LETTER TO DR. GORDON

Taneytown, Md., Feb. 3, 1953
Dr. Neil Gordon
Westminster, Md.

Dear Dr. Gordon:
From your report made on Tuesday, January 27, 1953, covering the survey made to determine the sanitary conditions existing in Taneytown, Md., I understood that the findings confirmed the facts that a nuisance endangering the public health did exist, and among other conditions it was found that a number of properties in Taneytown drain sewerage directly into the storm drain, which in turn finds its way into an open stream passing through my property.

After these facts were established, I asked you if your office had the authority to force correction of this condition. To this I understood your reply to be yes.

Next I asked that if in case the citizens of Taneytown did not of their own accord correct this condition, would you then force a correction? To this I understood your answer to be, yes.

I then asked that in case the citizens of Taneytown did not act promptly to correct this condition, then how soon would you act to force correction, and to this I understood your answer to be, within a few months.

It is my sincere hope that the people of Taneytown will immediately set in motion the necessary corrective measures, eliminating the need of force on your part. However, in the absence of such action, I then demand that you do that which is necessary to bring about forcibly, if necessary, compliance with the law.

I am taking the liberty of sending a copy of this to Dr. Perry Prather, Deputy Director, Department of Health, Baltimore, Md., and also a copy to The Carroll Record, Taneytown, Md.

Sincerely,
A. H. CARPENTER.

LETTER FROM OUR SENATOR

Many Bills of a General Nature Presented to Legislature

To The Editor,
The Carroll Record,
Taneytown, Md.

Dear Sir:
Workmen's Compensation
In one of my recent letters I wrote of a Bill that would increase Unemployment Compensation benefits and otherwise liberalize the present law at the expense of the employer.

A similar Bill, H. B. 21, would increase the benefits payable under the Workmen's Compensation Act, also, of course, at the expense of the employer. This Bill proposes an increase in maximum weekly payments from $32 to $40, an additional weekly payment of $2 for each child and an increase in the maximum payments from $10,000 to $12,000.

The passage of this Bill would necessitate a substantial increase in rates for compensation insurance.

Toll Roads
H. B. 31 would give to the State Roads Commission the power to make certain of our State Highways toll roads. The only limitations imposed by this Bill are that only those roads may be made toll roads which have their termini at or within the limits of a city in this State, or connect such a city with another major highway.

There is a further provision that no route shall be made a toll road unless there shall be an alternate route free of tolls.

Toll roads have frequently been proposed as a method of making our highways pay for themselves. The results in Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, have demonstrated the practicability of toll roads in the areas where they have been used.

In Maryland, however, we have very few areas where toll roads could be used with any degree of success. The comparative small size of our State would limit such roads principally to the heavily traveled north-south routes through the State.

Accident Reports
Upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles S. B. 4 was introduced. This Bill contains numerous changes in our motor vehicle laws. They are:

1. That accident reports shall be filed within 5 days of an accident, instead of the present 48 hours.

2. That license suspensions shall take place only when the damage resulting from an accident exceeds $100. The present law provides for suspensions if the damage exceeds $50.00.

3. That the present insurance law be raised from $5,000-$10,000 to $10,000-$20,000. This will involve an increase in insurance costs of about 10%.

4. That the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles shall have the right to waive suspension of license in any accident case where it clearly appears that a driver was not at fault.

Home Rule For Municipalities
S. B. 5 is a Constitutional Amendment that provides each municipality in the State shall have the right to govern itself, make its own laws and ordinances, and be entirely free from control by the General Assembly.

Such a law has long been needed in Maryland, which is one of the few states in which local Legislation is controlled by the state legislative body.

There is no practical reason why an amendment of this nature should not be passed. The only reason it has not been passed before is because the members of the General Assembly have not been willing to relinquish their control over local legislation.

About 50% of all Bills introduced during a 90 day session of the Legislature are local, and could more readily be handled on a local basis than in Annapolis.

Until next week at which time I will be able to report on some of the Bills relating to Carroll County, I am

Sincerely,
STANFORD HOFF

THIS 'N' THAT

(Your Chatty Column)
With all my heart, I wish you every morning
A smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.
I wish you health—life's greatest wealth!

I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer
Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

Upon entering the Fifth Regiment Armory for the first automobile show that was held in Baltimore since twenty years ago was really enchantment. The coloring decorative scheme was a beautiful blue with a make believe sky over head with many stars twinkling in the distance.

Your Observer stood at the entrance—not looking at the numerous and colorful cars but the entire overhead and the background charmed me.

The hanging lighting fixtures were all artistically covered and gracefully decorated in the same shade of blue and it all intrigued me. The lighting was soft and subdued throughout.

On the left in a row were the old models of cars of yesteryear as far back as 1900 and they surely brought about many laughs from the onlookers.

The glorious colors of blues, yellows, reds, in all shades were fascinating along side of the black car of a few years ago. Wire wheels upon all the cars have come to the front now and that must be here to stay. There were many wonderful features in all the makes and models which were most pronounced.

Only one car like shows just what the car appears to be like when it turned on the side and that was the "HUDSON". The "WILLY'S" is the most reasonably priced car on the market for all you get and a grand looking affair it is, too. And, wow—all the mileage you get on a gallon which is a big feature for Mr. Business Man!

All the cars were beautifully displayed and on Oriental Rugs, too. The position of the cars I think you know just what I mean. All in all it was grand to have the Automobile Show back with us again and hope it will be a yearly affair and as grand as this one.

Did you know, Ladies that play called, "The Four Ager" is bringing the double deck back again? Interview—

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

MADERA, CALIF., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "There have been several reports, reprinted in many newspapers that the United States has succeeded in exploding the first hydrogen bomb. These reports came from service personnel who were described as eye-witnesses to the explosion. No American newspaper wishes to undermine this country by publishing material which might endanger its safety. But it is not wise to prohibit coverage of one of the world's most important news events by trained newspapermen and at the same time permit accounts of what happened to be made public by service personnel."

GREENFIELD, IND., DAILY REPORTER: "Every great and sustained war effort in history has ultimately had its economic reaction. But we do know that, whatever comes, we will be ever so much better to face it or enjoy it, be it good or bad, if the nation is in a sound economic condition, solvent, highly productive, conserving wisely its resources, with its national debt minimized and under control."

CUERO, TEXAS, RECORD: "It makes sense to have strong security measures in operation where military secrets or secrets concerning foreign policy are involved. But there are many government departments whose work is only vaguely connected with the defense effort and the heads of these departments now have the same right to withhold information as is held by military agencies. Freedom of the press is a well established part of American rights. Free access to information about the work of government is different, but almost as important."

I may be old, but I'm not old fashioned --

Of course my stove is a MODERN ELECTRIC RANGE!

You know there's a big difference between being old and being old fashioned. You can't help growing older but you don't have to grow out-of-date.

You take cooking. My family and friends say I've always been a good cook. That's partly because I have always wanted to try modern things, whether it's been a recipe or a way of cooking. For instance, that is how I started to use an electric stove and now I wouldn't be without one.

When I think of the hours spent in a kitchen—testing, basting, and fussing over a hot stove—and now all I do is turn a dial—well, I surely envy girls who start housekeeping today. Cooking with an electric stove isn't a chore—it's a pleasure. I like an electric stove for its cleanliness, coolness, safety and convenience too.

If you will take an old lady's advice, you'll choose a modern electric stove. It's far and away the best. I know—because I have used all kinds.

FEESERSBURG

According to the ground-hog legend we are faced with six weeks of winter, but according to my own method of predicting the weather, spring is just around the corner. I have so much faith in my own signs, that today (Tuesday) I was out stirring in the flower beds and raking up dried grass and leaves. One brave dandelion flower was curled up beneath some leaves, partly open and the barberry had sprouted some green shoots. The sun had enough power to make me remove one sweater and the air had a dash of some invigorating ingredient in it, that made me anxious for suppers to hurry along. It may be that the ground-hog will prove to be one hundred percent accurate, so don't start planting your garden yet.

Is there such a thing as a nine day wonder anymore? A nine-day wonder is something that causes a great sensation for a few days and then passes into the limbo of things forgotten. The phrase dates back at least to the 14th century and probably much earlier. In "Trolls" chancier wrote: "A wonder last but nine night never in town." The wonder (as wonders last) lasted nine days," is recorded in John Heywood's Proverbs, published in 1546. In an old handbook of proverbs we find it stated that a "wonder lasts nine days and then the puppy's eyes are open." This, of course, refers to the fact that dogs are born blind and their eyes do not open for about nine days. The proverb suggests that the public's eyes are blind with astonishment for nine days, but then their eyes are opened and they cease to wonder any longer. In these modern times, it would have to be something powerfully unusual to make the faded public wonder about it for nine days.

Twenty-four hours seems to be as long as even the most spectacular event can hold the public's interest.

The moon must play an even greater influence upon the earth's weather than is suspected. Last week there was a total eclipse of the moon and a day or so later England and parts of Europe experienced the most natural disaster in 500 years, in the form of winds, high tides and floods. Nature, even in its most playful mood, can create havoc; in its vengeful mood, one can visualize the moon shooting off into space and the earth left to her own devices and fate.

Valentine Day is coming up and it seems exactly the right holiday for February. It is a young and gay day, that kind one needs after January.

We listened to the President's speech on Monday and it seemed to a veteran listener of many speeches, both good and bad that the "State of the Union" message consisted of too many words and not enough substance. We did not like the part about Formosa and the Fleet, and can only foresee a longer and frustrating war if we become involved on the mainland of China.

The farmer is already concerned about the new administration's attitude in regards to falling farm prices. The new secretary of Agriculture talks like he has never been on a farm. His advice to keep cattle from the market until the prices go up may sound reasonable to everyone except the farmer.

If the stock didn't require feed and the farmer didn't need the money from his cattle to pay his bills, that advice might stick. Under the circumstances, that kind of talk only makes the farmer lose confidence in the new secretary's common sense and understanding of the farmer's problems.

What must be distinctly understood by the new administration is that the farmer's stock and General Motors stock are not the same animal.

Have you heard the story of the young pastor of a small rural community who was not satisfied with the attention of the congregation during his sermons? So one Sunday morning in the midst of a rather dull lecture he abruptly said: "All those who want to go to heaven will kindly rise." All one man rose promptly. "Now anybody that wants to go to Hell will please stand up." The congregation smiled at itself and looked at the member who had remained seated earlier. Again, he didn't stand up. The minister addressed him directly. "Am I, to understand, Brother Gladstone, that you want to go neither to heaven nor hell? "That is it exactly," was the reply. "I like it right here."

The sale season is in full swing, and if prices are any indication of the state of the country, then we have nothing to worry about. The Wolfe sisters sale drew a large crowd anxious to buy and everything sold well. A banquet table brought $360 dollars and a marble top stand $45 dollars. Fishes and ornaments always sell well, but books are never a popular item at a public sale.

During a year, every homemaker must burn up many a dollar. Don't be alarmed, I mean in the form of waste paper. It seems at our house, the advertisements that come through the mail keeps our trash can always filled, and our incinerator constantly glowing. How much money it involves only the advertising agencies know, but it cannot be a small sum. And the unfortunate part is, that the consumer of goods pays the bill. Can't some smart person come up with an idea of making use of all the waste paper that is going up in smoke each day?

To the tactful, lie about others, the way you'd like to have them lie about you.—L. S. McCandless.

THIS 'N' THAT

(Continued from first page) ing a Furniture Company recently, I was informed that most young couples state it is less work and less expensive as to linens and when the young wife goes back to business anyway that it means so much less of running around the room making up the bed. Every now and then and in the past sixty or seventy years, the American public goes through a change. I recall the big handsome double bed in which I was born and all of my sisters and brothers. It was something very grand—solid walnut with so much handwork done up by a real Hand Mechanic which are so very rare these days. Somehow, Your Observer wanted to keep that bedroom suite and when it was given away for more modern furniture this is what Your Observer said, "Now, it won't seem like home anymore!"

There will be a new book on the market by Feb. 16—all about that Fabulous Fanny Brice. Betcha, that first Edition will go within a few days.

Here's to the farmer! Down in Alabama there is a factory where the Regimented Hens live contentedly and lay prodigiously in wire cages in assembly line egg production with the chickens lined up in churning wire cages so that every egg rolls down to a convenient wire rack to be picked up for the basket! Nice?

Have you seen the real Roses called A BOWL OF BEAUTY? That last for months—JEWELS FOR YOUR LIVING ROOM? They are specially treated and in carefully formulated chemical solution which cannot be duplicated.

If you are contemplating purchasing a new umbrella by all means decide upon the Ruffled Border "PAGODA" for they are so much more stylish and lend cheer on a rainy day.

If you are going to build a new home be sure to have it "Air-Conditioned" as in 1953 that will be one of the big features in all new homes.

Miss Margaret Truman has truly been the sweetest daughter and liked by every one more so than any President's daughter of these United States!

Now—here's a cute one and I quote—Dear Observer—did you make any New Year resolution and if you did, do you really keep it? "What was it?" Yes, I did make one New Year resolution and which I have kept up to date and hope to continue for I am seeing results in just one month's time and here it is—I roll on the floor each morning at a certain time to one long playing record so as I can read. On T.V. many noticed that I did get thinner. Any one can do results.

What a nice big Calendar arrived from the State that I presented it to the Public School. That reminds me that the letter I sent to Mr. Paul Burke has been answered and the white lines for which I suggested for all Country and County roads may come to life! Here's hoping!

So long, Folks! Have a grand week end take care of your health for then your health will take care of you! Until next week. I am Faithfully, YOUR OBSERVER

ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS
Q. I want my chicks to get a good start-- what shall I do?
A. Use Dr. Salsbury's Ren-O-Sal right from the start! At 2 tablets in every gallon of water, Ren-O-Sal provides your chicks with faster growth, faster feathering, better color. Pullet chicks lay earlier, too. Keep Ren-O-Sal handy to prevent spread of cecal "coxy," also. Make more poultry profits with Ren-O-Sal right from the start!

There's nothing like a good old-fashioned square dance for relaxation and fun. It's most enjoyable when everyone knows the steps and co-operates by following the caller. Sharing a party line is pretty much the same thing. Keeping calls reasonably brief and spaced is one good step to neighborly co-operation for the benefit of all.

Fungi luncheon

You'd think that by the time a tree got to be a telephone pole it would have escaped its natural enemies. It wouldn't be so if the fungi had their way. At the Bell laboratories, telephone scientists study the eating habits of these fungi in bottles to learn the best way to defeat them. Treating the poles with fungi-resisting preservatives means longer uninterrupted service to telephone subscribers, at lower cost.

Look what's worrying the low-priced three!

THERE'S a big story in the price of this beauty—but an even bigger one in what you get for that price.

You get the highest horsepower and compression ratio ever engineered into this Buick Series—from the extra-thrifty F-263 Fireball 8 Engine newly designed for this Golden Anniversary SPECIAL.

You get an even wider front seat than this roomy Buick had before—plus a new tilt-away feature that means easier in-and-out.

You get real big-car comfort, from deep, soft cushions with new zigzag type springs in both the seats and the backs.

You get the steady going and the sweet handling ease that come of a still finer Million Dollar Ride. Steering ratio is increased. Front wheels have been brought to zero-caster. And here, of course, you get coil springs on each wheel, full-length torque-tube drive, rigid and massive X-braced frame—ride features you get in no other car at the price.

But—you get the idea.

And when you realize that the figure on this big, brawny, beautiful Buick SPECIAL is just a few dollars more than you'll pay for one of the so-called "low-priced three"—we're sure you'll say: "This is for me!"

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Scripture: Matthew 20.
Devotional Reading: Ephesians 2:1-10.

Not for Sale

Lesson for February 8, 1953

IF THE modern reader of the parable of the laborers in the vineyard is puzzled, he at least has the comfort of knowing that great Bible scholars have been puzzled too. He also has the discomfort of knowing that no interpretation he can put upon it will have unanimous agreement. To be sure, there are some things it does not mean. This parable does not give a model for labor and management. Jesus was not talking about wages literally. He was saying something about God, and his dealings with man. Furthermore, this parable does not mean that God's only reason for doing things is "because;" that he is one whose acts have neither rhyme nor reason. But what does this parable mean? Among the various plausible interpretations that have been given it by Christian thinkers, let us pick out one of the most important truths that this peculiar story suggests.

Nothing to Sell

That truth is: The grace of God cannot be earned. To desire the loving favor, the "grace," of God, is to desire the greatest gift God can bestow. But it cannot be bought. It cannot be earned. We can see that this is true by thinking a moment. Think whose it is. We can pay for business favors, we can tip a waiter or a porter for doing something special for us; but we can't tip God. We can employ the services of all sorts of people; but God's services are not for hire. We can earn anything on earth, or many things; but the grace of God is from heaven. What he does for man is a gift, not a payment.

Dr. Foreman

And then think who we are. Suppose we really thought we could do a bookkeeping business with God. If we get it into our foolish heads that he owes us something, what about our debt to him? If we must have it on a bookkeeping basis, we shall always be in the red.

Earning God's Grace
Still, the race of man includes many fools. And some of these have tried to do the impossible, to earn the infinite grace of God. One way they have tried is to buy it. A lifelong rascal's conscience will finally begin to hurt him, and so to get God on his side he will build a cathedral or endow an orphanage or pour money into some church treasury, hoping that God will overlook the villainous ways in which he earned the money because of the pious way in which he spends it. Other men (a little more on the "religious" side) seem to think they can sweet-talk God into being their friend. They would not put it that way; they would say that God will listen to their many prayers. Do they not regularly attend prayer meetings, or early communions, and should not God be expected to do something for them in return?

Others, again, hope that God can be made to feel so sorry for them that he will pour out on them his special grace. If they do not have natural troubles they will make artificial troubles for themselves. They will go without proper food and clothing, they will wear hair shirts or iron chains around their waists, they will roll on beds of spikes or go without baths for years and years. But God's grace does not go to the highest bidders; it does not go to the most long-winded prayers; it is not offered as a reward for self-inflicted wounds. God's grace must be taken as a gift; or not at all.

Grace and Gratitude

Then does it make no difference what we do? Will God be just as good to us, no matter what? Shall we even "do evil that grace may abound," that is, shall we make God's grace even more gracious by being as bad as we can be? Not by any means. The truly good life is not a way of earning the grace of God; it is a way of responding to the grace of God.

Some one has said that religion is gratitude. Religion is our response to God, not his to us. Religion is our reply to the infinite goodness of the Almighty, not his reply to our part-way, badly mixed and human goodness. Indeed, the good life is more than a lifelong act of gratitude; the good life itself is the effect of God's grace.

"Bread Is Life" By LOUIS BROMFIELD

Bread is the staff of man's existence.

Bread is wheat and wheat is earth, the good earth, the good black earth out of which comes man's food, his health, his vigor, his long life.

Out of the earth comes first a single green leaf, springing from the bursting sprouted seed that is the symbol of resurrection in all faiths and religions since the spirits of thought and faith were raised in man.

In that sprouting seed and tiny sword-like leaf lies the whole meaning of life.

Wheat and bread are a part of that cycle which is the law of the universe, the law by which we are born, live and die, the law by which we are here on this earth, the law by which we leave our children behind us . . . the great, eternal and beautiful law of birth, growth, death, decay and rebirth.

Of all of this the grain of wheat is the symbol.

Throughout history the bread by which we live has been a symbol. In ancient faiths bread has been a god and in many parts of the earth where life is hard and soil infertile, bread today is still a god.

Bread has made empires and the death of bread has caused famines and revolutions and the decline and fall of great nations.

In many countries bread is the king of the table and all else that comes upon the table is merely the court that surrounds the king. The courtiers are the soup, the meat, the vegetables, the salad . . . but Bread is King.

If there is bread, all else falls into place . . . but Bread is the King and the Foundation.

Serving the Bread King since the beginning of time have been the Miller and the Baker.

The story of Bread is the story of civilization itself.

Bread began when the half-savage animals that were primitive man stopped roaming the wilderness, surfeited one day and starving the next, his shelter only the lonely, windy cave or a hut of dying branches.

With the coming of bread, man could know that he would eat because his food did not depend upon the vagaries of the chase.

No longer does the rough millstone grind the flour.

In its place are great wheels and shafts driven by the power of the forces which the ancients feared and worshipped without understanding.

And the baker's shop is no longer a small dark cave in the narrow street bustling with people but a vast, airy, white palace in which the ground wheat is turned into bread.

And after ten thousand, fifty thousand years, bread is still King. He graces the tables of the rich and the poor alike for man with his skills and power has made the Bread King a part of the life of even the poorest citizen as well as a delicacy on the table of the gourmet.

Bread is the staff of Man's existence.

Bread is still King and will always be.

Bread is Life.

Favorable Outlook for Canning Crops

(18th Article in a Series)

Peas, an important Tri-State canning crop, pass a factory inspection.

Prospects for growers of canning crops in the Tri-State area of New Jersey, Maryland and Delaware look good for 1953, according to the experts.

Consumer demand is expected to continue high as levels of employment keep up, despite possible cutbacks later on if defense production stabilizes, and personal incomes are expected to rise slightly. Present supplies of canned foods are good but not overabundant, and consequently should not abnormally affect crop planning. Forecasts now are for about the same acreage of crops for processing as in 1952.

Strong Consumer Demand

In the words of Dr. Paul E. Nystrom of the College of Agriculture, University of Maryland, "The outlook for canning crops is favorable. A strong demand is expected from consumers, fully employed and with good income. The past year's production of canning crops was down 9 per cent, offsetting the large stocks of canned foods at the beginning of 1952. However, the supply situation now seems to be well balanced.

"Stocks of peas are down considerably, those of corn are up somewhat and those of tomatoes are up only slightly, juice stocks being somewhat greater.

"A reasonable acreage is called for to provide about the same raw stock for canning as last year. Dr. Nystrom's acreage estimate concurs with that of the U.S.D.A.'s Bureau of Agricultural Economics, whose latest report on demand and prices notes that "if stocks clear well between now and the beginning of the next contract year, processors will probably seek tonnage in 1953 on about the same scale as in 1952."

The report also finds supplies of canned and frozen vegetables "generally adequate to meet demand until the packing season begins again."

Canned Stocks Not Excessive

In Washington, D. C., Dr. Howard L. Stier, director of statistics for the National Canners Association, states that stocks of canned foods are not going to be short, nor, on the other hand, excessively large. The grower, he believes, need have no fear of large surpluses of canned foods being carried over into the 1953 season, nor will there be a run-away demand.

John W. Carncross at Rutgers University's College of Agriculture sees the market outlook as average and healthy, with moderate carryovers of canned foods.

"Farmers," he concludes, "can be moderately optimistic about the 1953 outlook."

(In the next article, the outlook for major crops will be discussed.)

Let's Think

by G. H. ENFIELD

CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

What good is derived working a cross-word puzzle? What good is derived may be asked of many things. The query is usually asked by those who have no interest in anything of that nature. Then to some minds a thing is of little good that has no direct monetary value, or that does not produce an income.

The age and generation that sees no good in that which does not result in money making must become permeated with ideas of spiritual values. There is a tendency today, and has been for several decades, to over-emphasize material values. Many vocations are chosen with that thought uppermost. How much money can I make is the primary thought in too many instances. However, I imagine I can see a trend at present in another direction. Present day uncertainties and the alarms which threaten the modern world may be responsible for turning the human mind toward thinking more and more upon things that matter most—spiritual, eternal, abiding values.

Returning to the original question, what is the good of working a cross-word puzzle, let it be said in the first place that it affords mental recreation. The mind grows weary with all work and no play. Working a cross-word puzzle by one who enjoys doing so, provides mental relaxation. Many minds already are relaxed for they have done little thinking. So these do not need work a cross word puzzle for relaxation but for stimulation. Others find mental relaxation in games and sports. Study of philosophy, history, literature, science, et cetera, tire the mental physique as using a pick and shovel all day tires the physical body.

In the second place, to work habitually cross-word puzzles acquaints the worker with new words and their meaning. Words are presented frequently, and in such small numbers as to become a permanent possession. If the worker forgets the meaning of a new word in a given instance, within a few days it will appear and there will be a double effort to retain its meaning. Thus one's vocabulary grows.

So don't brand all workers of cross-word puzzles as daft, or think of them as squandering time. Is there anything else more rewarding than learning and properly using new words. Too many people already are guilty of working the words of their limited vocabulary to death. Many words are made through incorrect use of them to mean what they are not meant to mean. How hard do such words as nice, fine, gorgeous, said, have to work! And the trousers of expressions like "out of this world," "a period," are worn threadbare. Learn new words, and let those which have engaged in many battles down through the years enjoy a well-earned vacation.

You cannot use words you do not know, nor can you convey true shades of meaning in various situations by a meager and sterile vocabulary. Thousands of words are crying out why don't you use us? And they answer their own question by exclaiming so few employ us.

G. H. ENFIELD.

CHRYSLER SHOWS NEWEST DEVELOPMENTS IN DESIGN

Two of the newest advances in motorcar development, the Chrysler "Special" sports coupe and the "404 Racer," are having their first public showing in the United States in the Chrysler International Salon in New York City. The "Special," only 55 inches high, made its debut last month in Paris where it was labeled the "sensation of the show" by the French press. Designed by Chrysler engineers, and built in Italy by Ghia, the "Special" keynotes the basic fundamentals of automotive design. It has the characteristic low, sweeping lines of European sport cars and embodies many unusual design features. Also displayed is the Chrysler powered "404 Racer" which recently broke all Indianapolis speed and endurance records, attaining speeds of 170 m.p.h. on the straightaways with its modified Chrysler V-8 engine.
