OUR PREDECESSOR

A Taneytown Newspaper Prior to The Carroll Record

Miss Mary Brining brought to our office recently a copy of "The Searchlight," one of the newspapers published in Taneytown before The Carroll Rerord was started and the imroll Rerord was started and the immediate predeccessor of the record. It bears the date June 23, 1894, which was only two weeks before the first issue of the Record. It was published every Saturday by J. Forward, Taneytown, Md. It carries an advertisement of a Taneytown Creamery owned by J. Forward so the editor had two businesses. The paper carried advertisements of well known firms then of Littlestown. Hanover. by successors.
Robert S. McKinney was in the drug business, emphasizing Queensware, Lamps and Coal Oil. Dr. N A. Hitchcock was just about starting as a veterinary surgeon. C. O. Fuss is now C. O. Fuss & Son, E. E. and W. M. Reindoller were in the business now continued by The Reindollar Co.

The names of other local advertisers will be familiar to many of our readers. These include, Sherman Gilds, groceries; N. B. Hagan, groceries; E. K. Reaver, tailor; E. Kemper, butcher and dealer in live stock; B. O. Slonaker, monuments and head stones; George A. Flickand head stones; George A. Flickinger, lumber; P. B. Englar, clothing and hats; F. M. of the main columns was "The Income Tax Again" and readers may be assured that after another fifty-one years they will be still reading about income tax.

Perhaps the most interesting item of all is the announcement that this is the last issue of "The Searchlight," so as to make way for The Carroll Record, to which a warm welcome was extended.

ST. JOSEPH'S CATHOLIC SCHOOL GRADUATION EXERCISES

The graduation of the class of 1945 of St. Joseph's Catholic School took place on Sunday, June 10, at the 8 o'clock Mass in St. Joseph's Church. The Graduation Class marched from the school to the Church, headed by the cross bearer, and accompanying the graduates were little flower girls. The graduates took places in the Sanctuary, assisted at Mass and received Holy Communion. Following the Mass, Mr. Charles Arnold presented the graduates to Father Walker who awarded each the certificate for successful completion of the Elementary Course. Each graduate received a special gift for excellence during the eight years course at St. Joseph's School, conducted by the School Sisters of Notre Dame of Baltimore; Sister Theodbert is the Principal. Father Walker addressed the children, stressing that a Christian education meant a Christian life, which had for them a duty to serve God and society.

Society would reward them if they succeeded but that reward was only for a time, while faithfulness in duty to God, their reward would be eternal and for this they must aim. He asked God's blessings upon them, to help them succeed and perservere on the road to higher education, so that they would be faithful as Christians to God and society. Following Mass Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament took place. On Monday the graduates were the guests of Father Walker at the Rectory, where they enjoyed a delightful dinner, and were entertained by a few of the members of the parish.

The graduates of the Class of 1945

of St. Joseph's School were: Bernadette Arnold, Julia Arnold, Doris Bowers, Rose Klein.

PEACETIME CONSCRIPTION

The most important piece of legislation now before Congress is the proposal to establish universal military training after the war. The people are aroused over the proposition. It has been said, on what authority we do not know, that Seqretary of State Stettinius has been receiving as high as 8,000 letters a day from citizens with reference to the subject, Practically all churches are against it. The educational forces of the country are against it. It is the professional army man and the war and navy departments that favor the proposi-

This is no proof of the wisdom of the movement. The army man knows how to handle an army in time of war. He is usually not a safe guide in time of peace. The argument that we must have a mighty army to back up the organization for peace is wrong. It is dangerous in the extreme. If we must have a mighty army, Great Britain, Russia, France, China, must have the same. Thus we turn the world into an armed camp, which is the surest guarantee of war.

Germany has been the most highly militarized country in the world, and Germany is now ruined, Japan has had universal military training and Japan is approaching ruin, The philosophy that led to militarism has been the very cause of the ruin in both countries. If they had given themselves to the arts of peace, both countries would be great nations now and the world would have escaped the horrors of the present war.

At the end of the present struggle no nation will be able to start or control it in a month or a few months. If trouble is started we can then take what steps are necessary, but an armed camp is sure to at the present time as compared with of our enemy. Help us to conquer start trouble. TO BRIDGE THE GAP?

President Truman's call for increased coverage by unemployment compensation seems to reflect the " 'ministration's concern over expected acute and local, although temporary, situations. It should not be confused with long-range social-security legislation. WPB Chairman Krug has been specific in pointing to the over-all encouraging picture and at the same time to the sharpness of the unemployment problem in some centers. The President seems to follow through by saying, in effect, 'Bridge be all right once we reach the other

How far Congress will go with Mr. Truman is a question. The trouble is, when we talk of tiding war workers over the reconversion period, we are not considering a typical war worker because there is no such thing. Some have profited immensely. Some total family earnings run into fantastic figures. Others have made real sacrifices and served the war as truly as any man in uniform. They have gone far from home, paid big rents for crowdtime job, as the future becomes less wrong.

Lucky Lady

By EVELYN SMITH McClure Syndicate-WNU Features.

AT THE far end of the row of pole beans, Davie North crouched on his heels, watching Mrs. Meek's angular body inch backward along the row of carrots. Not until she reached the screen of corn would it be safe to dash to the garage.

Mrs. Meek straightened suddenly to ease her back and her eyes skew-ered Davie. "What you sittin' there for, boy?" Davie stared and blinked solemnly, his impatience urging her back to her task. "I declare! Eightyear-olds are a queer lot." Mrs. Meek assayed him grimly. "But I spect takin" a boy from the Home for a spell's my Christian duty." Davie had seen her looking over the fence at Mr. Dyer's Victory garden and she was always cross after that -for Mr. Dyer's beans were longer and his corn taller than Mrs. Meek's. "Now if I could just afford a little more fertilizer," she grumbled, "some of the quick-grow stuff they got down at Giffin's Hardware, I might still beat him out of the prize-but three weeks till judgin' don't give a body much time."

As she settled back to work Davie's breath exploded in a sigh. In another minute it would be safe to approach the old garage. Lady might need water or something. For two precarious days, food had taken wing behind Mrs. Meek's uncompromising back, and Davie's skinny little arms still felt the warm softness of Lady's plump body. "Lady" seemed like a nice name for the gentle friendly dog he'd found wandering the streets alone. The remembering choked him-maybe this one he could keep! Davie shifted with eagerness. The movement brought Mrs. Meek's eyes back to him, narrowing suspiciously. "You ain't got another dog hid around some place—to ruin my garden?"

"Another dog!" she muttered. "It's bad enough things won't grow with-out havin' a dog tear 'em up." The door of the abandoned garage sprang open suddenly. Mrs. Meek's mouth, too, opened, her words rising to a wail. "Oh-" ing to a wail.

Davie's eyes filled his small face and he looked stupidly from Mrs. Meek to Lady-and the four mites wriggling beside her. "Puppies!" he breathed in a tone associated with Sunday school and Christmas

"Land o' heaven!" Mrs. Meek shrieked, "one ain't bad enough it's gotta be five this time! You get rid of them, Davie North. Every last one of them-before tonight. Hear? Or back to the Home you

The noonday sun was blistering the exposed pavement of the quiet tree - shaded street when Davie stopped before the last house in the block. He'd knocked at all except this, but no one, it seemed, wanted a dog with four puppies. His finger left the bell and one bare foot dug into the other as he blinked at the tall man who filled the doorway. A timid smile took root, blossomed into a grin at the unexpected answer to his monotonous question.

"We might even look for her own-er, huh, lad?" he asked after hearing Davie's story. Davie's head was still bobbing happily as he sprinted away to complete the transfer, lest his new-found friend change his mind. Mrs. Meek's call to supper brought the boy to the fence, a small ball of fur cupped in his hands. "What you doin' over there?" she demanded, "annoyin" the neighbors?"

"It's all right Mrs. Meek. Davie

just brought me a dog." Mr. Dyer let the screen door slam behind him. "You're a fool, Bill Dyer-or don't you know what a dog can do to a garden?"

"Plenty!" he chuckled. "Thanks to Davie here, I can buy more fertilizer for mine." At the word "fertilizer" her scrawny eyebrows met over slitted eyes. "Don't you be pullin' my leg, Bill Dyer!"

"It's the truth." His laughter kindled a fire in Davie's thin chest, warming him. "We went looking for Lady's owner this afternoon, Davie and I. Seems she got out of the baggage room down at the depot."

"And they gave me a puppy!" Davie repeated pointedly. "The man's coming for Lady tomorrow—with ten dollars reward."

Mrs. Meek didn't say anything, but when she went inside she slammed the door with an awful bang.

Give them a hand— BUY TWICE AS MANY BONDS IN THE MIGHTY 7th WAR LOAN!

The time is ripe.

It's now—now when America can't afford to falter... NOW is the time for you to back up our fighting men by buying twice as many War Bonds in this mighty 7th War Loan as you ever did before!

Does that seem like too much of a chore? Would you rather wait until crops are in and you have more cash?

You wouldn't, if you could see how urgent it is to act now.

Up to this time last year there had been two war loans. This year, the 7th War Loan must raise almost as much as two loans last year. That's why you are asked: Buy twice as many Bonds in this mighty 7th War Loan!

Regardless of what has happened in Germany, we must still send our millions of men in Europe tons and more tons of supplies daily.

In the Pacific we still haven't gone all-out against Japan. We must build new, deadlier, more costly planes ... harder-hitting tanks ... new warships ... and more of everything than ever before, if we are not to let our boys down just when they need our help the most.

And we, all of us, have a new responsibility . . . to the thousands of our wounded. We must see to it that they get the best of care, the best of medicines, the best of everything through the long, pain-filled months of their recovery.

All this takes money. That is why your country is again asking you to lend your dollars by buying twice as many Bonds as you ever did before!

War Bonds pay off in these 7 ways . . .

- 1 The same Government security backs your War Bonds as backs the actual dollars you put into them.
- 2 You get $100 at maturity for every $75 loaned now.
- You can get your money back, 60 days after issue date, any time you need it . . . in the meantime you get safety and steady growth.
- 4 You have a backlog to renew farm buildings and equipment after the war.
- 5 Bonds will insure your children's schooling, or provide for your own security, travel, retirement.
- 6 Bonds go into a national nest egg that will help to assure post-war prosperity.
- 7 Bonds transform your love of home and country into action . . . you join personally in the biggest, most urgent War Loan of all—the Seventh!

FEESERSBURG

A delightful summer morning! Warm at last but not uncomfortably so; doors wide open at 7 o'clock, men and women going to shops and fields and all kinds of heavy trucks and and all kinds of heavy trucks and machinery on the road—Monday morning always seems so full of interest. After a thunder gust and gentle rain last night the gardens look fine this morning—and as the hymn says every prospect pleases.

Frost last Wednesday morning was indeed unusual in June; but we often heard our father say he knew one year there was frost every month one year there was frost every month They thought August was going to escape it, but after a heavy storm and hail one day it turned cold, and that night there was a frost.

Many persons attended the Com-mencement exercises of Elmer A. Wolfe High School auditorium, which were very interesting with 19 grad-uates, two of them from Mt. Union: Betty Jane Buffington and Claud Parlette Bohn. Perhaps few of us realize how much our face and man-ner reveal our character but watching the young people expresses many characteristics; some are thoughtful, others gay, some are indifferent and a few very sad at saying farewell to school days and companions—and carefree days.

Mrs. Esther Sentz Angell returned from the Hospital at Gettysburg early last week in good spirit, bringearly last week in good spirit, bringing a little companion with her—the second son—Verle Roy Angell. The four-year-old brother is pleased to have some one play ball with him—young Hopeful.

Homespun Philosophy By Ezra

Jim was a farmer living near Taneytown. Each night, at about ten o'clock, before he went to bed, he would make the rounds of his stables, hen houses, creamery and other pla-ces on his farm. He did this to make sure that everything was safe and well.

One night while making the rounds he saw a shadowy figure holding a lantern and standing somewhat fur-tively by the side of the house. Rather frightened at first, and knowing that all of his family were this seemingly dangerous prowler, he shouted, "Hey, there. Who are you?"

Holding the lantern so that the light shone on his face, the figure of the shadows laughed and said, "It's

"Why I thought you were in bed a long time ago. What are you doing out here so late?"
"Well," said Robert, shifting from the foot to the other and in great

If Bill would have taken a lantern to do his courting the following conversation would not have taken place.

Tom and Bill were standing on a corner in Taneytown one day talking about their crops. Tom looked up and saw a woman approaching them.

In a whisper Tom said to Bill

THAT USE TAX STAMPS AGAIN

George Hofferbert, Collector of Internal Revenue, announced today that the new $5.00 Motor Vehicle Use Tax Stamps were placed on sale in his offices in the Customs House and the Court Square Building in Baltimore, at Room 1002 Inkernal Revenue Building, Washington, D. C., and his branch offices in Cumberland, Hagerstown, Annapolis, Dundalk and Salisbury, Maryland, and in all postoffices on Saturday. and in all postoffices on Saturday, June 9, 1945. In addition, he will fill mail orders when accompanied by cash, money orders or certified checks. Personal checks if not cer-tified cannot be accepted for the purchase of internal revenue stamps. The law requires the owner of every motor vehicle which is used upon the highways to buy the Use Tax Stamp and to display it on the vehicle before it is used on and after July 1, 1945, and provides both cash cash and jail penalties for a failure to pay this tax and to display the stamp. Some confusion exists as to whether there is a law requiring the pur-chase and display of the Motor Ve-hicle Use Tax Stamp. Section 557 of the Revenue Act of 1941 imposing this tax became effective October 1, 1941, and has not been repealed and all owners of motor vehicles are advised not to misled by false rumors alleging that this tax has been repealed. Motorists will find that the stamps will stick if they dampen the windshield instead of the stamp. And in order to further protect themselves against theft or loss, Mr. minute, then said in all seriousness, "Yes sir. I know. But look at what you got."

The point of my story is not that last remark of Robert's, it is the fact that Robert carried a lighted lantern. It reminds me of Diogenes. He sought an honest man with a lighted lantern in the day time. Robert was not looking for an honest man with a lighted lantern and to write in on the back of the stamp is to be affixed.

Lesson for June 17

THE CHURCH BEGINS ITS WORK LESSON TEXT-Acts 5:29-35, 38-40, 42. GOLDEN TEXT—Ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the utter-most part of the earth.-Acts 1:8

The church of Jesus Christ, glorious in spite of her failings, is the greatest institution known to this orld. That is true because while it is in this world, the church is not of the world, but of God. He established the church as the fellowship of believers to do His work in the world. For more than 19 centuries the Christian church has served Him with varying degrees of consecration and usefulness. The beginning of the work of the church is of special interest, for such a study will show whether we today are following in the right path. We find in our lesson that the early church was distinguished by:

I. Obedience to God (vv. 29-32).
The disciples filled with the Holy Spirit were bold in declaring the gospel and in proclaiming their risen Lord. Realizing that the apostles' message was winning the people, the leaders of the Jews admonished them not to speak in the name of Christ (Acts 4:18). When they continued, the priests threw them into prison, but an angel set them free (Acts 5:19).

When they were again apprehended and accused of disobeying the command of the high priest, Peter and the others responded by pointing out that they were under a higher command, that of God Himself. Him they would obey, come

Who will deny that we need a renewal of that spirit in the church today? We need to lose our fear of men and their little authority, and regain a larger measure of obedi-

II. A Convicting Message (v. 33). When God's Word is preached with complete obedience to Him, something is sure to happen. Men and women will be convicted of their sin. They will be cut to the heart. That conviction will show itself in one of two ways. Some will be repentant and will cry out with the jailer at Philippi, "What must I do to be saved?" (Acts 16:30). Turn-ing to Christ, they will find deliverance from sin.

Others will harden themselves in their wicked ways and become even more bitter in their hatred of Christ and the church. In our lesson we find them taking counsel to kill the disciples. Knowing themselves to be wrong and seeing that God's work revealed their sin, but not being willing to give it up, they tried to destroy the witness against them.

We see that same spirit operative today. To be sure, it does not usually show itself in such crude action as physical killing, although the day when that may happen again may not be far away.

In our cultivated time, it is revealed in a scholarly attack upon God's Word, an undermining of the faith of our young people in schools or colleges, or a ridiculing of those who wish to live a separated, consecrated life.

III. No Compromise (vv. 34, 35,

A wise man, Gamaliel, presented what we would now call a program of appeasement. He urged they wait and see what would happen.

At first glance his idea seems to be most commendable, and of course it did save the lives of the disciples at the moment. But it was essentially a "do-nothing" policy of compromise. If he believed in what the disciples were doing, he should have come out boldly on their side.

Notice that the believers had no part in this scheme. They listened, but did not give assent. They took the beating and went right out and preached the gospel again. What a fine example for us to follow! Those who are alert to the real problems of the church today recognize that the willingness to com-promise with the world, the flesh, and (so it seems at times) the devil himself for the sake of peace, is destroying the real ministry of the church

IV. Absolute Fearlessness (vv. 40,

The early church was a very small group of believers with no position of influence or power in the world. Humanly speaking, it would have been expedient for them to heed the admonition now twice given (compare Acts 4:18) and confine their testimony to a private wit-

But they had hearts which were aflame with the fire of God, a commission to take the good news of God's saving grace to all men, and the assurance of God's presence (see Matt. 28:19, 20, Acts 1:8), and they were absolutely fearless.

The world admires true courage not only on the battlefield, but in the pulpit.

The criticism which men in the armed services make of the church centers at this point, namely, that the church has been too timid about giving out the Word of God, about really believing and practicing it.
