FORD

V-8 TAKES FIRST PLACE IN CLASS "A"

Both Ford V-8 and SIX Deliver more than 25.9
miles per gallon

Gruelling 840-mile test
proves Ford Economy

Again this year . . . it's high honors for Ford! In the most important economy trial for American stock model cars . . . the famous annual Mobilgas Economy Run . . . A Ford 100-h.p. V-8 equipped with Overdrive took first place competing against all cars in its price class, making 54.587 ton-miles per gallon* and 25.994 miles per gallon. And its companion in quality, the new Ford SIX with Overdrive, was right up there with the winner. In fact, both cars averaged better than 25.9 miles per gallon.

Traditional Ford economy, for the second straight year, has been proved in open competition. Proved on the tough 840-mile grind from Los Angeles to the Grand Canyon . . . a course that included city traffic, below-sea-level desert heat and 7,000-foot mountain passes. Ford's Automatic Mileage Maker, standard equipment on all Ford V-8's and SIXES, contributed to this great achievement by squeezing the last mile out of every drop of gasoline.

Why not "Test Drive" the new Ford at your neighborhood Ford Dealer's? There's no better way to be convinced that "You can pay more but you can't buy better!"

*The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ton-miles per gallon" formula to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles travelled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

FEESERSBURG

The New York Times recently conducted a survey on rural education and came up with some startling facts. Rural schools are lagging behind city schools, and in many instances little if anything is being done about it. For example, one million children (for the most part those of migrator workers) got to school 60 days a year. As a result, the country is producing yearly 200,000 illiterates—persons with less than a fifth grade education. The Army will not accept such men for service. The Times survey shows that rural education receives much less support than does the urban program. Even though there are almost as many children in the rural classrooms, and slightly more teachers, the rural schools get a bare 35 per cent of the total amount spent for education in this country. For the most part the urban schools get the best teachers; the rural schools must take second choice. One reason for this is that urban teachers are paid better, but salary is not the only reason why teachers stay away from rural schools. They object to large classes, to living conditions and to overwork. Based upon the results of the Times study seven steps are offered to improve the National rural school program: Secure better prepared teachers by raising the salaries, reducing work load and providing more adequate living conditions; Adopt Federal financing for many rural communities that are too poor to provide necessary funds without government help; Adjust the curriculum to meet the needs of the community.

The spring vacation at Western Maryland College began on Saturday with the students leaving at noon. They will return Wednesday, March 28 for classes.

The Uniontown Lutheran Parish choir under the direction of Mrs. Blaine Broadwater will present to the public at Baust church, Sunday evening, March 25, at 7:45 a cantata, titled "Redemption Song." On April 1 it will be given at Winter's church. Special solos and duets will be sung by Katherine Fleagle, Isabelle Sprinkle, Mary Ann Burkholder, Carolyn Baker, Audrey Myers, Patsy Lee Bohn, Howard Frock, William Fleagle and Howard West. The choir is made up of about thirty voices.

Not much housework was done this week due to housewives being glued to their T.V. sets by the Senate Crime Committee hearing. It reminded one of Hauptmann's trial twenty years ago when one sat by the radio from breakfast until supper and on into the night. Crime in any form seems to hold a fascination for all of us. A psychologist could explain the reason in simple terms. But what really needs explaining is why the majority of the public listening to the Senate Crime Committee hearing seem to be sympathetic to the persons under investigation. I hope it doesn't mean anything but yesterday I heard a teenager boast that her number one pinup boy for this week was Frank Costello. The only consolation we parents can get out of that statement is that youth is fickle and that maybe next week's number one pin up maybe Senator Kefauver.

On Monday Frederick was rocked by an explosion of a big asphalt storage tank which severely injured one man and injured slightly two others. The blast lifted the roof of a nearby garage owned by Charles Hartman and fire destroyed his new sedan. All Frederick fire equipment answered the general alarm and kept the flames from spreading to the fuel oil tank.

And while we are writing about Frederick (our home town) it may interest some people to learn that Frederick will soon pay off the last of the Civil War "Ransom Bonds". On October 1 of this year the final $20,000 of its historic $200,000 ransom will be paid. It was during the Civil War that the citizens of Frederick agreed to pay General Jubal Early $200,000 in medical commissary and ordnance supplies to save the city from sacking. Accumulating compound interest has caused the people of Frederick to pay $400,000 more than the original $200,000. But they haven't seemed to mind as they take as much pride in the ransom as they do in the story of Barbara Fritchie.

If the investigation of the Senatorial election here in Maryland between Butler and Tydings has proven anything it is that the average voter is not ready for self-government. One is never too old or too smart that there isn't something left to be learned. When you stick 2 or 3 pieces of macaroni in the center of a double crust pie, the juice bubbles up the sticks instead of over the side of the pan.

"The very idea!" said the next door neighbor to her small son. "Wanting a nickel to be good. Why can't you be like your Daddy, he good for nothing!"

God gave me strength to bear it, Courage to fight the blow, But what it meant to lose you, No one will ever know. When the evening shades are falling And I am sitting all alone, In my heart there comes a longing If you only could be with me now. Beyond the gate my loved ones, Find happiness and rest, And there's comfort in the thought, That a loving God knows best. By their loving wife and sister, ADA V. KESSLER.

Here's How Reduced Truck Weights Will Take a Share of Everything You Buy

Lower Weights Will Cost YOU More

If the proposed law to reduce the weights carried on trucks in Maryland goes into effect, the majority of the efficient trucks will have to be replaced with more small size trucks.

More small trucks to carry the same loads means increased manpower, increased maintenance and equipment costs—EXTRA COSTS which will be passed on to you.

So you—Mr. and Mrs. Consumer—
YOU WILL PAY THE BILL!

We All Need More Efficient Service

Marylanders, and all Americans depend upon truck service more and more each year. And rightly so, for we have never had a greater need of direct, prompt and economical transportation.

To discourage any form of transportation at this time in our history is down-right short sighted. Common sense tells us that efficient trucks are vitally needed, from here to Korea!

Just remember this—over 600 Maryland communities depend completely on truck service for contact with the outside.

Trucks Pay Their Share of State Taxes

In 1949, trucks operating in and through Maryland paid 37% of the total expenditures for new State Roads. Yet trucks represent only 15.7% of vehicles using the roads.

Maryland collected almost $11,500,000 from trucks through special highway taxes. This was nearly 35% of the total highway taxes paid to the State . . . 18% more than all the money spent for maintenance, administration and safety on the State roads system!

Let's Work This Out Together

Public demand has brought about the progress of trucking. Roads can and should be built to properly serve all forms of motor transport.

Let's work together to make sure special interests don't push the clock back on progress in Maryland!

Death to Life

Lesson for March 25, 1951

THE FLOWERS in the church on Easter morning will not have been there long. Less than 24 hours before, the church was dark and empty. At no time in the year does the church look gloomier than on Easter Eve. In many churches the altar is draped in black. Good Friday commemorates the saddest day in earth's history, Easter the most joyous. Yet they come only 48 hours apart. This reminds all Christians that neither Good Friday nor Easter stands by itself, but each gives meaning to the other.

Dr. Foreman

Cross and Crucifix

THE Protestant churches usually have a cross. That is because Protestants wish to remember that the Cross is empty, that it is not a dead Jesus whom we worship, but a living, risen, reigning Christ.

Even in the churches where crucifixes are numerous, there may be pictures or statues representing the risen Christ. Suppose there had been only Good Friday, suppose that had been the end of Jesus? Then there would have been no particular point in the cross. It would have been the mere instrument of one more violent death, another case of justice gone wrong, another tragic failure.

The Resurrection showed who it was that hung upon the Cross; the Resurrection showed that the Cross was not a scene of failure but of victory. "Death could not keep its prey; He tore the bars away!" But on the other hand, what would the Resurrection have been without the Cross? Just another miracle—something to make our eyes pop, but not to make us grateful. The New Testament tells of or hints at many resurrections during the time of Christ; but it is not enthusiastic about any of them, with this one exception.

Victim and Victor

THE New Testament represents the Resurrection in many lights. One of the most striking is that it was a reward, a reward for the Cross. That is, God "highly exalted" Jesus because of his willingness to die on behalf of others (Isaiah 53:12; Phil. 2:8). The Cross was the battle with the dark powers, and the victory; the Resurrection was the march of triumph.

On the Cross Jesus was both victim and victor; on Easter morning he was all the victor. The Cross was a perfectly natural event; by it Jesus underwent the worst that nature, and human sin, can do. On the Cross Jesus was murdered, for murder it was, however "legal" it was made to seem; and he called down no miracle to save himself.

But at the Resurrection Christ rose above nature, as nature's Lord. The early church preached both Cross and Resurrection; and it has never forgotten either one.

"As He is, so are we..."

THERE is another important truth about the Cross and Resurrection. From the very beginning, the church has refused to think of these events as concerned with Jesus alone. The Christian who has begun to work deeply into the meanings of his faith will see farther than the child does. He will see both Cross and Resurrection from the inside.

The church has long taught that on the Cross God was doing something for us, and that through the Resurrection God is doing something for us. Paul expresses the life of a Christian as of one who is "dead with Christ" and "risen with Christ." The Christian life is thought of as one which has undergone both death and resurrection. Death to sin; rising to a new kind of life; death to a kind of existence in which we are slaves to what is worst in us; rising to a kind of life which we are "more than conquerors."

Not all Christians have understood this, to be sure. Perhaps the greater number of Christians think of their life as one of simply trying, not very hard, to do the best they can, and usually failing. But the really high-level Christians have discovered something more profound: that the Christian actually has access, by faith, to an inner power which is the very same that raised Jesus from the dead. Every Christian can share now in the resurrection-life of Christ. And this is the secret of Easter.
