Cafeteria Popular in the Elementary Grades

SCHOOL NEWS

The Taneytown Elementary school cafeteria has released statistics showing the success of its school lunch program. During November, the school served 3476 complete lunches, an average of 183 per day, which is 46% of the total school enrollment. In addition, 384 bottles of milk were sold separately. During the same period last year only 2475 complete lunches were sold, an average of 146 per day or 36% participation, showing an increase of 10%. Since the school has set as its goal a yearly participation of 50%, it would seem that the goal should be reached this year. Much more important than mere goals, of course, are the bene-fits derived from eating a balanced and nourishing lunch in an atmosphere which is conducive to happy healthful living. A typical menu, which is served for the price of 25c is as follows:

- Baked Macaroni and Cheese Frozen Peas Waldorf Salad

Brown Bread Fruit Juice

Milk 1/2 pint.

Such a meal would normally meet 1/3 of the daily requirements of a hool child.

The monthly meeting of the Par-ent-Study Group, under the direction of Miss Evelyn Maus, Supervisor of pupil personnel, met in the school lounge on Thursday at 1:00 to con-tinue the discussion of how to better understand the relationship of child growth and development. Any in-terested parent may feel free to attend these meetings.

SANTA COMING TO CHURCHMEN DINE TOWN TONIGHT

"Festival of Lights" Program to be Presented this Evening

Santa Claus is slated to arrive in Taneytown tonight at 7:30 and in-augurate the Festival of Lights. Due to the lack of snow his sleigh will be drawn by ponies instead of reindeer, The Westminster Band and local floats, will greet Santa Claus at the west end of town, and escort him through the streets. The Christmas lights will be turned on for the first time. Thereafter they will be turned on each night till New Years. After the parade, in charge of Roy Smith as marshal, there will be a ceremony in front of the Mid-Town Electric Store by which to walcome Santa Store by which to welcome Santa Claus to town and to have him greet the children. After the ceremonies Santa will visit the stores.

Word has been received that this year Santa will bring along two mes-sengers with mail boxes to receive letters from the children along the line of march. Also a mail box will be installed in the street by the Town Hall, as last year, for the children to mail their letters. Santa promises that every letter received will be answered if he name and address of the child is plainly given.

GOLDEN RULE CLASS MEETS

The Golden Rule class of Grace E & R church of which Mrs. Harry Mohney is the teacher and president met at her home Tuesday evening, Dec. 4, 1951 at 7:30. The program was in keeping with Christmas, opening with the singing of Joy To The World. Scripture, Luke 2:1-14 and prayer by Mrs. Mohney followed by singing Silent Night. Grace E. & R. Churchmen Join Gathering

Sunday evening 9 men from the Churchmen's Brotherhood of Grace E. & R. Church attended a special Churchmen's gathering at Trinity Church, Thurmont. Rev. Kenneth Kohler, executive secretary of the denominations Brotherhood, spoke on the value and blessings of the churchmen's group in the local church. In brief he said, "We do not use the 'know how' in the church as we do in government, engineering, education, and science, and consequently men are not caught for the total program of the church. It is the spirit of broth-erhood that strenthens and enlarges the work of the church of Jesus Christ."He also mentioned that there are 630 local brotherhood chapters in the United States. Mr. Harry O. Smith, Principal of the Frederick High school, who on Saturday had been elected chairman of the 4th National Churchmen's Brotherhood Convention to be held on the campus of Hood College August 6 to 9 was present and was presented for several remarks. He briefly out-lined the program and organization of the convention and indicated what a great job would be undertaken by so many men, especially from Po-tomac Synod. Said Mr. Smith, "Here the men have an opportunity to show what the men of the East can really do.'

Mrs. Ernest Dunbar told of the work of the "Goodwill Industries" in Baltimore. Anyone having any old clothes please bring to the church and it will be collected this Tuesday.

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES

On Monday evening, Dec. 3 in the Firemen's Hall, Mr. John W. Payne, Executive Director of the Goodwill Industries of Baltimore, gave a very interesting and convincing talk and showed slides of the work of that agency.

He told how the physically handi-capped are made to feel necessary to others by not only earning a livelihood but by producing articles for sale. This is not a charitable agency, it is a rehabilitating concern.

He also told his audience that there is a great need for raw materials, especially clothes and hats to be made over and shoes to be repaired.

Bags have been distributed for collection on Tuesday, Dec. 11. Anyone not having a special bag for their contribution, may leave the articles at Robert Clingan's Barber Shop.

The committee wishes to express its thanks to the Firemen and Town Council for the use of the Hall. Their co-operation is appreciated very much.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA IN PRES-BYTERIAN CHURCH

A beautiful dramatic Cantata for Christmas will be given in the Presoyterian church under the direction of Mrs. Wallace Yingling, on Sunday night, December 16, at 7:30 P. M. It is entitled "While Shepherds Watch-ed."

This early date is to avoid conflicts with other Christmas programs in the community. Such a date, it is felt, will enable many in the community to see this dramatic Cantata, and at the same time, give the Presbyterian members the privilege of seeing the good Christmas programs in the other churches.

DAY OF RECKONING

To anyone who doubts that it's time for America to cut out the feather-bedding, the yammering about "social gains," the making and unmaking of control regulations and the pampering of industry, of labor and of youth that must always provide that defense wall of flesh and blood, two stories on this week's front pages should be shockers.

Allied officers report that expert Russian artillerymen are directing Red gunfire on Korea's western front, and have been since the first of November. Chairman Harold R. Boyer of the Defense Production Administration announced drastic cutbacks on military aircraft production schedules. Instead of the five-fold increase that President Truman forecast last December for 1951, the year's end will see warplane production no more than doubled. This is a sickening confirmation of General Hoyt S. Vandenberg's report earlier in the month that our planes in Korea are obsolete and insufficient, and that industry is providing only a "trickle" of new planes.

Of all the reasons assigned for our production failure, the most significant, and the most difficult to correct is our tragic shortage of engineers. Today's planes are so much more complex than even those of World War II that today one aircraft worker out of eight must be an engineer, compared with one out of 22 in 1943. In those days, only one worker in 1,000 was an electronics mechanic. Today we require one of these hardto-train specialists for every 24 workers.

Korean Conflict Made 38th Parallel Familiar to World

A lot happens here and there along the 38th parallel.

The Korean conflict has made the 38th parallel as familiar as the equator in the minds of millions of people. To many, however, it is strictly a Korean waistbandline associated only with the trouble Far East peninsula.

Few latitude lines span more land than the 38th, north. The United States, China, and Russia are among the dozen countries it traverses in the three-sevenths of its circuit that crosses dry land. Pacific, Atlantic, and Mediterranean make it a ship's voyage the rest of the way. In sharp contrast, the equator's route is nearly fourfifths by ocean; while the 38th parallel, south, is at sea for more than 18,000 of its 19,648 miles.

Seoul, Kaesong, and the Hwachon Dam have become world-known landmarks in the region where the 38th crosses central Korea. East

Safer and Cheaper Water Purification is Predicted

Safer, more economical fluoridation of municipal water supplies for the prevention of dental decay is promised by a self-policing new chemical.

The new substance, called Flural. is much less poisonous than the fluoridating agents now in use, and therefore can be handled by water plant personnel with much less danger, according to Dr. Wayne White of the Ozark-Mahoning Company, Tulsa, Okla. None of the agents presents any hazard to the water consumer, Dr. White emphasized because they are so greatly diluted by the time they pass through the reservoirs and come out of the tap.

Flural is self-policing in the sense that it will release fluorine to the water only so long as the concentration of the anti-dental-decay ele-

This is the crisis foreseen by the Thomas A. Edison Foundation, which for the past year has been working under the direction of Vice-Admiral Harold A. Bowman, to rally educators, scientists and industrialists to the need for a unified and intensive effort to recruit tens of thousands of schoolboys and college men to fill the gaping ranks of engineering. Admiral Bowen did not overstate the case when he told the Foundation's conference on scientific manpower only two weeks ago that this shortage threatens the survival of America.

across the Sea of Japan, the parallel cuts Japan's Honshu Island near Sendai and 160 miles north of Tokyo. Eastward, some 5,200 miles of north Pacific Ocean without island interruption bring the 38th to Drakes Bay on the California coast.

This is the bay, 30 miles northwest of San Francisco, that gave refuge in mid-1579 to Sir Francis Drake and his crew of the Golden Hinde. The explorer named the region Nova Albion (New England) decades before a New England was named on America's Atlantic coast. As it touches a dozen nations, the 38th crosses a dozen of the 48 American states. It pierces California's 1849 Gold Rush 'country, Yosemite Park, and Mono Lake. Eye-Appeal is Important In Clarification of Wine

Consumers want their wine and vinegar to be brilliantly clear-not because they taste any better in that condition but because they are more attractive to the eye. Cloudiness, or lack or clarity, is an indication that they have not been finished; that is, no treatment such as filtration or clarification has been given to render them clear. Occasionally it may mean that the wine or vinegar has deteriorated or spoiled by oxidation or by bacterial action. In fact, "vinegar" is de-rived from the French words "vinaigre", meaning soured wine or spoiled wine. Nature, if left to her own devices, changes wine to vinegar, and the first principle of winemaking is to prevent her doing just that.

Wines and vinegars settle and become more or less clear if merely allowed to stand in well filled, sealed tanks, barrels or other containers; but they seldom become brilliantly clear of their own accord. The cellar master usually has to assist natural clearing. Consequently, most wines and many vinegars are "fined," which means that they are treated with a small amount of some clarifying or fining agent such as gelatin, egg white, casein or Bentonite cl~ ment is below a certain safe maximum, Dr. White explained. If the water has a fluorine content of more than about 1.5 parts per million, however, the Flural will reverse its action and begin to .remove the fluorine, he said.

Flural, the chemist said, is a fluorine-containing alum complex which is readily soluble in water. Its low toxcity is of great importance to water plant personnel who must handle large amounts of the fluorine compounds.

Color and Fabrics

Fabrics and color take on added importance in this year's dual purpose sleep equipment. Green shades seem to take the lead in the race for predominance in the color field, with medium greens the most popular. Grays and reds are seemingly battling for second place in the color scheme, with browns, cocoas and golds gaining favor rapidly. Patterns also take on added importance. Bright or pastel plaids. geometric and other modern de-signs, tweedy effects and florals are vying for honors in the dual purpose field, particularly for studio couches and sofa beds. Plastics, simulating alligator and other leathers as well as textured fabrics are taking on new importance. With the emphasis in homes being placed on ranch type houses, Western motifs are fast becoming favorites. Cowboy and covered wagon patterns are animating and carrying out this style of architectural popu-larity. Dual purpose bedding has always been able to fit into almost any room of the house because of its smartness of design. Now, however, with its additional attraction of extra selections in design and color, it is in even more demand.

Doctors Increase

There were 209,040 physicians in continental United States as of December 15, 1950, an all-time high record, according to the annual medical licensure report of the American Medical Association. The report showed there were 6,002 additions to the medical profession in the United States and its possessions last year. Against this there were 3,794 deaths, making a net gain of 2,208 in the physician population.

FEESERSBURG

The question of how Feesersburg got its name still remains unanswered even though a few persons have written in to tell their version of the story. Each person has a different theory but probably the most interesting and far fetched came from Mr. Louis Dielman, of New Windsor. He writes: "I have heard Feesersburg described as a "hamlet of seven houses strung out on a back road that runs from nowhere to nowhere." Away back in the dim past I heard the story, that when Ulysses S. Grant came to the White House, one of his callers was Judge Feeser, of Middleburg, who when ushered into the presence of the Chief Executive Mr. President, don't you know said: me? I am Judge Feeser—Judge of the elections in Middleburg. The story may be apochrahal but it was. in current circulation when I was a boy; and the story goes that Feesersburg took its name from the re-doubtable Judge." Mrs. Myrtle Sentz of Taneytown writes that she heard her father speak of Feesers who use to live in the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stuffle. It is her opinion that Feesersburg was named after this family but she isn't sure. If anyone does know how Feesersburg got its name will they write in and tell us. Not only will it be of interest to the readers of this paper, but also of the Evening Sun, for it is asking the same question. Where, oh where did Feesersburg get its name?

The Women's Missionary Society of the Mt. Union Lutheran church held its Christmas party Monday evening in the Parish House. Mrs. Scott Crabbs was in charge of the entertainment and presented a beau-tiful and unusual Christmas story. Those who took part in the program were: Miss Kitty Booher, Alice Booher, Barbara King, Nancy Roelke, Linda Miller and Joan Crabbs. Following the program, Christmas gifts were exchanged between the secret sisters. Mrs. David Miller, Mrs. Frank Martin and Mrs. Samuel Keyton served refreshments. Two new members were added to the society. They were Mrs. Russell Bohn and Mrs. Millard Roelke.

With Thanksgiving out of the way, everyone's thoughts have turned to Christmas. By all indications this will be the biggest gift giving Christ-, mas on record. But giving presents is not the real spirit of this Christian holiday. The real secret is "loving people." Not just members of one's own family, or one's church or even one's social group. It is loving the sick, the rich, the poor—even the people one doesn't like. Especially loving the people, who have been bypassed and forgotten by most of the world. This is the true meaning of Christmas, and how badly the whole world needs real, unselfish love. This philosophy may sound a little strange and out of place in this year of strife, hate and greed, but who will dare deny that this is the only way out of the mess that our

To the readers who like to visit strange lands and friendly people read the book by that title written by William I. Douglas. This is a book filled with highly provocative statements and hard facts which we Americans must face in our dealings with people of the East and Middle East. This is the land seething with revolutionary unrest and the land, according to many, from whence may come the beginning of a third World War. Do read it. It may change your mind about Asia, and by changing your mind, it may help to change our foreign policy.

FRIZELLBURG

The Never Weary Class, of Baust Lutheran Sunday school, held their annual class banquet, at Kingsdale Firemen's Hall, on Tuesday evening, Dec. 4th. The Ladies Auxiliary served a delicious roast turkey dinner, to a large crowd of members and guests. Kenneth Lambert acted as toastmaster. Rev. Donald Warrenfeltz, pastor and Audrey Myers, President of the class, each gave short talks. The group enjoyed singing the traditional Christmas carols. The Gospelaries brought the message in song which was greatly appreciated by all. Gifts were exchanged and a good time prevailed. The committee in charge of arrangements, were Kenneth Lambert, chairman; Doris Haines, Edward Haifley, Norman Welk and Gladys Sanner.

A number of our members from the Homemakers' Club, attended a mus-ical tea in the Methodist Parish House, Westminster, on Tuesday afternoon. The large rooms were at-tractively decorated for Christmas. There were on display, gift sugges-tions, gift wrapped packages and hobby exhibits. Our Club was asked to decorate the beautiful open stair-way which was done by Mrs. Wm. Bowers, Mrs. John Garst and Mrs, Edward Baugher. These ladies were complimented on their fine arrangement. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served.

ETHYL IS NOT A LADY! ALCO-HOL REALLY IS ETHYL ALCO-HOL! The intoxicating substance which causes your brain to become numb! Do you really know why people drink which is first for Personal Satisfaction—"It helps me to relax" or "It makes me feel good" or "I forget my troubles" there are better and cheaper ways of getting results. Then we hear the following—"I want to be a good sport" "All our friends drink" "I don't want to be different." For some people Alcohol becomes the most important thing in life and those people become prob-lems to themselves and to others. There are 5,000,000 problem drinkers in America, 3,000,000 of them are alcohol addicts who cannot control their drinking without help. Think about this-one in sixteen of all who begin to drink gets that way because of the number of people it hurts di-rectly and indirectly. blindness and selfishness have led us into?

Last Sunday on our way to Brunswick we decided to drive down Market Street in Frederick, although we knew we would be tied up in a bottleneck of traffic. We were not disappointed but the traffic jam provided us with an amusing incident. At the corner of Bentz and West Patrick streets a woman had stalled her can at the stop light. She tried for five minutes to start it, but without success. In the meantime traffic was tied up and drivers were becoming impatient. A man behind us kept tooting his horn although he could plainly see what was wrong. Finally the woman in the stalled car could stand it no longer. She got out walked past our car to the one behind ours and said in a very audible voice "Mister, my car is stalled. If you'll just go start it for me, I'll stay here and toot your horn." That was the end of the horn blowing. The man did get out, along with several others and pushed her car to the side of the street. I can still see that man's face and I bet it will be a long time before he uses his horn again.

Claude Bohn left Monday for Garret County where he will spend a week hunting for deer.

Mr. George Skinner, of Union Bridge was guest speaker at the Thank-offering service at the Mt. Union Church, Sunday evening.

There was an acute parking pro blem in Hanover last Saturday when nearly everyone from Carroll county descended upon the town for one reason or another. To add to the confusion and interest a wedding took place at one of the churches in the afternoon. As everyone likes to see the wedding party leaving the church York street was jammed wit spectators. Commissioner Mudd urges motorists to keep auto and truck speeds within reasonable limits, lengthen distance between vehicles on slippery pavements, use tire chains for se vere snow or ice conditions, signal intention to turn well in advance of actual turning movement, slow down for all intersections and railroad grade crossings, avoid lane-straddling, refuse to pass on hills and curves, and keep vehicles in the best of operating condition.

He also urged that pedestrians consider the longer distances needed by drivers in stopping on snow or ice due to return of synthetic rubbertires, and that walkers should cross at corners, not in mid-block.

"Neglect to keep brakes in good condition, neglect to maintain wiper blades that really clear wind-shields, or neglect to use tire chains for severe snow and ice conditions can make some driver in our state the driver who will kill or who will himself become the millionth traffic victim in our country before this year ends," Commissioner Mudd warned. "Since forgetfulness can prove fatal, let's remember to be careful," he emphasized.

MINISTER HONORED

The Govans Presbyterian Church at Baltimore, Md., on Sunday, Nov. 25th dedicated a Communion table in honor of the Reverend James Cattanach, a former pastor of the Taneytown Presbyterian church. The Communion Table was presented in memory of the Rev. James Cattanach by friends and members of the congregation which he served as Pastor from 1916 until his retirement on June 1, 1942. Mr. Cattanach was born April 1, 1865 in Williamstown, Glengarry Co., Ontario, Canada, the son of Lachlan Cattanach and Jessie Arthur Cattanach. He was educated at Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario, and was graduated in Theology there in 1892. The Rev. Mr Cattanach was ordained June 26. 1893, by the Presbytery of Peterborough, Canada. His first charge was at Centerville, Ontario. In 1897 he came to Taneytown, Md. In 1903 he became Pastor at Mauch Chunk, Pa., and in 1916 he was called to, the Govans Presbyterian Church. During his ministry in Baltimore, the Rev. Mr. Cattanach was three times commissioner to General Assembly and was Moderator of the Presbytery of Baltimore in 1928. At the close of fifty years of service as a minister, the Rev. James Cattanach retired and was made Pastor Emeritus by the Presbytery of Baltimore until his death on July 17, 1951. Rev. and Mrs. Cattanach, the

'Joy to the world'

NE December day as a woman stood in the foyer of a large department store, she was impressed by the troubled and harassed expressions on the faces of many shoppers. It was evident that the observance of a Christmas abounding in material gifts and festivities was not making them happy. Those who were smiling, quiet, and poised were in the minority.

Suddenly the great organ of the store pealed forth in the melody of a well-loved carol, and a chorus of voices took up the refrain,

"Joy to the world, the Lord is come, Let earth receive her King; Let every heart prepare him room, And heaven and nature sing."

Instantly the change in the appearance and manner of the shoppers was marked. They paused in their hurry, and an inner joy seemed to shine in their countenances. The woman thought, "Why, all of these people are hungering and thirsting after righteousness, for a way of peace and joy, and they can be filled and blessed, because the Christ, Truth, is here now for all to understand and possess.

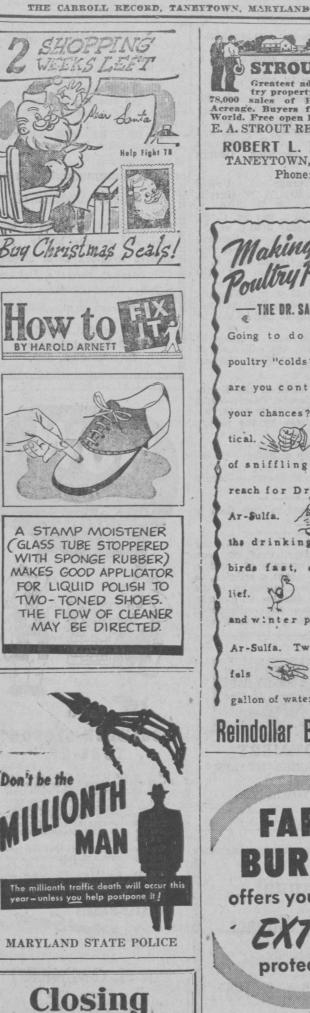

Through his knowledge of his true selfhood as inseparable from the Christ, Jesus was able to bring to mankind the consciousness of God's presence, the proof of God's love for His idea, man, expressed in terms of health, peace, harmony, gratitude, and a sense of life eternal. He came to free the human race from the bondage of gross materiality which finds its expression in hate, strife, poverty, sin, sickness, and death.

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy writes (p. 473): "God is everywhere, and nothing apart from Him is present or has power. Christ is the ideal Truth, that comes to heal sickness and sin through Christian Science, and attributes all power to God. Jesus is the name of the man who, more than all other men, has presented Christ, the true idea of God, healing the sick and the sinning and destroying the power of death.'

Christ Jesus knew and understood, more of the Christ, the perfect expression of God, than any other before or since his nativity. He knew that he had been appointed and anointed to demonstrate the Christ in a way that humanity could see, hear, understand, and prove, as he had proved it. We read in the Bible (John 1:14), "The Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth."

. . We might ask ourselves: Is there one near and dear to us bur-dened with a sense of helplessness and ill-health? Is there one bowed down with a feeling of hopelessness and inadequacy? Is there one grieving over past failures and shame? Is there one whose heart is aching for companionship, fearful that he is not wanted and is in the way? Is there a stranger at our gates? We can tell them of the eternal Christmas and of the Christ, Truth.

There is no past experience or present fear that cannot be corrected by divine Truth. We must produce the proofs of our correct thinking kindness, gentleness, humility in and strength. Thus it will be evident that the Christ-idea is transforming and reconstructing our lives. The world is speedily if not fran-

BRBLE SPEAKS BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN SCRIPTURE: Deuteronomy 29-34. DEVOTIONAL READING: Deuteron-omy 30:11-20. Hero's Farewell Lesson for December 9, 1951 A moving picture company once conceived the idea of recording and putting on the screen all over the country what the bag. two opposing candidates were saying on various problems. It was enjoyable, or maddening, according to your political views, to observe the contrast. Both men read what they had to say, but their Dr. Foreman reading was entirely different. One man kept his eyes on his little desk, never made a gesture, mever looked at the audience. It was not inspiring-just a middleaged man reading to himself. Candidate B on the other hand never let his script come between him and his listeners; he kept his eye on them and unless one observed him carefully one would not notice that he was reading. (He won in a walk, too.) Now the way to get the true flavor of Deuteronomy, especially the chapters selected for this week, is to listen to some one read it who can read like Candidate B. For Deuteronomy is not a desk-book; it is mostly out-of-doors oratory. It was not meant for the eye first, but for the ear.

. . . After the Great Man, What?

A great hero, Moses, was taking leave of his people. In spite of all the grumbling and the rebellions, it is no exaggeration to say that for those people he stood in the place of God. He not only towered above his own generation, but he cast a light far into the centuries, so that to this day we are indebted to the inspired greatness of Moses, the man of God.

Yet the greatest of men must die. When it came time for him to say farewell it is hard to imagine the sinking of heart that all his people felt.

Before them lay the unknown: their whole course of life was about to change, in ways they could not foresee; with Moses gone, how could they face the future? Was he to leave after him (as some "great" men have done) only a vacuum?

A Challenge

IN the closing days of his life, Moses focussed his people's eyes on two things. First was the Law. Life is not lived by impulse and inspiration only. Life, to have power and meaning, must be a patterned life, clear and definite lines, a sense of direction. So Moses left behind him-not full details, these were for others to work out-the main lines of civic and social, as well as individual life, in the Law which God had made clear to him as the true 'design for living.' But Moses does not simply pound it into people's ears: You shall, you must, these are the orders! He sets it out as a clear choice. He shows the people the alternatives: Life and Good on the one hand, Death and Evil on the other. Make up your mind, he says: Choose. The Law of God does not force you.

It is not an arbitrary thing. The reason for the Law is never "just because." The reason for the Law is that it is the way to live. You don't have to keep it, Moses says in effect; but if you choose to reject it, the end of the other road is Death.

This is true for individuals, it is true for nations. It is a terrific mistake to think of God as ordering us about for his own amusement, or to tie us down. He gives us orders for our own sakes.

A Song

A NOTHER legacy Moses leaves A behind is a Song. We do not usually think of Moses as a poet, but Deut. 32 is ascribed to him. He knew people might forget the Law, but a Song they would not forget. "I care not who writes a nation's laws," said a philosopher, "if only I can write its songs."

What Moses gave his people was no mere tuneful trash, but a grand hymn of faith. What Moses most of all wants his people to do, is not to remember him but to remember God. So after all the law is on the books, and all the speeches have been made, at the last he gives his people a Song, to remember God by.

Is it not so always? What are the parts of the Bible that mean most to all generations? Always the singing words of Psalm and prophet and gospel, the rhythm of Paul's chapter on Love, the majestic choruses of the Revelation. Though great men pass, though the mind forget the Law, the heart will not forget the Song.
