Many a little child is deprived of the safety and happiness which a real home provides. It is impossible to do this without the help of the scores of loyal and generous citizens who each year so graciously open their hearts to the appeal of the Children's Aid.

We are again calling on each and everyone of you to help us heed the cries and distresses of the little children who need our services. The Children's Aid cannot provide for these children without the financial support of the citizens of Carroll County. Our children deserve the best care we can provide. ### PRICE REDUCTIONS IN MIXED FEEDS

Price reductions of from $4-$5 per ton in its mixed feeds were announced by Southern States Cooperative and its local Cooperative Service Agencies early this week. The price slashes were effective immediately.

The action was taken, Southern States officials reported in Richmond, because of the sharp squeeze on farmers throughout this area brought about by unusually high feed prices and the prices farmers were receiving for meat, milk and eggs. Farm members of the cooperative numbering more than 272,000, as owners and users of the organization, took this step in their behalf and for their own benefit.

It was pointed out that the reduction was a cooperative effort to bring down the "too-high price level" on manufactured feed. It was also mentioned that a large crop of corn now being harvested, and good supplies of other important feed ingredients, could bring further reduction of feed prices during the fall season.

MARYLAND MUSINGS

Set a dish of ammonia in a closed oven overnight to loosen soil.

Too heavy a washer load or too many large pieces may be the reason your washer doesn't get clothes clean. Knife blades dull easily when used as cleavers, pancake turners, screw drivers or for cutting string and paper.

Lettuce leaves open and separate easily if you'll cut out the core an inch deep and force cold running water through the cut core.

It's time to plant bulbs for early spring flowers.

Buy Defense Bonds—they're good machinery depreciation insurance.

Give legume pastures a chance to store up nutrients to carry them over winter.

Play safe with corn pickers—shut off the power take-off when getting off the tractor.

Check frost proofing equipment in poultry and other farm buildings before frosts come.

Check ear tattoos of beef calves before weaning, while the calf is still with its mother.

By following recommended practices, egg producers can increase the number of eggs in Grade A.

BALLOT BATTALION

DRIVE SUCCESSFUL

196 New Names Placed On Registration Books

A record-breaking registration was held in Taneytown on Tuesday, Sept. 30, when 196 persons were registered and transferred. Both political parties are well pleased with this splendid turnout, but the Ballot Battalion reports that according to their records this is not a satisfying number. Having made a house-to-house canvass of most of the Taneytown District, they have compiled a list of over 400 names of persons who were not registered prior to Tuesday's registration. After going over the list, and checking off all the names of the persons registered that day, they have come to the conclusion that only 20 per cent of the names on their list registered that day—80 per cent, or about 320 persons are not registered as yet. And too, there are many hundred persons whom they did not get around to see that would make this number much larger. Therefore, realizing the great number of citizens in the community who are eligible voters but have not taken the time to register, they feel that the 196 persons registered this week is far from the number that should have turned out.

Next Tuesday, October 7, is the last day for anyone to register in Taneytown District if they wish to participate in the big presidential election on November 4. It is the duty and privilege of every American citizen to register and vote. Don't be fooled by thinking that your vote doesn't count because it does—every vote is vital for the saving of our great republic. The Firemen's Building will be open from 9 AM to 9 PM on Tuesday for the purpose of receiving registrations and transfers. Make it a point to go in during these hours if you are not already established on the books for this district. To those who came out last week, the Taneytown Ballot Battalion wishes to congratulate them on their fine American spirit, and they hope to see them out for the election.

TRINITY MISSION CIRCLE

The Trinity Mission Circle of the Lutheran church will hold their Rally on Wednesday evening, October 8, at 7:30 P. M.

The program will open with an inspiring worship service whose aim is to increase the awareness of the group of the needs of the world about them. Special vocal and instrumental selections have been arranged for this period.

Following this will be a brief, informal business meeting and an hour of good fellowship with group singing, games and refreshments.

Each member may bring a guest and is urged to assure the success of the Rally by her presence and enthusiasm.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF COUNTY CHURCHES

The Carroll County Churches will meet at "The Church of the Brethren" on Bond St. and Park Place, Westminster, Md., on Tuesday, October 7th, at 8 p. m., for the purpose of election of officers and adoption of the Constitution and By-Laws for the Carroll Co. Council of Churches. Acting officers for the meeting will be the Rev. Ray E. P. Abbott, Silver Run, chairman, and Mrs. Alfred Zolickoff, secretary. All interested persons are urged to be present.

and Social Security

The new benefit formula that is now used to figure social security payments will mean higher old-age and survivors insurance benefits to many wage earners who are now filing claims, Franklin M. Barnes, manager of the social security field office said today.

The social security amendments of 1950 provided that wage earners who are now 65 or over, and who retire after they have worked for at least a year and a half after 1950 in a job covered by social security, can take advantage of this new formula, Mr. Barnes pointed out. Benefits are based on the average monthly wage that the worker earned during this time. The new formula provides for benefits of 55% of the first $100 of the wage earner's average monthly wage and 15% on all over that up to the maximum of $300. A wage earner with an average monthly wage of $160 after 1950 would be entitled to 55% of the first $100, or $55, and 15% of the remaining $60, or $9, making a total of $64. His wife, if she is 65, would also be entitled to one half of this amount.

For more detailed information, Mr. Barnes said, inquiries should be made at the nearest social security field office.

The field office covering this area is located at 5227 York Road, Baltimore 12, Maryland.

Many household workers have already acquired a fully insured status under social security.

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!
I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The beautiful Zinnas are still plentiful this time of the year and serve for much decoration throughout the house. The leaves are beginning to fall although they have not put on their dresses of brown and gold.

What a mob there was in town for the Stevenson speech! Every parking place was taken and out of towners had arrived early to park in the big parking building long before ten a. m.

What a "Foursome" on the Mat, Gentlemen at the Coliseum last week! The Zebra took much punishment from that treacherous "Kim" and I think Kim was surprised that the former was not floored sooner with his cruel treatment which is always most pronounced right from the very start. Eh? There is something fine about Ray Thunder and he seems to be a big favorite with the audience.

This from a "Heart Specialist" right in the big city as he was talking to another M. D. in his office. "CIGARETTES are causing more heart trouble than liquor!" Hymp!

If you are contemplating, Mrs. Housewife purchasing new window shades for your home, don't forget to look at those $1.98 ones in the Dime store. They are Plastic and give the most beautiful hue of Peach in the room. They are positively glamorous in the bedrooms. And, Ladies whatever you do, lie down for just one hour in the afternoon even if you do not sleep just to relax. It will make you live longer!

Hope you did not forget to turn back the clock!

The nice welcome for Rickey and Lucy who have not fallen down during their summer vacation for their Monday night T.V. show. Eh? If you have not purchased your set by all means do so now as the winter programs are just ahead. Don't be a Crepe Hanger by saying, "Oh—I am going to wait until the great improvement of the T.V. before I buy!" Think of all the other members in your household and how much you, too would be enjoying it. You don't have to invest in a big set. My little three year old one is still doing beautifully purchased from Carroll County.

Did you know that everything in Carroll County is more reasonably priced than in any other county in Maryland? That goes for taxes and the cost of living to every detail, too. Do you know the origin of taking a loaf of bread, a bag of salt and a new broom into a new house? Well, here it is! The old, old superstition based on symbolism of each object is said to bring good luck and happiness to a new home. The bread is "The Staff of Life" typifying life's essentials and symbolizing longevity and good health. Salt in ancient Europe was sprinkled over the threshold of a new house to keep out bad luck or evil spirits. And last is the broom according to the old superstitions, it is bad luck to take along an old broom when you move into a new house as the new broom will never sweep the good luck out!

There is a new Hybrid-tea Rose developed by Francis Meiland called "CONFIDENCE". It is a peach-toned pastel blended Rose and it was dedicated by its creator a few weeks ago at "Star Roses", West Grove, Pa. Meiland, the famous Frenchman was also the originator of the Rose called "Peace". "Confidence" was the most beautiful Rose last year, the very first rose to win both honors since 1937—that of the most beautiful award and "Bagatelle".

Often we hear the saying, "Oh! those people are very clanish! Be neighborly, folks wherever you live. You recall one of the Commandments that God gave to Man. Love Thy Neighbor! Start right now!" From Philly comes, "Whatever you do don't miss the movie called "CARRIE!"

Here's to the nice Reader who has been more than patient for the following request. The sign of "PISCES" which is from Feb 20 to March 20 inclusive. These people are usually of a modest and pleasing appearance and in many instances they lack confidence which they should try and overcome. They frequently display much skill in art and fine music. They are fond of science and literature. They are very fixed in their views on religion. Pisces people are truly the most clean minded and have no place in their hearts for anything that savors of impurity, vulgarity or coarseness. They have strong likes and dislikes and are not always careful to conceal them. They admire intellect and are keen in most everything they do. Yes, Pisces individuals both men and women are very fine especially those who have been educated or of the higher plane in other words.

Don't forget to purchase your Bulbs for the Spring.

Have a grand week end. Be good and be careful and remember that Commandment, "LOVE THY NEIGHBOR!" So long, folks. Until next week D. V.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

PORT GIBSON, MISS. REVEILLE: Workers in two textile mills in Pawtucket, R. I., have voluntarily agreed to take wage cuts amounting to about 9 cents an hour. We congratulate those Pawtucket workers for making a hole in the endless round of higher pay for labor, higher prices for commodities. The decision of those union workers is not only sensible but it shows high regard for justice.

SKOWHEGAN, ME., INDEPENDENT-REPORTER: "That higher prices are predicted by the government's stabilization chiefs, does not seem like an unusual forecast. Most of us could make such predictions with strike-enforced wage increases and resulting higher production costs forcing price increases. Back of it all is a wasteful government spending more than the taxpayer can pay, thus depreciating the value of the dollar and lowering its purchasing power. All the price control laws in the world won't hold the line against government policies that force production cost increases, promote inflation and devalue the dollar."

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, DESERET NEWS: "The American Institute of Accountants... proposes... that the government show more confidence in the integrity of the average taxpayer and spend more of its time and effort in a real crackdown on returns obviously out of line. Moreover, the Institute thinks the public can help greatly if it can be educated to the idea that the chiseler is not merely a clever fellow, but is a despicable cheat who is stealing money out of his neighbors' pockets. Somebody must pay the tax. If it's not the chiseler, then it must be the rest of us."

COATESVILLE, PA., RECORD: "We, too, are anxious to see citizens have their costs reduced, but we have yet to find a satisfactory answer to the question: 'Why should the owners of rental properties make up the only group forced to take a licking?' We might ask just what costs, which the landlord must meet, have been kept down to the figure in effect when rentals were frozen?"

CORVALLIS, OREGON, GAZETTE TIMES: "The Tax Foundation, a non-profit private organization, in a study of the extent and effects of Federal aid, points out how the states are getting into the habit of taxing and taxing and spending and spending, in order to take advantage of the grants from the Federal government. It's a vicious vise with the taxpayer caught fast between."

MESABI, MINN., DAILY NEWS: "Almost all of the people of the United States have an indirect stake in the success of the business and industrial concerns of the nation through ownership of life insurance policies."

Feed Prices Too High... Farmers Take Action— Slash Southern States Prices!

Farmers are squeezed by feed prices that are too high in relation to prices received for meat, milk and eggs. The farmers who own and use Southern States Cooperative—272,000 strong—are doing something about it.

Southern States Cooperative has made a sharp reduction in its mixed feed prices—is pricing them at less than actual cost.

Southern States Service Agencies, working hand in hand with the farmers they serve, have reduced their handling margins to approximate actual cost. The result is a reduction of $4.00 to $5.00 per ton (20 to 25 cents per bag) in Southern States feeds which were already low in price as compared with commercial feed of comparable quality.

This program of self-help by farmers will continue until it forces the price of commercial formula feeds to a more reasonable level from the standpoint of farmers. A big crop of corn and other feed grains will soon be pressing on the market. This also should help.

Support this cooperative effort to pull down the too high price level on mixed feeds—save real money too by using quality feeds cooperatively manufactured by farmers in their own mills. See us for details. You'll be amazed at the new low Southern States feed prices.

FEESERSBURG

"Way to save the world seen in new Bible," was the headline in one of the daily newspapers this week. It was of course, referring to the new authorized version of the Holy Bible which was presented to the public this week for the first time. The work has taken fifteen years. The headline in itself is deceiving. For while the new translation remains the same as the old translations. The way to save the world or rather the people on it has been the theme of the original Bible. If the christian people have failed to make use of the teachings of the older translations to make this world a better place for all people than any one has genuine misgivings that any new version of the Bible will be able to accomplish any more. The Holy Bible contains the laws and plans for an abundant and happy life, but unless man transforms these blueprints into reality then all the new or old versions of the Bible will not save humanity. Man must learn before it is too late that he is the master of his own fate. He has been shown the way, but up until the present he has declined to believe it.

No matter how old you live to be you will probably never die of old age. In fact, scientists question whether death from old age is possible. Even the oldest people are finally carried off by disease. The upper limit of age pre-determined by our species has never been reached by a majority or even by a considerable minority of individuals. But if you want to see if you can be one of the few, if any, who live out your whole life span, go to the west north central states. This is the area of greatest longevity in the United States.

If the Roman Empire had been built upon as firm foundations as its roads, it would still be a world power today, though they are over two thousand years old. The Roman roads owe much of their long life to careful painstaking construction and to the engineering principle of building extremely deep heavy foundations. Some of the roads are more than 40 inches from their base of large hand laid and fitted stones to the top of the pavement.

Mothers have been given credit for a lot of things and now they are being credited or blamed for their children's ulcers, though they develop after the children have children of their own. At a recent medical convention Dr. Peters said 76% of stomach ulcers are the result of emotional disturbances. Mothers impart more fears to their children than any other agency. They may do this by excessive don't's.

In later years this may cause emotional conflicts which result in physical illness. Whether Dr. Peters is entirely right or not there is much truth in what he says, though we mothers may not want to admit it. One woman I know confesses that all her life she has been subject to morbid fears because when she was a small child her mother frightened her with ghost stories.

Another tells how her mother hid her books and taunted her with the specter of insanity to keep her from reading so much, which happened to be her hobby. I guess we mothers should take stock of ourselves once in awhile and check up to see if we aren't taking advantage of our position to inflict our hostilities and fears upon our children.

Foxes driving our community to take added precautions against chicken and duck raiding by these four legged pests. They are becoming quite impudent in their stealing as they approach the pens in daylight and build their dens close to the source of their meat supply. Both the red and grey fox have been seen in the vicinity. For some reason their numbers have been increasing in the last few years. Not only are they a menace as chicken thieves, but as a source of rabies, also. Both our neighboring states, Pennsylvania and Virginia have had fox hunts to eradicate rabid foxes during the last year.

It will be surprising if Maryland's foxes do not become infected too. For this reason, all persons should be on their guard if they come upon a fox and it doesn't live up to its reputation and try to escape. If he starts to attack instead of running you can be certain it has rabies. It will, then be your turn to start running.

The class officers of the seventh grade were not listed last week under the school news because it was a week late in electing officers due to tests. However, the elections are now over with the following results: President, Nancy Roelke; Vice-Pres., Geraldine Graham; Secretary, Bonnie Munshower; Treas., Deanna Crouse. The election was supervised by Miss Helen Linthicum, who had drilled the class in parliamentary procedure for two weeks prior to the election. The industry of democracy at work was very timely since this is the big year in National politics and the seventh grade is about the right age group to start an interest in the political life of these United States.

Richard Grindler son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Grindler and Miss Jack Krom of Westminster, were married Friday afternoon by Rev. Colwell. Keymer. Richard left Wednesday for Fort Meade, to be assigned to duty as an inductee of the U. S. Army. Richard and Jane are following the pattern of so many young people these days. It seems to be the trend of our times and probably the only realistic approach to take. Certainly, youth has always been able to solve its problems in its own way in every generation.

Richard and Jane are following the pattern of so many young people these days. It seems to be the trend of our times and probably the only realistic approach to take. A Detroit school teacher was given a ticket for driving through a red light which called for her appearance in traffic court the following Monday. She went at once to the judge, explained that she had to teach on Monday, and asked for immediate disposal of her case. "So you're a school teacher," said the judge. "Madam your presence here fulfills a long standing ambition of mine. You sit right down at that table and write 'I went through a stop sign, 500 times'."

Mr. and Mrs. William Holbrook are having their house remodeled inside and out. Joseph Coshun is progressively getting his new home finished. If building new homes is a sign of prosperity, then our community is having just that for no matter in which direction one looks there are new homes going up, with the old ones being made to over.

If a man has a queen for a wife he can still retain his independence when it comes to choosing his clothes. So demonstrated the Duke of Edinburgh when he refused to don kilts to please Queen Elizabeth and put on knickerbockers instead. One can imagine the Queen like any other woman was secretly pleased to learn that she had married a man and not a mouse.

Registration day in Carroll county on Tuesday brought to light once again that the Republican party is more aggressive than the Democratic party here in the county. This is not the democratic leadership in Westminster, though somewhat puzzling to those that know the number of registered Democrats far exceeded the number of registered Republicans—at one time. It will be interesting to learn the number of each party at the present time—especially will it be interesting to the Democrats in Westminster.

To err is human; to forgive is self-indulgence.

WHITTIER'S WIN

Grandmother was bitterly opposed to gambling games—especially poker—but gave her sanction to the playing of authors. So the grandchildren engaged her interests in the game of her choice. Her enthusiasm increased as the game progressed, and while she knew that the cards used were a deck of authors, she didn't know that the game she was playing was poker, and that grandmother was enthusiastically playing Whittiers wild.

Foresight

WORKING ALONE

"In early days," said Lincoln, "a party of men went out hunting for a wild boar. But the game came upon them unawares, and they, scampering away, climbed trees, all save one, who, seizing the animal by the ears, undertook to hold him. After holding him for some time and finding his strength giving away, he cried out to his companions in the trees: 'Boys, come down and help me let go!'"

My appendix has already been removed twice."

GRAND SLAM

SHORT STORY

The Red Muffler

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

CONSTABLE Simon McCall, noticed that the fringe of Bruce Wyatt's long woolen muffler was stained a deep red. Wyatt saw the officer's look of inquiry and glanced from the muffler, which still hung around his neck, to the dead form of Jim Cary.

3-Minute Fiction

"I must have got the blood on the muffler when I went over Jim on the bed there," he said.

Constable Simon nodded and glanced at the doctor, who was conducting an examination of the corpse.

"What time did you get back here?" Simon asked Bruce.

"About 15 minutes before I called you. I saw Jim on the bed. I knew he was dead, but I thought the doc ought to be called."

Simon listened only half attentively. He was trying to think of some one who would have a reason for killing Jim Cary. Cary and Bruce Wyatt were partners.

"Been dead about five hours," Doc Leland said, finishing his examination.

"Five, eh?" Simon mused. "That would make it about 10 o'clock last evening. The dance was at its height then. No telling who left and who didn't."

"Been dead about five hours," Doc Leland said, finishing his examination.

He turned suddenly to Bruce. "Where'd you go after the dance, Bruce?"

"Over to Jake Dearborn's. Him and me and some others played poker till about 2:30."

Simon smiled faintly. "Well, if Jake and the others back that up I guess we'd better look elsewhere for a suspect."

"Where yuh goin' to start? Who'd want to kill old Jim?" Wyatt asked. "Old Jim? He's not so old. About 30, I guess," Simon said. "Thirty, and just now falling in love. I expect you knew about Jim's interest in Freda Burnett, Bruce?"

WYATT looked up quickly. "Why, no," he said. "No, I didn't know."

"You didn't?" Simon's voice was almost eager. "Well, well. That gives me the motive, then."

Wyatt stared blankly. "Eh?"

"I said, that little remark of yours provides a motive for the killing, Bruce. It makes you out a liar, too."

Bruce Wyatt thrust out his jaw in an angry gesture. "What the devil are you talking about, McCall?"

"About why you killed Jim."

"Me? Killed him? You're crazy!"

"Oh, no, I'm not. You killed him because you were crazy about Freda yourself and you couldn't stand to see Jim getting in there ahead of you. You did it last night about 10 o'clock when every one was at the dance."

"You must be sick yourself, Simon. You don't know what you're saying. You can't prove that. You said yourself no one would be able to tell who left the dance long enough to come over here, murder Jim and get back again."

"That," said Constable Simon easily, "is something I won't have to worry about. The fact is, I know you've lied to me twice, and I know you were with Jim a minute or two after he died. That's enough to make an arrest on, since you're so all-fired careful about thinking up alibis."

Wyatt opened his mouth and closed it again. He stood still, waiting, still puzzled.

And Simon explained: "The blood on your muffler, Bruce. You probably got it there when you bent over Jim all right, but that was shortly after 10 last evening. Blood, you know, dries and hardens within a few minutes. None would have got on your muffler five hours after the wound was made."

Doc Leland made a gasping sound, which was at once confirmation of the statement.

Bruce Wyatt's glance darted to the face of the doctor, and without looking again at Simon he leaped toward the wall.

But Constable McCall was a good shot. The interior of the tiny cabin fairly rocked with the crash of his service gun, mingling with the cry of pain from Bruce Wyatt as the heavy slug tore through his hand even as his fingers coiled about the rifle barrel.

No Dark Corners

MAN on friendly terms with the sun told the sun that the house he had just built for himself had so many dark corners that he did not like it. The sun said, "I'll come and see it." So the sun came and looked into every nook and corner of the house, but said, "I can't see any dark corners."

This little fable illustrates the way in which God, infinite Life and Love, destroys the dark corners of the human mind as the light of Truth is permitted to enter consciousness.

There may seem to be countless dark corners in a consciousness heavy with discords, sin, disease, disaster, and the like. It was to show how to dispel these things that Christ Jesus came. Through his spiritual understanding of God he was able to reflect the light of Truth, bringing healing of all manner of disease and sin. The beloved disciple said that Jesus taught that "God is light, and in him is no darkness at all" (I John 1:5).

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes in the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 259), "The divine nature was best expressed in Christ Jesus, who threw upon mortals the truer reflection of God and lifted their lives higher than their poor thought-models would allow,—thoughts which presented man as fallen, sick, sinning, and dying."

Spiritual understanding of God reveals that His nature is infinitely loving and kind, knowing only the perfection and harmony of His creation. Jesus proved by his life and works that an under-

Dedicating Life

Lesson for October 5, 1952

THERE ARE two classes of persons in this world: the drifters and the dedicated. Drifters become driftwood, cumbering a barren shore, or they float, waterlogged and helpless, a menace to more important traffic.

Dr. Foreman

The dedicated, on the other hand, have purpose in their minds, they have a course and a compass. They have somewhere to go, some reason for going there. But not all the dedicated are alike. The vital question is: To what is a man dedicated?

Stalin is a dedicated man; so are Christian missionaries; so are politicians good and bad. The big question remains: Dedicated to what? To whom?

Dedicated to God

HIGHEST object of all dedication is God; this always includes devotion to his cause. To be dedicated to God means to be devoted in purpose and in action, in every way that is possible, to making this world—beginning with one's own self—come into line with the prayer, "Thy will be done."

The young man Jesus, whose story the Sunday school lessons will be following through the Gospel by Matthew for the next six months, was of all persons the most earnest of a life dedicated to God. Jesus did not drift into this. Dedication was not automatic, inevitable.

Jesus, not less than those he calls his brothers and sisters, had to make up his mind to the ancient demand: Choose this day whom you will serve.

The Power

JESUS WAS not a late comer to his decision. Once or more it has happened that a young man who decides to enter the ministry will surprise and even startle family and friends by this decision. But when Jesus "entered the ministry" (as we may rightly say he did, after his baptism), it could have surprised none who had known him. He had always been aware of being "about his Father's business." He did not pass from drifting to dedication, as most men must; he passed from one stage of dedication to another.

Whatever questions the story of Jesus' baptism raises, one thing is certain: from and after that even Jesus knew himself to be God's special Representative, endowed with the Holy Spirit for the work he was to do.

Over and over in the New Testament we hear of the "power of the Spirit" for the divine Spirit both brings power and is Power Only the life dedicated to God has the power of God.

The Problem

IT IS a mistake to think that the dedicated life is free from problems. God will not weaken us by making our choices for us. Every temptation is an opportunity to choose, between God's way and some way that is not God's. Temptation may also present a choice not so much between black and white, wrong and right, as between good and better, right and more-right.

One meaning of Jesus' temptations was just that in them he had to think through the how of his dedicated life. He was indeed God's beloved Son; His work was indeed to save the world for God.

But the question was, How? By turning stones into bread? By astonishing people with miracles such as jumping unharmed off the Temple top? No; these were not God's way. The last temptation was not as absurd as it sounds. Whenever men have said, "Let us do evil that good may come," whenever they have said that a noble purpose glorifies any method used to attain it, they have done what Jesus was tempted to do,—worship Satan.

The Practice

NO, DEDICATION does not free the dedicated from problems. But when life is put at God's disposal, with each problem comes the power to avoid wrong choice, to make the right one. Yet again there is a condition: God will not resist our temptations in our place. There is something we have to do for ourselves. There is a practice required.

Is it likely that Jesus had never in his lifetime been tempted before that day in the wilderness? No, he resists with the skill of long practice. The weapons he uses is still ours to use: the Word of God.

Does that weapon lie rusting under the dust at your house? Keep it bright by using it, as Jesus did.

Let's Think

by
G. H. ENFIELD

DICK'S TEARS

The Nixon incident was an attempt to injure the good name and to kill the influence and usefulness of a useful and promising young man. But the conniving of the enemy boomeranged, and thus friend and foe alike must render an account.

What if the smear had succeeded in that which it was intended to do? Here would be a sincere, honest competent, useful young public servant ruined forever. The stigma would be not only upon him but upon his wife and children. But cut throats do not possess the character and moral stamina to think a matter through before making false charges and accusations. All false smears will boomerang whether made against a simple individual or against a national figure. These charges are made to hurt the other fellow and to popularize the accuser and his group. Few glorify, elevate, and enhance themselves at the expense of the integrity of another or others. The American people will invariably come to the rescue of the underdog. It was so in the discharge of MacArthur, and it was so also in this sinister attempt to kill the worth of a worthy young man.

Now that Nixon has squared himself with the best American people, he is better known, and stronger than before. The accounting of his finances has compelled others to account for their far larger bulk of money. However, if this trend of giving an account of their private finances continues to be demanded, it may not be long before a nominee for public office may have to give an account of the number of times he kissed his wife during the year. It is no more the business of the public to know the private income of a candidate for public office than it is for the public to know the income of every other individual. More and more is America getting father from the spirit and practices of Democracy and closer to the spirit and practices of dictatorship.

That Dick Nixon felt hurt when his honesty and integrity were questioned cannot be contradicted. And that he shed tears when he made his famous statement of his finances to the American people also cannot be denied. He cried because he was honest, sincere, true, and just. His nature is sensitive to wrong doings. His nature typifies in many respects that of Abraham Lincoln. Too often we crucify, or assassinate, our true benefactors. Is Dick soft, or silly because he wept? We need some weeping in Washington at this very moment. If some people there don't soon weep, all America is going to be weeping sooner or later. Did not Jesus weep over the sins of His people, and Jerusalem? Was that acting like a three year old, or like one without a backbone? John Ruskin reminds us that fineness of nature and delicate sensibilities are the marks of a gentleman. Yes, it shows strength of character and virile manhood on the part of Dick Nixon to shed tears when self and corruption sit on the throne.

The affairs of any people can feel safe in the hands of such persons as Dick and Pat Nixon.

Lambert's Garage Showing Latest Model Hudsons

Many auto firms have entered to the automotive manufacturing field and for some reason have not been able to put upon the market, over a period of years, a car that meets with public acceptance, year after year. The manufacturers of Hudsons have been producing cars which are destined to take their places among the leaders.

Much credit for Hudson sales volume is due to the business policies and services existing at firms throughout the nation such as Lambert's Garage, located on High St., in New Windsor. This firm, which has been active in the auto service business since 1934, renders a complete sales and service; maintaining a full stock of parts, for all makes of new and used Hudsons. In addition, they maintain complete general repair facilities for any make or model of car; rendering a service that assures one of dependable, care-free driving.

Lambert's Garage is owned and operated by Mr. Russell Lambert who has spread neither time nor expense in making his firm one of this region's outstanding auto sales and service garages. We take great pleasure in commending him upon the singular position his firm has come to occupy among this area's progressive firms. Do you know the names of the different models of Hudsons handled by Lambert's Garage?

Willow Farms Dairy Uses Milk Produced on Local Farms

The origin of the wholesale and retail milk business dates back to the time when milk was delivered from door to door in a can and each housewife was measured out her purchase in a cup or pail. The quality of the milk was a thing of question, the percentage of butter fat, the health of the cows and the cleanliness of the dealer was highly problematical.

But today, specialized methods of production employed by such firms as the Willow Farms Dairy, with plant service of Fritzellburg assures the housewife and her family of milk, dairy products and ice cream that are of the best quality and of consistent purity. The advanced technique of sterilization of equipment, refrigeration and delivery has eliminated any question of purity and has substituted a confidence in an enervating, wholesome and health building product.

Farm Topics

High Corn Yields Call For Plenty of Nutrients

30-70 Bushels to Acre Needed to Break Even

As every farmer knows, whether a producer makes or loses money growing corn depends on how many bushels per acre he gets.

It takes anywhere from 30 to 70 bushels of corn per acre to break even on production costs, depending on the price of corn and the value of the land on which it is raised.

Illinois College of Agriculture economists figure that with corn at $2.00 per bushel on land worth $100 an acre, 30 bushels of corn would be needed to pay the cost of production. With corn at $1.00 on land worth $500 an acre, 70 bushels would be needed. The economists base their estimates on cost account records compiled in the northern two-thirds of Illinois.

Well fed corn plants yield extra bushels per acre.

They report that it took $59.50 to pay the 1950 production costs for corn on $200 an acre land in north-west Illinois. At $1.50 a bushel, that is 40 bushels of corn to pay production costs.

The Illinois estimates are borne out in other corn producing states. Missouri agronomists report that on the average in that state, 40 bushels of corn must be grown on every acre before there is any left over for profit.

This production can be reached only if the soil furnishes a well balanced supply of nitrogen, phosphate and potash.

If your soil test shows a lack of any of these fertilizers it means top production is an impossibility.

Power-Using Implements Often Are Fire Hazards

One fire hazard often overlooked by even the most careful farmers: farm implements that use power but don't produce it. Examples are corn shellers and shredders, wood saws, grain separators, cleaners and grinders. Even though these machines have no self-contained power unit, friction, static electricity, and sparks may light fires, or ignite gasoline fumes.

Operating such machines in or near buildings is dangerous. Threshing machines and corn shredders pose a special threat when the straw or loader is conveyed from the machine directly into the barn. A piece of metal or a small pebble coming into contact with the revolving knives may cause a spark, and carry a fire up the chute into the building, along with easily-ignited fodder and straw.

Fires can start quickly and spread fast in this manner, and usually you lose the entire building and everything in it, not to mention endangering other buildings on the farmstead. Power-driven machines that run at high speeds should be carefully greased and oiled to prevent friction.

Being both watchful and cautious when running these machines will help you prevent a damaging "flash" fire. Good housekeeping is the key to safety from fire.

Pitchfork Rack

Pitchforks, left about the barn or propped in dark corners, are the cause of numerous farm accidents. A simple rack on the barn wall will eliminate this hazard. It will take only a few minutes to build and could save hours that might be lost through an accident. Properly stored tools tend to create greater efficiency on the farm and in the shop.

A DOG'S LIFE

Occasionally one hears a remark like this, "I'm having a dog's life." Well, that doesn't tell anything. Dogs' lives are as varied as human lives.

To lie around on a well-kept lawn, under shade trees, or among shrubbery, eating two or more substantial meals a day, and getting a bath every day or two, and having his hair combed daily, isn't a life that an intelligent, sensible dog is going to whine about. Such a canine is content with home conditions, and shows an appreciation by staying home.

On the other hand, a dog that is neglected, mistreated, scolded, abused, kicked and scuffed around by a surly master, comes to feel he is not wanted, and that there is nothing to live for. He takes to the road. He is the creature of whom we can say, "he has a dog's life."

The kind of blood that flows through a dog's veins helps to make him what he is, what he will become, and what he will do.

So the sort of life a dog lives is conditioned by heredity and by environment. His life therefore depends upon himself, his master, and his neighbors. The finishing touches are put on by training and discipline.

Hereafter, when speaking of not having "the life of a dog," be explicit. Whose dog? What dog?

Workers regularly employed on farms are covered for old-age and survivors insurance under social security.

Social security benefits are not payable to anyone under 75 years of age who earns over $75.00 a month in work covered by the law.

Twenty-four days of work in a private household plus $50 in cash wages equal one quarter of credit towards old-age and survivors insurance.

If net earnings from self-employment amount to $400 in a year, they are creditable under social security towards old-age and survivors insurance.

Social security credits earned from self-employment provide family protection under old-age and survivors insurance.
