KIWANIANS MEET

Maryland Judicial System Outlined by Speaker

Mr. Ralph Hoffman, a member of the Westminster Kiwanis Club outlined before local members of Kiwanis International the Maryland State Judicial System at their regularly scheduled meeting on Wednesday last.

The meeting was called to order at 6:30 by President Lewis Crumpacker with Kiwanian Raymond Wright giving the invocation. After the usual group singing under the direction of Wallace Reindollar and accompanied by Mrs. Estella Yingling a report was given on behalf of the special events committee by its chairman, Capt. Jere Schaefer. A very interesting report was given by Kiwanian Schaefer and he concluded it with what might be now considered an amusing incident to him in his past experiences as a reserve officer of the United States Army.

The meeting for the evening was in charge of the committee on Laws and Regulations with Kiwanian Clyde Hesson leading the program. After the usual introductory remarks Kiwanian Hoffman outlined in very brief form the three divisions of the Maryland State Judicial System. He stated that these three divisions comprise the Magistrate Court, Circuit Court and Court of Appeals. The Magistrate Court is conducted by trial magistrates who were formerly known as Justices of the Peace of which there are two in Carroll county. These Magistrates are appointed by the Governor with their appointments being confirmed by the State Senate. They have as their special charge the conduct of minor criminal cases as well as civil suits not in excess of $300.00. Appeals of the decisions rendered by these magistrates may be made to the Circuit Court of the 5th Judicial Circuit of which Carroll County is a circuit.

The Circuit Court has as its duties criminal trials of a more serious nature and it is in the Circuit Court where the jury sits when requested by the parties involved in the case. There is a tendency, however, in the last several years to have less jury trials than heretofore, the reason being that many more cases can be handled equally as effectively and fairly, and in some cases more fairly, than if they are tried before the jury.

The cases coming under the category of civil have two divisions, first, law having to do with monetary claims or suits and the second, equity at which court there does not appear a jury. Cases such as divorces, injunction and cases of more broad scope are handled at the equity courts. Appeals made as the result of appeals made by the Circuit Court are sent to the Court of Appeals.

The Court of Appeals is peculiar in this extent that the parties involved in the cases do not appear before the six judges which at present sit on this court. But the testimonies at the trial before the Circuit Court are gathered together in volume form and briefs and drawn up by the respective legal advisors of the claimants with the lawyers themselves only appearing before this court. The testimonies and briefs are read before the judges and a decision is rendered from this evidence. The next step over and above the Court of Appeals would be the United States Supreme Court to which very few cases wind their way.

At the conclusion of this meeting the board met briefly to discuss plans for the turkey supper to be held on Saturday, September 23 from 4:00 to 8:00 p. m. at the Taneytown High School. An elaborate menu has been decided upon and all members of the club are urged to encourage their friends to attend this supper.

Next week's meeting will be in charge of the Committee on Attendance and Membership with Kiwanian Carel Frock leading the program and has been designated as Board of Education night.

BOY SCOUTS PLAN ACTIVITIES

Paper Collection on Saturday one of their Projects

Meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Scout hall provided by John M. Hoagland, Boy Scouts of Troop 348, sponsored by the Hesson-Snyder Post 120, American Legion, are getting rapidly into the swing of a busy fall and winter schedule.

The first item on their agenda is to resume their regular collection of paper, magazines, rags, and iron, the next one this coming Saturday morning, September 16th, assisted by the Pety Company, of Westminster. The aid of Taneytown people in making these drives worthwhile is appreciated, and their continued cooperation solicited.

A highlight of the summer season was the week spent at Broad Creek Memorial Camp near Whiteford, Md., with these troop members in attendance under the leadership of Wilbur C. Thomas, Scoutmaster; Stanley F. Frock, Assistant Scoutmaster, and Andrew Alexander, Senior patrol leader; William Abrecht, Jr., Larry Eckard, Kenneth Frock, Donald Lawyer, Ronald Markle, Francis McNair, Robert Ohler, Robert Rock, James Schilder, Robert Sentz, Ray Slaybaugh, Miles Stonesifer, and Russell Walker.

The encampment was the more memorable because three other troops were represented. Chief among them was 393 Westminster, whose Scoutmaster, Albert G. Albrecht, was in their senior patrol leader, Monroe Bair, and the following boys: Glenn Boyle, Paul Brantley, Jack Fringer, Denton Gehr, Ronald Magin, Robert Null, James Null, Charles Schuler, Walter Smith, William Stonesifer and John Thomas.

Camping with them at one of the individual troop campsites, named Conowingo, were Thomas Eckard and Wesley Sauble of Troop 420, Westminster, and Charles Beam of Troop 495, Upperco.

The following waterfront badges were earned by the Taneytown group at this Baltimore Area Council's Scout camp: Canoeing merit badge, Andrew Alexander, Ronald Markle, and Robert Sentz; Life Saving, ASM Stanley F. Frock, Ronald Markle, Robert Sentz, and SM Wilbur O. Thomas; Rowing, ASM Stanley F. Frock; Swimming, Andrew Alexander and Robert Ohler. In addition, Donald Lawyer passed the swimming test for first class and is ready for Board of Review in that rank. Since then ASM Frock has also completed the camping merit badge requirements. With the recruiting of additional adult merit badge counselors now in progress, a good advancement year is anticipated, and this phase of Scouting is being emphasized in the full program.

Following Scout meeting Thursday night the first fall session of the Taneytown troop leaders was held. Plans for the paper collection Saturday were reviewed and arrangements undertaken to have a good representation of the troop at the Carroll-Ranger District Fall Round-up September 22, 23 and 24th. This three-day camp will take place at Deep Run Scouting Reservation near Union Mills. There also the steps in progressive Scout advancement along the "Eagle Trail" will be stressed in previews and pow-wows for all who may find in them a prelude to real adventure at practicing Scout skills.

Other accomplishments have been swims and campfires at Natural Dam and Crouse's Mill, softball games among the patrols and with the Lutheran Brotherhood, the sending of three delegates (Stanley Frock, Andrew Alexander, and Philip Lawyer) to the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, and the handling of car-parking at the Firemen's carnival.

Last week-end two Scouts from Carroll County were initiated into the Order of the Arrow. They were Monroe Bair of Troop 393, Westminster, and Ronald Markle, Troop 348, Taneytown, both elected by fellow scouts, and among the 82 from all over Baltimore Area Council to be so recognized. The Ordeal honor was conferred at Broad Creek Memorial Camp with a degree team led by Klonan Riggie, Baltimore, conducting the ritual. Andrew Alexander, Philip Lawyer, and Wilbur C. Thomas, of Troop 348's Green-Bar council, accompanied the candidates, witnessed their induction, and welcomed them into membership in Nentico Lodge. At the next Ordeal the Taneytown troop will have yet another novice in the person of Francis McNair, who will make the seventh presently active troop member to be thus honored.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NEWS

The elementary school building is nearing completion, with all facilities now in use except the cafeteria. Parents will be notified when hot lunches are available to the pupils. In order to insure complete cooperation between school and home, an elementary parent-teachers association will be formed as soon as the auditorium is completed, probably about October 1. Parents are invited to visit the school at any time during the school day.

Had we souls within our hearts
Would no enemies have we!
Differences could disappear
And friends all could be.

YOUTH COMMISSION

Advisory Council Met in Westminster Mon. Night

The general committee for the Carroll County Commission for Youth which had been appointed by the County Commissioners in May, met with the advisory council of the commission on Monday night in the Carroll County Historical Society Home, East Main St. The chairman, Mrs. Gladys M. Wimer, presided.

Dr. E. Preston Sharp, Director for the Maryland Commission for Youth, under the state chairman, J. Milton Patterson, who was appointed by Gov. W. Preston Lane, Jr., was present at the meeting to hear the reports from the advisory committee and to ask pertinent questions concerning the reports. Dr. Sharp commended the committee on the excellent and thorough reports presented and said Carroll County was the first county to complete its work.

Dr. Sharp gave a summary of the Maryland Commission for Youth. A survey of youth problems is made each ten years and is called by the President of the United States. President Harry S. Truman has called the Mid-Century White House Conference on Children and Youth for Dec. 3 to 7. The county chairman will serve as delegate from Carroll County.

The general committee is composed of Donald C. Sponseller, Dr. Lowell S. Ensor, Randall Spoerlein, Charles Reck, Miss Daisy Harris, Wilbur Wimmer, Robert Greenshield, Samuel M. Jenness, William Schaefer, Ray Hollinger, Pearce Bowls, Lloyd Wilhide, Rev. A. W. Garvin and Holmes Lockard.

There were seven members on the advisory council. The members and the reports they submitted were as follows: Samuel M. Jenness, Superintendent of public schools for Carroll county, Education of Children and Youth; Miss Maye Gromes, representing her department in the Carroll County Board of Education on Employment of Children and Youth; Dr. W. Ross Cameron, Carroll county Deputy Health Officer, Health of Children and Youth; Donald C. Sponseller, State's Attorney, on Children and Youth in Trouble; Miss Elinor Ebaugh on Recreation for Children and Youth; Miss Bonnie Custerbender, social director of the Carroll County Children's Aid Society on Children in their own homes and foster families, and Holmes Lockard, Superintendent of the Strawbridge Home for Boys at Eldersburg, on Children away from their own homes on institutional care.

A conference for tomorrow's citizens, sponsored by the Maryland Commission for Youth, will be held at the Towson State Teachers College, Towson, Md., Saturday, Sept. 23. The purpose of this meeting is "Have the children and youth of Maryland the advantage of learning, playing, working and living which will make them constructive citizens and happy people? Are our services for young people adequate? Are they reaching all our children and youth? More important, what can youth do to assist their communities in better serving youth?"

The welcome address will be given by state chairman, Mr. Patterson. Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president of State Teachers College, will give the principal address. At 2:30 P. M. Governor W. Preston Lane will greet the assembly.

Carroll County will have seven young people as delegates. On recommendation from Dr. Sharp, a motion was made by Mr. Jenness to continue the full committee for further service to the commission at the call of the chairman.

FIRE COMPANY NEWS

The Taneytown Volunteer Fire Company met in regular monthly session Monday evening, September 11, 1950, at 8 P. M., in the Firemen's building with President George Kiser, presiding.

Chief Charles D. Baker reported one fire call during the month. David Smith reporting for the ambulance committee reported four calls during the month.

Chairmen Edwin Baumgardner and Charles D. Baker reported for the carnival committee that they were unable to make a detailed report as the bills were not all in and paid. They will be able to make a detailed report at the October meeting of the Company.

The company voted to purchase 500 feet of 2 1/2 inch fire hose.

Charles R. Motter was voted to membership in the company.

At the close of the business meeting a sound movie was shown by Delmont Koons showing the causes in which fires are started in homes, barns, fields and various other places and by what means these fires could be prevented. The picture was very well received by the company and it was the thought of many members that it would be a very good picture to show to a large group of citizens of the community.

29 members were present at this meeting.

NOTICE

The Taneytown Volunteer Fire Company desire to take this means to thank all workers, citizens, patrons and others who helped to make their annual carnival a success. Especially do we thank the ladies of the Auxiliary for their splendid help. They surely did a fine job.

TANEYTOWN LIONS' CHARTER NIGHT

Theodore R. McKeldin was the Speaker

Tuesday evening, Sept. 12th was a great event in the history of the Taneytown Lions Club which marked the occasion of the club's 3rd annual Charter Night celebration. This brilliant affair was held at Basehoar's restaurant in Littlestown where decorative tables were spread in the spacious banquet hall where a delicious chicken dinner was served to one hundred thirty-seven Lions, their ladies, guests and friends, representing eight Lions clubs in Maryland and Pennsylvania.

The program was opened by the call to order given by Merwyn C. Fuss who served as toastmaster. Following Flag salute the invocation was offered by Rev. Edmund P. Welker. Professional musical entertainment through the medium of the electric organ and accordion was furnished by Mrs. Mary Howe of Chambersburg, Pa. A season of group singing was in charge of Kenneth Shorb accompanied by Mrs. Howe at the electric organ. Officers of the local club, distinguished guests and delegations from Lions Clubs from Littlestown, Gettysburg, Parnell, Greencastle, New Windsor, Thurmont and Union Bridge were introduced by the Toastmaster.

The climaxing feature which highlighted the program was a dynamic address by the Hon. Theodore R. McKeldin, former Mayor of Baltimore City who was introduced by the toastmaster. The theme of his address centered around the lessons we can gather from the well-known Biblical story of Moses, the great leader of Israel, answering the call of God to lead his people out of Israel through the Red Sea and into the Promised Land. Among this vast throng of people in the greatest exodus Israel had ever known, with faithful Moses as their leader, were four types of people according to Mr. McKeldin's message. Likewise, down through the years even to our day we still find these four distinct types of people. These different groups, Mr. McKeldin said, may be classified as follows—in the first group we have today, as well as in the days of Moses, those who are willing to give up their freedom for security. A second are those people who are self-satisfied drift along with the tide and live for the current day—"eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow we shall die". The third is the stoic group, "O, what difference does it make, if we die in Egypt we can die here". Then there is a group number four, who are true Israelites. Those who expect changes, and who expect to be ready for such changes when they come and who expect to win out, God willing. These are the ones who have come out of great tribulation and have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. These are the people with red blood corpuscles who stand for the truth and for God, let come what may, which is a true shining symbol of democracy which will cause America to triumph, and come out on top holding the banner high in this dark crucial hour. In this familiar exodus story, still rings down through the ages, great lessons for us today. We must take heed and profit from the bit of knowledge we have of the hardships encountered by the children of Israel in their wilderness journey, ere all our humble effort here be in vain. Regardless of what circumstances in which we find ourselves, there is a God who cares and upon whom we can depend for deliverance. If we, like the children of Israel as they stepped into the water of the Red Sea, first make the start in faith God will lead. As we build our house of character let us remember to employ the Master Builder and build on the solid Rock, ere the sands should sink beneath us.

Due credit is extended, through this means, to the committee members who had charge of arrangements in making this third annual Charter Night celebration the most successful as yet in the history of the Taneytown Lions Club.

Two weeks ago saw a double team of young girls wrestling on the mat on T.V. at the Coliseum. There really ortabealaw! They will be wrecks physically in years to come! That is what Your Observer calls, "Cheapening Life" Although there is Spanish blood flowing through Your Observer's veins nevertheless, I detest and loathe a bull fight and feel that there should be a law! How anyone can derive pleasure of torturing, and I think the individuals who make their livelihood at such a thing is really brutal!

One of the sights that impressed me during the war was an open truck filled with young men standing with their possessions in hand on their way to the Camden station for Camp! I stood on the street to watch that truck out of sight as it was driven fast down through traffic over rough streets, the boys being jostled from side to side! My heart ached as my thought were of cattle being taken away to be slaughtered! No truer words were ever spoken by that "Sherman" man!

Did you see that Redwood Log House while it was stationed on the square in Hanover several weeks ago for two days? It was really something different to see in these days. Just nineteen years ago, Keith Straughn was fishing on the famed waters of the Klamath river in North California, a sudden rain squall rose and Straughn sought shelter in a "goose pen" tree. As he stood there he pondered and said to himself, "Why not a house from one of these trees?"

On July 4, 1948 he and his son-in-law, William Guidici started with the monstrous tree which is Redwood (a wood that is slow to decay, is fire resistant and is distasteful to termites, making it one of the finest and yet economical home-building materials). Working around the clock for more than two months with drills, bores and axes, the two men removed more than 10,000 board feet enough lumber to build six standard bungalows. Some Redwood trees measure 30 feet in diameter. The tallest known tree was 400 feet, the oldest cut Redwood tree was 3,126 years and there is no tree of any record ever having died of old age. The Redwood log house completed by these two men is probably the oldest wooden residence in existence. The story of Redwood is far back as Christ who was a carpenter and wearily from planing, the last shaving wafted to the ground and half across the yet undiscovered world, a cone bearing small brown seeds dropped to the rich soil of California's coastal plain! The log house is a three room affair with the interior finished of all it's own wood. It was too bad that this exhibition remained only two days in the nearby community.

The author who wrote his first book (Lloyd C. Douglas) and had such a difficult time in having it published being rejected by a number of publishers for four years which title was "Magnificent Obsession" wrote several books since, "The Robe".

THIS 'N' THAT

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Congratulations (New Windsor! What is a parade without the ladies? Your Observer had a grand "Stand" on the top of the step of Lambert's Electrical Store" on the square to view it all. Before the parade started, around the corners of the square it really was "a car a second" just like driving through New York! Our nice town policeman was right on the job and nothing escaped his sharp eyes! All the women were fine but those really should be given special mention of those ladies of the Auxiliary of the Fire Department in New Windsor. Never have I seen any parade in either New York or Philadelphia that could rate higher than those ladies marching!! Never was there a straighter line! Here's hoping those ladies in Taneytown will compete next year! What a technicolor movie it would have been! Hagerstown with the lovely uniforms and their high helmets feathered were the highlights! A parade should always be highly colored and should be done to the fullest never half way! Your Observer is always thrilled in viewing a parade just like the famous song, "I Love a Parade!"

Just before school started, I was in a store and as I walked down one of the aisles, I saw two little boys about the ages of eight and ten looking over a pile of boy's socks. I heard, "Gee, Mom will be tickled if we buy these!" I stopped short! Standing near by and looking at the sign above the pile of socks which read, "2 for 25 cents." "If I only could find the right size in the colors I want! Gee, did you ever see anything so cheap?"

I walked over to the pile and after close examination saw they were real values as 50 cent pairs would be in the big city. "What size do you want, boys? Maybe I can help you as all the salespeople are busy!"

"I take size 10!" I quickly ran through the socks finding a number of the pairs in the desired size. Then picking two pairs out for each boy, I asked them if they were O.K. The one boy looked up at me and said, "Gee, Lady—thanks! I know if you like them, my Mom will, too." With socks in hand, they walked rapidly to a sales girl smiling and turning to me all the while. Such little things in life, folks!

MEN SAY THEY LIKE IT

Now and then we get a bit of cheerful news indicating the strength of American family life.

Such news can be found tucked away in the report of a nationwide survey made to determine the dishwashing habits of men. Hundreds of white collar workers, trades and professional men in 15 States were reached, and 82 percent of those taking part in the survey stated that they helped with the dishes. Some 19 percent do the dishes regularly, 23 percent said, "frequently," while 39 percent indicated a once-in-a-while activity.

"Outstanding was the seriousness evidenced by the answers of the men in commenting on their dishwashing activities," stated the Tide Washing Clinic, an information and educational service of Procter & Gamble, sponsors of this survey. "While some heartily disliked the chore, others felt too much accent was put on this phase. The majority of answers indicated that the men felt better organization and a more systematic approach to the task were solely needed improvements."

Over half of the men took time out to suggest specific time or labor saving methods. Measure detergent, scrape and stack in orderly piles, dry white hot...these were typical of their varied advice.

These are men who are interested in their families and their homes—82 per cent who "pitch in" as part of the family circle. Typical of the family scenes was the comment by one man, "I get my two children to help which makes it an easy job for me. I usually sing for them while they work—the neighbors some time object, but 'What the heck!'"

"I just enjoy that much more time with my wife", another wrote, while a third stated "I don't do dishes because I love it, but because my working wife deserves my cooperation."

Are American men becoming passive housekeepers instead of passive businessmen? The survey answers that, too! Nearly one quarter of all men reached stated, "They thought they were more efficient than the little woman at dishwashing!" and gave specific reasons for it. Other men, who gave honors in this field to the women, as one confessed, are suspected of being prompted by the spirit of gallantry.

All in all, the survey indicates there is a lot of cooperation and understanding in individual homes. Of course, we should be aware of that, but anyway it is pleasant to have this reassurance.—J. E. Jones.

A number of our folks attended the York Fair this week. We visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Zimmerman and family, on Friday evening, while there we had the pleasure of seeing for the first time a lovely night blooming Cereus in bloom. This plant had four large buds to open at one time. When about half way open I could see the shape of the cross and a lovely star above it. When open in the stamens were swirled and twirled around to form and resemble the cradle and Christ child, with the piston forming a star, reminding one of the star of Bethlehem. These blooms were 8 inches across and 24 inches in circumference and spread their sweet fragrance on the night air. If flowers are food for the Soul then I think the Night Blooming Cereus is the Dessert.

The Friendly road to happiness is anyone's to take.... Just wear a smile along each mile And hide each little ache.

Life's little side roads with their grief Can make you lose your way, And tears will hide the road outside But only for a day.

So dry your eyes and watch the skies Put on your bluest dress.... For hearts must break before we take The Road to Happiness. —Nick Kenny.

Every farmer should learn something from the mistakes of other farmers; he can't live long enough to make all of them himself.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Keyton and Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Wolfe attended the dedication services at the Church of God in Uniontown Sunday evening. In the midst of the services the electric current went off and the pastor continued with the use of oil lamps. Some of the congregation thought the oil lamps added something to the services as the dim light gave a feeling of serenity and peacefulness.

Twice a day, every day of the week, the dairy farmer must perform his dairy chores. If he can save only 30 minutes each time—and many of them have been able to save that much—he will eliminate 36 mar days of hard work per year. This time may be saved through the use of some of the many labor saving devices especially adopted to dairy barns. One of the most popular devices is the milking machine, which when properly used will reduce the average milking time per cow to as little as 3 to 4 minutes instead of 8½ minutes required by hand milking. Barn cleaning consumes about one-eighth of the time in caring for dairy cattle and is perhaps the heaviest work involved. Good equipment kept in good repair is very helpful in making this unpleasant task easier. Many farmers have their own ideas on how to make this work easier and some of them are so good that they should be shared with other farmers.

Did you know that 20 thousand Americans are blind every year and over half this number can be prevented or corrected? Blindness is not confined to the aged but rather to every age. Our longer life span has increased the danger of blindness, but many cases could be corrected in time if everyone had a yearly eye examination.

The students of the Elmer Wolfe School began their annual magazine subscription drive Tuesday which will last one week. There is keen competition between the different teams and classes. The school receives a certain percentage of the subscriptions and the students receive prizes and also some lessons in salesmanship and sportsmanship. The parents receive some good reading material—also a headache from being bullied into buying more magazines than the budget will allow.

"It's later than you think," says the song writer, who assumes a lot as he doesn't know how late we think it is. There are times when we think it's way past eternity.

Why is there a shortage of nurses? According to Dr. Donald Cass it's because registered nurses are prime wife material. The same emotional and psychological urges which lead them into the nursing profession makes them excellent wives and mothers. Only about 20% of all graduate R. N.'s follow their profession for any considerable length of time. They tend to be snapped up by sensible young men. A nurse jerns to care for other people's pains, instead of spelling out her own problems. She takes to family life like an old hen taking over a brood of chickens. It's no wonder there's a nurse shortage.

When a small boy willingly uses soap, the chances are he's giving his dog a bath.

In Sad but Loving Memory of my dear brother,

ELMER H. NULL,

who departed this life one year ago today

Sept. 17, 1949.

Dear brother, you are not forgotten.

Though on earth you are no more.

Still in memory you are with me

As you always were before.

Although your soul is now at rest

And free from care and pain.

This world would seem like heaven

If you were here again.

God knew that you were suffering

That the hills were hard to climb.

So He closed your weary eyes

And whispered, "Peace be Thine."

Your loving sister, MARY CARNEY.

THIS 'N' THAT

(Continued from First Page) "How Green is Our Valley" and "Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal." So you never can tell! Umph! What a chippy hat was made by that nice artistic lady around our town for Your Observer with material that was left over from the suit she made last year. Now it is a complete ensemble which could not be bought in the most fashionable store for less than a hundred dollars! I will always admire it because she made it!

Here's calling all the companies of those gravel and all size stone delivery trucks! Instruct your drivers not to speed at any time. This is what happened on Friday, Sept. 1. This truck was going at the terrific speed around curves out the 71 highway—those curves just beyond Keymar. A driver who was coming to Keymar in a 49 convertible Chevy light green car, had his car showered with the largest stones as the truck driver came around the bend. The wind shield was broken, the front head light glass broken, the car all dented in various places! Not alone speeding but the truck was not covered properly as most all of them lack and it, no doubt was too full. The driver of the Chevy could not stop his car on a curve and when he did stop on the straight road and go back, that truck was out of sight! What a shame! Just think if those big pieces of stone just like rocks would have struck the man's face and eyes! The Chevy driver was from Silver Spring. All those trucks should positively be covered in such a manner that no dust, or a piece of stone can escape. Page Mr. Fixit of The Baltimore-News-Post!

So long, folks. Have a grand week end. Be good and be careful. Will be seeing you next week. Until then—I am

SHORT STORY
Revealing Storm
By ANNETTE VICTORIN

MARYLIN MARTIN was driving the family car feeling very gay and worldly. Suddenly she jammed on the brakes. It was Harold Fitz, and of all things, he was riding a bicycle! Just her luck. Harold came over to the side of the car, clinging to his bicycle. "Are you trying to kill me?" he exclaimed, his look one of resentment and unbelief.

"Don't be silly, Harold," Marylin returned impatiently. "If you can't ride a bicycle, you should keep off the streets."

Harold leaned over the open window and looked at Marylin like a sick calf.

"What time should I call for you Saturday. Tom's party, remember?"

"I've got a date," Marylin returned crisply, and her hand was waiting to shift gears impatiently.

"Oh, yeah?" Harold flared angrily, "I suppose you're going out with that . . . horse breeder?" His voice dripped with sarcasm.

"Harold Fitz!" Marylin cried, her cheeks flaming. "If you're referring to Jonathan Benton, he's the best riding master in the country!"

"He's a dope and old enough to be your father," Harold pointed out seriously. Then in a softer tone he continued: "You know how I feel about you Marylin and . . . I thought you were keen about me, too, until this character butted in."

Then seeing the determined look on her face, Harold added, "I suppose you're going out to the stables now to torture some poor horse."

Marylin flared, "You are such a child. Go back to your bicycle." She started the car.

Harold, a hurt look in his eyes, yelled after her, "Dad drove the car out of town—and I like my bicycle."

It wasn't every girl that had the honor of being invited to the country dance Saturday with the riding master of Gaylor Stables. Jonathan was tall, had dark eyes, a self-assurance and poise that made him so fascinating. The way he helped her into the saddle and then caught her in his arms after every canter they had together.

THE sun was faintly visible in the sky when Jonathan Benton slid into the seat beside Marylin. "Isn't it a glorious afternoon?" she sighed.

"I don't know," Jonathan replied uncertainly. "I sort of feel a storm in the air." He glanced out of the window skeptically.

Marylin started the car. It was a good five miles to town and she drove slow . . . purposely. She wanted as much time alone with him as possible. If only he'd say the things she craved to hear, now that they were alone.

Suddenly, the skies overhead were filled with clouds and like it often does, on a summer day, the storm broke in a few seconds. It simply poured.

"Close the window!" Jonathan cried excitedly, panic in his voice, "and stop the car. I don't like to drive when it's lightning." He looked terrified.

Marylin liked rain. She looked at Jonathan crouched in the corner of the car. He jerked each time the thunder pealed or the lightning flashed. Suddenly the downpour subsided a bit and the windshield wiper stopped working. Marylin couldn't see through the window. "Would you please wipe off the outside of the window?" she asked Jonathan.

He got out reluctantly. As he was wiping off the glass a sudden gust of wind encircled him and swept something right off his head. Marylin screamed. Even as he was chasing it and trying to retrieve it from one of the roadside bushes, Marylin didn't realize it was—his wig!

He adjusted the wig back to his head and crawled back into the car, looking like a wet cat. How she drove back into town she scarcely knew, but she drove like mad.

She was heading toward Fitz' Sugar Bowl and she hoped Harold would be on deck to serve her a double-malted. And suddenly she remembered that Harold simply loved storms!

Hearing Aid Battery Found to Hold Power Best if Refrigerated

NEW YORK. — Unlike bananas, hearing aid batteries should be kept in the re-frig-er-ator. That is the caution from one of the country's biggest dry cell battery makers.

Winter or summer, when not in use, surplus dry cell "A" batteries for hearing aids will last longer when kept at about the 45 degree fahrenheit temperature of the average refrigerator, according to W. S. Allen, general manager, Electrical Division, Olin Industries, Inc.

As an added precaution, the batteries should be kept in a tightly sealed glass container which will reduce humidity and also prevent damage to the batteries by spilling anything on them in the refrigerator.

Economy-minded users of hearing aids customarily keep enough batteries on hand to rotate them in use, but unless these extra batteries are kept in a cool, dry place, they are likely to deteriorate, Allen warned, because the chemicals in a battery are harmed by heat.

Owing to the wide variety of hearing aids and the varied lengths of time which individual hearing aid owners use them, it is somewhat difficult to give more than rule of thumb advice on hearing aid "A" battery use and rotation. Generally it is a good idea to let a battery rest from two to three times longer than it is used. While a dry cell battery is "resting" it has the power to recuperate. It does not, however, recuperate to the extent of its original power.

The number of surplus batteries kept on hand is determined by the amount of use given a hearing aid. A full day's use is the maximum for any "A" battery to be used without rotation. It is a convenience in rotating batteries to number them and use them in order.

Nylon Plastic May Give Aid To Many Arthritis Victims

BOSTON. — Thousands of crippled arthritis victims have a chance of being able to walk normally again through the use of nylon.

Two Boston doctors—Dr. John Kuhns and Dr. Theodore A. Potter — have evolved a technique employing nylon which enables arthritis sufferers to move their wasted knee joints again.

A translucent sheet of nylon plastic is used as a "shock absorber" between the knee cap and the leg bone to prevent painful rubbing as the joint is articulated.

Treatment of damaged knee joints has bogged down in the past because the cushion of healthy tissue separating the bones has been eaten away. Attempts to insert tissue from the thigh between the knee bone ends failed to help.

Nylon plastic, the doctors said, had the advantages of not irritating the tissues, not absorbing water and not being affected by chemicals.

Woman Advocates Republicans Name Woman for Presidency

WASHINGTON.—There's a cure advanced for what ails the nation —elect a woman as President.

That's the formula of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R., Me.) who recommended that the Republican party nominate a woman for the presidency in the 1952 election.

She had her reasons. They were:

No. 1—A woman candidate would bring the party victory after five consecutive presidential election defeats and put a Republican in the White House.

No. 2—A woman would run the government on a strict budget "just as a housewife does."

Senator Smith, only woman member of the U. S. senate, gave her views on a radio interview.

Asked if she favored drafting women for the armed service, she replied:

"Draft them in time of war; just like men. In time of peace, no."

Largest Damage Suit Asks Defendants for 72 Billion

LOS ANGELES. — The largest damage claim in history has been filed here—a claim for 72 billion dollars made in federal court.

Arthur Van Dyke and E. A. Harrison, Los Angeles management consultants filed the mammoth complaint, alleging that figure represented their potential profit from a new metallic lubricant.

Defendants in the suit included Standard Oil company of California, several former employees and about 100 John Does.

The plaintiffs, who claim ownership of about 70 per cent of disputed stock, alleged that the defendants interfered with their efforts to sell the lubricant and caused the cancellation of an agreement to participate in profits from worldwide sales of the product.

They also claim that a sample of the lubricant was adulterated by the defendants, injuring its reputation.

By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Mark 3:31-35; 6:3; I Corinthians 15:7; Galatians 2:9-12; Acts 12:17; 15.
DEVOTIONAL READING: James 1:19-27.

Brother to Jesus

Lesson for September 17, 1950

THEY WENT fishing together, no doubt; very likely they worked together in the shop; perhaps little James was the nuisance that small brothers sometimes are, but like all small brothers he would tag along when Jesus went walking over the Nazareth hills. As a man in later years he became influential and famous; indeed it was he who probably wrote the book in our New Testament called "James." But as a boy, his neighbors saw nothing remarkable in him. So completely commonplace was he, that as Mark 6 shows us, the natives of Nazareth couldn't believe that one of James' brothers could amount to anything.

Dr. Foreman

Unbeliever

FOR years and years James grew up with Jesus, boy with boy. They lived under the same roof, ate from the same dish. James may even have worn his big brother's outgrown tunics. All his childhood days he knew the care and love of the same mother Mary that Jesus had. Through all those "silent" years when Jesus lived and worked in Nazareth, James lived and worked beside him.

And yet, the strange thing is that when Jesus left the carpenter shop and went about "doing good" as Peter said, James did not believe in him. It seems clear from the story in Mark 3 that both Mary and the brothers (not James only) had the idea that Jesus was out of his mind. They came to get him and would have stopped his ministry at that point, if they could. John also mentions the fact that Jesus' own brothers did not believe in him.

It seems strange, yet the reason may not be hard to find. Perhaps it was a case of the old proverb, "Familiarity breeds contempt." Perhaps James had a sort of inferiority complex about himself, maybe he agreed with the villagers' low opinion about him, so that he could not believe that his brother could be the Christ. In any case it is plain that if miracles could ever have compelled belief, Jesus' miracles would have convinced James... but he was an unbeliever right through the day of Calvary.

Believer

PRECISELY what changed him was never known. Some anonymous writer in early times wrote a "Gospel of James"—a piece of fiction never accepted by the church as genuine. What we do know is what Paul tells us; that after his resurrection, Jesus "appeared to James." It may well be that James was convinced by the risen Christ as he had never been by the Carpenter of Nazareth.

Be that as it may, as time went on and Christians began to multiply in Jerusalem, James appeared as the leader of the Christians' Home Church. At the important conference held in Jerusalem to decide the church's first great controversy, it was James whose speech was the "last word" before the decisive vote.

Quality of Leadership

JAMES was not an accepted leader merely because he was a brother of Jesus. There were other brothers who remained quite obscure. James was a recognized leader because of his personal qualities. The reader is invited to study these out for himself. But there is one interesting and unusual combination of qualities in this man, strictness with himself, together with flexible generosity in dealing with others.

In Acts 21:17-26 it is clear that James kept all the laws of Moses himself and expected other Jews to do the same. To the end of his life he was personally a rigid conservative. But when it came to other people, he was far more tolerant.

When the question arose, How much of Jewish law shall we expect Gentile Christians to observe? James agreed to the startlingly small nucleus of laws that the Jerusalem conference set forth as the absolute minimum for all. James did not wish his own conscience to bind every one else. He did not expect every one to be bound by his own pattern. He had high standards and he lived by them. But he did not use his own standards as a club with which to beat others over the head.

THE STORY OF TEN LITTLE FREE WORKERS

THESE ARE THE WORKERS

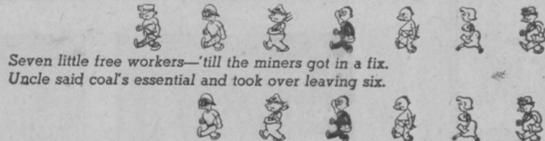

REDDY DOCTOR RAILROADER MINER STEELWORKER FARMER LAWYER GROCER SALESLER REPORTER

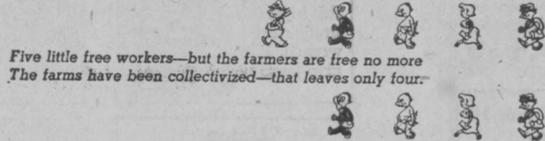

Ten little free workers in this country fine and fair.
But if you cherish your freedom—worker have a care!
Ten little free workers—Reddy was doing fine
Until the socialists got him—then there were nine.

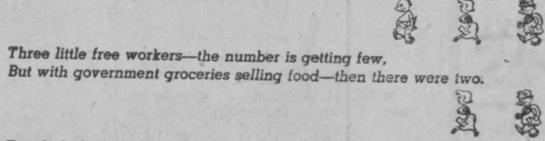

Nine little free workers laughed at Reddy's fate
Along came federal medicine—then there were eight.

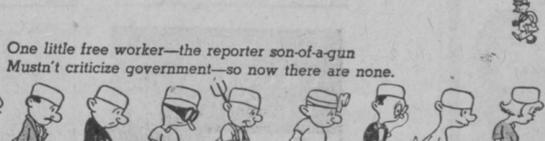

Eight little free workers thought this country heaven
But the government took over the railroads, then there were seven.

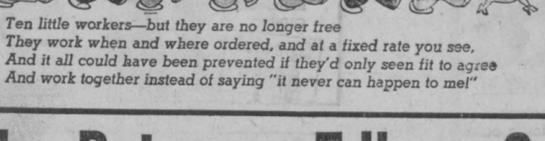

Seven little free workers—till the miners got in a fix.
Uncle said coal's essential and took over leaving six.

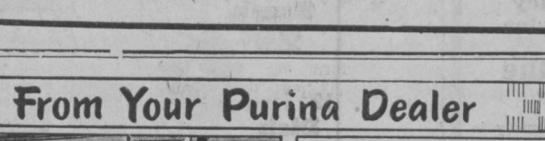

Six little free workers till the day did arrive
The steel mills, too, were federalized—then there were five.

Five little free workers—but the farmers are free no more
The farms have been collectivized—that leaves only four.

Four little free workers till the government did decree
All must have free legal advice—then there were three.

Three little free workers—the number is getting few,
But with government groceries selling food—then there were two.

Two little free workers—our story's almost done,
With clerks at work in federal stores—that leaves only one.

One little free worker—the reporter son-of-a-gun
Mustn't criticize government—so now there are none.

Ten little workers—but they are no longer free
They work when and where ordered, and at a fixed rate you see.
And it all could have been prevented if they'd only seen fit to agree
And work together instead of saying "it never can happen to me!"

KEYSVILLE MISSIONARY MEETING

The Keysville Lutheran Missionary Society opened its meeting by singing "Fling out the Banner." The Overtones of Stewardship was the theme of the evening with Mrs. Harry Clabaugh and Mrs. Wm. Miller as leaders. The introductory remarks were made by Mrs. Clabaugh. A trio, "Till the Light Shines Through" was sung by Mrs. Carol Frock, Mrs. Harry Baker and Mrs. Fink and the accompanist at the piano was Miss Fairy Frock, all of Taneytown.

The Overtones were divided into three parts. After each overtone scripture lessons were read by Mrs. Wm. Miller from Luke, Eph. and John followed by prayer by Mrs. Clabaugh and a hymn by the group. The first overtone was "Christ and Obedience" conducted by Mrs. Gregg Kiser. The following girls took part in the question and answer discussion: Barbara Ohler, Carrie Ruth Clabaugh, Betty Young and Beverly Priest, followed by singing "In Christ there is no East or West."

The second overtone "Thanks with Deeds" was given by Mrs. Gilbert Stine. We usually think in terms of money when we speak of stewardship. Mrs. Stine told us how necessary it was to be thankful with deeds. The song "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" was used. The third overtone "Fruits" was given by Mr. Lloyd Wilhide. Our stewardship bears fruits according as we are good stewards. The hymn used was "Take My Life and Let it Be."

Mrs. Bernice Study of Keymar delighted us with two readings "The Sunset Line" and "Entertaining the Minister."

The Taneytown ladies then sang, "Looking for the Lost Chord". We used the Missionary benediction in closing. The Society is indebted to the helpers, Mrs. Henry Feezer and Mrs. Elizabeth Shoemaker for the special numbers. The society deeply appreciates the talent from our neighboring church. The musical numbers were ably rendered and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Mrs. Study delighted the audience in her usual good manner. These folks are making use of their talents. About forty-one members and visitors enjoyed the program. To those who were unable to be with us, come next meeting, there is always something good in store for every one. Don't miss it. The usual business meeting was conducted at the close of the regular meeting.

It's a good idea to check your tile lines periodically for any holes or cave-ins. If you find any it's an indication that a tile is out of position or broken.

With Lane
Carroll County got $5,089,609.00
of State aid

(Total for county and towns)

The people in the counties of Maryland know what Lane's program has meant to the workers and farmers all over our state.

They know that with Lane we have had the money to build the new schools, new hospitals, and new roads our state needed. They know that with Lane we have paid our way as we went along. And they know that this money which Lane has sent back to the counties during his administration is money that the counties did not have to raise on their local tax rates.

When you boil it all down, Lane is the best friend this county ever had! Go to the polls and vote on primary day, September 18.

An open letter from GEORGE P. MAHONEY to the Democratic voters of Maryland..

GEORGE P. MAHONEY FOR GOVERNOR
Democratic Campaign Headquarters - Fifth Floor -
LORD BALTIMORE HOTEL
BALTIMORE 1, MARYLAND

Dear Friends:

In true democratic fashion—in the real American way—the issues in the gubernatorial primary campaign have been spoken and written without restraint and with complete freedom.

You—the voters of Maryland—have again witnessed and participated in democracy in action. It is your great American heritage to make the final decision in the selection of the man who will be the nominee of the Democratic Party for the high office of Governor of our FREE STATE OF MARYLAND.

It is now your privilege—indeed, your solemn obligation—to exercise your right to vote in the complete privacy of the voting booth in your precinct on September 18.

You and I stand for the same things—a drastic reduction in the present burdensome and ever-mounting taxes which are being levied against us, a business-like administration of the State's affairs without extravagance, waste and inefficiency, and without in any-wise impairing the growth and progress of our public school system, our public health and hospital service, the building and maintenance of adequate state roads, and with full financial aid to our counties and cities.

No country in the world guarantees to its citizens greater opportunity to determine the course of their own affairs. Every man, every woman—rich and poor alike, regardless of race, color or creed—shares equally the privilege to vote.

I urge you to use that privilege wisely.

September 18 is YOUR day!

Respectfully,

George P. Mahoney

Announcing the Double-Duty CHRYSLER

the smart new sedan that converts in seconds into a sports car or cargo carrier.

Twice as useful as any ordinary car! Use it as a beautiful sedan seating six! Or fold down the hinged back seat and cushion... and you have a level deck 6½ feet long. You can sleep on it... load all your hunting and fishing gear... haul farm implements, fence posts—a thousand and one things no regular car can carry. It's like having two cars in one. Come see how the new Chrysler Traveler makes your dollars do double duty. Take the wheel... find out how Chrysler's built-in value all the way through is combined with new utility that beats anything on the road today.

See how the rear seat cushion folds forward against the front seat back, and rear seat back turns down to form flat, level-loading platform. Spare tire can be carried in passenger compartment, or in well at right of luggage compartment.

Counter-balanced trunk lid opens easily, and stays open for easy loading. Sturdy luggage rack on roof adds conveniently to the huge carrying capacity of this car. Upholstery is tough plastic that resembles grained alligator hide.
