Hampstead was in attendance for her first meeting having been appointed by Governor McKeldin during the month of May to replace Mr. Robert Brilhart, of Manchester.

The Board approved the minutes of the April meeting and gave approval to the bills listed for approval at this meeting. The Board considered a number of communications from organizations and individuals related to school tions and individuals related to school operations. After consideration of communications the superintendent was directed to take appropriate action in each case. The Board was given a brief report regarding projects now in process in the schools of the county including the Union Bridge wa-ter supply and the Sykesville build-

The superintendent further reported that Pre-School Clinics had been held in all the schools of the county to which prospective first grade enrollees for 1953-54 had been invited along with their parents. These clinics have been well organized and conducted in all of the schools with the assistance of the county nurses, and the county health officer. The clinics are offered in the schools for the purpose of acquainting children and parents with school operations and with the problems connected with the attendance of first grade children.

The projected enrollment for first grade in the county during the coming year is about 950 pupils. The Board took action in connection with adjustments in certain of the contracts connected with the Sykesville building and gave approval for the superintendent to purchase materials of instruction and janitor supplies for the coming school year.

The Board reorganized at this meeting by electing Mr. Paul Niswander of Union Bridge as president of the Board for 1953-54, and Mr. Clyde L. Hesson of Taneytown to Vice-President. dent. The Board also designated for

The Merry Month of May has been the occasion for public celebration throughout the centuries. It is important to recall that the word, "MERRY" meant "BUSY" and not just "JOY" as now defined.

In our country the month of May contains three important days— Mother's Day, Armed Forces Day and Decoration Day.

The order of their occurrence in the month might be considered parallel to life itself. Our Mothers gave sons who make up our Armed Forces, many of whom have died for their country. We honor our Mothers on Mother's Day for their patience and courage during the trying years of war and troubled peace. This fourth Armed Forces Day we celebrate the the Unity of our Armed Force personnel and the American people in their courageous stand for the rights of mankind in the world struggle for

We bow in reverence on Decoration Day for all those who "gave their last full measure of devotion" to our country. Let us continue as we have al-ways to use our mighty power for good—POWER FOR PEACE!

It is nice to recall the cemeteries around the town—how beautifully they appeared on this special day with all sorts of flowers in honor of the day and of the many who return from far off places just for this very special time. That proves that—HOME IS WHERE THE HEART

Some forty years ago a young Yale student named Alonza Elliot wrote a march for his fraternity convention. If the music world ever noticed it, it was quickly forgotten. A copy submitted to an English publisher gathered dust for years. Then came the first World War and the English publisher strolling along the Thames, ran into a group of Canadian soldiers quick-stepping along and singing: into a group of Canadian soldiers quick-stepping along and singing: "There's a long, long trail a-winding". The publisher hurried back to his office to start off the song officially on the long, long way which has brought Author Elliot $70,000 in royalities over the years. It still brings Elliot an average of about $1,000. a year. At 61 Elliot is still writing music! Thinking of another composer who wrote "The Old Gray Mare"! died iust recently.

Mr. McClung wishes to thank the generous people of Carroll county for their support. He says "Again this year, as in the past, they have shown their confidence in the Red Cross, not only in a national way, but also in its comfort if you desire to spend money on home comforts rather than the trip Now, here's a strange one Your Observer just this very minute heard about. A man was driving near Gay and Broadway taking his family down to visit a member of the family in the hospital. Suddenly a four year old child ran right out into the street in front of the street in front of the car—the car running over it. Believe it or not— the child got up and not a scratch anywhere! sit down across the table?

The President has correctly, I believe, stated that nothing could be gained by a Big Three Conference without some assurance by Russia that the conference would result in some sort of a settlement of the differences between the East and the President Eisenhower no doubt had in mind that discussions for an Austrian peace treaty have been going and the ill fated truce talks in Korea where the Communists have shown omplete insincerity.

The American people have been paying in blood and money for Communist aggression. Some of our allies who have not carried so severe a burden seem to be over anxious to accept whatever terms the Communist offer, but they should recall the mis-takes they made in handling the ag-gression of Hitler when to their evrlasting shame they entered into the Munich agreement.

The President has assured the world that this country will maintain defenses adequate to oppose any ag-gression and that our defense policies will not be geared to an anticipated date of attack.

Further he has reorganized the Defense Department and appointed new Joint Chiefs of Staff. His selection of a Navy man to act as chairman may well prove to be a shrewd piece of strategy. Not only is Admiral Arthur W. Radford well qualified for the post, but his appointment is assurance to the other services that the surance to the other services that the President, while an Army man, will be impartial in his attitude toward the services. Certainly Admiral Radford can do much to bring about greater unification of the armed forces.

But above all we can be assured that this Administration recognizes the Soviets representations for what they are and is not fooled by false overtures of peace which are merely a smokescreen for aggression. UNDER THE DOME

FORGOTTEN CEMETERY INCLOSED

A new fence now incloses the Old Toms Creek Cemetery, which only a few months ago was nearly a jungle of dense plant life slowly swallowing the ancient tombstones. One look at it then, and one would not think the tiny cemetery atop a hill southeast of Emmitsburg, and half mile off the Emmitsburg and Taneytown road, holds the remains of some of the historic ancestors of this vicinity.

Tottering tombstones attest the antiquity of this old cemetery, and time and the elements have taken their toll. A giant oak at its sagging gate was its only luxury, for once beyond one encountered berry bushes, sumac, poison ivy, etc., which make it most impossible to go further. But if one was courageous enough to venture further they would find it is the final resting place of the Gaugh, Sluss, Crabbs, Smith, Hoover, Ohler, Correll, Munshower and Forney people.

The markings on some of the stones are health readable new for the wind.

are hardly readable now, for the wind, rain, sleet, and snow have paled granite, slate and "field stone" alike. Some are askew. Some lie flat, the legend turned upward, and others top-ple grotesquely sideways.

One only wonders at some of the inscriptions, for instance:—
"Sir Ruhet der Leib Peter - Traxel gebohren den. 3 - April A. D. - 1719 - Geftorben den - 25 - Januari A. N - 1799 alt worten 79 - lahr 9 - Monat - 2 - wochen und - 5 - dag;

Another one: Another one:—
"Hier ruhet der leibvon Maria Magdalena Troxell frauvon Peter gestorben Jenuary 6th 1806 ist alt worden 69 Yahr 3 monat & 21 days."
One "field stone" has only the words "C. White 1822".

lived and died."

But now we have a cemetery visible from the road, and cleared of sumac, poison ivy and briers—for a short time—by several of the local men. And now enclosed with a new four foot chain link fence, paid for in full by Mrs. Alice V. Longley, wife of the late William Longley of Long Bar Harbor, near Abington, Md. Mrs. Longley witnessed the need of a fence when she visited the graves of some of her ancestors, one being her Great-Grandfather, Captain John Michael Sluss.

But still the stones are chipped and broken. Here and there a grave set-

This is an old Russian proverb.

But proverbs are not used in diplomatic relations, regardless of how apt they might be. The wisdom contained in a proverb, however, can be successfully used and our negotiators with the Communists might well keep this one in mind.

But still the second the read there are the seven deeper into the ground are the headstone follows. Oh, how nice if this old cemetery could only be restored further, if only more people would lend their talents as Mrs. Long-ley has done. This cemetery could be made into one of the historical highlights of this community.

Green Fingers

By F. ANTON REEDS

OUTSIDE the windows of Kerry Productions a murky drizzle shrouded the outlines of Herald Square and twisted and distorted the street sounds from below. Alone in the comfortable inner office Patrick Kerry tried not to notice the autumn drizzle - Minute beyond the windows. Fiction He thought of the plans for the country place tucked away somewhere in one of the drawers of his desk. Yes, he was getting well along now—so well along that at last he could admit that the country place of his would never be built. Of course, he thought quietly, life had been good-mighty goodand he glanced from one to another of the scores of autographed photos that lined the four walls of the office. Friends in plenty he

He had watched a thing that was misnamed Broadway discard its gaudy minstrel garments and take its first halting steps in a strange new world of quiet understatement.

But on rainy days he got to thinking of the moist, soft earth and the little rivulets trickling like blind, hesitant puppies among the clods of plowed fields—and his green fingers began to itch. Old Michael told him he had green fingers. What a proud day that had been.

A young Irishman had stood in the rain and said that to a girl whose eyes were rimmed with Eleven years old he had been then. That would have been-well, never mind

Patrick Kerry wasn't in any hurry about opening the envelope his secretary had just brought in. His thoughts were not in his office today, and he had difficulty in bringing them back from his dreams to present realities.

Finally Patrick's old fingers snaked open the brown flap and rapped the envelope sharply so that the contents slipped out onto the desk. He riffled through them, picked up the precisely filled-in card that was one of talent score Burp Mullen's cryptic reports. want. No doubt about it. He's got a freshness that's the real article. Miss Wintersten was hovering inside the door again.

"Mr. Compton is here," she said. to glance at the photos of a sen-sative but rugged countryman's face before the face itself was there before him. There were several things Patrick Kelly had meant to say; instead he found himself asking: "Just what sort of a place is this that you have outside of Mill Medford, Compton?" "It's a nursery, Mr. Kerry. That is, it will be. They take time get-ting started, you know."

Maybe it was the rain. Anyway Patrick Kerry found himself asking a good many questions, about privet hedge and fall plantings and apple graft-

"Look here," Patrick Kerry said abruptly. "What about this place of yours? Say you get this part, what would become of it?"

The young man answered slowly. "We talked about that, Ellen and I," he said. "I figure that if I make good with you, a few years-even five or six years-on Broadway would give us the working capital for a real go at it later on. We could always go back and start over. I suppose we'd want to anyway, some day." Patrick Kerry rose and went over to the window "Of course I'll be coming back in a few years. Maybe we can get a place of our own then by Peck's Villa or down at Irvington. A young Irishman had stood in the rain on an autumn day in 1896 on the wooden station platform at Farmdale and said that to a girl whose blue eyes were rimmed with

Funny how you believed everything you said when you were Patrick Kerry turned back from the window. Blame it on the rain, he thought, If it weren't for the rain I might not have had to do this. He was very business-like as he sat down again.

"I'm afraid we've been very unkind, Compton, and I'm sorry. But the fact is our Mr. Mullen was just a little impetuous. You see, Compton, we're going to need a professional for that part."

CONSERVATION OF SOIL

Community cooperation in Carroll County to conserve soil resources is producing results on a land drainage project on the B. F. Shriver Company Meadows Farm just north of the Westminster airport on Route 140.

The Carroll Soil Conservation District, the State Roads Commission the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and the Shriver Com-pany have had to work together beause of a bad drainage condition on the farm which has reduced the land's productivity ever since the road has existed.

An area of about 45 acres is involved, with about 10 acres adversely affected by water draining down slopes from the west and the highway from the north. Conservation practices on the 45 acres alone couldn't correct the problem. the problem.

As a result of the cooperative effort As a result of the cooperative enort, a drainage ditch eight feet wide and two feet deep will be dug for a distance of about 900 feet along the west side of the road on the Shriver land, and diversion terraces will be will on the billeids to divert water. built on the hillside to direct water into the ditch.

The Soil Conservation District was involved because the advice of the soil conservation technicians was needed. The telephone company had to consent to its poles being slightly exposed at the bottom where the ditch was to be cut. The State Roads Commission had to approve the plan. The B. F. Shriver Company will arrange and pay for the project.

At least 10 acres which have been so badly drained that they have been agriculturally unproductive will be available for crops when the job is finished. Work on the project is expected to be started in the near

BLOOD PROGRAM

The National Blood Program for the Armed Services recently received more blood from Carroll countians. The parish house of St. Paul's Reformed Church was the scene of the bloodmobile set-up May 11th.

It was hoped that one hundred fifty pints of blood would be derived that pints of blood would be donteed that day; however, with forty appoint-ments failing to appear the total taken was only one hundred and twenty-seven pints.

Mrs. Charles Morrow, blood bank chairman, expressed deep appreciation for the response of the 137 donors who kept their appointments, and to the volunteer workers who performed the necessary work connected with opreating the days program.

The need for blood by the Armed Forces Blood Donor Campaign continues acute. The next visit of the bloodmobile to Carroll County occurs Friday, June 19 at Taneytown, Md. Mr. Ernest Dunbar is in charge of securing donors.

LIBRARY SERVICES IN CARROLL COUNTY

At the Executive Committee meeting of the Carroll County Council of Parents and Teachers held on Wed-Parents and Teachers held on Wednesday evening, May 13, the President Mrs. Victor J. Ruby, urged those present to interest the people of Carroll County in investigating the need for library services, to discuss them thoroughly in their communities, and to see what steps can be taken to establish library services in this county such as now exist in fourteen other Maryland counties.

governor would appoint a county library board of seven members to administer and operate county library service. This board would have the responsibility of developing library service throughout the county, and would be empowered to enter into contracts for any library service with another library or with any other governmental unit. This would mean, said Mrs. Ruby, that a Carroll County Library Board could contract with the Device Library and could contract with the Device Library and the country of the country the Davis Library to extend its services through bookmobile and stations into all parts of the county; it could set up an entirely new library organization to develop county library service; or it could contract with an existing county library to extend its service into Carroll County.

Public library service is an important part of the educational proportant part of the e

gram in a country that depends upon an informed electorate to make de-cisions which demand a knowledge of international and scientific matters, said Mrs. Ruby, and she asked that local P. T. A.'s as well as other civic minded organizations support extension of Carroll County's library facil-

TANEYTOWN BANKS JOIN IN CHECK COLLECTION SET-UP

Baltimore commercial banks in con ection with their country correspond ent banks and with the cooperation of the Federal Reserve Bank have an-nounced the inauguration of the first step in a more rapid check collection system for Maryland banks. The Birnie Trust Company and the First National Bank, Taneytown have joined the check collection plan.

Arrangements have been made with Arrange Convict Company and Arrangements have been made with Armored Carrier Corp., a New Maryland counties.

Governor McKeldin last week signed a bill which would mean $4490 a year for Carroll County library service if the county would qualify. Mrs. Ruby pointed out that this sum added to $2694 for which we have failed to qualify during the past seven years, the same time checks for these same time check qualify during the past seven years, means Carroll County could have a total of $7184 from state funds for developing public library service in this county, if it would make some during the night for immediate handling in the morning.

Mrs. Ruby explained that to be eligible for state support for county library service the county must levy a minimum of 2 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation of taxable property. According to Maryland law, the governor would appoint a county library brown by the county make some during the night for immediate handling in the morning.

Monday, the next link in the state-wide clearing chain will go into operation among banks in Southern Maryland. As the routes are expanded to Harford County and then to the East-ern Shore by way of the Chesapeakon and the state wide clearing chain will go into operation among banks of the morning. ern Shore by way of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge, it is expected that a majority of the Maryland banks will eventually be covered.

Faster presentation of checks be-tween participating banks, and the more rapid return of unpaid items,

Fred S. Broach, executive vice-president of Armored Carrier stated that similar systems "have been highly successful among the progressive banks" in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland and Pittsburgh

Boston, Cleveland and Pittsburgh areas, and other large commercial centers in key states of the country. He revealed that Chicago and Cincinnatti are new areas started simultaneously with Baltimore.

"Putting Armored Carrier's system in operation in these and other key commercial areas," Mr. Broach added, "will enable the banking system to speed up and integrate its check clearing activities in major money clearing activities in major money markets."

TEN RULES FOR HAPPY MARRIAGE

Hardly less important are these 10 rules for husbands and wives as developed by Mrs. Grimsley:

1. Learn to overlook little irritating experiences. Cultivate a sense of humor, and the ability to laugh.

2. Develop mutual interests—have fun together.

3. Learn to apologize when you are wrong—and sometimes when you think you are right.
4. Don't both lose your tempers at the same time.

5. Never quarrel or criticize each other before outsiders. (This includes in-laws).

6. Clear up all hurt feelings and misunderstanding before the end of each day.
7. Be as courteous to each other as you are to outsiders. (Know when not to ask questions).

8. Give unexpected little surprises.

Should chicks be vaccinated against Newcastle disease?

A. Yes, to protect your investment, vaccinate with Dr. Salsbury's Newcastle Intranasal Vaccine. Live virus provides good immunity, yet it's so mild it can be used on day-old chicks and laying birds. Dr. Salsbury's Intranasal Vaccine is "Vaculized" to help preserve maximum potency. Vaccinate early, at 5-10 days, with Intranasal Vaccine. It pays!

The hours that come in cans

Think of the hours Grandma spent every day doing dreary, tiring chores—peeling, coring, pitting, grinding, squeezing, shelling. And the weeks it took to can and preserve enough food to last the winter!

Our mothers demanded relief from these countless hours of kitchen drudgery. So, American business put its resources to work. The result, as everyone knows, was a revolution in housekeeping.

It really began when the American Can Company perfected the modern tin can. Constant improvement in design and manufacture of containers made it possible to put foods and beverages of every kind on your table, regardless of season.

For the modern wife and mother the can has made simpler and shorter the job of feeding her family. Best of all, she has many more hours to relax and enjoy herself.

Many other good things come from can-making and can-using activities. Thousands of well-paid jobs—many of them right here in Maryland-have been created. Farmers have found a stable market and higher prices for their larger, better crops. Whole new businesses have been able to get started.

Your desire for more and more hours of leisure is one of the incentives that make the 35,000 people of Canco strive so hard to help you take it easier than Grandma. Constantly satisfying your needs is a big part of what businesses such as ours do to help make America a wonderful country to live and work and relax in.

My Conscience

Lesson for May 24, 1953

FOLLOW your conscience; but be sure you do not have the conscience of a donkey." This advice is old but still good. It is never right to go against your conscience; but it is very important to have your conscience right in the first place. Conscience is never quite automatic. It is not born in us so much as it is built-in. If it were born in us, that is to say if we were made so that we would never have to have any one explain to us the difference between right and wrong, and would always know by instinct just what is right in every situation, then not only would we all agree (which we don't), but if a child were brought up, say, by wolves, then he would know right from wrong just as unerringly as if he had been brought up in a Bishop's household. What is born in each of us is the capacity to tell right from wrong, just as we are born with the capacity for speech. We have to learn to talk; likewise we have to learn right from wrong. Conscience is also

Dr. Foreman the capacity for knowing what is right without thinking about it. It is a kind of moral habit, just as walking is a balancing habit.

I Am Not Alone

The best, the most reliable conscience in this world is the Christian conscience. A Christian has certain automatic moral attitudes; or rather these tend to become automatic with practice. Watch a trained first baseman catch balls thrown to him. He will tap the base with his toe without stopping to think or look around. He was not born with that habit; but he can learn it to perfection, and perfection comes' with practice. Just as the athlete's habits are in line with the rules of the game, the Christian's moral habits-his conscience-will be in line with the principles of Christ. One of these principles is laid down by Paul in I Cor. 8:7-13. It is this: I should never act as if I were the only person involved. I must always think how my actions will touch other 1 am not world: I depend on others and they on me. Will my action help to make others strong or will it make them weak?

My Body Is a Temple
Another Christian principle is laid down by St. Paul in I Cor. 6:18-20. It is this: My body is a temple of the Holy Spirit. To put that as boldly as possible: God makes his home in every Christian; that is where God especially lives, in this world. Now the more clearly we can remember that, the more intensely we can believe and appreciate it, the more God-like our lives will be. This does not mean we never have to stop and think. It does not mean we have an automatic conscience. It does not mean that whatever we may take a notion to do will be all right, since we are the children of God. What this does mean, as St. Paul preached and practiced it, is that by "practising the presence of God" we more and more reliably think, "What would Jesus want me to do? What would be the Christ-like thing?" A man of ordinary self-respect will not drag himself through the mud; but the Christian conscience shrinks from dragging the Holy Spirit through the mire

Invitation to Think

How does all this work out in practice? The intelligent Christian reader is invited to do some thinking about this. Let us suppose there is a party and alcoholic drinks are served. The "polite" thing to do is just to do what most others do, or in other words count noses to see what is right. But what is the Christian thing to do? What other persons will be affected by my action, and how will my behavior affect them? Then what about the Holy Spirit within me? What would God have to say? Or again, thinking over his everyday habits—habits of speaking, thinking acting — the Christian will ask: How many other people are involved in this habit of mine? Does it help them? Or does it get in their way, irritate them, rouse bad feelings in their minds? And what about God? Even if no one but God knows what I think, or what I do, what he thinks about it is the most important point of all. If I were God, what would I think of me?

BOY SCOUT WORK

Franklin O. Curtis, President, Baltimore Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America, has announced that Frederick A. Saffran will head the $375,000.00 Broad Creek Memorial Fund Campaign which has been approved by the Baltimore Community Chest and the Coordinating Council for Fund Raising Activities in Balti-more for the month of June. A thirty-five year Scout Veteran, the popular civic leader envisages the most thorough door to door canvass made for some time in the City of Baltimore and five adjacent counties in order that no one will be denied the privilege of having a share in the complettion of the Camp which was established in 1946 as a Memorial to Maryland's men and women who served in the Nation's Armed Forces. Affiliated counties include Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Howard, Carroll and Harford. Mr. Saffran expresses the belief that the Boy Scout Movement is in good repute by reason of its forty year record of highly effective work with boys and young men, but in order to guarantee an over-subscription to the campaign through an awakened public conscience, Joe Katz, popular public relations counselor, has accepted the appointment as Publicity Chairman who has chosen as his Vice chair-man, Wilbur Van Sant of the nationally known firm of Van Sant, Dug-dale & Company, Inc. Saffran, a member of the Executive Board of the Baltimore Area Scout Council and Chairman of its Committee on Camp-ing, has been identified with the s business, cultural and welfare activities for nearly thirty years. His efforts have been recognized by the Boy and Girl Scouts, with the award Boy and Girl Scouts, with the award of the Girl Scout Thanks Badge and the Boy Scout award of the Silver Beaver. He has been honored by the Diocese of Maryland as a recipient of the Archbishop Curley award for distinguished service to boyhood.

The purpose of the campaign is to bring to completion the improvements as embodied in the camps' Master Plan developed by a committee of 43 as embodied in the camps Master Plan developed by a committee of 43 distinguished engineers, architects and contractors, headed by Wm. B. Spencer, Chief Engineer of the Con-solidated Engineering Company. Pro-viding at present accommodations for viding, at present, accommodations for five hundred campers, the reservation of fourteen hundred acres near Conowingo Dam in Harford county will be increased to a capacity of one thousand in order to handle the expanded Scout membership which is expected to reach a total of thirty thousand men and boys by the end of

HISTORICAL SOCIETY NEWS

Reminiscences of Westminster in the 1880's and 1890's, as recalled by Miss Carrie Mourer, delighted the members and friends of the Carroll County Historical Society assembled in the Shellman House on the evening of May 14. Starting at the extreme east end of old Main Street, the speaker conducted a tour of the town, pointing out the churches, the schools, and the homes of the prominent citizens of that day, especially those of the lawyers who always attached offices to their residences. Miss Mourer's description of old Central Hall School where she used to conduct calisthenics with Indian clubs was enlivened by a photograph of her standing with her pupils. Equally vivid was her story of Western Maryland College in the days when each student had a little coal stove in his room. Those were also the days when graduating salutatorian delivered his graduating salutatorian delivered his oration in flawless Latin—painstakingly prepared for him by Dr. James W. Reese, professor of ancient languages. The Westminster Band furnished the music for the commencement exercises held in the tent up until 1887. up until 1887.

Dr. George S. Wills presented the Historical Society with framed pho-tographs of President and Mrs. Grover Cleveland. Recognition was made of the valuable gifts presented to the Society by Mrs. George Byers of Westminster and Miss Florence Garner of Union Bridge, and Miss Carrie Mourer, Westminster, Md.

Mrs. Edgar Barnes announced that the restored Shellman House is now available for private parties and pub-

"Save me, please save me," cries Mrs. Housewife. "I'm always tied down to my hot, old fashioned kitchen, cooking meals for my hungry family." To the rescue speeds Reddy Kilowatt, the idol of millions of modern housewives.

First Reddy disposes of that villian, Mr. Flame, so Mrs. Housewife never again has to wash smoke and soot out of her curtains or off her walls. Next, Reddy installs his speedy, economical electric range. Mrs. Housewife now finds she can put the food in the oven, set the controls and leave the kitchen-which, by the way, is now always fresh and cool because there's no escaping heat from the cooking surfaces. Long hours of cooking and kitchen cleaning out of the way, Mrs. Housewife now has many more hours for leisure or other household chores.

The curtain falls as Mrs. Housewife's electric range cooks the foods quickly, economically, deliciously.

GUEST MINISTER AT SPECIAL COUNTY-WIDE SERVICE

Dr. William Andrew Keese will be the guest minister at a special countywide Pentecost Sunday Service, this coming Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in St. Benjamin's (Kriders) Lutheran church, near Westminster. The service is sponsored by the Commission on Evangelism of the Carroll County Council of Churches. The choir of Calwary Methodist Church, Mt. Airy, will offer the anthems, singing "Grieve Not the Holy Spirit", Stainer, and "Thou Art the Living Christ", Wilson. Professor Philip S. Royer, violinist, will play the offertory. Also participating in this all-county service will be Mrs. Charles Leese, Sr., organist, the Rev. Willis R. Brenneman, pastor of St. Benjamin's, and the Rev. Harold Z. Bomberger, chairman, Commission on Evangelism.

Dr. W. A. Keese's sermon subject is "The Witness of the Spirit". He is recognized as one of the great preachers of the east. He was educated at Williamsport-Dickinson Seminary, Johns Hopkins University and union Theological Seminary. In 1941 Dr. Keese resigned as pastor of the Metropolitian Memorial Church in Washington, D. C., on the campus of American University and assumed the pastorate of Grace Methodist Church at Charles Street and Belevedere Ave., Baltimore. Recently Mr. Keese led his congregation into a magnificent new edifice costing approximately $750,000.00. This new building, one of the most beautiful in this part of the county, cares for more than 600 students in the Church School and seats 750 worshippers in the sanctuary.

St. Benjamin's Church is located just west of Westminster, a short disconting a special country and assumed the rear future, President Transmand.
