LIONS CLUB NEWS

Rev. Smith was the Speaker at Tuesday's Meeting

The Taneytown Lions Club's semi-monthly dinner meeting was held on Tuesday evening last at the Taney Inn. During the forepart of the meeting all members were seated around tables under the canopy of space on the lawn of the Inn where everyone enjoyed a feast of hard shelled crabs tastefully prepared and served by Taney Inn. With satisfied palates all retired to the dining hall of the Inn for the evening's program. The Citizenship and Patriotism Committee was responsible for the program at this meeting with Chairman Rev. Edmund P. Welker in charge. Due credit should be extended this committee for the fine program rendered which featured, through the courtesy of Lion M. S. Ohler in making possible the use of his sound movie equipment, two sound movies namely—"You The People", a patriotic picture depicting the meaning of true citizenship and stressing the importance of every citizen casting his or her vote at election time, whether it be municipality, county, state or national. There are always a few who may consider their vote not too important and, with this in mind, not bother to go to the polls to cast their vote. But what drastic results would be experienced should it so happen that every citizen harbored this same idea? Voting is a patriotic and serious business. The second film entitled "The Flag Speaks" colorfully illustrated the origin and birth of the flag, its purpose and true meaning, proper and improper use and ways of displaying the flag. The flag of the United States, a symbol of true democracy, should be highly respected, and revered by every human being who treads American soil.

Rev. Edmund P. Welker secured and introduced our guest speaker the Rev. Nevin E. Smith, Reformed Minister of Hanover. Rev. Smith, an eloquent speaker, based his subject of discussion on Patriotism. Patriotism, according to Rev. Smith, is based upon responsibility. Our patriotic duty, he said, is to make sure that we so use our time on this earth in such a way that those who come after us are born into the same, or even opportunities, privileges and democracy as we were. If they are born cracy as we were. If they are born into a country that is weaker, then we have failed in our patriotic responsibility. We should kneel down before the pages of history and find out who those were who have gone before and what they have done to have made it possible for us to have been born into a land where we are privileged to think and act for ourselves. This is democracy—it is America. May we all take inventory of ourselves and redeem the time while it is yet day-ere all coming after us should come in vain. Let us join together in holding high the principle of Americanism and regard dearly the true emblem of democracy—"Old Glory."

President Feeser announced the next meeting July 25 as a Lions family picnic in charge of Walter Eckardt as chairman and assisted by members (Charles Cashman, Ted Jester and Kermit Reid. The meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. Welker.

KEYSVILLE MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Keysville Lutheran Missionary Society held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening with Mrs. Grier Keilholtz and Mrs. Gilbert Stine as leaders. They opened the meeting by singing "Fling Out the Banner." Mrs. Grier Keilholtz offered prayer and read the Scripture lesson found in Luke 10:25-37. Mrs. Gilbert Stine gave the opening remarks, prior to the discussion of Migrants: A Critical Problem. Mrs. Roy Baumgardner, Mrs. Gregg Kiser, Mrs. Elizabeth Shoemaker, Mrs. Lloyd Wilhide, Mrs. Clara Clabaugh, Mrs. Marion Gushon, Mrs. Edith Wilhide, Mrs. Mary Devillbiss and Mrs. Leonard Reifsnider participated in the round table discussion. This was a very informative meeting and was depicted very clearly. The challenge presents itself—do all in our power for the betterment of the migrants, socially and spiritually.

A trombone solo "The Sweet Evening Star" was rendered by Mr. David Reifsnider, accompanied on the piano by his mother, Mrs. Leonard Reifsnider. The Magazine Quiz was conducted by Mrs. Chas. Cluts. Little Miss Nancy Stine told us about the Red Apple and the Elephant. A duet "This is My Task" was rendered by David and Kenneth Reifsnider accompanied on the piano by their mother. The Society deemed it a pleasure to have this truly musical family present and to enjoy their numbers so ably rendered. The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Gilbert Stine and the hymn "Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life" was sung followed by the Missionary benediction.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Edith Wilhide held a short business meeting which consisted of the usual procedure, reports, etc. A letter was read by Mrs. Cluts from Helen Lawson who is serving in Liberia. The memory hymn for next month is "Blest Be the Tie that Binds."

REUNION OF REFORMED CHURCHES HELD

At Big Pipe Creek Park Sunday Afternoon and Evening

Sunday afternoon and evening the members of the 12 Evangelical and Reformed Churches in the Carroll County Conference assembled at Big Pipe Creek Park for their 4th annual picnic reunion. The afternoon featured games and contests for the children under the direction of George Bowen, Silver Run; softball under the management of Ernest Brillhart, Manchester, and horse-shoes and quoits under the supervision of Albert Baldwin, Taneytown.

Following a tasty out-door supper featuring a profusion of southern, country-style, fried chicken, when all available table-space was taken, the evening vesper worship program was conducted. Rev. Edmund Welker, Emmitsburg, president of the ministerial association, opened the worship hour with the Call to Worship and the Prayer of Invocation. Rev. Morgan Andreas, Taneytown, secretary-treasurer of the ministerial association, read the Scripture-Lesson and offered the evening prayer. The offerings were gathered by four consistories of the various churches.

Rev. Welker then introduced the Rev. Dr. Andrew G. Truxal, president of Hood College, Frederick, to the gathering. He spoke very highly of the church reunion idea and challenged the group to continue in growing and coming together from their various churches for fun, fellowship, food, and a few moments of serious thinking. The college administrator chose as his subject: "Why I Believe in Investments in the Church." Dr. Truxal opened his meditation by asking "what holds People to the Church?" and then introduced two elements which make the Church so strong. "First, in the Church Christians generally find stability, security and strength—an anchor—in time of change." He repeated the words of John Newton's immortal hymn, "Solid joys and lasting pleasures" as emanating forth from the Church of Jesus Christ. "In the Church people find the truth to be the same yesterday, today and tomorrow and the Church sink down their roots. The Church is a rock upon which people can rely. Material and financial investments are not sure when they are made in loyalty to the Church." The Hood College head then declared, "Secondly, the Church is the one institution which offers faith and hope that can overcome grief and dissolution in times as we are now again experiencing. As we read our newspapers we are perplexed and anything but optimistic. But let us bear in mind that Jesus was not always optimistic. He told his people, 'Quoting Gen. Omar Bradley, educator said, "We must guide our lives by the stars and not by the lights of passing ships." The Church has always stood for this and we can invest in such an institution."

Rev. Andreas pronounced the benediction. During the vespers William Simpson, Emmitsburg, led the group singing of "Come Thou Almighty King," "Fairest Lord Jesus" and "Lead On, O King Eternal." During the afternoon and evening the amplification system of Millard Morelock, Keysville, was used. Following the worship program a concert by the Myers & Sons Band, Westminster, was presented. There were 173 cars bearing 719 people of the E. & R. churches that passed through the entrance for the reunion picnic.

AN ACCOUNT OF REV. OWENS' RECENT VISIT IN CINCINNATI

Here is one of America's greatest success stories. It is the record of two men who began with a wheelbarrow and ended with one of the nation's largest industries. It is the story of Proctor and Gamble. While a Commissioner to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church which met in Cincinnati a few weeks ago, I wanted to visit the Proctor and Gamble factory, famed for Ivory soap. But the daily sessions of the Assembly provided no opportunity for this diversion. Finally one rainy morning I slipped away from my post of duty hoping that no one would miss me.

On the previous day I had visited the company's big down town office building, the latest achievement in the modern miracle of art and science. Here I made an appointment for the tour the next morning. When the manager of the Personnel Department learned that I might write an article for the paper on this tour, he requested that copies of the paper carrying these articles be sent to him. Also the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce has requested copies of this paper carrying the articles.

The big soap factory is located about 15 miles from the down town business district in a section of the city called Ivorydale which means the City of Ivory Soap. Since 1885 Ivorydale has been one of the chief landmarks of Cincinnati just as Ivory soap is the household word of the American kitchen. This is the main plant of Proctor and Gamble. It comprises 123 buildings and covers 155 acres. This is not the only factory which the company maintains. There are many others in other parts of America and the rest of the world. Ivorydale, however, is the main plant. It is a magnificent place, a little city within the big city.

KIWANIS NEWS

An Outdoor Meeting Held Wednesday Evening

The regularly scheduled meeting of the Taneytown Kiwanis Club was held at Taney Inn on Wednesday last with President Lewis Crumpacker presiding. The meeting was in charge of the Support of Churches Committee and under the direction of Kiwanian Raymond Wright. The Rev. Mr. Poffenberger, pastor of the Union Bridge church, spoke briefly and introduced and spoke with regard to each member's opportunity to support the church of his choice. Rev. Poffenberger stated that in times such as we are at present experiencing, our nation's leaders call on the citizenry to seek God's guidance through prayer and thus create a greater awareness of the importance of the church in the community. He stated that oftentimes in the course of our affairs, particularly in cases where we cite the achievements of some outstanding personality who has passed on to his reward, the church affiliation of that individual is mentioned as an after thought. It is through the church that we can secure the most for the least by simply attending the services and lending our efforts in the participation of the various activities of the church of our choice.

Next week's meeting will be in charge of the Agriculture and Conservation Committee with Kiwanian Charles R. Cluts conducting the meeting. It is understood that an interesting meeting is in store for us and that a capable speaker has been secured from College Park, Md.

THIS 'N' THAT

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning,
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Calling all the ladies! On a Saturday, Your Observer and the family went for a turkey dinner in a big fire house! When the dinner was served it consisted of a few tiny scraps of ham, half of a boiled potato and a bit of saur-kraut and just this from the waitress, "This is all that is left!" Others hearing it immediately arose and demanded their money back! It was then, Ladies that my Minister showed his enthusiasm explaining in detail of our wonderful women around our town and the meal that is always served to the public in the fire house regardless of the cause if a Church, Auxiliary or the benefit of the Fire Dept!

Was in a Taxi in Baltimore recently and the aged driver rather surprised me. To my inquiries he said just this, "I am 65 years of age, been driving since 1912 and I was born and reared in Taneytown on a farm. My cousin is the realtor, Mr. Cashman and my name is Semf."

Now here is a joke about a city friend who had just purchased a little house with a long narrow back yard. The young couple planted a real garden and were out pulling up the weeds. Upon discovery the husband said, "Anne, you have pulled up all the vegetables and left the weeds!"

Those cute youngsters around our town and some good! Ummmmm!

Your Observer met just about the most wonderful girl in the world who just graduated from Western Maryland College and expects to teach in the big city in the Fall!

Stopped by at the nice Dairy Bar in Frizellburg and went up the newly made steps to the huge dining room that has just been completed. Too bad he is not serving chicken dinners of which the public expected. There is a relative—a niece and Your Observer predicts she will be a real Ballerina some day. She is beautiful and best of all has the grandest disposition! More power to you!

Driving down Calvert Street, saw the new "SUN Office" building on the former site of the old Calvert Street station. It is most modern and huge! It will be finished soon, no doubt for that company to move into.

So long, Folks. Have a grand week-end. Be careful in driving and be good! Will be seeing you next week. D.V. Until then, I am,

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

The event was under the supervision of the American Trap Shooting Association. Several of the Taneytown men have qualified for the State Shoot to be held in Baltimore.

A number of favorable comments were made by the visitors of the beautiful grounds, with the large pond of water well-stocked with fish. Some ducks are living on the water.

A new road is being built from Taneytown to the grounds. With plans for a club-house, out-door fireplace and the two shooting traps this ground should be a paradise for sport lovers.

FRIDAY, JULY 14, 1950

THE COUNTRY PRESS SAYS

MANHELM, PA., SENTINEL: "At Pendleton, Oregon, on May 10, 1950, the President declared that the American family's annual income could be raised to at least $4,000 by 1960 if the whole country tried."

"But the $64 question is what will the dollar be worth in 1960? How much milk, potatoes or bread will the dollar buy when the minimum income is $4,000?"

"Lots of money has its appeal, yes, but it does not necessarily mean more actual wealth, happiness, or prosperity. There is famine and poverty in China but it has more money than it ever had. Money is a medium of exchange and it is worth just what it will buy."

SALEM, N. J., STANDARD & JERSEYMAN: "Americans have always paid taxes, and they always will, to support their various levels of government. But when taxes take from 25 to 30 per cent of his income, it behooves the American taxpayer to watch closely every dollar his government spends."

CLARISSA, MINN., INDEPENDENT: "The Weekly People, American Labor party official organ, ... last week ... bemoaned the fact that American capitalism was on an expansion program that would 'cheapen goods by replacing workers with machines.'"

"It pointed out that when labor-saving machines produced goods faster, it took less workers and therefore was bad. We don't know what kind of thinking produces this conclusion, but history certainly disputes that theory."

"Mass production has been good for this country and for the world. And, odd as it may seem, every time a new machine is invented to cut down labor costs, the goods become cheaper, more plentiful and in the end create more jobs through subsidiary industries for the workers."

The tour party through the plant awaited my arrival. I was 15 minutes late. The guide greeted me; "Good morning, Mr. Owen, we have been waiting for you." The first big building visited on the tour, was called the Kettle House. This is where the fat is cooked for several days. Here 100 giant kettles, three stories high, extending row on row, for two blocks, roar like boiling cauldrons. Each kettle holds 100 tons, and is about the size of the Taneytown water standpipe. Into these cauldrons of boiling fat caustic soda is poured. Still later salt is added to separate the soap from the glycerine. The latter is drawn off into tank cars. Glycerine has many commercial uses.

STORY OF IVORY SOAP

The soap, going through many cleansing processes, is pumped from the cauldrons through a network of pipes to the automatic machines. It is purified, beaten and whipped until it comes forth from the pipes in a solid stream. As white as snow it looks much like frozen ice cream. Here automatic machines cut the continuous flow into uniform lengths. It is cooled, molded into cakes, stamped, wrapped, sealed into cartons, and conveyed to a fleet of waiting freight cars and trucks, to be shipped to all parts of the world.

The old process of soap making in the kettles, described above, requires several days of cooking. Now, however, a new mechanism is being set up which will greatly shorten the process by condensing several days into a few hours. This new machine is called the hydrolizer. By this process the fats enter one end of a giant tube and live steam the other. It is reported that this short process will produce a much finer quality of soap than the kettle process. Also research is now underway looking toward the possible manufacture of soap out of petroleum products. This, if successful, will open up a new world in the area of soap making. At present only animal and vegetable fats, can be used.

It is interesting to note that the name of Ivory, has a religious origin. Harley Proctor in 1879, was searching for a name by which to call his product. Being a churchman, he heard his pastor, one Sunday, preach on Psalm 45:8:

"All thy garments smell of myrrh and aloes and cassia, out of ivory palaces, whereby they have made thee glad."

"That's it," said he, "the name of the soap shall be called Ivory after the ivory palaces". That has been a fortunate name for the product. The floating ivory came as the result of a mistake. One day a careless workman forgot to turn off his mixing and heating machine at noon. It was called the crutcher. He left it running throughout the noon hour. When he returned he found the soap so light with minute air bubbles that it floated on water. This was a fortunate mistake. The popularity of the floating soap skyrocketed. Letters poured in from customers everywhere: "We want the floating soap."

The guide also took us through the perfumed Canay Department where this popular product, advertised as "The soap of beautiful women," is processed, moulded into cakes, stamped, wrapped in an atmosphere of fragrant cleanliness. The sweet perfumes of the earth seem concentrated here. The soap comes into this department in the form of small pellets. Here the perfumes are mixed with it. Large rolls then fashion the pellets into continuous thin ribbons. These ribbons are fed into smooth cylinders, are moulded and cut into bars, stamped, wrapped and packed into cartons by automatic machines.

The process by which the various brands of soap, soap powders, soap chips, and other soap products are made, is very interesting. The flakes are made by passing the soap over hot rollers, then over chilled rollers. The ribbons thus formed are cut into short lengths to make the flakes. The granules or powder, is made by spraying the moulten soap through a nozzle into big tanks which look much like a silo on a dairy farm. Here hot air currents dries the soap particles into a powder. In the same manner Oxydol, Duz, Tide, Dref, and Ivory Snow, are made. Here also the modern miraculous synthetic detergents are made. These include Drene, Prell, Shasta, etc. Many other products, popular in the household, such as Lava Soap, Castile, P and G, American Family, Spic and Span, etc., are made.

When the guide noticed that I was following every process so closely, and taking notes on all being seen and heard, he seemed suspicious and asked who I really was. Perhaps he thought I might be trying to steal some secrets. (I lost the notes I took). He was assured, however, that the guest had no malicious motives.

PROCTOR AND GAMBLE

Here was also learned the story of William Proctor and James Gamble, founders of the company. It is a story filled with romance, adventure, tragedy, fame and fortune. It is a story that takes its place with that fabulous auto-mechanic in Detroit by the name of Henry Ford who put the nation on wheels. It matches in brilliance the story of Thomas Edison, who, laboring with electricity and a carbon filament, changed the destiny of America. It likewise reminds us of another American story of two bicycle mechanics in Dayton, Ohio, by the name of Orville and Wilbur Wright who put the nation on wings. So Proctor and Gamble, founders of the great American soap empire, likewise take their place as great benefactors of mankind. For it is reported that soap is the greatest of all medical discoveries in the history of the world. In the control of disease it plays a major role. In industry, home, medical science, it is a prominent factor in contemporary living.

The story of ivory soap began with two men. One was William Proctor. When fire wiped out his woolen shop in London, he decided to seek his fortune in America. In 1837 he landed in Philadelphia and came to Baltimore. From there he took the Allegheny pike across the mountains to Ohio with the intention of settling in Louisville. Tragedy stopped him at the big bend of the Ohio River where Cincinnati is now located. On the journey his wife fell ill with cholera and died there. Broken with the tragedy of sorrow, Mr. Proctor set up a small candle making shop.

The story of James Gamble was more fortunate. He was the son of an itinerant preacher from Ireland. Coming to what is now Cincinnati, he set up a small soap making business.

Here romance brought the two men together. Strangers to each other, they began to go with two girls who were sisters. They married these two sisters. Thereupon the candle maker and the soap maker, went into business together. They rented a small house and began to boil fat which they collected from hotels and packing houses. They treated it with lye derived from wood ashes.

You, gentle reader, can perhaps recall the old ashopper in mother's back yard. How she would fashion a funnel-like depression in the center, pour water in it and collect the drippings, as home-made lye. With this she would make soap out of fat. Even today families in this vicinity still make soap in this fashion except now they purchase the lye in a can at the grocery store.

In a similar fashion the candle maker and soap maker began what is now the largest soap industry in the world. They first peddled their soap from house to house in a wheelbarrow. Now 250 car loads of fat per day arrive at the plant from all parts of the world. They include cotton seed oil, soy bean oil, whale oil, peanut oil, coconut oil, and numerous other animal and vegetable fats from the markets of the world.

In addition to those already described, there are numerous other byproducts of soap making. Some of them include dynamite, smokeless powder, rubber, textiles, live stock feed, photographic film, quick drying paint, floor coverings, artificial leather, plastics, safety glass, and drugs.

STORY OF CRISCO

Perhaps the one of the most popular of all products made by Proctor and Gamble, as far as the house wife is concerned, is Crisco. Our tour through this department was very interesting. We saw how Crisco was made, processed, purified, beaten, whipped, and chilled until it looked like ice cream. This is done by automatic machinery which also seals it in tins for shipment everywhere. Numerous other cooking fats are also made here as well as many kinds of oleomargarine.

Employee relations with the company, is one of the model examples in American Industry. Sixty-five years ago the company adopted the profit sharing plan with the workers. It was one of the first industries in America to adopt disability benefits. The most outstanding achievement is the guaranteed employment plan adopted in 1923. By this plan every worker is guaranteed 48 weeks of work per year.

As the tour ended the guide gave each visitor a handsome box containing the various kinds of soap and cream and toilet articles made by the company. It was a delightful present to bring back home to the family. The visit to Ivorydale to see the largest soap factory in the world, was one of the outstanding features of the trip to Cincinnati as Commissioner to the general Assembly of the Presbyterian Church.

FEESERSBURG

"Why don't our children take more interest in the farm?" or "Why does John want to go work in a garage when he could be so much help to his father on the farm?" These are the plaintive cries from parents who have raised their children on a farm see them depart for town or city as soon as they are old enough to be on their own. The following poem taken from the Wisconsin Agriculturist and Farmer will tell you the reason more eloquently than anyone:

I left my pa, his farm, his cow, Because my calf became his plow; I left my pa, 'twas wrong of course, Because my colt became his horse. I left my pa to sow and reap Because my lamb became his sheep; The garden that I made to grow, 'Twas his to sell and mine to hoe.

There was Holy Communion services at Mt. Union Lutheran Church Sunday morning with installation of church officers following Communion. Those installed by the Rev. Stanley Frock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Frock, of near Taneytown, was among the Boy Scouts who attended the Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge last week. One of the most significant things displayed at the Jamboree was the ability of 47,000 boys to live together and work together. These Scouts represent every state in the United States and many countries of Europe, England and Asia. The entire week at Valley Forge passed without a fist fight, without an exchange of bitter words and without a serious automobile accident. A very fine example to the whole world what can be accomplished if boys are given the proper guidance and discipline. A salute to the Scouts everywhere and may they continue to be an inspiration to their community and to the world!

If your wife is away and you want her to come home, just send her the local paper with an item clipped out. She'll be back before you have last night's supper dishes washed and the dog out of the living room.

The wedding of Mrs. Fillmore Weybright, of Hollow Rock Farm, near Keymar, and John Edward Smith, of New York City, took place Thursday, July 6th at 4 P. M. in the Chapel of Christ Methodist Church, New York City. The Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman performed the ceremony. The bride wore a sheath dress of golden beige shantung with a full skirted redingote of pale yellow organdy over it. A small profile hat to match completed the costume. She carried a purse of shantung made in the shape of a book on which was pinned a spray of yellow orchids. A small reception followed the simple ceremony. Upon their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Smith will live at 530 Park Avenue, New York City, spending their week-ends and holidays at Hollow Rock Farm. Under her maiden name of Hildegarde Fillmore, Mrs. Smith is fashion editor of McCall's Magazine. Mr. Smith is a vice-president of the McCall Corporation and advertising director of McCall's Magazine. On Saturday afternoon July 15, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will give a garden party at Hollow Rock Farm.

We always think interesting people and their work live in large cities. Why we do this is because small towns and rural communities seem too provincial to produce interesting and celebrated people. But this isn't true as most of the well known people's life history will prove. For most of them originally come from a small town or from a farm. Many times there are interesting people doing unusual work right under our noses and we don't know it. For instance, the town of New Windsor has a man who collects obituaries of Maryland people, which collection has been pronounced "the most valuable single reference source of Maryland history that exists." His name is Louis H. Diehlman. Of course the people of New Windsor need no introduction to him but to others like myself he is a person just recently discovered.

The crack was left out of the 49 reproductions of the Liberty Bell used in the recent U. S. Saving Bonds drive because these bells must ring.

Mrs. William Warner, Sr. Keymar, who has been a patient at the Maryland General Hospital, is home again and getting along nicely.

Well, the way we see it, this is a mighty poor time for the meek to inherit the earth.

The late President Wilson was very fond of the home-spun limericks, and compiled quite a collection of them. SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPT. HAS PICNIC

The Young People's Department of Trinity Lutheran Sunday School held a picnic Thursday evening for the members of that department, their families and friends. Even though rain threatened in the early afternoon, the evening turned out very nice and it was held on the lawn and park in the rear of the Lutheran parsonage with over 100 in attendance.

The evening began with the folks playing games, including softball and croquet. Later the people were called together by Department Superintendent, Harry Dougherty, who turned the program over to Mrs. Elwood Baumgardner, chairman of the program committee. The program began with the singing of America followed by the invocation by Rev. Glenn L. Stahl. Mrs. Baumgardner then introduced a quartet of Janice Naylor, Shirley Null, Robert Harner and Andrew Alexander who also played the ukulele. Reverend Stahl gave a few remarks, after which Mrs. Alvin Bair acting as our observer, told of many amusing things which happened to members of the group. The mixed quartet then sang another number.

Mrs. Baumgardner brought the climax of the program by introducing Mr. Bill Sell, former resident of Taneytown and member of this department who had been a radio announcer for some time. Bill acted as master of ceremonies and conducted a program modeled over the "Second Honeymoon" program of the radio. Many contestants were auditioned by Bill who asked each one many questions about their husbands or wives, where they met, their dates, their honeymoon, and other questions which brought many laughs from the audience. After these preliminary warm-up questions, each contestant was then asked why he or she wanted to take a second honeymoon. Each answer was judged by the three non-partial judges who then decided which answer was the best. Mrs. Daniel Nail was declared the winner and was awarded a gigantic jackpot of prizes.

After the singing of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," the group gathered round to roast weiners, and eat of the potato chips, marshmallows and home-made rootbeer.

Snake oil is wonderful stuff!

"Just try it once, dear friends, just try it once and you'll never be without it. For nervousness, for upset stomach, for all types of aches and ails, for building the blood! It's good, my friends. It's just naturally the best!"

What they don't realize is: when any government takes over enough things, socialism comes automatically.

Every time you let government take another control, you lose another freedom. And every lost freedom moves you closer to a socialistic U. S. A. Socialism's promises might sound inviting. But so do the promises of the snake oil peddler. Both are dangerous when people fall for them.

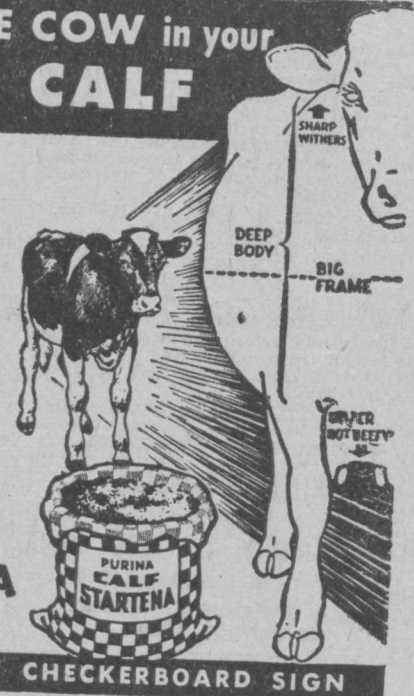

The business-managed, tax-paying Electric Light and Power Companies like this one are fighting creeping socialism wherever we find it. We believe it's your battle, too. Why not talk it over this week with your friends? The threat of American socialism is everyone's problem because it's everyone's danger.

There's a peculiar brand of "snake oil" being peddled in America today. It's the "cure-all" variety whose sponsors talk like this: "Let the federal government solve our problems by running things. Let it take over the doctors . . . the railroads . . . the electric light and power companies . . . and other industries and services."

Most of these people would say they're against socialism. They just think control of this business or that industry or service by the government would benefit themselves, or their community, or maybe everybody.

SCRIPTURE: The Book of Ruth. DEVOTIONAL READING: Proverbs 31: 10-31.

Why Families?

Lesson for July 16, 1950

THE ENGLISH language has a word not found in the original languages of the Bible; it is not in Latin, German or French for that matter. It is the word "home." But homes were not invented in England or America; the ancient peoples of the world had homes even if they had no special word for them. The story of Ruth is a home-story, a family tale. It comes from the times of the Judges, which were very rugged times indeed.

Dr. Foreman

To read the Book of Judges you would think that everything was plots and wars and murder. There isn't a peaceful story in the book. And then comes the story of Ruth, to remind us that even in those terrible times there were happy people, people who minded their business and worked hard and stayed home and loved one another. The bright spots in today's vast seas of misery are just what they were in Ruth's time.

Working Together

"A HOME is a place to go when everything else has shut up" is not a true proverb. For if that is all it is, it is not a home. It is only a boarding house and not a very attractive one at that.

It is the people who live in it who make it. But just throwing people together within four walls, even if the people are closely related, will not make a home. When you read the story of Ruth you see one thing standing out: they are all working people.

To this day, there are fewer divorces in the country than in the cities, and one big reason for that is that country families have to work together, while city families often have little in common. In the country everybody turns to and does something about the house, everybody helps everybody else; while in the cities where so much is done by machines and houses are very small, there isn't much a family can do together. Still, it is worth while for any family to try to work out something that they can all do together.

Unity in Variety

IT is striking that in the Bible the warmest expression of devotion shown by one person to another, is expressed by one woman to her mother-in-law, by Ruth to Naomi. Ruth was of a different race and generation and nation. Yet she takes Naomi's family for her own.

That illustrates another beautiful feature of living in a family. You learn to live with all kinds of people. Even in so small a group, no two are alike. And the thing that holds a family together almost better than anything else is not similar tastes in breakfast foods, or identical educations, or equality of age or temperament; it is common ideals, it is agreement about the important things in life.

What do you, for example, think is the greatest thing in the world? Do your family agree with you? If they do (or you with them) then you have a basis for a happy family life.

Unity in Worship

HIGH ideals, held by all in common, are almost the best family cement; but better and best is religion. When you read the story of Ruth you are struck not only by their high ideals but by their natural, heart-felt, everyday religious faith. It comes out in the remarks of Boaz. It was one of the things that no doubt had attracted Ruth to the family in the first place. The climax of her famous promise to her mother-in-law is "thy God shall be my God."

It is at best confusing, and at worst tragic, when families are divided in their religious faith. Some one has said that when the father belongs to one denomination and the wife to another, the children are likely to become Nothingarians. The old family pew, happily not out of style in many places, is more than a quaint custom. It is a fine symbol of family life at its best. Where are the most of the broken homes? Among the families where father and mother send the children to Sunday school while they themselves lie around at home reading the paper, or among the families where all go to the house of God together? A home without real religion is a home without its surest foundation.
