The Carroll County Department is particularly anxious to have all handlers of food take advantage of this survey.

This important project is being sponsored by the Carroll County Health Department, in cooperation with the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association and local sponsoring groups, who are lending their valuable support in order to make the survey a success.

All persons 14 years and older, and no one 10 or older are urged to take advantage of this free service.

The efficient and modern mobile X-ray unit is owned by the State Department of Health, and operated by technicians who are paid by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

To get the picture takes but a moment of your time, is painless, involves no undressing and results are confidential.

Everyone will be notified of results in two or three weeks by mail.

These pictures aid in finding the early and unsuspected case, usually without symptoms. Also, other conditions if present in the chest are noted and made known to the individual.

Let's really get rid of the "Great White Plague". These check-ups can greatly help in the gradual eradication of a costly, deadly, and unnecessary disease which takes such a tragic toll of life from 15 to 35 years of age.

Everybody is welcome—come and bring a friend.

KIWANIS NEWS

The Taneytown Kiwanis Club held its regular weekly meeting on Wednesday evening, at 6:30 at the Taney Inn, President George L. Harner, presiding. Group singing was in charge of David Smith, Chairman of the Music Committee, with Mrs. George Harner as accompanist.

The program was in charge of Geo. Dodner, who introduced Mr. Albert Baldwin, Personnel Manager of the Cambridge Rubber Company, and a member of the Club, as the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Baldwin in his address described the nature of his office, and why it is important in the smooth running of an industry that some means be established for constant and effective friendly contact be made between employees, whether organized or not, and employers. The Personnel Department has been set up in the local industry for just that purpose, and handles such matters as safety, vacations, health, complaints, etc. It is the job of the Personnel Manager to see to it that safety devices are provided on the machines in order that accidents may be kept at a minimum, and to insist that each employee not only use the safety devices but also to be conscious that they have been placed on the machines for his protection. It is the duty of the personnel manager to note absenteeism and to ascertain if such is caused by illness, to make friendly inquiry into the general health of the employee and the members of his family in order that such aid as the Company is capable of giving may be offered.

Such activities and many others which were mentioned by the speaker tend to advance a proper relationship between employer and employee, resulting in more effective production and a happy attitude on the part of all who are employed in the industry, whether officer or worker, toward the job in which they are engaged, and toward one another.

The meeting next week will be a Ladies' night, and will be held at the Vendobona Hotel, at Braddock Heights, on Wednesday evening, Aug. 4, at 6:30 o'clock.

As a part of the program, Mr. Zenas Fiscus, of Taneytown, was inducted into membership in the Club by Rev. Guy P. Bready.

ELECTED ROTARY INTERNATIONAL GOV.

Mr. E. W. Dunbar will Head the 181st District

Ernest W. Dunbar, President of the Carroll Shoe Company in Littlestown, has been elected Governor of the Rotary International, world-wide service organization, it was announced today at Rotary's headquarters in Chicago. He was elected by the Board of Directors of Rotary International at its recent meetings in Chicago.

Mr. Dunbar has been a Rotarian since 1925. A former member and Past President of the Rotary Club of Cambridge, Mass., he is now a member of the Rotary Club of Littlestown. He has previously served Rotary International as a Director, District Governor and as a committee chairman and member.

As a District Governor of Rotary International, he will visit 31 Rotary Clubs in a part of Pennsylvania, comprising the 181st Rotary District, to advise and assist the officers of those Clubs on matters pertaining to Rotary service activities and Club administration.

With the reorganization of Rotary Clubs in war-affected countries and the continued growth of Rotary in other parts of the world, Rotary membership figures today stand at an all-time high with 320,000 Rotarians and some 6,500 Rotary Clubs in 80 countries of the globe.

At the 1948 Convention of Rotary International in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, a sum of $450,000 was allocated for the purpose of helping to advance international understanding, good will and peace. As an integral part of this program, Rotary has awarded overseas fellowships for the academic year 1948-49 to 38 outstanding graduate students in Argentina, Australia, Canada, China, Denmark, England, Honduras, Italy, New Zealand, Northern Ireland, The Philippines, and the U. S. A.

These 38 students will study at universities outside their own countries for one year, and will thus have many opportunities to acquire a knowledge of the peoples of these other countries, their culture, and their way of life. This fellowship program is one example of the many practical ways in which Rotary is contributing toward the establishment of understanding and peace among the nations of the world.

AN INCOMER'S OUTGOINGS

These are merry days in Salem, Oregon. Four days of Cherryland Festival. Parades, queen's ball, drum corps and drill team competition, and Armstrong dancers, are a few of the highlights. Today, was marked with a children's parade and a horse show. On Sunday night, a music-drama marking the Oregon territorial centennial is the climax of the festival. Admission to all the features is by wearing a cherry button, costing a dollar, plus tax.

If you don't believe that this is a land of cherries, as well as other small fruits, drive out and see for yourself. And say, aren't these cherries large, and delicious! Tons after tons are being canned in the large cannery within a stone-throw of where I am living. This plant covers a large area, and has about 1,800 people on its payroll. They have canned strawberries, and besides cherries, they are in the process of canning raspberries, Boysenberries, Loganberries and Youngberries.

While the recent rains have helped the hay crop, they have done much damage to cherries in some sections, causing the cherries to crack. These the canneries cannot use.

Other products of the soil quite interesting to an Easterner are the large acreage of peppermint and hops. I see that the present list price for hops is 67 cents per pound.

Clear weather and smooth waters have led many fishermen to abandon salmon trolling in favor of tuna operations.

One will find in this land at the tourists gift shops many kinds of curios made from the famous redwood trees of California, and from the myrtle trees, indigenous to Oregon. The myrtle is a genus of shrubs. The myrtle wood is much harder than that of the redwood, and is subject to beautiful polish. Ancient Europeans considered the myrtle sacred to Venus.

Logging is a vast industry in the North West. Huge logging trucks do a lot of damage to the state highway. The largest per cent of the logs here are spruce and fir. In this section of vast forests one would be inclined to think there would be scarcely a housing problem. As a matter of fact, like the automobiles, the lumber is shipped out of the country. Money talks! A young marine remarked at a few weeks ago, there is no difficulty of getting a car in South America. One has to pay, however, about twice as much as the same car would cost in the United States.

Every high school student should be familiar with the story of the Lewis and Clark Expedition of the Northwest Territory. Well, today, archeologists report they have found sufficient evidence to convince them that they have discovered the exact place of the Lewis and Clark expedition stockade or old Fort Clatsop. Among their claims are three stone-lined fire pits several feet east of the present fort site marker.

More observations next week.

LIONS MEET

S. J. Jenness Spoke to the Club

A well presented and consequently absorbing story of the building needs for Carroll County schools was the feature of the regular Lions Club meeting on Tuesday last at Taney Inn where Lion Don W. Webb introduced the evening speaker, Samuel M. Jenness, County Superintendent of Schools.

After Lions Robert E. Thomas had made the rounds extorting pot fees for this and that trumped-up or legitimate charge on behalf of the absent Lion Tamer, everybody was finally able to relax and enjoy the good dinner, punctuated with bursts of song in the "Eliza" category. Lion Henry Reindollar officiated as pouter of the ivories.

After the introduction of his son as guest by Lion John Hoagland, Chairman Mervyn C. Fuser (in general charge of program) called upon Lion Webb to present Mr. Jenness. Reciting the acute problems raised by legislative action in Maryland in recent years, such as raising the age up to which a child must stay in school (now sixteen years) and adding a twelfth grade for incoming students beyond a certain annual class the superintendent had only to remind those present that some new plant would inevitably be required to meet these minimum educational standards. This did not take into account the phenomenal increase in the number entering pupils due to the lush county pastures and resulting immigration from other sections, the rising birth rate following the war years, topped by the complete cessation of construction in that period.

Now that Maryland is out of the Mississippi class by adding the 12th educational year, and with the attraction that teaching might easily have for a greater number of instructors in view of considerably better salaries, it is indeed a pity that this potential should founder in the sands of high construction costs and a policy of pay-as-you-go, using only what funds might be available in any one year. School rooms have quadrupled in cost, but that does not lessen their need, and it would appear that if the fire-hazardous portables and all such make-shift arrangements are to be done away, some better means must be found to make the best use of the teaching staff. It's a little bit like trading in the old car for a new one when the rattletrap demands too expensive repairs.

It would seem that voters would afford relief of these overcrowded school conditions on examining the infinitely greater sums squandered for liquor and other more or less unrewarding forms of pleasure.

In short, what more valuable return could be expected that a sound investment over a longer-term period than one year, namely a bond issue? It would provide funds now, when they are required, the needed construction and reduction of the indebtedness could be efficiently budgeted, and the reward would be reaped in young citizens more adequately prepared for their contribution to society and the shouldering of the community burdens. Looked upon from a purely business viewpoint, it would appear to have sound recommendation. It was Mr. Jenness's theme that serious consideration be given to authorization of this borrowing program at the polls in November.

After some remarks on the Lions International convention in New York unofficially attended by several members, President Merle Ohler closed the meeting in the accepted manner.

GIRL SCOUTS SERVES DINNER TO KIWANIS CLUB

The Kiwanis Club of Taneytown held their outing at Big Pipe Creek on Wednesday, July 21, 1948, and the Girl Scout Troop No. 1, Mrs. C. L. Pennington, Leader and the Troop consisting of Georgia and Doris Ingram, Barbara Simpson, Nancy Hiner, Yvonne Foreman, Nancy Reid, Gloria Koeny and Mrs. Geo. Ingram, Asst. Leader prepared and served a delightful dinner.

The menu consisted of Chicken noodle, soup, chicken salad, au gratin potatoes, lettuce tomato salad, cole slaw home-made hot rolls, ice tea, coffee, home-made cake, ice cream.

The dinner was enjoyed by all and the Girl Scout Troop enjoyed being hostess to the Kiwanis Club.

Nancy Pennington being absent at the time is spending a month at the Girl Scout Camp, Penn Grove, Gardner, Pa.

TRIP INTO PENNSYLVANIA

John Roop who delivers steel barn equipment to Big Valley, near Belleville, Pa., was impressed by the large roadside signs of Scripture verses as "Righteous exalteth a nation but sin is a reproach to any people" at the entrance to this famous Valley, no beer or liquor stores, but a nice Bible House and other business places serving the Amish.

The farms are intensively cultivated with modern machinery. The finest oats and alfalfa were being harvested, milk, meat, grain and vegetables are the main crops.

No weeds and well kept grounds makes possible a happy bare foot life for men and women as well as children. The lack of automobiles and peculiar dress of the Amish add to the picturesque scenery.

Big Valley is exactly 100 miles from Linwood, but to see other famous places, Mr. and Mrs. Roop took a longer way home.

INTERESTING MEETING OF HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Taneytown and Middleburg District Met Wednesday Evening

Taneytown and Middleburg districts sponsored the meeting of the Carroll Co. Historical Society which was held in the Municipal Building in Taneytown, Wednesday evening, July 28th.

The speaker of the evening was Col. John Holt of Frederick. His subject—"The Private Life of Chief Justice Roger Brooke Taney."

Wallace Reindollar, Chairman of Taneytown district, presided. The first number on the program was a piano solo by Miss Marian Martin. Mr. Reindollar then introduced Senator Earl Shipley, president of the Carroll County Society, who in turn presented Col. Holt. Col. Holt gave a most interesting paper. Mr. Parsons Newman, president of the Frederick County Historical Society brought greetings from the society.

Miss Lois Ann Hitchcock, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Koons gave two delightful solos. Then followed a panel discussion on the earliest history of Taneytown led by Miss Dorothy Kephart, who in conjunction with Mrs. John Smith prepared the script. Those taking part in the script were Miss Beulah Englar, Miss Anna Galt, Miss Elizabeth Annan, Miss Catherine Hess and Miss Margaret Shreeve. Mrs. John Smith told from what sources the information had been gathered, thereby proving its authenticity. She also brought to our attention the uncare for condition of some of the graves of these early settlers. Mrs. Ethel Close Buckley, Baltimore, spoke of the need of funds to care for these graves in the old Tom's Creek Cemetery. The meeting closed with a few remarks by the former president, Dr. Arthur Tracey, of Hampstead.

Miss Lillian Shipley, of Westminster, showed some plates decorated with a re-production of the Shellman Home, home of the Carroll County Historical Society, also similarly decorated paper to be sold, proceeds to be used for needed repairs on the house. These can be had from Miss Amelia Annan.

Out-of-town guests were from Middleburg, Hampstead, Uniontown, Westminster, Frederick and Baltimore.

Members of the reception committee, Mrs. Elwood Baumgardner, Mrs. James Baumgardner, Mrs. Margaret Nulton and Miss Margaret Shreeve, circulating among the guests, created an atmosphere of goodwill while the refreshment committee, Mrs. Mary Wilt, Mrs. Norville Shoemaker and Mrs. Clyde Hesson dispensed ice-cold punch and cookies. Those on the program were Mr. Wallace Reindollar, Mrs. John Smith, Miss Beulah Englar, Miss Amelia Annan and Miss Anna Galt. Middleburg district contributed generously to the beautiful floral decorations.

4-H CLUB NEWS

County Agent, Mr. J. R. Sebaliner. We also had two guest demonstrations. One being "Raising Sheep for the Greatest Yield" by two boys from the Hampstead Club and the other on "Worming Lambs" given by Calvin Amoss, of Taneytown Club, and Carroll Jacob Leister, of Hampstead Club. The boys are planning on having a 4-H Club tour of each member's project on Aug. 15, 1948. A picnic will follow the tour. The meeting was adjourned with hopes of winning many prizes at our Carroll County 4-H Fair held Wednesday, July 28, 1948.

AROUND THE TOWN

With all my heart, I wish you every morning A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer

Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Whatever you do by no means miss "Easter Parade" when it comes to the Earl with Judy Garland and Fred Astaire for you will want to see it over again. There is more dancing in this picture than any other and it will make you feel "Super Duper". The cuta song "Down Fifth Ave" danced and sung by that team was something so different and Judy was adorable dressed as a Tramp. Not one second did she miss of any step in the dancing throughout the entire picture with her famous dancing partner, Ann Miller displayed her lovely tall figure and her dancing perfection. She is a wow as a dancer. The Fifth Ave. in the picture of the big city on Easter was carried out to a T and carried Your Observer right back again.

Sure did guess right as to the nomination of our President Truman and still betcha that he is remaining right there in the White House.

Each time as I go to the City of Monuments the distance to Taneytown seems to be getting shorter and shorter and I think you know what I mean. Visited a little house there recently where there were many in the row just as all city blocks. The street was beautifully planted with trees and the back yards were just a breath of the country. I felt "hemmed in" and was quite impatient to drive to the wide open spaces.

Wish the Chamber of Commerce would start a "Taneytown Day" and do it up brown. How charming it would be and then think what it would mean for the business point of view. I feel confident the stores would be delighted.

Those sleeping pills that are taking a life now and then, orta be a law that this awful drug should be handled only by competent physicians and sparingly at that.

Recently had a delicious birthday cake made by our Taneytown Bakery. It was nearest to wedding cake that I ever saw and many who tasted it immediately desired to know who made it. Some Frenchy style, too, if you ask Your Observer. Never have I seen more beautiful decorating on any cake. The large roses appeared almost real along with the pastel shade of various colors of sweet peas.

Remember what Your Observer said about little men-folks. Well, that applies, too, for little stores. Somehow I always imagine that I am in Holland when I enter that store.

The game little old lady who had the broken hip is actually eighty-nine years of age instead of eighty-one which I thought she was and wrote about in a previous column. The specialist stated she would be walking by September. Wonderful? While there is life there is still hope.

We surely are having a variety of United States postage stamps lately and the latest, "Four Immortal Chaplains". Remember those wonderful men who went down hand in hand, of four different faiths? Hope those stamps continue on somehow. How wonderful "My Country 'Tis of Thee".

Met a man the other day who is still driving his Graham Paige of year 35 and his car appears as a new one and to top that off he has one tire which has been on the car since he purchased it and it has gone 40,000 miles. It was an Atlas tire.

Well, folks, the other day I took time out to visit "Mr. Blandings' Dream House" near Guilford in Baltimore (which is named for the movie). It was strictly a Real Estate affair although a splendid way to collect the small fee of admission for our Disabled War Veterans, 30 cents for adults and half for children. It was all done beautifully by Stewart's Department store as to the interior decorating. In that house, carpet was the entire floor covering of a light gray. Not one window shade or venetian blind was used. All draperies on small rods next to the tiny window panes which could be drawn together at night as it was in Colonial days. The kitchen was surely a dream and there was a plastic folding arrangement that could be drawn to the side which made the breakfast room an entire affair by itself. The papering was charming throughout the entire house and was really one of it's highlights. Although, the day that Your Observer went was the Opening Day, I was told that a crowd was expected as there would be busses from Baltimore for the purpose of transportation. The nice part was, too, that I met Mr. Fixit of the Balto-News Post whom I had not seen for some time and enjoyed a very interesting chat.

Will be seeing you next week. Have a nice week-end and always remember "All one's life is Music, if one touched the notes rightly and in tune!" So long until then

YOUNG MEN AND THE DRAFT

Beginning August 30 and running until September 18, the men born between August 30, 1922 and January 1, 1923, must register for military service. The next group will be young men born during 1923 and they shall register by August 31 or September 1.

Men born in 1924 are required to register on September 2 and 3.

Men born during 1925 shall register September 4 or September 7.

Men born in 1926 shall register September 8 and 9.

Men born in 1927 shall register September 10 and 11.

After the above dates registration is called for men born in 1928, 1929 and 1930.

Eighteen-year-olds who volunteer for 21 months service will not be on immediate call for the draft if they agree to sign up later on in the active reserve. The law limits such enlistments to 161,000.

The new law automatically defers most war veterans—those who have had combat service—ministers, theological students, conscientious objectors.—National Industries News Service.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS AS A LOCAL RESPONSIBILITY

One might almost be expected to believe that education of the youth of the country is a National political issue in 1948.

Government statistics show that in 1870 illiteracy in the United States was 20 percent. The average per cent of illiteracy among native whites in the United States is less than two per cent.

To say that the support of local schools is not the responsibility of the communities in which children live is dodging the issue. It is just as much the duty of parents in small districts to send their children to school as it is to put clothes on their backs and food in their stomachs.

The trouble that exists in nearly every part of the United States is the growing demand that the National Government must furnish the means and money to carry on all kinds of civic responsibilities, including paying the teachers and all the school expenses.

The Federal Government cannot—and will not—do a better job for public schools than local communities.

The Government has not been stingy in its aid of public educational institutions, even though Federal aid and assistance is demanded in nearly every section of the country.

Supposing there are 90,000 one-room schools in this country—what's the answer?

That answer was found a great many years ago when school buses appeared upon the highways and carried pupils to and from consolidated schools, that are now in operation in the United States. The American public is carrying on an adequate school system, and there is no reason why they should shirk their duties by failing to keep their schools in operation.

The States give a good deal of help to support and maintain public schools—and that's the way it should be. A very moderate local tax system has always kept our schools up-to-date.

The National Education Association meeting at Cleveland, rounded up three thousand teachers and school and college officials and made a demand upon the President of the United States to summon a special session of Congress to pass legislation voting three hundred million dollars in Federal aid to education. That was carrying things too far. The Nation believes in the public school system and local communities must continue to manage their own business. Local government belongs to local communities that can do a good deal better job than "brass hats" down in Washington.—J. E. Jones.

Save Crops by Controlling Japanese Beetles SPRAY or DUST by AIRPLANE

For increased yields, have your fields treated by spraying and dusting. It is the speediest method and is more economical than ground applications. Crops are sprayed or dusted at the most advantageous time. Spraying can be done at time when ground is too wet or crops too tall for ground spraying. No wheel damage to crops. Covers areas which are inaccessible to ground sprayers. In addition to reasonable cost, grower has no equipment investment. Treatment is scientific—the correct mixture of DDT as recommended by the leading Experimental Stations for Japanese Beetle control. The best equipment and most experienced handlers are used to assure more even effective application than any other method. We furnish everything—DDT, ground service equipment, and everything connected with spraying or dusting application. Reasonable rates at guaranteed results.

Excessive Use of Lime Exhausts Soil Fertility Specialist Warns Other Plant Foods Required

Liming can exhaust rather than rebuild soil fertility, unless lime is accompanied by the return of other needed plant food elements to the soil, declares Dr. William A. Albrecht, University of Missouri.

"Up to the present time in our land use," says Dr. Albrecht, "we have been putting limestone on our soils under the mistaken belief that its benefits rested only in reducing soil acidity. We have gone ahead with our campaign with the idea that lime is all that is needed, and that if a little is good, more will be better."

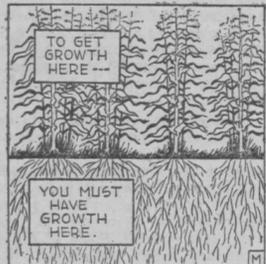

"This generous use of lime has helped produce more proteins in legume forage and other crops. But the added crop production has used up other plant food elements. Among these potash has been the most prominent."

"We have credited the lime and the neutralization of the soil with working wonders, but we have not realized that liming by itself was helping exhaust our soil fertility more rapidly," he points out.

"It is essential," concludes Dr. Albrecht, "to remember that we need potash to make the carbohydrates in the growing plant before we can convert them into protein."

Sturdy Roots Required For Top Crop Output

No crop can do a better crop producing job than the roots that nourish it. To get strong, healthy, bushel-boosting growth above the ground, you have to have a sturdy root development below the surface. Roots need plenty of "living room" to stretch out for moisture, air and plant nutrients. They need that room not only in the plow layer, but also in the subsoil below.

It takes plenty of organic matter to keep a clay or loam soil roomy, well drained and ventilated. Part of that organic matter is burned up every year in producing crops. If it is not replaced, then your soil packs down. It becomes "stuffy" and hard to cultivate. It loses its sponginess, or porosity. Roots cannot grow readily, top growth suffers and lower crop yields result.

Several steps are necessary to get good catches of legumes. Liming, based on soil tests, is important. So is the application of fertilizer carrying phosphate and potash.

To round out a balanced soil management program and add to the organic matter supply, animal manure and crop residues should be returned to the soil.

Steel Farm Trailer

This two-wheeled farm trailer has an all-steel frame on which any type of body can be placed. Welded fabrication on the trailer frame eliminates bolts which work loose and cause rattles or break-downs. The tongue in this trailer is attached in a way that avoids trouble in service. It was designed at Colorado A & M college.

Johnson Grass Control Termed Community Job

Johnson grass control is a community job because it requires the attention of everyone in the neighborhood, according to Purdue university. Watch for new bunches of Johnson grass that start in clean fields. Kill them by pulling or hoeing before deep roots are formed. The grass spreads both by seeds and root parts and is scattered by water, in hay, by cultivator or wind.

LETTERS OF INTEREST RE: GIFTS TO EUROPE

Dear Mr. Stoniesfer:

I thought the enclosed letters might be of interest for your paper; that is why I'm sending them to you. Except for one or two places, the letters are written just as I received them; even if there are mistakes, which you can readily understand.

A few weeks before Easter the Junior Sunday School Class of the Emmitsburg Lutheran Church, under the leadership of Catherine Keilholtz sent a parcel to a minister's wife in Finland. Recently a man from Finland, visited in America, sent the following letters.

Sincerely, CATHERINE KEILHOLTZ.

Dear Friends:

The heartiest thanks for your letter and for your parcel. I do not quite understand how you have got my address and how you are sending gifts to us who are unknown to you. God bless you, dear friends, and repay your kindness. The parcel was broken in the way, and was wrapped in a new paper, but I am sure, that nothing was missing.

I am sure you do not know to whom you send your parcel and who were glad to receive it. He, who was the dearest to us here on the earth, is taken away from us. Two little boys with me feel the losses of him and are longing for father. Hannu Mauri is six years old and Tapani Mikael is three years old. My husband died 11, 11, 1945. In the beginning I felt that the life had come to a standstill, but God has marvelously helped us. Our home was in Carelia (Marjala) and we have to leave it as it was when we escaped the war. After many difficulties we started a new home here in Kymi, where we are now living. We were very happy once more; but my husband died. He was three months very ill and you may believe that those months were very difficult. Before he left, I was glad to leave him in the better care of nursing (I do not quite understand what that means—a medical treatment or in God's hand). He was happy and glad and assured: "God will take care of you, if you are faithful to Him." He got a home which the enemy will not take it from him any more. He was too good to be in this bad world. He was a pastor (minister may be what you say, because you a Lutheran) and was working in many different parish, mostly among the evacuated people. (May be you know that 1/10 of our population was evacuated during these two wars we had). He was seven years in this occupation.

I do not have any permanent position. I have been as teacher here in our school this year and now we have our summer vacation. My sister, whose husband is studying at the University in Helsinki is living with me. She has four children. He was taking care of my children, when I was in the school. I am also a teacher in the Sunday School and I have 40-50 children which are 3-15 years of age. May I send the greetings from them to you Sunday Schools pupils. During my vacation I have been helping my relatives on the farms and my neighbors. I like it very much and I am able to keep the children with me there too. I do not know where I am able to get a position for the next winter. It is very difficult to take care of the children at the same time when one is working and they are too small to be left alone.

There are always difficulties but I am sure God helps us. God bless you.

Gratefully, HELAG RAUTAVA, Kymi, Lasjakoeiki.

THE COMMITTEE.

A Tribute of love to the Memory of my dear sister, MRS. CHARLES WELK, who departed this life three years ago, July 30, 1945.

There is no final parting For all are in his care, And those who seem to leave us Are waiting for us there, Where we shall meet our loved ones And understand at last, That dawn is always awaiting After the night is past.

God understands our sorrows He sees the falling tears, And whispers I am with thee Then fater not our fears, He understands our longing Our deepest grief he shares, We are not burdened He understands and cares.

Sadly missed by your only sister, MRS. CHARLES MARKER.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of our dear son and brother, C FRANKLIN HARTSOCK, Who was drowned nine years ago August 1st., 1939.

Sad, dear son, was the call Of one so dearly loved by all A bitter grief, a shock severe It was to part with one so dear. We often sit and think of you, And speak of how you died, To think you could not say good-by And wish you closed your eyes, In our hearts your memory lingers Sweetly tender, fond and true There is not a day, dear son and brother That we do not think of you.

Loving Mother and Father BROTHER and SISTER.

Soil Tests Pay Dividends Illinois Agronomists Say

Illinois farmers could have been five million dollars richer in 1947 if they had tested their soil instead of guessing how much fertilizer to spread on their croplands.

Two University of Illinois agronomists report that four million dollars were saved by the state's farmers who tested their soil last year before applying fertilizer. But farmers who guessed at the amount of fertilizer needed for their soils spent five million dollars for limestone and other fertilizing materials that their soils didn't need.

Soil tests can tell what and where fertilizing materials are needed on the farm, how much is needed and how much increase in crop yields will be obtained from a good fertility program, according to Roger H. Bray and A. U. Thor, college of agriculture soil testing specialists.

Fertilizing materials are short and foodstuffs are scarce all over the world, and only by testing the soil can limited amounts of fertilizing materials be used with maximum efficiency for vital food production, the agronomists stressed. Soil testing not only saves the farmer $50 for every dollar spent on testing, but increases food production by using every ton of fertilizing material where it will do the most good.

Early American Culture Revealed in Urn Burials

New archeological finds, throwing fresh light on the culture of aboriginal America, have been announced.

The discoveries were made by the National Geographic society-Smithsonian institution archeological expedition, operating in the republic of Panama near Parita, about 160 miles southwest of the Canal zone.

The explorations have uncovered two notable "firsts". Its scientists have found the first urn burials ever to be unearthed between Ecuador and the southeastern United States. They also have discovered the first group of man-made mounds to be located in Panama.

Most of the objects found to date are believed to belong to the two centuries preceding the Spanish conquest of this area. Deep tombs of the immediate pre-conquest period have yielded a large amount of pottery. The decorative colors are red, black, white and purple. Some of the designs are purely geometric, while others represent mythical animal forms.

The exposition also found a number of exquisitely carved batons made from the ribs of the manatee, the sea cow of tropical Americas.

Former Bomb Base In Pacific Goes Back to Nature

TINIAN, MARIANAS ISLANDS.—The airfield that hurled the atom bomb against Japan lies deserted. Wild cattle roam across the great landing strips.

Nobody cares. There is nobody to care.

This base, with probably the world's greatest array of runways, has been abandoned.

Runway "Abel" is the one that the atom bombers used. But there are six others, all paved with white coral that makes them glare under the Pacific sun. Laid out parallel, they form great grids across the green island.

Each runway is 8,500 feet long and 500 feet wide—the envy of every American airport, but just an annoyance to cattle searching for pasture.

Near the sea is the building where the atom bombs were assembled. Typhoons have torn open its sides. Artillery ammunition is stored inside. The ammunition cases are rotting.

Filled With Water
A little farther on are two pits where atomic bombs once rested. Now they are partly filled with water. A frog, disturbed by the first visitor in weeks, leaped into the water, and stuck his head out protestingly.

An occasional plane lands at the strip at the other end of the grid. There is no airport radio, so the plane before landing buzzes the field to alert a crash crew.

Stretching away from the air strips are paved roads marked "Broadway" and "Eighth Ave." Each is nine miles long. Each is polka-dotted with thousands of African snails, descendants of the snails which the Japanese brought here to eat.

They menace the only commercial undertaking on the island—a farm intended to furnish fresh vegetables to American service personnel on Guam and Saipan. A half-dozen navy men tend the rusting Tinian port, and about 200 army men have been destroying the staggering piles of aerial bombs which were abandoned when the war ended. Now that work has stopped to save the bombs for China.

Cost 290 Lives

Some 16,000 oriental civilians survived on Tinian when the U. S. Marines captured the island in a nine-day campaign in July, 1944, at the cost of 290 American lives. When the war closed, the United States sent the Tinian residents back to their original homes—Japan, Okinawa, Iwo Jima and Korea. Now a civilian population would be welcomed.

The island of 36 square miles is loaded with hangars, barracks and other ground installations that would serve as housing if maintained.

Right now, the buildings are slowly caving in. But the landing strips, which together used to put B-29's in the air at the rate of one every 10 seconds, are in perfect condition and could be cleared quickly of the cows, frogs and snails if the need arose.

Woman Fights With Burglar; Uses Telephone as Weapon

LOS ANGELES.—The burglar who entered Mrs. Henry H. Francis' apartment had a telephone thrown at him. Mrs. Francis is a telephone operator.

"I think I broke his nose," she told attendants at a receiving hospital where she was treated for rib injuries. "I woke up to find this fellow rummaging in a drawer. I started chasing him. I caught him in the front room. The only thing handy was the telephone. I let him have it."

"The burglar grabbed a heavy book of poetry. The poetry itself, by the way, is pretty light stuff. Anyway, we fought in the dark and I guess he knocked me out, because when my husband came home from work at 6 a. m. he found me unconscious."

Mrs. Francis admitted she was screaming during the fight "but when I hit that guy with the phone he was screaming, too."

Mirrors Help Stutterers Correct Speech Defects

MINNEAPOLIS.—It isn't unusual to see students making strange faces in a huge mirror at the University of Minnesota.

It is one of the newer methods the school is trying out to cure stuttering.

Each year, the university treats about 60 stutterers and about 300 others who have speech defects. The reason for the mirror is that it reflects habits students have developed in their fight not to stutter, such as deep breathing, hard swallowing and whistling through their teeth.

In all, nearly 1,000 students and several non-students are treated with clinic facilities each year. Many of them are hard of hearing and, because of injuries or other reasons, never have heard correct pronunciation of words.

Play Safe and Call Veterinarian When Your Pet Is Sick

Prompt Advice by "Dog's Best Friend" Can Save Much Misery

The dog is "man's best friend" but the dog's best friend is his veterinarian and the best advice that can be given to the owner of a sick or injured dog is to "run, don't walk" to the veterinarian, states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

According to the Center, thousands of dogs live out their lives in misery or die needlessly because their misguided though well-meaning owners either ignore symptoms of disease in their pets or else through the use of home remedies and treatments, put off obtaining the advice of a veterinarian until it is too late.

One of the commonest mistakes dog owners make is to attempt to worm a puppy at home. Some of the very sickest dogs veterinarians see are puppies which the owner has attempted to worm himself with drug-store remedies. Worm medicines are of necessity composed of toxic and potent drugs and are definitely unsafe in the hands of the average dog owner. Aside from the danger involved in home worm treatments, many dog owners do not realize that there is more than one type of worm with which a dog may be infested and that different remedies are required to be effective against the several types of worms.

Canine ear, eye and tooth troubles should receive prompt professional attention, too. Running or sore eyes, if unattended, can lead to ulceration and eventual blindness. Ear troubles which are usually indicated by the dog's continually shaking his head, scratching at the ear or showing unwillingness to have his head touched, can bring on deafness if not treated correctly. One of the most foolish things for a dog owner to do is to go probing in his pet's ears with an instrument, as the dog's eardrum is easily perforated. Dental troubles in dogs are fairly frequent. A decayed or ulcerated tooth can give a dog a good deal of pain and can cause toxemia and other illnesses. Having a veterinarian periodically remove the tartar from a dog's teeth and examine them with a view to the removal of any abscessed molars is good dog health insurance.

SHORT STORY

The Jester's Last Chance

By JOHN T. KIERAN

ONE more chance to play his old role! One more chance to put on the only thing left of the days when he was hailed as the World's Greatest Clown, as Arsel, the Children's Delight.

In a flash Arsel thought of what was in his trunk, for from his shabby tenement room he could hear the little fellow downstairs bewailing his fate. The circus parade! And it was passing a block down, just far enough away that he could not see it, but near enough that he could hear the thrilling rattle of wagon wheels and the delighted shouts of the other children. But to share in the feast of joy was denied the little fellow. A few days before an errant truck had crushed his leg, and there he lay, imprisoned in a heavy cast.

To Arsel the rumble of wheels brought back memories. Again the smell of sawdust was in his nostrils. The stirring music of the circus rang in his ears. He saw the big tent, the prancing horses, the thousands of people laughing at his antics, shouting his name—Arsel, the world's greatest fun maker, beloved by millions—now Arsel the forgotten, the unknown, in poverty and ill health. He sat up now in his bed uncertainly, wobbly.

But only for a moment did he hear the shouts and applause of other days, for they were crowded out by the crying of the boy downstairs. He was inconsolable. The circus was passing him by.

Arsel was trying to carry his thought into action. One more chance to be his old self! One more chance to wear the one thing that remained of his days of glory—his clown suit. And for what cause!

The chabby room became a dressing tent. Out there was the audience he was going to amuse, to make happy—even more this time—to cheer a little boy into a frame of mind that would beckon recovery and lessen the misery of imprisoned limbs.

But could he manage to go through with it? Could he find the strength? The community nurse, having found him when she came to visit the injured boy, had told him that he must not leave his bed.

But another outburst of childish grief decided him. Hesitatingly, totteringly he left the bed and started for the battered trunk in which lay the old clown suit.

WHEN the circus had come into the town a half dozen of the old-timers were still with it. They had been troopers long ago with Arsel before he faded into oblivion. They had last heard of him in this town. He probably was still here. They determined to find out, and to give him a rousing salutation, a regular circusman's greeting.

Arsel had the old suit on now. He wondered again what made him feel so strange. But then as he looked at himself in the dingy mirror he forgot everything. He was Arsel, the Children's Delight.

As he looked at himself in the mirror he forgot everything.

Suddenly he almost collapsed. The flare of strength that had buoyed him up puffed out.

Suddenly a sound re-aroused his flayed mind. Incredulously he listened. Was it just a part of this strangeness that had come over him? Or was it really a circus band? Just outside! They were playing his march. The Circusmen's March!

He relaxed, happily. The boy was getting his circus after all. Shouts of joy were coming from him. For the little fellow was looking out the window, almost crying again he was so excited and thrilled.

"I wanna dance," he exclaimed, locking down at his cast. He saw one of the bandmen come into the house. In a minute or two he came out again and the band stopped playing. He said something to the others and then they started playing again.

The boy looked puzzled. He listened attentively for a moment. Then:

"That first piece was so pretty it made you wanna dance or somethin'. But this one is so different. Gee! It sounds like somebody was dead!"

DOGS, TOO, HAVE CALORY PROBLEMS

Dogs, no less than their owners, have to watch their calories, writes Dr. M. L. Morris in The Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association. To fill their energy requirements, they need an average daily intake of between 30 to 60 calories for each pound of body weight, depending on the composition and quality of the food and the breed. Growing dogs and dogs of active, nervous type require the highest volume of calories. To figure a dog's requirements, it should be borne in mind that the average dry dog food sold contains about 1,100 calories per pound, while one pound of canned dog food usually furnishes slightly less than 500 calories.—Gaines Dog Research Progress.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
By LOUIE D. NEWTON, D. D.

SCRIPTURE: Jeremiah 32:6-15; 36:27; 43:5-6.
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 52.

Baruch, The Scribe

Lesson for August 1, 1948

BARUCH, whose name means "blessed," was the grandson of Maaseiah, "governor of the city" under Josiah (II Chronicles 34:8), and his father, Neriah, appears to have been an official during the reign of Jehoiakim. He was a trusted friend of Jeremiah (Jeremiah 32:6-15 and 43:5-6). Tradition holds that Baruch was carried to Babylon, where he wrote the apocryphal "Book of Baruch," and died in 574, B. C., twelve years after the fall of Jerusalem.

Our golden text for this lesson is found in Psalms 119:105, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and light unto my path."

OUR BIBLE

WHEN Jeremiah called Baruch, the son of Neriah, and Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the Lord, which he had spoken unto him, upon a roll of a book. And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut up; I cannot go into the house of the Lord. Therefore go thou, and read in the roll, which thou hast written from my mouth, the words of the Lord in the ears of the people in the Lord's house upon the fasting day; and also thou shalt read them in the ears of all Judah that come out of the cities," Jeremiah 36:4-8.

How did we get our Bible? Through this simple process of God speaking through his appointed prophet, and by the faithful work of men like Baruch who served as scribes.

THIS SCRIBE OF LONG AGO

IN THE introductory paragraph I sketched briefly the story of Baruch. He was a trained man, trusted and beloved. This he had to be, else God would not have approved Jeremiah's selection of Baruch to copy what he was saying for God. And not only was he selected to write down what God was saying, through his prophet, but he was used to proclaim the words of God to the people in the Lord's house. Baruch was amanuensis, reader and distributor of the Bible—a distinguished role, indeed. Let us today be gladly ready to read the Bible to others, and to distribute and circulate the Scriptures wherever we may. Here I pause to pay tribute to the American Bible Society and all others, including the Gideons, who help to make the Bible known to all men everywhere.

A MAN ON WHOM GOD COUNTED

THUS we see that Baruch was a man on whom God counted. His work was done well, and we read that, "When they heard all the words, they were afraid both one and other, and said unto Baruch, We will surely tell the king all of these words."

Young people will do well to ponder this incident. In the varied contacts of young Christians in this modern day, we may be used of the Holy Spirit in making known the words of God in countless ways. Thus, like Baruch, you may be used of God to make known his will unto all mankind.

BARUCH, A COURAGEOUS SCRIBE

THE full context reveals the fact that Baruch exhibited courage as well as faithfulness in his service as scribe to Jeremiah. It was not an easy task. Nor will it be easy to fill our posts as couriers of the Good News. But it was a rewarding experience for Baruch. He served his day and generation according to the will of God.

Mr. Henry Ford, Sr., believed in having a copy of the Bible near at hand wherever he might sit down in his home. I heard him say once that he had a Bible on every table in his home. "I do this in order that I may reach over and spend a few minutes with the Lord wherever I may sit down. And I always cherish the hope that others will find it a lamp unto their feet and a light along their daily pathway."

Let us give thanks for Baruch—the trusted friend who served Jeremiah, and thus served God.

Conduct

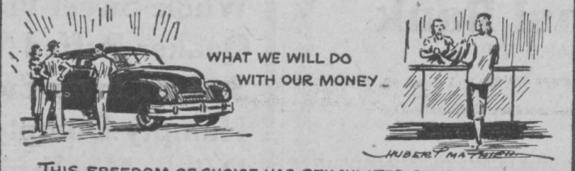

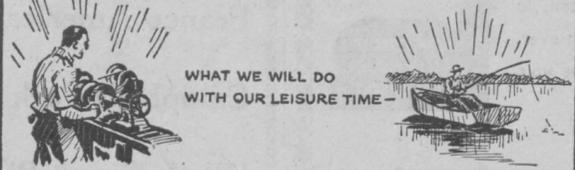

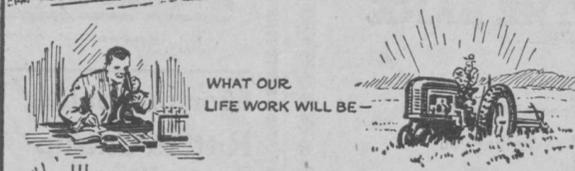

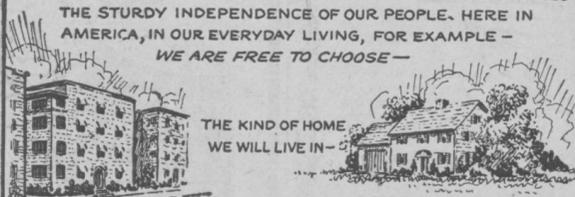

Fundamentally, the force that rules the world is conduct, whether it be moral or immoral. If it is moral, at least there may be hope for the world. If immoral, there is not only no hope, but no prospect of anything but destruction of all that has been accomplished during the last 5,000 years.
