Women of Trinity Lutheran Present Program

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Although Christmas is more than wo weeks away, the joyous season was abundantly expressed in symbol, song and festivity at the annual Yuletide observance of the Women's Mis. sionary Society of Trinity Lutheran Church held on Wednesday evening. The attendance was as usual very fine, including the members and guests numbering 147.

Customarily, the program opened with the regular appointed Christ-mas Lesson "God's Gift of Gladness" led by Mrs. Dunbar and Mrs. Alex-ander, with Mrs. Doty Robb as pianist. The service was composed of worship, of song and Scripture, carrying the group from Advent through Epiphany. It was possible for everyone present to participate in this most impressive service.

Portions of Scripture were read by Mrs. Margaret Nulton, Mrs. C. B. Naill, Mrs. Harry Crouse, Mrs. Elmer Shorb and Mrs. Franklin Fair.

Vocal solos were sung by Lorraine Sauble, John Skiles, and Estelle Hess. Miss Mary Reindollar and Mrs. A.

D. Alexander gave readings. Following the lesson, the president, Mrs. Elwood E. Baumgardner conducted a brief business session.

The second portion of the program was given over to the social commit-The setting was most pleastee. ing. The seating was most pleas-were designed and arranged by the table committee. The color scheme was carried out in the Christmas colors—red and green. The tables were cleverly placed in triangular form, at the center point of which stood a gleaming Christmas tree. Extending out from the tree on either side were the tables seating more than 100. Under the tree were piled high the "Capsile sisters" gifts, gayly wrap-ped and ready to be identified. On each table was a center-piece of pine and red berries. Running down thru the center of the tables were red and green streamers, joining clusters of Christmas bells and lighted candles. Dainty favors of tiny cups filled with candy were used. From the ceil-ing lamps were hung gay streamers repeating the color scheme. A small Christmas tree in each deep window added beauty to the scene. The whole effect was most pleasing and received many compliments.

Refreshments of chicken salad sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, ice cream, cake and coffee were served, followed by the distribution of gifts. Capsule Sisters were revealed and new ones drawn for the succeeding year

Hostesses in charge were as fol-lows: Chairman, Mrs. Luther Luckenbaugh, Miss Grace Hahn, Mrs. Maude Norton, Mrs. Paul Shorb, Miss Marian Hahn, Miss Clara Devilbiss and Mrs. F. T. KIWANIANS AND LIONS IN JOINT MEETING

Service Clubs Met Wednesday Evening at Bankert's Inn

One of the finest examples of cooperation and brotherhood was display-ed Wednesday evening when the Kiwanis and Lions Clubs met together. It was unfortunate that Taney Inn had a party to entertain the same evening, necessitating the dinner meeting being held in the fine dining room of Bakert's Inn, near Gettysburg.Sixty-seven members of the two clubs were present.

Kiwanian Geo. L. Harner, president of the Taneytown Club presided at the meeting. M. S. Ohler is the at the meeting. M. S. Ohler is the leader of the Taneytown Lions Club. Kiwanian David Smith and Lion Theodore Jester lead the assembled group in singing. Don Rose, of Gettysburg, furnished

tire meal. Paul Cessna, Past District Govern-or of the Lions Club and Secretary of the Gettysburg College Alumni Association was the guest speaker and with the assistance of Lion M. S. Ohler showed pictures of the West-ern Maryland-Gettysburg College football game.

SCOUT ACTIVITIES Recent Paper Collection a Success

A highlight of the month just ended for Maryland Scouts was provided by the Second Annual Green Bar Conference of senior patrol leaders, netrol leaders, assistants and acribes Wells-McComas District. Three Scouts from Troop 348, Taneytown Scouts from Troop 348, Taneytown (Patrol Leader Stanley Frock, assist. ant, Robert Harner, and William Staybaugh, and their 'Scoutmaster, Wilbur O. Thomas) and two Scouts from Troop No. 393, Westminster, (Charles Greenholtz and Christopher

An item which appealed greatly to Taneytown's delegation was the session on hiking and camping presented in the afternoon by Bert Bauer, Scoutmaster of Baltimore Troop 149, aided by his senior patrol leader and assistants. Methods of making, filling, and transporting packs and shelters were demonstrated on the spot, as well as such small but essential tricks as the proper sharpening of the young woodsmen's axes. There were two motion pictures also, showing to the boy leaders present just how to run their patrol gangs. what crafts and outdoor activities to choose, and something of the enthusiasm which can be aroused in such a group when its undertakings are directed towards such purposeful ends as learning to care for oneself on a camping trip and making the equipment for even winter camping. Those present made the trip with a lot of personal satisfaction from the fun and instruction that they got.

The Taneytown Troop had a successful paper colletion Nov. 20th, as-sisted by the Reliable Junk Company Frederick, and by the townspeople, who were generous in their dona tion of magazines, paper, rags and iron. Something more than $25 was realized for the Troop's treasury.

The most recent program event was a camping trip over three days of the Thanksgiving vacation, at-tended by twelve members of the Troop; Scouts Stanley Frock, Andrew Alexander, Robert Harner, Joseph Wilson, Philip Lawyer, Rob-ert Sentz, Miles Stonesifer, William Boyd, and Donald Lawyer; as well as two boys, Kenneth Frock and Wallace Hemingway, who are candidates for membersship, fulfilling one re-quirement thereof, which is to go on one hike or camping excursion.

The purpose of the trip was to cut wood for the Scout hall stove, and the privilege of doing so was ac-corded by Andrew Alexander's father on whose woodland the Scouts camp-

BOARD OF EDUCATION DECEMBER MEETING A smile that shall last until the next

Plans Considered for School Buildings in the County

The Board of Education met for its December meeting on Dec. 7th, in the offices of the Board of Education, City Hall with all members present. The Board considered the minutes of the previous meeting and approved the bills for the current month. Assistance in library purchases was voted to several schools, including Winfield, Taneytown and Harney. The superintendent report-ed to the Board on the attendance in the county schools during the month of November. The best attendance in the high schools of the county was in the Mt. Airy, Taneytown and New Windsor high schools which achieved an average of 95%. Best attendance in the elementary schools was in the Taneytown school with an average of 96%, and in the smaller elementary schools, New Windsor with 96%. The county attendance average compared favorably with the normal for the month of November. The Board gave consideration to the selection of architects for work on the proposed buildings and building improvements throughout the county. Contracts with several architectural firms were approved for some of the locations. The Board accepted the resigna-tions of Mrs. Katherine S. Widener, and Mrs. Helen Cooke Billingslea and approved the appointment of Mrs. Middleton Phelps as a teacher in the Sykesville Elementary School.

Considerable time was devoted at the Board meeting to the examination of proposed plans and sketches for the improved buildings and additions throughout the county. The superintendent was directed to prepare the school budget and submit it to the Board at a special meeting late in the month in December.

The Board adjourned at 12 o'clock and visited briefly the Mechanics-ville Elementary School and attended a dinner at the Westminster High School where dinner was served by the senior home economics classes. Attending this dinner meeting were members of the Board of Education, County Commissioners, with their at-torney Mr. Earl Shipley and the sup-ervisory staff of the office of the Board of Education. Mr. Paul E. Huffington, State Supervisor of Col-ored Schools was a guest at this meeting. Those attending the din-ner included: Emory Berwager, Pres-ident of the Board of County Com-missioners and Walter Bonnett and missioners and Walter Bennett and Norman Hess, members; Earl Shipley representing Theodore Brown, attor-ney to the Board of County Commis-sioners, Miss Gladys Earhart and Miss Nancy Getty members of the clerical staff; Charles O. Fisher, representing Eugene Walsh as the

PERMANENT PEACE

Those two nice, charming assist-ants in the offices of our Doctors are as calm as the Doctors themselves. So glad we have a "Chamber of Commerce?" around the town that actually does things instead of just talking and discussing as in some cities! Your Observer sure will attend the adult party.

Thanksgiving week-end went to the big city just to walk through the throng and to have the daughter's picture taken. We stood outside of Hoschild Kohn & Co. to gaze upon that wonderful huge laughing Santa Claus that keeps slapping his gloved hand down on his knee. (They say he wore out two pairs of gloves last year doing that stunt.) It was most there and study the expressions of both old and young watching that wonderful Santa. The oldsters were really as interested as the youngsters and in many eases stord there have and in many cases stood there long. er. As we were about to enter the revolving door of this famous store, saw two little fellows in a squatty position appearing very worried and position appearing very worried and disturbed. I leaned over and said, "What's wrong, boys?" The one lit-tle fellow answered, "Oh, we lost his brother in this store and he is not from Baltimore and we are so worried!" "Well, you tell 'me his name and I will go in and find him." name and I will go in and find him." It was not long before the three little fellows were united as with the help of that nice elderly floor walker, we soon found the brother also terribly worried!

After the photograph was taken and a visit to Santa Claus on the 6th floor, we walked down a block to get a bite to eat in a cafeteria. As we were about to sit down ,I noticed a man on crutches minus one leg. He had his tray in one hand trying to navigate to a table with his crtuches and coffee on the tray. I jumped up quickly and took the tray from his hand and spread his table before him. He was an elderly man with a very fine strong character in his face and a lot of gray hair. He seemed very depressed and somehow I wondered about the Christmas that he would have. As I handed him a napkin, he, was most humble and thanked me saying, "No one ever did that for me before! Thank you very much!" I smiled and then walked back to my table as I felt his eyes follow me and as I sat there wondered why it was no one had done that before!

There are many boys running up and down the escalators and they seemed such poor little fellows ter-ribly thin and shabbily dressed. One little fellow half way up the escalator called back to the others. "Oh, come on up here, they have trains and they will let us plays with them" Then there were those "Heavenly expressions on the faces of the chil-dren as they stood before that wonderful Santa telling him just what they desired for Christmas. One little girl who amazed Your Observer when she said, "No, I don't like to do dishes so I don't always dry them and I am not good all the time but I'll try to be!" So sincere and serious was that answer that I know the Mother standing there felt like giving her the room!

It seems at Christmas time there is always such a 'gayness' in the stores every one shoulder to shoulder being jostled by the huge throng and no one caring-the heavier the crowd, the more laughter is heard and the broader the smiles. I won-dered right there; why can't it all remain throughout the year—this feeling of happiness?

A lady who lives in Florida and reads "Around The Town" weekly wrote and stated she is not exchanging presents this year as she is go-ing to give the money to her church! Another lady from Baltimore stated since her marriage a few years ago that she is not allowed to send even a Christmas card and previously she used to have a house-a little church -a tree and everything that went with the day and she feels so sad about it all! So there you have it, Folks. You never know! A. Christmas which I never will forget was one as a child in Philadelphia. It was in the home of my friend. Ethel and the family name was Godshalk. The Mother? She was a dear soul—the kind you read about in books. They waited my coming before the Christmas presmv ents were distributed. It was large family and the Mother was just about the most plain person whom I have lever known. Her disposition was mild at all times. Her hair was slickened back tightly and then rolled into a heavy knot at the back of her head with many hairpins which were not invisible ones.

Mother was to have her presents. first and they an streamed and thap-ped their hands, "Now, Mama hide your eyes!" Mama smiled sweetly and placed her arms up to her face. There was a rushing, scrabbling and unwrapping of papers and then the presents were put on the dining room table which was pushed over in one corner just for the holidays.

CHRISTMAS TIME APPROACHING

We are entered upon the month of December-the supposed month that gave Christ to us as the infant born in a manger in Bethlehem. I am not a Theologian, and lay no claim to biblical learning tho I believe profoundly that it contains the revealed will of God.

I am not however convinced that Jesus was born on December 25th. I have read somewhere that the church fathers about 300 years after the birth of Christ assembled and solemnly decreased the date Dec. 25th to be the time, because some heathens' religions of the time had there religious festivals.

The reason I do not believe the birth of Christ occurred Dec. 25 is that that date is the time of cold and snow even in the holy land, and it is not likely that shepherds would be lying around on the ground at that season in such weather.

But after all the date of His birth is not of consequence. The fact that He came to earth to live, suffer and die for sinful humanity is the all important thing.

Railroad Safety

During the year 1047 there were fewer fatalities on United States railreads then in any other year on record. The previous low in that respeet was in 1929 when traffic, measured in ton-miles and passengermiles, was only one-half as great as in 1947. Nonfatal injuries, on the other hand, were considerably greater than the 1939 total, though not so numerous as in the war years, when freight and passenger traffic was at peak levels. Comparing 1917 with 1946, total fatalities to all classes of persons numbered 4,186, a reduction of 173 or 4.0 per cent under 1943 Nonfatal injurics numbered 43.780 in 1947, a reduction of 3,227 or 63.2 pe. cent under 1946.

Railroad Seran

Railroads turned back to the iron and steel industry more than a ton of scrap metal for every two tons of iron and steel they bought during the past four years. This amount of scrap, an essential material in steel production, is enough to produce all the steel furnished to the railroads.

New Zealand's Volcanoes

New Zealand's two largest volcanoes are Ngauruhoe, a 7,515 foot peak. and Tongariro, larger than Nguaruhoe, and one of the biggest volcances in the world. The two mountains are situated in New Zealand's volcano belt on North island, where one of the world's most spectacular eruptions occurred in 1886. Tarawera exploded with such force it caused a lake to sink and radically changed the geography of the entire area. Ngauruboe erupted April 30, 1943, for the first time in 20 years.

Forests Renewable

A forest is not like a mine or an oil well. It does not consist of just so must material, which when taken away is gone forever. It is a replaceable resource. Forests are living, reproducing things. A forest that is not used is only a kind of storehouse. But with proper use, it becomes a sort of factory, constantly growing new sup-plies of wood.

Cleopatra's Needle (the obelisk) in Central park, New York City, was a gift to this country from the Khedive of Egypt. William H. Vanderbilt footed the bill for getting it to New York, and the hieroglyphs were supposedly inscribed by the Egyptian who snatched Moses from the bullrushes.

Collector of Pennies

Penny Edwards starts each day's work by begging a penny. She thinks it brings her luck, and keeps a spe-cial book in which the pennies are pasted over the names of their donors. Christened Millicent, she got the name Penny from the last portion of her given monicker.

Poker From Persia

It is believed that poker is an adaption of a Persian game and was brought to the United States by way of New Orleans. Full-deck poker with 52 cards was not played until about 1830, while "draw" poker did not come into existence until the Civil war.

ing through the stores buying shoddy merchandise that the person receiv-ing it didn't want. I told her of the happiest Christmases I ever knew the ones in a hospital, where the nurses got up at 5 A. M. to sing carols to the patients, of the feeling of good-will and the peace and contentment of knowing that one was needed. I told her of going to church at midnight and walking home through the chilly night when the

the outdoors and smelling the fra-grant pine of the Christmas tree and staying up until the break of day reading Dicken's "Christmas Carols."

Millions of Americans are rededicating themselves to the support of our Government by word and action. Near-ly 10 million of them are doing their share through the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds on the easy, automatic payroll savings plan. They realize that payroli savings plan. They realize that a dollar saved is a dollar fighting against inflation. And some day, these dollars saved, will be returned to them with interest, $4 for every $3 invested. These bonds are truly security bonds as they help to stop spiraling prices. You too can become an investor through the steady accumulation of Savings Bonds. If self-employed, an automatic bond buying plan is available to you through the Bond-a-Month plan at your bank.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Hor to to another's happiness at this season. The joy that Christmas normally brings is 8 martin not complete unless we have that inner satisfacand the tion that comes with knowing we have made a contribution to the welfare of others, that we have overlocked no little thing that might make this Christmas a better Christmas.

REAL CHRISTMAS

Each person may know of some special thing he can do to make Christmas happier for another. For one person, it may be buying a doll for a neglected child. For another, it may be sending a basket of fruit to an invalid. But, regardless of what we may do for individuals, there is one thing all of us can do for everyone in the community, including ourselves.

We can all buy and use Christmas Seals.

Christmas Seals have become an American tradition. They have become a tradition because they are a symbol of an important piece of work that has been carried on in this country for fortyodd vears

The Maryland Tuberculosis Association began its work against tuberculosis in 1904 and has continued without interruption ever since that year. In each County there is a Local Tuberculosis Association, which, in close cooperation with the health department, is waging an effective battle to eradicate tuberculosis in our community.

The association depends entirely upon the annual sale of Christmas Seals to finance its projects. Those of us who buy and use Christmas Seals will have the satisfaction of knowing, when Christmas Day dawns, that we have made a contribution to the welfare of the community in which we live.

Letters in the Bible Lesson for December 12, 1948

LETTER in the mail! Those are exciting words. It was so when the Babylonians chipped open their dried clay envelopes, it is so when we rip the end off our paper envelopes, it was so when the marooned and homesick Timothy broke the seal on the papyrus notes that his old friend and teacher Paul sent him. Most letters reach the . Dr. Foreman wastebasket, and we know that some of Paul's did. But fortunately his friends thought enough of about a dozen of his letters to save them and copy them and file them with some others and pass them around. And so we got more than a third of our New Testament, and perhaps a good deal more than a third of our theology.

Vesterday in Television

THESE letters that have come down to us from so long ago are not only keenly interesting, they are immensely valuable. An honest informal letter is like an open window. We see into the writer's mind and life, we see the life of his times. Any historian feels lucky when he lights on a packet of old letters. Here is yesterday in television.

The letters of the New Testament, especially Paul's, are not propaganda literature. Paul was not writing for publication or for posterity. He would be bothered by a problem; he would think and pray about it, and then he would sit down and write about it.

However trivial the problem might seem, such as a local church quarrel, Paul never wrote trivially about it. He would pour out his mind on papyrus, usually dictating his letters to a secretary and some-times so fast that the secretary obviously had a hard time keeping up.

If you want to know how an Apostle's mind worked, here it is. If you want to know how an inspired religious genius, one of the great of all time, planned and grieved and hoped and rejoiced, read these letters. Further, these letters televise for us the early Christian church. This is not a view of the church on parade, this is a glimpse of the church as it was "on the hoof," struggling, quarreling, ignorant, scarce one step removed What's Under the Hood?

Machine loving, curious Americans, we are. If we buy a new car, most of us want to know first what it's got that makes it go. Many a lad, since grown up but still curious, remember's papa's razor-strop or mama's rage because he tore up the Big Ben alarm clock. He just want-ed to see what made it tick! The genius of young America today, for understanding things and machines and gadgets, shows a quality of mind and spirit that is distinctly American. May we never lose it.

To want to know what's under the hood is a mighty fine thing. But about America itself: the story of our enormous growth, the foundations for our freedoms and prosperity-these things we have not looked into. We know that America is the best land in which to live, but we don't always have the answers why. That's not fair to America, nor fair to the future we all have a right to expect. We ought to know the How's and Why's of the American Miracle.

Seeing Is Believing

Ever since I came back in 1936 from a ten-year stay in China and a look-see at dozens of other nations both ways around the world, I have been plugging for real understanding of America. When we steamed into New York harbor that time, my wee daughter thought Heaven would be wonderful if it were half that nice. She didn't mind saying so. She was born in China. But I found a nation full of confused people, and I felt that many of my fellow Americans were faint-hearted.

I do not regret having since dea voted so much time and energy to the job of reselling everybody I meet on the idea of America. It's not that Americans are against the American way of doing things. We've been so free, and so busy, that we just haven't paid much at-tention to the reasons for our wellbeing. Then, when some Johnny Commie happens along to tell us: 'Down with capital and hate your boss!"-we fail to have answers ready for him. Such a misunderstanding of America can be serious.

Know Your Land

I am happy to see that the Advertising Council, Inc., a non-profit organization made up of men in the advertising profession, will dramatize the story of America in magazines, newspapers, and on bill-boards. Many companies and publications will sponsor the advertise-ments prepared by the Council. The American Federation of Labor, the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and other groups are helping. If you see any of the ads in November and later months, please read them.

A Greater America

You will also want to read "The Miracle of America," a booklet which will be offered free in the advertisements. Two full years of work were put into preparations for from raw heathenism, and yet with this educational campaign by the the root of Christian faith in its most talented story tellers in the heart, the seed of the great church | land: America's advertisers. They that has grown up through the cen- are doing a fine job telling the story of our nation and the benefits of the American system. Let us echo the story and pass the word around! You bet, America's going ahead, if we all pull together. If we count our blessings, and at the same time view our glorious future, it'll not be possible for a single American to fall for anybody's false ideas. There's no country with a past like America's nor any with as great a future. If we inform ourselves, and determine that our way is the best, we can settle down and get going toward the goal of an even greater America! What's under the hood will take us places!

We try to keep 5 years ahead of the babies?

They're being born in record numbers these days. 4 million babies last year-12 million since the war!

They make one very important reason for the giant expansion program of the business - managed electric companies. Another reason is that everybody's appetite for electric service is getting steadily bigger day after day, year after year-in towns and on farms, in homes and in industry.

Ordinarily, the power companies work about 5 years ahead for growing electricity needs. (It takes a long time to plan, build and equip power plants.) Today, in addition, we're working hard to catch up the war years! It's the biggest peacetime construction program in America's history. Already, in two years, it has added with much needed construction we could not do during as much new electric power as 147 cities, of 100,000 people each, normally use! This nationwide project is made possible by the savings of millions of Americans who are investing in the business-managed electric light and power companies.

How is this money being spent? It pays for new power plants and additions to others, thousands of miles of wire, equipment in vast quantities, and thousands of new jobs.

There'll be a Christmas rush on Long Distance, too

Seems as if everybody wants to use the Long Distance telephone lines at Christmas. This year's rush will be bigger than ever. We'll be working hard to get calls through, with every switchboard and circuit in service. Still there are bound to be delays.

If you're planning to call faraway friends and relatives, why not do it before Christmas Eve or after Christmas Day? You'll get faster service.

Friend to Friend

THE letters in the New Testament are of various kinds. The letter to the Philippians from Paul was written, from prison, to some of his best friends. Recently they had sent him not only money but a man named Epaphroditus to stay with Paul and help him, Paul being in constant bad health. But Epaphroditus himself had fallen ill, and when he grew better he was still homesick

Paul, generous as always, decided to send his sick friend home to convalesce, and by his hand sent the letter which the Philippian church loved, saved and copied, so that it eventually made its way into the New Testament collection.

There is some high theology in the letter; but there is also some warm human friendship, and some of the best advice Paul ever gave. It is in this letter we discover Paul's secret of happiness. I have learned (he wrote) in whatsoever state I am, therein to be content. (See chapter 4.)

When you read those paragraphs, simply glowing with happiness, remember they were written by a sick man, in jail, facing a serious charge on his forthcoming trial. Paul had actually discovered a joy which is trouble-proof.

Father to Sons

PAUL knew he would not live forever on this planet and could not live everywhere. So he spent much effort training helpers and successors. Some of these disappointed him sorely; but he was never disappointed in Timothy.

His letters to Timothy are personal, but they are more than that. They are advice from an older minister to a younger one, from a veteran missionary to a fresh recruit. In I John we have another kind of letter, from an old, perhaps re-tired minister to a congregation he knows and loves. Again in I John the reader gets the impression of reading a family letter from father to sons and daughters.

ORDINARY PRODUCTION

19 lbs. of feed for body and 4 lbs. for eggs per day will support an "ordinary" production of 40 eggs per 100 hens. These 40 eggs will just about pay feed, labor and other costs.

EXTRA PRODUCTION

3 additional lbs. of Layena Check. ers per day are enough to make 20 additional eggs. In other words, for a cost of about 150 many growers make about 80c worth of eggs - or 65c extra per 100 hens a day.
