Plans Made for Improvements of Schools in Carroll County

The February meeting of the Board of Education was held on February 8, at 10 A. M. with all members present. The secretary read the minutes of the meeting of December 30, and these minutes were approved and bills approved as listed. A considerable part of the meeting on this date was devoted to the consideration of archidevoted to the consideration of architect's sketches and plans for improvements for school building facilities in the county. The Board gave consideration to the plans of Mr. B. E. Starr for improvements at Manchester High School and at the Westminster High School as well as at Charles Carrell and at Uniontown Some time Carroll and at Uniontown. Some time was given to a conference with Mr. E. D. Finney of Baltimore, who has prepared the architectural drawings and sketches for the improvements at Sykesville, and at the Westminster Elementary School. Mr. Finney is also studying the problem of increasing facilities at the Sandymount school. Mr. Finney appeared at the Board meeting and discussed with the Board meeting and discussed with the Board many questions relative to the planning of these improvements. The architectural firm of Johannes and Murray, Silver Spring was also represented at the Board meeting for the discussion to plants related to the improvements at Mt. Airy and at Winfield. Further consideration was given to the planning of improve-ments at Taneytown and Union Bridge and the superintendent was authorized to proceed with the negotiations at these locations. Some consideration was given to matters relating to the acquisition or improvement of land at various school locations throughout the county. The secretary reported that the general building program had received the approval of the State Superintendent and that further negotiations were being carried on with the State architect for his approval of plans for various school century.

for various school centers.

The resignations of Mr. Paul E. Weaver of the Westminster High School and Miss Marion Eriscon of the Taneytown High School were accepted and the appointments of Miss Mary Ruth Childs at the Westminster High School and Miss Katherine Hurst at the Taneytown High school were approved.

Consideration was given to the budget which had been returned from the County Commissioners for the school year 1949-50. The superintendent was directed to acknowledge the budget and to confer with the County Commissioners as necessary to implement the issuance of bonds for the construction of buildings as fast as plans can be approved.

Mr. Jenness, the superintenedtn,relength on the results the professional conference held in January at which time all school teachers of the county were in session for a day and were addressed by various speakers and experts in various phases of education. The super-intendent also discussed briefly proposed school legislation now being given consideration at the General Assembly of Maryland and the implications of this legislation for Carroll County.

Several committees were appointed by the president to work with the superintendent on problems relating the improvement of school facilities at various locations. Library aid was voted to certain schools which had requested it. The superintendent reported on the supervisory activities being carried on in the schools and gave a brief resumed of the progress during the school year 1948-49 to date. Approval was give to the progress as outlined for the remainder of the school year. The Board gave consideration to the purchase of hardware and lighting fixtures for the Robert Moton Colored School now under construction.

The secretary was authorized to state that as a result of the deliberations of the Board at this meeting it can be stated that the building plans for various locations through-out the county will be carried on as rapidly as possible. Every effort is being made to expedite the planning and the issuance of contracts for the improvements as rapidly as this is possible. Several minor items of administration were given considera-tion and decisions were reached by the Board relating to these matters. The Board was given information re-lating to the dedication exercises to superintendent was directed to continue to study the problems of staf-fing the schools for the school year 1949-50. OUR LETTER FROM SENATOR HOFF

Bills Before the Legislature Affecting Motorists

February 7, 1949 To the Editor:

Dear Sir: MOTOR VEHICLE INSPECTIONS PROPOSED

Upon the request of W. Lee Elgin, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Senate Bill 20 was introduced to provide for periodic inspection of all motor vehicles, trailers and semi-trailers registered in Maryland. A similar measure was introduced in the 1947 session of legislature but failed to pass.

This Bill provides that the Department of Motor Vehicles shall establish in each county one or more in-spection stations. These stations to be operated only by examiners and inspectors of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

All vehicles would have to be inspected twice each year at intervals of approximately six months.

The inspections would cover me-chanism, brakes and equipment. The annual fee for the inspections would be $1.00.

A vehicle found safe upon inspection would be given a dated winshield sticker that would authorize the use of the vehicle for six months. Any vehicle found unsafe would have its registration suspended unless the required repairs were made within the time prescribed by the inspector or

Maryland formerly had an inspection law, similar to the one now in affect in Pennsylvania, that provided for inspections by privately operated garages and repair stations. This law was generally recognized as a failure and was repealed after two the accident rate in the state.

Opponents declare that the mechanical failure of vehicles is responsible for only a very small percentage of our accidents and that this mechanical failure occurs almost exclusively in old or worn out vehicles. Therefore a compulsory inspection of all vehicles is unnecessary and inspections of cars that were old or excessively used would be of no benefit in the reduction of the accident

These opponents claim that the inspections should be limited, if put to realize death would take his partinto effect at all, to the old and ov- ner in life from him momentarily. As erused vehicle only.

Unless there is a strong shift in sentiment it is doubtful if this bill can be passed.

Out of approximately one thousand represent-atives throughout the nation membership in this club is limited to just twenty-five representatives having the highest sales volume for the year. Mr. Zentz reports that even though there is a decline in the sale of real estate as far as local buyers are concerned, there are still many inquiries being received by his office every day from buyers throughout the world for most all types of property, especially equipped dairy farms, businesses of all kinds and small retirement properties of a few acres.

This is a direct result of world-wide advertising by the Strout organization through the medium of their large catalogs and leading newspapers. AROUND THE TOWN

TO MY VALENTINE! Here's a Valentine of love for you and you and you

For all the kind and thoughtful

I wish that somehow I could find,
A fitting way to show you,
How much I realize the debt

Of gratitude I owe you!

And if my heart's true love will help In one way or another,
To prove how dear you Folks are to

I'm yours-forever and ever?

Of all the Valentines of the various varieties that have been sent to me in the course of my life time, none have affected me as much as two Maple leaves of wood made by a little fourteen year old boy whom I have never seen. They were sent to me the other day and are made of thick Plywood with little brass rings on the back see at least seen they the back so as they can be suspended from the wall. On the front, little half circular shelves were placed just large enough to hold a small ornament. Then, that little fellow asked me if I would accept them! Accept them? Why, son I will love them just because you made them especially for me and they will be hanging on a wall where I can see them any hour of the day wondering all the while just what you look like and hoping that some day, I might clasp your hand! Thank you from the bottom of my heart!

Valentine Day is a good day on which many can show their expressions of love and admiration which otherwise we may hesitate in doing. Years ago, this day was just one for Years ago, this day was just one for lovers or those seeking the one they loved but now it is so different and you surely recall what I had stated in a previous column that "Babies cry for it, Women sigh for it and Men die for it." That word of love that makes the world re round!

So, go to it, Folks send that word of love around. Write to that one you love who has meant much to you be-fore "Time Hastens On" for then it will be too late!

Proponents of Senate Bill 20 claims that an inspection law of the sort proposed would cause a decrease of the accident rate in the state.

Will be too late!

Many people say the nice things after their loved one is gone. So strew those flowers, Folks and the thoughts and deeds while they are here with you!

I was with a dear friend, a few years ago who was dying. In the room stood the much grieved hus-band and his wife's Mother. The husband was head executive of a very large funeral establishment in the state of New Jersey. He had always been a very cold and distant man in his actions although he handed over his entire pay envelope weekly to his wife. He felt, no doubt that was all that was necessary. He now began ner in life from him momentarily. As he knelt beside the death bed, he raised the limp figure in his arms, kissing and kissing his dying wife-saying all the while how much he loved her and what she had meant to him all throughout the years of their wedded life. Suddenly, the sad eyes opened once more and before the last breath was taken, we heard her say which was just about audible, "Oh, George, it is too late! All my life, I have wanted to hear you say just such words to me and nev er have you mentioned that you loved me. My heart was starved for the want of your love! Goodbye, George!"
The eyes closed forever! George wept bitterly as he gently laid the lifeless body on the pillow and then rose and faced me saying, "Oh, she is gone!" Knowing the case as I did I could not find words to say to George to comfort him at such a critical time but placed my hand on his arm. As George walked out of the room, I heard him mutter, "Oh, God—what a fool I have been!"

The little Baptist Minister for whom had driven after arrived a little too late. He turned to me and said, "What great love George had for his wife!" I turned to the deer litte Mother who was still clutching the hand of her daughter as I could not give any answer to the Minister feel. ing that Hattie perhaps would have desired it just that way. Silence!

A lovely letter arrived from a lady who lives in Westminster and whose father built "Loves' Retreat". Such an interesting story! Now, I am anticipating a visit from her to "The Old Homestead" but in the meantime, I sent her a photograph of the place. She had lived here when a tiny child.

Another letter arrived from a lady "Around The Town" who was really my very first caller upon moving to Carroll County. I am sorry that I cannot place her long letter in my column as I desired. Although, I do not agree with her nevertheless I appreciate all the kind words and have respect for her own opinions as far as the movies are concerned. If a movie does not meet with your approval, you can easily walk out just as when reading a book and you do not like it, you do not have to finish the book. So it is with all things in life. Some are good and some are bad. books and movies have beautiful morals to them. Why can't people have a happy medium? They either go from one extreme to the other and there is always a story behind those kind of thoughts. One should never condemn anything in life for life not alone can't be beautiful but it is beautiful to Your Observer!

I have always spoken and written highly of all those around the town because I know that our little town can boast of very fine people and it all proved just that way recently when (Continued on Eighth Page)

In my last article I spoke at length of my old friend Doc Snyder, but I didn't name all his good qualities, which seemed boundless. His wise saying "Experience is a dear teacher, but a fool won't learn by any other," has kept me from making many mistakes, I otherwise would have made.

Doc was our blacksmith-another talent he possessed, and on all rainy days would work in the farm blacksmith shop, either welding and fitting iron rims for the wagon wheels, or else in shoeing the horses and mules. In winter, icy weather, he would make and fix sharpened shoes to the horses feet. In that season at that age snow fell in December and became hard packed on the roads and usually lay until late February or early march.

We didn't have great snow plows in those days to clear the roads. The people made their own roads thru drifts, often fence high.

I guess we are learning a few things as we grow older. I for one am not an old grouch who sighs for the good old days. I believe the present generation is doing a lot better than those of past generations.

Ascending the Smokies

More different kinds of trees are encountered in an ascent of the Great Smoky mountains than one finds in all of Europe. A total of 130 native tree species grow in the S addition to 1,400 species of flowering plants, botanists have discovered 49 ferns and fern allies, 325 mosses and liverworts, over 200 lichens and 1,200 fungi. Many trees familiar to Americans in many parts of the nation here assume enormous size, among them the tulip tree, black cherry, and Canadian hemlock.

Angina Pectoris

Angina pectoris literally means a strangling in the chest, and is often a symptom of coronary artery disease, although it may be due to other conditions. The intensity of the pain puts the angina trouble in a separate class. The attack is brief. It is brought on by exercise, excitement, exertion, or any temporary situation in which the flow of blood through the coronary arteries is insufficient.

Making Dustcloths

Excellent dusting cloths may be easily made by placing squares of cheesecloth or soft cloths into a glass jar containing a small quantity of furniture polish. Allow the cloths to become thoroughly saturated with the polish, then remove, allow the excess moisture to dry out, and excellent dusting cloths will have been created.

Let's Think

LINCOLN STILL LIVES

The thought should assist others to aspire to walk in paths that led to Lincoln's greatness. No man can think mean thoughts and hope to achieve worthy deeds.

The primrose path never brings one to offer his life in noble service. The road of all benefactors of mankind has been rough and difficult. One cannot rise to heights of true greatness by sitting is the large greatness by sitting in the lap of

On Feb. 12, the American people observe the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. Lincoln was not born great, he became great. He was endowed with human capacities which he used to their utmost to realize their fullest attainments. His innate qualities enabled him to push out beyond the boundaries of circumstances that circumscribed him at birth and during his young manhood. His was the conception of the nobility of a life given in ridding humanity of shackles which enslaves it. If he had not been Abraham Lincoln he might have continued a rail-splitter.

Lincoln had a yearning for knowledge. So he tried to learn by borrow. ing all available books, by listening to people, and by asking questions. There was nothing in his nature that savored of egotism. Humility, honesty, and humor characterized him. Youth might conform their lives to his pattern were they to read or hear some of the stories displaying these and similiar qualities of Lincoln.

Lincoln never tried to shirk the blame for a mistake. He loved everybody and hated nobody. "With malice toward none, with charity for all" was part of his philosophy for living. That finest, and most solacing letter in the English language, addressed to Mrs. Lydia A. Bixby, whom Lin-coln was led to believe had lost five sons in the War between the States, was penned in the blood of a tender, loving heart.

That face furrowed by cares was not careless. His sense of humor helped Lincoln to bear his burdens. His sense of humor enabled him to revitalize what sorrow had sapped from his sympathetic nature. Lincoln could be classed among those of whom he said: God must love the common people because he made so many of History is slow to evaluate true greatness. It takes decades. The truly great die before they know the place history accords them. Thus the glory is not his to enjoy but his descend-ants. He makes history. It belongs to his children and to his children's children to enjoy it and to glorify in What Dr. Charles R. Erdman, Proefessor of Practical Theology, Princeton Theological Seminary says in reference to Jesus, may also be said in reference to Abraham Lincoln: "Those most familiar with great men usually are least able to appreciate their greatness: 'Familiarity breeds contempt,' because men are apt to judge one another by false standards and by that which is accidental and external and because so frequently men do not know those whom they think they know the best.

Prejudice, jealousy, lack of vision short sightedness, frequently blind one to the nobility of a contemporary. Lincoln lives today, not merely in memory, but in ideas, not merely in principles, in influence, and in virtues advanced. All of which means that he gave himself not to selfish purposes and ends but in service to mankind. He had a mission in the world and he kept busy performing it. He rose from the direst adversity to the most exalted position in our land. He climbed from a cabin into the White House, he grew from rail-splitter to President of the United States. His words for justice and democracy will continue to ring down through the

Uncle Sam Says

Ten years can make a big difference. That youngster, now in pigtails, will be grown up and ready for college in 10 years. Or you may be ready to tackle that pet project of yours, a new home, retirement, or starting a small business. Yes, 10 years can make a difference in many things. Money, for instance. If you go about it right you can make to-day's money grow, right along with day's money grow, right along with those plans for the future.

those plans for the future.

Figure, today, how much you'll need in 10 years. Then put aside the amount in U. S. Savings Bonds each week, enough to equal the total you have in mind, always remembering that for every three dollars you invest today, you will receive four dollars in 10 years. If you are on a payroll, join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. If you are self-employed, enroll for the Bondar-Month Plan at your own bank.

is improving. February is the birthday of one of the greatest Americans that ever lived—Abraham Lincoln. Time passes but never dims the truly greatness of the man, known as Abe. Recently I read another story about Abe. was called "Destiny in a Log Cabin" It told of the night Abe was born. A blizzard was raging on the outside, while inside a log cabin his mother, alone, without food or fuel awaited the birth of her baby. Abraham Lincoln's father was shiftless and restless and often left his family alone for weeks. If it had not been for a Mrs. Gollaher a neighbor, who braved the blizzard to bring food and fuel to Mrs. Lincoln, Abe would no doubt have died a few hours after being born. But fate stepped in for Abe was not to die-he was a child of dewas not to die—he was a child of destiny as the rest of his life bears out. Stiny as the rest of his life bears out. In the Parish House, Friday evening Feb. 18, at 8 o'clock.

"Do one good deed each day, and in the Parish House, Friday evening Feb. 18, at 8 o'clock." character. She taught him to read good deeds.' and instilled in his brain the desire for knowledge. Though she died when Abe was only nine years old, her influence had already carved out his character. A year after Mrs. Lincoln's death Abe's father married again-a Mrs. Sarah Johnston who exerted a very good influence over the stepson. As Carl Sandburg points out in his famous biography of Lincoln, Abe was fortunate in having two mothers who inspired the best in himself. There is no doubt about but that Abraham Lincoln was a

According to a newspaper clipping Theron, Hanover. received this morning from Anchorage, Alaska, they are giving moose meat away to any needy family. It seems the moose are coming to the lowlands in search of food due to the unusually heavy snowfall and are eating the farmer's hay. Nothing will drive them off so some are being killed and the meat distributed to the Salvation Army; the Anchorage Mis-sion home and the hospital. The railroads are even having trouble as the moose get on the cleared tracks and refuse to get off even when a train approaches. During the past few weeks there have been some interesting letters in the Pilot (Union Bridge weekly paper) concerning communism and Democracy, written by persons most of us know and like. All of them expressed their opinions well, but since this is a topic that will be talked about more and more, I cannot agree with Mrs. Bixler when she says "the public, must be tiring of our controversy." I think most of the readers of the letters will agree with me when I say the subject is very interesting and it would be much more so if others would express their opinions too. I admire the Russian people for their virtues but I hate communism for its cruelty and double dealing and its method of using innocent or naive groups of people to spread its poison. There has been one fault with democracy—it has refused to face reality. Americans dream of a world where every man is free, where hate and cruelty are not known but that kind of a world is not here now.

Americans must be alert and know Mr. ar how to use the kind of persuasion Larry. that is strength. Both in character and in arms. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is a very patient woman, and an understanding one too. No one person has leaned over backwards to try and understand the communists more then she. But not longer than a month ago she said that to give into the communists demands one iota a month ago she said that to give into the communists demands one iota a longer than the communists demands one into the communists demands one iota was making a grave mistake, for they interpreted it as a sign of weakness. As for dealing with communism on the principles and laws of christianity that is impossible as communism does not recognize any church, God or anything higher than the State.

The Boy Scouts of America celebrated their 39th anniversary on Tuesday. A very fine organization and one in which any boy should be proud to be a member.

ONE OF THE CAREFUL DRIVERS

I saw in The Carroll Record in The Around The Town column written by The Observer asking if my number was among the following for careful driving. Yes it is my No. 481-964. I feel highly hohored to be one of the many car drivers that travel every day to and from work at The Cambridge Rubber Company which I have been an employee nearly six years in Littlestown and now in Taneytown, passing twice a day even on Sunday while making raincoats for our men and boys in service for the good old U. S. A. I tell you drive slow and be careful. I say if it takes two hours to go 60 miles and be there than to run at 65 miles an hour and have to call an undertaker or spend weeks in a hospital.

We must understand that while driving a car that we must not drive fast. The little old Ford took you Fred Farver, have been recent visit-ors with their home folks, Mr. and fast driving. I have been driving a care and also provides a diversional educational program and helps to co-ordinate the services of other agen-driving. I have been driving a car since 1917, a little old Ford. I cies qualified to give counsel where have had some say when passing me that I better get an old mule. I always say oh well I get there and keep driving slow. Yours truly, HAHN-In Loving Memory of our dear wife and mother, MRS, DAVID H. HAHN, who passed away three years ago, January 7, 1946.

No one knows how much we miss you, No one knows the bitter pain. We have suffered since we lost you Life has never been the same.

In our hearts your memory lingers, Sweetly, tender, fond and true There is not a day, dear Mother, That we do not think of you.

Memories are treasures that none can steal, Death is a heartache nothing can heal; Some may forget you now that you are But we'll remember you dear mother No matter how long. By her HUSBAND and CHILDREN.

200- at a Telescope The 200-inch telescope atop Palomar mountain, in California, is so perfectly balanced that a push of a button sets it in motion. The telescope tube, complete with cage, is 55 feet long and weighs 140 tons. Unlike small telescopes that can be swung into position by a push or by simple mechanical means, the Palomar telescope is moved electrically. Diet of Hawks

Out of 100 hawks of all species only one individual normally acquire the habit of getting easy food around the poultry farm. When a hawk is seen near a poultry farm it does not necessarily follow that he is after chickens. Where there is grain there are ant to be rats and mice, and most hawks prefer them to feathered prey.

ELLIS G. OHLER. VALENTINE SOCIAL BY KEYS-VILLE MISSIONERS

The Women's Missionary Society of Keysville Evangelical Lutheran Church held its regular monthly meet ing Tuesday evening at 7:30 P. M.

with an attendance of twenty-three. Lutherans in America's Geographical Frontiers was discussed by leader, Mrs. Harry Clabaugh and a number of the group. Mrs. John Harner, Jr., acted as pianist. Mrs. Virgie Ohler read the Scripture lesson and prayer was offered by the leader. Our minds were broadened in regards to missionary work and to be done in Alaska, Puerto Rico, the Virgin slands, and Hawaii. A reading, "When Cindy Goes to Town" was ably given by Mrs. Gilbert Stine. The moral being not to be tempted to spend the money which was saved for missions, for something you see in the store windows when you go to town. How true to human nature to let our own wishes be granted first and others take second place. Oh! for a yellow muff! A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Carroll Wilhide. After the reports of leaders for the next meeting. John Young and Mrs. Floyd Wiley were announced. Following the missionary benediction we were enter-tained by Mrs. Gilbert Stine, Mrs. Arthur Clabaugh, Mrs. Carroll Dougherty and Mrs. Charles Trout, the social committee to a delightful

Valentine social. The tables were attractively arvators, transportation and other agen-ranged in the form of the letter T, with two red streamers, across the white table cloth, red candles, African violets and in the center of the T was a heart tree. Red and white crepe paper decorated the ceiling above the tables. The place mats were comic valentines. Delicious refreshments of a very colorful dessert, cake, nuts and coffee were served. Games were enjoyed by all. After singing "Blest Be the Tie" all departed for their homes, cherishing the thought, the more we get togeth. er the happier are we. Will be looking for you out next month. Don't fail us. All were sorry to learn of the illness of Mrs. Chas. H. Corbett, of Thurmont. She is hospitalized at University of Maryland, Baltimore. We wish her a speedy recovery.

SWEET TIME

On Valentine Day Party Foods Are

By ERTTA HALEY

VEN foods can take on that lacy, heart-shaped, romantic look if you're planning a Valentine's party. The food and color scheme for this special occasion is one of the prettiest of the year, and the food among the tastiest ever planned.

Your color scheme, naturally, is red and white; or, if you prefer, it may be pink and white, but the first is easier to carry out since so few foods are pink.

Set your table with a white cloth which may be cotton, damask, linen or even net bought by the yard. Paste on this red sticker hearts, large or small or assorted sizes. (These will come off easily and leave no worrisome stains.)

Red and white carnations make a pretty centerpiece if you decide on flowers. However, you may have one of those beautiful red, heartshaped boxes set on a large paper doily. Heart-shaped cookies, candy, little rolls of paper tied with ribbon and lace, and containing romantic sentiments may fill the box. Now, here's the menu for Valentine's Day supper:

Chilled Cranberry Juice Creamed Chicken in Pastry Shells Heart-Shaped Fruit Salad Lover's Knot Rolls Beverage Frozen Cherry Torte Candy Mints

How to Do: Serve the chilled juice as guests arrive. For the chicken, make two cups of medium white sauce and add to this one and one-half cups slivered, cocked or canned chicken. This amount will serve five people. Place hot chicken mixture into pastry shells (made in small pie tins or muffin cups) and top with pastry hearts. These are made by rolling the scraps of pie crust and cutting with cookie cutters and baking in a hot oven until light brown.

Lover's Knot rolls are simply yeast dough cut in three or fourinch strips and tied loosely. The salad is made of any red gelatin mixture to which canned fruits are added, and then chilled until firm in a heart mold.

The dessert for this menu is lacy and colorful as well as deliciously tempting, therefore much in keeping with this menu:

Frozen Cherry Torte (Serves 6-8)

No. 2 can sour pitted cherries 3 egg yolks 1/2 cup sugar 3 egg whites, beaten stiff

2 tablespoons lemon juice 2 tablespoons sugar 18 ladyfingers or angel cake strips 1 cup whipping cream

Strain juice from cherries. Combine juice, one-half cup sugar, slightly beaten egg yolks, in top of double boiler. Cook until slightly thickened. Remove from fire, add cherries and lemon juice. until thick but not firm, then fold in egg whites beaten stiff with the two tablespoons of sugar. Fold in whipped cream. Turn into a mold which has been lined with ladyfingers or cake strips. Cover top of mixture with cake strips, too.

Freeze until firm. Everybody a Stove Average person constantly gives off as much heat as a 100-watt electric bulb-enough heat to evaporate one-third of a pint of water in an

"I MAGINE a girl like Miss Justin getting into trouble!" exclaimed Mr. Kibb, the corporation's senior auditor. "You can't be sure about anyone!"

assistant, Mark His young Thorne, locked his hands thoughtfully behind his head. "How about . Minute Dyhart, the man-Fiction . ager?"

"Why, Dyhart's been with the company for years," scoffed Mr. Kibb, as he left, "besides, you've got to admit she endorsed each check."

"Mr. Thorne," said a voice behind him as Mark studied the personnel files.

"Why, Miss Justin!" he said, "I - wasn't expecting you. Were you to work tonight?"

"No, I came to see you. I over-heard you and Mr. Kibb talking about those checks and it had me worried. Is something wrong?"
"Plenty," said Thorne. It was hard to begin. He ran a nervous hand through his black hair. "Then you know about the checks-you cashed them?"

"Yes. I cashed the checks because Mr. Dyhart told me to. Wait -you don't believe I took all that money!"

He saw cold, tight lines etched about her lips. "No, Miss Justin, but Mr. Kibb can't see it any other way. Didn't you suspect any-

"Certainly. I guess I looked puzzled, because each time when I handed Mr. Dyhart the money, he mentioned a change in the accounting rules.'

Thorne jumped. "If Dybart said that, it's plain no one else was in on it. He disguised his signature, so that when it came to a showdown, he could blame everything on you. That's why he had you cash the checks!"

"How can you prove it?" asked Miss Justin weakly.

"Well, it's a long chance," said Thorne, slamming his fist. "If I lose and the corporation kicks me out-I've been wanting to hang out a shingle for a long time.'

MR. DYHART looked surprised as he ushered them into his living room. "Just leaving, Thorne, but business before pleasure. I suppose it's something to do with the

"That's correct," said Thorne. "Dyhart," he purposely skipped the "Mr." "you had Miss Justin cash several checks recently, amounting to nearly $10,000."

"Ridiculous," smiled Dyhart. "I know nothing of any checks."

"We've practically discovered the guilty person," went on Thorne dryly, as he opened his case and removed a cancelled check. Thorne took a sheet of paper, placed the check on it, and flashed it before Dyhart's eyes. "All you have to do, Dyhart," he said, "is copy the signature on this check!" The manager's lips curved bit-erly, but he took the pen. The only sound was the tick of a clock. The pen dropped from Dyhart's hand and plopped on the rug.

Thorne snatched the pen. "Never mind, Dyhart, that's enough. This afternoon we asked every employee to copy that signature. Not one hesitated. You did, and you're guilty. I reasoned, since the tellers passed those checks, the signature, though doctored a bit, was actually yours—disguised!"

A groan fled Dyhart's lips. "I wanted to get the money back in time," he gasped. "I didn't mean to involve Miss Justin, but she was my secretary. Don't swear out a warrant, Thorne. I'll pay it all

After they were in the street, Thorne took a deep breath. It made him tingle and look up at the stars pinned on a clear sky.

"Well, you're still a travelling auditor with a job so I guess you won't hang out your shingle," said Miss Justin softly. "If I could find a secretary, a good one. Miss Justin - would "Take dictation from you?" Miss Justin laughed when she said it. Thorne decided it was the pleasantest laugh he had ever heard.

U.N. Helps Palestine Refugees

In answer to the late U.N. Mediator Count Folke Bernadotte's appeal made shortly before his assassination, the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund came to the aid of such refugee camps as the one shown being set up above, located near Damascus, Syria. UNICEF has already dispatched two ship-loads of food from the U.S. to alleviate the suffering of these innocent victims of the strife that rages in the Holy Land. Here a group of Arab refugees are seen putting up temporary shelters within the camp's limits.

DEVOTIONAL READING: Luke 11:

Inevitable Critics

Lesson for February 13, 1949

ONCE UPON a time, so the old story goes, there was a chameleon, a lizard that can change its color to match whatever it stands on. They put him on a black cloth and he turned black; on a red tablecloth and he turned red; on a green billiard table and he turned green. Then some mean person set him down on a Christmas necktie-and the poor little thing exploded Dr. Foreman This is a parable of the person who tries to please every body. It can't be done-and it ought not to be tried. "Woe unto you," said Jesus, "when all men speak well of you.'

Jesus Christ himself did not please every one. Not even a perfect personality can be 100 per cent popular. Not that Jesus enjoyed rubbing people the wrong way. There was nothing perverse about him. He was deeply sincerely, friendly, and to lose any friendships must have been even more painful for him than for us who are so selfish. Nevertheless he did make enemies, he had his critics; and his followers may expect no better.

Misunderstanding Motives

ONE POINT on which Jesus met terrific opposition was his attitude toward the Sabbath. Repeatedly he or his disciples would do things on the Sabbath which (as Jews then understood the law) were quite wrong. There are Jewish communities in Palestine today where a man walking on the street on the Sabbath smoking a cigarette would be warned to put it out; for it is against the Mosiac law to light a fire on the sacred day, even a tiny fire at the end of a cigarette.

It was just that sort of thing that Jesus ran into, more than once. His enemies misunderstood, or at least misrepresented, his motives.

They claimed that he was "blasphemous," that is, that he was deliberately making light of God's law. The truth was that he was acting by God's highest law-the law of love. Helping people in need was more important than keeping the letter of the Sabbath law. Jesus' example may help us here.

Stepping Out of Bounds

WHEN Jesus healed the man with the palsy, it was not the cure his critics found fault with, it was his first saying "Your sins are for-given." "Who can forgive sins but God alone?" they said. In short, the Pharisees thought - some of them perhaps sincerely—that Jesus was stepping out of bounds, pretending to do something that he had no right to attempt and no power to accom-

Now Jesus did have both the right and the power to say what he said to that sick and sinful man. And he made no apologies for going beyond the limits his critics set for him.

So we too may sometimes be accused of "biting off too much," of going beyond our powers or capacities. Our critics may be right, you know, though Jesus' critics never were. But how often they are wrong!
If Lincoln had listened to his critics he never would have left his backwoods law office; they did not think him fit to be president. If the Wright boys had listened to their neighbors, they never would have flown an airplane, for who would have thought a couple of bicycle mechanics could do what so many scientists said was impossible?

The Company You Keep

JESUS' friends got him into trouble, as Mark shows us. For one thing, some were the "wrong sort" like Matthew the tax-collector. Then his friends had an unconventional Register of Wills for Carroll County. kind of religion, they actually seemed happy about it instead of gloomy like some of John's disciples. And to make matters worse, his friends "broke" the Sabbath laws much as Jesus did. All in all, Jesus' critics complained that Jesus' friends were a bad lot, and they judged him by the company he kept. But Jesus knew his friends better than his enemies did.

He never gave up or loosened a single friendship on his critics' account. Some of his friends gave him up, but he never gave them up.

So the Christian, if he has anything like Jesus' gift for making friends, may find himself criticized. for their sakes.
