

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE
TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION

gram of a tuberculosis association. A great amount of educational work is done in connection with both the x-ray surveys and seal sale.

Available through this office to schools and all groups are films, literature, posters and speakers.

Social Service and Rehabilitation
Four per cent of the gross Seal Sale is allotted to this part of the program. Direct services to patients are made possible through this fund. Small monthly allowances and clothing are given to those patients whose families are unable to assist them. This is a cooperative plan with the Maryland Tuberculosis Association and is administered by the Social Service Consultants in the Hospitals.

Case Finding

The Carroll County Tuberculosis Association knows that effective tuberculosis control means locating all cases of active tuberculosis and isolating those cases.

In order to locate the tuberculosis, the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association cooperates with the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, the Carroll County and Maryland State Health Department and brings to the County each year, the mobile chest x-ray units. 4,778 people received free chest x-rays in the county during the survey this past year.

Also the Association pays the salary and travel of the chest clinician in the Health Department.

TB Statistics in Carroll County

There are 86 cases of Tuberculosis on the case register.
22 people are in hospitals, 6 in Henryton; 5 in Mt. Wilson; 4 in Victor Cullen; 5 in Springfield; 2 in Veterans' Hospitals.

779 people were x-rayed in the Health Department in 1952.
There were four deaths from TB in Carroll County in 1952.

Seal Sale

With the able leadership of Mr. Howard Koonitz, Jr., the Seal Sale campaign collected $5234.60, an increase of almost $800. 15% of this goes to the Maryland Tuberculosis Association and 6% goes to the National Tuberculosis Association.

To the students of Robert Moton High School, the Association extends its sincere appreciation for a job well done. These students prepared 11,000 letters for mailing.

The following five point program for 1953-54 has been submitted by the Executive Secretary of the Carroll County Tuberculosis Association:

(1) Education

The Carroll County Tuberculosis Association is a voluntary health organization composed of residents of Carroll County interested in the prevention, control and eventual eradication of tuberculosis. These objectives can only be accomplished through an expanded Health Educational Program in the county. Visual aids, speakers, and printed literature will be available for use by any group upon request.

(2) Chest Clinics

The Association in cooperation with the Carroll County Health Department, sponsors a chest clinic the first and third Friday of each month. This association pays the salary and travel of the clinician. Free chest x-rays are available to all Carroll County residents each Tuesday from 9 to 10 o'clock.

(3) Patient Services

The local Association will continue to participate in a program of services to patients in the State Tuberculosis Hospitals. The Association's contribution will be used to help meet the clothing and other incidental needs of indigent Carroll County patients.

(4) The X-ray Survey

The Carroll County Tuberculosis Association, in cooperation with the Carroll County Health Department, the Maryland State Department of Health and the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, have arranged a schedule for the mobile x-ray unit to visit Carroll County. A survey committee will work diligently to outline a schedule that will take the x-ray unit to every area in the county. This survey will include schools, industry and community.

(5) Seal Sale

The substance of a well planned program is determined through its only means of support, the annual Seal Sale campaign.

The Association will endeavor to reach a goal of $6500.00 in the campaign of 1953. This challenge can only be realized through the results of educating our people to fight this disease through their support in buying Christmas Seals. Every effort will be put forth to revise and enlarge our mailing list in the county. Personal solicitation may provide a new approach to some of our local organizations and industries.

SHELLMAN HOUSE RESTORED

More than three hundred persons visited the Historical Society Home, 206 East Main Street, Friday, during open house of the newly restored home with its freshly painted walls and woodwork, crisp window curtains and a rearrangement of rooms.

Hostesses took the guests through the home and pointed out the items of interest. All the rooms were opened, conference room, which was the parlor, the sitting room, dining room, kitchen and the spacious hall on the first floor and two bedrooms, museum room and a smaller one used for exhibiting articles, two baths and hall on second floor. Soft shades of grey paint with white woodwork were used in most of the rooms and hall with a mauve tone used in the dining room.

Upon entering the hall one sees at once the framed award of merit presented to the Historical Society by the American Association for State and local history, Washington. In the living room is the framed picture of Carroll County's only governor, Frank Brown. The sitting room is Victorian and the horse hair Victorian furniture has been loaned by Mr. and Mrs. George Hunter. The dining room, in early American, has been furnished by Emory Buckingham and sister, Mrs. Test Kimmey. A collection of over 20 historical plates of scenes and churches of Carroll county are arranged in the corner cupboard.

Of interest also is a plaque of Westminster laid out by William Winchester in 1759 and a description of White's Level, the land on which Westminster was built. Pictures of James M. Shellman, first Burgess of Westminster and wife, Catherine Jones Shellman, parents of the late Mary Bostwick Shellman, owner of the Shellman House. There is a lithograph by Frederick Diehlman of John Alden and Priscilla, a picture of Francis Scott Key and of William Rinehart, the sculptor.

The current collection now is several pieces from the Old Union Meeting House which stood on the present mound in the Westminster cemetery. This includes a prayer bench, newel post, bannister rail, key stone and a bench made of wood taken from the building and accompanying pictures. In one of the bed rooms the tester bed and trundle bed were gifts of Mrs. Edward Byers and the late sister, Miss Edna Erb.

The high boy was given by the late Fisher Wantz. A wash stand from the old Powder home given by Miss Ada Trumbo, Hollywood, Calif. The Victorian bedroom furnishings were given by Albert Mitten in memory of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitten.

A handsome walnut dower chest of the late Salome Loman, in excellent condition, has been given by Miss Florence Garner, Union Bridge. The date 150 years ago is plainly seen, also the initials S. L.

The canopy over the tester bed was made from flax grown in Carroll county and knitted with home-made needles by Mrs. Jane Baile.

The museum room is worthy of several hours browsing with many interesting collections to see. These will be written up later in a series of articles after the house is open to the public again.

The next meeting of the historical society will be held Thursday, May 14, when Miss Carrie Mouser, a retired school teacher, will recall the 1880's. The hostesses will be Mrs. Edward Byers and Mrs. James Robb.

OLD AGE INSURANCE PAYMENTS

Checks for insurance payments under the provisions of the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Program are going to 1,668 aged persons, children, and their widowed mothers in Carroll county.

In releasing these figures, Laurie J. Gillespie, field representative of the Baltimore (N) Social Security office, also said that these monthly payments amount to $60,702. "Without these payments earned by workers under this contributory system, the ability of many persons to pay for necessities would have been drastically curtailed or entirely ended", he added.

More than one-third of all people over 65 in the United States who could not count on income from work for support were getting Social Security benefits. About 1,353 persons over age 65 in Carroll County were receiving these payments.

Mr. Gillespie pointed out that this Federal Program is affording substantial survivor protection. Three out of every four mothers and young children in the nation are now assured of monthly payments if the insured breadwinner of the family dies.

In this connection, he cited monthly payments totaling $9,818 to 258 children and their 56 widowed mothers in Carroll County.

For information concerning this program write or call the field office, 5227 York Road, Baltimore 12, Md.

The baddies never ride white horses

It's all so easy in the Westens. The bad guys always ride dark horses; the hero or his pal rides white. You can tell good from bad way down the canyon.

Not so easy are the real problems the kids grow up to meet. Danger may ride the white horse, and even do the singing round the campfire.

Like the people who try to push America into socialism. The things they propose, they say, are "to protect the people" or are "benefits only government can provide."

But you can spot the marks of socialism if you listen closely. The clues are these words: "the federal government should own and run" or

"the government should take over" or "government can do it better and cheaper."

Those are the sure signs of socialism. History proves it in country after country in Europe and Asia.

In the last 2 or 3 years, millions of Americans have recognized the threat right here in the U. S.

For socialistic ideas have spread alarmingly here. And the ways to stop socialism are to recognize it—to help your children and friends understand its dangers—to help your representatives in government resist its pressures—whether it's riding a dark horse or a white one.

FEESERSBURG

The annual May Day Pete held in the school auditorium Monday evening and sponsored by the Elmer Wolfe P.-T. A. was one of the best in recent years. The weather cooperated for once and the program itself went off smoothly without the usual unforeseen interruptions. When beauty, charm and talent are mixed in the right proportions, the results are always interesting. These three assets were used in the right proportions by the program committee with the result that parents, teachers and the innocent by-standers were pleased with the program. The May Queen and her court radiated youth, beauty and charm as they were expected to do and the talented boys and girls sang, danced and played all kinds of music for the Queen's pleasure. The Queen was Betty Johnson and she had twelve attendants. They were: Donna Sherman, Jerry Leakes, Sally Styers, Mary Jane Mort, Mary Elmer Snyder, Ann Crumpacker, Rose Marie Grabbill, Rosalie Buffington, Patricia Clacken, Patricia Rood, Deanna Crouse, Bonnie Munshower. The Queen was crowned by the popular mayor of Union Bridge, Dr. Thomas Legg. The court jesters were Ann Jarvis and John Hood; the announcer, Richard Bohn; crown bearers, Jack Crammer; flower girls, Gloria Black and Jacqueline Bush. The following students took part in the program: Carolyn Myers, piano; Kay Luttrell, violin; Senior Boy's quartet, Robert Alexander, Warner Cheeks, James Bowman, Gail Harley. Playlet by 11th grade, boys, Grayson Smith, Gene Michaels, David Houck. Rhythm band, Grades 1 and 2; Sophomore Girl's Chorus. We confess that the "Baby Tornado" on Saturday had us badly scared. But since hearing the stories of other people's experiences we feel we had a good reason for feeling uneasy. About 4:30 p. m., the sky started to get dark in the northeast. We rarely get a storm from that direction so we decided to put the cows in the barn and start the evening milking. We kept watching the sky however as we had an uneasy feeling. The atmosphere felt heavy and oppressive. At 5 p. m. we looked out the barn door and saw a cloud in the shape of a white fluffy plume, twisting and churning and coming straight at us. The cows that had already been milked we turned out of the barn; then we shut the electric power off and ran for the house. The hail and wind struck just as we got the kitchen door shut. The shutters on the windows weren't closed and the hail beating against the panes sounded like the drums of doom. In spite of my terror I did try to see what was happening on the outside, but my senses must have been numbed for the tree went down outside of the window and I didn't see it fall. It may have been because I was watching the cows we had turned out of the barn. They were stampeding in all directions trying to get away from the hail and we thought surely they would go through the electric fences. But they didn't. They must have decided to go to the meadow for there is where we found them after the storm. Our barn had been jacked up on stilts just two days before so the men could put a new wall under it, and we felt momentarily the wind would demolish it. But not a board was disturbed. Two trees on the lawn were our only casualties. After the storm which lasted about fifteen minutes we got in the car to see if our neighbors were all right. Except for some broken window panes, they were safe. Later, we learned how badly the storm damaged some places like Tyrone, Union Bridge and Johns-ville.

During all the wind and hail Jenny Dove remained on her nest. She had been setting on her eggs about a week and we wondered if she had been blown from her place in the Chinese elm. But when we looked for her shortly after the storm had passed, there she was, serene and calm on her nest. Her small beady eyes looking down at us with an age-old wisdom as if asking why we were so excited over a storm.

And that is the question I have to ask myself. Why do storms terrify some of us when we have lived thru so many? It isn't the fear of personal danger nor the fear of losing material property—although we wouldn't exactly like either one to happen to us. No, it is something more than a fear. It is a sort of resentment that man has been placed at the mercy of nature. Most of us want to feel that we control our own destiny. A storm's violence leaves us helpless with the knowledge that we must sit out; that there is nothing we can do except seek a safe place and even the wisdom of doing that is debatable. I never for a minute doubt the wisdom of nature for I know she works for the good of many, for her other creatures as well as man, according to her far-reaching plan. But there are times when I believe she could have given man a better break.

My Grandfather use to say a given would not build in a new bird house. That the house would have to be up at least one year. But this spring we placed four new houses out. Two already have tenants and another has been spoken for. Evidently there is even a housing shortage among the wrens.

The stork has been a busy bird this week at Merry Know. One calf, eight kittens and eight baby chicks hatched out by a proud mother hen. The hen only mothered the chicks—not the kittens and calf.

The traveler who goes to Europe this year will have to be tough in spirit and loaded with money. Hotels will be crowded, prices reaching for the sky and more tourists in each country than the normal population. However, I would trade a year of my life for the privilege of seeing England this spring.—Ruth Roelke.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Observed by Southern States

Some 600 farmer patrons and their friends attended the first anniversary celebration of the opening of the new warehouse and store of Southern States Taneytown Cooperative on Saturday evening, May 9. In spite of the hail and windstorm which caused considerable excitement just before the time of the opening, this large group of local people turned out to inspect the modern facilities of the Cooperative, to participate in a supply hunt, to dance to the music of Texas Jim and his Stump Jumpers, and to enjoy the refreshments. President of the board of directors, Walter Hiltebrich acted as master of ceremonies, and conducted the giving of gifts for the several door prizes. These prizes were given every thirty minutes throughout the evening and were won by Mrs. Elmer Kump, Jacob Stambaugh, Roland Rodkey, Stoner Fleagle and others.

At the final gift for the grand prize, Mr. William Harman, Taneytown, won the Unico home freezer. In addition to the prizes donated by the Cooperative, seven Mother's Day cakes were furnished by the Taneytown Pastry shop, and were awarded to the oldest mother, Mrs. — Welty, the youngest mother, Mrs. Ruth McGee, the mother from the farthest distance, Baltimore, and to other mothers who participated in a cake walk. During the evening a word of welcome and congratulation was given by Mr. Raymond Perry, Mayor of Taneytown. Mr. R. V. Rice, from Southern States Cooperative, Richmond, Va., spoke of the successful progress of the Cooperative, and Mr. C. E. McCauley, Director of feed distribution for Cooperative Mills, spoke briefly of the methods of quality control used in manufacturing Southern States feeds.

"Be not simply good be good for something", motto in front of rostrum of the Harrisville High School.

To attempt to arouse an inactive "CHRISTIAN" is as likely to produce a snarl as to disturb a sleeping dog.

How fortunate is the child who doesn't inherit the two-faced characteristics of a parent!

THOUGHTS FOR THOUGHT

Do not be looking always for roses to pluck rather look for roses to scatter.

The person who never builds a castle in the air will never build a mansion on earth.

It is being discovered that the ideal baby-sitters are Grandpas and Grandmas.

If you are seeking praise don't be disappointed if you don't find it, for no one in your community may be running for a political office.

Oh, Oh! 'S Wrong Way!

Let's Think

by G. H. ENFIELD

WHAT IS YOUR PRICE?

Does every man have his price as the popular slogan of a few years since acclaimed? The query can best be answered when each individual examines himself in the light of what he does what he does, and says what he says. To know the motive and purpose of acts committed, deeds performed, and services rendered will throw light on the pathway you are pursuing. Motive and purpose establishes the price you ask for yourself, or for which you have sold yourself.

The endowment given you by your Creator will ennoble you when rightly developed. When misguided and misused it leads to cheap markets. You cannot afford to sell yourself cheap. Down the road of life, however, you may be attracted by the tinsel of a position, by the glamour of a profession, by the bread-and-butter proposition of a job, and by the sinister solicitations of so-called friends as to be persuaded to sell your best self for a mess of pottage.

There are those who place small price tags on themselves. Even when friends have highly esteemed them for years, and have evaluated them for what they have thought to be, they will sell themselves for a trifle, by their betrayal, deception, falsification, connivance, and concoction; some of them to hold a small job under those who themselves are unscrupulous. Why sell yourself at the rate of 'two for five' instead of at the popular price of 98 cents?

Integrity is the result of honesty, truthfulness, justice, purity, and fair play. Strong virtues are not grown over night. They also come high. And to the man of stalwart character, low-bidding on his virtue is an insult. But the weakling will auction himself at any price.

How calamitous when youth comes under the leadership of such a person!

17-YEAR LOCUSTS TO APPEAR MAY 15

Periodical cicadas, commonly known as 17-year locusts, are scheduled to appear in most parts of Maryland around May 15, according to L. C. Burns, County Agent. Brood X, the largest single brood in the East, last hit this area in 1936, when it was reported as far south as Alabama, north through Vermont, and west to Illinois.

Males are the first to appear. They are the ones that sing, making a sound like a long drawn out "Phar-oah", which lasts for about five seconds. The song ends abruptly and is repeated at five second intervals. A week after males emerge from burrows in the ground, the females appear.

Chief damage is done to young fruit trees, shrubs and bearing fruit orchards. Egg slits cut into branches by female cicadas may be disastrous to newly planted orchards. In bearing orchards, next year's crop may be materially reduced. Egg slits rarely heal, and limbs are likely to break under the weight of fruit. The entomologists recommend pruning affected limbs after the 1953 harvest. If not done, they say that branches will be seriously injured and that egg slits may harbor other insects, their eggs or wood rotting fungi.

Best protection for young fruit trees and shrubs is to cover them with tobacco cotton or cheese cloth. Larger trees can be protected by spraying with TEPP (tetraethyl pyrophosphate). Care should be exercised when TEPP is used since it is toxic to man, the entomologists warn.

To get complete information on preventing damage by cicadas, secure a copy of Miscellaneous Extension publication 19, "The Periodical Cicada", from your County Agent.

NEWSPAPER'S RESPONSIBILITY

The following declaration of responsibility of a newspaper publisher to his community was presented to the contest committee of NEA in one of the contest entries. The statement was part of presentation made by the Carthage (N.Y.) Republican-Tribune. It said:

"After all, it is the editor's community too. That is to say, he lives in it as much as do any of his readers, and maybe there's a little selfishness in the things he does—both as an individual and through his newspaper—to make it a better town in which to live. Only with him, it's more like an obligation for he alone has a newspaper with which to help get the worthwhile accomplished. If he doesn't recognize that opportunity as an obligation, he's not much of a newspaper man."

OCTA EXPLAINS SALARY BILL EFFECT ON TEACHERS

Carroll County School teachers will receive salary increases in accordance with the provisions of the bill passed by the General Assembly at the recent legislative session.

Teachers who have five to fifteen years of teaching experience will receive a salary raise of $100 next fall as a result of the passage of Senate Bill 32 by the General Assembly of Maryland at the recent legislative session. These teachers will also receive the regular yearly increment and will benefit from the $100 increase in the local salary schedule.

Other teachers with fewer than five years experience and more than fifteen will receive no increase as a result of legislative action. However, they will receive their yearly increment and will benefit from the new local scale which begins at $2700 and ends at $4300.

These differences in salary increases for teachers will be due to the effect of the new state law which reduces the number of annual salary increments from sixteen, under the old salary scale, to ten in the new program.

Under the terms of the new salary bill the state minimum schedule for teachers will be raised from the present scale of $2000-$3800 to $2500-$4300 for 1953-1954 and 1954-1955. The minimum scale will be elevated to $2800-$4600 in 1955-56. A teacher will reach the maximum of $4600 in ten years with two annual salary increments of $100 and eight of $200. Counties may supplement the minimum salary program set by the State.

In making the transition to the new schedule, teachers will be restricted to maximum yearly increases of $300. As a result, it will take many teachers now in service several years to attain their proper positions on the new State salary schedule.

Although the bill as enacted freezes the local salary scale and guarantees that the teacher will eventually be placed at the proper position in terms of experience on the new scale of $2800-$4600, any increase beyond this range will thereafter be entirely up to the local Board of Education and the County Commissioners.

WESTERN SHORE BROILER CONTEST

On Tuesday, May 19, over 40 H-H members will meet at the Westminster Poultry Auction with samples of their broilers to be judged, and the winner of the western shore contest determined.

Thirteen 4-H'ers of Carroll County received their chicks on March 10, to start their progress. The members raise their chicks for exactly 10 weeks, keeping accurate records and following the best practices under direction of the Extension Service. The contest is judged with 60% of the contest based on efficient production and 40% based on the six sample birds brought to the auction where they are judged and sold.

These 4-H'ers will compete with others from Baltimore, Howard, Frederick and Harford counties. A program of speakers and movies has been planned during the judging. All people interested in seeing good broilers or in filling their food lockers should be present on the 19th.

In the 1953 National Poetry Anthology which has just come from press is a poem entitled "Voices Calling", by the Rev. G. H. Enfield, of Harrisville.

Refinement is the lifting of one's self upwards from the merely sensual, the effort of the soul to eternalize the common wants and uses of life.

—Henry Ward Beecher

The necessity for uplifting the race is father to the fact that Mind can do it; for Mind can impart purity instead of impurity, strength instead of weakness, and health instead of disease.

—Mary Baker Eddy

True delicacy, as true generosity, is more wounded by an act of offence from itself, than to itself.—Lord Greville.

End Of The World

Lesson for May 17, 1953

THE first part of the New Testament to be put into writing was not any one of the gospels; it was an epistle. Which one, is not absolutely certain; but it may very well have been the pair of letters Paul wrote to the Thessalonians. There is much too much in them for all of it to be put into one Sunday school lesson. One thing certainly seems very modern: the Thessalonians, and perhaps Paul too, were under the impression that their times were the last times. The end of the world seemed to be right around the corner. That was nearly 2,000 years ago. But what with the A-bomb and now the H-bomb, it looks as if this ancient fear might not be off-center at all nowadays. It is worth while to think—What if this year 1953 really is the last chapter in history?

God Has His Plans

One thing does seem clear from the Bible, whatever else people may quarrel about: The end of the world will be brought about by God, not man. It is quite possible, as the most distinguished scientists tell us, that any one H-bomb will totally and instantly destroy life in a circle of 300 square miles. But this earth is a large one, and there aren't enough H-bombs to carpet the whole place. The civilized nations, so-called, may blow each other off the map; but there will be a lot of uncivilized ones left that don't have money for H-bombs and couldn't even spell the word. "Civilization as we know it" can be destroyed by man; but not the heavens and the earth. This is not to call the H-bomb a trifle; its use would be the most colossal evil ever devised at one stroke by mankind. But while the use of it might well be the last chapter for all readers of this paper, there are people who can't read (in Patagonia for instance) who would scarcely know the thing had been dropped. When God is ready to bring the whole story of man to an end, he will do it. Men will not.

Suppose This Is It?

St. Francis of Assisi, such a universal Christian that both the Roman Catholic church and the Salvation Army have claimed him for their own, was once asked, while he was hoeing in the garden, "What would you do if you knew the world was coming to an end this afternoon?" His answer was: "I would go on and finish this hoeing." Paul had to deal with this problem in the Thessalonian church. His first letter to them got them to thinking the end of all things must be right around the corner. So a good many of them decided there wasn't any use in working any more. They quit their jobs, they sat around or visited one another's homes and all they talked about was, "When will it be?" Paul's advice (besides telling them the end was not as near as they thought) was to get jobs and stay on them. It was to these people that he made his famous remark, "If any one will not work, let him not eat." (II Thess. 3:10.) Suppose the end of all things is really near? Suppose Christ came in glory to your town before Sunday? Which would be better to be found just sitting around, or steadily doing whatever duty might be yours at the time?

The End of the World

After all, what does the "end of the world" mean, practically? It means that you and the world part company; it vanishes before your eyes. Whatever world you exist in from that moment on, it will not be this one. Now it makes small difference whether the world folds up and leaves you, or whether you fold up and leave the world. One thing is sure: whichever way it is, you and this world, this world of day and night, of sin and suffering and saintliness, this world of animals, vegetables and minerals—you and this world are going to part company, and you are going to live long enough to see that day. The big question is not the nearness or the farness of that day. The question is: What are you going to put into the time between now and then? If you will look around you, you will see many evidences that those who went before you made wise plans and did good deeds not only for their own time but for yours as well.

STATE'S CANNERS OUTSTRIP PAUL BUNYAN'S APPETITE

117 Years of Progress Marked

It would take the insatiable appetites of an army of Paul Bunyans to make a dent in the billions of cans of food that have moved from the state's orchards, fields and fisheries to pantry shelves throughout the nation since Maryland's canning industry was founded in 1836. The state's first food canning establishment was started in Baltimore, by Col. C. S. Maltby, Louis L. Lord and Charles Mott, packers of Chesapeake Bay oysters. Their firm later became known as the Lord-Mott Company and is still in operation.

Maryland, through the shipment of 21 billion cans to nation-wide markets during the last 117 years, has helped the American people to improve their year around diets and attain higher standards of health through use of canned food products.

Maryland also has become a leading packer of non-food products, such as beer, coffee, paint and motor oil, in metal containers. The achievements of the state's vital canning industry are being saluted throughout the state in conjunction with Maryland Commercial Canning Week, proclaimed by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin for March 15 through 21.

Canning has grown from small beginnings to Maryland's third most important industry. During that period, too, the state has risen to a position of leadership as one of the nation's top food processing states. It is among the leaders in the canning of tomatoes, sweet corn, snap beans, green peas, asparagus, and lima beans.

The Free State's favorable climate and fertile soil have made it possible to decentralize the state's food growing and canning industries throughout several major sections of the state. There are canneries operating in 18 counties, including Baltimore, St. Marys, Washington, Frederick, Carroll, Harford, Somerset, Cecil, Montgomery, Howard, Kent, Queen Annes, Caroline, Talbot, Dorchester, Wicomico, Anne Arundel and Worcester.

Although oysters and other seafoods were the first products canned in Maryland, the canning of fruits and vegetables in later years became the state's most important food processing activity.

Maryland's first fruit and vegetable cannery was established by Thomas Kenney, 2nd, on the Baltimore water front, in 1850. In the years that followed other canners, including Louis McMurray, Thomas J. Meyer, Charles G. Sumner and the Shivers, entered the fruit and vegetable canning business.

Technical developments also aided in the industry's growth. Among the most important were Isaac Solomon's method of increasing the temperature of water and A. K. Shriver's invention of the closed kettle retort. Both of these innovations greatly reduced the cooking time required in processing canned foods.

By 1900, Maryland canners were packing as many as 148,000,000 cans of food, valued at about $12,000,000.

This was done despite the fact that canning progress was still severely impeded by the need for using what were known as hole-and-cap cans. These containers had only a small opening about the size of a half-dollar through which food processors literally pushed bits of food in filling the cans.

Shortly after the turn of the century, however, American Can Company, which operates three plants in Baltimore, touched off a revolution in the canning industry by perfecting the modern open-end can which permitted the canning of whole fruits and vegetables.

In addition to expanding the usefulness of the tin can by making it possible to process more and more products, the open-end can led to the development of machinery capable of making up to 450 cans a minute as well as highly efficient can closing equipment for canneries.

As a result of these and other 20th century developments, the canning industry has expanded in Maryland until today it far exceeds, in size and efficiency, the fondest dreams of canning pioneers whose early efforts 117 years ago made the Free State "the cradle of the canning industry."

Maryland's 200 canners now turn out 460,000,000 cans of food annually for distribution to markets throughout the nation and overseas. "One of the good things about Maryland's flourishing canning industry is that it benefits many people within the state," said L. M. Goodwin, Maryland representative of American Can Company. "More than 85 per cent of the major vegetable crops harvested in the state are purchased by food processors for canning. This gave approximately 10,000 vegetable farmers a $10,732,000 market for their harvests last year."

In addition, he explained, canneries in the state employed an average of 10,000 people last year—providing an industrial payroll of $18,000,000. Can-makers, too, he added, make up an important industrial payroll with approximately 5,000 employees receiving about $13,000,000 in wages last year.

Mr. Goodwin also pointed out that the packing of non-food products in metal containers provides the livelihood for untold thousands of people in the Free State. In addition to the 460,000,000 containers that are used each year to pack Maryland food products, several million more are required for a wide variety of Maryland industrial products that go to market in cans.

He said that scores of different non-food items are packed in cans in Maryland, among these being paint, chemicals, signal flares, insecticides, motor oil, roofing materials, auto supplies, disinfectants and pharmaceutical products.

As state-wide attention is directed to the present role of the canning industry during the week of March 15 to 21, one of the major commemorative activities scheduled will be an industry-agriculture luncheon in Baltimore on March 20. At the luncheon the 21 billionth can manufactured for the packing of Maryland food products will be presented to Governor McKeldin to be preserved as a symbolic milestone to Maryland's industrial development.

TANEYTOWN HISTORY

County-wide Meeting to be Held Here June 25th

It is good once in a while to recall the past—the olden times, and we have a Historical Society for the county whose aim is to do just that. On some occasions we hold countywide meetings at Westminster, but at other times, the districts have historical programs in their own central towns. On June 25th next, Taneytown will have such a program.

Now Taneytown has perhaps the most interesting history of any Carroll county town. George Washington spent the night here. This is a real thrill itself, yet I doubt if a great many of our young people even know this. They should. Travel along our Atlantic Coast States, and you will see large signs wherever Washington stayed and travelled. Taneytown should have such road markers, not only to commemorate the first President's visit, but to give the origin of the town's name. How many of our high school's students can give correctly the date and name of the person who founded Taneytown?

In the Catholic Rectory here is the old handwritten record of the marriage of Francis Scott Key's sister Ann to Roger Brooke Taney. They were married in 1806 but a priest from this church at Terra Rubra just outside of our town. Taneytown district tells time from the tall clocks which Eli Bentley made in Taneytown 150 years ago. Our babies are still rocked to sleep in John Slagenhaupt's indestructible shrunk joint ladder backs. He sleeps his eternal rest in a Uniontown cemetery, but his chairs were made in Taneytown.

Come to the meeting on June 25th. We plan to have some historical exhibits as we have in the past. We have already shown old land grants and books, old prints and samplers, and 250 lovely old teapots. Each exhibit is carefully marked with the owner's name, and is supervised and protected. This time we will exhibit OLD BOXES. Remember the old wall paper covered handboxes in Grandma's attic? Also the dainty little china or glass trinket boxes, and all those of wood for writing materials or toilet articles, or salt, spices, tobacco, matches, and so on. If you have boxes, see Miss Beulah Englar, Chairman, or her committee. Be proud of your town. Help make it interesting.

HONEYMOONERS DESCRIBE TRIP

Lt. and Mrs. Ben C. Rowe, (formerly Miss Jean Taylor of Middle St., Taneytown, Md.), returned recently from an extended honeymoon trip which enabled them to visit in 31 states and Mexico, covering 13,000 miles over a period of 5 weeks.

Following a brief stay in the Northern States and a visit to Niagara Falls and Canada, the couple traveled along the Eastern Coast to Florida. After spending a week visiting with some friends in Jacksonville Beach and Ft. Lauderdale and seeing such points of interest as The Oceanarium and Silver Spring, they resumed their journey by following the coast to Arizona and then going on into California.

As they traveled on up the Western Coast to Seattle, Washington, Lt. and Mrs. Rowe, visited the home of the stately redwood trees, Confusion Hill, and Trees of Mystery in Northern California; the Sea Lion Caves of Florence, Oregon, and The Grand Coulee Dam of Washington, which is unique in being the largest concrete structure in the world.

Enroute home the couple spent some time in touring the Yellowstone National Park, Boulder Dam, and the Grand Canyon.

DAR MEETING

Chapter officers and chairmen gave reports at the William Winchester Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, final seasonal meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. Charles B. Kephart, Taneytown. A poem dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Charles O. Clemson, who died April 20, was read. A gift to the state chapter house was voted in memory of Mrs. Clemson, an active chapter member and a state officer.

During the summer a roster will be prepared of children eligible for membership in the Children of the American Revolution. It was announced a wreath will be placed on the grave of William Winchester Memorial Day and markers will be placed on the grave of two deceased members, Mrs. Howard E. Koontz and Mrs. Clemson.

Miss Nancy Shower, Taneytown was received into the chapter. All members were invited to attend the State Chairmen's luncheon meeting scheduled for September at the Chevy Chase Methodist church, Miss M. Louise Matthews, Mrs. Robert Gist, Mrs. Frank Cunningham and Mrs. James Marsh gave impressions of the dedication ceremony of the Valley Forge Memorial Bell Tower, April 18. Mrs. Edgar G. Barnes and Mrs. Marsh gave reports on the National Congress held April 20 to 24 at Washington. Mrs. Barnes, state registrar, served as corridor hostess during the congress. Guests were Mrs. Arthur Gleason and Miss Rose Geiman. The hostess and her sister, Mrs. Gleason, served refreshments. Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Frank B. Hurt poured tea.

343RD GENERAL HOSPITAL, JAPAN

Army Chaplain (Capt.) John H. Belt, son of Mrs. John D. Belt, 173 W. Main St., Westminster, Md., is now serving at the 343rd General Hospital in Japan.

Chaplain Belt, whose wife lives on Pleasant Hill rd., Owings Mills, Md., was a protestant chaplain at the Army hospital in Yokohama before transferring to the 343rd.

He was a minister of the Grace Evan. Luth. Church in Westminster before entering the Army in 1940. Belt is a graduate of Westminster High School and Gettysburg College. He graduated from Lutheran Theological Seminary, Gettysburg, Pa., in 1933.

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

Attended the "FASHION SEASON" program presented by the Future Homemakers of America and The Home Economics Department at the North Harford High School. It was interesting from start to finish. The background represented Summer, Fall, Winter and Spring. Tea was served with cookies and the organist played up to the minute and appropriate music for the evening. Everything was carried out to the smallest detail!

How wonderful people can be in time of trouble! A precious little girl of 16 years of age was left an orphan about two weeks ago. The mother having died very suddenly. She and her mother and this daughter lived together. The young mother going out to do housework or sewing to make ends meet. There was a collection which amounted quickly to the sum of $400.00, a hearing aid presented by the American Legion for the very deaf grandmother and some one else installed a phone. The little girl is an "Honor Student" and the very last wish of her mother was that she should continue school to graduate next year. This wish is to be carried out.

Down in "The Church Home" hospital on the first floor there is a sign which reads, "THE OPEN DOOR"—upon entering saw a very small room with three tables—two ladies serving light lunches. This is carried on by all denominations and they do need volunteers from ten to one and from one to four o'clock. The money derived goes to the Guild which keeps up all details for the hospital.

Well, Gentlemen, what did you think of those Beastly Wrestlers on last Tuesday's Mat at the Coliseum? This Columnist thinks "WRESTLING IS TRULY GOING TO THE DOGS!" I'll always read the papers as "WHO'S WHO" before tuning in for that programme.

Thinking of T.V.—switched on the knob this morning and there was a teacher in the Dundalk School teaching typing by the way of music and real progress if you ask me!

So long, Folks. Have a grand week end. Hope you are saving for that B & O Vacation! If you are driving the car this week end be sure you keep your hand (the left one) on the wheel, too. Do not drive and try to hold on to the roof of the car. In case of a real emergency that hand may be very necessary! Until next week D. V. I am

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

UNIONTOWN STUDENT EARNS DEGREE

Louis E. Van Petten, Uniontown, is one of the first students to earn a degree through the Southern Regional Education program. He will receive a degree in veterinary medicine from the University of Georgia this year.

Van Petten has one of the yearly quota of places which Maryland reserves at Georgia through the Southern Regional Education Board. The class of '53 is the first four-year class to graduate under the interstate arrangement.

Van Petten, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Van Petten, is a member of Alpha Tau Omega, social fraternity, and Alpha Psi, veterinary medicine fraternity.

Under the regional education program Maryland now has 36 students studying veterinary medicine at Georgia, at an annual cost of $36,000. This is much less than it would cost to establish a comparable school in Maryland.

The state contracts with the Southern Regional Education Board to send a yearly quota of students, certified as bona fide residents, to Georgia. If the students meet admission standards of the college they are accepted, and Maryland pays the college $1,000 a year per student. The students pay their own tuition but do not pay out-of-state fees.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, President, University of Maryland, College Park, is the state contact officer for the regional education programs which also include medicine, dentistry and social work.

Some church members are hard to please, they find the weather too unpleasant for them to go to church during the winter, and too pleasant during the summer.
