THE STORM

High Wind, Rain and Hail Does Considerable Damage

On Thursday afternoon, about 4:00 o'clock, Taneytown was visited by a severe hail and windstorm with a heavy downpour of rain accompanied with some thunder and lightning.

The early garden crops were hard hit, by the hail storm; the hail being as large as shellbarks and fell rapidly in the driving wind for about ten minutes. The nearby streams raised to bank full.

Wheat and rye fields were damaged; many of the stalks broken and some completely cut off and the result of the damage to crops and fruit will not be definitely known until later. Quite a number of window panes in Taneytown were broken by the hail.

SCOUTS WILL COLLECT PAPER TOMORROW

The April collection of paper will again be made tomorrow (Saturday) by Boy Scouts of Taneytown Troop 348, under Legion sponsorship.

Residents of Taneytown are requested to place their bundles on the curb in front of their homes, where possible as they have done so cooperatively in the past.

Besides waste paper, rags, books, newspapers, magazines, cardboard, and cartons of all descriptions are badly needed for sending war products to the battlefield, keeping the civilian economy in good working order, and properly distributing materials, food and finished products. Paper and fiberboard remain extremely tight.

Please dig out that scrap paper, those rags and magazines, that shelf full of old books you have been wanting to get out of your way. The paper mills pay for it so that they too can maintain their production for war and essential containers.

MAKES SUPREME SACRIFICE

Pfc. Paul Calvin Copenhaver, age 24, was killed in action in Belgium, January 15, 1945.

Pfc. Copenhaver entered the service November 12, 1942 and trained at Camp Polk, La, Camp Berkeley, Word has just been received here that Second Officer, George T. Waltz who has been attending officers school in a New York Maritime Academy, has been recalled to his ship in San Francisco to sail immediately for the far Pacific with a cargo of war supplies.

Mr. Waltz had just returned from a 4 1/2 month convoyed trip to Murmansk Russia with a load of war material for our ally. They were under constant attack from the time they passed Newfoundland but were protected by a strong escort of several war vessels and two flat top carriers who succeeded in destroying four German submarines and 6 enemy planes. It was a long and arduous trip as well as a dangerous one for at that time of the year they only had 3 or 4 hours of day light in the Arctic circle and all officers have to stand a double watch in the darkness ever vigilant to guard the lives of their crew and protect the vital cargo needed so badly for the present Russian drive.

When they arrived in Murmansk, which is an ice free port owing to the swift current everyone on board was registered and given 600 Russian paper rubles which they were required to spend before leaving as at present these seems to be no medium of exchange and our American money is not usable there.

They were in port 52 days and found that part of Russia indeed a dark and forbidding country, and the people strange and secretive with none of the frankness and comradeship so typical of the Americans. Their diet is mainly fish and their favorite beverage is Vodka a colorless liquid correspond-

CIVILIANS AT WAR

The Government needs and asks its citizens in the 177th week of the war to:

1. Stretch the short meat supply by substituting other protein foods. Share the available meat fairly by paying your ration points in full.
2. Fill out and file your "Consumer Declaration" and solid fuel order with your regular coal dealer before May 15 to be assured of receiving a supply before winter.
3. Be sure you know about the free maternity and infant care to which you are entitled if you are the wife of a serviceman in one of the four lowest pay grades and are expecting a baby. Apply through your doctor or local health department.

SERVICE MEN LETTERS ARE INTERESTING

Army and Navy Men are Contributors to Our Columns

Well, here I am aboard a ship for duty. Though it is nothing unusual for a sailor, there is a lot of things new to me.

As you know I am on a new ship and we are now just making our "shake-down" cruise. It will probably last for another week then we will return to the yard to complete loading and minor repairs that need to be done before we will be ready for our journey to the far Pacific. We have been busy with our daily drills and exercises trying to get our regular duties accomplished between these alerts, etc.

We have been most fortunate to get some good cooks and bakers aboard our ship. I believe all are enjoying the chow they have been putting out. We now have a chief commissary aboard and relieves a lot of the responsibility from my shoulders. I am now to oversee the preparation of the food and that it is served properly on time.

I would appreciate it very much if you would again put me on your Carroll Record mailing list. The town news is always of interest to me and I'll look forward to each copy you publish. My present address while here is as follows:

With the 44th Infantry Division of the 7th Army, Western Front.—If you've ever tried leaning out of a second story window and tossing hand grenades at people you don't like in a first floor window, you know its some job. And the same goes for pepping grenades from a first floor window to neighbors above you.

That was the situation the four "A" Company, 71st Infantrymen and the five Germans found themselves in. On the second floor were three Staff Sergeants and a Pfc. from the 44th Division outfit, and on the floor below were five Germans, freshly arrived. Both sides were tossing grenades, but no hits were scored.

S/Sgt. Robert H. Absher, Galax, Va., Raymond E. Clabaugh, Taneytown, Md. and John P. Hartlage, Jr., Louisville, Ky., and Pfc. Westley K. Olson, Ossining, N. Y., put their heads together. And Olson, the only Pfc. in the crowd, came up with an idea.

Olson tied a grenade to a string, measured the string to get the right length, and then skillfully cast thru the window below. The Krauts fled, and the "A" Company riflemen outside the building picked the Germans off as they ran.

Pfc. Olson thereupon became Sgt. Olson. Sgt. Olson is the son of Mrs. Selma Olson, 6 Narragansett Ave., Ossining, N. Y. Sgt. Absher is the son of Mrs. Hessi E. Frost, Box 13, Galax, Va. Sgt. Clabaugh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Clabaugh Jr., F. D. 2, Taneytown, Md., and Hartlage is the son of Mrs. Eva May Hartlage, 718 Sutcliffe Ave., Louisville, Ky., and has since received a battlefield commission as a Second Lieutenant.

Increasing the membership of the past year of 831, it was found possible to provide an excellent program for the coming season and bring well known artists to the members. With the guidance of Alma Laurentzsin, the representative from the Columbia Concerts Association, who spent the past week in Westminster assisting with the membership drive, the artists were chosen with tentative dates. The dates will be verified with headquarters when Miss Laurentzsin returns to New York with her list of bookings.

Mrs. J. Edmund Lippy, president of the Westminster Association, has announced the concert season as follows, with tentative dates: Mary Van Kirk, contralto, in October; Nikolai and Joanna Graudan, piano and cello, in December; Don Cassack Russian chorus in January; and the closing concert will be William Horner, tenor.

With an arly membership campaign it was found possible to book these artists with the membership subscribed, early in the season. This provided an excellent advantage over the two previous years, and with early conducted membership drives, the artists are more easily available.

It was thought that since four concerts could be arranged this year, with membership on hand, that the committee should arrange for them. This does not, however, set a precedent that four concerts will be available every year. In coming years it may be only possible to secure three as prices may be higher and only certain artists can be obtained from a membership secured that particular season.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ray Hollinger, who handled the campaign, were given a vote when the meeting was held on Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Lippy, when headquarters was closed at the W. H. Davis Co.

SCHOOLS OF STATE NEED $8,070,000 FOR POST WAR CONSTRUCTION

Maryland must spend an estimated $8,070,000 in immediate postwar years for new school buildings and for repairs to present structures to adapt its school system to anticipate heavier enrollments and to educational changes, according to a survey just released by the American Association of School Administrators. This figure is conservative since no complete estimate for Baltimore was available at the time of the survey.

The report bears out U. S. Bureau of Census figures, which reveal that wartime births in Maryland are running 53 per cent above peace years. Larger enrollments, as well as wartime developments, will greatly influence future school design, it is predicted by Reginald E. Marsh, nationally known school architect and member of the postwar planning committee of the American Institute of Architects, New York Chapter.

WESTMINSTER COMMUNITY CONCERT ASSOCIATION

The third annual membership campaign for the Westminster Community Concert Association met with so enthusiastic success, that the committee on Saturday night arranged for a four concert season for 1945-1946.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

A 3-Act Comedy Will Be Presented May 4th

The Senior Class of the Taneytown High School will present a three-act comedy "Her Step-Husband" at 8:15 on Friday evening, May 4th. The play was originally announced in the "Taneyette" for April 27th, but the play books did not arrive as soon as was expected. This made necessary a change in the date of the performance.

The play concerns the difficulties of Mary Marshall, played by Mildred Ingram, who has too much imagination for her own good. One of Mary's picturesque lies, namely, that she and her husband are rich and have maids and butlers, limousines and grand pianos, reaches the ears of her well-to-do aunt, Miss Emily Paisley (Aunt Emmy), played by Doris Wilhide. Auntie decides to pay her niece a visit. Mary tries to make her lies good even to the point of pressing into service as the butler, her husband, Harvey P. Marshall, played by Paul Hymiler, Jr.

When Auntie arrives, Mary finds that she has to have a husband to trot out for inspection. Mary, through her best friend, Sylvia Allen, played by Louella Sauttle, digs up a quick-witted stranger, Jerry Niles, played by William Rittase, and passes him off as her husband. The step-husband, though a good four-flusher, is no match for Mary and matters become more and more complicated until the real husband almost lands in jail. The cast is enriched by the tough but sentimental jail-bird, Limpy Lannigan, played by Merle Moose; by Stella, a comic maid almost too good to be true, played by Marian Humbert; and by a policeman Officer Shea, who is a masterly bit of satire, played by Donald Erb. Further trouble is caused by the appearance of Jerry's fiancée, Florence Ainslee, played by Thelma Six.

Witty lines and unexpected events will keep the audience in a roar of laughter.

Tickets are being sold by all members of the Senior Class. Prices, fifty cents for adults, and thirty-five cents for children, include tax. There are no reserved seats.

The High School Orchestra will present a fifteen minute concert from 8 until 8:15 and will play between acts.

Mr. Breth presented the question of V-E Day and observance of the day was discussed.

Rev. Bready presented the program of the town Ministerium and the observance of the same by the various churches, which is as follows:

If the announcement of Victory in Europe is received before 11 A. M. or between the hours of 11 A. M. and 3 P. M., prayer services will be held in the various churches at 11 A. M. and 3 P. M., with a community communion service in the Lutheran Church, at 8 P. M.

David Smith and James C. Myers were named a committee to represent the Chamber of Commerce on the Memorial Day committee.

Mr. Murray Fuss expressed the view that the observance of V-E Day should be one of reverence and thanks to Almighty God for the cessation of the war in Europe, rather than a day of riotous celebration.

Wm. B. Hopkins, Harry Daugherty and Walter Crapster served refreshments. Thanks to this committee. Members present 39.

MARYLAND FERTILIZER SALES

Maryland farmers last year broke all records for the second consecutive year with their purchase of fertilizer according to State Chemist L. E. Bopst at the University of Maryland. In a report issued by the Maryland Inspection and Regulatory Service, Bopst said that manufacturers throughout the state sold an all-time record of 207,485 tons of fertilizer, an increase of about four per cent over 1943.

The report also showed that in 1944 there were 82 Maryland firms that registered 62 fertilizer analyses. The fertilizer was sold under 600 different brand names.

The best seller, Bopst stated, was a 3-12-6 analysis, which accounted for one-third of all the fertilizer sold in Maryland. Runner-up in popularity was a 2-12-6 fertilizer, which led Maryland sales in 1943. Other popular types during the past year were 4-8-12, 5-10-5, and 4-12-3 analyses. These and other complete fertilizer sales totaled 81 per cent of the fertilizer sales for the state. Complete fertilizers are those which contain nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash.

WILD LIFE IS FREE

The birds are reesting in the trees, In hives are swarms of honey-bees, Weasles slink forth, both old and younger, Prey to find to sate their hunger. To nearest henroost they will go, To slaughter fowl—blood free to flow. The wild beasts thru the forests roam, For that is where they make their home; Down in the swamp the frogs croak low, Out in the forests flock the crow, And so go forth to do and dare— Wild beasts that leave their hidden lair. FAREWELL TO HOME COOKING

Everything is being done to make the housewife's daily tasks easier after the war. The latest wrinkle is the development of a frozen meal, complete with meat and two vegetables in a variety of combinations to suit any palate. It comes from the manufacturer on a paper plate especially treated to withstand the cold of freezing and the heat of cooking, so dishwashing is also eliminated.

Think of it. The housewife, instead of spending hours preparing and cooking a meal, will take a minute to turn on the oven, spend a leisurely quarter hour waiting for the meal to cook, and then eat it with relish without the prospect of washing countless dishes afterwards. A match takes care of these!

If these precooked meals become popular, the consequences upon industry will be tremendous. Soap manufacturers will find "dish pan hands" are a thing of the past. Household cooking utensils will become as outmoded as kerosene lamps. The center of American family life will move from the kitchen to the front parlor, and a lot of simple pleasures will go out with the drudgery.

Everything that comes from the oven will be perfect. The housewife will take little share in the praises for the gustatory triumphs that come to the table. A husband will boast no longer that his wife is the "finest cook in the country," and the family recipe book, guarded by generations of housewives will be discarded with the soap powder, the cooking utensils, and the kitchen.

We find the above in The Union News, Towson, and we reprint it, not to sanction it, but to say that we do not believe that all the modern efforts to simplify living are real contributions to home making. [Living out of tin cans and cardboard boxes can be carried too far. How would a meal described above, compare with a pot-luck feast at a farmer's table, or one of those glorious spreads when friends and relatives are expected.

We still count it a fine achievement to be a first class cook and a good housekeeper. It takes more to make life than money and leisure.

WE ARE DIFFERENT

We in America are different from the people of other lands in many ways. Most of us have known that for a long time. There is one difference which makes us proud, however. It is rather difficult to describe coherently, but Representative Gore, of Tennessee, did a pretty good job of doing that recently in telling the other members of the House some of his own experiences in connection with military government in some of the liberated lands.

For security reasons, as we have read in the daily papers, orders have been issued to guards and other representatives of military authority against showing too much friendliness towards civilians of the countries which we have been fighting against. Mr. Gore observed that those orders are hard to enforce. One instance illustrates the situation very well. He reported that he saw a little German boy about three years of age running along the sidewalk trip and fall into the gutter, skinning his knee and covering himself with mud. An American soldier picked him up, wiped off the mud, took him home, and gave him a piece of candy when he left.

One soldier gave apt expression to the thing when he said, "I still hate it (Germany) in the mass, but somehow I have no hate for the individuals I meet, and particularly those who try to be friendly."

Somehow it makes you feel proud of soldiers like that. It makes you realize that if they—the men who have done the actual fighting and have seen the worst that the foe has to offer—find no hate in their hearts for the civilians of enemy nations, it is not very likely that we here at home, who have had no direct contact with the war, will remember very long any hatreds which have been engendered.

It is satisfying and consoling to realize that we are different—a great deal different—from the cruel and tricky Jap, and also far different from the Nazi fanatics who are so far removed from the native Germans from whom many of our finest American citizens sprung. That difference, and the right to preserve it and the freedom it represents, are among the things for which we have been fighting this war, and it brings greater satisfaction when we realize that in fighting and hating temporarily, we and our children have not lost our own ideals. If we lost our own ideals then it would be we who would lose the war, regardless of how the final score of military victories might read.

And the loss would not only be our own, but that of the rest of the world also, to which America now stands as the symbol liberty, freedom and opportunity.—County Record, Towson.

SPREADING THE NET

The stage is being set to put the government into the telephone business with an appropriation of $100,000,000, after the pattern of the Rural Electrification Administration. Public officials are attacking the telephone industry, including thousands of small independent companies, for alleged failure to sufficiently increase the number of rural telephones. In a nation that has more telephones than all the rest of the world put together, it seems a bit ridiculous to start blackening the industry that made this record.

It would be interesting to know whether any of the gentlemen fostering this further step toward socialism, lives on a farm and has tried to get a telephone during the last several years. If he has, he knows that he could not get a phone because of the various war restrictions. He knows that he couldn't buy telephone wire, and he couldn't buy a telephone. He knows that the local telephone companies are prohibited from allowing him any material or making a connection for him unless he happens to be a government official, or doing certain war work.

Given the material, there is no doubt that thousands of farm telephones would be installed within a short time without any hundred-million-dollar appropriation of taxpayers' funds. Just how much installation of telephones with public funds would be any less damaging to the war effort than private installation, is not made clear. But, as Francis X. Welch, writing from Washington, says: "At least we have a right to expect that responsible Federal agencies should present the picture fairly with all relevant facts in the true perspective. If that is done, the telephone industry will surely not shrink from its responsibility, whatever that may be in the future." — Industrial News Review

SAVE YOUR MACHINES

Most farm machinery has seen better days. But unless farmers can keep their old machines running, it either means that factories will be diverted from war work to make new farm machines, or food production will suffer.

When we realize that the length of the war will depend, to a large extent, on the amount of war machinery industry can produce, none of us want to see production held up to produce farm machines, household equipment or automobiles.

The only answer is to keep the old machinery working. To do this, J. A. Krugg, Chairman of the War Production Board, urges us to observe these six rules:

1. Keep your machines and motors working.
2. Protect from weather and rust.
3. Repair and care for home appliances.
4. Lubricate ball and roller bearings.
5. Share the ride and share the equipment.
6. Sell equipment not being used.

—Catoctin Enterprise.

Cardboard Stiffening

A leather bag that has become limp may need nothing more than new cardboard stiffening between the lining and the leather. Cardboard that is tough and does not break easily is satisfactory.

Non-Slip Rugs

Sew a fruit jar ring to each corner of scatter rugs to make them skid-proof. Here's another use for used rings—sew 12 together to put in the bottom of your sink as a dish and sink protector.

Chicken Preparation

Chicken, the great American favorite, may be prepared in many ways. Some of the most widely used methods of preparation are: Chicken pie, roast chicken and dressing, broiled chicken, fried chicken, baked chicken with either rice or mushroom sauce, fricassee of chicken, creamed chicken on toast or in potato baskets, chicken salad, chicken sandwiches, chicken soup and many other tasty variations of some of these methods of preparation. Gravies made from the giblets and soup made from cracking and recocking the bones, help as meat extenders.

Expansive Industry

When war broke out in Europe, the motor industry was using a preponderant share of the production of many raw materials: 51 per cent of malleable iron, 75 per cent of plate glass, 68 per cent of upholstery leather and 80 per cent of rubber. In addition, the automobile took more than 18 per cent of the steel output, approximately 10 per cent of aluminum, some 13 per cent of copper and 34 per cent of lead.

Symbol on Dime

The dime now in use was first minted in 1916. The bundle of sticks is the ancient Roman fasces, rods bound about a protruding ax, which was the symbol of unity and strength. These fasces were borne by lictors before the Roman magistrates to indicate authority. The entwining holly branch, not wheat, on the dime stands for peace. The design is the work of Alexander Weinman, sculptor.

Concrete Houses

Concrete houses will be given another chance. Between 1910 and 1920 Grosvenor Atterbury built about 30 houses, in large precast concrete units, at Forest Hills Gardens, New York. They were fire, weather and vermin proof, other characteristics were also very satisfactory, but slow hardening concrete made them too costly.

Washing Earthenware

To wash earthenware rinse as soon as empty with water the temperature of the dish and set in room temperature surface to cool, before placing in the sink. Never put hot pottery under cold faucet or plunge into cold water, or handle with wet cloth. If you have been cooking a strong-flavored food like fish or onions wash earthenware in hot suds, sprinkle utensil and its cover with baking soda. After a little, wipe with absorbent paper toweling, wash and dry.

Felt Emblems

Unless a felt emblem on a sweater is colorfast (and it seldom is), it should be removed before sweater is washed. If emblem is washable, wash it in lukewarm suds, using a soft brush, if necessary, to get it clean. Keep emblem flat throughout the washing and rinsing, blot it with a towel and place it on a towel to dry. If pressing is required, do so on wrong side.

Perfect Pancakes

For perfect pancakes a quarter cup measure is a handy dipper and size control. Pour batter quickly. Heat griddle to just right temperature for an oven golden brown—not too hot. Make a tiny test cake. Never turn a cake more than once. Flip when bubbly all over and a few bubbles have burst. Never spank after turning.

Eyesight Priceless

Eyesight is priceless — so think twice and then think some more about the all-important question of the kind of light for the kind of place. Properly placed lights as well as adequate amounts of light may well be called important safeguards of health and happiness.

Self-Locking Latch

To hold a swing door or window open, a self-locking latch can be made easily by screwing a wooden knob to the sash or door and setting a wire broom clamp where it will engage it.

Freezing Tenderizers

Formation of ice crystals within the fibers of meat that is frozen, resulting in splitting of the fibers, is believed to be the explanation of the "tenderizing" effect of sharp freezing of meat.

Sour Milk

Sour milk can be utilized to good advantage in making muffins, biscuits, gingerbread, cookies, and most other quick breads and butter cakes.

Vitamin Sources

Citrus fruits and tomatoes are the most dependable sources of vitamin C. Other important sources are potatoes, green leafy vegetables and fruits.

Mother-of-Pearl

Mother-of-pearl can be cleaned with powdered whiting mixed to a paste with cold water. Hot water destroys the brilliance of the nacre.

Salt on Juice

If juice from an apple pie runs out over the oven, shake salt on it. The salty mixture will burn crisp and may be removed with ease.

Mashed Potatoes

In making mashed potatoes hot milk is better than cold because it helps soften lumps, adds to lightness and keeps the potatoes hot.

11,050,000 REASONS
why people are waiting to get telephones

So far, Western Electric Company, manufacturer of telephone equipment for this and other companies of the Bell System, has produced for the Army and Navy more than:

5,000,000 sets of telephone instruments

600,000 airplane radio receivers

400,000 airplane radio transmitters

1,300,000 sets of instruments for aviators and tank crews

3,750,000 miles of wire in cables

As long as the war continues, a steady flow of this equipment must go forward to our men on battle fronts and in occupied areas.

Meanwhile, telephone manufacturing to meet home needs must wait. So, also, must thousands of applicants for service. In Maryland there are about 35,000.

How long will the wait be? Unfortunately, until after the war comes to an end when, with manpower and materials again available, we can get the equipment needed for enlargement of our system.

We dislike to keep people waiting for service, but the situation is one that no one can help. IT IS PART OF THE PRICE OF FIGHTING THE WAR.

"The folks should see me now"

"POP never would let me run the tractor for fear I'd put it on the blink. Wish he could see me handling this baby!"

Hundreds of thousands of our soldiers, who went away little more than boys, will come back mature men with fine mechanical training, glad to turn their new skills to the running of the farm.

But they're never going to be satisfied with worn-out equipment, or out-of-date machinery. They're going to want the best. And after handling our tanks and planes and guns, they're going to know what the best is!

While your son is away, are you really preparing for his return? You're buying War Bonds, yes—because it's the duty of all of us to help meet the expense of this war for our Freedom. But are you buying enough to lay the foundation for a prosperous postwar farm as well?

For America's Future, for your Future, for your children's Future

5 REASONS FOR INCREASING YOUR WAR BOND PURCHASES

1. The tempo of this war is hitting its highest point. Government expenditures for war are at the peak. MORE MONEY IS NEEDED... NOW!
2. In proportion to WHO HAS THE MOST MONEY, individuals are not buying their share of War Bonds. America must correct this situation.
3. War Bonds provide the farmer and rancher with the financial reserve he must have to survive the ordinary ups and downs of farming as a business.
4. Money will be needed urgently at a future date to replace and repair farm equipment, machinery, and buildings. War Bonds will provide it.
5. War Bonds are the safest investment in the world, return a good rate of interest, are easy and convenient to buy... from bank, post office, rural mail carrier or Production Credit Association.

By Our Regular Staff of Writers

We desire correspondence to reach our office on Thursday, if at all possible. It will be necessary therefore, for most letters to be mailed on Wednesday, or by Fast Mail, west in W. M. R. R., Thursday morning. Letters mailed on Thursday evening may not reach us in time.

All communications for this department must be signed by the author; not for publication, but as an evidence that the items contributed are legitimate and correct. Items based on rumor, or such as are likely to give offense, are not wanted.

FEESERSBURG

While we were pleased to see the wheat rippling in the breeze on Saturday, here Monday morning a neighbor comes in and says their potato tops were nipped by Jack Frost last night; so we are having variable weather, but plenty of work and the birds are busiest of all. Just one more week in April which has been cooler than March—but thriving and lively—then comes smiling May.

There was Sunday School at 9:30 on Sunday at Mt. Union with pastor Bix and family in attendance. He taught the Men's Bible Class and afterward they accompanied the J. E. Dayhoff family home for dinner. Some were absent because of sickness, and others had back colds. A letter of thanks from Miss Emma Reifender was read to her friends for cards and favors received during her recent illness.

The installation service for Rev. Charles Bix and the Uniontown Parish which was held at Winter's Church on Sunday afternoon was well attended and very good and interesting. The Church Bulletin gives the full program. Dr. Keller, President of Md. Synod gave the charge to the congregation; and Rev. Corbett, of Thurmont to the pastor—splendid addresses. Two solos—"Ave Maria" by Marianna Lambert and "Prayer, Perfect" by William Fleagle were sung. Ten floral tributes in memory of loved ones adorned the church and it was all very reverent and beautiful.

From Mrs. Wm. Corbin, of Clear Ridge, whose husband is in service across seas, we have enjoyed a brochure of guide to Rome, filled with picture of wonderful buildings, great cathedrals, grand paintings and statuary—the work of centuries, and the pride of a nation. How dare enemy countries bomb and destroy such lace work and elegance.

On Wednesday evening of last week Mrs. Anna Edwards, of Frederick Broadcasting Station, held a service of remembrance for the boys in service, in the Church of God in Westminister—which some of our folks attended. On a large B two candles were lighted for the Infantry, two for the Navy, two for the Marines, and two illuminated gold stars for those killed in action—all interspersed with sacred song and prayer. Miss W. Lint accompanied with musical instruments in her splendid manner which made it most impressive.

On Sunday James Bohn and two little daughters, his wife and her parents all from Washington, D. C., visited his cousin Russell Bohn and family where they enjoyed a 3 o'clock dinner, and other relatives called to see them. James was one of our little boy S. S. scholars, then as he grew older was a fine violinist—and always played at Mt. Union service when he returned but hasn't been there for some time.

A small book of remembrance for Woodrow Miller saying we are proud of you was signed by all his friends at S. S. on Sunday morning, and will be forwarded to him in the Philippines.

S/Sgt. Wilbur Miller, Jr., is with Patton's Army in Germany, but has not been heard from for a month, when he wrote "I am well and getting along alright." He has sent some valuable souvenirs to the home folks.

Mrs. Charlotte Bohn Myers returned with her husband Sgt. Clarence W. Myers to Camp Shelby, Miss., accompanied by the attendants at their wedding the past year.

"Lum and Abner" on the screen in Union Bridge on last Thursday evening attracted considerable attention, and caused some hearty laughter and joyous comment afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Haugh and niece Nancy Bridenthal, of Waynesboro, were callers at Grove Dale, on Sunday afternoon, as he said "before our gas gives out." Seems that most of our friends are dreading a further shortage of supplies.

A week ago two antique collectors were around and visited our attic and came down with armfuls of things, set them on the table before us and asked how much money we wanted for them? Thruth was we objected for their going at all and opening every box and chest which had just been cleaned up—so we said we were not selling anything; but they persisted, and not feeling well we grew weary—and let them take the stuff for a small sum, after they were gone we began to get cross and crosser—one hates to be beaten; so we had a bad night—and now have our weapons sharpened for the next.

Our National history: April 30, 1789 Washington was inaugurated first President of the U. S.—without any opposition, and the people were happy; April 24, 1800 the library of Congress was founded $5,000 worth of books was purchased; April 26 is Confederate Memorial Day in some Southern States—a nice time to get the spring flowers.

This is the time to pray for the Conference on the West Coast—that good, great good may result from it. We are still making history.

"Government guarantee of jobs would mean both the death of liberty and eventual impoverishment." —Henry Hazlitt, New York editor.

"I have yet to meet one GI who believes in strikes." —Pvt. Robert Stone, former int'l rep., United Auto Worker CIO, now fighting in Europe.

FRIZZELLBURG

We once heard a man say "If you want an early spring, just have a mortgage coming due about the first of February and the winter, no matter how severe, passed too quickly." So it is with us, since we promised "Ken" to send in few happenings of our "Burg", the weeks just fly, the time from one Wednesday to another seems like hours instead of days. Although Kenneth lives in Taneytown and is on the Record Staff, this is his home town and we will always claim him as one of our boys, that's why we make the special effort.

We very much regret to say that the condition of Mrs. Arthur Master has necessitated her to return to the Maryland University Hospital, Baltimore, on Monday of this week, for further treatments for a lung disorder caused by a ground peanut lodging there the latter part of December. Ever since Mrs. Master returned home in January the trouble has not definitely cleared up and has caused her much discomfort, and with her goes our best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Howard Reichard, Jr., spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brown, Tyrone, he and the children had a very enjoyable time on the farm. Pvt. Robert Warner stationed at the England General Hospital, Atlantic City, N. J., is having a twenty day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leasa Warner. "Bob" seems to prefer our country life to the gay spots of the board walk, the world's noted play ground.

The other week a store in Westminster advertised sheets for sale, when the store opened the next morning, the line of customers was so large the sale lasted only fifteen minutes and the supply was exhausted.

Homespun Philosophy

By Ezra

A hired hand by the name of Alfred works on a farm near Taneytown. His boss is named Larry. The other day Alfred was driving a wagon loaded with hay from a near by farm. Larry had bought the hay and wanted to feed it to his cows. On the way Alfred ran into a deep ditch and over turned his load. A man came out from a house nearby and asked Alfred whether he needed some help to put the hay back on the wagon. He was very grateful and accepted the man's proffered assistance.

But before they went to work the man said, "It is just our dinner time, suppose we go in and get something to eat before we begin?"

"Thank you very much," said Alfred, "but I am afraid Larry wouldn't like me to do that."

"Oh, that is alright," said the man, "your boss won't mind if you set up with us."

After a great deal of persuasion Alfred consented to eat his dinner with the kind man. "But I fear Larry won't like this," he repeated.

When dinner was over, the man came out onto the front porch and sat down on a rocker. "I never go to work immediately after I eat," said the man. "I always sit down for a spell and let my food begin to digest. Take a seat. There is still plenty of time to get that hay on the wagon before night fall."

"No! I dare not sit down," said Alfred. "I am afraid I waited too long already. Larry won't like this."

Finally the man asked, "What makes you think Larry will object to waiting awhile?"

"Well, you see," said Alfred, "Larry is under the load of hay."

You see everything depends upon the point of view. Alfred and his kind host had all the time in the world. They could eat and rest and otherwise take their good old time to put the load of hay back on the wagon.

It is the same way with all of us. While the sun is shining and everything is going our way we don't think about laying up stores for a rainy day. The morrow will take care of itself.

The other point of view is from under the load of hay. "I am afraid Larry didn't do me any good," I am sure Larry didn't do me any good when he tried to be.

When the storm clouds gather and things are getting dark all around us we spring into action. Somehow we get to be in an awful hurry all of a sudden.

I saw Larry the other day. So he couldn't have been any the worse for his experience. I hope it won't be too late for us when the load of hay is cleared off us.

Under French, Spanish and English rule at various periods of its early history, Mississippi experienced all the growing pains of colonial development. Soldier's Afternoon

By SHIRLEY N. HARKINS
McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
WNU Features.

BIFF was hopping mad. And hopping up and down on the driver's seat of the bouncing jeep at the same time. He kept his foot pressed to the floor, and the tangled woods on either side flew past like telephone poles from a train window.

Even then only the faintest breeze fanned his tanned face. It was sure hot country out here. Hot and breathless. Just the way Julie made a guy feel. Gosh, she was cute. Cute as the cocky little nurse's cap perched on her blond curls. He marveled at the way she managed to look crisp as a lettuce leaf, even under this broiling sun. It sure had been pleasant recuperating from malaria under her watchful care.

She had bestowed her warm smile impartially on Biff and his C. O., Major Deston, convalescing down the hall. She liked the army and her nursing job near the front. And Biff was sure she liked him, too. After all, they were both from Brooklyn. That made them practically soul-mates.

And now Major Deston had to ruin Biff's chance for a date with Julie tonight. An opportunity to walk under a still, star-crusted sky, and perhaps hold Julie's cool little hand, and maybe not say a word. And then again, maybe say the word.

Biff gulped as the car careened madly down the narrow path. Cripes, he'd never cared much about girls before the war, but then he'd never known a girl could have honest, forthright eyes, a sweet but firm mouth, a soft but determined chin.

Julie was one in a million, and now just when he was on the verge of asking her to wait for him, Major Deston had cooked his goose. This was his last night at the post, for his special mission meant advancing ranks in the morning. The Lord only knew where the regiment would be stationed from now on. The very thought that he might never see Julie again made him a little sick. Fat chance he'd ever have of meeting her back in Brooklyn when this shooting match was over.

And yet someone had to lift the protective mines planted a few hours before so that the troops could go forward in an attempt to locate the unknown German base. He wondered why Deston had picked him for this detail. Could Deston be cutting any ice with Julie? He immediately dismissed the idea as unworthy, but a guy in love can't help being jealous. Even of a kindly middle-aged major. No, it was just his usual bad luck to be chosen for special duty.

He'd get the job over with and jump back to the post double-quick. He only needed a few minutes with Julie. He was so preoccupied with his problem that he failed to see the armored car until it was actually blocking the path ahead. He jammed on the brake, and the jeep screeched to a stop.

When the two Germans jumped out of the bushes, leveling their pistols at him, Biff was startled. But more than that, he was definitely displeased. It looked as if Julie and the dream were separated for good.

"Your jeep, she make the big noise, nein?" The tall man's tones were rough. "We hear you coming far off, and we say 'Goot!' Now we get back to our base after all, even if our car break down." He kicked the useless tire savagely. "Our men will repair this later. You will drive us directly to Bhou Kherab, my friend, and no funny business. We are not patient men."

The two strangers climbed into the back, delighted with their strategy and the novelty of safe conduct to their headquarters with an American prisoner as chauffeur. Biff's thoughts chased around in his head like leaves in the wind. So Bhou Kherab was the German base! Deston would be glad to know that. If Biff lived to tell him.

He drove steadily for some minutes while his plan formulated. He'd drive these lugs straight over their own explosives and make a break for it. His sudden swerve in the road angered his German pals, but it was too late. The front wheels missed the mine, but the rears caught it squarely.

It seemed to Biff that a giant sky-rocket had burst in his head, and the detonation filled the quiet glade with deafening noise. He found himself lying flat in a wadi but he could move, and he wriggled to a position where he could inspect the effect of his bull's-eye. The jeep was completely wrecked, and the two Germans lay dead.

Biff broke into a run. If he hurried, he might even yet salvage a few minutes with Julie. Competently, he lifted the remaining mines and then dogtrotted to the armored car.

"Here we go, Fraulein," he said prayerfully, as he started the ignition, "if the rim only holds, I'll make it back to camp."

Driving on the rim, his thoughts leaped excitedly. "Little man," he said to himself, "you've had a big, busy day." He'd wear his bars modestly, but his heart thumped loudly as he pictured Julie's pride in him. "Just a bum from Brooklyn," she would laugh softly, and her lips would be cool and sweet.

Competition

About 25 years ago people in all walks of life began to notice and talk about competition between industries. It was new then and interesting. Before that, competition was understood to exist between people and firms in the same industry—merchant vs. merchant, railroad vs. railroad, sawmill vs. sawmill, etc. But after World War I it was a changed business world, plain to see.

Among the modest newcomers in that remote era was a product called rayon. It was manufactured in the form of yarn, like wool and cotton yarns. The price to weavers was $2.80 a pound against 50¢ for cotton yarn. Last year 55¢ a pound was the price of both rayon and cotton yarns, and rayon was on the market as a fibre, very much like cotton fibre, but less expensive.

Rayon Has Grown
Back in 1919 the American people bought less than 2% as much rayon as cotton. Last year the ratio was 20% and rayon had captured quite a slice of cotton's export demand. Europeans earn less than Americans and they pay more attention to a low price. If it were not for the war using up all both industries can produce rayon would probably be giving cotton some tough competition.

When the war ends these two big industries are faced with a struggle for sales in world markets. It is anybody's guess now how the struggle will turn out, but King Cotton is not licked. The cotton industry is still much bigger; still employs more people than any other American industry. Besides, smart cotton men understand how rayon made its remarkable gains.

Volume and Wages
Rayon started out the American way. It had relatively large investments in machinery. With good tools it turned out large volumes of rayon per worker. On a basis of big results from their day's work the men who worked drew good wages. At the same time large outputs of rayon per man every day made it possible for prices to go lower and lower each year, sales to become bigger and bigger.

Working people in America have a right to live well. When they earn good wages they do live well. Money they spend is the very life blood of national prosperity. But before they can earn good pay they have to turn out lots of merchandise per worker. And in order to produce goods in volume they must have good tools. It was a successful plan with rayon and it will work with cotton.

It Costs Something
People say there is a practical cotton picker ready for introduction after the war. It will cost a lot more than one big sack and a string for each member of a share-cropper's family; it will likewise pick more cotton in a day than they can pick in a week. Efficient tools call for capital investment. It means laying out money, but efficient tools are worth it.

People say we will see many mechanical cotton choppers after the war. It is not impossible. This will increase the number of acres of cotton per worker; make more yield per day for every man. The picker and the chopper will create high wages and good living for a lot of people. But rayon can win its war with cotton if cotton tries to stay in the field armed with hoes and gunny-sacks.

OREGON CAPITOL
Oregon's capitol at Salem is now one of the fine structures which Americans buy War Bonds to protect. It's new and beautiful; one of the nation's prized possessions. It is worth buying a great many War Bonds to provide planes and material for our fighting men to use in its defense. Oregon City and Corvallis were capitals of the territory for brief periods but Salem became the permanent capital when Congress provided funds for the erection of territory capitol buildings there and the U. S. Treasury refused to provide the funds for construction anywhere else. Fire destroyed the first capitol and also another in 1935.

SETTLEMENT AND STRUGGLES IN CANAAN

LESSON TEXT—Judges 2:6, 7, 11, 12, 18, 19; 6:11-16.

GOLDEN TEXT—Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest.—Joshua 1:9.

God keeps his promises. Israel found that to be true as He brought them into the promised land of Canaan. Those who rebelled against Him had died in the wilderness, but now a new generation had come into possession of the land.

Here they met the challenge of the heathen, and were victorious over them as they trusted the Lord. Joshua, their leader, after faithful services was ready to go to be with the Lord, but before doing so, reminded them of God's promise and of the danger of unbelief and sin. As our lesson opens, we find the people settled in the land, as far as they had taken it. We find:

I. God's Promise Fulfilled (2:6)

The Lord had promised the land to them as they went in and possessed it by faith in Him. He fully kept that promise in the measure that they believed Him. They never did take the whole land, but that was because of their failure, not God's.

The story speaks to us. God has provided a rich inheritance for the believer in Christ, but it must be appropriated by faith. How much have we taken out of the riches we have in Christ?

We are also reminded of the absolute faithfulness of God. There is little in this world in which we may repose complete confidence, but we may and should trust God. He has never failed anyone, and He will not fail us.

II. Man's Promise Broken (2:7, 11, 12).

The people had solemnly promised to keep God's commandments (see last week's lesson). That promise they had renewed in response to Joshua's farewell challenge (see Josh. 24:20, 21). They kept their word only as long as those who remembered Joshua were alive, and then they "forgot the Lord."

This fall of Israel is his counterpart in what is taking place in our land today. The great mass of decent people in America were reared in Christian homes. They know what is right, and they live on the spiritual and moral momentum received from their godly parents.

The next generation now coming into power, without the benefit of spiritual training in the home and church, are forsaking the Lord and following other gods, the gods of pleasure, of money, of lust.

III. God's Plan of Deliverance (2:18, 19).

One would have thought that God would give up a people so set on sinning, but He did not. He provided deliverance for Israel. That gives us courage, for we know that He has not given us up, but has provided in Christ a sure deliverance—if America will but turn to Him.

For Israel's deliverance God provided judges, who were not only judicial, but, in fact, primarily administrative in their work. They were God's men to call Israel back to Him. The repeated failure and backsliding of Israel brought new acts of mercy on God's part in calling out new judges.

It is interesting to note that God works through men. Some of these judges were great men. Others were just ordinary men. But each in his appointed place, at the appointed time, was God's man.

God is looking for men today who will serve Him. He wants brilliant, capable men, but He also calls the ordinary, everyday variety, and as they are faithful, He blesses them. Has He called you? Have you responded?

IV. God's Presence and Power (6:11-16).

Israel had long been under the oppression of the Midianites, who would sweep over the land and steal their crops and their flocks. Israel finally turned to God for help, and He met their need by calling Gideon as the fifth of the judges.

God knows better than to call an idle man, one who is sitting around waiting for opportunity to knock. He seeks out the busy person and gives him more to do.

Note the entirely adequate provision made for Gideon's success. "Surely I will be with thee." That means both the presence and the power of the eternal and omnipotent One.

Gideon at once began the tearing down of the heathen places of worship in his own community. It was the hardest place to start. It always is. But the one whose light is to shine afar must see that it shines brightest at home.

The humility of Gideon as he looked at himself (v. 15) is commendable. But note that he did not permit it to shut the door of faith, as he believed God and did mighty exploits for Him. Don't trust yourself, but do trust God!

Child's Health Need Calls for Attention

WITH a record number of diaper-wearers in the population and a record shortage of domestic help, the observance of National Baby Week (April 29 to May 5), and of Child Health Day, falling within the week of May 1, focuses attention on the need for teen-agers and grandmothers and even grandfathers to volunteer to take over long or short shifts as baby tenders in all parts of the country.

All training courses for mothers' helpers stress the importance of diaper changing and give basic pointers on proper technique for bottle-feeding and baths. Here are some basic do's and don'ts suggested to help recruits to the baby tending assignment avoid mistakes that beginners often make:

Do change diapers frequently. With each change the skin in the diaper area should be carefully cleansed with special bland oil or dusted with baby powder. Or, after each diaper shift, apply a new baby lotion, containing lanolin with an antiseptic agent added for extra protection.

tion. A dozen changes or more a day usually are needed to keep His Majesty comfortable.

Do fold diapers for a boy baby with extra thickness in front; girl babies, however, should have extra diaper thickness folded in back. Have a pile of folded diapers placed so you can keep one hand firmly on baby while you reach for the replacement.

Do take baby outdoors morning and afternoon on good days if he is well.

Protect Against Colds.

Don't ever let baby get in draughts. Use the carriage hood to protect him outdoors and use a nursery screen for the same purpose indoors.

Do wear a gauze mask tied snugly over your nose and mouth, if you so much as suspect the beginning of a cold.

Don't ever sneeze in baby's face or let anyone else do so.

Don't ever hold the bottle so that there's air space between the milk and the nipple. That common error gives baby air instead of the food he needs. The correct angle is achieved when the bottle neck is filled with milk.

Do "bubble" baby several times during the course of the feeding. Bracing his back in an upright sitting position for a moment may be sufficient. Holding him at your shoulder and patting lightly on the back is an alternate "bubble" technique.

Don't jiggle baby when you "bubble" him; he should be kept as quiet as possible during the feeding.

Just in case mother's understudy may be short on memory, it's a good precaution to write out a schedule for bottles, naps and outings as well as a simple list of directions.

Bonds Over America

KANSAS WOMEN

Following the signing of the treaty with the Delaware and Shawnee Indians in 1854, settlers poured into Kansas. Women and children accompanied the men on steamboats, on horseback, in prairie schooners and wagons. They went to make it a home territory and courageously stayed to make permanent homes, despite the bloody years of border warfare over the slavery issue. They were strong, purposeful women who foresaw the opportunity for prosperity and good homes for future generations. Kansas has a monument to them on the capitol grounds at Topeka. The grandsons battle for an unspoiled future for all the Nation and War Bond funds equip them.

Proper Hog Housing Insures Fair Profit

Poor House Will Not Produce Quality Hogs

ADEQUATE housing is one of the fundamentals of successful hog raising. This is especially true where the house is used for weanling pigs. Not generally recognized, extremes of cold and heat are harder on hogs than any other farm animal.

While a portable shelter is usually advisable, it may not always be possible or practical. A portable hog house should be easy to move, dry, admit plenty of sunlight, well ventilated, economical, cool in summer and warm and dry in winter, easy to clean, sturdy and of suitable size.

A colony house seven by eight feet is large enough to shelter four or five pigs that average 200 pounds, if they have access to pasture or outdoor lot. A safer rule would be to allow two square feet for each pig.

Pasture for portable hog houses is advisable, but where the building is stationary, it is recommended that the run immediately around the house be of concrete. The trough may be of hard wood — or of concrete. The fence should be of woven wire, or a suitable board fence. Approved types of electric fences are inexpensive and suitable.

Housing space should not be wasted on weanling pigs unless they are long-bodied and carry their weight uniformly, have short necks, neat and compact shoulders and plump hams and have smooth sides. Most attention should be paid to the development of the regions of highest priced cuts, such as hams and sides, less attention to length of head, color or other minor considerations.

New Soil Tillers to Be Available Soon

action for propulsion will be available after the war.

Instead of turning over soil as the plow does, the Swiss-invented Rotoliner churns and crumbles the soil by means of edge tools, claw-like tines, rotating in paddle wheel fashion and mixing in cover crops and fertilizer uniformly. Graham-Paige Motors corporation has secured license rights in the United States. Some 6,000 are now in operation, the number will be materially increased as soon as materials and manpower are available.

Another type of tiller is the Tillmaster, which will be under operation soon by the Climax company. Tested in the Pacific Northwest it was found suitable for various conditions, proving a real labor saver.

Milk Test Change

There are several factors which cause the butterfat test of milk to vary. The milk of a cow recently freshened may test high. This condition is a temporary one, and after it disappears the milk is likely to test lowest during the first few months following freshening. As the lactation advances, the test tends to increase and becomes high near the end of lactation. Tests of milk are usually highest during the coldest months and lowest in summer.

Biscuit Spread

A delightful biscuit spread which saves margarine or butter is plum glaze. To make plum glaze blend two tablespoons cornstarch with two tablespoons plum juice from drained canned plums. Mix until smooth. Combine one-half cup plum juice, one tablespoon lemon juice, two teaspoons grated lemon rind and two teaspoons sugar. Cook three minutes. Add cornstarch mixture gradually, stirring well. Cook until clear and thick, about five minutes. Drop by teaspoonfuls on baked biscuits, pan rolls, or use as filling for coffee cakes.

Thrive Indoors

Despite their hardy nature, cacti and other succulents require care if they are to thrive indoors. To grow luxuriantly, they need a combination of half sand and half leaf mold, or sand and rich topsoil. During the winter, cacti need little water. Keep them in a southern exposure. In spring they should be watered and given a plant food. When planting cactus, allow it to remain somewhat dry until new roots develop. If the soil is wet, the roots will rot. Spindly growth usually results from excess water and improper light.

Furniture Polish

For removing that dull, foggy appearance that furniture may acquire and to conceal fine cracks or checks in the finish, use a simple home-made furniture polish of two parts boiled linseed oil and one part turpentine. It is suggested that the mixture be applied with a soft cloth. Rub the excess polish off with a dry cloth and keep rubbing with the grain of the wood until the surface is entirely dry and will not show a finger mark.

Link Sausages

When frying link sausages, keep draining off fat as it gathers. Later you'll enjoy it in savory gravy or as seasoning. Use tongs or two forks to turn links once or twice—you should never prick the skins. Finished sausage has a speckled brown color. It's underdone if it's pinkish. Serve well done on a warm platter.

AMERICAN HEROES by WOODY COWAN

COMDR. JAMES HAILE MINI, U.S.N., already holder of a DFC, has been awarded a Navy Cross for leading a flight of carrier planes against the Japs in the Philippines. He so deployed his command that they severely damaged six major combat vessels. Despite heavy anti-aircraft fire, he made an accurate bomb-run on a battleship, scoring a direct hit with a 1000-pound bomb. War Bonds helped pay for the planes and bombs that enabled the Manila-born officer to render that foe ineffective. His home now is at Vallejo, California.

Ball Powder Is New Yank Feat

Explosive Produced Faster Than Smokeless Variety
By Novel Process.

EAST ALTON, ILL.—Ball powder, a smokeless powder made by a revolutionary new process, is produced like a Panama hat—under water. But powder-makers don't wear swimming suits to manufacture these tiny spherical balls of explosive that look like miniature BB shot. They don't even have to touch the powder.

Ball powder is made by a chemical process and is untouched by human hands from the moment raw materials are fed into stills until the completed ball powder globules are pumped out of huge water-filled sorting vats to be dried under infra-red lights.

Regarded by ammunition makers as one of the few major scientific achievements in the field of explosives since the Chinese invented gun powder, ball powder was invented here on the banks of the Mississippi river in the laboratories of the Western Cartridge company.

Safe and Fast.
Ball powder is not only safe to make, but is being made ten times faster than smokeless powder made by conventional processes. The average manufacturing time for ball powder has been cut down from 376 hours to 40 hours. Recently a batch of raw cotton was nitrated for ball powder at nine o'clock in the morning, and at three o'clock that afternoon cartridges loaded with the powder were fired on the testing range of Western Cartridge company. It was the fastest production of smokeless powder in history, Western workers believe.

Where ordinary smokeless powder is made by pressing nitrocellulose through dies and chopping the slender spaghetti-like rods into the proper sizes, ball powder is manufactured chemically under water. The nitrocellulose is first reduced to a liquid by the addition of ethyl acetate, a chemical used in the making of women's nail polish.

Method Is Simple.
Because it is lighter than water, the liquid nitrocellulose rises to the top of the still. By whipping the mixture, it breaks into a multitude of tiny globules—the pellets of ball powder. The greater the speed of stirring, the smaller the balls become. A chemical is added to prevent the balls from reuniting. After the balls are dried they are ready for loading into ammunition.

Although 40 chemists are kept busy checking every stage of production, actual manufacture is so simple that few critical materials have been used in building the ball powder-making equipment. Local boiler-makers constructed the stills and steamfitters put together the pipe used to convey the product from one tank to another.

U. S. Navy Plans to Step Up Training for Fliers

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The navy announced recently that it would re-institute part of its pilot training program, which was cut back last summer.

The increase in pilot training will give former aviation cadets and student aviation pilots who were separated from the preliminary stages of the program an opportunity to reenter the program.

The navy said the accelerated tempo of the Pacific war was one reason for the increase in the training program. Another, the navy said, is the plan to speed up rotation of navy fliers, giving aviators more frequent periods in the United States for rehabilitation and refresher training.

At the same time the navy announced that 2,000 "carefully selected" enlisted men would begin V-12 college training July 1.

Plane Production Soars, Reaches 96,369 in '44

WASHINGTON. — American factories delivered 96,369 planes of all types in 1944, bringing production since July 1, 1940, to an Axis-staggering total of 253,256.

The 1944 output represented an increase of 11,423 planes, but by using weight as the yardstick the increase exceeded 50 per cent. Weight now is regarded as a more accurate gauge. The trend toward greater average weight will continue in 1945, with increasing numbers of B-29 Superfortresses and other giants.

Present planning calls for 73,227 planes in 1945, but Chairman J. A. Krug, WPB chairman, said recently that the indications are that this will be increased.

December deliveries totaled 6,697 planes, a slight decrease from November's 6,747, but there was no decline on a weight basis.

Japanese Shot 'Em Down But It Was Not for Keeps

WITH AMERICAN FORCES ON LUZON.—A lot of the American boys who were shot down on Luzon island by the Japanese prior to the Yank invasion are coming back.

One who returned was Capt. Robert W. Aschenbrenner, a member of Maj. Richard Bong's sky fighting outfit—made his way through the American lines and rejoined his fellow fliers.

Combat Men Take Jobs in War Work

16,000 on Furlough Help on Critical Production.

WASHINGTON. — The army and navy have lent some 16,000 men capable of combat duty to fill labor gaps in critical war production, a high government official said. These men—more than a full division of troops—went from uniforms to overalls to work on such items as tires, copper and foundry products.

The army and navy have estimated that 600,000 additional men are needed for overseas duty by June 30, while 1,000,000 replacements are trained. But first of all they want back in the fighting ranks the 16,000 men who have had to muster out temporarily to fill critical jobs. Reports that these men receive both army and civilian pay has caused some dissatisfaction among buddies left in uniform.

Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, and Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the fleets, estimated that a minimum of 300,000 new munitions workers are needed. An official said this was due in part to swift changes in the production program in recent weeks.

He cited as an example President Roosevelt's statement in his opening message to congress that the army has developed a new tank with a gun more powerful than any yet mounted on a fast moving vehicle. The President added that many thousands of these would be needed in 1945. That fact alone, it was said, has caused an upward revision in labor needs in the Detroit area, where it had been thought previously that manpower requirements had reached their peak and would decline gradually.

A shift in production from standardized fighting planes to the new jet propulsion types was given as another example of how the program has changed.

Civil War Veteran Finds His Kin After 44 Years

CHICAGO. — Mrs. Ethel Garrick, of 8047 S. Langley avenue, learned that her 98-year-old grandfather, John Pomeroy, who vanished into the Alaskan wilds 44 years ago, was alive and well.

In a veterans' home in Napa, Calif., the civil war veteran and Indian fighter longed to receive word of his children for Christmas. A New York company located his one surviving daughter, Mrs. Mary Clidene of 3250 E. Colonial drive, Orlando, Fla. Four other grandchildren are scattered throughout the country.

Pomeroy left the country in 1900 to search for gold in Alaska and quit communicating with his family a short time later.

55 Villagers Murdered By Nazis in North Italy

NEW YORK. — Fifty-five men, women and children out of the 200 inhabitants of the Italian village of Madonna Dell Albergo, near Ravenna, were massacred by Nazi SS (Elite Guard) troops.

An overseas dispatch to the OWI said Lieut. H. N. Acker of Toronto, a signals officer of the Canadian First division, had revealed the massacre after talking to the remaining villagers. Acker, the dispatch said, had arrived at the village as the last 31 of the victims were being prepared for burial.

The Germans were angry, the villagers said, "because they suspected some of the men had gone to the Allied lines with information."

G.I.'s Rifle Won't Hold Notches for Dead Japs

ON LEYTE. — Pfc. Johnny Freeman of Springdale, Ark., can't carve a notch on his automatic rifle for every Japanese he has killed. There isn't room.

Lieut. Robert E. Rector of Bluffton, Ind., says Freeman has killed 23 Japanese.

"I got my biggest bag when 15 came toward our position," Freeman recalled. "I sort of warmed them up. One of the easiest was a foolish Jap. He took a bath in a stream only a hundred yards away."

Kansas Girl Finds Out Where Money Is Kept

HAYS, KAN. — A small girl walked into a bank where her parents maintain a savings account for her.

"I think," she told a teller, "I have a lot of money in this place and I want to take it out."

Asked why she wanted the money, the child replied:

"Well, for one thing I want to go to college and for another I want to buy three funny books."

She settled for three dimes offered by a bystander.

'Gold' Bricks Prove Principally Brass

EUFAULA, ALA. — Assayers said that 10 yellow metal bricks, uncovered by a Negro plowing in a field near here and believed to be gold, were made up mostly of brass. The bricks contained "some" gold but were not worth $7,500, the estimated value given them by local bankers.

OUR NATION'S LOSS

Roosevelt's death was a shock to the nation. The radio announced it with a perpetual proclamation.

Three days of commemoration were set aside.

Four our past president who had been our guide.

All nations were struck with the grief That U. S. A. lost her commander and chief.

All of his good accomplishments were brought to light; And all of his evil doings, concealed out of our sight.

God has his reasons to give him a call It seems as if death is man's greatest fall.

Maybe God saw farther ahead than we That another man was needed and so we agree

That this man that is thought to be indispensable; They found to live without him would have to be possible

Let us all pull together and cooperate Before our country is ruined and it is too late.

May God lead us, as we are only human,

FOR A SMOOTH RUNNING BUSINESS

As a supplement to your own business capital, short-term bank credit can serve many useful purposes. It can help with heavy payrolls, seasonal needs, discounting bills and property repairs, for instance.

Under certain conditions, longer term bank credit can be arranged. Our business-loan service is pliable. We invite you to come in and talk over your financial needs.
