BOND ISSUE DEFEATED

Taneytown's Bond Issue for the financing of a sewerage system was defeated at the special election held on Monday. The largest vote ever cast in Taneytown at a municipal election was 428 votes, divided as follows: 190 favor and 238 against the proposal. Norville P. Shoemaker and William J. Baker served as judges at the election and C. G. Bowers was the clerk, invited.

TANEYTOWN'S BOND ISSUE DEFEATED

Statement Made by the Mayor and City Council

Taneytown had a big size vote in a small size town on Monday of this week. Many of our citizens are likely to remember this day at the local polls not only as a day of major decision when the voting populace turned out exactly 429 strong but likewise as a time of vigorous discussion and spirittime of vigorous discussion and spirited balloting. Democracy was recording the will of the people. A public issue was being decided. Did Taneytown want to subscribe to a bond issue and install a sanitary sewage system? A great many said "yes" but a majority said "no" and of course it is the majority vote which provails is the majority vote which prevails.

Now that the voting is past and the decision made, the Town Council desires to set upon the record its deep appreciation for the splendid response of the town's people to the whole mat-ter. The public response at the Town Meeting and the unusual number of ballots cast at the polls is a splendid testimony to the public interest in the health and welfare of our community. As to the question of the future possibility of a sanitary sewage system that, too, will have to be decided by the voting public. A system can be provided only by the will of the peo-ple and the assumption of public responsibility to pay the cost of such installation. Until then there can be no major change from the present system of handling the sewage in our com-

It should be remembered, however, that neither the work nor the expenditure of money in preparing the survey of the town has been lost. This work was carried on under the guidance of the finest professional and legal minds. The survey was made and the blueprints prepared by a reputable and certified company. The fruit of all this preliminary survey work of all this preliminary survey work can now be made available if and when it is needed. Meanwhile the Town Council shall be grateful for the continued civic interest on the part of Taneytown's citizens and pledges its continued support of the same.

GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES To Be Held in the Presbyterian Church

Next Friday is Good Friday-a day when the world unitedly recalls and reveres the agonizing suffering and sacrificial death of the Lord of Life. As in former years the four Protestant Churches, through the efforts of its ministers, will unite in sponsoring the traditional 3-hour Good Friday worship from 12 N to 3 p. m. These hours are in line with the hours mankind's Saviour hung upon the Cross of Calvary. The community business places will be closed during this time to permit their employees to be part of the worshipping congregation and also that they might not conflict with the commemoration this non-selfish act of devotion which has caused civilization to be the richer and more blessed by its happening. This year the worship will be held in the Presbyterian church. The fol-lowing is the order of speakers as they present meditations on the so-called "Seven Last Words of Christ from the Cross", in orderly succession: Rev. Arthur Garvin, Mr. Paul Stockman, Rev. Glenn Stahl. Mr. Eugene Stambaugh, Rev. Morgan Andreas, Mr. Roland Garvin and

LETTER TO THE EDITOR RECEIVED

Opinion Expressed Regarding Bond Issue

March 31, 1952

The Carroll Record Taneytown, Maryland Dear Sir:

A letter to the editor regarding the circular which was distributed Satururday, March 29, 1952 concerning the proposed Bond Issue for the Taneytown Sewer System. As I write this letter, the ballots have not been count-ed, nor has the voting been completed. None-the-less, I should like to record my reaction to the circular and to speculate about the character of the citizens" responsible for its publica-

The tactics used by this "group" are despicably those of gang warfare, corrupt political machines, and border-line pressure groups. They attempt to win the undecided voters to their side by distributing such a document after waiting until it is to late for the op-position to defend their stand. Certainly the more democratic and respectable method should have been to express their views when there was enough time to conscientiously discuss the problem and hear the argument in favor of the bill.

Now to the circular itself. It is interesting to note the number of times "money" is referred to, directly or indirectly, and the complete absence of expression of civic interest and community welfare. It seems more appropriate that the article be signed, "a SELF-interested group of Taneytown citizens", and I would indeed question the propriety of the use of the word "citizens". The purpose of the leaflet was, clearly, not to stimulate civic pride and interest, but rather, the manner and time of distribution tends to evidence ulterior motives.

Apparently no one in the group had enough confidence in his, or her, stand, nor could sufficiently justify same, to affix a personal signature to the document. Instead, all involved politely concealed their identity behind the veil of a group signature.

It is certainly disparaging to realize that there are those who view everything from a pecuniary stand-point. The figures attached to the dol-lar and cent signs on the circular are, Treasurer reports on the progress of at least, misleading and, at worst, a the district during the past year were presented. increases in monetary expenditure, I should like for the members of the "group" to ask any land-owner or tenant whether he would not be willing to pay a nominal increase in rent or taxes to rid themselves of the cesspool menace, which has plagued a considerable number of the community's population for quite some time. omy, as in many economies of the world, recession and depression is a constant danger to the country's prosshould invest, our progress and development would indeed be slow. It is not spending money and making im-provements which bring on depression, but rather it is pessimistic attitude toward spending and investment (expressed in the circular), and the abstaining from spending which encourage depression. For further elucidation of this point, I refer you to the first few chapters of Dillard's book, "The Economics of John Maynard Keynes.'

A closer look at economic history reveals that prices are less given to decrease than they are to increase. During World War I, prices rose considerably and it wasn't until the depression of the 30's that there was a noticeable drop. Again during World JAMES F. FREAM War II, prices rose, and continued to do so during the period between the close of that war and the beginning of the Korean crises. After each rise prices did not return to the previous low level, but tended to level off on the new plateau, only to rise further. Therefore it is quite probable that prices will continue to rise rather than fall. Furthermore, a period of low prices, low income, and unemployment is no time to float a bond issue the size necessary for this project.
Economists who follow the classical theory of Adam Smith, and those who advocate the relatively new theory of Keynes are placing more emphasis on community services, community income, and community expenditures and focusing less attention on the individual wealth, as a means to mitigate the effects of an economic crises and depression.

I certainly hope that the citizens with a deep concern for civic develop-ment and community progress far outnumber those who are interested only in their pocketbooks, in this situation or any future problem which is bound to present itself before a progressive and expanding community.

Although we may be putting a rope around our necks by passing the bill, we will cut our throats by defeating it. No one can accurately predict an economic crises, but the time for development and expansion is now, when the necessary capital is obtainable In matters of public interest, think before you vote-but be sure to vote.

This to the Gentlemen as well as the Ladies around any town! When removing your overcoat why do you turn the outer lining as you fold the coat facing upward? This is the part which should have the most care as it is always next to your dress or suit and the lining at all times should be kept immaculate. In other words the exterior of your coat shoulders the weather and any atmosphere and should be the part exposed when you remove it and fold it to lay anywhere when visiting. At home, your coat is usually hung upon a hanger but not turned inside out!

How nice it was to receive a long letter from my Jewish "Pen Friend" from across the seas stating she now has everything for which she is so thankful and not to send her any-thing more (enclosing her picture with the brown suit on which I sent

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

HUMBOLT, IOWA, REPUBLI-CAN: "We have been wondering why a thousand dollar automobile costs more than two thousand dollars and why a lot of other things seem to be out of our reach erthings seem to be out of our reach financially. We find that it is tied up with a lot of things, such as deficit financing, price controls, defense spending, high taxes, government debt over-extension of credit and a multitude of other things."

LIBERAL, KAN., SOUTHWEST DAILY TIMES: "Kansas is holding costs to a minimum, not a single new tax or increase being created by the 1951 legislature. At the same time progress toward fiscal reorganization and modernization of mental hospitals and other state institutions is rapidly going forward. Kansas should be proud of that record. Perhaps some of our high-powered spenders could well follow that example and profit likewise.'

LONG PRAIRIE, MINN., LEAD-ER: "The government under its present leadership proposes to spend as much the next fiscal year which is allegedly a peace time year, as the government spent during the entire 136 years from 1789 to 1925, which period included the Civil War and World War I. It is time the citizen who has a farm or a home starts thinking about the title to his property. How long is it going to be before he is going to lose them to the government for taxes?"

FEESERSBURG

There is a nation wide problem that must be solved and solved speedily if a creeping paralysis is not to over take our transportation system. That is the problem of our inadequate road system. Engineers have increased the driving power of our cars and the load capacity of the trucks but no one so far has built a road that can long endure the constant pounding of heavy trucks and the daily friction of a milion tires. The roads that are taking the worst punishment are the second-ary roads usually built and maintain-ed by the counties. Most of these roads were built for early model cars and small capacity trucks. If you doubt this drive over the bridges that dead earth today, and is seen. Life stirred and strained and burst its winter hands. Color crept into the brown grass, and flowers lifted up their faces to the sun. The pulse beat stronger, warmer in all living things. Spring came total living things the spring came total living things. Spring came total living things the spring came total living things the spring came total living things. Spring came total living things the spring came total living things the spring came total living things. Spring came total living things the spring came to cam fic is responsible for much of the damage to roads and yet these trac-tor-trailers pay far less toward the building and upkeep of the roads than any vehicle that uses the Maryland roads. Do you have any idea what type of car or truck bears the brunt of the nation's truck tax bill? It is the little old pick-up farm truck of the American farmer, which statistics show pays three times the tax rate of the biggest highway freighters. So if you are interested in your roads, as every farmer must be, you will de-

You don't mind being fooled sometimes-and about some things.

But it's no fun at all when somebody tries to fool you with a bad ideaespecially when it's disguised as something good!

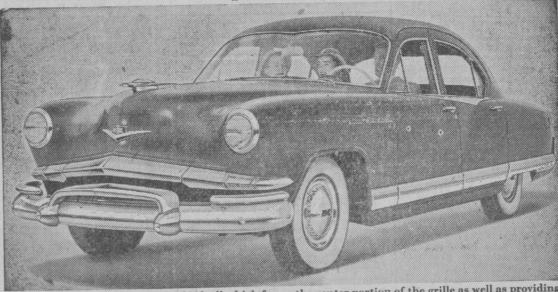

For example, you hear some people say that everybody would benefit if the federal government took over important businesses and servicesthe railroads, the doctors, the electric light and power companies.

That's the dangerous kind of fooling. For what they suggest, under Its disguise, is socialism.

When you hear somebody falling for that "let the government take over" talk, remind him that he's recommending socialism. Very few Americans want to live in a socialistic U.S.A.

The Risen Lord

Lesson for April 13, 1952

TN all the chorusing Easter music, in all the multitudinous manyvoiced "I believe ...," in the midst of the Easter lilies, is it hard to believe? Some find so and feel ashamed that in the presence of others' bright faith their own doubts rise darkly dim, their faith once clear and warm now grown opaque and cold. It is at Easter time that such a person finds his case most tragic. Doubt that echoes a universal loss of faith is almost natural; but why must doubt stand like a dark rock in a sunny meadow, cold in the midst of flowing springtime?

The Man of Dark Mind

TRAGIC such loss of faith may be; but not new. For in Christ's first Twelve-we must say first Eleven, for Judas had sold himself to another—even in that choice company there was one who, on the First Easter, when the voice of all his friends spoke as one: He is risen! could only answer, Is he risen, indeed?

The church has given the name of Saint to these eleven men; they will not deny it to Saint Thomas. For sainthood is not confined to those who have never wrestled with doubt; saints are not only those in whose eyes God and his ways have been always clearly seen.

High in the roll of Christian saints is the name of Thomas, a man of dark but honest mind. His doubt was very like him. He was not a man who most easily believed what was most pleasant.

When Jesus had set his face to go to Jerusalem, the other Ten looked for a Throne, and thrones for all; Thomas alone looked for death. Yet in the very hour, cheered by no bright illusion, Thomas could say what no other did: "Let us go too that we may die with him."

In the upper room at the Last Supper, again the voice of Thomas bespoke his dark mind. "We know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way?'

So it could have been small surprise to the Ten that when they went to Thomas with the glad news of Easter Day, he was slow to believe.

The Last Beatitude

NOW the Lord Christ did not re-buke this man Thomas, when at last the two came face to face once more; nor did he praise him. He knew that Thomas had acted as a Thomas will.

But our Lord also looked down the centuries, to us and beyond. Thomas had not asked the impossible; but soon, soon would come the time when a request like his could not be

Not forever could Christ be seen on earth with the visible eye. To only a few would be granted even the dream or vision of what Saint Thomas could have touched if he had dared.

The time was shortly coming when men must believe, if they believe at all, without seeing. Easter days would come and go, and voice of faith would rise in a thousand songs: He is risen! But not on any Easter, for twice a thousand years at least, would Christ return to break bread with his friends in such a way that doubt could no longer be. Blessed are they that have not seen, and yet-!

The Risen Lord

SO Saint Thomas was wrong, and right. He was wrong if he thought: I cannot believe unless I see. The Christian way is not the seeing that is believing; it is the believing that is seeing

But he was right if he thought: I must believe for myself, I can take no other man's faith for my own. And he was right at the last: "My Lord and my God!"

Was Thomas only a man of temperament, a man easily blown from depth of doubht to height of faith? By no means. He knew what difference Easter makes, once the truth of it comes home to a man's mind. If the message of Easter is not true, Christ is dead,-rather Jesus is dead and there is no Christ, his brain is dust, his dream a cobweb in the wind of death. But if the message of Easter is true-and the whole Christian church is witness that it is true—then Christ who lived again on Easter morning lives forever past all the mornings of the world, lives to be man's only king, reigning from the very right hand of

If Easter is not true, we shall walk softly as befits those in mourning on the return of a day of sorrow; if Easter is true we shall say and sing with Thomas and all the saints: My Lord and My God! WANTED

All over the country, there's a movement back to the small towns.

Housing shortages, the increasing tensions of city life and maybe even a slight fear of the atom bomb is driving men and women back to the towns from which they first came. The question of course is what these trained, cultured men and women are going to do to the small town and what, in turn is the small town going to do to them. No doubt the effect on each will be tremendous and neither one nor the other will be quite the same—ever

I have never seen the head of the house so distressed as on Monday morning. For the past three years two doves have built a nest in one of our pine trees and raised two and three broods of doves each year. Last week they returned as usual from their winter home and began the house-building. Since living close to the house for several years they became quite tame and rarely bothered to stay more than a couple of feet out of any-one's way including the cats and dog. one's way including the cats and dog. The inevitable happened Monday morning. Thomas, our Persian cat caught one of the doves and before anyone could rescue it, death struck. The mate kept calling for two days and the sound distressed everyone in the family, Doves keep their same mate year after year until tragedy separates them. We are hoping that the one left behind will find a new love and build another nest close by.

PUBLIC SALE

The undersigned will offer for sale at his residence in Mt. Joy Township better known as the Wm. Bankert farm, along the new improved road leading from Littlestown to the Hoffman Orphanage, on TUESDAY, APRIL 22, 1952, at 1 o'clock, sharp, the following gun work on the New Midway-Keymar road. The trees have been cut down on both sides of the road giving it a bare and unhappy look. Even the oak tree just outside of New Midway which must have been a young sapling when George Washington rode by has been cut down. The progress of civilization or what passes for it has small use for sentiment or landmarks.

The most interesting news that has happened for a long time is the fact that Daisy Mae finally caught Lil' Abner and married him, although he is still looking for a miracle to save him. Al Capp says this time Lil' Abner is not going to be saved but must face the uncertainties of married life.
