PACKING FOR PACIFIC

Extra Care to be Taken for Long Mail Haul.

A package addressed to a man in the Pacific will have a long and rough trip, perhaps lasting months and possibly in half dozen ships, so it should be well wrapped.

Dispatching more than two million packages a month to the Pacific and expecting sudden new peaks in the volume as more forces are sent to that area, the Navy Mail Service issues this new appeal.

Postal officers call attention to the size of the Pacific Ocean and the distance of its battlefronts. Because many parcels collapse enroute, they have outlined the following suggestions:

1. Pack each article in shredded paper or something like it to prevent movement inside the package.

2. Tie the box with heavy cord, then wrap it in brown paper and tie it again with strong cord.

3. Print the address in ink directly on the wrapping; don't use paper stickers which fall off if they get wet.

4. Inside each package put a sheet of paper listing the contents and giving the full address of the person to whom it is sent. (If this is done, a broken box can be re-addressed and delivered.)

5. It is a good idea to insure packages sent overseas.

The number of packages sent to the Pacific area increased from 1,655,820 last September to 2,012,865 in January.

HEALTHY CHICKS GROW FASTER

Every chick started this year has a right to expect clean surroundings in which it will have protection against infections and contaminations, and can make its maximum growth. The complete program of disease prevention includes sanitation from the very beginning supported throughout the brooding period by preventive medication, proper equipment, good management, and correct feeding.

Before you go to the hatchery for your chicks or expect to receive them by shipment, be sure to prepare the brooder house by cleaning it from ceiling to floor and then scrubbing thoroughly. Then while the house is still damp, disinfect it thoroughly with a good disinfectant that does not smart, irritate, or have a disagreeable odor.

A clean pair of overshoes or rubbers should be kept at the brooder house door so that you can slip them on when entering to care for the chicks, or a pan with some disinfectant in it can be kept near the door and the sole of your shoes dipped every time before entering. These are necessary precautions against carrying infections into the brooder house.

You've spent quite a lot of time and money for those baby chicks and they will keep on costing for quite a while. It is estimated that 500 chicks require over 2,500 pounds of feed for their first 10 weeks, varying somewhat according to breeds. In addition to strict sanitation you can assure your chicks a better start by providing tonic benefits, prepared commercially, to which chicks respond rapidly.

RELIEF BILL STUDY

A stiff contest has been waged before Governor O'Connor for and against the bill passed by the recent General Assembly to require a two-year residence before able bodied persons can get relief from Maryland.

At a hearing on April 26, J. Milton Patterson, State Welfare head, Thomas J. S. Waxter, head of relief in Baltimore, a C. I. O. representative, professional social workers and others urged the Governor to veto the Bill, which passed both Houses of the General Assembly with large majorities.

On the side of those who want the Governor to sign the Bill and make it law were J. Edwin Muford, president of the Baltimore Taxpayers' Association, Orris Byrd, President of the Mount Royal Improvement Association, R. C. Lamb, representing the League for lower taxes in Anne Arundel County, Charles C. Rappold, Harry Klinefelter and others.

Mr. Muford announced, due to the fact that there was only two days' notice of the hearing, many people were unable to arrange to leave their work to attend. The Governor said he had received a "great deal" of correspondence in favor of the bill from citizens throughout the State, who were unable to attend.

A sharp tilt took place between Orris Byrd and Thomas J. S. Waxter. Mr. Byrd, talking in favor of the bill said welfare was costing Baltimore $7,000,000 this year, and accused Mr. Waxter of coming the mountains of Virginia and Tennessee to get more people on relief in order to make his department bigger and better. Mr. Waxter retorted that he was working to increase the income of the low income groups, and would continue to do so.

Governor O'Connor thanked those attending the hearing for giving him the benefit of their views, and promised to give the matter of signing the bill or killing it by veto, most careful study. He gave no indication of what his decision would be.

RURAL LIFE SUNDAY

4-H Clubs throughout the country are observing their 4-H Club Sunday this year on May 6, the day set aside by the National Council of Churches as Rural Life Sunday. That was the news from Miss Dorothy Emerson, girls' club agent, and Mylo S. Downey, state boys' club agent, both at the University of Maryland.

Many Maryland 4-H Clubs are expected to participate this year, Miss Emerson said. The members will attend church together to perhaps conduct sunrise or sunset services in some scenic spot. They will decorate the churches with plants and with green and white flowers representing the 4-H Club colors. The boys and girls will serve as ushers, give talks, and contribute special musical numbers. In many cases they may take over the conduct of the church services entirely for this one Sunday. Their services will be planned to fit in with this year's theme, "The Christian Way of Life."

Rural Life Sunday was first observed in 1929. Its purpose, it is stated, is to "magnify the relation of God and man in food production, and to pray God's blessings upon the human efforts to prepare for a crop."

SAFETY IS THEME IN POSTER CONTEST FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

One thousand dollars in war bonds, plus a grand prize of $100 is being offered by the American Automobile Association in a contest among school children throughout the country for a series of new school safety posters. The design contest, running from April 1 to June 1, 1945, has been endorsed by representative art education leaders.

According to an announcement by Percy M. Burke, Westminster Branch Manager of The Automobile Club of Maryland (AAA), entries may be made by any public, parochial, or private school, any class in such a school, or any individual student thereof. The conditions include a provision that the posters must be drawn by persons born after June 1, 1927. In addition they must be strictly original in idea, execution and design, and cannot be a copy or imitation of any other safety poster.

The ten winning posters will be issued to schools all over the nation during the school year of September 1945 to June 1946, in lots of between 100,000—150,000 for each design. The reproductions will carry the name of the artists and his school.

THE KIWANIS CLUB

Lt. Governor's Night was Observed

The Taneytown Kiwanis Club held its regular weekly meeting at the Social Hall of the Union Bridge Fire Company, on Wednesday evening, at 6:30 o'clock. President, Raymond Wright, presiding. Thirty members were present; also Rev. Miles S. Reifsnider of the Westminster Club and Staff Sgt. Earl S. Otto, as the guest of Dr. Thomas H. Legg. In introducing his guest, Dr. Legg, announced that Sgt. Otto has seen four years of service in the Army, and is at present convalescing from wounds received in battle. The period of group singing was in charge of Howell Royer, with Mrs. Wallace Yingling as accompanist.

The meeting was observed as Lt. Governor's night and was in charge of the Board of Directors. The guest of honor Lt. Governor Michael Paul Smith, of Reisterstown, who was also the speaker of the evening.

At the beginning of address, Lt. Gov. Smith raised the question, "What is Kiwanis destined to do in 1945?" that is, what are the opportunities of Kiwanis as a whole, and in what ways may the respective clubs strive to bring about the new objectives of the organization? Many of the old objectives, five in number, with which all Kiwanis are familiar, have become weakened in that under present conditions, as regards some of them, there seems to be nothing left to do. At present, Kiwanis faces the greatest opportunities of its existence. Upon the basis of "Win the war and build the peace," Kiwanis is challenged with ten new objectives. Kiwanis is regarded as the outstanding Service Club organization of the nation. A representative of Kiwanis was invited to "sit in" at the Dumbarton Oaks Conference. The members are now challenged to use their influence and prayers for the San Francisco Conference. The real reason for Kiwanis is not only fellowship and friendship among its members in Club meetings and other association, but also the realization that the greatest thing to come to anyone is to serve someone else. In view, then, of a clear understanding of its supreme purpose, Kiwanis is urged, through its more than 2200 Clubs and 140,000 members in the United States and Canada, to realize its objective in service.

This service can be rendered by every Club and every community in which Kiwanis is known and is operative, in the effort to make a better community and a better world. Lt. Gov. Smith chose as illustrations of his thought such men as Thomas Jefferson and James Madison, who although they received many honors and much distinction from the nation, preferred to be remembered by the nation by their avenues of service rather than by honors and preferences which they enjoyed. Really great men are those who wish to perform service to others.

Some of the suggested community services for Kiwanis are:

1. Helping to keep the civilian population strong in their support of the armed forces.
2. Helping to combat and reduce juvenile delinquency in the community.
3. Helping to get returning veterans back into civilian life, by becoming acquainted with them, and especially by giving them information as to their rights, as outlined in the official "G. I. Bill of Rights."

The meeting next week will be in charge of the House and Reception Committee, Elwood Baumgardner, Chairman, and will be observed as "Mothers' Night" and "Ladies' Night." The meeting will be held at the Parish House of Baust Church and will begin promptly at 6 P. M.

I AM AN AMERICAN DAY

Responding to a request of the General Assembly, Governor O'Connor has proclaimed Sunday May 20, as "I am an American Day."

The purpose is that this day be set apart as a special time to do honor to those citizens who have attained their majority and those of foreign birth who have become citizens by naturalization during the past year. The Governor asks that State and local officials, patriotic, educational and civic organizations plan and carry out special programs to assist our new citizens to understand more fully the great privileges, opportunities and responsibilities of citizenship in the United States.

WIDER HORIZONS

Americans have become acutely conscious in recent years that there is a science of nutrition. Spectacular if somewhat disquieting proof of this awareness is to be found in the mushrooming sales of vitamin pills. But there is other and more encouraging evidence in the growing demand for such food as milk, meat, eggs, fruits and fresh vegetables.

This trend is the result, of course, of important discoveries made in the field of nutrition. Through newspapers and magazines the public has learned that there is a direct connection between diet and health. Housewives have eagerly applied the knowledge made available and today the results can be seen on millions of tables.

Yet the science of nutrition is still new. What the investigators have discovered so far is merely a fraction of what remains to be studied. The striking results of recent research, as reported at the annual meeting of the Nutrition Foundation at New York City, clearly indicate that the door to important new knowledge is only beginning to open.

Thus studies at Harvard point to the conclusion that by bettering the diet of expectant mothers it will be possible to reduce the percentage of deformed children to a fraction of what it is today. Other research concerned with the fatty material within the liver has provided an important lead bearing on the convalescent treatment of large numbers of returning service men. There is new light on diabetes and on why fliers can stand high altitudes better when fortified with a meal rich in carbohydrates.

This is a science that bears directly on the well-being of every man, woman and child. It is heartening to know that its horizons are steadily widening.—The Frederick Post.

THE SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE

At last the long hoped for conference of representatives of the United Nations has begun in San Francisco, and apparently has gotten off to a good start. It is true that as yet, when this article is being written, the one problem which has been most ticklish so far has not been settled. That is the recognition of delegates from the Soviet sponsored Polish government. It seems that Mr. Stalin is intent on seeing that this delegation is given a place, and it seems that the United States intends to remain firm against granting it. Latest reports are that Britain seems to be more willing to accept the Polish group than does the United States, just to get the matter out of the way if for no other reason. In order to attain world harmony, each nation will have to give in, to some degree, to the desires of others, and this looks to be the first test for the nations.

Stalin has announced what he wanted all along the way, and has always gotten it, and there is little likelihood that he will not eventually win out this time. Many have expressed uneasiness on the subject, for fear that the matter might be a disturbing element of real proportions at the conference, and more than that, they fear that if Stalin intends to carry his point in this matter he might try to do so with many other things. Many feel that he may try to take advantage of Mr. Truman, feeling that he does not have the power behind him that Mr. Roosevelt had. Be this as it may, and it is to be hoped that all delegates can put the welfare of all peoples above that of smaller groups, and that a worthwhile program can be worked out which will insure peace for a long time to come.

While many are skeptical of the value of such conferences, conferences are many times more preferable than war, and if any good can be accomplished through such gatherings, it is to be sincerely hoped that it will be of a permanent nature. The ablest men of the 46 nations concerned are to be at the gathering, and if they can really voice the sentiments and desires of their people, some good, and a much better understanding, should come from their getting together.—County Record, Towson.

A RECORD SEASON

The arrival of spring in Maryland is fairly unpredictable. It may be late; it may be early; or in rare instances it may come at the normal time. This year it has come earlier than can be remembered by even the oldest inhabitant. The sight of barley heading up, irises in full bloom and the local asparagus crop in full swing are strange occurrences for April, but go down any country road, and those astonishing sights will meet the eye.

What usually happens is that winter goes out suddenly. There is a week at the most of spring weather, and the summer arrives in full blast. Except for two slightly cold nights, there has been no frost in the country since the beginning of March. That month broke all records for high temperatures, bringing shrubs and trees into leaf before their time.

A cool and rainy April has kept them at a most lovely stage. Oak trees still have their fringes of flowers. Dogwoods still bloom and violets continue to brighten the ground. For the first time in many years we have had a real spring, not just two or three days, but six weeks.

Not even the most experienced weather forecaster would venture to predict what heat, drought or other weather is in store for the summer, but we have had two record breaking seasons, a hard winter and an early spring. Our guess is that the summer will break some kind of record too.—The Union News, Towson.

A FEW MORE DROPS IN THE BUCKET

Will we get more gasoline after the fighting ends in Europe?

The answer in "yes" — but the extra quantity we will get will probably be very small at first.

The most optimistic estimate we have heard—made by Petroleum Administrator Ickes—is that civilians will get 200,000 barrels more per day. At present, civilians are getting an average of 547,000 barrels daily. If Mr. Ickes is right—we would get an approximate increase of 36%. So if you are getting two gallons of gas per week at present, this might be increased to almost three gallons.

But holders of "A" coupons may not even get that much increase. For the OPA has found that there are many holders of "B" coupons who do not have enough gasoline to carry on necessary war work.

Before the war our nation consumed 1,750,000 barrels a day. So even though we get a slight increase, we still won't have one-third of the gasoline we had "in the good old days."

And as the gasoline supply becomes slightly more plentiful, it looks as though the tire situation will become more serious. All the signs indicate that this is not the summer for planning any kind of a motor trip.—Cactin Enterprise.

PAY FOR STRIKERS?

Should union men who have pulled a wildcat strike without the sanction of their international union, and continued their walkout in defiance, be paid for the time they were to strike? This novel labor issue is now set for arbitration under the auspices of the Massachusetts Commissioner of Labor and Industries. The outcome will set a national precedent.

If the strikers are awarded pay for the period of their idleness, similar demands for wages for strikers are likely to be heard from coast to coast. International union officials who try to have their local unions live up to their agreements with management will find their troubles in maintaining discipline increased. Management, which has already taken a loss through the cut in business caused by a stoppage, may have extra expense thrust on it by having to pay for the lost time of the strikers. Workers will actually be encouraged to strike by the possibility they will receive their wages just the same while idle.

The hearing now scheduled results from a two-day tieup of bus service on a division of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway. Ignoring the requirement of arbitration of disputes in the union contract, 200 men quit for a trivial cause, and when the cause was removed by the company, stayed out another day, insisting on pay while they were out.

In the name of common sense, why should such a claim be given even a hearing?—Christian Science Monitor.

CAN COSTS BE LOWERED?

Much has been spoken and written on the subject of postwar prices, and the possibilities of inflation. The arguments are based on two premises: That with full employment the people of the country will be able to absorb the bulk of goods produced at almost any price—and that the war increase in wage scales and material prices are bound to result in more or less permanent advances in goods prices.

There are half-truths in both these premises. The first premises presumes that the purchasing power of those who work for salaries and wages is sufficient to maintaining that of the nation as a whole. That ignores the simple fact that some 40 per cent of our citizens, to be conservative, do not depend upon wages, but upon agricultural production, for their purchasing power. Without this largest single segment of our people in position to buy their share of the products of industry, there is no real hope of a continuing sustained national purchasing power.

So long as the cost of living continues to mount, as it has for several generations prior to the war, just so long will the wage and salary earners require more income to live even as well as before. And as surely as wages are increased, just as surely will that rise be reflected in the costs of goods they produce.

The largest factors in final costs are the cost of production and distribution, which, in turn, are determined by costs of labor, of raw materials and of capital. And here is where a reversal of the spiral of inflation is possible. Cost of labor is, in the long run, tied to the cost of living, which means the cost of foods raised on farms. Costs of raw materials too, go straight back to the farm, since the largest part of them come from the farm.

If farm costs can be reduced, it follows logically, income could be reduced, without lowering the standards of living. And if both costs of living and costs of raw materials are reduced, the cost of manufacturing and distribution can be lowered, and more people can live better.

The key to prosperity lies in reducing costs, or expenses, on the farm, to the point where the farmer has better purchasing power and all the rest of us also have a greater spendable surplus.—National Industries News Service.

Eliminate Vermin

The rat must have food and a place to hide. Remove these and you will eliminate the pest. Litter on or near the property provides harborage and should be eliminated. Open dumps and lumber piles are ideal places for breeding. Unfortunately it is a common practice to throw boxes and other junk off to the side and forget them. This combined with a nearby food source, perhaps a handy uncovered garbage can, provides the rat with an ideal environment and he moves in and raises a family. They then get the urge to move and decide to share your building with you.

ASTOR COLUMN

Atop of Coxcomb Hill the Astor Monument reaches skyward, close to the site of the first permanent settlement in Oregon. Captain Robert Gray on a trading mission and his crew were the first white men to visit Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia River. They came in 1792 and in 1805 Lewis and Clark passed the spot, setting up winter quarters seven miles southwest. The city's location and name were picked by members of a fur trading expedition sent out by the famous John Jacob Astor Company. War Bonds pay for munitions, planes and warships that guard this area so that future generations may enjoy opportunities still untouched there.

Oyster Stew

The "R" months are still the months for oyster stew, though modern refrigeration and transportation have somewhat lessened seasonal changes in food supply. This cold weather favorite cannot be made ahead of time because reheating or long heating toughens the oysters and curdles the milk. However, with all ingredients and utensils ready to use, the stew can be made quickly just a few minutes before serving.

Distinction for Great Smokies

The Great Smoky mountains national park is believed to have a greater variety of plant life than any other part of the world, more than 1,500 varieties.

Drapery Insulation

Draperies, especially heavy ones, drawn across windows are almost as effective in keeping out the cold as are storm windows.

BUY WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

SPRING—1945

SPRING BRINGS NEW HOPES, A FRESHENING OF AMBITION AS NATURE STARTS ANEW ITS CYCLE OF PRODUCTION. IT IS THE SEASON OF NEW LIFE, OF NEW GROWTH—BEARING PROMISE OF FRUITFULNESS FOR THIS YEAR AND FOR THE YEARS TO COME.

TRADITIONALLY, IN AMERICA, SPRING IS THE SEASON FOR HOME-MAKING, FOR HOME-BUILDING, FOR CARRYING OUT FAMILY PLANS MADE BY THE FIRESIDE IN THE WINTER MONTHS—PLANS THAT THIS YEAR MAY HAVE TO BE DEFERRED AS WE CONCENTRATE ON THE BUSINESS OF WAR. WHILE WE HELP THE JOB AT HAND BY PUTTING OUR MONEY INTO WAR BONDS, LIFE INSURANCE AND SAVINGS ACCOUNTS, WE ARE LIKEWISE PREPARING FOR THE SPRINGS TO COME—IN STEP WITH THE SEASON OF GROWTH.

DIG FOR IT - - -

Buy More WAR BONDS!

FOR our men in France and on Pacific islands, it's dig or die. It's dig and dig deep, now, for all of us if our sons and our neighbors' sons are to stand forth and win at this critical hour. Truly, they're all we have—and we're all they have.

Their simple willingness to endure hardships for our sake demands great sacrifice in return. The least we can do is to back them in their faith in us with every cent that can be spared beyond what is needed to keep body and soul together. The more you invest now the sooner they'll return to take up their lives where they left off. So, we say—shorten it with War Bonds! Keep faith with the men on the fighting fronts!

And remember—your son and your neighbors' sons are fighting for a way of life that must be preserved for them here on the home front. Your investments in War Bonds will pay for the new farm machinery you and the boy will need when peace comes. He'll be counting on you for this, just as he's counting on your support now. Don't let him down.

5 REASONS FOR INCREASING YOUR WAR BOND PURCHASES

1. The tempo of this war is hitting its highest point. Government expenditures for war are at the peak. MORE MONEY IS NEEDED . . . NOW!
2. In proportion to WHO HAS THE MOST MONEY, individuals are not buying their share of War Bonds. America must correct this situation.
3. War Bonds provide the farmer and rancher with the financial reserve he must have to survive the ordinary ups and downs of farming as a business.
4. Money will be needed urgently at a future date to replace and repair farm equipment, machinery, and buildings. War Bonds will provide it.
5. War Bonds are the safest investment in the world, return a good rate of interest, are easy and convenient to buy . . . from bank, post office, rural mail carrier or Production Credit Association.

For America's Future, for your Future, for your children's Future

CORRESPONDENCE

Latest Items of Local News Furnished
By Our Regular Staff of Writers

We desire correspondence to reach our office on Thursday, if at all possible. It will be necessary therefore, for most letters to be mailed on Wednesday, or by Fast Mail, west in W. M. R. R., Thursday morning. Letters mailed on Thursday evening may not reach us in time. All communications for this department must be signed by the author, not for publication, but as an evidence that the items contributed are legitimate and correct. Items based on mere rumor, or such as are likely to give offense, are not wanted.

FRIZELLBURG

Cold this morning, the thermometer dropped to 32 degrees; white frost in the meadow, the ground is frozen a little on top, doing damage to early crops, strawberry plants are frozen stiff, the flowers look a little sick even my nose got cold. But it's a good day to be alive.

The Never Weary Class of Baust Lutheran Church held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hull, of New Windsor, with Miss Shirley Welk as leader. The topic for the evening was "The Ascension." Scripture lesson was taken from Acts 1:1-11 read by Mrs. Kenneth Lambert prayer by pastor Birk; Readings were given by different members. Mrs. Delmar Wasehime had charge of the business part of the program. During the meeting hymns were sung, "In the Service of the King" and "In the Garden." The meeting closed with closing prayer and class song, after which a social hour followed. The hostess served delicious refreshments to 23 members and friends. Our next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lambert with Carl Cole as leader.

A Mother and Daughter banquet was held in the Parish House of Baust Reformed Church, on Tuesday evening, May 1, with 75 members present. Mrs. George Dodder was toastmistress. The menu consisted of creamed chicken, baked beans, lettuce, potato salad, pickles, potato chips, peaches, cake, ice cream and coffee. A large cake bearing the words "To our Mothers," was presented by Mrs. Maude Myers and family. Each mother received a carnation made by Mrs. George Brown and members of the Youth Fellowship Club. Awards were made to the youngest mother, Mrs. Roland Reichart; the oldest mother, Mrs. Bell Dodder, being 77 years; Youngest daughter, Ina Rae Bloom, 5 years, and oldest daughter, Miss Anna Sell who is 79 years not old but (young). The one coming the longest distance was Mrs. John Lemmon. Carnations were pinned on Mrs. John Myers and Mrs. Charles Humbert, each having five daughters present. A toast was given to the mothers by Miss Catherine Myers and response by Mrs. Miles Reifsnider; readings were given by Marsha Reifsnider and Miss Evelyn Maus. Special music was given by Mrs. George Dodder, Mrs. Ralph Datterer, Mrs. Cecil Green, Miss Evelyn Maus and Mrs. Allen Morelock. A play entitled "There's no place like home," was given by the Misses Catherine, Truth and Eileen Myers, Miss Truth Rodkey and Mrs. Cecil Green. The program closed by singing hymn "Blest Be the Tie that Binds." The mothers and daughters are grateful to the men for serving the meal, and doing such a kind act of washing all the dishes. "Hats off to the men."

Don't forget S. S. Sunday morning at 10 and Preaching Services at 11. Rev. Reifsnider pastor.

Miss Louise Myers an employee of the F. B. I. in Washington, is having a week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Myers.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Myers, Mrs. Bessie Freet, Carl Cole, Pastor Chas. Birk and family, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Strevg, of Silver Run.

Mr. Chas. Allman seems to have been hit the hardest by the storm last Thursday evening, when it uprooted 24 large apple and cherry trees, tore part of the roof from the house and loosened the barn roof. But there never was an ill wind that blew, that didn't do some one good. Mr. Brooks our new merchant reports selling out of roofing and nails.

"So which ever way the wind doth blow, Some heart is glad to have it so, So blow it East or blow it West, That wind that blows, that wind is best."

Mrs. Flora Marquette is very ill at this time. We wish for her a speedy return to health.

Y-1/c Ralph Morelock, U. S. N., wife and daughter Carol, spent last Sunday with their home folks, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Morelock and family.

Mrs. Howard Rodkey was a week-end guest of her daughter, Mrs. Allen Morelock and family.

The Ladies' Aid of the Church of God will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Brown on Wednesday evening, May 9th, at 8 o'clock with Miss Lamore Sullivan in charge. Church services at 9 A. M., and S. S., at 10:15.

Mr. and Mrs. John Peltz, Westminster, and Howard W. Sullivan, S. S. and wife, were Wednesday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott Sullivan and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, of near Meadow Branch, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

Last week Seamon Irvin Myers of the U. S. S. Canfield surprised his home folks by flying home from the Pacific Coast to enjoy a 14-day leave with his family and friends. Irvin has spent a year and a half in the South Pacific and has been engaged in four major battles, so after all that excitement one would greatly appreciate and deserve a little freedom from the roar of the guns, and the shaking up of the waves. He is looking well, with a good tan and says he has had plenty of pineapples to eat, three times a day but nothing tasted so good as "Mom's" cooking.

Pvt. Robert E. Warner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lease Warner was married on Thursday evening at 7:00 P. M. at St. John's Rectory, Westminster, to Miss Helen Louise Leidy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Leidy. Members and friends of the two immediate families witnessed the ceremony followed by a reception held at the home of the bride. The couple left for a short wedding trip and upon their return the groom will report back to his convalescing base in Atlantic City, N. J., the bride will remain with her parents for the present. Our very best wishes go with this fine young couple for a long and happy life. It has been said that life is a comedy, a tragedy of bitter-sweet confusion; but life in all its mystery is wonderful.

Mrs. Clarence Master and Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Hailley visited Mrs. Arthur and Mr. George Welk, at the University Hospital, on Saturday evening. They found Mrs. Master in good spirits and some what improved. Mr. Welk remains very weak following a recent operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Myers gave a dinner on Tuesday evening in honor of Seamon Irvin Myers who has just returned from the South Pacific. The guests present were Mrs. Mattie Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Myers, daughter, La Poma, and Miss Louise Myers and Seamon, Irvin Myers.

A small boy at the guest table said, "No I don't like spinach and I am glad I don't like it, for if I did, I would eat it, and I hate the stuff."

FEESERSBURG

Clear and cool, bright and beautiful! And this is the last day of April. 21 days were clear and cool, 9 were cloudy, mist or rain, many early flowers are done blooming, vegetables are growing in the gardens, lots of fruit trees were full of bloom, corn planting and house cleaning are in full blast, and summer is just around the corner—but lets enjoy the spring time while we can. This one will not return.

What a thunder storm we had last Thursday evening! The sky grew dark and threatening, thunder rolled, lightning flashed, the wind broke or overturned trees and sheds, and large hail fell in places; no wonder it got very cool for the week-end.

On Thursday a lot of men were busy on the state road—with their heavy machinery—repairing, oiling and spreading stone chips.

Some of our citizens attended the sale of personal property belonging to Mrs. Grace E. Anders, near Rocky Ridge, on Saturday. There was a crowd of people and good prices.

On Saturday W. F. Miller went on a fishing trip with some friends to some big water which proved very successful, and he returned with 82 lbs of fish, hard cans and wash boilers were full, and divided among five or six persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Files, of Lancaster, Pa., spent the week-end at her family home, and with other relatives, and she too went to her childhood home to enjoy Bingo on Saturday evening—and met familiar friends.

"The Village Store" in Detour attracted some of our folks on Saturday evening, where bingo is the chief attraction, and of course they won some points. Many persons were present, and it really is a wonderful country store.

Another of our good citizens passed away on Friday evening when our Postmaster for the past 20 years, C. E. Six was found dead in the cellar of the home he had recently purchased in Taneytown. Every one was shocked at the news, and could hardly believe it. 24 years ago he moved with his wife and small son to Middleburg—where he has kept a store of general merchandise ever since. Mr. Six was a member of the Lutheran church at Keysville, and served on the Church Council, and his body was laid to rest in that cemetery on Monday noon—after service in the home. He was a kind, genial, quiet citizen and had many friends. For his wife and son, Donald and wife sincerest sympathy is extended.

Have just heard of the passing of Mrs. Mollie Reifsnider Fischer, in Frederick. Many, many years ago she lived at the Reifsnider home on Big Pipe Creek, near Crouse's Mill—the youngest sister of William and Samuel Reifsnider. She married Fischer and their only daughter, Edith is Mrs. Calvin Schildtknecht—active in the Missionary work of Middle Conference Lutheran Synod.

This is Tuesday, and May-day—when people in the city like to take their benches and children and go out to the Parks—for the opening of the season; but here goes a man with his hands in his pockets, his coat collar turned up, and walking fast to keep warm. Every one who comes in tells how cold it is—which doesn't sound like good picnic weather.

KEYSVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cluts of Harney and Mrs. Daniel Yingling and two children of near Harney and Mrs. Clyde Boller of Littlestown, were callers Sunday at the home of Charles Cluts and wife.

Mrs. Maude Fox of Bowersville is visiting at the home of Mr. Thomas Fox and daughter, Virgie.

Raymond Sharrer has moved to Rocky Ridge.

Mrs. James Wauen spent Saturday with her son, Guy Warren and family.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

A birthday surprise dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Keefer, on Sunday, April 29, 1945, in honor of Mr. Keefer's birthday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Keefer, sons Larry and Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Brown, daughter June, Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Keefer, daughter Norma, son Orville, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Myers, son Richard, daughter Doris, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hook, daughter Dolores, Irma Roser and Bertha.

LITTLESTOWN

Mrs. Warren Harner, returned to her home on West King St., from the Hanover General Hospital, where she had undergone an operation. She is improving.

A heavy hail storm that hit Carroll County only hit us by a few small hail stones with heavy rain and wind. The only damage it did was a few trees were blown down.

Mr. and Mrs. William Will, Cemetery St., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty, to Walter Krahn, Jr., of the U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Krahn, Sr., Milwaukee, Wis.

The Rev. Robert H. Sheehan, pastor of the Hustontown Methodist Church, has been appointed pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church here. The Rev. Mr. Sheehan is a student at Westminster Theological Seminary. He succeeds the Rev. Wallace J. Cummings, who has been transferred to Duncannon.

The Charles Shultz property in Crouse Park has been sold to I. L. Reifsnider, Taneytown.

The third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades of St. Aloysius School toured the Gettysburg Battlefield, Saturday morning.

Mrs. Mary J. Thompson, widow of John J. Thompson, formerly of Harney, died Friday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John P. McSherry, North Queen St. She was aged 87 years. CIVILIANS AT WAR

The Government needs and asks its citizens in the 178th week of the war to:

1. Stay in the fight against a war time rise in prices. Inflation will remain a danger until supply and demand regain a normal balance. Buy only what you need. Save your money for better products to come after the war.
2. Ask your local salvage committee whether your community has tin collection facilities. If so, save and turn in all discarded tin cans.
3. Serve all the daytime hours you can spare if you are a trained Nurse's Aid. Employ the training the Red Cross has given you, thus releasing registered graduate nurses to use their special skills.

Woman Leaves $20,000 to Dog, but Nothing to Son

DETROIT. — A dog named Jack will become heir to an estate valued at approximately $20,000 and a son will get nothing if the will of Mrs. Margaret Myers is admitted to probate.

Mrs. Myers died last October at 72. The estate included a home in Detroit, a winter home in Sebring, Fla., an automobile and several thousand dollars in life insurance.

Her will, read in court recently, stipulated that "I bequeath everything to my dog, Jack, and whoever takes care of him at my home shall have rent free." A neighbor, Herbert Kelly, was appointed Jack's custodian.

New Super Grease Made Of Sand Is Discovered

NEW YORK. — Sand has been converted into a new kind of machinery grease in a discovery reported to the American Institute of Electrical Engineers here.

This grease does not harden at 70 below zero and does not melt at 400 above. There has never been a grease or oil like it.

The sand grease is one of the new silicones, an entirely new class of industrial materials. All are based on introducing sand chemically treated, and made to form a synthetic resin.

U. S. and German Doctors Work Together in Trap

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS NEAR WINGEN, FRANCE. — American physicians worked side by side with German doctors tending American and Nazi soldiers for three days in which the Germans were encircled in the little town of Wingen.

The Germans had captured an American first aid station. During the ordeal several hundred American infantrymen also were trapped in the town and technically were prisoners of the Germans.

War Department Cites Peril in Mail to Missing

WASHINGTON. — The war department warned recently that sending letters, through the International Red Cross, to soldiers listed as missing in action may endanger the lives of those soldiers.

A soldier listed as missing in action, the department explained, may have escaped capture by the enemy. But a letter may only serve to notify the enemy that he is still at large in their territory.

Turn Destroyer Escorts Into Speedy Troopships

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Three destroyer escort ships which battled Nazi U-boats in the Atlantic are being converted here into fast troop transports for use against the Japanese, 4th naval district authorities said. In place of specialized anti-submarine equipment, additional bunks, galleys and davits from which small motorized landing craft will be hung are being installed.

Gratitude

The average American's most vivid impression of the Orient was acquired in less than an hour and came to him free with a bowl of chicken chow-mein. This is no discredit to the average American. He can't help it if Asia is mysterious. It is only an accident that we know a great deal more about Europe. Our ancestors came from that way, so we heard about it.

It is high time now, however, for every soul in the United States, who loves his happy home and peaceful surroundings, to learn more of the character of our straw-colored allies beyond the Pacific. We owe our national safety to them. If it were not for their native integrity we would be held in a nut-cracker between Germany and Japan at this hour, if we were yet able to fight at all.

We Admire Britain

Americans are a tender-hearted folk. We sympathize with other peoples and half-way try to understand them, but we don't usually admire them very much. We felt sorry for the Poles when the Nazi took them in 18 days. Our hearts went out to the Norwegians because they didn't last three weeks. We wept with our British relatives over Dunkirk, but we did more. We admired the British.

Late in 1937 the city of Nanking, China, fell to the Japanese. Far away over the sea strategists thought that was about the end. If China had folded up the next day few people would have blamed her. We Americans would have turned the spigot in our sympathy tank again and drawn out a generous sprinkling of tears for dear old China, and then tried to forget it. But forgetting it would have been impossible.

Must Admire China

If China had fallen in 1937, four years before the Pearl Harbor raid, any child can guess why we Americans would still be remembering it. But China did not fall. It would not be amiss for devout people to give thanks at the table three times a day that China did not fall. If China had fallen Japan could have knifed Russia on the unguarded side right through Manchuria; surely would have done so.

Back in those early months of the present war when the Germans were all but knocking at the doors of Moscow, our big old globe, as now arranged, was coming unglued. If Japan could have drawn close enough to attack Russia from behind, the Germans would have marched into Moscow. Then, with no Russia to annoy him, Hitler would have parched London to a cinder.

Thanks to China

China stayed in and fought, so London remains. China stood the gaff, so we still have San Francisco. China could take privation and punishment; her share and ours too. As a consequence no bomb has struck an American city. Moreover, China's young men have made their fight as nearly bare-fisted as any army taking part in this war on either side, large or small.

In recent weeks there have been frequent criticisms of China; of Chinese fortitude, of China's disunity, of Chiang Kai-Shek's generalship. Let me close with this admonition: Criticism of China in America today, true or false, has one purpose and one only. It is to break up unity among our allies. Our enemies can hope to survive by no other means. Don't listen to it.

Homespun Philosophy

By Ezra

Had of Frizellburg is fond of arguing. He'll argue about anything from the weather to how many angels can dance on the point of a needle. Sometimes he gets the better of the argument and sometimes he doesn't. The story is told by a fellow townsman concerning an argument he had recently with his wife.

This town'sman was walking along the street in Frizellburg—the one that runs before Had's house. (That is the only street in Frizellburg if you don't count the alleys.) He was walking along the street when of a sudden his loose prehensile ears were assailed by sounds which to his eager perception betokened a bitter quarrel between a man and a woman standing on the porch of Had's house. Closer investigation revealed the man and woman to be Had and his wife. Being a friend of the two and hoping to effect a reconciliation he approached the seemingly belligerent pair.

"Tut, tut!" he cried. "Tut, tut, my friends, this will never do. What will the neighbors say. Please stop this argument."

Had and his wife turned towards the intruder. Had spoke:

"What business is it of yours, coming busting in here a-tut-tutting like a gas engine? Besides—this is no argument."

"Yes, but I heard—" began the peacemaker.

"Never mind what you heard," broke in Had. "To be an argument there's got to be a difference of opinion."

"Yes, that's right," conceded the peacemaker.

"Well, there is no difference of opinion here," replied Had. "My wife thinks I am not going to give her any of my week's wages and I know darned well I am not!"

That was one time Had won the argument. Whether he finally gave her some of his salary is not here recorded for future posterity. I am inclined to believe that he did.

A husband ought to give his wife an allowance. I am not saying that because I hope to win some lady fans. I believe that every husband should give his wife at least twenty five or even fifty cents a week with which she can buy knick-knacks. They love to go on spending sprees, bargain hunting and soda guzzling. With fifty cents they can give free rein to their spending lusts and at the same time it will save the condition of the family exchequer.

Vacuum Cleaner Brushes
Keep all brushes of the vacuum cleaner free from hair and threads. When these collect they keep the brush from sweeping and cleaning as it should. Be sure the brush that turns round inside the nozzle has bristles long enough to sweep the rug. These bristles wear down in time, and the brushes or the roll needs to be lowered.

DEMOCRACY

I am an atom from a population Of millions in this fruitful land of ours,
My father and his father before him Were flocks of Polish soil—Polish life My grandfather thrice hailed the Statue of Liberty.

And looked upon mine states than my eyes have seen.
He was sixty-four when forced to labour—
To slave in slimy, stenching holes of hell—
For the Russian army in the World War.

Three years later he came plodding back—
A shadow-shriveled, hatchet-faced. Christmas Eve it was, and freezing cold

When he pulled his ragged, frosted body home.

He did not live to see the virgin sun Blaze crystal diamond paths across the snow.

My father lived in Poland when the land

Twined beneath the tyranny of Russia.

He could not speak his language or sing the songs

Which are the living spirit—the very pith—

Of the harassed souls of the Polish folk.

He attended Russian schools where his mind

Was crowded with hated Russian politics.

His school days stung with military drills—

Tormenting, blistering drills! drills! Drills!

Oh! how his mind was twisted, beaten, shaped

To tally with the whims of tyrants And how his heart sickened and revolted!

And how it ached to stretch its crumpled wings

Across the olive depths of the ocean To the Elysium in America!

Because my life has been linked with those

Who, in other lands, have tasted the fear

Of suspense and hazy bewilderment Regarding their homes and very lives Because I have often heard their stories

Of perplexed, impoverished childhoods In the "old country" across the ocean, Because I have often heard their prayers of thanks

For living now in the "land of the free."

I understand what this America—

What the Democracy of this country Has done for me and what it means to me!

To be a possessor of a home

Which you know will not be wrested from you.

To live within the warm security

Of those who love and wish to help you.

To have an adored brother of twenty-one,

Who need not shoulder the dreaded musket,

Or grovel in slimy mud of trenches

Murdering other brothers—tall, adored And return with mangled limbs and spirit

Or perhaps not live to return at all. To have friends of all nationalities—

English and German and Polish alike. That is what Democracy means to me. To sing the songs which are in your heart.

That is my conception of Democracy. Because I like all American children, Am privileged to attend public schools

My heart quickens when I think of these

Who are this country's thoughtful dreamers.

Their splendid visions and imagery have Resulted in progressive inventions, Which have enriched and empowered our land.

They are the thinkers of America. And then like saffron-coloured dandelions

In a meadow of emerald green. There shine the wonderfully gifted

Artists, poets and others of their kind They are the spirit of America, In this America of ours,

Where a gas mask is strangely foreign.

Where no bombproof shelters are needed

To ward off life-stifling cannonades. In our land of equality

Freedom gleams white on every lake and mountain.

Each heart thrills to the National Anthem

And to the Flag of these United States.

In which Democracy is embedded—

This righteous form of Democracy Which means freedom, life and happiness,

A chance for the poor as well as the rich,

For all these things, which cause other nations

To turn wistful, yearning eyes toward us,

I offer a thanksgiving of silent prayer

A thanks for living in this blessed land

The United States of America!

's Food

Recommended foods for the expectant mother include one quart of milk daily; two servings daily of green or yellow vegetables; two servings of fruits or raw vegetables every day; one egg daily; a large serving of lean meat every day; whole grain cereals and bread twice daily; more than usual amounts of water; and extra vitamin D secured either from sunlight or fish liver oil.

Clean Sink

Does your sink begin to look a little dowdy? Clean up the rust spots with a cut slice of lemon in places where the water drips. Better yet, repair the dripping faucet yourself. You can do it. If any part of the sink has chipped, repair with porcelain cement or glaze. It's so very important to keep everything in order so it will last for the duration.

Mock Attack Scheduled For War Loan Drive

Sixty-four combat infantrymen, paratroopers, flying officers and enlisted specialists will stage a "mock" airborne attack at 3 P. M. May 5 and 6 at the Municipal Airport in Baltimore, in behalf of the coming Seventh War Loan.

Mass parachute jumps, glider landings, aerial supply drops and evacuation of wounded by the "snatch" pick-up gliders will be included in the hour's demonstration, under the auspices of the Army Air Forces Troop Carrier Command and the Army Ground Forces.

Exhibition Described

Opening the show, infantrymen and paratroopers will run to their ships and all planes will take off together to form an aerial line of review. They will pass over the field at a low altitude as a commentator introduces them, and from then on the exhibition will be an exact facsimile of an airborne attack from beginning to end.

Paratroopers will jump, land, pick up their equipment. They will hit the dirt in battle position as a double tow of gliders cut loose overhead and land to a smoke pit set up by the paratroopers.

Supply ships will cover the field dropping parachute-born packets of supplies which will be retrieved by jeeps flown in by gliders.

"Patients" To Be Treated

Aircraft will land and taxi into position for a stick demonstration of the aircraft which will include a demonstration by a paratrooper stepping from the door of one of the troop carrier aircraft, spilling his chute and explaining how the jumps are made. Volunteers from the crowd will be treated as "patients" and loaded into an evacuation ship by a flight nurse while the commentator explains air evacuation.

Regional And County Chairmen Named For Seventh Campaign

Charles S. Gariand, Maryland War Finance Committee chairman, this week announced the names of regional and county chairmen for Maryland's Seventh War Loan drive, which will open May 14 and continue through June 30. The State's quota is $231,000,000.

Chairmen Announced

Regional and county chairmen are: Region 1—Charles A. Piper, Cumberland; chairman; Allegany county—John J. McMullen, Cumberland; Garrett county—Howard C. Riggs, Oakland.

Region 2—Holmes D. Baker, Frederick, chairman; Carroll county—Norman B. Boyle, Westminster; Frederick county—W. Clinton McSherry, Frederick; Howard county—Elmer C. Cavey, Ellicott City; Montgomery county—Fred L. Lutes, Silver Spring; Washington county—John D. Hollyday, Hagerstown.

Region 3—Samuel P. Cassen, Towson, chairman; Baltimore county—Christian H. Kahl, Towson; Cecil county—C. A. Ringgold, Elkton; Harford county—Robert H. Archer, Bel Air.

Region 4—Stuart L. Brown, Upper Marlboro, chairman; Anne Arundel county—Joseph D. Lazenby, Annapolis; Calvert county—A. D. Neeld, Prince Frederick; Charles county—P. D. Brown, La Plata; Prince Georges county—T. Howard Duckett, Hyattsville; St. Marys county—Roland B. Duke, Leonardtown.

Region 5—John Noble, Easton, chairman; Caroline county—V. E. Unger, Federalsburg; Kent county—Charles F. Wheatley, Chestertown; Queen Annes county—Horace M. Morgan, Queen Annes; Talbot county—Christopher P. Cox, Easton.

Region 6—Joseph Y. Gunby, Salisbury, chairman; Dorchester county—James A. McAllister, Cambridge; Somerset county—Dr. Stephen P. Fuller, Crisfield; Wicomico county—Harold L. Loreman, Jr., Salisbury; Worcester county—William H. Holloway, Snow Hill.

Executive Assistants

Executive assistants appointed were Harper R. Clark, of the First National Bank, Region 1; Thomas E. McConnell, Maryland Trust Company, Region 2; C. Roland Mays, Union Trust Company, Region 3; C. Alvin Riebling, Equitable Trust Company, Region 4, and William F. Wiley, Baltimore National Bank, Regions 5 and 6.

The State's E-bond quota in the campaign will be $60,000,000.

Navy Bares New Aerial War Dog

Privateer, Big Scout Plane, In Production; Can Cover 3,000 Miles of Sea.

WASHINGTON. — The navy has made public some details of a new search plane which is able to range unescorted more than 1,500 miles from its base and can defend itself as well as attack an enemy, according to the Associated Press.

Search planes are the scouts or eyes of the fleet from shore bases. Within the limits of the range of such planes, the enemy has little chance to move undetected and without being attacked.

The new plane's design is based somewhat on that of the Consolidated Vultee B-24 Liberator bomber, but it has been redesigned to such an extent that the navy gave it a new name—the Privateer—to describe its mission.

Has Four Engines

The Privateer has a fuselage more than 7 feet longer than the Liberator, carries 12 50-caliber guns in 6 turrets, some of which are different from those on the bomber, and can stay aloft 20 hours and fly "well over 3,000 miles." Its top speed is more than 250 miles an hour.

The plane weighs approximately 32 tons at takeoff and is powered by 4 engines. It has a crew of 11.

Its most distinguishing feature is a high single tail, which navy and company officials described as having less drag than the familiar double tail of the Liberator, providing greater stability in flight, and permitting larger cones of fire for top and side guns when firing aft.

Equipment Emphasized

The plane was described as an almost entirely new one, with the wing being the only major item borrowed from the Liberator. The navy's designation of it is PB4Y-2. It succeeds the PB4Y-1, which was a converted Liberator.

Particular attention has been given to navigation and other equipment. Two of the crew members are assigned to the radio department.

The Privateer is in production at Consolidated's plant in San Diego, Calif.

Waxing Heels

Waxing heels and toes of stockings with a bit of candle was routine hose economy long ago in wooden shoe lands of Europe, and it is a practical way to meet stocking problems today. Textile specialists who have put to laboratory tests this old-fashioned custom report that rubbing wax on stockings makes them wear four times as long before holes appear in heels and toes.

Clean Broom

A new broom sweeps clean—so does a clean broom. To keep a broom fresh and clean, douse it in medium warm suds, rinse well and hang up by the handle to dry thoroughly. Put a few drops of ammonia in the suds when washing a very dirty broom. When the broom is not in use, hang it so that the straw does not rest directly on the floor.

Laundering Curtains

When laundering curtains, dip all those for one room in a single batch of starch to insure uniform stiffness. Door curtains and straight-hanging window curtains can be dried on curtain rods to prevent shrinkage and save ironing. Be sure rods are rustproof. Run rods through both top and bottom hems.

Annexed

McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

ANN DREW stood in her tiny studio looking critically at a set of dress designs thumbtacked against the wall—every detail satisfactory, including the Ann-mark on the pert little face that always topped her work.

The hum from the busy street far below her windows seemed to change into a man's well-remembered comment: "Ann, a face isn't necessary."

"Humph! Not unless I like a face—and I do," she had insisted.

"Yes, particularly that one; it's your own," the man answered.

"You're conceited, Ann. Imagine! Conceited about a funny little face with a funny little scar that makes the mouth look a bit one-sided!" But his voice had been soft and right. Then, for the first time, Bert Harris had kissed her.

She took the sketches down and stacked them on her desk. Running an envelope into her typewriter, she addressed it to the Harris Dress Manufacturing company and slid the drawings inside to be mailed.

A door slammed across the hall. Ann winced; the slamming of a door had been Bert's good-bye two months before. The Harris merry-go-round is right back where it started, she mused—business, marriage, strictly business—plus a five-year-old son.

Perhaps there had been too much Ann-and-that. But the registered lipmark with the Ann Drew signature meant faith in her career and Bert's understanding had not been broad enough to accept her refusal to add the name of Harris.

She decided to go home. Queer! She could finish a series for any other concern and work on. But every Harris envelope sealed, whatever the hour, terminated her working day.

It always had. Eight years before the Harris contract had been the first and only one in her file; a year later because Bert Harris had been her husband and she had crowded his work in at home between busy days at the studio; this season because she became emotionally fatigued each time she outlined the unnecessary little face—every pen stroke tended toward the hope that she might live again in Bert's thoughts.

Slipping into her coat, Ann dialed her apartment. Andrew answered and finally she stopped his chatter long enough to tell him that she was on her way home.

Going down in the elevator she smiled. She knew that Andrew was rushing for his telephone. He would throw one end through the kitchen door. Then he would scamper as far as the long cord would permit to ring the bell and tell old Hannah that Mummy Ann wanted her dinner.

Deciding to walk home through the park, she found herself stopping to rest on a familiar bench. She opened her bag for a cigarette. Holding it between her lips, she started to fumble through her coat pockets for a match but pulled out a large square of colorful rayon instead. Her face brightened as she draped it at arm's length from one hand to set up the grouped tulips plaqued against their background by pairs of Ann-marked lips. She tilted her head and murmured, "My first brass ring in textile!"

A light snow began feathering the early dusk. Deftly, Ann knotted the square about her head. She stood, lifted her face and snugged her collar about her throat. Unmindful of the admiring glance of a man who had settled himself on the other end of the bench a few moments earlier, she felt through her pockets again: "Darn!"

She turned quickly when the man struck a match. He walked over and held it out suggestively. "You didn't find one?"

"I know," Bert parried. "When I came along you seemed rather absorbed—shall we say—in yourself?"

"Why not add 'as usual'?" Ann asked.

"Ann, listen . . ."

Ann's eyes glinted queerly. An ever-alert inner imp impelled her to answer, "Not in this snow. I think, instead, I'll follow the me-first-program you credit me with and take myself home."

Opposite the park she glanced back but saw only a screen of snowflakes. She shrugged, signaled a taxi and was home in a few minutes.

A half-hour later, the buzzer sounded and she heard Hannah ask someone to wait. When she started toward the living room, the glow from a lamp shone on Andrew's toy telephone as it rang at her feet. She picked it up and listened: "Mummy Ann, H-ann-ah says if t-h-a-t m-a-n wants to stay for dinner, why doesn't he s-a-y so?"

Just then a man's hand touched her arm and Ann felt his face close to hers. "Oh! I didn't know who . . ." she said. Then she smiled and spoke into the telephone: "Andrew, you—you ask him."

Andrew raced through the hall, calling, "Daddy! Daddy, will you s-t-a-y?"

Bert Harris pressed his face closer to Ann's. "You know, I followed you into the park to tell you that I'm thoroughly annexed—and you made me come home alone—the way."

LOOKING AHEAD

China's Future

Farmers in the United States made up 72% of the whole nation's population back in 1820. That was just half-way between the invention of the iron plow and the mechanical reaper for small grain crops. Only 23% of our people live on farms now. China still has the "good old days" if you like that kind. Some 80% of her people are farmers even yet.

If an American farmer's hired man earned 50¢ a day in 1820 he had to be a good one. The farmer was not to blame. In order to pay better wages he had to get better prices for what his hired man produced, or manage some way for the worker to produce more. Even then both developments had begun. The plow and the reaper improved farm income and farm wages also.

Supply and Demand

Using improved machinery one workman could do the work three had done with crude tools, so two out of three farm hands eventually quit the farm. Some of them went to work at transportation, taking farm products to cities where there were quick markets. Others got jobs in factories making desirable things to sell to the farmers who, by this time, had quite a little money to spend.

The two farm workers out of three who left the farm did not quit using farm products. Wherever they worked they bought and consumed farm produce, also made more profitable work for people in transportation. This is a simple outline of the growth of American prosperity, and it is a rough sketch of what must take place in China, starting after the war, if China is to prosper.

A Unification Plan

High-brow students of political economy talk about "social, political and economic unification of China." Those are 35-cent words, trying to say that China is all broken up and needs to be made one. Nothing that is broken can be welded again until the pieces are brought close together. China's dismembered parts need to be brought close together; close in time; close in spirit.

China already has everything needed to live well: livestock and grain, timber and fiber, coal and oil, iron and copper. China has supply and demand also—450 million people anxious to earn more and live better. One trouble is, there are 300 million farmers when 12 million with good tools would be enough. There is much other work to do: ore to mine, timber to cut, roads to build.

Hidden Treasures

Roads will bring the empire's far-flung segments near in time. Business dealings will create mutual confidence and make China's remote tribes close in spirit. There is money in the Orient—most of it hidden, but it's there. More, much more will come from other lands as soon as investors learn of the empire's rich resources and great markets. Only fear of robbery and fraud can keep it away.

These fears can be removed by a strong central government, able to maintain order and security for investment at home, and able to command the respect of other world powers. Chiang Kai-Shek has promised these things for postwar years and rebel rulers already are learning to trust him and work with him. The United States should help him, for China is America's natural ally in the East, for mutual profit in time of peace and mutual protection in time of war.

Second Coat

When painting, never apply a second coat until the first is thoroughly dry. It takes about 48 hours for exterior oil paint, varnishes and enamels to dry. Twenty-four hours usually is sufficient for interior paint. Varnish or enamel should be rubbed with 00 sandpaper or steel wool between coats.

Labor Parades Held

Agitation for the celebration of labor day was started in 1882 when the Knights of Labor paraded in the city of New York.

In Europe labor day is generally observed, if at all under present conditions, on the first of May, as May day. This is the origin for labor parades in the United States on May 1.

The Philippines celebrate labor day on May 1. This will be the first real labor day celebration in Manila for some time.

THE HEBREW MONARCHY AT ITS HEIGHT

LESSON TEXT—1 Kings 9:1-7, 26; 10:26-28; 11:4, 11.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord.—Psalm 33:12.

Keeping up with the neighbors is not always a desirable thing, but both men and nations do it. When the last judge, Samuel, had become old, Israel began to demand a king like the nations round about them. Although the rejection of His direct rule over them through His chosen men was a sad development, God permitted them to choose a king. Saul, their first king, was evidently selected for his appearance and his physical superiority. He began well, in dependence upon God, but came to a tragic end because of sin.

David, who followed Saul, had his failings, but was essentially a man after God's own heart. He wanted to build a temple for God, but because he was a man of war, God decreed that his son, Solomon, who succeeded him, was to build it.

With the reign of Solomon, and especially with the building of the temple, the monarchy in Israel reached its highest development—only, to go down to disaster.

Our lesson opens after the remarkably fine prayer with which Solomon dedicated the temple.

I. Dedication Accepted (9:1-3).

God was pleased with Solomon's intelligent and spiritual prayer and the act of dedication, and He allowed the house of the Lord by putting His name on it and assuring them of His continual presence.

It is a delightful thing that God is willing to accept at the hands of a man the dedication of either himself or his possessions for God's glory. The Lord is Maker of heaven and earth and surely has no need of what we have. And yet He does have need of it, and is ready to use it as we present it to Him.

Our act of dedication results in His act of acceptance and consecration of our talents, our time, our money, or our goods for His glorious service.

But God expects His people to continue in devotion to Him if they are to have His continued presence and blessing.

II. Consecration Expected (9:4-7).

The throne of David was to remain in the lineage of Solomon as long as he and the people of Israel walked uprightly before God. He expects obedience to His commandments, and apart from it He cannot give His blessing.

Note the faithfulness of God. No man would ever have introduced such a note of solemn portent and of warning into an occasion which seemed all gladness and light. Prosperity was at its height. The king was in favor with both God and man. Into that picture of success and grandeur God paints with bold strokes a great and striking "IF."

It is presumption to think that we can coast along on past attainments or former piety. If we are to be used and blessed of God tomorrow and the day after, we must look to our consecration to Him and our obedience to His will.

III. Possessions Glorified (9:26; 10:26-28).

We read in 10:23 that "King Solomon exceeded all kings of the earth in riches and wisdom." He had reached the pinnacle. The Chinese have a proverb, "The man who stands on the pinnacle has nowhere to step but off."

It need not have been a snare for Solomon to be rich if he had maintained his simple faith in God, but the temptations brought in by heathen wives whom he foolishly married, coupled with the deceitfulness of riches (Matt. 13:22), soon led him into the downward path.

The almost unbelievable riches of Solomon could have been used for the glory of God, but instead they were an end in themselves.

When money takes the ruling hand in a man's life, he loses out spiritually. His life becomes an empty farce; his soul can be satisfied with only more and more gold.

Solomon was soon led into the folly of turning to the worship of heathen gods. Little wonder that we find:

IV. Judgment Decried (11:4, 11).

It would seem that a man who knows the Lord should grow in grace and become even more intimate with God as he grows old. One might expect that the passing of years should mellow and sweeten life. But sad to say, it is often not the case.

"When Solomon was old," he went after false gods. How tragic! Little wonder that one of the saintliest men this writer ever knew prayed constantly as he went on into his eighties, "Lord, keep me from ever becoming a wicked old man." Other old men and women (yes, and all of us) could well pray the same prayer.

So it became necessary for God to wrest the kingdom out of the hands of the great Solomon, and Israel goes on to its history of a people divided, of disobedience to God, and of ultimate judgment. Of that we shall see more in the weeks just ahead.

Woman Judge Is Real Terror to All Lawbreakers

Sweet-Faced Jurist Grants No Favors, Nor Does She Ask Any.

CLEVELAND. — Judge Mary B. Grossman, a tiny, sweet-faced but militant feminist, is a terror to Cleveland murderers, gamblers, thieves, alcoholics, social outcasts, wife-beaters, and, yes, even attorneys.

Celebrating her 21st year on the municipal court bench, Judge Grossman recalled recently that she was so small when she took up her judiciary duties that "I had to sit on a huge record book to get my chin over the top of the desk."

However, her petiteness and sex have not kept her from becoming Cleveland's most formidable judge.

Upon taking office, Miss Grossman—one of the two first women admitted to the American Bar association in 1912—said: "I shall act as a judge and not a woman, asking no favors and granting none—as a woman." She has kept her word.

No Mercy for These.

For "numbers" men, racketeers, bookmakers and policy boys she has no mercy. "Gambling is against the law," she maintains. "The law is the law and circumstances do not alter cases." Gamblers and their lawyers try every dodge possible to avoid her rigid court, where maximum sentences are dealt out freely.

Another creature firmly dealt with by Judge Grossman is the wife-beater. Last summer, the 65-year-old woman jurist—a spinster herself—went so far as to advocate public flogging for men who used their wives as punching bags.

Always a crusader, Miss Grossman, who is reportedly equal to 100 policemen, carries on one-man campaigns for better handling of moral and mental delinquents whom she frequently finds on the other side of her desk.

The first woman judge of a morals court in the nation—to which she was appointed in 1926—Miss Grossman has struggled to eliminate misdemeanors and to secure proper treatment for mentally and physically diseased criminals.

No Further Ambitions.

She has impressed on the community the fact that the handling of vice cases is a medical, sociological and psychiatric problem as well as a legal one.

The Cleveland jurist has no further ambitions. She believes she has a "full-sized job" on her hands right now. "I could never be happy in another job," she said. "I guess I'm just curious by nature. I always want to hear both sides of the question."

Admitting she studied law "just because everyone else in the law office where I was employed as a secretary was doing so and I didn't want to be left behind," Miss Grossman since has become more enthusiastic about her career. She has distinguished herself as a capable, understanding and strict law-enforcer by her record of unimpeachable honesty and devotion to justice.

Despite her reputation, Mary Grossman—minus her horn-rimmed glasses and judge's bench—is a kind, gentle, soft-spoken woman whose one extravagance is the Saturday matinee.

Gen. Eisenhower Jokes With G.I. at Blood Bank

PARIS.—In response to an appeal to soldiers at supreme headquarters for blood, one officer walked briskly into the clinic and took his place in line.

He gave a pint of blood, drank a cup of coffee and started to leave. Then a soldier in line noticed that it was General Eisenhower and remarked, "Hey, that would be the blood to get!"

The general overheard the remark and replied: "If you do, I hope you don't inherit my bad disposition."

Transportation for U. S. Cost Britain $140,890,000

LONDON.—Transportation facilities provided by the British government for United States armed forces under reverse lend-lease from early 1942 until December, 1944, reached a total value of $140,890,000, United States army transportation corps officials said. The major costs were in railroad freight and passenger service, computed on rates charged to the British government which totaled $85,000,000, and water transport, including ocean freight, repairs, stevedoring, and other port services, $46,650,000.

Barefoot Filipino's Greeting: 'Yale '36'

SOMEWHERE IN LUZON. — When Frank Hewlett, United Press war correspondent, halted his jeep in a village just taken by the Americans, a barefoot Filipino approached, offered his hand and said: "Yale, '36."

He was Vincente Alvarez Dizon, noted Filipino artist, faculty member of the University of the Philippines and prize-winner in the art contest at the San Francisco Golden Gate exposition.

Improved Sheep Dip Proves Production Aid

Smaller Quantity of Derris Now Required

LATEST boon for sheep raisers comes from the U. S. department of agriculture in the form of an effective, economical and easily prepared dipping solution for ridding sheep of ticks.

Six ounces of derris powder containing 5 per cent rotenone are mixed with a little water to make a thin paste and then diluted in 100 gallons of water. Cube powder, also containing rotenone, may be substituted for derris.

Despite the limited supply of rotenone currently being imported into the U. S., flock owners may arrange for allocations to suit their needs. Control of sheep ticks is one of the authorized uses. Less than half as much derris or cube powder is needed to kill sheep ticks as was formerly thought necessary.

Dips made with derris or cube powders are not only easy to prepare, but save labor, since one dipping is enough. Most other sheep dips commonly used required two applications about 24 days apart, the first to kill adult tick and the second to kill the new crop. The rotenone in the new dip kills both the tick and the pupae in one dipping, and remains effective in the fleece for several weeks.

Another advantage of the method is that unheated water from practically any source can be used. The presence of alkali or clay does not reduce the effectiveness of the new dip. However, pure clean water is best.

Veterinarians of the department's bureau of animal industry studied the effects of dips of various strengths. None of the dipped sheep nor their fleece suffered any ill effects.

Agriculture In the News By W. J. Dryden

FACTS ON MILK

Four and one-half million farms produce milk. The annual supply in the U. S. would fill a river 3,000 miles long, 40 feet wide, and 2½ feet deep.

The dairy industry annually supplies 15,000,000 pounds of casein used in casein paint. A paste from milk fermented is used by Soviet doctors to bring about rapid healing of wounds. It is also used in making fiber and plastics, also a wool substitute.

Clean Milk

Penicillin, in mass production, was made possible by use of casein.

Pasteurized milk will prevent the spread of undulant fever. It is the most complete food and the most perishable. Hippocrates prescribed milk in 360 B. C. to build health. Milk exposed to sun for two hours will lose 20 per cent of its vitamin G content.

Milk can be rendered sterile by filtering through sand.

Feed Cattle Corncobs

Instead of burning corncobs to get rid of them, Ohio State university specialists are urging that they be saved and fed to beef cattle. With a shortage of feed possible before the end of next year, much of the needed roughage may be furnished by the corncob.

Many farmers find it advisable to grind the whole corn, cob and all, using a coarse grind. Some report that it takes a little encouragement before the cattle will eat the corncob.

WOULDN'T it be tough if your family's food had to be bought at auction, where goods go to the highest bidder?

That's just what rationing and top legal prices for food aim to prevent. They give everyone an equal portion, at a fixed price. And this is vitally necessary, since the American food supply—despite greatly increased production—cannot meet all the wartime demands at home and abroad.

You can help greatly in this food shortage—help your country, and help yourself—by treating food as the vital war material it is. Here are four things you can do:

1. PRODUCE FOOD, where and when you can. Farmers are urged to meet farm goals. City families are urged to plan a bigger Victory Garden, to help out on a farm or in a food processing plant if possible.

2. CONSERVE FOOD. Can and preserve food. Cut waste. Stretch your food supply by substituting plentiful for scarce foods. Balance your meals for good nutrition.

3. SHARE FOOD. Put the war's food demands first. Share the supplies willingly with your armed forces, your allies, your neighbors.

4. PLAY SQUARE WITH FOOD. Accept no rationed foods without giving up ration stamps. Pay no more than top legal prices under any circumstances.

Even if the war ended this very moment you still would be doing the best thing for yourself and your family by investing the biggest amount in War Bonds today you have ever saved for future spending.

From a strictly self-interest viewpoint you cannot afford to fritter away war wages in a market of scarce goods. New autos, new homes, new appliances, new radios, will not be coming off production lines instantly the last shot is fired by one of your tired relatives or friends. War Bonds will make wonderful peace-time ammunition when they mature $4 for every $3 you store away now.

P. S. Just to bring you out of that postwar dream, take another look at the headlines. There's still a war on. You and your money are needed to beat the Japs. The bonds you buy today are WAR bonds. There'll be time 10 years hence for you to think of them as PEACE BONDS.
