. B. Fogle—which they enjoyed; and Friday evening they spent at Keymar with the Koons sisters, in honor of Miss Blanche's birthday—when 8 of them played cards, and ate delicious refreshments, and all had a good time.

Two Soldier Boys were present in S. S. at Mt. Union on Sunday morning; Samuel Lesight—home on a ten day furlough, and G. Scott Crabbs from Y. P., for 24 hours—which he says isn't long, but it breaks the monotony and he gets to see the home folks'. Lesight just recently received his Christmas box, and better late than never.

Neuw Nusbau and wife who have rooms at Norfolk, Va., were home with this uncle, John Starr and wife for 24 hours on Saturday night and Sunday, returning in the evening to the Naval Hospital—where he has been off and on for treatment ever since his hand was injured while at work. He says the Hospital is so well equipped with every convenience, and good care of patients. Mrs. Nusbau's brother, S-Sgt H. Edwards was home on a furlough and she spent most of last week at their home near Union Bridge, and joined her husband on Saturday morning.

At S. S. on Sunday morning two fine Bibles, and two good story books were given to those who had been regular in attendance the past year. The enrollment has increased from 35 the first Sunday in January to 66 despite cold, and inclement weather.

A card from M. L. Koons informs his friends they are very pleasantly located in Washington, D. C., and a new granddaughter has come to entertain them—the first child of Geo. and Esther Koons Nye. No snow there, but a little ice some places; however they await the coming of the birds.

From Mrs. Naomi Adams Horich we learn of some splendid services at their church—Trinity Lutheran at Camp Hill, Pa., when Rev. H. F. Bink D. D., is pastor. Mr. Horich's mother—also a nonagenarian is still with them, but her sight has failed badly, and she needs care—which they kindly give her, but she don't like special attention. They've had plenty of snow and cold weather.

All our sick folks are improving; and Ross Wilhite is on his feet again; the weak after a bad bilious seizure.

On Friday evening a large sunshine basket of fruit juices, and canned goods was presented to J. H. Stuffle in the workers in the making room of the Rubber Plant in Taneytown where he is employed as service-man—when in health. He has received many cards from his co-workers also.

On Thursday of last week we were notified of the death of our cousin, S. David Newman, 94½ years of age—after a long confinement of general debility at the home of his son, Ira Max Newman in Smithburg. Because of failing sight and hearing it was hard to talk with him—however to talk and had many friends. Funeral services were held in the home on Saturday afternoon, with most of the nearest relatives present, where his intended pastor, Rev. Bell, of Gettysburg Seminary, preached an impressive sermon from Gen. 25: 8—of Abraham, "An old man full of years." There was beautiful flowers and his body was laid beside his good wife in the Smithburg cemetery.

Did you hear Lum and Abner on the Radio discuss how the Ground Hog knows when to come out to see his shadow? After many conjectures, they thought maybe the President gives them notice of the date—but decided he has too much else to attend to. Then Cedric suggested "Maybe Mrs. President sees about that, as she seems to get around a good deal." There we went off in gales of laughter—so missed their final decision.

The ice and snow and low temperature are still with us, but its good healthy weather, and a great deal better than our boys are forced to endure in the foreign countries, so let's not complain. Early travelling on Monday morning was very dangerous, a few cars unexpectedly skidded around and faced toward home, and the driver considered it best to return to their starting place. A good plan is play, "safety first."

among the nations. It is the experience of history that post-war conscription has not prevented war; it has encouraged war.

3. This bill, if passed, would lead to further regimentation of the American people. Peace-time conscription is not compatible with American democracy.

4. The proposed legislation would add from two to four billion dollars annually to our national expenses. National production, also, would suffer from the withdrawal of a million men from peace-time pursuits for military service. Military service is not a sound policy of providing employment. The great outlay of money, as well as the crippling of production might all be wasted since the training to be given might be obsolete in case of a future war.

5. The proposed legislation presents a serious challenge to our educational system. It would provide discipline but not good discipline. The schools are supposed to prepare citizens for democracy. Military discipline does not teach self-reliance. As a disciplinary measure; it is not of a type suited to American youth. It is true that conscription and military training provide the advantages of vocational training, but the schools could do the same thing better if it had similar equipment and funds.

Health improvement, which is held out as one of the advantages of compulsory military training for American youth, is not adequate under the conditions proposed. Health improvement should not start at the age of eighteen but at least in the primary grades. Under the terms of the bill now before Congress, only males in good health will be accepted for peace time training. The claim, therefore, that such training would contribute to the health of the nation is not justified.

President Wright announced that this week is being celebrated as "Boy Scout Week" and called attention to the excellent work that is being done by the Boy Scout organization. He asked for the interest of all in the movement. Following the regular meeting, the Board of Directors of the Club met in monthly session.

The meeting next week will be in charge of the House and Reception Committee, and will be "Ladies' Night."

277,000 Japs Are Killed by Yanks

Foe Reported to Have Four Million Men in Field.

WASHINGTON.—United States troops have killed at least 277,000 Japanese at a cost of 21,000 American fatalities, the office of war information revealed in a report which said that Japan already had 4,000,000 men in the field and could comfortably equip and train an additional 2,000,000. The ratio of Japanese to American fatalities was more than 13 to 1.

Japan is nowhere near the bottom of the barrel in fighting reserves and can recruit added millions from subject nations, OWI said in a detailed summation of the characteristics, equipment and organization of Japanese troops based on war department information.

In addition to the 277,000 Japanese killed in combat, 250,000 are in isolated island pockets, cut off from battle or rescue. Japanese dead since 1937, outbreak of the war with China, total about 850,000. OWI said that Japan now has about 2,000,000 troops in China.

The Japanese, the report said, are hard, fanatical fighters "but despite their extensive training and confidence in the bayonet, they have not been outstanding in close combat."

The average Japanese soldier is five feet, three inches tall and weighs 117½ pounds. The average American soldier is five feet, eight inches tall and weighs 145 pounds.

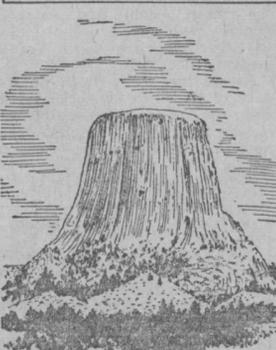

The war department, OWI said, vehemently denied that the average Jap was a "stupid, insensate peasant" and pointed to his two years of high school education. Furthermore, between 40 and 50 per cent of all Jap soldiers have studied English and about one-fourth of the Japanese army speaks English "efficiently."

Crisp Cottons Aid War Bond Sales

Forecast for next spring. Among your new warm weather clothes will be crisp cottons in high-style colors—the bare-back dress with a bolero will be more popular than ever. Combining both these style notes is this perky ensemble of black with cross-bars and bolero in lime green. A home-sewn wardrobe will save money for War Bonds. Patterns at local stores. U. S. YANKS FORCED TO SHOOT THEIR DREAM GIRL

She was a lovely vision in white, but Yank soldiers had to shoot her. Read the reason in an absorbing story of the war, one of many illustrated features in the February 25th issue of The American Weekly favorite Magazine with The Baltimore Sunday American. Order from your local newsdealer.

"In my trips to overseas theaters," says Maj. Gen. F. H. Osburn, Director of the Information and Education Division of the Army Service Forces, "I have observed that our troops benefit most from short letters that are delivered frequently and are not packed with troubles. Use V-Mail."

Service men overseas are using V-Mail more than their civilian correspondents. During November, for example, Navy V-Mail coming from overseas stations actually numbered twice the outgoing V-Mail letters. The men in combat zones have neither the time nor inclination to write long letters.

Homespun Philosophy
 By Ezra

Hitch hiking has grown to be a profession. Those plying this trade will tell you that success in this business depends on a certain flick of the thumb or expression of the face. Certain niceties must be adhered to or you do more hitching than hitching.

Some people say that hitch hiking is very dangerous. You never know who will stop and pick you up. It may be a gangster, ex-convict, smuggler, or black marketer. Of course, such people ride the highways in automobiles and I suppose there is a lot of truth in what they say. It must take a lot of grit to get in a car not knowing what you are crawling into. But, I wouldn't say that such is the stuff heroes are made of. Heroes are never rash, incautious, indiscreet, imprudent, heedless or careless. I would rather state that these tempters of Providence are gamblers. They know before hand that they are taking a chance. The odds are about ninety-eight to one that they will pick the wrong car. The stakes are higher, they are playing for more than money, sometimes with life itself.

A farmer friend of mine told me of an experience he had with one of these hitch hikers. He had driven to Taneytown in his car and while he was in the grocery store buying some groceries, a hitch hiker got into his car and waited for him to come out. When he came to the car the hitch hiker said, "Silas, I'm going to ride with you to Littlestown."

The farmer merely grinned at the impertinent youth and made no reply. After riding in silence for about ten miles without coming in sight of Littlestown, the young man became uneasy.

"I say, rube, how much farther is it to Littlestown?"
 The farmer replied: "Well, if you keep on going in the direction we are now, it's about 25,000 miles." The youth looked bewildered while he stepped on the gas. "But if you get out and walk in the opposite direction, it's about 19 miles."

You may have observed that people who are laboring under the delusion that "they know it all" sometimes have a hard time getting the facts. They build a wall around themselves through which information cannot step.

You may have further observed that folks who know the facts, and who know where they are and where they are going, like the farmer, get a great deal of satisfaction and a bit of sly fun out of watching the "smart alecks" walk back.

Whether you are a hitch hiker or a picker upper, I don't think there is much chance for heroism.

U. S. Oil Tankers Never Failed in Deliveries

NEW YORK.—"Not once did they fail," said Adm. Chester W. Nimitz in commending activities of the commercial tanker fleets engaged in transporting fuel for navy vessels in the Pacific.

Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet, made the commendation in a letter to Adm. E. S. Land, war shipping administrator, which was made public here by the American Merchant Marine institute.

"Our requirements were numbered in millions of barrels of fuel to be transported thousands of miles to the scene of fleet operations," Nimitz said. "The volume involved demanded the utmost in operational management to assure a rate of delivery in keeping with our needs. "Our success in keeping the fleet properly fueled was dependent upon the deliveries by these commercial ships. Not once did they fail."

New York City Officials Greet Return of Pet Cat

NEW YORK. — Snooky, official scourge of city hall mice, was back on the job recently after a month's disappearance caused by wounded feelings and intolerable jealousy.

The tortoise-shell-colored tomcat took a haughty powder Halloween night when an arrogant coal-black feline invaded his sacred precincts. He was found, lean but still resentful and full of pride, 10 blocks from the hall, by policemen instructed to leave no stone unturned.

His welcome included a hearty salute from Acting Mayor Newbold Morris himself, a banquet of tuna fish and assurances the interloper had been banished.

Restaurateur Posts Sign, Loses Own Coat

LAWRENCE, MASS. — When Samuel M. Freedman opened a restaurant here he was careful to post a sign reading: "We are not responsible for property lost or stolen."

Recently Freedman hung his coat near the sign, only to return a few hours later to find it had been stolen.

Freed Areas of Norway Reported Plague-Ridden

LONDON. — Still under the German scourge, the citizens of northern Norway are starving, freezing, disease-ridden bands of homeless wanderers, Terje Wold, Norwegian minister of justice, declared here after a recent trip of investigation to newly liberated portions of his country. Wold said the Arctic province of Finnmark had been "burned, plundered and laid waste until it is only a barren desert."

Diphtheria and a form of dysentery are epidemic in Kirkenes, South Varanger, Vadsoe, North Varanger, Nesseby and Tana, he said, and supplies must be sent into the recently liberated areas much more quickly than had been expected.

He said damage in East Finnmark "is greater than the most pessimistic could imagine."
 "This is not an act of panic on the part of the Germans," Wold added. "Everything was planned coolly, long in advance. In certain districts the Germans acted with extreme sadism."

 "Oh yes, a lot of things. Mostly Plymouth Rocks, Leghorns and rabbits."

"HURRY UP, CHILLENS, GET BIG SO FARMER BROWN CAN BUY MORE WAR BONDS AND CITY FOLKS GET THE PORK CHOPS THEY WANT."

DO IT WITH WAR BONDS!

Did you ever get ready to blast a stump and wish you had Hitler and Tojo tied on top of one?

Well, you are giving this pair of varmints approximately the same treatment when you buy a War Bond. Because the money from that Bond is what enables our boys to work their way ever nearer and nearer to Berlin and Tokyo, smashing up a lot of Nazis and Japs on the way.

And here's a thing to think of: those Bonds will enable you to buy new equipment and machinery, repair and rebuild buildings, refurbish your home. For you get back all that you put in; plus substantial interest at maturity.

So let's obey that impulse to blast Tojo and Adolph to the skies: : : where we've already sent the Duce. Let's buy the Bonds that will help do it!

5 REASONS FOR INCREASING YOUR WAR BOND PURCHASES

1. The tempo of this war is hitting its highest point. Government expenditures for war are at the peak. MORE MONEY IS NEEDED... NOW!
2. In proportion to WHO HAS THE MOST MONEY, individuals are not buying their share of War Bonds. America must correct this situation.
3. War Bonds provide the farmer and rancher with the financial reserve he must have to survive the ordinary ups and downs of farming as a business.
4. Money will be needed urgently at a future date to replace and repair farm equipment, machinery, and buildings. War Bonds will provide it.
5. War Bonds are the safest investment in the world, return a good rate of interest, are easy and convenient to buy... from bank, post office, rural mail carrier or Production Credit Association.

LOOKING AHEAD
 by GEORGE S. BENSON
 President—Harding College
 Searcy, Arkansas

Farmer's Friend
 Two southerners sat near me in a crowded day coach recently and carried on a heated and revealing conversation. Both men were farmers, but their similarity ended there. They were not at all alike. One seemed to be about 70 years old. He spoke with a soft "Deep South" inflection. He had attended college, was well dressed and had lived in several big cities.

The other man was nearer 30, spoke with the accent of the delta country and was obviously a practical dirt farmer with very limited schooling. The conversation was about rice. The older man insisted that rice was not grown in Arkansas. "It would be so foolish," he said scornfully. "So long as Asiatic labor is cheap there will be no money in raising rice in this country."

Young Man Was Right.
 The old gentleman almost persuaded the young man that he had been calling something rice that was not rice at all. I didn't intrude to say that I drive through miles of rice fields every time I make a trip from Searcy to Memphis, although I hated to see a man in possession of the truth so crushed under courteous language and ideas that have been out of date for 25 years.

Workers in the Arkansas rice fields are relatively well paid, as farm hands are compensated. They earn more than cotton choppers and pickers; draw wages more like a California orange grove worker. Just the same, Arkansas rice is priced right. Our growers could ship it to Japan in normal times and sell it there at a profit in competition to Chinese rice, Coolie raised.

Custom-Built Economy.
 It sounded quite familiar when the cultured gentleman - farmer explained, "The biggest part of the cost of anything is labor." The statement used to be made often and used to be almost true, but America's volume production by machinery has disputed the idea with success for years; longer than the younger man could remember. Rice in Arkansas, a new industry, is tooled up well.

That's exactly why our rice workers are well paid. They produce a lot of rice per man. An American worker, with modern tools, can produce 50 times as much rice as a China boy with a heavy hoe. Allowing liberally for machinery expense, he can earn 30 times as much as the Chinese, and does. At the same time, the rice costs less per bushel and can profitably sell for less. That's America.

Parent of Prosperity.
 Shorter hours and higher wages for people who work, lower prices and better merchandise for people who buy, are universally popular ideas. The same people want all four, because working people buy the biggest part of everything that's sold. It is strange, however, that all four of these benefits come from the same source (investment), which is not a popular idea.

Good equipment costs something. It calls for investment. With good equipment, workers increase production per man and get their pay raised, also increase production per day (or per acre) and show the investor a profit. Good equipment also increases the available supply per customer and thus lowers prices. What America needs, not to mention China, is to encourage investment.

Nose for News

BEING an ex-newspaper reporter it was natural after I had been in the army a while that I'd figure out some writing racket to make me a little dough on the side. So I began the profitable business of composing letters. I had everyone from buck privates to master sergeants coming to me for help with their tough assignments.

I should have known better than to work for a girl. But one evening a pretty blond WAC walked in and said, all blushing and shy, "I hear you write ah—well, ah, difficult letters."

"Yeah." I smiled all over, jumping to my feet. "But I never had a woman client before."
 "Oh!" She sighed deeply, while my heart did a loop the loop. "I hope you won't turn me down. Because I'm in a mess and I just don't know how to write a note that will get me out of it quickly."
 "Sit down and tell me about it," I said.

"Thank you," and she gave a hasty look around the corner of the recreation hall. But there was no one around. Corporal Lola Waters told me that her steady would have a furlough in three weeks to come five hundred miles just to bring her a diamond ring. In the past month she had come to realize that she didn't really love him any more. She wanted me to write three

"My letters didn't work." letters for her, the first to give him a vague suggestion, and the second and third to polish him off for good so he wouldn't show up at camp.

I asked her to describe the guy so I'd understand the type of Joe I had on my hands. She told me he was about six feet three, red-headed, freckled, broad-shouldered and an ex-football star. Well, I planned the first epistle for her right then and there and five days later she walked in all smiles. She thought maybe he had taken the hint. By that time I knew for sure I had never seen a girl quite so cute as Lola. So I arranged several more conferences before we finished off the second and third missives. When the last one was mailed, I charged only two dollars. That shows how hard I had fallen for her.

Tuesday, the day after Hal had originally meant to arrive with the ring, I decided to stroll over to the WAC quarters of the post and check on the effectiveness of my art. I hadn't heard from Lola for a week and I had to have some excuse to see her. About a hundred feet from the WAC recreation building my heart jumped to my throat. For there was Lola, her hat off and her cheeks flaming, talking excitedly to a guy with red hair, freckles, and the broadest shoulders I'd ever seen. What's more, the brute was getting ready to grab hold of little Lola! In a blind rage I charged at him. I remember the blank look on his face and Lola's scream.

I woke up two hours later in the hospital. Lola was bending over me. "My letters didn't work," I gasped as the whole thing came back to me, "and the big brute was going to hit you. What happened? Is my leg broken?"
 "Don't be silly," Lola said, "You have only a sprained ankle and a few bruises. You would try to smack the judo expert of Camp Kraft."
 "Oh," I groaned. "You forgot to include that in your description of Horrible Hal."
 She frowned. "I wish you'd quit calling him that. You see, he's my brother and his name isn't Hal."
 "Your brother?"

She nodded. "There isn't any Hal. I made the whole thing up because I'm an ex-reporter myself and I thought I'd write a feature article on your graft scheme. So I made up my story to get the inside dope. And when you asked for a description of Hal, all I could think of in a hurry was my brother."

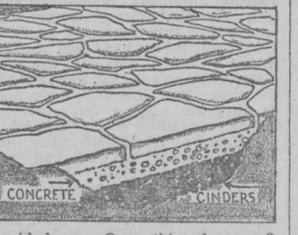

"Well," I grinned. "I guess that ruins my trade. The brass hats will clamp down on me when you make the thing public."
 "No, they won't," she said, suddenly blushing and avoiding my eyes. "Because I just couldn't go on with it. I found I liked you too much to double-cross you."

I started to lean over to kiss her but my ankle objected. I looked down at it and sighed. "Only two newspaper people could get into this kind of mix-up." With my lame right arm I pulled her closer for the clinch.

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

FLAGSTONE TERRACE
 Question: I have a spot in my yard about 6 by 12 feet that I want to fix up as an outdoor sitting room with a flagstone floor. What should I put in first and how many inches should I dig out? I have the flagstones and want to know if I should put cinders in first, and then lay the flagstones on top with cement between.

Answer: Excavate to a depth of about 10 inches. Cinders (not ashes) are then placed in the excavation, rolled and tamped well to within 5 inches of the level that you have decided on. Over this place a 3-inch bed of concrete (1 part portland cement, 2 of sand and 3 of stone, the stones no larger than 1 inch). Use no more water than necessary to make a workable mixture. Follow at once with the setting mixture (3 parts sand and 1 part cement). As soon as the setting bed is leveled, sprinkle with dry portland cement and lay the stone in the prearranged pattern. The stone must be thoroughly wet when you set it. Point all joints with a mortar mix of 2 parts sand and 1 part cement. The surface must be kept damp for several days.

Water Cistern
 Question: We have a cistern in the basement which does not hold water above the faucet level. During a recent storm the cistern was full to the top at night, but the water had disappeared to the faucet level by morning. We have had three different people re-cement the walls and floor of the cistern. During my absence my husband put a thin coat of cement on the outside, and it looks terrible—but I guess he meant well. Can you offer some suggestion?

Answer: It is possible that your difficulty lies with the faucet; the constant water level at this point seems to indicate it. If the faucet is not used, remove it and plug up the hole; however, if it is necessary, remove the old faucet and replace it with a drain valve.

Cottage Floor Is Cold
 Question: We have a four room frame cottage, heated with oil stoves. But the floors are not warm enough, and we would like to know if there is some way we could remedy this? There is no basement, but even though it is entirely closed to the ground all around the cottage, it gets quite cold. We do not want to go into anything too expensive. What can you suggest?
 Answer: If there is enough space under the house, place blanket insulation, the kind that comes with a waterproof covering, between the floor joists. Your local building material or lumber dealer should be able to supply you with this type of insulation. Should this be impossible to do, cover the floor with a carpeting; a rug cushion under it will add to the comfort.

Piano Keys
 Question: The smooth, glossy finish on the ivory keys of my piano has become very rough. What can be done to restore the original finish?
 Answer: The ivory has been worn down, and restoration of the keys to their original finish cannot be done at home. A piano repairman could replace the ivory covering. You can, however, improve the appearance of the keys with a coat of white enamel. Rough the surfaces by rubbing with fine sandpaper, then clean them by wiping with turpentine. For a first coat use an enamel undercoat or flat paint, and finish with a good quality white enamel.

Shingles or Siding
 Question: Which would be the more practical to use on the exterior of our house, shingles or siding? Do the shingles make a tight finish, or will they become loose in time?
 Answer: Both types of exterior wall covering are practical, and if properly applied wood shingles or siding should give you long service, when protected against the elements by paint or a wood preservative. The choice of one or the other is up to yourself. Inspect several houses covered with siding and shingles, and see which you like best.

Unwashed Oriental Rug
 Question: Is there anything I can do to take the odor out of an unwashed Oriental rug? It has the odor of a camel or, possibly, a barn.
 Answer: Put the rug in the care of an expert on Oriental rugs. Look in your classified telephone directory, or ask a salesman in the rug section of a large department store to recommend an expert. There are preparations called rug shampoos on the market, but I would not recommend your trying to do the job yourself, in this case.

'My Wife,' Thief Says; He Gets Away With It
 CLEVELAND. — Bystanders, who thought of stopping a man racing toward a waiting automobile with the purse of Mrs. Maud Markoules, hesitated when they heard him say the woman was his wife and "she is trying to hold out on me." Mrs. Markoules, a waitress, later said she had never seen the man before.

Oral Will Backed By Ship Survivor
Affidavit Is Presented With Appeal for Probate.

LOS ANGELES. — Just before a Japanese submarine submerged with 100 captured American seamen on its deck, most of them with their hands bound, one of them made an oral will.

The story was told by one of 23 survivors in a petition for probate of the will of First Mate Clement Carlin of the torpedoed ship. It was filed in superior court.

The mate left his entire estate, estimated at $10,000, to one of his four brothers, John M. Carlin, Glendale, Calif., defense worker.

As proof of the will, there was offered the affidavit of Charles E. Pyle, member of the sunken merchant ship crew, who was rescued by an Allied seaplane. He said: "On July 2, 1944, I was a member of the _____, a merchant ship of the U. S. Maritime commission, which was at that time operating in the _____ On that day, the _____ was torpedoed and sunk. A member of the crew was Clement Carlin. . . . We had left the torpedoed ship in a lifeboat. An hour after the torpedoing, our lifeboat was approached by a Japanese submarine and all of us were taken on board the deck of the surfaced sub.

"First, the Japs shot the youngest member of the crew, a boy of 17, as a warning, then for four hours they subjected us to beatings. . . . In the lifeboat, Carlin made an oral will. He said, 'I would like to state what I would like to have you, Charley Pyle, do regarding my property if you come out and I don't, and you can do the same thing for me. It is my desire that my brother, John M. Carlin of Glendale, Calif., have all my property regardless of what it is. . . ."

"First Officer Carlin was killed by the Japanese on that date. . . . The Jap submarine submerged with 100 men on the deck outside. They bound the hands of all those who showed signs of life and left unbound only 23 of us whom they had beaten so severely they had given us up for dead. . . . We 23 who were not bound were picked up by Allied flying boats while were floating on the water soon after the sub submerged."

Deteriorates Furs
 Furs deteriorate from heat, and therefore should not be exposed to it. Heat dries the oils out of leather. It is the natural oil and those that have been added that influence the life of the fur. Most furs give little trouble from fading, but even natural undyed furs may fade. Undue or continual exposure to the sun will change the shade of dark furs and cause white furs to turn yellow.

JESUS AND THE TWELVE

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 10:1, 5-8; 11:1, 25-30.
GOLDEN TEXT—Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you.—John 15:14.

Service for Christ has not always been as impressive and effective as it should be because it has lacked conviction and spiritual power. God did not intend it to be the weak and faltering thing that it often is, because of our failure to go God's way.

The sending out of the twelve had special significance, and yet it brings forth principles which have a bearing on the service of every believer in Christ.

The Servants of Christ—
I. Have a Divine Commission (10:1, 5-8).

The twelve disciples had already been called into the Lord's service. Now they were to be prepared for the service which was ahead. It was a time of commissioning and empowerment for service.

God calls men today to serve Him. In fact, there is a very real sense in which every Christian is called to serve. Let no one try to excuse himself from that responsibility and privilege.

To some comes a special call to leave their accustomed daily work and launch out into a broader service for Christ. When that time comes, we may go forth with the assurance that the power of a divine Saviour goes with us. The twelve disciples had some special powers which we do not have and do not need. God suits the power to the need, and that means that in every circumstance we may look to Him with assurance, and go on.

One of our difficulties in dealing with such matters as spiritual power is that we interpret the things of the realm of the spirit by physical standards and measurements. We are so quick to say "I cannot" on the basis of our logical human reasoning, when an appreciation of the power of God which is operative on our behalf would make us say with confidence, "I can." But, sadly enough, having left God out of our reckoning, we find that it is indeed true that we cannot.

Serving Christ means doing so in His power, and with His grace upon us. Nothing less will do! Nothing more is needed!

II. Declare a Divine Revelation (11:1, 25-27).

The messenger's responsibility and importance are largely determined by the nature of the message he has to convey. Particularly is that true where the message must pass through his personality and thus be proclaimed. The nations of the earth choose their most able men to be their ambassadors and grant them full power.

The glorious thing about being a messenger for God is that we carry no ordinary communication. What we have to present is far above the most important message any earthly ambassador could possibly have to carry.

We, the children and servants of God through Jesus Christ, have something direct from the throne of God. He has revealed it (v. 25), and it seemed good in His sight to give it to those who had the childlike faith to believe Him.

God's revelation is hidden from those who are wise in their own conceits, who are too proud to come by way of humility and faith. Thank God, some of the wise and mighty of this world have been willing to become as little children and learn at the feet of Jesus.

The encouraging thing about it is that the door is open to the simplest believer to trust God, to take the revelation of God's truth in His word, and give it out with grace and power.

III. Extend a Divine Invitation (11:28-30).

"Come"—what a blessed word for the needy and sinful! They are not to be shut out by their sin, nor to be hindered by their weakness. The door is open, and the invitation is to come. Why not respond?

To whom are they to come? To Jesus. There are times when men can help us, when friends or church officers or the pastor can give us an uplifting word of counsel and encouragement. But for salvation, for a real lifting of the burden from the shoulders of those "that labor and are heavy laden," there is no one like Jesus.

We are privileged to invite people to Jesus, knowing that if they "learn" of Him (v. 29), they will not only have their loads lifted and find rest, but will enter into a blessed yoke, fellowship with Him in life and service.

His is a wholesome or a kindly yoke. That is the meaning of "easy" in verse 30. It is not always easy to serve Christ, but being yoked with Him in a kindly fellowship of service makes the burden light.

The world is full of tired and discouraged people. We who know Christ have the adequate answer to their need. Shall we not go in His name to present the truth to them and invite them to come to Christ?

Old Aleuts Practiced

Two-Way Polygamy

Inhabitants of the Alaskan region, ancient Aleuts, had a primitive civilization of their own, anthropologists say.

The Aleuts practiced two-way polygamy, with a man entitled to as many wives as he could support by hunting, and a woman to as many husbands as she could keep house for. Wives were obtained by violent capture, or by purchase from their parents, followed by mock abduction to preserve illusions of cave-man methods. When a man married, he was encouraged to keep adding to his harem all the younger sisters and cousins of his wife—and conversely, a woman frequently became the bride also of all her husband's brothers and cousins. Yet, despite these conditions, the capture of brides from other islands was often the cause of combat. Also, girls with service men in this region need not worry, as the modern descendants of the Aleuts do not continue these free-and-easy polygamous practices.

Descriptive names were used by the Aleuts. Some translate to such phrases as "The Quickly Speaking Person," "The One Who Is Always Lying," and "The Sea Lion's Hair." Punishment of children was rare. Almost the only type known, and one common to all Eskimos, consists of plunging a crying infant into snow or cold water. "This remedy, performed in winter amid broken ice, is very effectual."

Artificial Lights Boost

Egg Output in Winter

One way to stimulate egg production during the winter months, when egg prices are relatively high, is by the use of artificial lights, points out E. M. Funk of the University of Missouri college of agriculture.

Until recently it was believed that the use of artificial lights increased egg production by increasing the consumption of feed and water. While feed and water should be before the birds at all times, the increase in egg production from artificial lighting results primarily from the stimulation of hormone production which increases ovarian activity.

A number of different methods of using lights have been used with satisfactory results. Lights turned on in the morning give good results. Evening lights may be used but some system of dimming the lights is necessary so the birds will go to roost before the lights are turned off entirely. The length of the day can be more accurately adjusted by using both evening and morning lights.

Rug Care

Methods of saving rugs and carpets from the rug-cutting ravages of gritty dirt, malicious moths and sharp furniture legs are suggested by Lois A. Lutz, Oregon State college extension specialist in home management. Caster cups under furniture legs keep them from cutting into carpets. These may be of glass, plastic or wood. Pads under floor coverings take some of the wear. A mothproofed hair pad is best, but several layers of newspapers will do. Door mats help keep dirt off rugs and carpets indoors. A quick brush-up is recommended every day. Daily sweeping with a soft brush or hand carpet sweeper picks up loose dirt, lint and thread. If left on longer, dirt works down to the roots of the pile where more severe cleaning is necessary to remove it. Dining-room rugs regularly exposed to crumbs and grease need a daily brushing to which off grease before it can soak in.

Magnetic Storms

During the 36 years from 1906 to 1942 there were 2,800 days on which magnetic storms occurred on the earth. A study of these days made at the Commonwealth Solar observatory, Canberra, Australia, by Dr. C. W. Allen, and reported in the "Monthly Notes of the Royal Astronomical Society," reveals that they fall into four groups, all of which are associated with 27 periods. Three of the groups were associated with visible eruptions on the sun, or with sun spots, and these magnetic storms took place 1.5 and 2.5 days after the disturbances were on the sun's meridian. The fourth group, consisting of lesser storms, was associated with a region on the sun on which there was no visible outbreak. The particles causing these disturbances require, it is estimated, three days to travel from the sun to the earth.

Mucus and Influenza

Mucus in the lungs may be a factor that reduces resistance to influenza, particularly the mucus caused by irritation following the use of ether as an anesthetic. If atropine, which inhibits the production of mucus, is administered the percentage of deaths in experimental animals from heavy doses of the influenza virus is greatly reduced, particularly if it is injected from 15 minutes to 6 hours before the infection. Dr. A. H. Wheeler and Dr. W. J. Nungester tested the effect of atropine on mice at the hygienic laboratory of the University of Michigan. When atropine was administered 15 minutes before the virus was injected 22 per cent of the animals died, but when the drug was not administered the deaths amounted to 58 per cent, they report in Science magazine.

The True Lent

By W. M. Punshon

There's winter on the hills today,
The sand wint' soughs o'er church-yard knolls,
And weary nature seems to say,
"Tis Lenten-tide for sinful souls."

The barb is in our heart today;
Sore crushed with sense of ail and sin,
We feebly strive and faintly pray,
'Gainst danger near, for grace within.

We mourn our pride and passion's stain,
The earthy in our hearts enshined;
The rebel flesh, too oft in vain
Commanded by the nobler mind;

And all of human curse or care
Which lurks life's dangerous paths among,
To quench the altar-flame of prayer,
Or hush the heavenward stain of song.

Start of Solemnity

"Remember, man, that thou art dust and unto dust thou wilt return." This admonition to the penitent will be given to thousands, with the imposing of ashes upon their foreheads, on Ash Wednesday, February 14, the start of the 40-day period of devotion that is Lent.

Lent Start of Prayer and

Fast of Forty Week Days

Lent is a fast of 40 days, not including Sundays, beginning with Ash Wednesday, and ending with the Saturday preceding Easter. The Catholics, Anglican, and other churches make it a season of special self-denial.

As in previous war years, the Lent period will not be strictly observed as a season of fast. Starting on February 14, sometimes called the quadragesimal fast, it will be observed throughout the world as a period of denial and prayer.

Because of the mortifying of the flesh, special penance and prayer, Lent is preeminently the season of spiritual revival in the church. It is supposed to have had its origin in a desire to commemorate our Lord's 40 days of fasting in the wilderness, and His temptation by Satan. At first it lasted only 40 hours, the length of time our Lord lay in the grave, and was purely voluntary.

In time Lent developed into a regularly prescribed fast, and was observed by Christians generally. Its duration was extended to 36 days in the fifth or sixth century. Either Gregory the Great, in the sixth century, or Gregory II, in the eighth century, added the four days to make out the forty. Moses, Elias and our Lord each fasted 40 days, and many contend that this accounts for the 40 days of Lent.

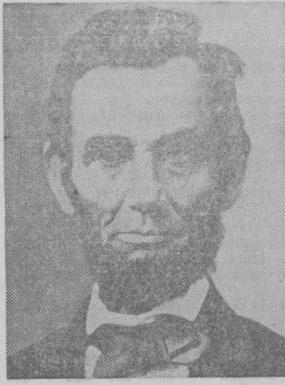

It is of interest to note that nations and individuals in all ages of the world have observed days and seasons of fasting and prayer. Fast was observed by the Ninevites, when Jonah threatened them with Jehovah's judgment on their sins.

The Jews from the beginning of their existence as a distinct nation observed days of fasting.

While our Lord and the Apostles did not command fasting, their language anticipates such an exercise of the soul on fitting days.

The Mohammedans annually kept their ninth month, Ramadan, as a fast, abstaining from food and drink from the rising to the setting of the sun.

Civil War President

All the world will honor the 136th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, on February 12. The great humanitarian will always represent an outstanding example of democracy's foremost advocate.

Facts and Fancies on Origin Of Our St. Valentine's Day

THE origin of St. Valentine's day is shrouded in conflicting theories.

The Romans believed that on the 14th of February the birds chose their mates and the toga-toting gentlemen took this as an omen from the gods that man should follow suit. On that date, accordingly, a feast was held in ancient Rome to the pastoral gods Luperus and Pan and to the goddess Juno. The maidens would place their names in an urn and the unmarried swains would draw the slips. This method of introduction, it was hoped, would lead to a permanent romance.

With the advent of Christianity, the Feast of Luperalia as a pagan celebration was frowned upon. The problem was solved by dedicating the day to St. Valentine, patron of the amorous. St. Valentine was a martyred Roman priest, who, by strange coincidence was beheaded on February 14, 270 A. D., for refusing to denounce his faith in Christianity.

It is said that during his imprisonment, St. Valentine wrote the jailer's blind daughter a farewell message signed, "From Your Valentine." There were six other Valentines, all of which have merit as being the original St. Valentine.

The first American valentine was made in 1847 by a young lady, Esther Howland, just out of college. Her father, a stationer at Worcester, Mass., carried a stock of English imported valentines. Her valentine factory soon was doing a $100,000 a year business.

PROPOSED STATE BUDGET ANALYZED BY RESEARCH GROUP

Governmental Efficiency Commission Points Out Need For Better Budget Making System

The $117,000,000 State budget as presented to the General Assembly, now in session at Annapolis, is described in a report by the Commission on Governmental Efficiency and Economy, as being in fact no budget at all but merely an "initial plan for disbursement and apportionment," with no fixed ceiling for special fund expenditures and hence composed in part of items subject to change throughout the two years to which it applies. Further, this taxpayer's research organization points out that it is customary for supplemental appropriations to be added.

Maryland State budgets when presented are of this character, it is stated, because of certain provisions in present laws and because of the policy of Special Funds for dedicating certain revenues to certain agencies and purposes. The Commission in its report details a number of instances wherein the budget, as presented under prevailing circumstances, is confusing and lacking in comprehensiveness. The Commission also makes reference to its earlier reports wherein changes in the law and in policies necessary for the establishment of sound budgeting procedure, were outlined.

The State budget as presented to the legislature totals $117,344,403 for the years 1945-46 according to the Economy Commission and is larger by $9,991,971 than was the budget for the two preceding years of 1943-44. The budget is to be provided by $55,739,308 of General Fund revenues, $54,292,578 of Special Fund revenues and $7,312,517 to be taken from the Surplus estimated to be available on July 1, 1945. The budget as presented does not include anything for new debt creation nor the $5,025,000 of bond issues suggested in the Governor's Budget Message.

Included in the report just issued is the following tabulation which makes a comparison between the budget now proposed and that for the past two years and it shows the increase or decrease in the various items in dollars and in percentage.

The Economy Commission sent its report on the proposed budget to all members of the General Assembly and to the State officials concerned. These were previously supplied with its recommendations, made two years ago, for changes in laws and policies which would provide for a better budget making procedure.

Gospels of Americanism

Lincoln's Gettysburg address will always take its place among the five gospels of Americanism. Sharing this honor with the Mayflower Compact, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, and Washington's Farewell address, it holds a "first" place in the hearts of all Americans.

Rocket Marvel To Jolt Nazis

New Weapon Is Hinted at in Plan for Vast Sum to Be Spent for Navy.

WASHINGTON.—The navy shortly will be spending $100,000,000 monthly on rocket ammunition alone. Rockets have found increasing use, among others, for spraying death upon Japanese machine gunners as a cover for landing operations.

The $100,000,000 outlay, to be attained within four months, is "as much as is now being spent per month for all types of naval ammunition," said the Office of War Information in a cautiously worded report on the United States' use and development of rockets.

The army is down for about $12,000,000 monthly throughout 1945 for rocket ammunition, over and above the amount spent on the projectors themselves—tank-piercing bazookas and other rocket launchers.

Indication that America may have some rocket surprises in store for the Axis was given in this OWI comment: "Newest American rocket developments, including design details and the range and speed attained by the projectiles, as well as projection figures, have not yet been made public by the military authorities."

Noting that ordnance experts have not officially reported any giant, long-range projectile like the German V-2 rocket bomb, OWI said: "American ordnance experts have concentrated on developing artillery type rockets, with emphasis on correcting the present relative inaccuracy of rocket fire."

Characterizing the rocket as "one of the principal weapon innovations of this war," OWI said it is used on seven types of American war planes—the army's Lightnings, Airacobras, Warhawks, Thunderbolts, and Mustangs, and the navy's TBF torpedo planes and the Bell manufactured jet-propelled planes.

Found Effective.

Rear Adm. Daniel E. Barbey, commander of the navy's Seventh fleet amphibious force, was quoted as reporting that rockets were "particularly effective during the crucial phase of establishing a beachhead." "Fired from multiple deck tubes on landing craft, rockets spread destruction among enemy machine gunners as they wait for the troops to hit the beach," the report continued.

The newer 4.5 inch "M-8" rocket is roughly twice the diameter and length of the bazooka and equals in firepower the 105 mm. medium artillery gun, OWI reported. Yet its launch costs $104 compared with $8,406 for the artillery piece.

PELELIU, PALAU ISLANDS.—The Japanese didn't know it, but when Ralph Teodosio Soncuya crept up to the slits of concrete bunkers during the savage Peleliu battles and harangued them to surrender they were hearing a voice like Donald Duck's.

Soncuya, now navy pharmacist's mate first class of the first marine division, is a clever imitator of animal sound.

A native of the Philippines, Soncuya, 47, went to the United States when he was 21 and for many years was a registered pharmacist in Arkansas.

Great Britain Lifts

Curb on Corset Styles

LONDON.—Britain's stout women are going to get a break, but the government isn't stretching a point to grant it.

The Board of Trade announced the ending of all restrictions on corset styles—with the exception of that limiting the use of rubber. This means the lid's off on the use of metal, cloth, lace and trimmings.

The concessions were made possible, the announcement said, by improvement in steel stocks and increased capacity in the corset accessory industry.

German Terror Reign Is Reported Inside Norway

LONDON.—A great new German terror campaign to crush resistance in Norway was reported by the Norwegian government. A government spokesman said the Germans were making mass arrests to begin an attempted "crushing blow" to Norwegian patriots.

The Norwegians were told that "by careful thought, cool calculation, and discipline we shall smash the attack." The warning said it was "urgently necessary" that all patriots who might be caught should immediately go into hiding.

Don't Take Teeth Out

Is Latest German Order

WITH THE THIRD U. S. ARMY.—Orders captured from a panzer grenadier division disclosed the German high command is placing a heavy penalty on "shirkers" in the front line who deliberately break their false teeth or their glass eye so that they might avoid combat duty.

"False teeth must not be taken out except for cleaning purposes," the order said.

CHILDREN'S AID MEETS

The 16th annual meeting of the Carroll County Children's Aid Society was held in the Westminster Firemen's building, Monday, February 5, at 2 P. M. The president, Mrs. Frank T. Myers, presided. The Reverend Elwood S. Falkenstein, pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church, Westminster delivered the invocation. Words of greeting were extended by the First Vice-President, Mrs. David H. Taylor. She congratulated the organization on its accomplishments of the sixteen years.

Miss Bonnie M. Custenborder read her service report.

The address of the afternoon was given by Doctor Lowell S. Ensor, pastor of the Westminster Methodist Church. Dr. Ensor spoke on Juvenile Delinquency as one of the major problems we have to face today. He stressed the fact that Juvenile Delinquency is often a result of adult delinquency.

Four major problems affect the life of a child—home, community, school and church. "Life has become too secularized," he said, "We have lost sight of spiritual and moral values." There must be more emphasis on character development in school, and the church must be the leaven in our spiritual and moral life. He also emphasized the importance of the community supplying facilities for recreation for our boys and girls so "we will know where they are."

Mrs. Myers presented a brief president's message at which time she thanked all the foster parents for their fine work of character building. The following foster parents were honored for ten years or more of service.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gezell, 15 yrs, 1 child; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Saegusa, 13 years, 14 children; Mr. and Mrs. George April, 12 years, 1 child; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rinehart, 11 years, 8 children; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Strevig, 10 years, 3 children. Each foster mother was presented with a corsage of pink carnations. One of the foster children, Joanna Sellman, delighted the audience with a poem. Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. K. Perry, assisted by a group of ladies.

CIVILIANS AT WAR

Your Government needs and asks its citizens in this 166th week of the war to:

1. Employ special nurses only when you are critically ill.
2. Keep on saving your wastepaper. Collections are lagging, but the need remains critical.
3. Conserve all possible fuel as bad weather and hard-pressed railways seriously tax coal distribution. Coal and oil help fire the guns.
4. Write overseas by V-mail—fast, sure, private. V-mail saves precious cargo space. Frequent V-mail letters are profoundly welcomed.

CITY CREEK MONUMENT

Orson Platt and Erastus Snow emerged from the East Canyon the morning of July 21, 1847, and marvelled at the beauty of the Great Salt Lake Valley, Utah. Later Brigham Young, suffering from "mountain fever," arrived with the rear guard of settlers. They gazed with admiration upon the vast valley with the waters of the Great Salt Lake glistening in the sun. War Bonds furnish funds to keep supplies going to U. S. fighting forces that keep enemies far from this region where a monument memorializes the sacrifices of settlers who made possible today's enterprising state.

A Wise (Guy) Fly Nit—What's that buzzing around my head?

Wit—That's a horsefly. You know the kind of fly that buzzes around horses and jackasses.

Nit—You're not inferring I'm a jackass.

Wit—No, but you can't fool a horsefly!

I'm going to town tomorrow for my baby chicks and a good supply of Dr. Salsbury's new REN-O-SAL, enough for its tonic benefits now and for prompt control of cecal cocci-diosis if it appears in my flock. Dr. Salsbury's CAN-PHO-SAL helps, too, if chicks have clogged nostrils and difficulty in breathing. I always keep it on hand.

Abraham Lincoln fought for government of the people and for freedom for the individual. He fought against tyranny, intolerance, and racial prejudice.

Today, the fight for the principles which he espoused is being bitterly waged in a world arena. The gaunt figure of the Great Emancipator stands in the shadows, guiding and encouraging us on to Victory.
