ANNUAL BANQUET OF C. OF C. HELD

A Good Program was Presented Following the Dinner

The Taneytown Chamber of Commerce held their annual banquet last night, Nov. 16. About 277 guests were in attendance. A delightful feast of abundance was served by the ladies of the Baust Reformed church under the leadership of Mrs. George Brown, president of the Ladies' Aid. This group of women, already widely known for the excellency of their service at banquets, provided well loaded platters of roast turkey, ham, with all the trimmings.

After the feast President Fuss presented the officers of the Chamber and visiting guests. Bernard Arnold, Secretary of the Chamber reported that the membership had reached 172 which is larger than last year. He also read a list of new members for 1951 which were Allen Bollinger, Walter Grumbine, Fern Haines, Walter Harner, James T. Hays, Ralph Lusby, Dr. William Santoro, J. C. Schaeffer, Stanley Stahl, and J. B. Yingling. The Secretary also read a list of the members who had died this year: William E. Ritter, R. J. Garrow, John W. Fream, and Charles E. Sell. A moment of silence was observed in their memory.

The outstanding feature of the banquet this year was the delightful entertainment provided by Les Sponseller's Stage Show. This type of program, adopted last year, proved so popular that it was continued by request for this year. Heading the troupe as mistress of ceremonies, was Ginny Manly, Milwaukee, and now in Baltimore. She is an artist of both radio and television fame.

The next act was presented by Alice Strickland, acrobatic dancer. This is where Wallace Reindollar and Howell Royer became famous. They were called on the stage, dressed up as women, and joined in the acrobatic dancing act. Now it is rumored that Wallace's days of single blessedness are limited. This act brought down the house with convulsive laughter.

One of the unique features of the show was presented by George Horn, noted ventriloquist. He presented Oscar, the dummy, and later added Henry the colored dummy, in a very entertaining act. He is one of the few ventriloquists using two dummies in his act. He also presented an animal act which he fashioned out of balloons and presented to some of the ladies in the audience.

Buddy Newgent, of Philadelphia, was the soloist for the troupe. As a gifted artist of radio and television notoriety he captivated the audience by singing many of the popular songs. He also led the audience in singing some of the popular hits. He was accompanied at the piano by LeRoy Heine, Baltimore. Mr. Heine also was accompanist for the other acts of the troupe.

Two other members of the stage show production, were the tap dancing twins, William and Wilbur Baron of Baltimore. They thrilled the audience with the artistry of their tap dancing which called for many encores. The twins featured their likeness in a double exposure act before an imaginary mirror.

Let the ladies of the audience become jealous of the fame of the men, the mistress of ceremonies called two women to the stage to help put on an acrobatic dancing act. They were Mrs. Edward Reid and Mrs. John Skiles.

All the artists in the troupe were well known entertainers for public occasions as well as on radio and television. The annual banquet was closed with the feeling that this outstanding social event of the year, was one of the most successful on record.

PRINCIPAL STAHL SPEAKS TO KIWANIS

An Outline of School Work Interestingly Given

The present elementary school system in Taneytown was explained by Mr. Stanley Stahl, principal of our new elementary school, at the regularly scheduled Kiwanis Club meeting on Wednesday, Nov. 15.

The meeting was called to order at Taney Inn by Vice-president David Smith with the invocation being given by Harry Mohny. A period of inspired group singing was held under the direction of Wallace Reindollar with Mrs. Estella Yingling accompanying at the piano.

George Shower introduced Doty Robb as his guest for the evening. Acting Secretary, Miles S. Reifsnnyder gave a brief report on the matters discussed at the executive committee meeting held at president elect David Smith's home, on Tuesday, Nov. 14. He stated that for the first time in the history of the club we would endeavor to operate under a budget system.

The program for the evening was handled by the committee on boys and girls work with Dr. Chandos M. Benner in charge. In making his introduction Dr. Benner enlightened those present with the fact that he had the privilege of teaching at a one-room school building between the years of 1897 and 1900. He stated that the age range of the students in this school was from six years to twenty-two years. It was the custom at that time for the older boys to attend school for the months of November through March since during the remainder of the year they were needed at home on the farm. Dr. Benner then introduced Prof. Stanley Stahl who explained the basis of the present elementary school curriculum. Mr. Stahl stated that basically there has been no change insofar as the system is still centered upon the proverbial three R's of reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic. The present school system however is based on democratic principles and unlike the school of twenty-five years ago, all classes of people are reached by public schools today. Mr. Stahl stated that there were four main objectives of the present system:

1. Mental
2. Social
3. Emotional
4. Physical

The greatest emphasis today as in past years is placed on the mental phase of the student's makeup, in that subject matter is considered of prime importance. However this is supplemented by the following activities and methods which are considered of real importance in the education of elementary school children today.

The social phase is accomplished by school parties, student councils, home room clubs, and a modern cafeteria system. The cafeteria system as used at the Taneytown school is unique in this respect. A host and hostess is appointed for each table. As the students file through the lines and choose their food, which is done under guidance, they fill up the tables in rotation. It is the job of the hostess to see to it that a blessing is offered before each noon day meal and that those who need assistance are aided in cutting and perparing their food for consumption. This gives the child an opportunity to learn how to associate with others.

The emotional phase is stressed by endeavoring to bring out those qualities which are inherent in each student. Each child is studied individually as near as practical. The marking system is gradually being changed to its simplest form of H. S. and U's and it is the hope that it can still be simplified to just the use of S. and U. meaning satisfactory and unsatisfactory. An attempt is made to balance the studies in each school day.

The physical phase of the program is accomplished by the usage of the familiar recess periods, by the institution of at least three periods of gym or athletics by yearly physical check-ups of each student and by the institution of a brief rest period after the lunch period and before the noon recess. It has been found by research that a student, or for that matter anyone, remembers approximately 10% of that which he reads, 50% of that which he sees and 90% of that which he does or has some active participation in. It is the objective of the elementary system to profit by this finding in that they endeavor to, through the medium of the four phases of the school curriculum, get each student to actively participate and take part in the actual practice of the things about which they study daily, rather than the antiquated system of attempting to pour something from a big jug into a little jug hoping that it takes root. In Mr. Stahl's mind the elementary school program is by far the most important program of the public school system. With good foundations the student can continue on through the junior and senior high school years and if possible into their college experiences in a more intelligent manner than what they could have done had they not had the proper basic training.

Next week's meeting will be centered about the Thanksgiving theme with the committee of Laws and Regulations handling the program. Kiwanian Sam Breth is to have charge of this meeting.

THIS 'N' THAT (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!

I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

It's a baby girl this time which Mr. Stork left with that nice young realtor and his wife around our town. Best wishes!

In Westminster there is just about the most wonderful boy in the world of eight years of age who is President of his school class and who actually assists his father in his business. He aids even in changing tires! Believe it or not! Then, talk about beautiful girls! Never realized there were so many down in "Westminster High". How sweet they appeared in Pajamas and a 'night cap' holding a lighted candle in an old-fashioned holder the night of the parade!

Did you know that during September-Video sales amounted to 14,457 sets in Baltimore and by Oct. 1, 222,186 was the total? That compares with the 87,676 sets sold a year ago and now we really know that Baltimore continues to be the No. 1 Television City of the Nation!

That reminds me that "Homer" of the Aldrich family commutes weekly by airplane between his Video shop in N. Y. and a movie set in Hollywood where a film of which he is co-author is currently in production! Umph!

Here's to those suffering with Arthritis! If you have the money immediately get the wonderful drug A.E.T.H. Yes, it is expensive but you are not worth anything with poor health and remember that "you can't take it with you!" That Drug is surely one of God's blessings handed to man by constant research.

The Elementary School food sale were something out of this world. Surely would like to meet the lady who canned the delicious corn! Betcha this that the women around these here parts could win in a contest of either baking, canning or cooking of any kind!

Naturally, Your Observer would know this to be a fact having tasted the prepared food in counties and cities in many states.

And last, but not least, if you are fortunate enough to be called by phone on "Chance of a Life Time" for the name of the mystery lady just say, "Lady Godiva" and you positively will win that grand Jack Pot!

Have a grand week-end, folks and if you are going for a drive, drive slowly for then you will see more! Will be seeing you next week. D.V. Until then, I am,

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

FORTY MILLION VOTERS

Neither the Democrats nor the Republicans endorsed the worst speech of the campaign even though it was delivered by the President of the United States.

Neither capital nor labor swallowed his advice. All this indicated why there was more independent voting than in any previous years. Perhaps no political leader in recent history has done poorer service to his country than President Truman. The Republicans came within just a few votes of winning a Senate majority.

Senator Robert A. Taft leader of the Republican opposition to the President's foreign and domestic program was re-elected in Ohio despite the concentration against him of the National Union Labor Organization—and, of course the Truman party.

Senator Millard E. Tydings, a political veteran of distinction in Maryland lost out in his State.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey was re-elected by Republican voters in New York. Governor Chester Bowles, of Connecticut, a noisy Fair Dealer was defeated. Alexander Wiley was returned for another term as Wisconsin Senator. Governor Warren, of California, was re-elected as the Roosevelt political kin in California lost out. Senator Lucas, of Illinois conceded defeat to Dirksen. James H. Duff, Republican defeated Senator Francis J. Myers, in Pennsylvania. And so the voters of the country actually demanded a different kind, and a better kind of Government for the United States of America.—National Industries News Service.

Thanks and Giving

THOUSANDS of individuals at this Thanksgiving season are grateful for the blessings which are theirs, yet disturbed by the needs of others. "There is so much trouble and want in the world," they remark, "but what can I do?"

What can you do? More perhaps than you think—even without money or worldly power or political influence. All can help by means of scientific prayer, the kind of prayer given to the world nearly two thousand years ago by Christ Jesus.

He had no fortune to distribute to the needy, no endowed institutions to call upon for assistance, no worldly prestige. Yet he healed the sick, fed the hungry, met the demands of the tax collectors, even raised the dead—all through understanding, scientific prayer.

When the centurion at Capernaum asked the Master to heal his servant, he pleaded (Matthew 8:8), "Speak the word only, and my servant shall be healed." Jesus commended his faith and said, "Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee." The narrative continues, "His servant was healed in the selfsame hour."

There was no need to journey to the bedside of the sick man. No need for Jesus to take one footstep in any direction. He did not send medical supplies or food or money. He applied the truth he knew of God and man. He understood the nature of man made in the image and likeness of God. And he said (John 14:12), "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also."

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 494): "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. It is not well to imagine that Jesus demonstrated the divine power to heal only for a select number or for a limited period of time, since to all mankind and in every hour, divine Love supplies all good."

The writer has had ample evidence of the far-reaching effect of Christian Science. Even during school days she was many times protected, healed, and guided by the prayers, the spiritual understanding, of a Christian Scientist living three thousand miles away, in another country. Neither time nor space can interfere with the operation of God's law.

The understanding that God, divine Spirit, infinite good, is All, and that man is His reflection, hence spiritual and perfect, accomplishes such healings. Right thinking from the basis of this truth of God and man benefits all. Such prayer, based on spiritual understanding, welling from a heart cleansed of pride and self-seeking, blesses the world.

Such prayer does not prohibit or prevent the giving of right material aid to others or justify us in turning aside from any practical way in which we may minister to the needy. On the contrary, the deeds we do should illustrate the truth we know. But nothing can measure the spiritual power for good of selfless, silent right thinking.

Only mentally can we go into all the world and preach the gospel. Only by right thinking can we reach out and bless all mankind. Our gratitude for our own blessings will be evident in our out-giving of loving-kindness to others. Thanks and giving are twins.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Letting Him Know

A famous motor-car manufacturer advertised that he had put a car together in seven minutes. The next evening he was called on the phone at dinnertime and asked whether it was true.

"Yes," was the reply. "Why?"

"Oh, nothing, but I think I have the car."

PROTECT

YOUR COUNTRY and YOURSELF
U. S.
SAVINGS BONDS

It is time for every American to ask himself what he can do to help keep his country strong and free. There is much to be done for here's what we must do to support our defense forces and to end aggression in the world: Produce the materials and equipment needed for defense; raise the money to pay the cost of increased defense efforts; do all we can to prevent inflation. Buying U. S. Savings Bonds helps do all of these. Enrolling for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work means you are providing for your own financial security and at the same time helping your country. THAT IS SOMETHING EVERYONE CAN DO.

Reddy for ANYTHING!

Even Korea has not caught Reddy Kilowatt napping! Your Servant of the Century was already on the job... and he stays on the job for you 24 hours a day! Your Business-Managed Electric Companies have doubled your supply of Reddy Kilowatt Power. That electricity is ready for you at the flip of your switch... Ready for anything... and it's the lowest item in the family budget.

• The business-managed electric industry is the one industry that has doubled its capacity, and reduced the cost.

• So, your government need not spend your tax money for Public Power (Political Electricity).

The Potomac Edison Co.

"Never Too Little or Too Late"

Those words were used by high government officials in praising the record of the electric companies in World War II. With so much more power available today the electric companies sincerely believe, that what they have done before they can do again, if necessary.

All of which does not mean that a local or temporary power shortage can never develop due to unforeseen circumstances. It does mean that, generally speaking, the country is in good shape as far as electricity is concerned.

FEESERSBURG

The hunting season opened Wednesday here in Carroll County and with the barking and yelping of dogs and the crack of a gun every once in awhile, the farmers and land owners were in for another period of uncertainty as to whether it was safe to walk across their own land or to be as wise as the rabbits and pheasants and take shelter until the trigger happy hunters had fired their last round of ammunition. One hates to plant a "no hunting" sign on his land but for one's own safety it is getting to be a "must." There are too many hunters out who have no sense of responsibility for another's life or property. They believe that anything that moves is shootable and they generally shoot first and investigate last. A number of farmers have turned their farms into bird and game propagation areas and do not hunt themselves, but prefer to have their land used as a bird and animal sanctuary. Any farmer that spends time and money and loving labor on his acres does not relish seeing his fences tore down, his farm animals either shot or scared to death and his trees used for target practice. On the other hand, does the hunter have any rights? If he obeys the game laws of his state and recognizes some unwritten laws of fair play, he should be able to enjoy the sport of hunting. Many farmers spot their land but will grant the right to hunt to individuals whom they know will do the right things. Not so many years ago, the hunting season was a reunion time for old friends. They came from adjoining counties, spent the morning hunting, came in for a hot dinner and spent the afternoon before a roaring kitchen fire. Those days, with many other things are gone and today we have what we might call the "hit and run hunter." He hits the land about day break, shoots up the place until he sees the angry farmer coming, then he makes for his parked car, steps on the gas and is away at 60 miles an hour to some other farm to begin all over again. Do you think this is exaggerated? Just try living on a farm during the hunting season and find out for yourself.

The Russian system of holding elections isn't very democratic, but it does have one advantage over our way of doing things. In Russia, nobody has to sit up all night to find out who won.

I was sort of bewildered and unhappy last Saturday when our ten-year-old asked me why one celebrated Armistice Day. I told her it was the day the first World War ended and the day all of us thought ended war for all time. "Why, didn't it?" she asked simply. To that, I had no answer.

Parents who blame crime—comic books for juvenile delinquency might well point the finger of guilt at themselves. In a report to the Senate Crime Committee, J. Edgar Hoover says homes broken by death, desertion, divorce, neglect and immorality are the real causes of delinquent children. Only in rare instances are crime—comic books the main cause of children taking to crime. Juvenile delinquency is a product of many causes, mainly the lack of a sense of moral responsibility among youth and this must be instilled in them through a happy, secure and loving family circle. Unstable children may be influenced by comic books, but the prevailing view among the experts is that crime comics and juvenile delinquency have no direct relationship.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Dudderar, of Frederick visited the Russell Bohns over the week-end.

The amateur contest held by the Lions Club of Taneytown last Thursday evening was certainly worth the price of admission. There were 17 contestants and each one deserved a prize. The judges must of had a bad time picking the winners, but their choice was popular with the audience. Congratulations to the Lions Club, the contestants, the judges and by no means least—the audience. For the audience was one of the most kindly and considerate that I have ever had the pleasure of sitting with. They were quiet and gave each contestant their full attention and at the end of each performance responded with sincere and generous applause.

Delight is found in many ways. Some find it in the soft blue haze—That lingers o'er the mountain peaks—Some find it in the brilliant streaks—Of golden glory painted by—the sun, at dawn upon the sky. But, pal of mine, although you, too—enjoy these things as others do—There's one thing which undoubtedly—Lifts you to heights of ecstasy—Of all delights, this bears the crown—A well cooked chicken—golden brown.

MARRIED

STONESIFER — KEILHOLTZ

In a setting of white chrysanthemums a pretty wedding was solemnized in the Mt. Tabor Lutheran Church, Rocky Ridge, Md., on Thursday, November 2, at 7:30 P. M. when Miss Hazel Marie Keilholtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Keilholtz, Rocky Ridge, Md., became the bride of Charles Leo Stonesifer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Stonesifer, Keymar, Md.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. R. S. Poffenberger in the presence of the immediate family and friends. The bride was attired in a street-length dress of teal nylon taffeta and wore black accessories, with a white rosebud corsage. The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a green dress with black accessories and wore a yellow rosebud corsage. The groom's mother chose a navy blue suit with black accessories, and wore a pink corsage for her son's wedding. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Raymond Boller, organist, played the traditional wedding music.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate family and friends. Upon their return from a honeymoon to Niagara Falls, the couple will reside at the home of the groom's parents for the present.

HARALAMPLUS — SPIESS

Brookside Place near Westminster, Md., November 3, 1950, was the scene of a quiet, but very interesting wedding. Miss Olive Mae Spiess, 658 35th St., became the bride of Mr. George W. Haralampus, 1103 35th St., both of Baltimore, Md.

The ceremony, single ring, was performed by the Rev. William E. Rop, to whom they came, on account of seeing Rev. Rop's life story, featured May 7, 1950, in the Metro-Gravure Section of the Baltimore Sun. It seems no other living clergyman, has obtained so many desirable accomplishments. The Sunday Sun on the day it published this rare life story, had a circulation of 312,168 copies. The bride was handsomely attired in a ballerina-length dress of white, with very suitable, orate accessories. The groom wore a most beautiful suit of the popular gray color. They were unattended.

The bride is employed by the Equitable Trust Company Bank, as teller. The groom has a wide experience in business. Only a few of the minister's family witnessed the ceremony. After a short trip South, they will reside in Baltimore.

OTTO—In loving memory of my dear father, WILLIAM A., who passed away 25 years ago, Nov. 19th.

Treasured thoughts of a dad so dear Often brings a silent tear Thoughts return to scenes long past Time speeds on but memories last.

More and more each day I miss him Friends may think the wound is healed But they little know the sorrow Lies within my heart concealed.

Loving daughter, CLARA, husband and granddaughter, MARGARET ABRA.

In Loving Memory of my dear husband, JOHN R. SNIDER, who passed away November 15, 1948.

Two years ago you left me, Your dear face no more to see, But my thoughts are full of memory And in my heart you'll always be. God gave me strength to bear it And courage to fight the blow But what it meant to lose you No one will ever know.

You are not here, yet in a thousand ways Your presence blesses all my days At eventide and long day through I think of you as I used to do You were so faithful, kind and true How happy the days I spent with you.

Down the Line
with Johnny Bell

On the 7 seas—yet home!

Uncle Sam's sailors may now call home or any Bell-connecting telephone ashore in America from nearly any point in the world, under a recent arrangement between the Navy and the Bell System. But—sorry, girls—Navy regulations say the service is strictly ship-to-shore. He can call you, but you can't call him.

Playing "house" plagues a party line

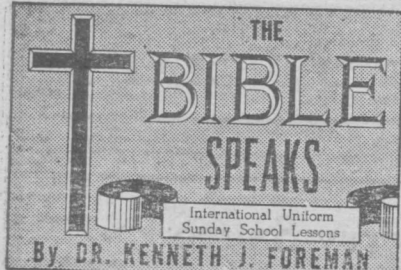

It's a good idea to explain to your children about the telephone's usefulness, and why it's best not to play with it. They may cause your line to send a "busy" signal—and if it is a party line, tie up your neighbors' service, too.

"I knew I was talking to a friend..."

"Early one morning, I became suddenly ill. I was alone and frightened. But when I picked up the telephone, I knew I was talking to a friend. The operator calmed me, and soon had the doctor on his way." We receive many letters like this. They show that people appreciate the spirit of service telephone men and women carry into their work.

Christian Worship

Lesson for November 19, 1950

SOME one has said that if the Christian church did nothing else but offer a regular opportunity for public worship of God, she would have justified her place in the sun. This is a rather misleading truth, for if a church did nothing but worship it would not be doing its whole duty, indeed it would not be a true church. As our Scripture plainly shows, worship disconnected from life is not only not good, it is sinful.

Dr. Foreman

Why Worship?

WHAT is worship, and why do we worship at all? We might define it as a meeting with God, both conscious and desired. "He shines in all that's fair," and in truth we are in his presence all the time. But we are not conscious of him all the time. When we are conscious of him, then one of two things happen. Either we hastily shut our minds and run away from him in fear, which is sin. Or we linger, feeling it is good for us to be here.

And then it is worship. Or again, we might call worship conversation between man and God. Every part of it is either our listening to God speak to us, or our speaking to God in some way.

Why worship? We worship because we love God. Otherwise it would be a bore, at best, or a kind of self-torture at worst. We worship because we need God. If Jesus needed both public worship and private prayer, so do we far more. We worship because we need to know God's will.

Why Worship Together?

PUBLIC and private worship cannot be substituted for each other. Readers of the Bible know how they were intertwined in the experiences of God's people, and how our Lord himself, who used to attend the synagogue services regularly, also sought God on the hills alone. A man who never meets with God alone in prayer will not know how to come to public worship in the true spirit; and a man who habitually stays away from church for no good reason is not a person whose private prayer-life is likely to be a healthy one.

We need to worship together with other Christians. We need this experience to strengthen our own prayer-life. We need it to keep us from selfishness in our prayers. Intense, earnest prayer, and full of faith too, may be seriously wrong if it is essentially selfish.

In corporate, public worship we are reminded that none of us stands alone; that God has many children. We need to worship together because it is one of the very few things, perhaps the only one, that all human beings can do as one. No two of us are alike, yet we are alike in this one thing: We are all human beings in need of God. To worship together is to be reminded of this.

Why Worship As We Do?

IT OUGHT not to be surprising that men worship God in so many ways, for there are all sorts and conditions of men. But within the Protestant churches, our differences are not important. Essentially we have much the same "pattern" of worship. It will be helpful to you, the next time you are in church, to ask, at each part of the service: Why do we do this? What good does it do? Could it be left out without being missed?

As you visit other churches from time to time, take note of any differences, not in a spirit of criticism but considering whether you might learn from them. What do you and they have in common?

You will agree that there are hardly any parts of a typical Christian worship service which we could do without. We need the prayers, for in them we all pour out our hearts together before God. We need the hymns and psalms, because they express the beauty and the joy of our faith; most of them are prayers set to music. We need the Scripture reading, because in the Word of God we need the Word of God to our own lives and problems. We need the offering too . . . why? But the offering is true worship only on one condition. Do you know what it is? After all, the real test of every part and variety of true worship is: Has this experience brought man and God closer together in spirit and in truth?
