KIWANIS NEWS

"Law Observance — Public Safety" was Meeting's Theme

The Kiwanis Club of Taneytown met Wednesday evening at Taney Inn with President Howell Royer presiding. Rev. Miles S. Reifsnider offered the prayer. Wallace Reindollar led the group singing with Mrs. Wallace Yingling as piano accompanist.

George N. Shower had as his guest Monroe Pfoutz of Union Bridge. Edmund Nusbaum of the Club's Public and Business Affairs Committee had charge of the evening's program and introduced Mr. Sidney Hall from the Randallstown State Police Barracks. The speaker of the evening, introduced by Mr. Nusbaum, was Trooper 1st Class Joseph C. White of the Maryland State Police Force.

Mr. White said that with the advent of the automobile another cause for death was established, increasing until last year 435 people were killed in Maryland. Over 37,500 persons were killed in U. S. during 1951. He said the cause of this great death toll was attributed to four principal things, namely: speed, failure to give right-of-way, driving on the wrong side of the road and drunken driving. Three major efforts are being made to reduce this great toll of lives, taking mostly the youthful and productive person between the age of 18 and 35 years. Education, engineering and law enforcement are being used to combat this situation.

Following the speaker a short movie was shown on "careless driving." The program next week, Fox Scout Week, will be in charge of Felix Westine and will be centered around Boys and Girls Work. Dr. L. A. Welliver of the Westminster Seminary will be the speaker. A 100% attendance is urged.

REAL ESTATE MAN GIVEN AWARD

The E. A. Strout Realty Agency, Inc., largest real estate firm in the world, announces the awarding of a large 20x28 inch royal blue silk banner with gold lettering to its local representative, Robert L. Zentz, of Taneytown, indicating membership in the coast-to-coast "Leaders Club" of this organization for the year 1951. Out of approximately one thousand representatives throughout the nation membership in this club is limited to just twenty-five representatives having the highest sales volume for the year. Mr. Zentz took eleventh place. His total volume of sales for 1951 amounted to $236,275.00. Mr. Zentz won a similar award in 1948 when, out of approximately 1,000 representatives, he took 12th place. During January of this year 1952, Mr. Zentz has received eighty-four inquiries from prospective purchasers throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico, Paris and the Hawaiian Islands and has shown different properties to twenty-five separate parties and, despite the unusually bad winter, has already made three sales during January with prospects of this being more than doubled in February.

Even though a good number of these inquiries for the month of January has been locally, Mr. Zentz states that the great majority has been from out-of-state as a direct result of the Strout system of nationwide advertising and the nationwide distribution of the large Strout catalogue in which are represented Frederick and Carroll County properties as well as all types of properties throughout the nation. The Strout organization is now in its 52nd year and maintains large branch offices in principal cities throughout the United States.

H. GRADY GORE VISITS TANEYTOWN

Speaks to Group of Persons in Opera House

H. Grady Gore, of Rockville, Md., Republican Candidate for the U. S. Senate, spoke to a small group of people in the Taneytown Opera House Thursday evening. He was accompanied by his son, H. Grady Gore, Jr.

Mr. Gore assured his listeners that he was interested in sound government and the return of financing that has the approval of good business men and the voting public. His topic was "Inflation" and he said in part: "First, I'd like to quote an article I read recently, entitled 'Words.' It goes like this: 'The Declaration of Independence contains 300 words. The Ten Commandments contain 297 words. Lincoln's Gettysburg address contains 266 words. The Lord's Prayer contains 56 words. The two Commandments that comprise the whole Law of God contain 23 words. But, the OPS order setting the price of cabbage contains 26,911 words.'"

I will undertake to keep my words deflated in discussing the story of inflation. First, we want to know what it is. We want to know if it is bad for the people, and if so, what the people can do to stop it.

What is inflation? Most economists and most people agree, that inflation is an increase in the total supply of money, which people have and want to spend—a supply of money greater than the supply of goods and services available for them to purchase. Another way of expressing it would be "The value of money goes down, when the supply of money goes up faster than the production of goods and services goes up." What inflation is, should not be difficult to understand. In its simplest form we would say "When our supply of money is greater than our supply of goods we will have inflation."

That is our situation in this country at this time, and every indication is that the things that have brought about this condition are being continued, and will be continued, until the people of this country have become aroused to put a stop to it.

To find out what brought this inflationary condition about, let's compare the supply of money and the supply of goods now, with the year 1938, when our supply of money and our supply of goods were in balance. We find that the supply of money in the United States has gone up 207%—from $57 billion in 1938 to $175 billion in 1950. The production of goods has gone up only 125% during that same period.

In other words, we find that during those twelve years the volume of money increased more than twice as fast as the volume of goods. Hence our dollars turned into fifty cent pieces.

This neat little bit of magic is called "deficit spending" and "monetary inflation" and should be called "robbing the people of their lifetime savings." This is completely legal and is still going on today. I am advised that the Federal government

CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

Red Cross Drive to Begin March 1st.

The fund planning committee of Carroll County Red Cross Chapter has been busy for many weeks mapping the organization and means for conducting the 1952 Red Cross Fund Campaign in the county. Mrs. A. J. Lamme, Jr., who is the fund campaign chairman, also functioned as chairman of the planning committee. With the organization for soliciting funds almost complete, Mrs. Lamme called a meeting of district fund-raising chairmen and other staff personnel on January 24, when the dates, quota and plans for the campaign were discussed in detail.

Mrs. Lamme introduced her district fund chairmen as follows: Mr. Ernest Dunbar, Taneytown; Mrs. Henry Freter, Berrett; Mr. DeFries Herring, Freedom; Mrs. Richard Matthews, Hampstead; Mr. Robert Winsett, Woolerys; Mrs. C. Edgar Nusbaum, West Windsor; Mrs. Granville Roop, Mt. Airy; Mr. John McCormick, Westminster.

Mrs. Clyde Schlerf was announced as Fund Campaign Secretary, with headquarters on the balcony in the W. H. Davis Company building.

Although the National fund campaign opens March 1, it has been decided to begin the county campaign here on March 3, with a chapter quota of $14,000, of which Westminster districts share is $6,500.

Of interest to all is the decision of the chapter fund planning committee not to solicit membership dues from employees on the premises where they work. All personal contributions will be solicited in the homes. This will preclude any individual being asked to give twice.

VOTING ON QUESTION OF TEACHER SALARY

Members of the Hagerstown Chamber of Commerce are being asked to express their opinions either for or against a resolution calling for school teachers' pay increases to be paid by the County Commissioners instead of by a new state tax levy.

DEMOCRACY AT WORK IN OUR SCHOOLS

New Projects Being Carried Out by Council This Year

In an attempt to better acquaint pupils with their responsibilities and privileges as an American citizen, the Taneytown Elementary school has organized a Student Council, which is now in its second year of operation.

The Student Council is an ideal way for children to learn to practice the rights and privileges of good citizenship. The students are trained for successful adult life through the activities and opportunities which the council provides. Democracy is made meaningfully and colorful for the students actually participate in school administration. The council is also one of the best means of developing intelligent leadership, respect for authority, cooperation and moral.

The members of the council are elected from the home room; four from each intermediate grade and two from each primary grade. The election takes place once a year, in the fall, and the rules of order follow parliamentary procedure.

The council officers are: President, Kenneth Reifsnider; Vice-president, Junior Wantz; Secretary, Patricia Lambert. The members of the council are: First Grade, Jean Myers, Jerry Tracey, Jimmie Myers, Johnny Hawk; Second Grade, Kenneth Gilds, Victor Welty, Cherie Phillips, Allen Shirk; Third Grade, Wayne Schildt, Shirley Miller, Ray Jordan, Jacquelyn Myers; Fourth Grade, Sandra Outsell, Betty Airing, Earnest Click, Douglas Gunther, Sandra Shorb, Sandra Remsberg, Joan Cartzendorf, Peggy Kiser; Fifth Grade, Joyce Myers, Carroll Koontz, Allen Baumgardner, Rebecca Wilhide, Irene Ausherman, Elaine Welty, Ronnie Hopkins; Sixth Grade, Johnny Reeve, David Gunther, Peter Westine, Walter Simpson, Doris Bollinger, Charlene Glass.

Some of the projects carried out by the council have been: 1. Organizing and managing a lost and found department. 2. Caring for the school flag. 3. Providing and placing Christmas decorations in the school. 4. Selecting and training ushers. 5. Caring for the school grounds. 6. Managing a "Clean Up School" drive.

The council's present project is designing a "Courtesy Chart" one of which is to be placed in each classroom. Any outstanding act of courtesy performed by a student will be recorded on the chart. Each act is to count one point and the student who reaches the goal—seventy-five points—will receive a "Courtesy Award." It will be considered a very high honor to receive this award.

The council members plan to plant some young trees on the school grounds in the spring. They will also make the necessary arrangements for Field Day which is to be held in May, and they anticipate taking care of the closing exercises in June.

Miss Ruth DeVore, Supervisor of Elementary Schools in Carroll county, observed the Student Council in December. A representation of the Westminster Elementary Student Council, including the council sponsor, Gwendolyn Seemer, and the council advisor, Christine Myers, were guests of the council at the last meeting which was held on January the 17th.

THIS 'N' THAT (Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning. I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

"IN THE RED"—what a cute and attractive Calendar from "The Carroll Record." The title was most fetching and the picture of that Honey-colored Cocker-Spaniel Puppy was a dear! He or she had his one paw in the paint can and that can was full of red paint! Don't miss seeing that one! Just different—that's all!

Now, don't tell me that you missed Arthur Godfrey on his Wednesday night programme and on skates, too! Nothing that man can't do! Eh? Everyone was just thrilled about it all and with our own American young skater, who was a Wow! Sonja has 'nothin' on her! It was the best programme of that Sponsor and it is the talk wherever you go!

Do you ever listen in on WCBM—680 on your dial to Lauri Alwyn and Eve on the Acme Super Markets programme? From 1 to 1-30 daily of the week days. Today, Your Observer went down to Sears-Roebuck on North Avenue in Baltimore and before entering the store went to the restaurant and was disappointed not seeing the Cafeteria which was advertised on the outside of the building. I read a big advertisement facing me which said, "Have tea with Lauri Alwyn and Eve." Turning to a guide and glancing to the clock, too, at the same time, I said, "In which direction is the tea?" As I turned to enter a room, a tall and charming blonde (the kind they have only in England) approached me with a cup of tea in her hand inviting me to sit down. I quickly glanced at the Mother of Eve and saw the resemblance. As they talk or perhaps an interview with some interesting individual they actually pour and drink the tea across the table and before the Mike. Never saw any English who was not most fond of that famous "Tea." As Arthur Godfrey always says, "It is something that picks you up and never throws you down!"

Here's a cute one and that about the wife of our Vice President of these United States. She says, "She does not mind in the least being called Mrs. Veep but when it comes to calling her the "Veepess"—well, it just sounds like a snake!"

Here's to the dear little aged ladies in any town, and in any place. The other day, a very special and gentle lady friend of mine who has remained beautiful all down through the years and who was a debutante in the State of Virginia of days long ago went to the city with me (something she has not done for a long time). There were four other ladies in the car and as we walked to the entrance of one of the Department Stores, I stated that we would all meet right there at a certain hour which meant giving each one time to do their errands. This dear little lady edged up to me and said, "I want to go with you!" I hugged her right there and she went with me and the last place was in the five and dime! As we past a counter full of five dollar dresses for $1.98 and all prints, she stopped and admired the lovely prints as in very expensive dresses. She wanted to buy one and I selected the one I thought was most becoming. Then, we went over to a Department store and there were four and five dollar hats on sale for two dollars. She tried on a lovely one which was most becoming and she said, "I'll take this one." Sez I, "You look so lovely in it please do keep it on!" Full of pep and vigor she said laughingly to me, "Oh—I just love to do things like this!" See what I mean. Folks about those dear hearts and gentle people? They don't ask for much in life but just a little love and attention. She was such good company that I intend to take her on the very next trip to the big city. When people get old they can teach those younger and we should all take heed. She has a son (she had three) who is a Major in Korea and not long ago went down to the Friendship Airport to see him off. Another son was buried a few years ago who died suddenly at the age of twenty-five.

Now, here's to the "ONE DRINK" driver! Do you know that just one drink even if it is one bottle of beer causes poor concentration and is most dangerous? The driver who has imbibed alcohol experiences a feeling of euphoria or carelessness well being. The very first affect of one drink or drinking in small amounts they say to the other fellow will not make any difference but even to the small amounts affects the functions of the brain. So if you drink, I beg of you don't drive and if you drive—don't drink! I sat 'in' listening to the many cases to write about in this column and I was actually floored when I heard a very young man state he was drunk while driving. From his very expression, he was most ashamed and sorry and I'll venture to state that was his real lesson and it would never happen again.

Last year this time, folks I began a few of the sentences of each month and the Horoscope. That has meant that I have given the entire twelve signs. Hope no one missed but if there is still someone who has missed their month will gladly give a re-peater. Just stop by the "Record" office and hand in your month.

Will be seeing you next week, D.V. Have a grand week end. Be good and be careful and if you are good today—you will be glad tomorrow!

I am, Faithfully, YOUR OBSERVER.

YOU AND YOUR CONGRESS

Congress, which frequently and with reason decries the growth of federal bureaucracy, is now pointing a suspicious finger at itself.

Specifically, the finger points at Congressional investigations.

The reason is that the number of these Capitol Hill inquiries is mushrooming to proportions that alarm more than a few members of Congress. The latest bill for them comes to $70,000.

It was not completely in jest that one nationally prominent news commentator referred to last year's session as the "who dunnit" Congress. That session rolled up a record of 130 special investigations— inquiries, that is, in addition to those held in the normal course of developing legislation.

This session probably will not equal the last one in the number of investigations. It will be a shorter session because of the political conventions and the campaign season that follows them. But it already is off to a running start in the investigation field.

This leads Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) to caution his colleagues that the Senators are "rapidly getting ourselves into the position of some agencies" which they criticize for over-expansion.

On the same subject, Sen. Bridges (N.H.), Republican Leader of the Senate, says the committees carrying on investigations "should live within the funds given them."

In the Senate and House, special committee investigations must be approved by the Rules committees and special appropriations to finance them must be approved in each chamber.

Sen. Bridges had reference to the fact that some committees, like some federal bureaus, exhaust their appropriations before their year's work is finished and come back for more.

Sen. Aiken went on to say that some of the Congressional Committees are "overstaffed" and some have staff members who are "overpaid"—both charges frequently levelled by Congress at the Bureaus.

Sen. Hendrickson (R-N.J.) endorsed the warning of Bridges and Aiken.

Between the lines of those comments is the realization that some committee staffs have been known to think up new things to investigate to keep themselves in business.

It also is realized that Congressional investigations sometimes are conducted mainly to get publicity for the chairman and the head of the investigating staff. Some committee staffs have been known to develop techniques for wringing the utmost publicity from investigations. Television is a new boon for them.

The occasion for the remarks on this subject by the three Senators was the approval by the Senate of $700,000 for eight special investigations. These cover grain storage, election laws, inflation and credit policies, surplus tanker sales, health programs and labor relations, defense mobilization, internal security and crime in the District of Columbia.

The last-mentioned, a midget-sized hangover of what the Kefauver Committee started, is under way and is filling Washington newspapers with lurid accounts of gamblers, narcotics peddlers and cops—all of whom were dealing in crime under the Kefauver Committee's very nose.

The Senate Expenditures Committee has reported that in the four years between January 1, 1947, and January 1, 1951, Congress spent nearly $7,000,000 on special investigations.

But so far no special Congressional investigation has been proposed to determine how the number of special investigations might be reduced.

THE PROFITS AREN'T BIG ENOUGH

The president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States recently made some telling comments on the vital subjects of wages and profits.

He pointed out that while the unions use "equality of sacrifice" as an argument for higher wages, the fact is that hourly earnings in manufacturing have risen faster than prices since the Korean war started. Employees have received important fringe benefits in addition.

Corporation profits, after taxes, are now at their lowest level since 1946—but wage payments have risen more than 50 per cent in that time. It is an obvious impossibility to meet higher wages out of profits. Since 1945, wage payments have increased some $65,000,000,000. But the profits of all corporations, after taxes, are currently only about $17,000,000,000. So, he said, "American industry would have long ago been destroyed if wage increases were paid out of profits."

The argument, made by many labor leaders, that wages can again be substantially increased without raising prices to the consumer—a category which includes all the union members as well as the rest of us—is without basis in fact. The statistics, no less than past precedent, completely refute it. Ever-soaring wages mean ever-soaring prices too.—Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

CHESTER, S. C., REPORTER:
"The United States was the first country in the history of civilization founded for the preservation of individual freedom. In establishing the 'New Order of the Ages,' the Continental Congress recorded in the Declaration of Independence a list of grievances against the tyrannical King George III, among which were: 'He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.' One hundred and seventy-five years later we find a swarming bureaucracy within our borders that threatens individual freedom."

ST. IGNATIUS, MONTANA, POST:
"We see the vast importance to our local, state and national economy of having private enterprise. Tax-paying institutions, whether little or big are the very life blood of our society."

ARTESIA, N. M., ADVOCATE:
"Americans want our armed forces to have everything they need, but there is too much waste and too much extravagance. Those directing the spending and handling of the goods which the tax dollars buy are going to have to be just as efficient, just as economical and just as wise in using and spending as the Average American is today. We can't afford as a nation to continue to increase our tax bill... We must be saving... and spend wisely if we expect to continue as a nation."

FEESERSBURG

The major problem that parents must solve in this disturbed world is how to prepare their children to face reality and to find a certain amount of happiness and contentment in the midst of the social and economic revolution now in progress throughout the world. First, parents should encourage their children to be optimistic about the future. This will be brought about best by encouraging them to have many social contacts through sports, games, dances and parties, listening to good music and poetry provides spiritual enrichment while the use of ones hands creating art and gardening helps a child to understand the "why of things."

Second, children should be taught the truth even from the cradle. Truth dispels fears for children like adults only fear what they do not understand. Third, children should be loved. Love offers a haven in which "doubts and anxieties of the rest of the world are forgotten and the child enjoys a relaxing release from tension. The child feels the world is friendly and warm hearted and not cold and hostile, forcing him to be aggressive. Not only parents, but teachers also must supply the child with the feeling of being wanted and not rejected. Too many children are made to feel all during their childhood that they are a burden to both parents and teachers. This instills in them hostile attitudes and is the main cause of "problem children."

Farmers are storing about 16 percent less grain from the 1951 crop than from the 1950 production. This is due in part to the smaller 1951 crop and also to the higher price being paid for grain.

Would you like to work in a kitchen without a window? Home builders have proposed building houses and apartments with windowless kitchens and already the women are rebelling. Small wonder! Could any woman living in the country or city, like spending 4 to 5 hours a day in a kitchen where she could neither look out at the weather or her garden or the neighbors? A windowless kitchen would be enough to give one some kind of mental illness. The contractor that thought up this weird idea should be forced to work for three weeks in a room without windows and one can safely say he would be willing to change his ideas. Homes have undergone some drastic changes, but the men better be careful when they start tampering too much with the room in the house that has always been considered women's exclusive property—the kitchen.

Miss Kay Luttrell celebrated her 12th birthday Friday evening with a party at the home of her parents in Union Bridge. Among those helping her have a good time were Carolyn Myers, Judy Williar, Nancy Roelke, Jeanne Bohn, Deanne Crouse, Pat Gray, Mary Schue, Frances Bohn and Gerayne Graham.

Joan Marie Bowman, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Bowman was baptized by Rev. L. P. Chastain, Union Bridge Methodist minister last week, at the Bowman home.

I see that the Saturday evening Post will publish in serial form the book written by Whittaker Chambers on the Alger Hiss trial. I cannot see why everything Mr. Chambers writes or says receives so much publicity. He is an ex-Communist and a self-confessed perjurer and yet certain newspapers and magazines go out of their way to present him in a favorable light. To my way of thinking an ex-Communist or ex-spy has no right to be trusted. If a person turns his coat once, he will do so again if given the opportunity. Alger Hiss was convicted solely on a perjurer's testimony, on the charge of perjury. Why wasn't Mr. Chambers ever tried for perjury? One of these days the real truth of this case will be brought to light and it will make shocking reading. In the mean time it would only be playing the game fair if the newspapers would give Mr. Hiss a chance to tell his story to the public too.

Suicide is about twice as commonplace as murder, according to facts gathered by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Last year there were about 7,000 recorded murders and 15,000 suicides. As suicides are more often hushed up, the ratio may be even higher.

I shall be accused of being pro-Russian when I say that instead of blindly hating everything Russian we should try to understand them and their motives. Hating Russia and calling everyone a "Red" when he or she tries to do some constructive thinking will in no way hurt the Russians, but it will hurt us and our country. Acting like an ostrich and refusing to face the truth will only hasten the day of reckoning. Of course the thing that people hate most to do is to think for themselves. It is so much easier to take up the cry and howl with the pack. But there comes a day when to survive one must do some hard and fast thinking and to face the truth, no matter how unpleasant and bitter it may be. And the truth about the turmoil and friction in the world today is that no individual or country is all wrong or all right. There are different shades of white and black. If one has learned anything at all in living it is that one is not right all the time nor wrong all the time. To keep peace in a family group, the individuals learn to give and take. So it must be with the nations of the world. If the world is to have peace, each nation must give something toward that peace. Name calling will serve no purpose.

Years ago when a person saved money he was called a miser. Today he is called a magician.

One liberal educator in our State has solved that problem of teacher's smoking in the school, by setting aside smoking rooms for those entrusted with the job of packing Junior's head with knowledge. Some parents do approve of teachers smoking at all, for fear of contaminating Junior, but since T. V. has replaced both parents and teachers as holding the most influence with Junior then the T. V. program will have to bear the blame for Junior's morals in the future.

Ever since Dave Garroway's new T. V. program has been on the air waves at 7 a. m., a farmer-husband has been most grateful. Before the program came on, his wife never got up until 8:30 and he had his breakfast at 9 a. m. Now, she is up with Garroway and breakfast is served at 7:30. Everyone is happy!

'DETECTIVE STORY' RANKS WITH SCREEN'S FINEST ACHIEVEMENTS

Paramount's "Detective Story", which will open Monday at the Earle Theatre, is a brilliantly staged and performed melodrama that blasts out the story of a tough, embittered detective with the tempo and impact of a tommy gun. Based on the sensational Sidney Kingsley stage play, this terse thriller is that rare instance of a great stage production transformed into an even greater movie. Salutes are due producer-director William Wyler and his superb cast.

Kirk Douglas, Eleanor Parker, William Bendix and Cathy O'Donnell are the stars in this deftly drawn profile of a conscientious cop who whose blinding hatred of guilt and wrongdoing brings him to the brink of self-destruction. As played by Douglas, Detective McLeod is a ruthless operator who hunts crime and criminals with a near-religious zeal.

While attempting to pin a conviction on an unlicensed doctor who victimizes girls in trouble, he is shattered by the discovery that his wife has had professional dealings with the quack in question.

Deeply in love with his wife, yet loathing the flaws in her past, he desperately seeks to reconcile her weakness with his own uncompromising code. A savage assault on the doctor almost results in his dismissal, and in an explosive windup he belatedly learns that love—like justice—must be tempered with compassion.

In addition to McLeod's tormenting dilemma, the film tersely recreates the color and excitement of a big city detective squad room as unfortunate, confused and vicious miscreants play out their personal dramas. Here is the lowdown on what prolonged contact with crime and depravity can do to a public servant—a bull's-eye view of the trials and perils that make a policeman's lot a harried one.

'MEET ME AFTER THE SHOW' DUE

'Meet Me After the Show,' Twentieth Century-Fox's lavish new Technicolor musical co-starring Betty Grable and Macdonald Carey will open Wednesday at the Earle Theatre.

Featuring Rory Calhoun and Eddie Albert, the film has a new musical score by Leo Robin and Jule Styne and specialty numbers by Gwyneth Verdon and Steve Condos and Jerry Brandon.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend my most sincere thanks to all those who remembered me with cards and visits while at the hospital and since my return home.

JAMES G. MEGEE

Let's Think

by G. H. ENFIELD

THOUGHTS FOR THOUGHT

The way of perseverance is to keep steering ahead.

Self-interest is becoming so large that many public officials can no longer see America.

There are people who stumble over molehills of others, but experience no difficulty in crossing their own mountains.

A Cynic is one who sees no good in anybody, can say no good of anybody, who is forever questioning the motives of everybody, and finding fault with everything.

His skin is thick,
His heart is hard,
His vision is narrow,
His soul is charred.

Some people have been accused of thinking when all they were doing were only arranging their prejudices.

How can you be in tune with the Infinite if you are in discord with the finite?

It is as natural for Eisenhower to command as for Truman to antagonize.

Why do they who grab for every dollar in sight, begrudge the other fellow the dollar increase he earns!

As the oriole sings a lullaby to the birdies in her hanging cradle rocked by the breeze, so the old-fashioned mother sang lullabies to her baby as she rocked the cradle with her foot.

"Not even a Shakespeare or a Milton can paint the flavor of a peach or picture the odor of a rose."

Lobster Life

Unlike the chicken or the spawning salmon, the American lobster carries around its eggs for nearly a year after they are laid. After hatching from their hitch on the mother's abdomen, lobster larvae spend from three to five weeks irresponsibly floating near the surface of the sea. Then instinct asserts itself and the lobsterlings settle to the bottom. It requires five or six years before the lobsters reach maturity. Unless caught by lobstermen or eaten by predators of the deep, lobsters can live to the ripe old age of 40 plus.

Inviting Room

An inviting living room with a beamed ceiling is done in three shades of green, brown, bittersweet and yellow. The floor covering is the deepest green, with the two side walls painted in a slightly lighter tone. End walls are still lighter green. The woodwork and beams of the ceiling are coated in a warm brown and yellow appears in the upholstery of the divan and another comfortable chair. Accents of the bittersweet berry color appear in lamp shades and decorative accessories.

Never Out of Style

Ever since the days of the Pharaohs, painted furniture has been popular. Beautiful painted pieces from that long-gone period have been found. For hundreds of years, French, English, Dutch and Chinese masters and cabinetmakers contributed their skill to this ancient art. Because of its combination of beauty and practicality painted furniture will undoubtedly continue in popular favor.

Cat Plaything

"Playing for Cats" is the title of an invention listed in the Official Gazette of the Patent Office, February 6, 1951. The inventor is Harold L. Winsor, East St. Louis, Ill. The device is described as a "freely rotatable transparent tube adapted to receive the cats." Inside the tube are suspended objects which the cat can cuff and box around. The keglike tube rolls as the cat maneuvers. People are said to have even more fun with the playing for cats than does pussy, observes National Patent Council.

Entebbe Airfield Cuts Travel Time Across Vast Africa

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The new British airfield recently opened at Entebbe, Uganda, is Africa's largest, with runways two miles long capable of handling the latest jet planes.

Built 250 miles south of the southern border of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, the field occupies a strategically important position between the Middle East and South Africa. It has the advantage of year-around good weather. Entebbe, capital of the British Uganda Protectorate, nestles on the north shore of Lake Victoria, where seaplanes also can land.

Reports from the Capital say Uganda's nearly five million tribesmen have taken the arrival of the jet age in stride. Early missionaries considered these Africans the most advanced of the entire central section of the continent. They quickly learned to cultivate cotton — now Uganda's most valuable cash crop. Tea, rubber and coffee plantations are profitable.

Modern methods and transportation have altered customs for many native families. They now live in rectangular stone and wood homes, rather than in rude beehive thatched dwellings. City men wear European clothing instead of bark cloth and animal skins. The women are inclined to cling to brilliantly colored native dress, and in the far interior, to old style brief covering.

Along with the jet age, inflation and price control have penetrated even the remote jungles. The local government was forced to do something when the prices of brides rose sky high. The price is now "frozen" at five head of cattle, five goats, and the equivalent of $2.80 in cash, per bride.

Trouble Ugly Stain A corrosive wash from copper gutters and flashings is likely to cause an undesirable yellowish-green stain on light or white-painted houses. To avoid this, new copper or bronze should be washed off with gasoline or turpentine to remove any grease present. The surface should then be roughened slightly with sandpaper and a metal primer, followed by a coating of house paint in the desired color, should be applied. Weathered copper or bronze should be thoroughly dusted. They do not need the preliminary wash-ing or sanding before the priming coat and finish coat are applied, however.

Early Autos Automobiles, first tried in the '90, began to take hold soon after 1900. In these early days they were mostly steamers (White and Stan-ley) or one- and two-cylinder gas cars. P. S. There was no filling sta-tions—you got gas at a few garages but most often from the corner grocer. And the country had lots of concrete sidewalks but few paved highways.

Steelmaking Scrap Available The so-called "home" scrap, that originates within iron and steel plants, fluctuates closely with the volume of steel production, so that the industry is concerned mainly with the quantity available in the open market, moving largely through dealers and brokers who specialize in this business. In a period of rapid expansion in steel production, the return flow of new scrap from factories tends to lag behind the rising ingot production.

Feminine Frocks The greatest amount of cotton in ten years went into women's dress-es in 1950, the National Cotton Coun-cil reports. Eighteen thousand more bales were used in cotton dresses last year than during the previous year. The increasing number of women's cotton dresses is attributed chiefly to new fabric finishes and to cot-ton's rising popularity for high-fashion clothing both winter and summer.

H. GRADY GORE IN TANEYTOWN

(Continued from First Page) plans on "deficit spending" of $19 billion more during the next 15 months, which will further increase the supply of money and lower its purchasing power. How did we get such a great in-crease in our supply of money over these few years? Statistics show that the chief cause of inflation, or this supply of money, has been our Federal Government itself, by spending more money that it was able to collect from the people in taxes. The difference had to be made up by what is called "deficit spending" or bringing into circulation new money.

Lets see how it works. The govern-ment, having spent all the money it was able to collect from the people in taxes, wants to spend a few billion dollars more. It stands the printing presses and prints up a few billion dollars worth of government bonds. It takes the bonds over to commer-cial banks. The banks have the right under the law, to take the govern-ment bonds and give to the govern-ment a deposit for that money on their books. The govern-ment can then write checks for that money, spending it for this and that. Some goes for war mater-ials, but billions of dollars continue to go down rat holes. As this new money is spent by the government it goes into the pockets of the people—but the supply of goods that we can buy has not changed and the infla-tionary spiral has been increased just that much. And our National debt has been increased just that much.

We all know that our Federal offi-cials acting for our government, have the right under the law to borrow money and spend it as they see fit upon behalf of our government. But most of our leaders in the past have avoided as much as possible spend-ing more money than they were able to collect in taxes because they know the dangers of inflation and also the dangers of letting the public debt get out of control.

We must let the people of this country know that inflation can be stopped. Our country can be armed . . . our liberties and freedoms can be preserved and taxes can be cut, if we will be as practical, honest and sin-cere about running our government, as we are in the management of our homes and farms and private businesses. To levy more taxes and continue the type of government spending that we have endured for the past 18 years would avail us nothing. We are taxed now to where it amounts to almost pure and simple confiscation. To levy higher taxes would only serve to cut the produc-tion of goods for public consumption. More taxes is not the answer.

Even now the American people are paying out approximately 30% of their national income in taxes, fed-eral state and local. If we undertook to cover the President's extended budget this would increase to over 40%, a level which would produce the austerity and teh state control of British Socialism. This would be a liberties and freedom without ever firing a shot. WHEN THE PEOP-LE LOSE CONTROL OF THE PURSE STRING, THEIR LIBER-TIES AND FREEDOMS WILL GO WITH IT. Yet, the President dares Congress to cut his budget: Congress should accept this dare. Congress should let our people and the whole world know that the solvency of the United States comes first.

Congress should at once begin to curb inflation by demanding that the government cut out every unneces-sary expenditure, and demand that honesty and sound business judg-ment be used in connection with the expenditures made for things that are needed.

Congress should take a realistic view of our National Debt, and not bequeath it to our children as if it were something over which we are not responsible.

Congress should take a sensible atti-tude toward taxation of the people, providing a reasonable measure that allows for the incentive to produce, which has always been the measure of our American prosperity.

Congress should immediately em-bark upon the great task of building an American Blueprint for a GREAT-ER PRODUCTION FOR PEACE, which to my mind is the hope of our country. A great responsibility rests upon the Congress of the United States at this time. The responsibility for an honest currency and a sound fiscal policy is the responsibility of leader-ship.

The Congress of the United States should measure up to its responsibility, and the people of the country should support the efforts it makes to heed the call to economic sanity that now sounds so urgently throughout the land.

FILED CERTIFICATE OF CANDI-DACY FOR THE U. S. SENATE After deliberate thinking and per-sonal contact with people all over the State of Maryland, I am today filing my Certificate of Candidacy for the United States Senate with the Secretary of State. In doing so, I submit to the people of Maryland my record of more than nine years of continuous service as Congressman. I have fought the attempts by the New Deal, and now the Fair Deal, to Socialize our American people. My record speaks for itself. I will con-tinue to advocate a strong defense to maintain our freedom; economy in Government and an end to the waste of the people's wealth and substance; elimination of Communism in our Government . . . at home . . . and abroad; easing the burden of taxation by making every dollar count; stop-ping this centralization of everything in Washington and this bloodless revolution by means of more and more controls over the individual. This is my philosophy and these are my principles. On my record, I submit myself to the people of Mary-land as a candidate for the United States Senate subject to the Republi-can Primary.—J. Glenn Beall.

Which End?

Little Jonathan pointed to a lurid picture in a copy of "King Arthur And His Knights Of The Round Table," and asked, "What's that?" His father answered, "That's a dragon."

Jonathan gave the picture some additional study, then inquired, "What's it draggin'?"

Worth It

Geologists say that the average city lot would produce $3,000 in gold if it were mined a mile down. A few tenants I know would like to dig holes that deep—but just to push their landlords in.

SO, THAT'S WHERE

Attorney Blank was examining a witness in court the other day.

"Have you ever been arrested before?" he asked the man.

"No, sir!" the witness answered emphatically.

"Have you ever been in this court before?"

"No, sir!"

"Are you sure of that?"

"Yes, sir."

"Your face looks very familiar—very familiar. Where have I seen you before?"

"Well, sir," the witness calmly answered, "I am a bartender in the saloon across the street from here."

Older, No Doubt

Seems we never run short on school stories. One of the best of the recent crop came from a grade school in western Kentucky.

The class was studying periods of time, such as eon, decade, century and all the rest. Came examination time and one question asked for a definition of the word "millenium."

One little boy did it this way:

"A millenium," he wrote, "is like a centennial, only it has more legs."

Carelessness

"You're charged with throwing your mother-in-law out of the window. Guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty, you honor. I did it without thinking."

"That's no excuse—you might have hit somebody on the head."

EVIDENCE

A man was charged with shooting a number of pigeons, the property of a farmer. Counsel for the defense tried to frighten the farmer.

"Now," he remarked, "are you prepared to swear that this man shot your pigeons?"

"I didn't say he shot 'em," was the reply, "I said I suspected him of doing it."

"Ah. Now we're coming to it. What made you suspect the man?"

"Well, first, I caught him on my land with a gun. Secondly, I heard a gun go off and saw some pigeons fall. Thirdly, I found four of my pigeons in his pocket, and I don't think the birds flew there and committed suicide."

Good History

Ralph Bellamy tells this one about the woman shopper he overheard in a department store. Trying on a fur coat, she asked the clerk:

"This seal coat is fine, but will it stand the rain?"

"Madam," replied the clerk, "did you ever see a seal carrying an umbrella?"

A BITING QUESTION

The Sunday School teacher was telling the class about Noah and the Ark. Finally she finished and said: "Now . . . are there any questions?"

"Yes," replied one little boy in the last row, scratching his ankle. "I'd like to know why Noah didn't kill those two mosquitoes in the first place?"

Efficient Machines Increase Production American Farm Records Are Made by Equipment

No one any longer disputes the fact the machine, namely the tractor, has replaced the horse on the average American farm. Constant research in recent years has resulted in high speed implements, more work for each gallon of fuel, and a number of multiple-job attachments for the farm tractor.

The mechanization of American agriculture has been the main reason for increased farm production in the last 10 years or more. But it stands to reason that the more mechanized the farm becomes, the more important it is for the farmer to know how to care for his machinery and how to operate it skillfully.

The tractor has replaced the horse on thousands of American farms, but many farmers still do not know how to get the most efficient use from the tractor.

Properly adjusted machinery can pull with less gas and less strain on vital parts. Such things as proper hitching, use of the right kind of oil and regular lubrication, sharp soil-working tools, correct carburetor adjustment, can improve tractor efficiency from 10 to 20 per cent.

Crop Conditions Are Reported Good in U.S.

The U.S. department of agriculture reported continued improvement in conditions for crop development during June and early July has resulted in prospects among the most favorable the country has ever known.

The department reported farmers were able to plant crops on the largest aggregate acreage since 1933. Yield prospects are reported virtually as good as the best in recent years. Winter wheat prospects improved, despite adverse harvesting conditions in parts of Oklahoma and Kansas, and spring wheat acreage exceeded planting intentions by nearly a half-million acres.

As a result, an all wheat crop of 1,070 million bushels, 16 million more than on June 1, is now in prospect.

Larger acreage of corn, hay, soybeans and sorghums than intended earlier are growing under mostly favorable conditions. Of the major crops, only rice and hay are expected to set new production records, but several others will be of near-record size.

Wheeled Feeder Boxes

Caring for chickens housed in coops is simplified with feed boxes like the one shown above. It has small wheels at one end and can be pulled out for filling without opening a door through which chickens might escape. The boxes are made like drawers with the front ends projecting beyond the sides so they cannot be accidentally pushed beyond the openings in the coop sides. Wheels are attached to the rear ends on nail axles and rest on the bottoms of the coops.

Factory Wages Buy More Food Than in 1929

An hour of work in a factory will buy, on the average, a larger quantity of nearly all kinds of food than it would a generation ago, according to the U.S. department of agriculture.

Department figures on food prices and factory wages for 1929 show that the average wage for an hour of factory work would buy 6.4 loaves of bread. Now it would buy 10 loaves.

Accurate Heat Directors
"Louver Cone" and "Louver Fin" are the names given two new air diffusers by which heat can be efficiently and accurately directed from steam and hot water unit heaters in factories, warehouses, stores, garages, and similar buildings. By "fingertip adjustments" of the new diffusers, using no tools, heating engineers are said to be able to direct the flow of heated air in an almost infinite variety of patterns to produce comfort where needed. The manufacturer is the Trane Company, La Crosse, Wis.

Disease Treatment
Although usually associated with the jewelry field, the precious metals have many other highly important uses. None is more worthwhile than the association of platinum with radium, rarest of metals, in the treatment of disease. There are several reasons why platinum is used for hollow needles and tubes which contain radium in the form of powdered sulphate. It has no harmful toxic or poisonous effect and the high specific gravity of platinum enables the metal to cut off harmful rays and allows only the curative ones to come through. Platinum permits the manufacture of needles and tubes with thinner walls and smaller diameters.

Multiple Deaths Few
Most of the accident death toll is made up of one or two-death accidents, the National Safety Council says. Only three catastrophes in 1930 caused more than 50 deaths each—the November wind and snow storm in the Northeastern states, the collision of two suburban trains in New York, and the crash of a scheduled air transport plane into Lake Michigan.

Iron Ore
Iron ore was first taken from the Cornwall district of Pennsylvania in 1740. More than 50 million tons of ore have been taken from the mines since they were opened. These ores are currently important because of their cobalt content. The Ringwood mines in Northern New Jersey were also opened about this year, and operated almost continuously until 1931.

Safeguard Shingle Roofs
Neglect of wood shingle roofs causes the wood to dry out and curl up. Splitting and breaking away soon follows because of rusted nails. A coat of preservative shingle stain applied every two or three years will make a roof last indefinitely.

Right Type of Typewriters
Even typewriters require special finishes that will not reflect light and glare. For them, industrial finish engineers have developed a "wrinkle" finish that absorbs light, cuts down glare, is easily cleaned—and is not a dust catcher.

The Yukon
The Yukon is one of North America's greatest rivers. It is navigable by shallow-draft steamers for 1,777 miles, from its mouth on the Bering Sea in western Alaska to Whitehorse in Canada's Yukon Territory.

Varied Usage
In a Springfield, Oregon, wood chemical plant, 12 tons of chipped Douglas fir was used in 1930 to produce 4 tons of molasses sugar in addition to a neutralizer for acid soil.

Meal Supplement
When using beans as a mealtime feature, it's a good idea to also include some milk, cheese, or meat during the meal to supplement the vegetable protein for full food value.

Plan Meals
To spend food dollars wisely, meals should be planned ahead of time, with the homemaker combining a knowledge of supplies and prices.

Dead Wood
It has been found that decayed wood is a valuable addition in a certain fibre board because of the bonding resin it contains.

Conservation Will Pay
A soil conservation farm plan in Colorado can pay for itself in five to eight years through extra earnings per acre, experts say.

LEVEL SAGGING DRAPERY CRANES WITH WIRE COAT HOOKS TURNED INTO WINDOW CASING NEAR OUTER ENDS OF CRANES.

John A. Roebling
A German immigrant, whose first job in this country was farming, John A. Roebling introduced woven iron wire cable to the United States. He made his first "wire rope" in 1840 at Saxoburg, Pennsylvania. Building a new plant at Trenton, New Jersey, he began to use cable in suspension bridges. In 1866, he contracted to build the Brooklyn Bridge in New York. The original wire rope is still in use.

Backward, Turn Backward
Famous old Christ Church, Alexandria, Va., which contains pews that belonged to George Washington and Robert E. Lee, has a brand-new parish house which does not look new. It harmonizes remarkably with the famous two-hundred-year-old church. The dark-toned bricks of the new structure are cemented together with a buff-colored mortar that looks like yellow ochre. A final water-repellant coating that contains lampblack adds another convincing touch of "age."

Grass Helper
In preparing a new lawn seed bed, a mixture of one part Terra-Lite vermiculite and two parts of soil will allow grass seed to germinate faster, take deeper roots, and retain moisture effectively.

U.S. Needs Civil Defense JOINING CIVIL DEFENSE CAN MEAN YOUR SURVIVAL

(This is the eighth of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It may be obtained from the U. S. Treasury Department)

By MILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator
The most important reason for anyone to volunteer for Civil Defense work now is that his or her life may depend on it. From that point you can add more names to the list which may be dependent on you in some hour of crisis: your own family, your relatives, your neighbors, and other friends in your community.

The protection of your own home, industrial property and war plants, public buildings, the place where you earn a living, your municipal facilities, your transportation system, farm lands, cattle, forests, harbors—everything which has to do with your life today, multiply the reasons why you should volunteer for civil defense work NOW.

Every good American will want to volunteer for civil defense. He knows it is his duty to do so, for there is no other way to recruit the millions of workers who will be needed to defeat an enemy on the home front. If we are attacked—and remember that we can be attacked—the hard, terrible task of getting our cities and industries back on their feet will fall mainly on civil defense volunteers. It is not a job for those who can't face facts or aren't willing to work. It is a job for real Americans with courage.

No one can do the civil defense job but the American people themselves. The Armed Forces have their own job to do. There are not enough people in Federal, State, or local government agencies to do the job for you. It is one of those things you will have to do yourself. And you will have to be prepared for any emergency. There will be no time to take a civil defense training course, or read booklets, when the bombs fall. All that must be done before if you want to better your chance for survival.

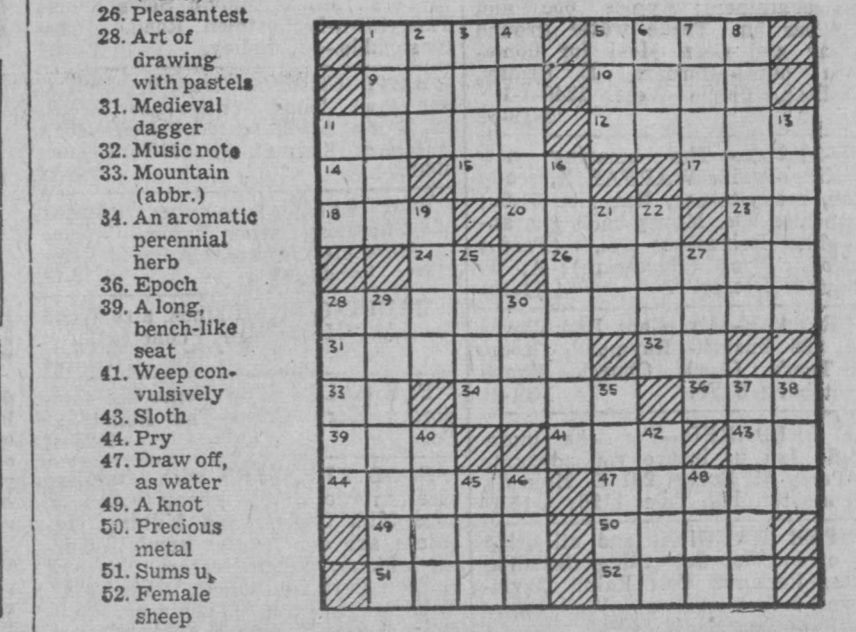

Uncle Sam Says

Farming today requires great skill on the part of the farmer. Not only must he know soils, fertilizers, and seeds, but he must be an expert mechanic to operate all types of farm machinery. In other words, a farmer works hard for his money and in a highly speculative business. He should make that money work for him—in a non-speculative and safe investment, U. S. Savings Bonds, guaranteed by our government, is a crop that NEVER fails, it's always ready when needed. Savings Bonds are a good place for this year's crop money. They grow, rain or shine. International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Luke 7:36-50
DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 32

Understanding

Lesson for February 3, 1952

PEOPLE are like books. Some can read them, some can't. You can put a thing down in black and white and still some people will not understand, simply because they can't read. If a person is illiterate it makes no difference how plainly a book is printed or how big the type is or how clear the author's sentences. So a person can be read by some of his neighbors, like a book in plain English; to others who are just as close to him (close, that is, measured by a foot-rule) he might as well be written in Egyptian hieroglyphics for anything they can make out of him.

Dr. Foreman

Strange Dinner Party

TRUE of all men, this was and is true of Jesus. Luke tells of a dinner party where he was a guest, and puts the spotlight on three persons there: Jesus, the host Simon, and an unnamed woman.

The woman was not supposed to be there; she just wandered in off the street. Not that she was a stranger, exactly; she was well enough known in the village so that the host knew what sort of woman she was, even if (being a respectable man) he did not know her name.

Like all guests in those days, Jesus had taken off his sandals and was reclining on the couch beside the dinner table. This woman stood behind him and wept. Her tears fell on his bare feet and she wiped them dry with her long hair.

Jesus at first paid no attention, but the host was scandalized. How could Jesus take it so calmly? How could he let such a woman touch him?

The conversation that went on, as Luke reports it, between Jesus and Simon, shows that the poor woman of the street understood Jesus' heart, while the leading citizen, whose house it was, did not understand Jesus at all. One could read Jesus, the other found him a closed book. Why?

A Door Barred

THE MAN could not read Jesus' mind and heart because, for one thing, his own mind was made up as to the kind of person Jesus ought to be. He supposed Jesus was the same sort of person as himself—proud, sensitive, careful of his social standing, unwilling to associate with the "lower classes," wanting to be respectable much more than he wanted to be helpful.

In his mind he carried a ready-made pattern of what a "Prophet" ought to be, and so when one who was greater than all the prophets sat at his own dinner table, he could not see him for what he was.

His eyes were blinded, he could not read Jesus, the door to understanding him was closed. He had never learned to read the kind of language which Jesus' life wrote large.

Then there was another reason why this man could not "see" Jesus. It was his own pride, Simon looked down on Jesus so much that he could not even treat him with ordinary politeness.

A Door Open

BUT the woman understood. She did not know all there was to know about Jesus. And still she understood the depth of his heart.

The door of his heart opened to her—she could read the clear writing of his spirit. She understood him because she was humble. She did not try to fit him into her pattern; in his presence she knew, as the host Simon did not, that his was the true pattern of life and hers the false. She understood him too because of her love.

And so in spite of the immense difference between them, there flowed the light of understanding, even before a word had been spoken. She could read the bright word FORGIVENESS which to Simon was only a blank.

And So Today

TO this very day, some people can read Jesus while others cannot. And in between are uncounted people who can read him only more or less dimly as through glasses that are not clean, or through the smoke of a city twilight.

But it is still true that pride and prejudice not only keep us from reading the lives of those around us, they keep us from reading the mind of Jesus.

And it is still true that humility and love are the great teachers; they show us how to read the lives of those around us every day, and best of all they teach us how to read the word "Forgiveness" in the mind and heart of Jesus... which is the heart of God.

Business Unlimited

SOME four thousand years ago a man named Abram was faced with a serious business problem. He was a cattle raiser, and there was not enough grazing land to support his flocks and herds and those of his competitor, Lot. And, just as today business problems are seldom simple, Abram's was complicated by strife between his employees and those of Lot.

This strife was more than competitive friction between two rival business organizations. It reflected the conflict between the standpoints of Abram and Lot. Lot trusted matter; Abram trusted God, Spirit. Lot depended on material belief; Abram sought his solution through spiritual understanding.

Abram's first step was to make the following generous offer to Lot: "Separate thyself, I pray thee, from me: if thou wilt take the left hand, then I will go to the right; or if thou depart to the right hand, then I will go to the left" (Genesis 13:9). And Lot, selecting the land that appeared best to his material sense, chose the well-watered plains of Jordan and departed.

Besides eliminating the atmosphere of rivalry and antagonism, this step accomplished the removal of a wholly material sense of business. No solution to the problem of limitation could have been found as long as the spiritual and material viewpoints were associated. But when the separation had been made, Abram heard God's voice: "Lift up now thine eyes, and look from the place where thou art northward, and southward, and eastward, and westward: for all the land which thou seest, to thee will I give it" (Genesis 13:14, 15). Abram must have lifted up his consciousness to Spirit, must have seen—that is, understood—the spiritual and unlimited nature of all that is good and necessary, for Abram, whose name was later changed to Abraham, was a successful and prosperous man.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 544), "All is under the control of the one Mind, even God." Mind, all-knowing and unerring, is the exclusive creator of every right idea. Mind furnishes the vision essential to successful business, initiating and governing all true activity. Mind knows no imbalance between demand and supply, and the understanding of this provides business with vigor and continuity.

Why should the businessman be willing to give up reliance on matter in order to solve the problem of limitation? Because matter itself is finite, limited, insubstantial. Consequently, every attempt to find in matter a solution to the problem of shortage and insufficiency is doomed to failure.

How does the businessman overcome limitation in God's way? By lifting up his thought to comprehend the infinitude and availability of all that God gives to man. As divine Mind, God supplies right ideas in a never-ending stream. As immortal Soul, God furnishes unrestricted discernment and foresight. As divine Principle, God operates as the ceaseless, resistless law of harmony and perfection. As eternal Life, God unfolds endless vitality and measureless progress. As infinite Love, God provides unbounded inspiration. His inexhaustible realm of good is open to man.

GETTING A BOMBED COMMUNITY ON ITS FEET TAKES ORGANIZATION

By MILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator

Getting a stricken city back into working order as soon as possible by restoring damaged facilities and clearing away debris is the job of the Engineering Service. Under their regular supervisors, but with civil defense direction, men employed by public works and utility departments or contracting firms, would do the same kind of work in the event of enemy attack.

Men would be needed who can operate special equipment, such as cranes, bulldozers, dump trucks and welding machines, and volunteers in the labor force that would help clean away wreckage and open the streets to traffic. Help would be recruited from equipment and material dealers, labor unions, engineering schools, and other groups which have skilled workmen, tools, and material.

The Rescue Service
Rescue work is mainly an engineering job and requires some basic knowledge of shoring, rigging, and building construction. Hence, its personnel will be drawn from the building trades and similar occupations. Untrained rescue workers often make a bad situation worse by causing additional damage, creating more casualties, or becoming casualties themselves.

Rescue teams will have their own specially equipped rescue vehicles, and will be made up of eight men each. Three teams, working 8-hour shifts to provide around-the-clock operation, will be assigned to each rescue vehicle, and will be known as a rescue squad. Ability and willingness to work as a team under emergency conditions, and strength and stamina to perform that work, are requirements for the good rescue worker.

Skilled drivers are needed for the Transportation Service. In case of enemy attack, people and equipment would have to be moved carefully and rapidly: the injured to hospitals,

Relying on God, the businessman hears His eternal direction and promise. "Arise, walk through the land in the length of it and in the breadth of it; for I will give it unto thee" (Genesis 13:17). Walking in the length and breadth of spiritual understanding, the businessman loses sight of the limitations of a purely commercial sense of business, becomes aware of new opportunities, fresh ideas, original thinking, and direct procedures, and discovers that his business is indeed unlimited. —The Christian Science Monitor.

Robin's Appetite

Robin Redbreast may look quite dainty as he pecks away at the ground, but according to Childcraft Books, he is really a glutton. He daily consumes about eighteen feet of earthworm—which totals up to more than his own weight.

Fuel For Railways

Expenditures for fuel made by Class I railroads in 1950 amounted to $608,719,000, topping all other classes of purchases and an increase of nearly $45,000,000 above the preceding year.

More Pensions

Man for man, more money is spent on coal miners' pensions, health, and insurance than on benefits for workers in any other major industry.

American History

The United States fought its war with Spain, 1898, and joined in the International Peace Conference at The Hague, May 18, 1899.

How to lose your side yard to your neighbor

It's easy. You just sit back and let your neighbor tend to things. Let him shovel the walk and rake the leaves and prune the trees—let him take over completely—five, ten, fifteen feet over your property line.

At the end of twenty years, he'll have a legal claim to every inch of ground he's cared for.* And it will be too late for you to do anything about it.

We Americans can lose our freedoms in much the same way. We can sit back and let the federal government take over and run things—the doctors, the railroads, the electric light and power companies, for example. But the moment we do, we lose our way of life to socialism.

Most of us want to keep control of our property and our freedoms. And we can do it—if we don't let our neighbors or our government take over.

* Inequalities exist in teachers' salaries throughout the State today. Carroll county's starting salary for teachers is $400 less than that paid by certain other communities in Maryland.

* The result: last year, 51 teachers left Carroll County for better jobs, better pay. THE CHOICE IS YOURS! Increase the REAL ESTATE TAX on your homes and farms—or expect a less adequate education for your child.

THERE IS ONE SENSIBLE SOLUTION. The State has many taxing powers with enormous surpluses year after year...A TWELVE MILLION DOLLAR SURPLUS in 1951.

Yet, the State's share in the cost of public education decreased to 38% the year of this huge surplus. It will drop even lower this year!

Fair salaries for teachers won't skyrocket Carroll County's tax rate...IF THE STATE ASSUMES ITS PROPER OBLIGATION!

Get good teachers! Keep good teachers!

Urge your Senator and Delegates to override the veto on the Teachers' Salary Bill (H. B. 610) next week at Annapolis.

World's DP's Seeking Haven In Mass Moves

WASHINGTON, D.C.—There are a million in the world today between 30 and 35 million refugees, population experts estimate.

Many are searching for new homes. In a world of uprooted peoples, the past three decades constitute an age of great migrations. The homeless and the hunted have moved—and are moving—across continents and seas. They include victims of war, political persecution, natural catastrophes, and overcrowded lands.

Wandering Populations

The phenomenon of "statelessness" assumed large proportions in the wake of World War I. More than a million White Russians and Armenians became refugees. Greece and Turkey exchanged other millions.

Early in the 1930's, Japan marched into Manchuria, touching off a period of strife for China that has displaced as many as 50 million people, with the end not yet in sight. The buildup of Nazism and Fascism and the Spanish civil war, in the 1930's, put European masses to flight.

"Nansen passports," named for a pioneering League of Nations statesman, were familiar at the borders of Europe. They marked an effort by the League to provide legal status for people of lost nationality.

World War II displaced ten for every one person left homeless before in Europe. When it was over, entire racial, religious, and national groups had been uprooted and moved, many for slave labor.

In the first two years after the war, about seven million went home again. But since 1947, the International Refugee Organization, which goes out of existence on December 31, 1951, has been responsible for welfare of over a million other DP's and refugees who could not go home. Many have been sent instead to Canada, the United States, the countries of Latin America, Australia, New Zealand, Israel and many nations of Western Europe. The U.S. has taken nearly 300,000. More than 12 million Hindus and Moslems took part in one of history's greatest population exchanges following the partition of India and Pakistan in 1947. Other millions have been made homeless by the Korean war. A steady stream of refugees still pours through cracks in the Iron Curtain.

Kalmucks

When a family of three Kalmucks landed in New York recently on a refugee ship, a footnote was written to the history of a people who have been displaced persons for 700 years. As horsemen under Genghis Khan, Kalmucks first moved west across Asia. Others came in the 1800's. Wandering through the centuries, virtually the only group left today west of the Iron Curtain are some 700 in DP camps in Germany, soon to come to this country. The rest have disappeared, somewhere in Russia.

Mennonite farmers from Europe and Canada have followed a mass migration path since the war, going to the swampy wilderness of the Paraguayan Chaco. Moving because of war or overcrowding, they have established colonies where men have never succeeded before.

Parasites Depleting Few Buffalo Left in Country

CHICAGO, Ill.—Parasites are taking up where hunters left off in whittling down the number of buffalo in this country, the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association reports.

The report cited a parasitic attack in a privately owned Kansas herd of over 300 bison.

Seven animals died after being ill for several months. In others, the hair was falling out in large patches and the skin was scabby.

Diagnosis by veterinarians showed the animals were suffering from severe infection with lung and stomach parasites. The veterinarians were handicapped in treating the outbreak, because some buffalo weigh 2,000 pounds or more and may charge with incredible speed when approached.

The Journal report said that prevention of further losses rests upon separating the herd into small groups, isolating calves, rotating pastures, and burning contaminated manure.

Sailor Steelman Couldn't Get His Ship Underway

DALLAS—This era of specialization has taken the "sail" out of some sailors. The sad story of Navy Apprentice Airman D. D. Steelman proves the point.

Steelman shoved a small boat from shore at Mountain Creek Lake. He couldn't get the motor started and hadn't bothered to bring oars. Had he been able to steer, the wind might have driven him to shore. As it happened, he wound up on a bed of silt. Sitting there in near freezing weather, Steelman thought of starting a fire with the boats wooden flooring, but he had no matches.

There was nothing to do but shout for help.

Rescuers finally found him in a hoarse condition—not from a cold, he said, but from shouting.

Fertility of Japanese A-Bomb Victims Returns

No prolonged loss of fertility or incidence of abnormal offspring has resulted from atomic bomb attacks on Japan during World War II, according to a report to the Council on National Emergency Medical Service of the American Medical Association. One of the questions which arose after the bombing was its possible effect on the fertility and future children of the victims.

The results were made known in a joint report by Drs. Charles L. Dunham, Eugene P. Cronkite, George V. LeRoy and Shields Warren. Dr. Cronkite is attached to the U.S. Naval Medical Research Institute, Bethesda, Md.; the others are connected with the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C.

"It is too early to write of the eventual outcome of the Japanese who recovered from radiation injury," the report said. "There is enough information available now to warrant the statement that the survivors have regained their fertility and that, among the progeny of the survivors at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, no unusual incidence of abnormal offspring has occurred."

However, the report disclosed that radiation cataracts of varying severity have occurred in an appreciable number of those close enough to receive significant amounts of radiation, and that the incidence of leukemia (a usually fatal disease of the bloodforming organs) will be higher among the survivors than in the Japanese population as a whole.

"Treatment of radiation injuries from the very beginning should be directed at minimizing the effects of the tendency to hemorrhage and inability to combat infection," the report stated. "The value of antibiotics has been substantiated by a number of experiments."

According to the report, approximately one-half of the initial nuclear radiation is delivered in the first second after an atomic explosion, and 98 per cent by the end of one minute.

Poll Proves Shoe Buyers Seek Comfort, Not Style

The theory, held dear especially by the male sex, that most women will endure willingly any discomfort as long as vanity is served, received at setback in a recent survey conducted by the University of California Laboratory of Performance Physiology.

In the course of this study, some six hundred co-eds were questioned as to what influenced them most when buying shoes. To everyone's surprise, some ninety-eight percent considered comfort the most important single factor. To top it off, a smaller percentage of male students placed primary stress on comfort!

Price was a very minor consideration in purchasing new shoes, with only one-third of the female students rating it first. Results of the survey revealed that the average American girl realizes that foot fitness is a requisite for general body health and comfort. She has learned that well-fitting shoes that are equipped with flexible leather soles and supple uppers are not only smart but do wonders for a graceful stride and good posture.

Consulted in this connection, a leading foot specialist expressed little surprise at the outcome of the poll. He corroborated the close connection between foot care and body health, and cited medical histories of women patients who had been freed of a variety of foot complaints after being fitted with comfortable laced oxfords that had low heels and resilient leather soles and uppers.

With an estimated eight out of every ten older women complaining about foot ills, there is evidence in the University of California poll that young people are saving themselves the bone-twisting punishment suffered by their elders. Chances are these youngsters will go through life on sound feet.

Sleep Well

In a recent survey Dr. George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, discovered that "very happy" people sleep best of all, and the unhappy suffer most from insomnia. It is logical, of course, because the happiest people have the fewest worries and cares to torture them into becoming insomniacs. It stands to reason that the reverse of this statement could easily be the basis of Dr. Gallup's findings. If people sleep well, they are more inclined to be happy and carefree. Their daily worries are forgotten and dissolve from problems of enormous weight to mere trifles after a good night's sleep. It is logical, too, that the people who sleep on the most comfortable bedding are the most rested and therefore the happiest.

Magic Glass

From Pliny's tale of seafarers finding glass beneath their campfire on the sandy shore of a river in Asia Minor, to the thousand of known formulas for different types of glass today, runs the history of this magic substance. By it man can obtain light, focus a pinpoint of matter, see far into space; insulate against heat, cold, electricity or noise; contain food, perform scientific experiments, chart weather or health. Through the glass eye of the camera, he can record the present for a curious tomorrow.
