Certificates for Home Being Offered For Sale

Hesson-Snider Post 120 American Legion wishes to solicit the cooperation and support of our citizens during the present certificate drive. The purpose of these certificates is to raise money to finance the purchase of the Legion Home on Baltimore Street, Tanytown. As this is considered not only a Legion Home but a community meeting place for other organizations it will be a credit to Taney-town and the surrounding community. Approximately one-half the purchase price of the home has been paid, the balance is to be raised thru the sale of certificates which will bear interest at the rate of four per cent annum. The certificate drive will be intensified during the next two weeks, thru personal contacts. Sale of certificates at both banks which will climax with a public sale plan a stand which will be set up near the square on the evening of A crab feed will be held on Sunday afternoon, July 18, at Burke's cottage. The public is invited.

MERCHANTS PLAN PICNIC

At the last meeting of the Retail Merchants Association of Taneytown it was decided to hold a picnic for all merchants, their help and families. Plans were made to hold the picnic on Thursday evening, August 12, at Big Pipe Creek Park. Tickets will soon be available and it is hoped that each Retail Dealer will find it convenient to purchase tickets not only for himself and family but for each employee. The Association felt that this was one means the business men had to show their appreciation to their employees for their efforts in making their business a success. The purchase of a ticket will entitled the holder to the food which will be available during the evening. An evening of games and other entertainment is being planned to please young and old. Make plans now for all merchants to attend.

FAMILY MARKS FATHER'S DAY

The children of William Shaffer of Mayberry gathered Sunday at the home of Mr., and Mrs. George Brown in observance of Father's day. The reunion marked the second time in twenty-five years that the entire family were together. At noon, dinner was served, to which all had contributed. Later in the afternoon ice cream, cake, cookies and soft drinks were served. Mr. Shaffer received gifts, one being a large decorated cake bearing the word "Father". Mr. Shaffer's five daughters, one son, 19 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren were present: Mr. and Mrs. William I. Shaffer, Mrs. Betty Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Groft, Mrs. Charles Wisner, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bixler, Mr. and Mrs. Lenard Shaffer, Carl Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stewart, Betty, Charles and Ronnie Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Falkenstock, Peggy Falkenstock, Betty, Edward Gene and Joseph Groft, Charles Harry and Esther Wisner, George Dean, Joan and Bonnie Brown, Delores, Phyllis and Joyce Bixler, Darlene and Robert Shaffer. The family had as their guest Mrs. Nevin Crouse, Miss Vern Siepes and William Dunbar.

GIFT SENT

Grateful Letter of Thanks Received

An interesting affair happened just recently from an event which took place last fall. The Taneytown E. U. B. Church gathered clothes for relief in Germany last Fall and clothing was taken to New Windsor to the Church World Center where the clothing was then shipped overseas. Mrs. Emma Lambert pasted her name and address in a pair of shoes which she gave and in return the following letter was received: Ludwigshafen A. Rhine Mundenhein March 15, 1948.

My Dear Mrs. Lambert: You are probably astonished to receive a few lines from a stranger in Germany. The joy over your shoes is the reason for my writing to you and to express my sincere gratitude for the present.

The shoes were given to me by our pastor of our town. They were re-ceived by welcome hands. My husband, myself and child were completely bombed out, Unfortunately your shoes were to small, but I am in hopes to exchange the shoes with some one else for a larger size, as I am able to wear shoes again.

My Dear Mrs. Lambert please do not look at this letter as a beggar's letter, even though we are very poor I would never take the liberty of writing to you. The reason of this letter is to thank you from the bottom of my heart for your very, very benevolent help.

In closing this letter I am wishing you the best of luck, and again thanking you I remain

AN INCOMER'S OUTGOINGS

Gold Beach, Oregon: Well, I am on the west coast of Oregon, just as far from Taneytown as I can get without getting my feet in the waters of the mighty Pacific. This is a great country, both for those who live here and for those who slip in to take a peep at the marvelous panorama of nature The most beautiful things are those that are God made. Man often ruins, or at least mars, the divinely tiful with his uncouth fingers. Man has done little along the Oregon coast to improve what nature has given, except the building of a winding highway, tourist inns, and small towns which makes the wonders of this section of God's creation more accessible. The coastal grandeur becomes more enjoyable by the tourist who takes advantage of the minature telescopes made available to bring the God-like into more intimate range of the human eye.

My journey to the far North West was not eventful. After leaving Taneytown about noon, Thursday, June 16, I boarded the B & O train at Washington, D. C. at 4:40 P. M. for Chicago. Friday morning found a stranger in this great city of the mid-west. I was met at the depot by Edison Starner, a nephew from Glendale, California. After break-fast, we went to the Hines Veteran Hospital, a spacious institution, about 25 or 30 miles out of Chicago, where Edison's brother underwent a major operation the day before. We found him doing nicely. The Starners' parents live in York, Pennsylvania. Thousands of choice young Americans who served their country during the World War are there with their mutilated bodies and various other troubles. Concrete evidences of the price of war. They gave their best "that the government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth." (More next week). G. H. E.

ADVISES AGAINST

Be Careful in Giving Rides to Unknown "Thumb-Jerkers"

"So serious has the hitch-hiking problem become," said Robert L. Leese, Westminster Branch Manager of the AAA Club of Maryland, "that 23 states and the District of Columbia have, up to the present time, enacted laws against the practice of soliciting rides from passenger car owners by thumbing or oral pleas.

Maryland thus far has not taken any official state wide action to ban hitch-hiking. "Colorado," the AAA

Official added, "has even gone so far as to post the highways reminding motorists that hitch-hiking is illegal in that state. In some of the 23 states barring hitch-hiking the motorist as well as the 'thumb jerker' faces a penalty for violation if convicted.

The problem is somewhat geographical, Mr. Leese continued. "Not one of the southwestern, Mexican-border or Gulf Coast states bars hitch-hiking. Of the entire group of south-eastern states, South Carolina is the only one which has erected a legal barrier against hitch-hiking. Of the eight states bordering on the Great Lakes, Michigan is the only one with no state law against hitch-hiking.

"In any case, the car owner will do well to consider carefully the safety of his own family, himself and his property before being overly-generous with transportation additties given to the man on the roadside operating 'by the rule of thumb'

AROUND THE TOWN

Recently, I was pleasantly surprised with a box sent by air mail and registered from a reader from our neighbor state—Pennsylvania (just over the line). Upon lifting the lid, there lay one of the most beautiful large white roses that I over say in large white roses that I ever saw in my life and on a card tied to it was "The Peace Rose" which your name

A letter followed explaining about this last 'Memorial Day' and of the disappointment it meant to this aged couple who had lost a loving son in the Service as Commander on one of those Bombers—29 as he had stated before leaving that "he just wanted to get one crack at those Japs!" He and his crew all were killed. The letter goes on to state that they know ter goes on to state that they know that I could write a little of the letter to have the readers 'around the town' understand especially if there is an Honor Roll in our town. Folks, I am going to quote exactly word for word the sad contents of that letter.

"We both were so down in spirits, it seems impossible to survive our dear youngest the "baby" son of the right hand—indeed he was the life of the family and every place he went. And to think this town—the official set did not even put a tiny flag on the Honor Roll. Last Fall, the Honor Roll had been covered with a patent glass which clouds it to such an extent that one can barely read the names. I've wondered if your town keeps it's Honor Roll? made up from our flowers including mostly lovely wild ones and ferns, a lovely bouquet set in a covered water container with narrow "tri-colored" ribbon around and on a card "In Memoriam"—with loving Tribute to Bennie and the Boys!" My husband and I drove in on the 30th (while all the "good people" were at church) and we went up to the Tablet and have an effering on it went the lock. He had been run over and the two hind legs were so affected that it was impossible for him to walk any more. The expression in that rabbit's eyes will always remain with me for was almost human. I picked him up and walked back to a bridge which was built over a running stream. I placed the rabbit in the water and then laid him in the shade on the slope. By this time, I was covered with blood and had to return for a change. Have wondered since if the little rabbit ever survived!

Did you ever see a driver of a auto driving and actually ten winks to the nod? Your Observer heard of drivers dozing off but until recently never saw one. "IT IS TIME FOR A CHANGE"

It is time for a change in the National Administration "and for continued GOP guidance at the helm of Congress," according to a statement made by Senator Wiley, of Wisconsin in a recent speech. And he added his opinion that "America must disenthrall itself from the Democratic clutch; we must think anew and act anew, as Lincoln advised us." And his reason for expressing these views is that the time has arrived to do away with "regimentation under Democrats."He says that we must regain our freedom under Republican economy and Constitutional Ameri-

The Senator rang the bell in the Senate when he declared that "we must disenthrall ourselves."

The 80th Congress and its record has been reviewd this present month by the best news and editorial writers in America. David Lawrence asks: "By what yardstick shall we measure the record of the 80th Congress?"

Would it be fair, or unfair, to report to far-flung hundreds of editors, that in the opinion of the best statesmen and political leaders in Washington the overwhelming opinion is that the great majorities of Republican and Democratic Senators and Representatives have overriden many of President Truman's vetoes-which proves that they do not regard Mr. and Clerk of The Mother Church, Truman's judgment very highly. The Christian Science Board of Lec-Truman's judgment very highly. There never has been a case in history when Senators and House Members belonging to the same party as the President of the Nation, have stressed the worldwide progress of the Christian Science movement carding the Executive's opinions and during the last year. voting against their High Chief. Now don't regard this as a partisan statement by the writer of this item.

It is a straightforward none-partisan report of exactly "What's What in Washington."

The pre-convention fights to pick Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates were bitter.

Nevertheless, we are likely to hear more about domestic issues during ing foreign policies.

This change will be rather easy to arrange, inasmuch as the United States has already spilled plenty of money, relief and help into the laps of downtrodden people and nations throughout the World who are struggling to reestablish themselves in their own countries .- J. E. Jones.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENT-IST, BOSTON, MASS.

Boston, Mass., June 7.—Declaring that democratic government is the instrument through which an irresistible, spiritual force is being channeled into the affairs of men, The Christian Science Board of Directors today urged Christian Scientists, in annual meeting, here, to work strong-ly and actively for the defense of free governments throughout the world. Rightly conceived, the Directors told the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, democratic government is something Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, democratic government is something more than an aggregation of legislaists with occupation forces are holdtive acts and lealized rules of comduct.

"It is the orderly unfoldment of the moral character and spiritual integrity of its citizens," the spokesmen movement affirmed. As such, they said, free government rightly merits active defense of its sacred purpose, in addition to the pious declarations of allegiance to its outer form.

Thousands of Christian Scientists from many parts of the world heard the Directors issue a distinct chal-lenge to the proud, boastful "Goliaths of today, as they go to and fro in the earth. Denying God, they are denying their own life, for God is the only life of man," they stated.

In free governments, now serious-ly endanger by the modern Goliaths the Directors commented, there is a force that gathers its strength from "the same eternal truth given by Christ Jesus in his peerless Sermon on the Mount:" Ultimately it shall be seen, they said, that "no individdal or nation on earth can withstand the power and presence of God and His Christ.' The Directors' statement highlighted a series of papers and reports made to the Annual Meeting. Set against the background of the great Mother Church dome and the Church park resplendent with mid-Spring blooms, the reports stressed the renaissance of religious activties throughout the postwar world, and reemphasized the privileges of free assembly and freedom of worship as the human symbols of "spiritual free-

With the warnings of serious dangers to democratic government, the Directors also gave assurance that the antagonists of free government, like the Goliaths of old, were merely

"inviting their own doom."

The Israelites of old were faced with similar problems, the Directors continued. Confronted with seeming extermination by the overwhelming armies of the Philistines, who sent forth Goliath to intimidate them, they did not quail, the statement said. Did Goliath succeed in defying the armies of the living God? No!

"He fell a victim of his own false trust. The Christ, Truth, guided the hand of the shepherd boy, and the enemy was slain through David's believe that the power of God."

absolute trust in the power of God." Defense of the democratic form of government, the Directors reasoned, requires a practical preparedness, one inspired by prayer and guided by divine wisdom. And they added that a union of nations, to endure, must have a spiritual foundation.

"Nations must possess kindred qualities of thought, culture and purpose. These, when based on spiritual elements which survive the destructive effects of friction, serve as the only lasting bond and impregna-able bulwark of men and nations."

To the standard bearers of Christian Science gathered in The Mother Church, the Directors gave this admonition: "The celestial light given in the Sermon on the Mount fills the world with its irresistible power and presence. No godless boasting, no idealogy, no atomic force, no iron curtain can stay its power.

The incoming President, Harry C. Browne, whose only official duty is to preside at the Annual Meeting, declared that the success of any organization, institution or government depends upon the spiritual efficacy the governing or controlling instrument "With the problem of world peace confronting us," he said, "these same divine qualities applied in individual thought and action will be found as potent and as powerful as they were

Individuals and nations can no longer remain isolationist in thought or action, Mrs. Elwell commended. Selfishness, she said, gives place to unselfishness, lethargy and inaction are superseded by the prompt response to a brother's need. "Such action," she said, "constitutes democracy in action."

OUR DEMOCRACY-

INDEPENDENCE DAY

-by Mat

Let us, this July Fourth, observe the anniversary of American Independence. not alone in the spirit of celebrating an achievement of 1776, but with a full recognition that independence -freedom as we know it is a responsibility and a privilege we must continue to earn and maintain in 1948, working as a united people for and within the framework of our democratic principles.

New Chemical Curbs Many Fruit Pests Tests Show Fungicide Effective in Orchard

Characterized as effective against a wide range of fruit pests and diseases, a new dinitro fungicide and insecticide for orchard use now is available commercially under the trade name of DN-289. It is a stable, clear solution containing eight ounces actual dinitro-secbutylphenol in each quart and is readily miscible with water.

DN-289 has proved effective as an insecticide for use in the dormant period against a variety of insects such as rosy apple aphid, currant aphid, black cherry aphid, mealy plum aphid and viburnum aphid, eye-spotted bud moth, cherry case-bearer, pear psylla and oyster shell scale on apple and lilac. Promising results also have been shown in control of San Jose scale, scurfy scale and the eggs of the European red mite.

As a fungicide, DN-289 has been used successfully for control of sooty blotch on pears.

Amount of the compound required to attain good control ranges from one quart to two quarts in 100 gallons of water. Aphids are controlled with one quart while two quarts are needed to kill bud moths, case-bearer and the pear psylla. Heavier concentrations may be needed to control oyster shell scale.

Research workers are conducting extensive tests to find other insects and diseases that may be controlled with the chemical, which was developed by the Dow Chemical company.

Packaging of Poultry Is New Development

Farmers of tomorrow must be poultry merchandisers as well as producers if they are to compete successfully with the new "broiler factories." Progressive poultry raisers must keep attuned to the times if they are to meet the challenge of new developments in the industry.

Within a short time the consumer will have a wide range of selection for poultry and meat products. This will necessitate better merchandising on the part of the individual poultryman

One of the principal means of meeting this challenge is for the poultry raiser to start selling chickens under brand names in an effort to promote his product for the time when consumers again will be "choosy."

To accomplish this, good packaging is essential. Modern transparent packaging of ready-to-eat poultry will increase sales and profits.

Good packaging, as demonstrated by this cellophane-wrapped chicken, is good advertising.

Tests conducted with the same grade of poultry, half being sealed in flexible packages, the others without covering, proved that demand for the packaged birds was one to three times as large as for the unwrapped ones.

For packaging, cellophane, transparent regenerated cellulose film or a rubber hydrochloride film are available. They are moisture-proof, airproof, strong, flexible and resistant to liquid and grease.

Pullets Termed Better Layers Than Old Hens

Further evidence of the importance of keeping only pullets for layers and selling all old hens is contained in tests conducted at western Kentucky substation.

Average results over 11 years show that annual production of Barred Rock pullets was four dozen eggs per bird greater than that of hens. In the case of White Leghorns, pullets laid three dozen eggs per bird more than old hens.

"Freedom exists only where the people take care of the Government."

THIS YEAR, AS IN EVERY FOURTH YEAR OF OUR HISTORY, WE AMERICANS WILL BE CALLED UPON TO ELECT A PRESIDENT. THIS IS OUR PRIVILEGE AS A FREE PEOPLE-A GREAT AND SOLEMN RESPONSIBILITY.

LET US BEGIN NOW, WITHOUT PREJUDICE OR PERSONAL BIAS, TO ACQUAINT OURSELVES WITH THE ISSUES, TO CONSIDER CANDIDATES AND WHAT THEY STAND FOR, TO PREPARE OURSELVES FULLY, SO THAT WHEN WE MAKE OUR CHOICE IT WILL REPRESENT AN INFORMED DECISION IN THE INTEREST OF OUR DEMOCRACY.

knows the sure-fire approach is to bewail the failure of your own generation, and then in ringing tones chal-Lillienthal, Atomic Energy boss, addressing the University of Virginia graduating class last week had this to say: "Every generation has a philosophy, a theme, a set rules to live by. When my generation sat where you sit today, we as a generation, had a definite philosophy. This guiding principle can be summed up in this phase: 'Take care of Number one.' It seemed eminently sensible. If everyone took care of number one, and concentrate on that—why obviously the sum total of all the number ones would be prosperity and happiness all around. A great many of us followed this philosophy and made a great deal of money. Each man took care of himself, but the sum total of all this self-reliance was that the devil not only took the hind-most but the foremost and those in between. No, I cannot commend to your generation the philosophy of my own. What I propose in its stead I can compress in this phrase: 'Be an active, living part of your times. In the next three decades I urge that every man and woman to whom this country has given the high privilege of a College education and who has the qualifications plan definitely to put your private career aside for a certain number of years to serve your community and your country and thereby your children, your neigh-bors, your fellow-men and the cause of freedom.'

Friday evening, a large bank barn belonging to Charles Diehl on the former Daniel Repp farm, near Middleburg was completely destroyed by fire. Along with the barn, the season's hay crop just put up the previous day, a wagon shed, blacksmith shop and corn crib was also destroyed. The fire was caused by an overflow of gasoline from an engine tank used for work around the barn. When Mr. Diehl started the engine, a spark, ignited the overflowed gasoline and the flame in some manner set the hay on fire. Having no phone, it was some time before the fire engine could be summoned and the fire made considerable headway before the fire-men arrived. The farm machinery was saved. The human race has two characteristics which drive men in opposite directions. One is the liking to do a certain amount of gambling and the other the desire to lay something by for a rainy day. If carried too far, either one of these tendencies may be responsible for much distress but when moderately indulged in may bring men much happiness. Neither the professional gambler or the miser produce much permanent security or satisfaction for themselves or others. But a proper balance between risking some of today's wealth and saving everything for the future is needed to make the wheels of business turn smoothly and to satisfy the cravings of human nature.

Sunday is the Fourth of July. The day on which we celebrate our independence. One hundred and seventy-two years have passed by since the first Independence Day. It is obvious to every one that there has been a lot of changes in those years. The greatest change to me is in the way we celebrate the Fourth of July. MARYLAND MUSINGS

An important tip for home canning use the right method for the crop being canned.

The Home Demonstration Agent in each county or the Extension Service at the University of Maryland has bulletins and other free information on canning methods.

The principal woodland management practices are fire protection. protection against livestock grazing, thinning and improvement cuttings, proper and careful harvesting and interplanting.

The pressure cooker (hot pack) is the safest method of canning nonacid vegetables and meats, but not so desirable for tomatoes or fruits.

Th deserts of Asia and Africa were once fertile land but, through continuous cropping and exposure, water and wind swept the topsoil away, thereby affecting the temperature, rainfall, and other atmospheric conditions.

To avoid spoilage (flat sour) when canning use only young, tender and strictly fresh produce. Can as soon as gathered, cook quickly and cool at the end of the processing period as quickly as container will permit.

Research work in home canning has developed some new processing times for various produce. The Home Demonstration Agent in each county has complete information.

New Bee Colonies Started With Use of Package Bees

Approximately 1,375,000 pounds of package bees were shipped in 1947. Package bee men anticipate sending out 4 per cent more bees than moved

The bees run about 3,400 to 3,500 in the pound package. Multiplication brings out the total of more than six billion baby bees as the prospective 1948 crop. They are babies, only about a week old, when shipped.

These package bees travel by fast express, motor truck, and a few, especially in California, are shipped by air express. Many go from our southern states to Canada, where the winter period is so long and cold that beekeepers frequently kill off all their bees in the fall, planning to start their colonies afresh in the spring with package bees and queens coming from the south or from California. Many package bees are used to replace winter losses in bee yards in northern and central states.

Sometimes the larger packages of bees. holding three to five pounds of baby bees, are bought primarily to pollinate fruit trees in northern orchards and are then either killed, or are kept to gather honey during the remainder of the season.

Package bees travel in wire cages and are supplied by an attendant along the way with food in the form of a thin sugar and water syrup which is sprayed or sprinkled on the

SHORT STORY The Difficult Date By J EULALIE WEEKS

W HY was she on this train? Why was she taking this trip that was bound to end in heartbreak? "The scenery in this part of the country is lovely, isn't it?'

Sheila turned to the little person beside her. Certainly there was nothing outstanding about her companion, except perhaps a pleasant expression. Sheila was surprised to hear herself asking, "Do you like travelling by train?"

"Oh, yes, replied the woman. "I like watching the outside and the inside both. People are all so wonderful." Suddenly Sheila felt like keeping the conversation going. "I bet you know a lot about people?"

Fiction

"I like to think I do. I guess about them and wonder where they are going and why." "Where do you think I'm going, then, and why?" "I'm not sure. At first I thought you were going home to visit your folks for the week-end but you're not happy enough for that. I do think, though, that you're going some place that has some connection with your home."

"Why do you think that, Mrs., . I'm sorry, I don't mean to be

"My name isn't Mrs. It's Miss Dolly James. Every one calls me

Miss Dolly." "Oh," continued Miss Dolly. "I know you're familiar with this country because you never glance back or ahead. You seem to know everything that's coming next." "That's right. I've made this trip to Ganesville pretty often but not very lately. There's no one there for me to visit any more.'

"I'm sorry."

The sympathy in Miss Dolly's voice seemed to be all Sheila needed. "Four years ago today I said goodbye to Dannie Ross on the little platform at Ganesville. Dannie had things figured out pretty well. He didn't think he had any right to tell me how he felt about me then but' he said that if he ever came back and I wanted to hear how he felt, he'd meet me on that same platform in four years' time and tell me."

"So you're going to meet him?" "I'm going to Ganesville." "Didn't he come back?" was the soft inquiry. "Yes, he came back, Miss Dolly." "I'm afraid I don't understand." "Well, it's simple, really. Dannie came back and the very sight of him thrilled me so that I was on top of the world but Dan said he thought I had changed a lot. He said I was sophisticated and citified and he paid me lots of lovely complithe subject we had discussed." "He likes the city?" "He never used to. He always own his own shop and raise a family in the country.' "But you don't want to any more?" "Of course I do! I'm the same girl inside that he left four years ago. I want the things now that we both wanted then but he doesn't seem to want to find that out."

"Yet you're taking this trip today?"

"I just had to. I promised. But it's no use." "What makes you think it's no use? Don't you believe he'll be here to see if you have changed or not?' "I did until last night. We were all at a party and I kept listening for him to drop some hint about our secret date for today but right in front of me I heard him make a date to play golf this afternoon."

"You'd better powder that nose of yours. We're nearly to Ganesville.

The tapping at the window attracted her and as the train started slowly to move, she could make out Miss Dolly's words:

"He had to be sure! He had to be sure!" Sheila's puzzled thoughts about the little lady's last words were interrupted. Two strong arms enfolded "Dan, oh, Dan! How could you?" "Sheila, dearest," she heard him say, "I had to be sure. I had to be

Nations Make Choices

As drastic and as devastating as war is, I am confident that the economic troubles of many European countries are not traceable entirely to the aggravations of war. Famines, wars, oppressions: these are symptoms, not causes. Certain nations, like Switzerland, fare surprisingly well amidst the decay and chaos so common in Europe. Little Switzerland is not hollering for help. She is a free enterprise country.

Of course, Switzerland was not a belligerent, and hence was spared some spoilage of war. But now comes news that Belgium is prospering. What is the reason? Belgium chose a free economic system at the close of the war, when she might have taken some foolish panacea. This little country rightly chose a system of free enterprise and economic freedom as the system most likely to bring recovery.

A Practical Way A reasonable degree of freedom is enjoyed by the Belgium people. Reports have it that the standard of living there is well up toward prewar levels. Newspaper reports have called attention to Belgium's airline, Sabena, which reported its net profit for the year at $2,800,000. This has happened despite the fact it started out with practically nothing after the war. The airline had lost most of its equipment, and had to get help from the government to go ing is reported good by those who happening to British airlines. Owned entirely by the socialist government and operated by them, the British airlines find difficulty in keeping their losses down to that figure. The difference is that Britain blundered in choosing, and Belgium chose wisely. Surely the European meighbors of Belgium will notice her good example. Planned economy sometimes looks good on paper, but it is free economy that permits people to use their initiative and work out their own salvation.

Matter of Teamwork I am not at all surprised to hear these things about Belgium. I was there in the summer of 1946. One very remarkable thing impressed me. And in this there is a lesson for our own people: labor was at that time cooperating in Belgium with the management of industry and with government, in keeping prices down. America has not achieved that much teamwork, and we need it. Dangers still threaten in the battle against inflation.

In Belgium, labor leaders were saying that it was necessary to increase production and thereby bring down prices rather than put up wages and keep prices high. They reasoned that in the long run this would be the best for labor. It is not surprising that their standard of livhave recently toured the country.

On Trail of Chlorosis

Radioactive substances (tracers) ar paving the way for agricultural scientists who are trying to learn the cause of chlorosis, a disorder which causes a plant to lose its green color. They already know that lack of iron and perhaps lack of phosphorus contributes to this condition. According to members of the institute of radiobiology and biophysics at University of Chicago, one of three institutes in a 12 million atomic research program, radioactive iron and phosphorus will help to provide the

Micaiah, A Prophet of Israel Lesson for July 4, 1948

W E BEGIN a new series of studies this quarter—a series of lessons based on less known Bible characters that have much to offer us. Such a character is found in Micaiah, about whom we learn in I Kings 22:1-40. Ahab, king of Israel, planned an expedition to recover the city of Ramoth in Gilead, which the Syrians had taken. He invited Jehoshaphat, king of Judah, to join him. Ahab relied upon his court prophets to predict victory; but Micaiah, the prophet of God, whom Ahab had shut up in prison, when he was summoned, at the insistence of Jehoshaphat, told Ahab the truth-the unpleasant truth-which subsequent events verified.

BRAVE ENOUGH TO TELL THE TRUTH

THE first blessing in the study of this obscure Bible character. Micaiah, is to discover a man who was brave enough to tell the truth when he knew it was unpopular.

It is always the best policy to tell the truth, though there be many in today's world who deny this principle. It is not enough to say that we will tell the truth because it pays. That is true, but it is a by-product of doing what is right. One must tell the truth because it is right to tell the truth. Men swear with their hand upon the Holy Bible that what they testify is the truth and nothing but the truth. But, alas, such men often tell anything but the truth. They have been carefully coached to evade the truth.

Micaiah told the truth, because he was speaking for God. It hurt him, but it must needs be the truth which he spoke to Ahab.

TRUTH DISREGARDED

A HAB scorned the words of Micaiah, and ordered him thrown back to prison. But scarcely had the prophet of God been thrust again into prison, until Ahab was bleeding to death in his chariot.

Men not only take their own lives in their hands when they disregard the truth, but, like stubborn Ahab, they bring grief to countless others. Had Ahab heeded the words of truth which Micaiah proclaimed, Ahab might have lived. Indeed, had Ahab heeded the words of truth, he might have recovered Ramoth, and Truth may appear forever on the wrong forever on the throne, but time always proves a hard taskmaster to the man who regards wrong instead of truth.

THE SOURCE OF TRUTH G OD is the source of truth—all truth. If we miss this, we miss the lesson of the lesson. Note the words of the golden text, "As the Lord liveth, what the Lord saith unto me; that will I speak," said Micaiah.

Let us remember that it was God speaking through his prophet. Ahab could not have doubted that Micaiah was speaking what God had told him to speak. But Ahab did not want to hear the truth. He wanted to hear pleasing words that would encourage him in his evil plan.

God speaks the first and last word on every subject, because God is truth. "I am the truth," said Jesus. And he went on to say, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

THE PENALTY OF DISOBEYING THE TRUTH

HORRIBLE, indeed, was the penalty which Ahab suffered for disregarding the truth. The way of the transgressor is hard-always hard. The wages of sin is death. Be sure your sins will find you out.

Take down your cherished books of history. What do they say to you? That the straight line of truth is the only safe way in which to walk. It is applicable for the in-dividual, for the family, for the community, for the nation, for civili-

Thus every great prayer must be, "Thy will be done." God's will is the way of truth. Micaiah declared it. Every true prophet must declare it. It is the only way to peace and joy in this world.

On Believing

All over the world now there is a reaction from the superficial talk that it does not make much difference what a man believes. We have learned our lesson. What a man believes makes a world of difference not only in what he does, but what happens to him.

Need for Legume and Grass Seed Increases

Good Profit Seen For Seed Growers

Harvesting legume and grass seed will bring a three-fold return to farmers: additional income, assurance of feed for livestock and protection for their soil, says the U.S.D.A.

An increase of 67 per cent over last year's harvested acreage of alsike clover seed is sought in 1945, a total of 179,000 acres. One reason for the larger acreage is the urgent call for this seed from liberated areas of Europe, in addition to increasing home requirements for hay and soil protection.

Half again as much alfalfa seed is needed as was harvested in 1944, about 100,000,000 pounds.

About 120,000,000 pounds of red clover seed are needed; some 15 per cent more than was produced last year.

Hay and pasture account for more than three-quarters of the feed consumed by dairy cows and furnish a major share of the feed for other livestock.

In addition, farmers depend on legumes and grasses to check soil erosion and maintain fertility. For example, legumes used as green manure add nitrogen to the soil and when grown in mixtures, they furnish this essential element to the grasses in the mixture. When used in crop rotations, legumes maintain and increase the acre yield of other crops. Both grasses and legumes are valuable as permanent cover for the land, holding the soil against erosion by wind and water.

Good prices and a ready market are indicated for legume and grass seed in 1945-46, pointing to additional income for farmers from properly managed fields. The first crop of many of these plants may be cut for hay or used as pasture, and the second harvested for seed

U. S. Treasury Department

JOE SAND, bank clerk, had decided to kill a man. Looking back on his 47 years, he realized how spineless they had been. Without knowing exactly what to do about it, he had long since grown tired of fetching and carrying for exacting Elmer Dunning, president of Webbville's First National bank. And what had happened lately left his spirits flatter than any ledger John Morrie, the cashier, resigned to take a job in an eastern city and the cashier job in old First National be-9 - Minute Fiction came the plum ready to drop into the lap of some lucky man. Joe was next in line for promotion, but he was worried. He wanted to ask Dunning about the board's plans and didn't have the courage. The small blue eyes in his bony face filled with fear at the thought of such audacity. Somehow he couldn't stretch the narrow shoulders on his short thin frame to the necessary width of confidence.

N SHORT order Joe's hopes were dashed to oblivion. Why did some fellows have all the luck? That young upstart, Harry Coats, who'd been brought on from New York, made cashier over the heads of the four men having seniority in the bank's marble elegance! Resentment blazed high until the three younger men got to liking Coats well enough to forgive him.

But Joe Sand, thoroughly incensed, couldn't forgive. He hated Coats, he hated Dunning, he hated—everyhody. His thoughts were cruel hot daggers slashing every moral fiber within him. He was determined—to kill!

Dunning needn't think that Joe Sands, the slave, hadn't a chickadee's guts. Just because he didn't parade a push and drive was no proof that he hadn't secret ambitions to rise in banking circles.

Joe glanced quickly around his modest room in Mrs. Miller's select boarding house. Shakily, he took a gun out of the bottom drawer of the tired-looking pine bureau, thrust it into his pocket. The weapon had belonged to his father and was rusty with neglect. It had been used for target practice in the Sand family's small back yard, but never to spill human blood. It hadn't been shot off in years. Joe hoped it wouldn't fail him — everybody and everything

At the bank that noon Joe had to be reminded that it was time to go for his daily chocolate malt. Naturally taciturn, he was even more so now and his co-workers flung him questioning glances and whispered among themselves about what was "eating old Sandie." But through it all he was grimly determined. He was doing his last duty for the stalwart old bank which had supported him for 20 years. He had to get everything in order before they took him away—after the killing.

He had brought his records up to date near closing time when he happened to notice Harry Coats doing a peculiar thing. Harry, white-faced, was coming out of the vault, his arms loaded with currency.

TOE wheeled and faced a masked man on the customers' side of the cashier's window. The gun pointed at Joe was no toy.

"Put 'em up or I'll drill yuh!" The intruder's gaze shifted to the rolls of bills. Joe's right hand dropped to his coat pocket.

Just in time, Joe dodged the bullet that whizzed past. But the shot he fired was followed immediately by the stranger's curse as he hit the floor.

As though jet propelled, Joe darted from behind the counter, and up to the still body.
"Careful, Joe!" warned Coats.

"It's a trick-he'll shoot!" But Joe ignored caution, knelt beside the hefty stranger, laid a hand on his bloody shirt front. Then he got quickly to his feet and announced dramatically. "The skunk's dead-quite dead!"

Something like knighthood valor went sailing through Joe. Why, this was odd! Never had he felt somasterful. Why, he couldn't feel inferior to anybody or anything after this! Nor afraid. Not even afraid of -himself.

It was a lucky break that he hadn't gotten around to that killing he'd planned to do today. After all, it would be a pity to disgrace the Sand name. No man ever got even with anybody by putting a bullet through his own head. Released by WNU Features.

WHY SAVE MONEY?

In 1776 a Scotchman named Matthew Boulton risked $200,000 of his savings to help James Watt develop a new device known as a steam engine. In 1948, the estimated capital expenditures of the nation's chief railroads (the railroads grew because of Watt's invention, though now steam is not the only motive power) approaches one billion dollars! Our Class 1 railroads expect to spend $319,958,000 during this quarter of 1948.

How our nation finances its industry is an interesting story. The American way of doing this explains the high standard of living we enjoy today. Not all nations do it as we do. In some countries everything is owned by the government. The government does everything. Of course the people foot the bill, but in these totalitarian countries rewards never come. In America anyone has the opportunity of investing and sharing in the progress of industry.

You May Share Critics of "capitalism", who say that government is the only agency big enough to do things that have to be done in a progressive economy, really miss some important points. They just don't know their American system. Did you know that over fifty million Americans pool their savings to provide the tools for workers? Perhaps you are one of them. These men and women have saved up something for a "rainy day" and, meantime, have invested it.

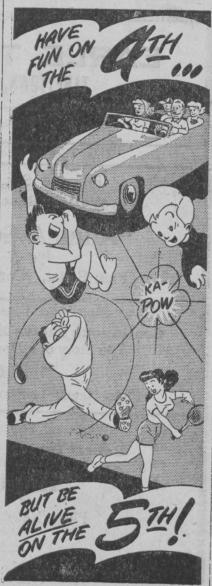

Perhaps you have a share in industry you did not know about. If you have life insurance, it is quite likely that your insurance company invests the premiums you pay to provide tools for industry. Savings banks likewise invest deposits. In this way, the "capital" funds that our people own and invest actually turn the wheels of

Unfettered Growth

Then too, industry itself saves and reinvests. Every live company or business will find it advisable to take a portion of its income and "plow it back under" right in the business. Of money that every industry pays out "for use of tools" only a comparatively small amount goes to the thrifty people who really own the tools. Most of it goes to buy the actual tools. Industry has constant need for investments for expansion and new facilities.

I say, let the people provide the savings to make our industry grow and grow. That way there's no ceiling on progress. No limit to the standard of living. Let us replace old-models, invent new machines, develop new methods. Our population is growing, and our needs will be tremendous in the future. We can continue to be great consumers, if we keep a system that permits us to be great pro-

Right now, there is an important reason why we should save, and save to invest. We must stop adding dollars that could be savings to the inflation stream, bidding up prices and damaging our economy. The railroads represent just one industry that is calling for capital. There are many other industries in which savings may be put to work. Under the American system, there will continue to be more jobs, more pay, and more security as well as opportunity for all.
