'TEEN-AGER CAUGHT

Trooper Poteet Chases Boy About Ten Miles

One of the most daring pursuits of a 17-year-old youth was conducted last Friday night when State Trooper Corp. James S. Poteet followed Geo. Henry McDonnell, of Emmitsburg, from Taneytown to Emmitsburg.

The youth in trying to evade the trooper raced his car at a 85-90 miles an hour speed but was apprehended on the Emmitsburg-Gettysburg road near the spot where several youths met death recently in an auto accident.

Corp. Poteet phoned ahead to trooper 1st class Hiram Brown asking for a road block he set up at the square, the speeder trying to avoid this by turning up an alley, going through a stop sign but the efficient troopers caught the boy shortly outside of Emmitsburg. Two companions were with the boy in his mad ride.

A hearing was held Saturday morning before Trial Magistrate J. Francis Reese and the teenager was charged with exceeding 70 miles an hour, operating vehicle with inadequate muffler and with operating vehicle without license in his possession. He was found guilty of all three charges and was fined on the first charge $250. and costs and 30 days in the Carroll County jail; on the second charge $500. and costs and the third charge $100. In default of payment he was given 30 additional days in the Carroll County jail.

The state police said the four youths admitted they knew the policeman was pursuing them, and McDonnell was quoted as declaring that if he had not had clutch trouble he would have eluded the police. Arrangement before Magistrate Reese took place after Chief Judge James E. Boylan, Jr., waived juvenile court jurisdiction in the case.

PAPER COLLECTION

Boy Scouts Will Make Drive (Tomorrow) Saturday

A collection of paper will be made in Taneytown, Saturday, July 14th, by Scouts of Troop 348. Besides newspapers, magazines, and books, there is a large demand for rags and scrap iron, which will also be solicited by the Scouts.

Scout meetings on Thursdays have been informal with the onset of hot weather, often including a period of swimming at Crouse's Mill. On July 5th the meeting was enjoyed at Natural Dam, where a wiener roast followed the swim.

Progress in Scout rank advancement has been more noticeable of late, and a Troop Board of review was conducted June 28th under the direction of Clarence A. Harner and Raymond E. Haines, Committeemen representing Hesson-Snyder Post 120, American Legion, sponsors of the Troop. Kenneth Frock and Robert Ohler were advanced to First Class rank, Star Scout was attained by Donald Lawyer and Robert Sentz, and reviewed for Eagle Scout were Explorer Adviser Stanley F. Frock and Scoutmaster Wilbur O. Thomas.

The following have earned merit badges in recent weeks which were recorded at this review: Andrew Alexander, Jr., Pioneering merit badge; Robert Bowers, Forestry; Larry Eckard, Cooking, Forestry and Bird Study; Donald Lawyer, Forestry; Philip Lawyer, Pioneering; Larry Martin, Forestry and Music; Robert Ohler, Swimming and Home Repairs; John Perry, Forestry, and Robert Sentz, Home Repairs.

In the patrol contest the Foxes led by Donald Lawyer and Frederick Markle are in a tie with the Raccoons led by Robert Bowers and Larry Eckard. The Pine Trees headed by Kenneth Frock are third, while the newly organized Apaches under Robert Sentz and Robert Ohler are in last place, but climbing rapidly.

The contest will end with the week at Broad Creek Memorial Camp, Whiteford, Md., to which the Troop will journey on July 21st, joining with Troop 393, Westminster, Albert G. Albrecht, Scoutmaster, in the Dan Beard campsite. Registrants at present total 26 persons.

For the paper drive Saturday Scouts are requested to report by 8 a. m., and the aid of citizens in having paper ready is earnestly sought. Their usual cooperation is always greatly appreciated.

YOUR NEW SOCIAL SECURITY

Article No. 4

Here's a brief look at your new Social Security. Many new features have been added, making a bigger and better Old-Age and Survivors Insurance system.

Millions of people never covered before came under Social Security on January 1, 1951. They include most of the self-employed, domestic workers, certain regularly employed farm workers, and several other groups. You can count more earnings toward social security benefits in 1951 and thereafter. You will get credit for the first $3600 you earn each year, instead of $3000 as under the old law.

Here's some good news about features which began September 1, 1950. You can now work for as much as $50 a month on social security jobs and still draw retirement or death benefits. If you are over 75, you can draw retirement benefits no matter how much you are making on a social security job.

If you are already 65, or will be any time before July 1954, you need only six quarters of coverage—a year and a half of covered work—to qualify for retirement payments.

There's a special new feature for veterans. Under the new law you get a social security credit of $160 for each month you spent in service during the World War II period. That credit is added to your account when you die or when you claim retirement benefits. There are no steps a living veteran needs to take at this time.

For those already drawing retirement or survivor's benefits, there was really good news—a big boost in the size of their checks. Present benefits have been increased all along the line; even doubled in the lower brackets. These bigger payments were included in checks received in October, 1950.

If you are eligible for benefits under the new Social Security, or if you want more information about it, get in touch with your Social Security office.

CRUISE DOWN THE BAY

The cruise committee of the T. H. S. Alumni Association announced that bus reservations were closed on Wednesday for the Moonlight cruise which will take place Tuesday night. At that time money had been placed with the committee for a full bus load. Any Alumni who are still interested are invited to drive their cars and join in the excursion on the S. S. Tolchester, Pier 5, Pratt St., Baltimore. A second bus could still be chartered if sufficient interest were shown to merit another. The committee regrets that reservations of several people may have to be turned down if another full bus cannot be gotten and hope that they can make the trip any way.

VACATION

VACATION SCHOOL

Successfully Held at Keysville

The Keysville community has written another chapter in its V.C.S. activities. Running from June 19 to 29th, the school was conducted each day with fine attendance and wonderful cooperation, upon the part of the teachers and pupils and parents.

Four different age groups, beginners, primary, juniors and intermediates brought together in our rural community 102 youngsters who made an average attendance of 94.

The Lutheran series of studies for 1951 were used and the 10 cities visited by our Lord were indelibly impressed upon the minds of all. Our department heads, Mrs. Carroll Wilhide, Mrs. James Cushon, Miss Ina Duble and Mrs. Ellen Kiser, respectively, were ably assisted by a corps of helpers and aids, who worked in relays to make it possible that not a single day would be too great a burden for any one. Mrs. Bernice Wilhide gave daily attention to attendance records, and offerings and made a complete tabulation of pupils and the homes from which the children came, which will be valuable help in planning future schools. With house wives and busy farmer's wives giving their time and autos to see that all children got to the church and home again in safety, a most pleasant and profitable two weeks was given to the very important study of the gospel according to St. Luke, which furnished the basis for our study. All told, as many as 30 different persons took part and helped to make the machinery of the school run smoothly, and to each one we are greatly indebted.

The children brought their offerings, amounting to $6.61 which has been set apart for aid in the cerebral palsy clinic of Frederick county, and the general offering of parents and friends has more than paid the expenses; and the surplus has been earmarked towards the purchasing of an audio-visual equipment for use in the churches and community.

We are encouraged in this field of Christian Education by members of the Reformed congregation, who sent their children and shared in the teaching staff, and who graciously allowed us the use of their parish hall and grounds for a picnic on the afternoon of June 27. Members of sister congregations of the Christian faith living in our vicinity demonstrated a most wonderful spirit of helpfulness by their constant support of the undertaking. The will to do something was really answered by a magnificent accomplishment of something well done.

As the Lutheran Pastor in the community my appreciation can not be written in words, our hope is that the lives of the kiddies will be richer for our efforts.

POLIO POINTERS FOR 1951

If Polio comes:

Do allow children to play with friends they have been with right along. Keep them away from new people especially in the close daily living of a home.

Do wash hands carefully before eating and always after using the toilet especially important when polio is around. Also keep food clean and covered.

Do watch for signs of sickness, such as headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, sore muscles, stiff neck or back, extreme tiredness or nervousness, trouble in breathing or swallowing.

Do put a sick person to bed at once, away from others, and call the doctor. Quick action may lessen crippling.

Do telephone your local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, if you need help call Gladys M. Wimer, Carroll County Chapter chairman, 87 W. Green St., Westminster, Phone 352. No patient need go without care, for lack of money. Your chapter will pay what you cannot afford.

Do remember—at least half of all polio patients get well without any crippling.

If Polio comes:

Don't get over-tired by hard play, exercise work or travel. This means men, women or children.

Don't get chilled. Don't bathe or swim long in cold water or sit around in wet clothes.

Don't have mouth or throat operations during a polio outbreak.

Don't use another person's towels, dishes, tableware or the like.

Don't take children to places where there is polio. Ask your Health department.

Don't take your child out of camp or playground, where there is good health supervision.

Termites work slowly, so beware of the exterminator who tells you it isn't safe to wait while you check his references.

There are more tractors than horses on Maryland farms, according to the census.

Sort and use ripest tomatoes first. Keep the rest spread out where it is cool. The refrigerator is a good place.

INFIDELITY

An infidel father once (so the story goes) held his young son on his knee and was at great pains and great length explaining that there was no God. It is all a mistake said the father to teach people such nonsense, when the little fellow looked up into his father's face and asked "but father wouldn't it be hell if you were mistaken." All mankind intensively believe in a God of some kind, Stalin and his kind to the contrary, notwithstanding, Napoleon once was walking the streets of Paris accompanied by a talkative subordinate officer who was loudly proclaiming disbelief in any God, when Napoleon stopped suddenly and pointed skyward asked "Then who made these."

The primitive American Indians believed in and worshipped a great spirit, The Hottentots of Africa believe in God, and you my dear infidel friend if you read this, also believe in God.

What a beautiful thing is the Apostles Creed, the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments. Even if there were no God, mankind would create one. Man must worship something.

LET'S NOT CONFUSE TRUCE WITH PEACE...OR VICTORY!

A cease-fire is not a victory. It is not a peace. Not in Korea, or anywhere else. The shooting stops. The belligerents lick their wounds, get a shave and a bath and stand by to go at it again if peace talks fail to jell.

Whether Russia and the Chinese Reds really want to end the Korean slaughter, no one can tell at this writing. Obviously they have much to gain by merely suggesting the idea and putting the date for the cease-fire parley days ahead. This is especially true when neither we nor the U. N. are able to know what goes on in the Manchurian staging areas during this interim. Morale of troops can be expected to take a nose-dive when truce-talk is uppermost in everyone's mind.

Traditionally, the American people have hated war, been eager at the close of every conflict to disarm and forget. Sensitive to this, the Congress may be tempted to clamp down on foreign aid and defense appropriations. And at the moment both the Military and the Administration are warning the law-makers of the deadly peril of relaxing our determination to get-strong-fast.

Assuming all goes well, incredibly well, peace talks will be lengthy and aggravating to western minds. The troops will stay on, no one can guess how long. And it is the view of many experts that if peace talks should fail, the Korean war will not be resumed, but open shooting war with Russia may start.

But to continue our optimism. Suppose a peace is achieved with acceptable guarantees, shall we have won or lost? We talk of how costly the fighting has been to the Red Chinese. It has been costly to us, too. And it has been mighty cheap for Stalin! The time to cheer is not yet.—J. E. Jones.

ELECTRICITY

An old saying reads, "Where there is smoke there is fire." Turn that around to read "Where there is no fire there is no smoke," and you have the reason why cooking with electricity is so much cleaner. There is no flame to give off smoke and soot to soil curtains, walls, windows and woodwork. Even your pots and pans stay gleaming bright.

You save hours of hard cleaning and washing time. You save dollars on painting and papering. Only when you have used an electric range will you realize how much cleaner it is than old fashioned types.

ONLY AN ELECTRIC RANGE GIVES ALL THESE ADVANTAGES

- ✓ COOLER kitchen
- ✓ LOW COST of operation
- ✓ BETTER and MORE HEALTHFUL
- ✓ FAST as fire without flame
- ✓ PERFECT RESULTS everytime
- ✓ AUTOMATIC OPERATION

FEESERSBURG

People whose business it is to know whereof they speak report that crop prospects for all farmers are the most favorable the country has known. They forecast over three billion bushels of corn and 1070 million bushels of wheat. Reports disclose some unusual comparisons. It indicates that Virginia will produce more corn per acre (47 bushels) than Iowa ("where corn grows tall"), (46 bushels). It predicts that the yield per acre of wheat in both Virginia and Maryland will be vastly better than in Kansas, the nation's greatest wheat state. Virginia and Maryland's per acre yield is estimated at 20 bushels; Kansas 14. The report predicts the largest hay crop on record, a vital source for meat and dairy supplies. Not only does the prediction paint a rosy picture for grains, but fruits too will be plentiful and Maine reports 485 bushels of potatoes to the acre. It does seem from all these optimistic reports that our country is again bursting at the seams of its barns, mills, and storehouses, with food. But with all our knowledge on how to produce, we still haven't solved the problem of redistribution. And this is the problem that must be solved if we are ever to have peace. For the fact is that all this uncertainty, all this unrest in the world is due because millions starve while other millions have too much.

Miss Pearl Buck in her new book called "God's Men" reveals through two men named William and Clem her concern for this unnecessary starvation in the world. William believes that by filling men's minds with the right ideas, they can be persuaded to distribute the world's goods as it should be. Clem on the other hand believes that food should be as free as air and water, because food is just as vital for life. In her book, Miss Buck does not attempt to answer which one is right—that is left to the reader. If you like to read a book that will make you think, get "God's Men". Its the best book in my opinion, that Miss Buck has ever written.

Along about this time every year when I am in the midst of canning and the kitchen is stacked chin high with extra work, cards and letters arrive every day from friends and acquaintances telling me about their vacations. The cards generally have a beach scene on them with cool waves curling in and lapping at the sands or a picture of a mountain retreat looking cool and alluring. My friends write about the lovely meals and restful sleep they are having and that is when I grit my teeth and gurgles "wish you were here."

It is never too soon to do a kindness, for you can never know how soon it will be too late.

THIS 'N' THAT

Green is the grass in the yard today
Pasture for our luck also for hay
Such is our luck well placed and strong
Happy today and for the day long
Who would not wish lucky to be
If he could have all the things that he sees.
How shall we manage our success to gain
When we but stand outside in the rain.
Gone to the sheep fold the year and the rain
Hogs in the wood lot produced finest ham
Guess that is all I'll say for today
Why should I say more, there's no one to pay. H.

HUMAN WARDROBE

After major surgery, an Irish patient came out of the ether in a semiprivate ward and exclaimed joyfully, "Faith, and that's over." "Don't be too sure," counseled a gloomy voice from the next bed. "The rascals left a sponge inside of me and had to cut me open again." At that moment the surgeon stuck his head in the door and asked, "Anybody see my hat and coat?" The Irishman faints.

Maybe They Ain't For Sale

Did you ever stop to think that the poor old duck's business is always in a slump, due to her lack of advertising? She lays her eggs in seclusion—she never makes any noise about it. But when the hen lays her eggs—her cackles are heard far and near. She tells the world about it—she advertises! The result is, the world eats hens' eggs by the millions, while the poor old duck's eggs are unsought.

ILLITERATE

A man-about-town was in serious trouble and called up his lawyer. "It's a dirty trick," he screamed into the phone, "a dirty trick." The lawyer soothed him with, "Calm down, calm down, and tell me what's the trouble." "That girl's husband has made a horrible mistake," screamed the man. "He's named me as co-respondent in a divorce case and I can't even write!"

Home Builder

Farmer Handy With Tools

WEST BRANCH, Iowa — Some 41 years ago Hans Hansen, a native of Denmark, acquired a 70 acre tract of land near West Branch. There wasn't a building on it—not even a fence post.

Today farmer Hansen has 240 acres of land, 80 of which are tillable, and every building and fence on the place was erected by the former immigrant.

These include a home, woodshed, garage and workshop, double corn crib, chicken house, two barns, hog house, tractor shed and fuel house, a sawmill shed and a machine shed. Around the farm are five miles of solid fences erected by Hansen. He even fitted five bedrooms in the home with furniture he made himself.

Illinois Town Rallies To Defend Free Press; Editor Stresses Peril

CHRISMAN, Ill.—The 1200 people of Chrisman recently celebrated a "freedom day" and topped it off with a meeting at the high school gymnasium as the first home town expression of opposition to governmental regulation and the growing threats to control free speech.

Cecil E. Smith, superintendent of Chrisman schools, who presided, estimated about 300 of the town's population attended the night meeting. Sponsored by the Chrisman American Legion post, the Chrisman Commercial club and the Lions club, the "freedom day" is believed to be the first expression by a home town against regimentation and controls.

Principal speaker was Charles A. Crowder, editor and publisher of the Flora Sentinel at Flora, Ill.

The editor warned against "present and ever growing threats to control free speech and a free press and radio." He said these threats already have been demonstrated in Illinois and other parts of the nation in attempts to control these free institutions.

He then outlined four major threats against freedom of the press and radio:

1. Political control of news through pressure on editors.
2. Economic boycotts by advertisers or other groups seeking to control the press.
3. Judicial pressure whereby a judge could interpret a law to gag the press.
4. Legislative attempts to legislate controls of the press.

Balanced Farming Saves Business in Small Town

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. — Arkadelphia bankers will tell you these days that better farming practices are responsible in a considerable degree for a substantial increase in the bank deposits in the community. Ten years or more ago, a failure of a cotton crop meant bad business for the merchants of the town. Diversified and balanced farming, which includes livestock raising, and dairying has changed the picture greatly for the community. The over-all general program has been to get away from the one-crop system.

For the past six years farmers have been encouraged to build up their pastures around the ponds, and to stock the ponds with fish for food. In 1950 there was a gain of 25 per cent in pasture development in Clark county. Better breeding was another program and this is beginning to show greatly in the improvement of the herds in the county.

All of these efforts toward better pastures and better breeding have been fruitful and are reflected in the statement that Clark county farmers sold 20,000 head of cattle in 1950 for $1,250,000.

Arkadelphia bankers point out that the story of Clark county proves the close relation between the small town and the rural families that surround it. The story can be repeated in numerous small towns across the nation.

Nebraskans Lead Entire U.S. in Life Expectancy

Life in the country and small towns—at least, in the west north central states—is longer than in the rest of the United States.

That's the conclusion of Dr. Charles E. Dutches, medical director of Schenley Laboratories, Inc., and an authority on geriatrics (the science of aging), based on latest figures.

Residents of Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, and North Dakota have the longest life-span in the nation. Wisconsin, Oregon, Arkansas and Connecticut round out the top 10 states, Dutches reports.

Residents of these 10 states can expect to live from one to four years longer than the national average—now 71 for a girl baby and nearly 66 for a male infant. In Nebraska, which ranks as the nation's number one state in longevity, a girl born today has a life expectancy of 74, while a baby boy can expect to live to nearly 70.

Dutches attributes longer life throughout America to such drugs as penicillin and streptomycin, better care and treatment methods, preventive medicine, and a higher standard of living.

Shockproof Homes

Lesson for July 15, 1951

EVERYBODY who begins a home wants it to last. Nobody really wants a temporary, makeshift home. There have been people who thought they wanted "trial marriage" but such persons did not want a home at all. What is it that holds homes together and makes them last? Life brings many an earthquake shock. How do you get shockproof homes?

Dr. Foreman

Homes Without Marriage

LET it be said at once that while most homes begin with marriage, and the normal home consists of father, mother and children, there are homes without married couples. The story of Mary, Martha and Lazarus in the New Testament is the story of such a home.

Here were three grown persons, two sisters and a brother, and they had a good home; it must have been a good one, or Jesus would not have enjoyed going there as often as he did.

There have been other homes which have blessed all under the roof, such as a cottage group in an orphan's home, or a group of old people living together in one household; even a boarding house may, through the consecrated genius of some one person, become a kind of home, beloved and long happily remembered.

But when all is said and done, all these kinds of marriage-less homes, good as they often are, take as their model the "normal" home of parents and children. And this normal home begins with marriage. If the marriage is permanent, the home will be; if the marriage drifts and wrecks, so will the home.

"Till Death Do Us Part"

AS the present writer has said in "From This Day Forward" (a small book on the meaning of the Christian marriage service): "Only the Christian religion sponsors the highest form of marriage in the world. For Christian marriage is permanent. The state does not demand so much, social pressure in most places will not demand it, other religions have lower ways."

But the Christian ideal of marriage is nothing less than the union of one man and one woman, for their lifetime.

No Endurance Test

CHRISTIAN marriage is not a mere endurance test. If that is all, it may be genuine, but not successful. Now a genuine cake is not a pie and not a roast; but not all genuine cakes are successful.

Marriage and a home at their best can be a kind of heaven; but who would want a heaven that might evict its tenants any morning?

On a windy day in a certain street of houses hastily built for G.I.'s, any one might see the flimsy shingles flapping in the wind like so many sheets of paper. The young couples who were flim-flammed into buying these houses have already regretted it. No one wants to live in a house that the wind will blow to pieces. And no one wants a home that will be shaken apart by the winds of adversity or the earthquake shocks of disappointment.

The Heart of the Home

THE real basis of a lasting home is love. Everybody knows this much; not every one knows what love is. Love is not mere sentiment, and much more than emotion.

What Paul said long ago has been put by J. B. Phillips into modern words:

"This love of which I speak is slow to lose patience — it looks for a way of being constructive. It is not possessive; it is neither anxious to impress nor does it cherish inflated ideas of its own importance. Love has good manners and does not pursue selfish advantage. It is not touchy. It does not compile statistics of evil or gloat over the wickedness of other people. . . . Love knows no limit to its endurance, no end to its trust, no fading of its hope; it can outlast anything. It is, in fact, the one thing that still stands when all else has fallen."

A home where love of that sort is at its heart, will stand every shock of time.

COLORFUL FESTIVALS

Iowa Towns Hold Annual Tulip Fetes

PELLA, Iowa — Wooden shoes—real Dutch ones—clattered through the streets of Pella and Orange City on the weekend of May 17-19. Both communities held their annual tulip festivals on that weekend.

Toddlers and great-grandfathers, and most of the residents in between, put on wooden shoes and authentic costumes of their Dutch forefathers and joined in the colorful festivities. Dressed in the garb of the provinces from which the early Iowa settlers came, the townsfolk took part in street-scrubbing squads, Dutch folk dances and drills, and daily parades.

Hundreds of thousands of blooming tulips added their beauty to the occasion.

Residents of both Pella and Orange City chose this reenactment of historic customs, during the season of the tulips' glory, to commemorate the founding of their communities.

Pella was settled in 1847 by a group of about 800 Hollanders who wished to escape burdensome taxation and religious oppression in their homeland. Before they set sail for America they decided their new home would be named Pella—City of Refuge.

Land of Plenty Found

Their investigating committee found government land plentiful and cheap in the new prairie state of Iowa, and the group settled in a fertile valley between the Des Moines and Skunk rivers. The thrifty, reverent Dutch won the respect of other Iowa pioneers, and the community prospered.

In 1869 four pioneering families set out to seek new land for settlement. By swimming their mule teams across the streams, and pulling covered wagons through the water on tow-ropes, they reached a fertile valley between two forks of the Floyd river. On their recommendation, other settlers followed to establish the new community of Orange City.

The four thousand residents of Pella today, and the two thousand inhabitants of Orange City, are nearly all descendants of the early Dutch settlers. Among the characteristics they have retained are traditional hospitality and a love of tulips. When the two communities, separately, were considering suitable celebrations to honor their founding fathers and historic traditions, a tulip festival was a natural choice.

A Folk Festival

Both communities have retained the dignity of a folk festival. Carnival concessions are not permitted to operate.

Most events at Pella were free to the public. Among them were a floral show in the American Legion hall, under supervision of John Res, grower and importer of Holland tulip bulbs, and an exhibition of Dutch art in Central college.

Pella is located 40 miles southeast of Des Moines, in Marion county. Orange City is in northwestern Sioux county, 40 miles north of Sioux City.

Weekly Papers Want News of Men in Service

CLARION, Iowa — An increasing number of weekly newspapers throughout the country have started programs to gather detailed records about the men from their small communities now serving in the armed forces.

The Clarion Monitor recently put its problem in print:

"At the present time The Monitor has a detailed record of at least 35 young men from Clarion and vicinity who are in the armed forces. The publishers are only too well aware that this list is far from complete.

"With more and more young men either enlisting or being inducted every month, The Monitor proposes to start a column in the near future about where they are in training, of their promotions, and other interesting chit-chat.

"To have a column of this nature it will require the cooperation of subscribers. The selective service board supplies the newspapers with the names of men who are inducted into service. But from that time on news of the men depends on the initiative of his relatives and friends.

Sentimental Californian To Restore Ghost Town

CALICO, Calif.—The ghost town of Calico in the heart of California's Mojave desert is coming to life.

The town is being rebuilt because of one man's sentiment. He is Walter Knott, descendant of California pioneers.

Forty years ago, Knott and his wife homesteaded a piece of the desolate Mojave near Calico. When he needed money for groceries he hiked over to Calico and hired out as a mine laborer.

Even then Calico was dying. The town's heyday was from 1881 to 1897, when 88 million in silver was hacked from surrounding hills. The first silver strike in the area was made in 1881 by John McBride, Larry Silvia and Charlie Meacham in a canyon known as Wall Street. Knott plans to restore the town as a tourist attraction.

WEYBRIGHT-WAYBRIGHT REUNION

The 15th annual reunion of the Weybright-Waybright clan was held in Mt. Tabor Park, Rocky Ridge, Md., July 8 with approximately 125 relatives and friends registering.

Following the basket lunch, the Pres. Mr. Saylor Weybright all to assemble in the pavilion for devotional service opening with singing America. Business meeting and program. Mr. Howard Waybright, vice-president read the scripture; Rev. Ralph E. White offered prayer. Several solos and duets were very beautifully rendered. Mrs. Norville Shoemaker, gift chairman awarded the gifts: Youngest present, 6 months; oldest 83 years; couple married longest time 57 years; most recent married 3 weeks; largest family, 4 children coming longest distance from Bridgewater, Va. Mrs. R. S. Weybright historian reported 6 births; 5 marriages and two deaths.

Rev. S. R. Weybright conducted the memorial service in memory of two deceased members, Mr. Wm. E. Ritter and Mr. Walter Shoemaker.

Chaplain George B. Laird, Fort Belvoir and Rev. Ralph E. White gave short but interesting talks. Children spent time on swings, sliding boards and other park amusements.

The meeting closed with group singing Bless Be the Tie that Binds, and benediction by Rev. S. R. Weybright. Hoping to meet again 2nd Sunday in July 1952.

COMMISSION UNDERTAKING DENTON STUDY

The Maryland State Planning Commission in cooperation with the Denton Chamber of Commerce is now studying the economic base and potential of Denton, with the aim of laying the groundwork for the industrial development of the area. After the local group decided that some action be taken to encourage population growth and business activity in the area, the technical assistance of the Commission's staff was requested to analyze the Community's needs and resources.

The study, which should be completed in about a month, will survey the industrial, business, and social factors in Denton. Among these are: transportation facilities, labor, market, water supply, industrial sites and buildings, schools facilities, living conditions, power, and distribution facilities. The cooperation of local citizens is essential to the successful execution of any development program, and it has been decided, therefore, that there will be broad community representation on committees to gather data. Public announcements about the progress of the survey will be released.

SHORT STORY
Ten Minutes Late
By
AAGE V. HOVMAND

THE evening was dark when at 11 o'clock Head Signalman Petersen arrived at the signal box for duty.

"Evening, Hansen! Any news?" Petersen took off his cap and coat.

"They say Sivertsen's out."

So this was it! Sivertsen had been his mate but Petersen had had to report him. Sivertsen had been given a year in jail. He had threatened to get revenge.

"Nothing else to report, Hansen?"

"Eight cars from the brick works. There was no room in the freight siding. They're on line No. 2 waiting to be picked up by the early morning freight. That means no through trains on line No. 2."

Hansen had gone. Petersen was alone. Keep calm, he told himself. He lit his pipe and began to read the paper. The night express was due to pass at 11:27; at about 11:20 it would be signalled through from the junction.

He raised his head to glance at the clock and stared sideways into the muzzle of a revolver. He felt his scalp shrink.

Behind him came Sivertsen's ugly voice. "Put your hands behind you."

Petersen could feel his hands being tied to the back of the chair.

Suddenly the phone rang. Sivertsen lifted the receiver. "Right... all clear!" he said. The word was that the night express was passing the junction.

"I see you still have the bad habit of parking cars on line No. 2" grinned Sivertsen. He switched the main line over to line No. 2 and lowered the signals.

PETERSEN shouted in terror. Sivertsen said: "What'll happen when the fast express hits those cars? And what'll happen to the man responsible? Perhaps you'll try to convince the prosecution that you're not guilty? That I was there with a knife and cut you loose and ran off with the rope the moment it happens?"

Sivertsen lighted a cigarette. "I'm going down to see if the cars are properly braked. Then it'll work better."

Petersen was deathly pale. He was speechless. "What are you glaring at?" sneered Sivertsen. "Want a smoke to steady your nerves a bit, is that it?" He thrust a cigarette into Petersen's mouth, lit it and was gone.

Petersen puffed automatically at the cigarette. Shout for help? Useless, there was no one near.

Four feet away from him was the signal lever. Move it and the express would be saved. But he could not move his hands. He knew that 200 yards away two green lights were signalling all clear. And 500 yards further on was another signal indicating there was no danger.

11:34! Sivertsen had received the junction's news of the express at 11:30. It would be here at 11:37.

Petersen could feel his hands being tied to the chair.

Petersen tried to bend forward. The rope tightened around his wrists. Now with his cigarette he could nearly reach the rope across his knees. The cigarette was half finished. He puffed vigorously and the glow increased. He pressed it against the rope with desperate energy, drawing deeply. He heard the faint cracking sounds as the threads of the rope broke. But he heard another sound too, farther away, the whistle of the express.

With all his might he stretched his knees and the rope broke. He could stand upright and in feverish haste he freed his hands. A glance out of the window showed him the lights of the approaching train.

Dragging the chair with him he threw himself on the signal lever and changed it to red. But the engine was already passing under it and the engine driver noticed nothing.

Like lightning he grabbed another lever and changed the points to connect up the main line.

Five seconds later the express passed safely by. A streak of light from its windows marked its course through the night.

Petersen looked at the clock. 11:37! Ten minutes late!

Then he collapsed on the chair.

Alcoholism Can Be Checked By Nutritional Treatment

Alcoholism can often be traced to the diet and overcome by nutritional treatment, Professor Roger J. Williams, nationally known biochemist of the University of Texas, declared as the sixth southwest regional meeting of the American Chemical society held at San Antonio, Texas.

Describing a recent series of experiments on rats, in which the animals were studied as individuals rather than as types, Professor Williams said that rats were found to differ widely in their tendencies to drink alcohol—some becoming drunkards, some moderate drinkers, and some remaining teetotalers.

"When on an ordinary stock diet," he reported, "some drank heavily from the first. Some started in easy and built up their liquor consumption during a period of weeks or months. Some drank spasmodically and some drank moderately over a long period of time. Some were teetotalers and would not drink at all in spite of the fact that they were forced to make a deliberate choice."

The investigators found that these differences "have a genetic basis, but that they also have a nutritional basis," according to Professor Williams, who said:

"Rats can be made to drink or be abstainers, depending on their diet." Recommending that the same approach be applied to the study of human alcoholism, he said:

"Man doesn't become alcoholic—only certain individuals. The cause for the alcoholism has, as we believe, genetic roots and nutritional roots, and very fortunately we are convinced that in many cases it can be treated nutritionally so that the tremendous urge is abolished."

Suet Hung From A Branch Will Keep Birds All Winter

Use the shade trees in your yard as a cafeteria for birds this winter. Hang suet from a branch or erect a simple little feeding station beneath a tree. That will bring many winter birds to your door for breakfast, lunch and dinner. And they may remain until spring returns.

Nourishing food may mean the difference between life and death for a bird in the stormy cold. The birds will repay you in the joyous sight of watching them feed and cultivating their friendship. But more than that, they are beneficial to your trees and garden, eating overwintering insect eggs and, like the woodpeckers, devouring harmful bark insect pests.

Woodpeckers, nuthatches, chickadees, brown creepers and jays are meateaters. They like "meat" such as suet or any kind of fat in their diet. Peanut butter because of its oil is a good substitute.

The vegetable eaters are the finches, cardinals, song sparrows, tree sparrows, juncos, chickadees, jays and nuthatches like sunflower seeds.

A feeding shelf or station may be a flat board, a foot or more square hung from a tree or held by a pole. If it is surrounded by a coping an inch or two high, there will be less likelihood of food being scratched away. The shelf may have a simple roof, but enclosures on the side will scare away birds.

Suede-Like Flock

The "wooly" lamb of the greeting card or in a child's book is made possible by a "flock" finish. This is produced by spraying or sifting fibers of such materials as rayon, cotton, silk or wool upon an undercoat of special finish while this finish is still wet and sticky. In addition to being employed for decorative and novelty use, these finishes are applied to the bottoms of lamps, ash trays, and other articles to prevent scratches on furniture. They are also utilized in lining boxes, drawers and jewelry cases. Still other uses include card tables, phonograph turntables, toys and backgrounds for advertising displays. Flock finishes resemble suede and are made in many colors.

Sugar Beet Tops

Feeding of sugar beet tops that have been exposed to frost, wilting, drying, and other damaging conditions has been responsible for cattle deaths, the American Veterinary Medical association reports. The poisonous factor is an accumulation of nitrate in the leaves. In one Canadian herd of 70 cattle, 41 sickened and 19 of them died from this cause last year. Under ordinary conditions, beet tops can be fed without harm to livestock, the AVMA points out. But caution is in order if wilting and drying have occurred, as these conditions favor the accumulation of nitrate.

Three Most Popular Birds

The American cardinal, the western meadowlark and the mockingbird are the most popular birds in the nation. They can cite the law books to prove it. Of the 33 states that have adopted an official bird by legislation, seven have picked the cardinal. Virginia, acting early this year, made the latest addition to the cardinal camp which now includes Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and North Carolina. Kentucky, first state to vote an official bird, started the cardinal parade back in 1926.

Voice of Experience
George: This government needs money to run the army and the navy. Without soldiers and sailors we wouldn't be safe.
Gracie: I can see you've never been out with one.

PLAYING BURGLAR

One night two safe-breakers entered a bank. One approached the safe, sat down on the floor, took off his shoes and socks, and started to turn the dial of the safe with his toes.

"Whats the matter?" said his pal. "Let's open this thing and get out of here."

"Naw, it'll only take a minute longer and we'll drive them finger-print experts nuts."

Mutual Adoration

Jay: "Tell me, does Anne's husband treat her well?"

Kay: "Oh, indeed yes. He kisses her occasionally."

Jay: "And does she treat him well?"

Kay: "Just as well. As a matter of fact, she retaliates in kind."

YAKETY-YAK

Jones suggested to his wife that they go over to the neighbor's house and watch the baseball game on television. For three hours they watched the game, then sat through a wrestling match for another hour. Finally Mrs. Jones said:

"Harry, don't you think it's about time..."

"Say!" interrupted her husband, "did you come over here to jabber or to watch television?"

Wooden, Aluminum, Ladders

The rung of a wooden ladder will bend downward about one-sixth of an inch for a 150-pound person stepping on its center. An aluminum ladder is constructed so that the deflection is much less. If it were built like the wooden ladder, the deflection of the aluminum rung would be about a ninth as much as for the wooden rung under similar conditions. This is because aluminum is nine times as rigid as wood (white oak).
