Doctor C. M. Benner has in his office 25 stems of blossoms called the "Star of Bethlehem" flower. These are a gift from his son, the Rev. Robert Benner, of Pine Grove, Pa., who ordered them from a company in New York. These fresh flowers travelled from the Union of South Africa (6,700-7,000 miles) in a Ship's cool chamber and mail bags before reaching here. Directions as to the care of the flowers came with them. When they were received the blooms were just buds, and in time they opened. The blooms are said to last six weeks. The flowers are white, and there are about 25 to a stem. Quote from a leaflet received: "Star of Bethlehem flower whose very form and purity epitomizes the spiritual grandeur of the Star itself."

MINISTER TO BE INSTALLED

Will Serve Emmitsburg, Taney-town and Piney Greek Churches

The Emmitsburg Presbyterian Church, in which the installation of Rev. Gideon Eugene Galambos is to be held Jan. 15, 1953, at 8:00 P. M.; had an early beginning. Nearly 190 years ago the Presbyterian settlers formed a congregation near Emmitsburg. Since those early days when the pioneers cut their way through the wilderness the church has developed and has had a marked influence on the history of this area. The determ-ination and willingness of the early settlers was not only the beginning of the church, but has had a vast influence upon the congregation of today by handing down the fellowship and determination to meet the problems and disappointments which have arisen throughout the years.

The original church stood along the Gettysburg road, near the Presbyterian cemetery, where the congregation worshipped for seventy-eight years.

In April 1839 the church was torn down and rebuilt in Emmitsburg. The church was again torn down in 1878 and a new Gothic church constructed. On August 28, 1902 this structure was struck by lightning and was entirely consumed. Was rebuilt in 1904. In 1950 the church was redecorated and in the fall of 1951 a new Moller organ

The Piney Creek church was organized in 1763. There is no record of the first building, but it was before the settlement of the first pastor Rev. Joseph Rhea in 1771. This was a very plain loss of the first pastor. plain log structure "with pews straight backed and tall, its pulpit goblet shaped half up the wall with the sounding board above." This building was removed about 1818 and the present church built on the same site and much to the same fashion. Was again remodeled in 1869. The stone wall around the cemetery was built, at a later date a tower was added and space set aside to make greater convenience for the Sunday School.

In 1789 Piney Creek and Emmits-burg united in calling Rev. Patrick Davidson. This union came after 40 years of separate existence. The second pastor of these two churches was Rev. Robert S. Grier who served for 52 years, the entire period of his min-

It would not be an insignificant tribute to be styled, "the friendly church by the side of the

The Taneytown church was organized in 1828 and worshipped for some years in what was called "The Yellow Church with the German Reformed Congregation". The edifice in which they now worship was built in 1883. In 1838 Taneytown and New Wind-or churches were united. In 1869 Emmitsburg, Piney Creek and Taneytown united in calling Dr. William Simonton. This union was dissolved owing to Dr. Simonton's health and in 1891 Taneytown and Piney Creek united.

In 1925 the Presbytery of Baltimore united the three congregations under Rev. Thomas T. Brown.

Within the past year without a pastor the progress of these churches has continued through the faithfulness of the public schools. Employment opthe officers of these churches and the bonds which unite the Piney Creek, Emmitsburg and Taneytown churches grows increasingly stronger.

It is with great pride we welcome Rev. Galambos into our church family and offer to him, as our Pastor and esteemed counselor, our support

Teachers and Salaries

Qualified teachers in both the high and elementary schools are required to have completed courses for the bachelor's degree in a college approved for the training of teachers. Those holding principal's or supervisory positions must have in addition have completed professional courses in administration, and supervision equivalent to an additional year of college or university work on a graduate level. All professional employees are required to complete additional professional courses for periodic renewal of their certificates.

1.—Teaching as a Career
College students planning to enengage in teaching are required to take professional courses in education and to complete satisfactory courses in practice teaching. Decision to become a teacher is influenced by the salary paid and by many other factors affecting the college student in selecting a vocation. Important among such factors are, working conditions, size of classes, desire for social service, and the availability of positions.

Teachers possessing proper qualifications and beginning their service in Carroll county are entitled to a beginning salary of $2600 annually in their first year of service Salaries in their first year of service. Salaries increase at the rate of $100 per year to a maximum salary of $4200 after sixteen years of service. Young men, especially, find it difficult to meet living costs at this salary particularly if they are married and have dependent children. For this reason many teachers leave the profession after one or more years of service in order to engage in other occupations of a more lucrative nature. The numcessful experience decreases and the schools must be in many cases staffed

FARMERS' 1952 INCOME TAX

Growing Crops. New Changes and Their Effect on You

Growing crops, when sold with the farm, can be counted as part of the sale price of the farm, under the following conditions: (1) the land on which the crops are growing must have been owned 6 months or more; (2) the crop must be unharvested; (3) land and crops must be sold to the same person; (4) expenses in producing the crop cannot be deducted in arriving at capital gains; and (5) the sale occurs in taxable years begin-

Recourse if Return is Questioned:

If your return is questioned, and at a conference with a local representative of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, payment of additional tax is required, there are several resources which you may wish to follow. First, you may ask for an informal conference to discuss the proposed adjustments. Second, if it is clear to you that you owe the amount requested, you may sign a waiver and pay the additional tax. If you are not satisfied with the explanation furnished by the conferee, you should not sign a waiver and you will receive a 30-day letter. The receipt of the 30-day letter gives you 30 days in which to decide whether the additional tax is owed and to choose one of three courses of action. First, you may file a formal protest, under oath, and request that the case be transferred to the Appellate Division of the District. Second, you can, by request, or by simply failing to respond during the 30-day period secure the issuance of the statutory notice from which an appeal may be taken to the Tax Court of the United States. Third, you may sign the waiver form enclosed with the 30-day letter. For more information on your Farmers' 1952 Income Tax, consult your local internal revenue agent, or obtain the 28-page bulletin, "Farmers' 1952 Income Tax," from your county

FRIDAY, JANUARY 2, 1953

NO FOOLING!

They're the same old words. But, now-a-days, when a friend says "Happy New Year"! you can detect a new ring of confidence. The seasonal greeting contains a measure of warm expectation that adds some real flavour to the 100 per cent Simon-pure pious hope we've been dishing out for so long.

And there's good reason. Let's look back a moment:

One year ago we said: "When we open that door marked '1952', and step in, we will be entering one of the most significant years in American history.

"In 1952 we shall have to decide whether or not we want any more of that cynically-named 'Fair Deal' ... whether America is going to yield to continued inflationary pressures whether to crawl out of Korea..or to face the fact that we are in as desperate a war as ever we have been ... whether we like socialism (which is kid-glove communism)..whether our country is worth saving."

We made our decision in November -on many fronts-on the farms, where the cloud-shadows of Government peternalism were growing ominous; in the industrial centers, where workers rejected union instructions for their private judgment; in Wisconsin, where Joe McCarthy was returned to the Senate by a record majority; and in the South, where the voters finally rebuked the national leaders who had perverted their traditional Jeffersonian party.

And today, our new "shirt-sleeve Administration-elect"-which is now in charge, for all practical purposes, is revealing to us the scope and power of our decision. We shall face up to Korea. We have already declared war on extravagance, in the Federal establishment at home, in the military, and in our aid program abroad. At last we are moving effectively and whole-heartedly to clean out the rats'nests of subversion in our Government, in our UN forces, in the country at large. And we are about through appeasing the avowed Reds wherever they tangle with us.

No wonder we can wish each other "A Happy New Year" and mean it! -National Industries News Service.

A TAX ON PROGRESS

It was recently observed that the so-called "excess profits" tax isn't a tax on excess profits at all. It is, instead, a tax on growth, progress, initiative—and like all taxes, open and hidden, it is paid in one way or another by the people who buy goods and services.

The observation was also made that excess profits only arise when toohigh prices are charged. In a competitive economy that can very rarely happen—the businessman who tries to work on the all-the-traffic-will-bear idea soon sees his customers going elsewhere and unless he mends his ways the bankruptcy court is the next step.

The excess profits tax, in other words, is a misnomer. It is a tax which is applied when business expands, hires more workers, and supplies more services or turns out more goods. When those things happen, its earnings grow too, and the tax can take as much as 8 per cent of all it earns. You don't have to be an economist to realize that under such conditions business and business people aren't inspired to do their best, to take risks, and to make greater contributions to the strength and living standards of the nation.

During the next session of Congress, it will be proposed that the excess profits tax be eliminated-or that, at the least, the existing rates be substantially reduced. If Congress | wishes to benefit the country and everyone who lives and works in it, that will be done.-Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

CORVALLIS, ORE., GAZETTE-TIMES: "It should be remembered, real cuts in federal payroll will have to come from a reduction of services for which Congress has appropriated monies. If people will do with less 'gimmie' from the government, and are sincere in their irritation at too much governmental interference in their lives, and will dispense with much of it, then substantial cuts in federal employment will follow."

CARLSBAD, N. M., CURRENT-ARGUS: "One thing can be said for George Meany, the new president of the American Federation of Labor. He was one of the first leaders of Amercan labor to see the threat of Communist domination of labor unions. In 1945 in England, Meany addressed the British Trades Union Congress and denounced a Russian-sponsored plan to set up a World Federation of Trade

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, MINN, DAILY JOURNAL: "An official auxiliary of the United States Air Force, Civil Air Patrol, promotes aviation training. The fine traditions and service record of CAP date back to the perilous early stages of War II, when thousands of civilian volunteers took to the air in small planes to patrol America's coastlines. Today the organization has more than 76,000 active senior and cadet members, practicing good citizenship and learning the meaning of service against a background of aviation training."

Not Menial Tasks

A common belief that part-time jobs are the menial jobs in the nation's scheme of things and that fulltime jobs are the ones which command both respect and large incomes is not altogether true. Forty percent of professional and technical men and women, over 50 percent of the nation's salesmen and saleswomen and 35 percent of all clerical workers do not work in year-round, full-time jobs.

Modern Work

Modern factory work in general is more varied and meaningful, and less arduous, than the laborer's work of a hundred years ago, but the complexity of modern production does require special effort by management to explain the meaning of the job.

Younger Women

Younger women will be overjoyed with the return of the Gibson girl look not only in blouses but also in dresses. This flattering style lends itself to the lovely materials available and is especially attractive carried out in the sheer fabrics worn during warm weather.

Average Building The average building in New York City, despite the many skyscrapers, is only five stories high.

One Nutrient Will Not Nourish a Crop Balanced Food Elements Needed for High Yields

It takes the teamwork of plant nutrients, good soil tilth and plenty of moisture to produce 100-bushel per acre corn crops.

Each of the principal plant food elements-nitrogen, phosphate and potash - has its particular job to do in building strong roots and stalks and developing well finished, fully matured ears. Each reinforces the others.

University of Illinois agronomists demonstrated that you can't depend on any one nutrient to do the whole crop feeding job. When nitrogen alone was added to corn, yields were only one-third as much as when lime, nitrogen, phosphate and potash were used. Phosphate alone gave only half as many bushels of corn per acre and potash alone, only one fourth. Keeping the soil in good tilth is just as important as maintaining a balanced nutrient level. This can be done by following a rotation that puts in a well fertilized legumedone by following a rotation that puts in a well fertilized legumegrass crop a year or two before corn planting.

Land plowed out of a good sod crop is well conditioned to make maximum use of nutrients and mois ture and to produce extra bushels of corn per acre. Such soil is mellow and porous. Drainage is good Water is absorbed quickly and more of it is stored for the use of the Agronomists point out that another requisite for high corn yields is good seed and a stall population sufficient to make use of the soil's nutrient supply. They advise planting well adapted hy brids that are particularly suited to your growing conditions. A stal population of from 14,000 to 16,000 s needed on most loam soils.

Efficient Grass Feeding Builds Profitable Herds

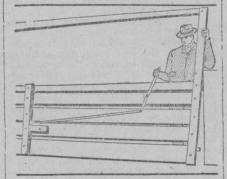

Grass-fed cattle going to market with a moderate finish may never top the market, but nine times out of 10 they make the stockman most for his investment. Grass-feeding is the natural way to grow cattle, livestock specialists believe.

A major line between the soil and man's food, grass can be grazed directly, made into hay or silage. It offers a year-around supply of forage or feed for your herd. Cattle are able to convert forage into beef most effectively if the producer manages his range wisely and effi-

Cattle are selective in their grazing, choosing the best smelling and tastiest grasses. Ideally, there should be a succession of new growth which will supply adequate amounts of desirable forage over a long grazing period. In many areas this can be done by growing pasture mixtures with cultivated grasses.

A cow can hold from 120 to 180 quarts in its four stomachs. To fill them she will eat 100 pounds or more of green grass each day when the pasture is good. She also requires from 10 to 15 gallons of water. The producer should keep these facts in mind to gain the best and most efficient use of his pas-

New Type Gate

A new type gate that eliminates the problem of opening a gate when sheep crowd into a corner is illustrated above. The gate is 16 feet long. The height of the pole at the top is determined by the balance. The gate pivots near the center at both ends. It locks at both ends near the bottom and can be released with the one lever shown. The gate may be opened in either direction, is easy to operate and no lifting is required.

If the farm horse doesn't become as extinct as the dodos. the credit will go to the Mennonites, who still do most of their farming with horses. The Mennonites are described as "efficient, industrious and progressive farmers, who do not own autos or tractors." Wherever they decide to settle, the community can always look forward to well kept farms and homes. They believe in the care of the land for future generations and soil conservation isn't any new idea to them. One of the Mennonites characteristics is to buy poor, illused land and build it up until it is producing rich and abundant The horse plays an important crops. part in the routine, for he furnishes the power for the farm machinery and labor plus helping to return fertility

It appears that one is safer fighting the Communists in Korea than fighting reckless drivers on the highways at home. Why does the pubic remain so apathetic towards the deaths on the Nation's highways and yet become so hysterical and sentimental over war casualties. A person killed in an auto accident causes as much grief and despair to the family as one killed on the battlefield. A human life snuffed out by a sniper's bullet is still a human life if it is obliterated by a drunken driver. Why so much public resentment over one death and public lassitude over another? I don't pretend to know the answer. Do you?

Hypertension, which is high blood pressure, is present to an alarming degree in this country and Europe, but s considered very rare among Asiatic population groups, native Africans, American Indians and Eskimos. Europeans and particularly Americans are calorie-happy and eat more than they need to maintain good health and vigor. They overload the biologic engine and put more burden on the heart, the liver and the kidneys. The low caloric intake of Asiatics may account for their low blood pressure. But diet is not the sole factor. Disposition and the "way of life" play a significant part in one's blood pressure. Asiatics, Africans, Indians and Eskimos are more or less fatalists. They accept their fortunes and misfortunes with equanimity. They are not gogetters and materialists. They take time out to rest, to relax, to do noth-They do not strive to do things hat are beyond their capacities. Fast, Efficient Way To Fertilize Shown Liquid Nitrogen Sprayed On 1,000 Acres by Plane

How to fertilize a 1000-acre field in a day was recently demonstrated in Madison County, Ohio.

A new liquid nitrogen product was used. The feat was made possible by direct transfer of the fertilizer from a railroad tank car to a small plane on a landing field adjacent to the train siding. The loaded plane flew to a farm 20 miles away, sprayed the wheat field, and returned to the siding for another load, all in about 15 minutes. Six thousand gallons, in all, were used in this first rail-plane fertilizing operation.

The railroad predicted a largescale system of fueling centers for liquid fertilizer in the future.

For many farmers, the event recalled other chapters in the story of railroad agricultural development and assistance to farmers.

On March 1, 1911, in Broome County, New York, the first county agent in the United States was hired at the suggestion of a Lackawanna vice president. The railroads, in fact, paid part of his salary. Subsequently, many eastern railroads established their own agricultural departments, and worked with the agricultural colleges, running farm demonstration trains into rural communities. Soil conservation, better livestock breeding, new

Four Grassland Tours Planned for August

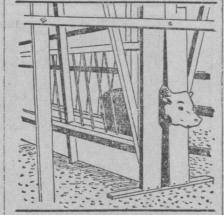

Four grassland tours of typical agricultural areas in the United States are being planned for the benefit of visitors from other countries to the sixth International Grassland Congress, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announces. The tours are planned for August 17 to 23. As now planned the tours will be to New England, the south, the mid-west and the west. Delegates and members of the congress, attendance is estimated at 2,500; will have their choice of tours.

The congress is being sponsored by the United States government and the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations and will be held at Pennsylvania State College.

The tours are designed to demonstrate accomplishments in grass farming in this country and Canada, both on actual farms and in research and educational institutions

Stock Chute

The above stock chute or squeeze is the idea of a Future Farmer of America boy. He built it from salvaged iron and lumber for use on his father's farm. The steel rods were secured in such a manner they could be removed for branding, vaccinating, etc. A farmer handy with tools could use the above sketch as the starting point for a stock chute to fill his own needs.

NEW FORD TRACTOR

The reserve of power you want when the going suddenly gets tougher is here in this new Ford Tractor.

Just take a look at its new Ford "Red Tiger" engine and you'll see why.

You'll see a new overhead valve engine, with big bore and short stroke that cuts the travel of each piston approximately 5 miles in a working day, reducing friction and helping to make possible greater power with new economy of gas and oil. You'll see an engine with big, rotating exhaust valves, new lightning-fast governor and dozens of other examples of advanced engineering. Ignition is completely weatherproofed. All oil is normally filtered every time around. The whole engine is extra strong, extra rigid as well as extra powerful.

The more you know about tractor engines, the bigger kick you'll get out of looking over the one in the new Ford Tractor. The more you know about tractors, the better you'll realize that here is the most modern tractor on today's market. Come in today . . . look it over!

Living From Heart

Lesson for January 4, 1953

WHEN YOU are studying a foreign language for the first time, one of the big "humps" is learning the vocabulary. It's dull but necessary. You can know the rules of grammar down to the last footnote; you can pronounce the words "like a native;" but if you don't know what the words mean, you are sunk. All this is just as true in trying to understand the Bible as it is in understanding anything else.

"Heart" Means Many Things

The Bible word "heart" is one of those that can be easily misunderstood. It speaks often of the heart. "Out of it are the issues of life," says the Proverb (Prov. 4:23). "These people honor me with their lips, but their heart is far from says the prophet Isaiah. Jesus says that it' is what comes from Dr. Foreman a man's heart that makes him unclean. What, exactly, does "heart" mean, in the Bible? It could mean a number of things that it does not mean.

It is seldom used, in the Bible, in the literal sense of the physical organ that pushes the blood around. No ancient peoples knew the true physiology of the heart. Also, the Bible writers seldom, if ever, use the word in our common figurative sense of emotion, or the emotional life. If we today say that a certain person's heart rules his head, we mean by that, that his intellect is not as strong as his feelings. A smart and unscrupulous lawyer, in addressing a jury, will (as he might say) "go for their hearts, not for their heads." That is, he expects them to be swayed by prejudice and emotion, not by the facts in the case. But this too is not the Bible meaning of "heart." Certainly it is never balanced off against the mind or the intellect.

Bible Meaning of "Heart" Even in modern times, with all our passion for scientifically accurate terms, there is no one word which means just what this word "heart" means in the Bible. There the heart stands for the center of the personality as a whole. If we used such words as "core" or "root" or "mainspring" of life, we should be getting at the idea. It is not emotional, though it affects the emotions. It is not intellectual, though it lies back of thinking. It does not quite mean character, rather it means the taproot of character.

Let us try to illustrate it. Tell the same piece of news to several people—say the report of some accident or disaster, and see how they react. One will be quite indifferent, one will burst into tears, another will laugh, another will say, "Can't we do something to help?" Now what makes the difference? All have heard the same words, but the words have different effects. In Bible language, the reason is that they have different hearts. The inner makeup is something deeper than what the eyes see or the ears hear, it is deeper than the brain, it lies at the bottom of the feelings. When the Bible speaks of a person's heart, it is not speaking of the way he acts or talks or feels or thinks; it means the way the man is.

God Sees Through Paint

If there was one sort of person for whom Jesus had no use whatever, it was a hypocrite. A hypocrite is a person who has learned the fatal trick of shortcircuiting his heart from his outward actions. The hypocrite turns a smile on and off as he would turn a water faucet, not because he feels like smiling or frowning, but because he thinks a smile is called for; he will say one thing and think another. His apparent emotions, language, actions, have no more relation to his real inner self than the actions of a clown in a circus. A clown can act very funny with his painted smile, though inwardly full of bitterness or grief. He acts comical because he is paid for it, not necessarily because he feels gay.

Jesus liked people who live from within, who have no short-circuit between what they are on the outside and what they are on the inside. He did not care much for a fig-tree which was really nothing but figs stuck on a thorn bush. This is why the Bible has so much to say about the heart. If God has a man's heart, he has the man.

Let's Think

G. H. ENFIELD

AFRAID OF HIS FAITH

I wonder of how many it can be said that he is afraid of his faith. The following statement was made by a minister whose service the writer attended one Sunday morning. "The average Christian is afraid of his faith." If that be true, then there is something wrong with his faith, or with the foundation upon which his faith is established. Perhaps, you know someone whose mind is closed, and the door harred lest a new and the door barred, lest a new thought upset his beliefs. Many of those beliefs might be helped by a little agitation or stirring.

Faith is powerful when one isn't afraid of it. Fear either weakens faith or tends to make one a dog-matist. That also accounts for much bigotry. What resource for triumph has faith to offer if it cannot stand in the face of larger truth? Faith be-comes robust or anemic according to comes robust or anemic according to the soundness of one's beliefs. cannot kill the enemy of truth when we are afraid to fire our own gun. And there is danger of the barrel of our gun becoming rusty through dis-

The Christian life is a Christian warfare. And how feebly waged the warfare is today! Why was Christendom unable to prevent the conditions which led to the first two World Wars and to the present Korean tragedy? "Where there is no vision the people perish." Where there appears to be a lack of the significance and appreciation of spiritual values, the enemy of these higher and public values. of these higher and nobler values stealthily sneaks upon the victim and stabs him in the back.

It is possible for you and another to believe the same creed, but in dif-ferent ways, to know the same God out worship him on opposite knees, to claim the same heaven and to go there from different directions. "They shall come from the east, and from the west, and from the north, and from the south. and shall sit down in the kingdom of God."
The right faith shall make you

T was about six-thirty and Jenny and I were eating supper. The phone had rung several times but, it being a rural line with nine parties on it we didn't even bother to

3 - Minute Fiction

"That was our -Minute ring!" Jenny suddenly exclaimed.

"Your Uncle Joe went to town this morning and he ain't back." It was Aunt Martha and she sounded a bit worried.

"Maybe he had trouble with his car. What was he in town for?" "Took four fat hogs to market." "Perhaps you should have gone with him.

"The last time he took pigs to the market, they didn't want to stay in the trailer so he made me get in with them and if you think that's a nice way for a woman to ride to town—I don't!"

Hardly had I hung up the re-ceiver when Aunt Martha's number rang. I stuck my hand over the mouthpiece and listened. It was the police department and Uncle Joe was in jail. One of the constables had found him trying to open the door of his car, the only trouble was that Uncle Joe insisted the radiator was the door, so he was locked up for safety's sake. I hung up and a short time later she phoned and told me her trouble. "Now don't get so excited," soothed. "I'll be right over."

The miscreant was stretched out in a stupor when the officer opened the cell door.

"Huh!" Aunt Martha sniffed, "The nerve! You can still smell the stuff." It boded no good for Uncle

WHEN we reached their place I helped put the still groggy Uncle Joe to bed. Uncle Joe was just beginning to

"Oh, my head!" he groaned, "my poor head." He raised himself up on his elbows. "Did he get away?" "Did who get away?" Aunt Martha asked, beliigerently. Uncle Joe ignored her. "I parked our car down near the lakeshore, I wasn't paying a nickle to park on the main street, and when I was comin' back across the short-cut, you know where it's all growed up with brambles and bushes, someone came up right smart behind and knocked me out. I think he used a bottle." He shook his head.

"Huh! A fine way to account for that smell!" Aunt Martha snorted.
"Did he git my money?" He suddenly remembered it denly remembered it.

"Well, you haven't got it if that's what you mean." Aunt Martha informed him tartly. 'Here, you get back into bed, you're wobbly, and let me have a look at your head." Still growling and protesting he did as he was bid. "Now you, Joe Quinn, stay quiet!" She wagged a finger under his nose. "I'll get something for your bump and your supper also.' Aunt Martha grinned at me as we went out to the kitchen. A car pulled up by the door.

"Good heavens!" she cried with dismay, "It's Mr. Morrison, the minister! Everything is in a mess—and the condition Joe's in—! You keep mum, Joe Quinn, I'll shut the door and he won't know anything about

"I won't stay quiet," Uncle Joe cried, "You can't treat me like a culprit. C'mon in!" Uncle

Joe yelled at the top of his voice. "Well, Joe, you certainly had a spot of trouble," Mr Morrison said when he came into the room. "That bottle must have been strong stuff." Aunt Martha gasped.

Mr. Morrison dug into his pocket and brought out a pocketbook.

"Where'd you get that?"
"Well, Joe, the man that hit you with that bottle and robbed you had a very bad accident and I was called. I'm glad to be a help to both of you," he said handing him his pocketbook.

By that time Uncle Joe had a grin a mile wide, all his money was intact and I could tell from the gleam in his eyes that Aunt Martha would have to dance attendance on him to get back in his good graces.

Service Machinery Before Rush Season Servicing Will Prevent Exponsive Breakdowns

The big season of work is here. If you haven't prepared your equipment for the long hard grind, you better hurry.

What about the tractor? If it has sat idle in the barn through the cold months, it needs attention. Service chores now are easier than later when you're in the midst of the rush season.

Give your tractor a spring lift with tresh oil, grease and gasoline. Stale garoline literally gums up an engine; clean the carburetor carefully making sure there's no gum in jets and in the float chamber.

The oil probably had hours of use last fall, so change it. Examine the oil filter; if the element is dirty, play safe. Install a new one.

Next, check the ignition system and the spark plugs. You can tape a minor break but if the ignition cable insulation is brittle, don't take a chance put in a new set of

Hare the spark plugs cleaned and adjusted, even though they were new late last season. While they're scientifically designed to keep a fine adjustment through long hard use, plugs perform more efficiently if cleaned and checked every 100 hours-equal to 5,000 miles on your

While on the subject of ignition, check the timing; your tractor service manual shows how. Improper timing is a power thief but easily remedied. Don't drag a plow or harrow around your acreage in second gear when a few minutes work will let you do it in third. Clean the air filter now—and throughout the season. During the busy season douse it in kerosene, add fresh oil every ten hours or if fields are real dusty, every five. Remember, too, that a good operator puts a grease gun to pressure fittings every ten hours on wear-and-tear spots. Keeping your tractor and other equipment in good operating condition is a matter of pure dollar economy.

Ways to Control Farm Pond Fish Loss Outlined

Wild life specialists warn farm owners they should be on the lookout for possible death of fish in their ponds during spring and summer and outlined methods to control this

Only a few ponds show a partial kill of fish each year, and in practically all cases the cause can not be determined. In some instances, however, the loss of fish has been directly connected with a deficiency of phosphorous, a high concentra-tion of carbon dioxide, and a lack of oxygen, specialists report.

Should a pond owner see a number of bluegills and bass swimming close to the surface of the water, he should distribute 50 to 100 pounds of 18 per cent superphosphate per acre over the pond in the early morning, specialists suggest.

Then, between three and four o'clock in the afternoon he should stir the water thoroughly by use of an outboard motor attached to a boat. Several motors on boats should be used if available.

Stirring the water with motors helps to distribute oxygen in the upper water level throughout the rubbers and galoshes. It can be used as a handy place for ball bats and catchers' mits, etc., that kids collect. Hinge a step in the stairway that's near the back or side door and use the space underneath. It will keep the entry neater and eliminate a great deal of picking up and extra work.

High efficiency simply means that the formula is designed with more digestible energy ingredients . . . and with less fiber. So there's more actual, usable feed in every bag. Thus, your birds eat less to make the same number of eggs you used to get on lowerefficiency rations. You can see how this may lower feed cost per dozen. Ask your Purina Dealer about this Purina HIGH-EFFICIENCY feed.

Norman Rockwell, America's most famous illustrator, is shown talking with the models he used to paint one of the pictures appearing on a 1953 calendar devoted to Ford Motor Company's fiftieth anniversary. He found these models among his neighbors in Arlington, Vt. Posed at left as the late Henry Ford, when he was a watch repairing boy of 10 years, is Robert DeBlock, 12, seventh grade student at Arlington Memorial school. Rockwell chose Bernard Cullinan, custodian at the Arlington school, to depict a neighbor visiting Mr. Ford's work shop.

Increased Performance in New Chevrolets

The low, sweeping lines of the 1953 Chevrolets are exemplified by this four-door sedan in the "Two-Ten" series, which this year offers increased performance, comfort and convenience in addition to a complete re-design. Apparent in this view are the enlarged front and rear vision, new fender and hood contours and a fresh grille treatment that enhance the rugged beauty of the cars. Four-door sedans are also available in the "One-Fifty" and the new Bel Air series.

POWER that Pur-r-r-s

when the going gets tough!

NEW EORD

The reserve of power you want when the going suddenly gets tougher is here in this new Ford Tractor.

Just take a look at its new Ford "Red Tiger" engine

You'll see a new overhead valve engine, with big bore and short stroke that cuts the travel of each piston approximately 5 miles in a working day, reducing friction and helping to make possible greater power with new economy of gas and oil. You'll see an engine with big, rotating exhaust valves, new lightning-fast governor and dozens of other examples of advanced engineering. Ignition is completely weatherproofed. All oil is normally filtered every time around. The whole engine is extra strong, extra rigid as well as extra powerful.

The more you know about tractor engines, the bigger kick you'll get out of looking over the one in the new Ford Tractor. The more you know about tractors, the better you'll realize that here is the most modern tractor on today's market. Come in today . . . look it over!
