SERVICE MEN LETTERS

Tell of the Experiences of Our Soldiers

India, March 18, 1945.

Hello There:
Well, I've finally decided to write the letter I promised you when I was home. I didn't know then that I'd be writing you from the other side of the globe, but that is exactly what I'm doing. I'm over here in India now, and I can't say that it's as glorious as pictures and books lead us to believe. However, I've seen many interesting things. Far too many to tell you about in this letter. I will try to tell you a little about India and our life here.

This of course is a tropical country. At present the heat and dust are really something to talk about. I haven't a thermometer, but I believe it must be about a hundred at least. We are sleeping in tents, six men per tent. The sides of the tents are open all day and night. Oh yes, I almost forgot, we have monkeys and Jeckels right here in camp. They usually put in their appearance at night. Do you think that you'd like to awaken in the middle of the night and find a Jackel staring you in the face, or a monkey swinging from the tent pole? It sounds worse than it really is, though can't say that I mind this too much even though I've only been here a short while.

As to the people of India, well I'll try to picture it this way. Very dark skin and black hair and eyes. They wear just a few dirty pieces of cloth wrapped around themselves. Many of them are born, live their lives and die, right on the streets, or maybe I should say in the alleys of the cities. Poverty, the intense heat and their religion are the chief causes of this. They cannot rise above the cast, or class into which they are born. A man who is born a street sweeper will live and die as such regardless of the wealth he may acquire. The Indians, in my opinion, are a very fascinating people, but I'm sure glad that I was born an American. Well I'll stop this talk about the Indians and tell you the rest when I get home.

Our life here isn't too bad. Of course I'm coming home on the first opportunity, but I really can't complain. A great deal of our spare time is taken up in the prevention of disease. Nets must be used to sleep under, water must be purified and there's a dozen other little things we must do to prevent sickness. This, you understand, is always a problem in a tropical climate.

We do, however, have wonderful nights for sleeping. Believe it or not, I sleep under a wool blanket. You see, these cool nights are of great value in resting one up for the intense heat of the day.

There are hundred of other things I'd like to describe or tell you about; but I'll have to let them wait for the present as I've work to do now. Guess we'll have plenty to talk about when I get home. I'll say so-long for now. Hope to hear from you soon. Sincerely,

Hello Friends:

One of our shipmates was right when he said, "The Navy always puts the TEXAS in the toughest and biggest fights." As you have learned from the home town paper, this time our job was to give heavy gunfire support to the Marines landing on Iwo Jima.

When we learned where we were going, we had a good idea that it was going to be a tough job, because the Japs are fanatical fighters, and if they put up such a scrap for islands far away from home like Tarawa, what would they do to defend this two by four fortress island literally on their front doorstep? It's a rough and rugged island, mostly volcanic rock with thousands of crevices and cliffs which made it ideal to defend, but wicked to invade. Remember this island has been part of their Empire for a long time, and they really had a chance to get "hold in." Actually I think they must have all lived in caves, because from the ship we couldn't see anyone moving on the island.

We pounded the island for three days before the Marines landed, and then on D-Day when they came plowing in with their landing boats, the ships stood off the beach—how of one ship close to the stern of the one ahead—and poured tons of explosive steel into that island. We wanted to soften it up as much as possible and to do all we could for those Marines heading for the beach. I want to tell you those Marines have what it takes, and they take what they land on, no matter what. By the fight they've put on out here they've seen to it that Iwo Jima is no longer just the name of an island in the Pacific. It's a lot more than that. When you mention Iwo, you think of the same things you have in mind when you say Guadalcanal, Tarawa and Saipan.

As I said, Iwo is an extinct volcano (although it seemed to come alive again with the smoke and flame from our shells), and at the southern end is Mt. Suribachi. This mountain was honey-combed with enemy guns and emplacements and proved to be a miniature Rock of Gibraltar. For three days we watched Suribachi, trying to follow the Marines advance up her craggy side. Then suddenly on the third day—it was a beautiful day—there it was. On the highest peak of the mountain, there was Old

GRADUATES FROM ARMORED SCHOOL TANK DEPARTMENT

Fort Knox, Ky.—(Special)—Another class of skilled tank mechanics, trained to keep the big General Shermands and their little brothers, the light tanks, roaring into combat, had been graduated today from the Armored School Tank Department.

Graduates included: Private Richard D. Heltbride, son of Mrs. Mahlon T. Brown, R.D. 2, Taneytown, Maryland.

During their training in the Tank Department the soldier students worked with the same tools issued to field crews and under the same conditions they are likely to encounter in the field. They studied the mechanics of the various tanks, from track to turret, tearing them down to learn how to keep them moving in combat.

The Armored School, one of the largest technical institutions in the world, is commanded by Brig. Gen. P. M. Robinson. It graduates many times more students each year than the average civilian university or college.

PROMOTED TO STAFF SERGEANT

WITH A 12TH AAF B-25 GROUP IN THE MEDITERRANEAN THEATRE — Wesley J. Mummert, 20, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Murray O. Fuss, Taneytown, Md., has been promoted to staff sergeant while serving as an aerial gunner with a 12th Air Force B-25 Mitchell medium bombardment group in the Mediterranean theatre.

With other 12th air force bomber and fighter groups it has tremendously reduced supplies reaching front line German troops opposing the Allied armies in Italy.

and Camp Lejeune, North Carolina. He did guard duty 18 months at Washington, D. C. and had further training at San Diego, Calif., prior to going overseas Aug. 11, 1944. He served with the 4th Marine Division and was injured November 7, 1944. The last word received, Feb. 1, was "I am aboard ship going into combat."

Sgt. Sell was a graduate of Taneytown High School, Class of '39, and was employed by the Blue Ridge Rubber Company prior to entering service. He was popular with the young folks and had great respect for the older folks and was a quiet young man.

He is survived by his father and mother, three sisters, Mrs. David W. Hess, Mrs. Clifford Keilholtz, Taneytown; Mrs. Charles Hosfeld, and a brother Robert E. Sell, of Westminster.

TANEYTOWN SEAMAN IN PHILIPPINES ISLANDS

Harry A. Clutz, Jr., seaman, first-class, Taneytown, is now serving with his ship in the Philippines Islands campaign. His last action aboard the fighting light cruiser was the bombardment of Corregidor Island, where a successful landing was made after naval guns under the direction of Cruiser Division Commander Rear Admiral R. S. Berkeley silenced enemy batteries.

Clutz has seen all the major bombardment and amphibious operations in the Philippines, and took part in seven of the landings in the northern New Guinea campaign during the past 18 months. Clutz is looking forward to a reunion with his brother, Pvt. Eugene Clutz of the Army.

CARROLL COUNTY'S RED CROSS ACHIEVEMENTS

The active committees of our Red Cross are production which includes all garments either knitted or stitched and surgical dressings; Motor Corps which has a varied program; Canteen Corps which takes care of any emergency food requirements; First Aid which gives instruction and certifies instructors in first aid and accident prevention; Home Service which stands between the Army and Navy and the home of the serviceman.

Since the surgical dressing rooms were opened in 1942 a half million dressings have been made. In 1944 1152 army kit bags and 555 knitted garments were made. This is aside from the number of articles made by the Junior Red Cross.

The motor corps gave approximately 2483 hours of service during this period. The blood donor unit was given about 600 pints of blood in 1944. The canteen corps provided food for all these donors and workers. First Aid has six mobile units in Carroll County, 14 certified instructors and four accident prevention instructors. In 1944 187 persons were instructed in first aid. There is also a disaster relief setup in the county.

Home Service has many phases from verifying needs for furloughs and furlough extensions to sending and receiving communications for civilians in occupied countries. Home Service gives information to the military concerning anything pertaining to the service man's family. It executes many forms sent by the government mostly for the Office of Dependency Benefits. It consults with the Veterans Bureau concerning claims and pensions and perform many other services. Monthly reports must be sent to headquarters and include approximately 90 cases cared for, 85 visitors interviewed, 60 phone calls and replies to an average of 25 telegrams. Home service gives 24 hours service.

Bad luck or not—match prices in the China-Burma-India theater of war would certainly encourage three or more on a match. Veterans back from over there say they're selling for five cents each —By Anne Goode.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR CLOTHING COLLECTION

Taneytown Joins Nation in Drive

Districts of the county are completing plans for the United National Clothing Collection for needy Allied Countries during the month of April. County chairman, T. William Mather, has had favorable reports from all service clubs, from the ministers, principals and teachers in the county schools, and from a number of organizations in communities so that all sections will be served.

The service clubs in their respective towns will sponsor the movement and back their efforts in making large collections. Prof. Raymond S. Hyson, superintendent of schools, has sent a letter to all principals and teachers, urging their participation in the collection. The drive will take place during the month of April and the dates of Wednesday, April 11, and Wednesday, April 18, have been selected as the two days for the children to bring clothing to the schools. A truck will visit the schools on these days and pick up all clothing brought in.

During the last week of the drive, the State Armory will be open so that persons who were unable to conveniently plan for the house to house collection, may take their clothes there. A committee will be on hand to receive the garments and they will be sorted.

The kinds of clothing needed are the following:

BUS ROUTE PROPOSED

Planned to Run Through Taneytown From York

The citizens of Taneytown and community will be interested in the contents of a news article published in the Frederick Daily News of last Wednesday to the effect that the Potomac Transportation Company of Frederick, which now operates bus routes locally in the City of Frederick and also a line from Frederick to Winchester, Va., has applied to the Public Service Commission for a Franchise of the State of Maryland and to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a franchise to operate a bus line between Frederick and York, Pa., by way of Walkersville, Woodsboro, Keymar, Taneytown, Littlestown, Hanover and Spring Grove.

If the franchise is granted, two round trips will be made each day in each direction between Winchester and York. The busses to pass each other in Frederick. According to approximate schedule which is published, busses will leave York and Winchester at 6:30 A. M. each day, both arriving at Frederick at 8:15 A. M. Afternoon busses will leave York and Winchester at 2 P. M., passing each other in Frederick about 3:45. If this schedule is followed, the approximate schedule for Taneytown will be about as follows: Leave Taneytown for Frederick at 7:30 A. M. and 3:00 P. M.; leave Taneytown for York at 9:00 A. M. and 4:30 P. M. Arrive at Taneytown from Frederick at 9 A. M. and 4:30 P. M.; arrive at Taneytown from York at 7:30 A. M. and 3:00 P. M. It will, therefore, be possible to go to York and return the same day, with approximately 4 hours in York. Likewise, one may go to Frederick and return the same day, with about 7½ hours in Frederick. This will be quite an addition to and a decided advantage over the present railroad schedule, by which it is not possible to make a round trip to Frederick and return the same day with the expectation of spending any time in Frederick. At present it is not possible to travel by rail to any point north of Taneytown and return the same day.

The proposed bus route has the unqualified approval of the Taneytown Chamber of Commerce which has promised its co-operation in securing the additional service for Taneytown. The Public Service Commission will conduct a hearing on the application some time in April, probably in Frederick. It is hoped that a delegation from the Chamber of Commerce will attend the hearing and urge the needs of Taneytown for better service north and south. The date of the hearing will be published and any interested citizen is invited to be present.

MUST FILE REPORT AND PAY

Baltimore, Md. March 27 — The amendment to the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Law recently passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor is of the utmost importance to some 25,000 employers in Maryland, Russell S. David, Chairman of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board said today.

The amendment recently adopted effective January 1, 1945, requires employers of one or more for any period of time, to file reports and pay contributions.

Employers who now become liable because of the amendment adopted by the recent session of the Legislature, must file reports to the Maryland Board which reports will be the same with respect to wages as that now required on the Federal form SS-14, but the contribution rate will be different. On the Federal report the rate of tax is two per cent one per cent of which is paid by the employee. On the State report, the rate of contribution is two and seven-tenths per cent and must be paid by the employer.

The Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board now has 13,000 employers registered as contributors and 25,000 will soon be added. It is estimated the amendment of the law will add about 60,000 to the 700,000 names of employees eligible for compensation in the event of loss of employment.

FRIDAY, MARCH 30, 1945

EASTER 1945

Easter 1945 dawns upon a war-torn world where the price of impending victory has been paid in lives, shattering happiness for millions and casting the shadow of death across homes the country over—alike in city, town and quite countryside.

There are many who face this day with broken hearts and for whom the future seems unbearably dark. But as the Sage of Concord said "There is no rood that has not a star above it." Where there are no graves, there is no resurrection.

Those boys who went out so bravely to meet death have found eternal life. They made the supreme sacrifice not for themselves but for those who follow after, that they might have lives of peace, that little children might laugh and play free from fear, that homes might be built strong against man-made devastation, that men and women might be free to worship God in their own way and according to the dictates of their own conscience.

Easter is the day of resurrection. It is the promise to all mankind of a world to come. It is a day of hope to those strong in faith. It is a day in which to throw open to the sun of belief the windows of the soul. It is a day for the renewal of the spirit—for the rebirth of all the ideals which have uplifted man.

It is hard for those who have suffered and who are suffering to lift their faces to the sun—but the light of that other Easter dawn still shines across the centuries, still saying to men "I am the Resurrection and the Life."

You who are grief stricken—let your heart be still. Across the world comes the voice—"Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

On this Easter morning let us have renewed courage to face the days ahead, strong in our faith, quick to our responsibilities, ready to obey His will in all our daily life that we may help to bring His Peace to reign on earth.—Ruth Taylor.

SUPERSTITIONS

The few if any of us concede the fact, we are all more or less superstitious, but I think also that the people as a whole are outgrowing the evil. Witchcraft once prevalent is no longer believed in or practiced. We are too civilized, too cultured to endure such nonsense.

In my childhood in my grandmother's home there was a superstition that each member must on the first day of the year fetch something into the house before taking anything out of it, in the belief that by so doing all would be adding all the year to the larder. On that day at least I found my task of keeping the wood box filled greatly reduced for each member of the family had lugged in an armful of wood.

Come St. Patrick's Day my grandmother ALWAYS, no matter what condition the weather, would sow her cabbage seed in the belief that the cabbage would be greener. Likewise she always planted her cucumbers on the 21st day of June in the belief that because that was the longest day in the year the cucumbers thus planted would also be longer, and seems as they were.

When it came to butchering time she always saw to it that the pigs were slaughtered in the first quarters (the enlargement) of the moon, in the belief that meat thus slaughtered would hold its own and not shrink as did that slaughtered when the moon was waning, and that too seemed to work out as desired.

Maybe you don't believe it. Well you can prove it right or wrong if you will this fall kill part of your hogs in each phase of the moon and watch results.

Personally I do not believe any of these pet superstitions, but I recall that nightly in youth I would gaze on the new moon or first star and make a wish believing that if I did so it would come true.

Ridiculous you say? Well, if you wish ardently for a thing and strive hard to get it you are more apt to succeed than if you did nothing about it.

Maybe you know some more superstitions and if so I am sure the editor of the Carroll Record would be pleased to have short description of same.

TOIL REMAINS

Winston Churchill was never more of a statesman that five years ago when he told his people he had nothing to offer but "blood, sweat, toil and tears." He is more than a politician now when he tells the Conservative Party that even after the cannon have ceased to thunder the sweat and toil will remain.

As a party leader he may be less than completely fair to his opponents in implying that they offer only an "easy, cheapjack Utopia." But the British people are likely in the end to thank any political leader who dares to remind them that even after five years of war they must still gird up the loins of their mind to face tasks of peace less exciting but no less arduous than those of battle. To repair damage, make up housing shortages, get trade back in stride, restore the physical equipment—even clothing and home furnishings—worn out and not replaced, will require a great and sustained effort.

The British people show every sign of facing this job with the courage and constancy they displayed in the darkest days of war. Other peoples, too, even more directly ravaged by war, now rally to rebuild. However, they see in victory, as Mr Churchill said: "deliverance rather than a triumph."

But one Great Power, not having experienced war at firsthand, naturally approaches its end with a different feeling. For many in the United States the war has meant more food and better living. They can hardly view the war's end as a deliverance. And if the postwar proves something less than wonderful, if it imposes new necessities of personal decision or less exciting tasks will they go after political leaders who promised vast tax reductions and an "easy, cheapjack Utopia," or will they honor those who honestly offer sweat and toil? Mr Churchill's warning may be read with profit in America also. — Christian Science Monitor.

PRAISE FOR FIREMEN

Individuals have a tendency to take things for granted and become indifferent about many things, and right now is a good time to refresh one's mind about the volunteer firemen.

We heard a lot of worthy praise for volunteer fire fighters, particularly the Oakland firemen at a dinner Monday evening, which celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the local group.

Things were said there that every individual thoroughly agrees with but seldom stops to think about. Twenty firemen on Monday night received stars in recognition of five years of service, and for fourteen of them it signified they had, of their own free will, dedicated their services to the saving of life and property of their fellowmen for twenty years. That is a long period of service. At any hour of the day or night volunteer firemen are ready to disregard their own personal comfort to render help to others who are endangered by fire or other calamity. Oakland is especially fortunate in having a particularly active and hard-working group.

Admiration for these firemen reaches its highest peak when most of us lie in our beds with a sense of security and our mind at peace as we hear the fire siren blow at two, three or four o'clock in the morning.

They render a service on the home front much "beyond the call of duty" and for which we ought to be eternally grateful.—The Republican, Oakland.

LAND OF OPPORTUNITY

The servicemen overseas, whatever their troubles may be, have a rather remarkable chance to learn how people live in various countries. Even if they cannot speak foreign tongues, they observe the manner of life in those countries, and note its contrast with American life.

It has commonly been said that in Europe people are more likely to be fixed in whatever station in life they are placed than they are in America. There is more opportunity for change and development in America. If a man in Europe is born into a farm family, for instance the chances are strong that he will continue to be a farmer. In America, there is quite a chance that he will go to some city and work in factories or stores, or develop a business of his own.

No doubt many Americans change around too frequently, and the old saw that the "rolling stone gathers no moss" applies to them. Yet when people have this freedom of movement, they are able to take advantage of opportunities, and they get experience which is frequently valuable. Many of them develop business propositions of their own.

The young American enters life with a feeling of wide opportunity. He can go or stay, try out some job in his home town, or go elsewhere if he sees fit. He values this freedom. He is not cast down if he tries something and fails, and he is not apt to regret the thing he attempted.

Many people in America have risen from homes where they had few opportunities and privileges, and have shown such industry and perseverance and intelligence that they have gone on to large success. The country encourages them and is proud of them. As the American servicemen think of these successful ones, they are glad that in their country these chances are given.—The Frederick Post.

BUY WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

THEY MUST NOT BE KEPT WAITING

So THEY may have all the communication equipment they need is the reason many people at home are waiting for telephone service.

When will it again be possible to furnish service to all who want it? We wish we could say "Soon" but we do not know.

Even when the war ends and factories can again produce telephone equipment for civilian use there will be an enormous construction job to be done—buildings to be built or enlarged, miles of cable to be laid under streets, much central office equipment to be placed—a job that cannot be done over night.

To those who are waiting, we say "Thanks for your patience."

"The folks should see me now"

"POP never would let me run the tractor for fear I'd put it on the blink. Wish he could see me handling this baby!"

Hundreds of thousands of our soldiers, who went away little more than boys, will come back mature men with fine mechanical training, glad to turn their new skills to the running of the farm.

But they're never going to be satisfied with worn-out equipment, or out-of-date machinery. They're going to want the best. And after handling our tanks and planes and guns, they're going to know what the best is!

While your son is away, are you really preparing for his return? You're buying War Bonds, yes—because it's the duty of all of us to help meet the expense of this war for our Freedom. But are you buying enough to lay the foundation for a prosperous postwar farm as well?

For America's Future, for your Future, for your children's Future

5 REASONS FOR INCREASING YOUR WAR BOND PURCHASES

1. The tempo of this war is hitting its highest point. Government expenditures for war are at the peak. MORE MONEY IS NEEDED NOW!
2. In proportion to WHO HAS THE MOST MONEY, individuals are not buying their share of War Bonds. America must correct this situation.
3. War Bonds provide the farmer and rancher with the financial reserve he must have to survive the ordinary ups and downs of farming as a business.
4. Money will be needed urgently at a future date to replace and repair farm equipment, machinery, and buildings. War Bonds will provide it.
5. War Bonds are the safest investment in the world, return a good rate of interest, are easy and convenient to buy . . . from bank, post office, rural mail carrier or Production Credit Association.

FEESERSBURG

We've come to the last week in March, also the week of atonement for the Jews; and we commemorate Passion Week, as Easter comes earlier this year. 'Tis a bright Monday morning, all nature seems smiling, and early flowers are in bloom; sheep and lambs are grazing on the hillside—and spring is here. People are working in the gardens and raking lawns.

The ladies of Middleburg church had their annual sale of doughnuts last week; stood up all night to attend their rising and baked 150 doz. by sunrise, had ready sale for them and delivered them. How we work to secure a little church money and how plentiful it seems for other things.

The millinery sale of the Smiling Sunbeams at the Parish House at Mt. Union on Tuesday evening of last week was quite a jolly success. Two of the hats were brought to our notice, and were they wonders! A lemon in front, a pretzel on top, two carrots at one side on one; and on the other a bar of candy, a small sack of potato chips, a wash cloth and cake of soap, etc. 16 hats were sold $4.00 added to the treasury, and all laughed as much as they could.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wolfe attended the funeral service of Harry O. Gilbert on Wednesday last week at his home in Uniontown—after several years of failing health. Rev. J. H. Hoeh, officiated, and burial was made in the Lutheran cemetery.

Last Wednesday morning Mrs. Lulu H. Grindler received an early phone message from Baltimore that her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Baldwin had passed away—after long suffering at 82 years of age. Some of the Grindler family attended the service on Thursday at a funeral home in the city where a woman preached a fine sermon, and the body was interred in Ivy Hill cemetery at Laurel, Md.

E. M. 3/c Henry W. Sandstorm—located at Philadelphia the past month, paid his uncle James Kalbach a surprise visit over the week end. He is from Akron, Ohio and has been in service 18 months, has had a lot of experience and is forging right ahead.

The M. Grindler family had a household of guests on Sunday—17 including their own family for dinner visitors from Baltimore, Philadelphia, Frederick, Emmitsburg, Taneytown and Union Bridge. Among them was Mr. and Mrs. Winkelman and son Richard 5 years of age; and it was funny to hear him deny that he came from the city, insisting he's a country boy. There were 5 Navy guests present.

S1/c John Rosensteel from Camp Detrick U. S. Naval unit at Frederick was a caller at Grove Dale on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Addie Crumbacker with Mrs. W. F. Miller attended the sale of her old home, of goods belonging to Charles Stover deceased, in New Midway on Monday. There was a large crowd of people, and some old chairs from the attic sold for $18.00 a piece and other things accordingly.

Communion Service at Mt. Union was well attended on Sunday morning, when Rev. Bix spoke well on the Palm Sunday message—of the Master's courage and sacrifice; and there was the usual number of communists—tho some were missing because of sickness.

Spring blossoms and house plants decorated the church and the Palm Sunday Bulletin was distributed containing a serious exhortation for Holy Week. At S. S. the Smiling Sunbeams decided to give $10.00 from their treasury for Red Cross work.

A beautiful blooming Cineraria—rich dark red, was given us by the Dayhoff family on Sunday, a lasting gift, and such a thoughtful one, white hyacinths and yellow jonquils were given us the last of the week.

Pastor Bix took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. C. Wolfe on Sunday and in the afternoon they all went to the home of Roy Reifsnider—to get acquainted and learn his way around, and he has had the other calls in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe attended the second anniversary of Mrs. Anne Edwards broadcast of old familiar hymns in Frederick on Saturday evening. Many persons were present to hear a fine program. Her mother and sister and Rev. Archer Turner from Philadelphia were there and took part, and Rev. Turner delivered an earnest message. There were three birthday cakes—large and fancy, of which every one present received a piece; and many dollars—over $1300.00 were donated as an anniversary gift for benefit of the broadcast. The children had a part in the program—also—a great meeting.

Mrs. Arlene Grindler has received ear rings and a bracelet of tiny white shells on a gold chain from a soldier friend in Hawaii.

A large flock of wild geese were seen to pass Northwest in V shaped formation, on Saturday about 10 A. M. We are always interested in their journeys—and calls; and they glint like silver in the sunshine.

New comes the glorious Easter—for love, hope and triumph over death. May more than ever go to church on Sunday and give thanks and rejoice. Some one told us they consider the Easter music the best of all; and we love it—but much of it is very loud and high, only trained voices can do it justice.

A joyous Easter for All.

UNIONTOWN

A number of our people attended the musical given by the pupils of Mrs. Blaine Broadwater at the Union Bridge Hall, on Wednesday evening of last week: Miss Janet Devillbiss and Miss Julia Ann Lackard are pupils of Mrs. Broadwater.

Rev. and Mrs. Harry Lefever, of Harrisburg were dinner guests at the G. Fielder Gilbert home on Wednesday last.

Much regret is being expressed by the people of the community because there will not be the usual Easter dawn service at the Lutheran Church. This service was first held in 1895 and the hour of worship has been enjoyed by all denominations through the ensuing years.

The very impressive service held at the Methodist Church in Westminster, on Sunday evening was enjoyed by some of our town's people. Rev. Paul Robertson, the speaker gave a very beautiful message on the "Watchers of the Cross."

Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard West gave an Easter egg hunt for their son, Barton and his playmates on last Saturday afternoon at the Fogle home. Games and contests were played on the lawn. Later refreshments were served. The guests included: Lloyd, Jr. and Marvin Flickinger, Jimmie and Shirley Erb, Julia Ann Lackard, Janet Devillbiss, Anne Bix, Doris Putman, Bonnie and Regina LeCoe, Sandra Cutsail, Brenda Lightner, Elizabeth Ann and Robin Cairns, Philip Halter and Richard Welty, Mrs. Gerald Lightner, Mrs. Monroe Cutsail, Mrs. Ray LeGore and Mrs. Robert Cairns assisted Mrs. West with the games and in the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Fritz who were married on Saturday, March 17 were given a serenading on Wednesday and Friday evenings.

The remains of Mrs. Natali Keefer of Baltimore, were interred in the Union Bridge cemetery on last Saturday. Mrs. Keefer was formerly Miss Natalie Haines and lived in Uniontown during her early life.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, the Ray LeGore family, Silver Run and Mrs. Evan Smith, Westminster, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Merkle, Hanover.

A Bible Institute will be held at the Pipe Creek Church of the Brethren on Saturday evening and Sunday under the leadership of Elder Ernest Wampler. The Saturday evening service will be at 8 P. M. Sunday morning at 11 o'clock an Easter sermon and in the evening at 7:45 Elder Wampler will speak on "The last 24 hours of our Lord's Life" as told in the gospel of St. John.

The March meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held Thursday evening in the school auditorium. The meeting was opened with singing followed by devotion by the Pres. of the Association, Rev. C. O. Garner. The Secretary, Mrs. Allen Morelock read the minutes of the previous meeting. The Treasurer, Mrs. Wilbur Halter reported that the net proceeds of the food sale held on Feb. 23 were $92.30. The balance in the checking account is $523.18. Both reports were approved. A report on the library books purchased was made. Due to the difficulty in having book orders filled at the present time only part of the books have been received. These books were on display in the library. Appreciation was expressed to the organization for its customary annual contribution toward library books. A nominating committee was appointed and instructed to have its report to present at the final meeting of the Association. The Association voted to contribute $10 to the Red Cross War Fund.

The following announcements were made: 1. Beginning on Tuesday, April 3, the school will go back to spring time schedule with school opening at 9 o'clock and closing at 3:30.

2. The registration and physical check-up of pupils who will enter school as beginners in September will be held on Wednesday, April 13, from 2 until 3:15.

3. The attention of the Association was called to the meeting of the county-wide P. T. A. to be held on Friday, April 6.

4. The support of the organization was solicited for the lecture series which will be sponsored by the Carroll County Teachers' Association. The lecturers will be two well known war correspondents, Robert St. John on April 20 and Robert R. Young on May 18. Both lectures will be held in the Westminster High School.

5. The annual spring supper will be held on Friday evening, May 25th.

6. The canning project for the benefit of the school cafeteria will be continued again this year.

7. The final meeting of the Association for the school year will be held in conjunction with the seventh grade promotion exercises on June 7th.

After the business session the meeting was turned over to the program committee consisting of Mrs. Walter Speicher, chairman; Mrs. Joel Baugher, Miss Mildred Pittinger and Mrs. Lloyd Flickinger. Homespun Philosophy

By Ezra

Habit is the tendency towards an action or condition, which by repetition has become spontaneous. In the morning when you get up you put on your right shoe first; you put your right hand through the right sleeve first; you shave before you brush your teeth, or vice versa (if you are a lady you don't shave). It is doing something so blooming often you do it without thinking about it.

There is a tale about the burning of the Library at Alexandria that goes like this: Out of the mass of ruins one book was salvaged. It wasn't a valuable book. It was about to be discarded when a poor man who had a little knowledge concerning the art of reading, bought it for a few cents. When he took it home and began to read it he was disappointed. It was not very interesting. But he decided to read it through. When he came towards the end of it, he stumbled across a little passage, entitled, The Secret of the Touchstone.

The secret revealed that the Touchstone was a small pebble that could turn any common metal into pure gold. It could be found on the shores of the Black Sea lying among thousands and thousands of other pebbles exactly like it. But the Touchstone was warm while all the other pebbles were cold. If you picked up the right pebble you could feel it flow in your hand.

So the man disposed of his holdings and possessions, and departed for the Black Sea. With a few simple supplies he camped on its shore. He, immediately, began testing the pebbles.

At first he would pick up a pebble and then throw it down again because it was cold. It did not take him long to find out that he was picking up the same pebble twice or more times because they looked alike. He thought for a moment and then hit upon the plan of picking up a pebble, testing it to see whether it was warm or cold, if cold,—he would cast it into the sea. He spent a whole day doing this—the same thing over and over again. The day passed and he spent a week, a month, a year, three years, five years; but he did not find the Touchstone. But he continued according to his plan. Pick up a pebble. Find it cold. Throw it into the sea, etc.

Then one morning while engaged at this arduous task of searching for the Touchstone, he picked up a pebble, and it was WARM—and he threw it into the sea. He couldn't help it! Habit caused him to do it. He had thrown so many pebbles into the sea that he failed to catch the difference of this one quick enough, and into the sea it went.

Be careful what kind of habits you form. Many Touchstones have been cast into the sea. Ladies be careful how you yield that rolling pin, or rather how often you cast it. It might land into the sea. What am I saying—that's where it should land. Gentlemen be careful how often you reach for that cigarette. It might not be a bad idea to cast them to the bottom of the sea.

Bonds Over America

LOUISIANA'S CAPITOL

The tallest building in the South, Louisiana's capitol at Baton Rouge—34 stories, 450 feet in height—stands on the campus of the old State University. It supersedes the modest structure completed in 1849 and equipped with furnishings from Europe that had been dispatched to Emperor Maximilian of Mexico but arrived after his death. The present capitol proclaims Louisiana's faith in its opportunities for future generations in industry and agriculture. Thousands of Louisiana's sons are fighting to preserve those opportunities, and War Bonds supply them munitions.

Fish Labeling

The federal trade commission has acted to remove the name "ocean perch" or "red perch" from restaurant menus and fish store counter cards, by enjoining processors or sellers of redfish or rosefish from so labeling the product. The redfish is a good salt water food fish, usually sold as filets, frequently frozen, but it is not perch. The step was taken to avoid confusion with the popular fresh water perch.

Eyes Alight

By MARY M. KERN
 McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
 WNU Features.

IT WAS her family's first comment on seeing the portrait. "You'd never know it was you, Mom." It made her wish she hadn't saved nickels and dimes so that all of them except Ed, their father, might come to the art gallery this spring day. Jim and Mike were strutting about, squinting at the picture; Sam wanted to poke six-year-old fingers into the canvas; and only Gertrude, 17 and the oldest of the children, stood quietly.

Jim's voice brought her back. "Would you think Mom was that thin?"

Mom winced as she saw the three-quarter length oil painting of herself, blue eyes luminous, black hair back from her forehead, a bright peasant shawl around her youthful shoulders. Even Ed had not known her when at Gertrude's age, 30 years before, she had posed for this. Twelve years later Mom had met Ed at the mill where both worked, and they were married.

Sam leaned against his mother's gingham skirt. "Tell us again, Mom. About the picture."

Mom sat down on a bench in the gallery. "Peter O'Connell came to room next door to where I lived."

"And the painter guy ast you," supplied Mike.

"Asked," put in Gertrude. Mom was acutely aware of Gertrude's dulled, despairing voice. Her father's had been harsh, strident this morning. When Gertrude had tearfully tried to argue, Ed had shouted her down. "I'm tired of these fancy notions. You start work at the mill Monday—or get out!"

Mom's heart lurched, remembering. All of Gertrude's teachers at high school said she should finish her senior year and prepare to go into teaching. But none of the talking made any difference. It was just Ed. He was a good man but hard and cold except about working at the mill and things like pool and horse racing. Look at the way he always tried to keep Mom herself from listening to the symphony over the radio.

Mom brought her thoughts back with effort. "The painter had the shawl, his grandmother's, from Ireland."

"Was it fun posing?" Mike queried.

It was unadulterated happiness. "It was work, too," Mom went on. "You get tired sitting."

"You never knew Peter O'Connell died or what happened till Miss Adams told us at school that the picture was coming in this exhibit, did you?" asked Jim.

"He went away. He couldn't pay his rent."

Yes, for a little time while posing for 40-year-old, visionary Peter O'Connell there had been something in Mom's eyes. Knowing him she had glimpsed another world. She—who lived on the wrong side of the tracks, who had no precedent for such a dream and no one to lend her a hand—had hoped she could study music. It had even seemed possible. But there had been her mother to help and all those younger brothers and sisters.

Jim and Mike were taking one last look at the portrait. Gertrude stepped closer, too, but Mom noticed she walked as though nothing mattered.

Mom straightened imperceptibly. She knew what she must do. Because it would only be the same thing over again later with Ed about Jim's interest in electricity and Mike's seeming bent for music. She would send Gertrude back to high school Monday and if Ed drove her away from home then Mom and the boys would go, too. Mom's face was grave, realizing how hard that would be, but her head was up. She was strong. She could still go back to the mill.

Gertrude was almost out the door. Mom hurrying after her felt a new spirit carrying her on in her decision which she knew had been inevitable. It occurred to her to wonder what was strengthening her courage now when her need was greatest. But Gertrude was turning and Mom, explaining eagerly to her, put aside her question. Only Gertrude could read the answer, in her mother's blue eyes which were alight with hope, not now for herself but for her children, but still singularly like the eyes of The Girl With the Shawl.

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 27:62-66.

GOLDEN TEXT—Let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and perfecter of our faith.—Hebrews 12:1, 2.

Christianity is a resurrection faith! How good it is to recall that, in this troubled year of 1945, even as we share once more the spiritual inspiration of Easter Sunday.

Today we recall that the loving hands of His friends and followers had given themselves in what they thought was to be their final act of devotion to their Lord. His body had been tenderly laid in Joseph's tomb and the great stone rolled in place at its door.

But even as some were kind and loving, there were others who were so relentless in their hatred that they pursued Christ even beyond the grave.

I. The Hatred of Christ's Enemies (27:62-66).

We sometimes wonder at the bitterness of the enemies of Christianity in our day. Had we given more earnest heed to the Bible story we should have known that it was so from the very beginning.

The wicked men who brought about the crucifixion of Jesus were not content to let Him rest in His grave. They had lusted after His life and they had taken that, but even as He lay silent in the tomb, the priests and the Pharisees came to Pilate and called Him "that deceiver" (v. 63) and demanded a special guard.

They feared that His disciples would perpetrate a fraud, and after stealing the body declare that He was risen. Wicked and deceitful hearts can imagine all sorts of treachery on the part of others.

The hatred of unbelievers toward Christ and toward His followers knows no stopping place. In civilized lands and among cultured people it operates under a cloak of respectability, but it is nonetheless bitter and relentless in its pursuit of Him and of His church.

II. The Victory of Christ (28:1-6).

Victory and praise should be the keynote of Christianity. Why should we be doleful and sad? Our Lord has come back victorious from the grave! We may be glad and sing even in the midst of earth's sorrows and distresses. Let praise be the employ of our lips constantly as we worship Him and work for Him.

The picture that greeted the surprised eyes of the two women as they came to the grave, as it began to dawn on the first day of the week, was one resplendent with the glory and majesty of God. The earth quaked as the lightning flashed. The angel of the Lord broke through the supposedly unbreakable seal of Rome and rolled back the stone which was to have permanently closed the door to the tomb.

This was done, not to release Christ—for He had already gone, no grave could hold Him—but that men might see the empty grave and know that He was risen. Other religions keep the graves of their founders. Christianity points to an empty tomb.

To the foes of Christ represented by the keepers, the coming of the angel and the revelation of the power of God brought absolute discomfiture. That is still true. Men will argue with theology, church methods, even Christian profession, but when they see the power of God revealed, they can only be "as dead men."

To the friends of Christ, the angel brought comfort and assurance. Their fears were assuaged by his word of comfort, and then their faith was revived by the assurance that Christ was risen. The resurrection declares that He is the Son of God with power, the Saviour of the world.

III. The Joy of Christ's Disciples (28:7-9).

The followers of Christ had their share of fear and unbelief, but it was quickly overcome by joy and assurance as they knew that their Lord was risen.

The note of great joy is highly appropriate on Easter Sunday, but just as proper on every Sunday—yes, every day of the Christian's life. He is risen from the dead! That settles all questions about His deity, His power, His salvation. It meets the problems of our lives with an unflinching word of confidence and joy.

Be sure to note that such good news must not be kept to ourselves. We should emulate the zeal of the disciples, who "departed quickly" to make it known to their families and friends. The story of the victorious Saviour is still known to many thousands—possibly we should say millions. Let someone depart quickly to tell them of Jesus. And don't forget to ask yourself, "Should that someone be me?"

Jesus met them on the way with a greeting of peace. He loves to fellowship with His people as they go on His errands. You will find Him there awaiting your coming.

Death Obtained

Because He by His death obtained for humanity the highest good, the anniversary of the death of Our Lord, March 30, Good Friday, is meant to emphasize the truths connected with His crucifixion. Above, cross of Christ looks down over a peaceful Virginia countryside.

Traditions and Customs of Ancient and Modern Easter

EASTER dawn services were first held, because it was believed, many centuries ago, that the sun, in celestial joy over the day of resurrection, danced in the sky. People used to assemble in the darkness and make the long procession to the nearest mountain top, there to wait the dawn and the Easter service which celebrated this phenomenon of the heavens.

A Saxon goddess, Eostre, gave Easter its name and its early meaning, for she was the goddess of spring. But about 68 A. D., it became a Christian holy day, and although the name of Easter was retained, the meaning of the day became sacred to the death and resurrection of the Savior.

Persia, Egypt, Greece and Rome all regarded the humble egg as the symbol of the universe. From that bit of symbolism it was natural that the egg should next be regarded as a token of life itself and its perpetuation from generation to generation. It is in that role that the egg has survived to become part of the Christian Easter, for Easter was a rebirth of life.

Ancient Easter Bunny.

The rabbit is the sole survivor of a group of several kinds of animals once associated with Easter. Even the lion, for instance, was a symbol of resurrection because it was once believed that young lion cubs were born dead and were restored to life. The Phoenix, the Egyptian bird which lives and dies and lives again, was also such a symbol of new life.

The bunny is associated with Easter because it is a symbol of the moon and Easter, the date of which is governed by the moon, is in a sense a lunar holiday. The young of the hare are born with eyes open and there was a superstition that the animal which has nocturnal habits always keeps its eyes unclosed; hence the identification with the full moon.

Easter the Festival of Our Lord's Resurrection

Easter is the festival of our Lord's resurrection, and is one of the most joyous days observed by the church. It corresponds to the early church pascha, designated the festival of Christ's crucifixion; later, it meant both the festival of the crucifixion and the resurrection, and after the fourth century it was limited to the latter feast.

The term Easter was first used when Christianity was introduced among the Saxons, and Bede traces it to Estre, a Saxon goddess, whose festival was celebrated annually in the spring.

Chalanda Marz, Ancient Swiss Spring Festival

Among the many old customs and traditions which are still in vogue in the Engadine region of the Swiss canton of the Grisons, the festival known as the Chalanda Marz takes first place.

The Romans brought it to the Engadine, to celebrate the arrival of spring. It has become a children's festival. The children go from house to house receiving presents of food, which are served in the evening at a ball given for the children of the village.

Rat Control!

The first step in permanent rat control is a clean-up program . . . get rid of old, discarded lumber piles, broken-down unused sheds, piles of papers, boxes and bags, and near-by trash dumps.

Home Canning

Nearly two-thirds of the nation's housewives did some home canning or other form of home food preservation in 1944, according to a survey made by the department of agriculture.

Grating Onions

The fine side of a grater is excellent for preparing "grated" onion for recipes, and the coarse side is good for making "minced" onion.

LOOKING AHEAD

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President—Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Russia

Since the beginning of 1945 I saw a mid-Victorian rig, a horse and buggy, pass an automobile on a graded road. It was not a race. The car was not running. The motorist was out changing a tire. The driver of the rig sat up straight and pressed his horse for a bit of extra speed going by, which was funny. The car owner made the change and drove into town far ahead of the buggy.

Between 1928 and 1938 the United States, the world's outstanding industrial nation of all time, had an industrial depression. Meanwhile the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics was moving forward; not rapidly but at an increasing rate. In those years it was being transformed from an agricultural to an industrial nation, a stage through which America had passed, half a century before.

A Wind-Broken Nag

Russia was driving a horse named "Central Planning." The rig made an interesting dash for improvement; not very fast however, nor very spectacular. Claims made for the animal's speed were funny; certainly not all true. Living conditions in Russia were not as high as those in America in the pit of our depression; never have been before nor since. It was a splurge, better than Russia had before, but far below American achievement.

There is nothing new about Central Planning. It's as old as horse-drawn equipment. Kings, tyrants and dictators have always used the idea. Some have done better with it than others, depending on the ruler. Russia's recent rulers have been anything but stupid. Their military leadership has the world agog. Russia has made a marvelous fight, using American equipment extensively.

For National Safety

You would think that Russia, living next door to an armed desperado for 25 years could have adequately prepared for war. No; Central Planning couldn't do it. It took a raid on Pearl Harbor to wake America from a sweet dream of peace, but America went into action with Private Enterprise and, in four years, armed the United Nations for victory. This demonstrates which system is better for national safety.

But war is never America's main objective. We are a peace-loving people and want to work and prosper and live well. Some say that America, in view of Russia's achievements, ought to junk Free Enterprise and adopt Central Planning. Knowing that Russia's achievements have never compared to our own, the suggestion is preposterous. Let's examine the figures of an expert for a moment:

Development Compared

Leopold Schwarzschild, in his recent book called "Primer of the Coming World," shows some index figures to make a fair comparison of industrial gains in similar periods—Russia, while at her best in 1928-38, and America in a similar period. Here are three for a sample:

	U.S.S.R.	U.S.A.
Coal Mining	599	1,332
Railroad Building	38	918
Automobiles	129	2,066

The Russian government is an autocracy. One political party controls everything, including newspapers and radio, but not more than 2% of the people belong to it . . . the upper class. Kick up a rumpus about it if you want to go to the salt mines and serve your country for insufficient board and clothes. The system overcomes unemployment, but wages are only one-sixth of wages in America and the standard of living only one-sixth as high. I am in favor of keeping Private Enterprise here.

Bonds Over America

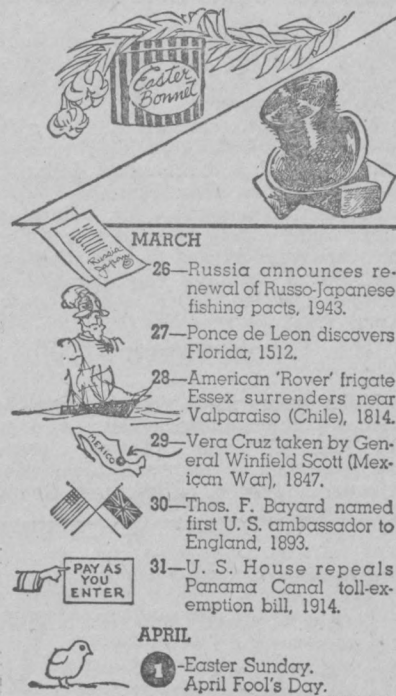

FORT RALEIGH

Seven English expeditions invaded Roanoke Island between 1584 and 1591. Fort Raleigh blockhouse marks the site of the first English settlement in America. Amadas and Barlow took possession of the continent for Sir Walter Raleigh there July 1, 1584. It's wide open shore now, too. But for the effective patrolling of U. S. submarines, planes and ships—and the Coast Guard shore patrols—enemy landing parties could seize beachheads in this war. War Bond funds help supply those patrols with dependable weapons.

Cooking Chocolate

In cooking, chocolate must be melted to combine with other ingredients. The U. S. department of agriculture offers several tips for melting chocolate. It advises melting over hot water in a small saucepan, over the teakettle with the lid removed, or in a small double boiler—never directly on a hot stove. Chocolate melts at low heat and scorches easily. Grating is wasteful, because some is left on the grater and some melts and sticks to fingers. If chocolate must be melted separately from other ingredients, as in making chocolate cake, break in small pieces and melt in a saucer.

Inefficient Collector

Can't Even Find Himself

ATLANTA, GA. — An executive asked the fourth regional war labor board to permit him to pay a new bill collector more than had been received by the employee's predecessor. The previous collector had been discharged because his work was unsatisfactory, the businessman reported, adding: "On one occasion he was given a bad debt to run down. After spending several days attempting to locate the man, he discovered it was himself he was looking for."

His Light Shall Shine Upon a Darkened World

Thank God for the dear ones safe today,
Safe at home on the happy shore,
Where the smile of the Father beams for ay
And the shadow of pain shall fall no more.

Thank God today for the hope sublime
Which fills our souls in the darkest hours;
Thank God that the transient cares of time
Are wreathed in the glory of fadeless flowers.

Thank God for the rift in the desolate grave;
'Tis the soldier's couch, not the captive's prison;
He hallowed its portal, who died to save,
And we write o'er its arch, "The Lord is risen."

SPRING IS HERE

Yes, Spring is here,
The sap is rising in the trees
And active are the honey-bees
Seeking nectar every hour
From each opening blossomed flower

Yes Spring is here—
The robin that has yearly come
And built her nest so near our home
Has just this morning come again,
While blue-birds, fluttering everywhere

Make cheerful sight in morning air
Building their nests everywhere.

Yes, Spring is here,
Soon will the plow the furrow turn
Soon will the harrow level the ground
That seeds be planted mound in mound

The corn will soon stand row in row
While down each row the pumpkins grow

Soon buds will burst and blossoms glow

A shower send to earth below—
Then soon each tree will laden be
With fruit to ripen mellowly—
How happy then we all shall be,
Because 'tis clear, that Spring is here.

PARTY LINES are PATRIOTIC LINES

The copper that used to go into new telephone lines is now going into war weapons. This means we must make the most of the lines we now have.

Thus, party lines become a part of the all-out war effort—they take on a new name—PATRIOTIC LINES.

You will find that "Patriotic-line" telephone service is good telephone service
if all users will follow these simple rules:

1. If another is using the line, hang up gently and wait a reasonable time before trying again.
2. Make way for your neighbor by being as brief as you can on your calls.
3. Avoid making a number of calls in succession.
4. Replace the receiver carefully after each call so as not to prevent others from using the line.
