THOU SHALT NOT FORGET

Armistice Day in 1918, if you remember, was a day of rejoicing. The fighting in Europe was stopped. The great war, involving the major powers of the earth; the great war that killed with poison gas and armored tanks, as well as with cannon and cold steel; the struggle that first gave war its third dimension of horror, the zeppelin raids on sleeping cities from the skies; was, we thought, forever end-

But there has been a second world war on a far more colossal scale, and a stalemated Korean War and we know better now what "armistice" means. It is not for celebration, it is for prayer. It is to pay homage to those who have fought-those who have died fighting, and those who have lived, perhaps to fight again. It is to recognize the debt we also owe to the thousands of soldiers and sailors and airmen who have not yet seen battle, but who have postponed their own careers for our protection-who have already given us of their youth, and stand ready to give all.

Arlington National Cemeterywhere hundreds of veteran graves are still brown with fresh-turned earth, and more are dug each daywill be the scene of the traditional memorial services under the sponsorship of The American Legion. The nation's military leaders and highest dignitaries will pay solemn tribute at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and Americans everywhere will echo this reverence in their hearts.

Among those who will address the nation from this hallowed ground will describe the described and the state of John, et. al. executors of the estate of John J. John, de be National Commander Arthur J. Connell, of The American Legion and Army Secretary Robert T. B. Stevens, who well may stress the thought that the day must never come when we shall forget our fighting men.-U. S. Press Association.

SOOTHING WORDS-ABROAD

President Eisenhower told his latest press conference that there is no plan in existence for the reduction of US fighting forces anywhere in the world. In fact, he said, the Air Force is constantly increasing its strength, occupying bases around the world. Our forces, he said, were probably increasing abroad.

Less than two weeks before, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson had said that use of the new atomic weapons, some of which have already been ordered shipped overseas, might permit a decrease in American troops serving abroad. Mr. Wilson thought such reduction could be accomplished "over a reasonable period of time." The Defense chief did not give any

Since it appears that the Secretry's words were considered by our Western European allies as bad news, it might be that the President's reassurance was for their benefit rather than ours. And it would also look as though we are making no progress in the announced intention of furnishing NATO with the "tools" and gradually withdrawing American boys in favor of European nationals.

We think Mr. Wilson's trial balloon should have been allowed to gain at least a little more altitude before being shot down .- Bob Taylor.

The soil conservation district has served farmers since it was organized in 1944. During the past nine years approximately 825 farmers have been helped with soil and water conserva-

This district is governed by five supervisors. Three of the supervisors are elected by the farmers of the county, and two are appointed by the state committee. The farmers elected serve for a three year term. The present elected ent elected supervisors are, Randall Spoerlein, New Windsor; Solomon Hoke, Rt. 3, Westminster; and J. Harry Koller, Sykesville. #### TEMPER

When I have lost my temper, I have lost my reason, too.
I'm never proud of anything that angrily I do.

When I have talked in anger and my cheeks are flaming red, always uttered something that I wish I hadn't said.

In anger I have never done a kindly deed or wise,
But many things for which I felt I should apologize.

In looking back across my life and all I've lost or made,

I can't recall a single time when fury ever paid. So I struggle to be patient, for I've reached a wiser age;
I do not want to do a thing or speak a word in rage. I've learned by sad experience that, when my temper flies, I never do a decent thing, a decent deed or wise.

How well do you know your own face?

Have you ever noticed, for instance, that the two sides of your face are different-though they seem the same at first glance? (One eyebrow may be a little higher. Or you may have a dimple at only one corner of your mouth.)

The same is true of lots of things, even electricity. There's federal government electricity and there's company electricity like yours. They seem the same on the face of it. But there's a big difference:

Government Electricity goes first to certain favored groups; it pays little or no taxes; its rates are not regulated by state or local bodies; it is a step toward a federal government power monopoly-and socialism.

Company Electricity

is available to everyone in the company area without discrimination; it pays taxes -federal, state and local; its rates are regulated by people chosen to represent you; it plays a key role in America's free enterprise system.

So it pays to look closely when things look the same. You'll often find differences. And in electricity, these differences affect you and your family very directly.

FEESERSBURG

People are inclined to blame the wear and tear of modern living for many of the illnesses they suffer to-day, but the truth is people two thousand years ago suffered with the same maladies. Dr. Ackerman, who has spent years of research trying to find out which diseases were prevalent in the years gone by, has discovered the Egyptians had to put up with polio, pneumonia, appendicitis, smallpox, malaria and tuberculosis. In fact, most of the diseases that makes man miserable today were also bedeviling the human race in the times of the Pharaohs as far back as the Bibical time of Exodus.

All this leads up to another thought. Bridge, recently.
here are thousands and thousands of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Brown, of There are thousands and thousands of research chemists who spend their entire lives in a laboratory trying to track down the means of combating man's formidable enemy disease and who never receive any recognition or glory for their efforts. Not that these men and women desire any for as virtue is its own reward so is the reward of healthy human bodies these men and woman's chief concern. But when a doctor prescribes the modern miracle drugs, it is well to pay silent tribute to those who made possible the miracle drugs, by years of patience with a microscope and test-

I read somewhere the other day that the saying of grace has gone out of fashion. This I can't believe. Evidently the writer must live in a pe culiar spot of our great Nation for I have found the saying of grace before meals on the increase both in the country and in the city. Ever since I have read this statement I have searched my brain trying to remember just one home where I have had the privilege of eating a meal in the last year where grace was not said orally or silently. Not one can I remember. Taking advantage of the lovely weather we took a walk in the woods Monday which is quite a distance from the house. We thought we were alone, but pausing a minute to catch our breath we looked back. Five cats strung out in single file were bringing up the rear. They walked to the woods and back again under their own power, and they made delightful com-panions. They didn't fill the air with silly chatter. Vandalism this Halloween was at minimum. In our community there seemed to be none. The law had been explained to the boys and girls both by teachers and parents and the effect was astonishing and pleasant. Each community staged some sort of recreation for the children and this helped to drain off excess energy.

It is nice to learn that Molly Parnis thinks no hostess need sit helplessly by and watch visiting children scratch her beautiful furniture or break her antique dishes fearing to say anything less she insult the mother. If the mother doesn't herself correct her little darlings, and pretends not to see that they are description to see that they are description of the second s stroying property then the hostess herself has the privilge to step in and save her possessions. She even has the right to ask the mother to take the children home. All of us have at one time or another had friends whom we are fond of if they left their children at home, but if they arrived with Johnny or Mary we wished they had stayed at home. Visiting for most children is an ordeal and they should not be subjected to it unless absolutely necessary.

The straight and narrow path would probably be wider if more people used it.—Don Parr.

Do you have a cook in the embryostage in your house? I refer of course to the teenager who is trying to master the art of getting a meal together all in one piece and on time. It takes a lot of patience to teach anyone to cook and sometimes one is tempted not to continue on with it. But step step by step and day by day a cook is mode. There can be no rushing o short cuts. A truly fine cook is an artist, for she takes a bit of food, a lot of imagination and work and pro-Littlestown road, both serving roast duces a meal that is worth anyone's eating time.

There were eleven members present with Mrs. Scott Crabbs serving as discussion leader. Mission work in Puerto Rico was the subjec talked over and Mrs. Warrenfeltz brought some fine hand-made article which the women of this small island are famous for making.

With all the tempest about butter and butterfat in magazines and on the air I am reminded of the man from Sweden, who after listening to the pros and cons about the surplus butter piled up in storage here in the U.S. said: "The difference between Americans and Swedes is that the Americans store their butter, the Swedes eat theirs. "He continued on to say he couldn't understand why if we had so much butter why we served such small pats in eating places. There were places where he could hardly find the butter on his plate. In fact it couldn't be called a pat but a smear. There is an indication that farmers are awakening to the fact that dairy industry is twenty years behind in the method of marketing their products. They are also aware that they must find new markets for all their farm products. The place to look is Asia with its hungry millions. Farmers should demand the State Department take a realistic view toward China and other Asiatic countries. In our policy now we are biting off our nose to spite our faces.

During Education Week I believe each of us should reaffirm our faith in the public school system of America guard our right to free access to all knowledge, teach our children that next to parents, the teachers in our schools, are their best friends, and to preserve the right to inquire into the of all knowledge. #### MARRIED

BOONE - ALBAUGH A pretty wedding was solemnized in Mt. Zion Haugh's Lutheran church near Ladiesburg, on Saturday after-noon, October 17, at 2 o'clock. Miss Betty Jane Albaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Albaugh, of near Keymar, became the bride of John Grayson Boone, son of Mrs. Hannah Mae Boone, near Westminster, and the late Chester Boone.

Rev. Raymond C. Myers, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with palms and white gladioli.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a strapless white satin and net full-length gown with matching elbow mitts. Her only jewelry was a three-strand pearl necklace a gift of the groom. Her shoulder veil of illusion fell from a halo of net and seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was of white chrysanthemums. The bride's sister, Mrs. Karl Smith, Rocky Ridge, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length blue satin and net gown and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Karl Smith was bestman. Ushers

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social room where the couple cut a four-tier wedding cake. Mrs. Albaugh, the bride's mother received guests in a navy blue dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of pink rose buds. The groom's mother wore a pale green dress with black accessories and a white rosebud corsage. Assisting at the reception were irs. Raymond Martz, Westminster, Mrs. and Mrs. Harry Sweeney, Thurmont, aunts of the bride. For the going away outfit the bride selected a navy blue suit with which she wore black accessories and a red rosebud corsage. Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the couple will reside at the home of the bride's parents. What a cute and genuine "Old Pine"—hand-craft finish of a Spice cabinet, I found in an exclusive Gift Shop in Baltimore (something I have wanted in years) as was in my Grand-mother's house in Philly. And that reminds me-the old Oakdale Grammar School where I was a pupil is a huge Salvation Army Center! It carried me back to my childhood—that old substantial stone building. That reminds me as I drive along in Pennsylvania! I see now and then a real Country School house which I thought had been passe! The "Good Word" is not Gunther.

"THE GOOD WORD" is that GOD SO

BUT HAVE EVERLASTING LIFE!"
There is positively no drinking at the University of Delaware—not even at their social functions! That should be a 'MUST' in every College. Eh? If you are contemplating a Trailer in the near future be sure you glance over the "ZIMMER". It is truly the finest, I have ever seen and the most most beautifully and substantially built. It is designed for the future and only DELUXE equipment is used. It is called the new, "Caribbean". Nothing could be finer!

"The Robe" is still playing in Baltimore and in the big cities to vast audiences. It is strictly a religious picture. It is the first Cinema picture and must not be confused with "CINERAMA" the latter when you are taken from your seat in a Plane! are taken from your seat in a Plane!
Truly, Your Observer never lived before seeing "CINERAMA" until she sat right there in Philly at the Boyd,
Corner of 19th and Chestnut Streets.
Don't miss that one! The audience shrieks with thrills!

In the picture called "The Robe", I was quite surprised to see many walking out and when I asked the reason for this, one party stated there was too much bickering and fighting!
And now at last, Mrs. Housewife,
"LIFEBUOY" Soap has the brandnew pleasing fragrance! You will like it, I am sure!

Bringing back the Old Family Album which was presented to me while in Philly and gazing upon my Ancestors was truly a treat for sore eyes! The Mode of dress in those pictures is as of today even to the Hairtures is as of today even to the Hair-Dos! And whatever you do, Ladies don't forget your Crowning Glory. An elderly and stylish lady with a lovely head of Gray Hair writes to ask me this question, "I love red hats. Do you think it would be odd for me to wear one?" By all means go right down now and purchase that red hat. You will be stunning as many with Gray hair wearing them right now which has been for the last few years. Why, I remember when a lady of 60 why, I remember when a lady of 60 was considered old—not so these days as when a lady is 60, she appears like 40! It is truly your fault if you allow yourself to grow old—feel young and

Reporter Says...

Men vs. Boys: General Matthew Ridgway recently objected to the widespread use of the word "brass." There is a much more demoralizing word than "brass," and that is "boys." "The moment even the greenest adolescent en-ters the service, he offers the coun-try the best years of his life—and perhaps his life. If, after this act of dedication, he is not entitled to be called 'man,' who is?"

Biblical Movies: "These films, so weak in spirit, are plenty strong in the flesh, and that in a very literal sense Fortunately for them, what might be called the original Bible provides a goodly number of stories about wome resumed to be beautiful, so that Holywood's version of the Bible can go along for quite a while. Salome is built from this sure-fire formula, religion baptizing sex and sex making religion more interesting."

Germany, 1953: "In the faces of children from nine to eighteen is an expression to be seen nowhere else—a mixture of wariness, loneliness, and hope that pierces deep. More and more are turning to religion for a security which their broken families no longer can supply in adequate measure. Those who do not turn to the churches turn to work. . . . And in all of them that great compulsive wish to be one nation again beats regularly like a common heart."

Bill Mauldin on Vacation: One day during his summer vacation in Italy, Bill Mauldin waited in line for gasoline behind a truck load of Germans. He comments, "I couldn't help thinking how ironic and yet how nice it was that here we were, representatives of the two warrior tribes which had raked the length and breadth of this Italian gasoline salesman's country, meekly queueing up at a wiggle of his thumb."

'Know-How' Pushes Farm Production Each Farm Worker Feeds 15 People

Modern "know-how" is enabling farmers to produce twice as much per worker as their grandfathers did a generation ago.

Forty years ago, each farm worker produced enough crops to feed eight people. Today he produces enough to support 15 people. In 1912, 35 per cent of the nation's population was on farms. Today less than 15 per cent of the people live on farms.

Farm economists point out that while this record is good, it will have to be improved in the years ahead. With the population increasing at the rate of 21/2 million a year, Census Bureau experts estimate there will be 190 million people to feed by 1975. This means an ever-increasing demand for foods and fibers. This increased farm output must be produced on existing acres, for there is virtually no new land to put into crops.

Forty years ago a farm worker produced enough food for eight people. Due to new 'know-how' production, today he feeds fifteen.

The key to this increased farm output is the greater use of fertilizer. The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports that 25 per cent of our total farm production is directly due to the use of fertilizers. This will increase in the years ahead. As crop yields per acre go up, production costs per unit go down, giving the farmer a higher net income per acre.

Grass Silage Use Growing, AD Says

The United States Department of Agriculture reports a rapid increase in grass silage making during the past few years. The increase has been from 1.5 million tons in 1944 to eight million tons in 1951, when latest figures are available.

U. S. D. A. reasons for the rapid growth:

1. Increased acreage and yield of grassland crops.

2. Need for preserving more and better feed for livestock.

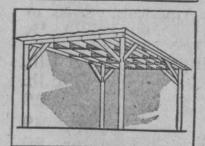

3. Better methods of harvesting, storing and feeding grass silage.

All grass silages properly made from fresh green crops, or with dry materials added, will provide enough carotene, if fed liberally, to produce milk with a good yellow color and a high vitamin A content. Wilted silage will also contain enough carotene for the production of high vitamin A milk, if properly made from an earlycut crop.

Maximum utilization of pasture and low-cost grass silage will provide the lowest feed cost. Grass silage with a moderate moisture content (65 to 75 per cent) made from forage cut at an early stage of maturity will come nearest meeting all the essential requirements of such a program, U.S.D.A.

Asphalt Spray
The University of Illinois reports that spraying thin asphalt coating over the soil after seeding stops soil from washing while seedlings develop. Tests show the asphalt breaks down with one year, and has no bad effect on soil.

Sun Shades

Shade is important in bull lots and small fields where there are ne trees. This type structure is easy to build and will offer animals adequate shade during the hottest part of the day. It should be constructed out of material heavy enough to stand rubbing and pushing. Instead of metal, some farmers use straw and like material for the roofing.

Church—Community

Lesson for November 8, 1953

E VERY Chamber of Commerce brags about the churches in its town, just as it brags about the parks, schools and museums. But sometimes the pride is for the wrong reason. Why should a community be proud of its churches and thankful for them? Why does every American community, with very few exceptions, feel itself not complete without at least one church? Not because they add to the beauty of the local scene, though many of them do. Not because they are inexpensive Dr. Foreman and democratic clubs, for a church which is no more than a club is not a true church.

What Does A Church Do For A Community?

What a good church does for its community can never be fully told. There are three outstanding services which the church and only the church attempts to do in the most vital way. One is to produce better persons. To be sure, the schools and the hospitals and all sorts of organizations are working at the task of making better citizens; so perhaps are the juvenile courts and even the police courts. But the church, and only the church, is working at the job of making better citizens from inside out. Only the church confronts sinning men with the living God. Only the church introduces men to Christ. Only the church keeps alive the memory, and practices the living presence, of the Son of God.

Even the most pagan mayor would admit that his city or town would be better if all the citizens were Christians. Well, that is precisely what the church is tryng to do, "present every man perfect in Christ" as St. Paul expressed

The Personal Gospel

Some churches talk much of the social gospel; others never do. But even the most individualistic kind of religion may turn out to be a social gospel—a good news for the community-after all. For one thing, the church and only the church, within any community, not only knows what a Christian home ought to be, but works at it.

If a church did nothing else whatever to solve the problems of its community, what it does in founding and supporting Christian homes brings rewards and dividends to the community that far outweigh anything the community can do for the church. The church keeps her eye always on persons; other elements in the community keep sharp eyes on profits, but in the long run people are more important than profits, even when it is only the church that sees it.

In a certain large city there is a residential area where the people have been badly affected by fumes from manufacturing plants about a mile away. In the many arguments over the trouble, the factories (and the Chamber of Commerce) are concerned mainly with the money problems involved in ridding the community of harmful fumes.

Learning To Be Neighbors In the long run, it is the church that helps a community to be a community and not a collection of houses. It is the church that teaches her members to honor others more than themselves. It is the church that teaches a morality higher and deeper than any code of laws. It is the church that preaches and teaches and in part practices unselfish love as the law of life. It is the church that gives the most profound meaning to the word "neighbor" and indeed to "community" itself. A church which is in itself a true fellowship is going that far toward making the whole community a fellowship in fact and not only in name. Here, alas! we run into a miserable fact: that some churches are so far from Christian that they harm the community-spirit instead of building it up. In a small Delaware village some years ago a feud between two denominations reached the point where one locked the other out of the Thanksgiving service! That is an extreme; but any one who rides through the country and sees in a tiny village more churches than it can ever support or fill, cannot help wondering whether all these "holier-thanthou" societies are building or breaking a spirit of togetherness in that place.

Let's Think

G. H. ENFIELD

A WORLD-PICTURE OF THE WORLD TODAY

But understand this, that in the last days there will come times of stress. For men will be lovers of self, lovers of money, proud, arrogant, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, unholy, inhuman, implacable, slanderers, profligates, fierce, haters of good, treacherous, reckless, swollen with conceit, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God, holding the form of religion but denying the power of it. Avoid such people.

For among them are those who make their way into households and capture weak women, burdened with sins and swayed by various impulses, who will listen to anybody and can never arrive at a knowledge of the truth. As Jannes and Jambres opposed Moses, so these men also op-pose the truth, men of corrupt mind and counterfeit faith; but they will not get very far, for their folly will be plain to all, as was that of those two men.—II Timothy 3:1-9 (Revised Standard Version).

Psalm 119-vs. 105 How to Read the Bible

"What to preach from the Bible. We need the Bible. We want the Bible. Preachers ought to preach the Bible—and I can. He ought to teach the

—and I can. He ought to teach the people how to read the Bible.

We have the Word of God. How are we to know the Word of God? We must move. We cannot stand still. The question is: How are we going to work? We need the Word of God; we need to read the Bible and remember it. Read a Book a day. Look for the truth and remember it. This is the outline:

Read a Book a day. The Bible was written Book by Book. Each Book has its message. The Books were written some 18 or 19 hundred years ago. The chapters and verses were not completed until less than 400 years ago. pleted until less than 400 years ago. Verses are all right for lifts, but Read a Book. Find out what the author says. Don't get giblets of truth. Read a Book. Know the facts. Get the details. Start with the Book of Mark then Luke; Acts; Paul's letter to Philippians; Amos, Hosea and Jonah.

We need a Bible consciousness—so read a Book. Paul could quote these old authors because he knew them. He authors because he knew them. He copied their works from hand copied scrolls and memorized them. He wrote fluently from the Old Testament.

Mark is an easy Book to read. It is a wonderful story. It was written in Rome, a little tract on the words of Jesus as a treatise for new christians.

Luke—a modern biography written to give people who are already christians renewed faith. Acts—a treatise on the early church and the mission work of St. Paul.

Philippians—a friendly letter. Amos—first Book to be written. Justice of God. People ought to be Amos was preaching eternal truths.

Hosea—can be called the Prelude of Love. Love of God. He was the most spiritual of Prophets. Jonah—climax of Love.

I not spare Neneveh. . ?' Jonah says that God loves everybody. John is the most rewarding Book to read, but do not start on it. Get Bible consciousness—Cultivate reading the Bible. Get the details—discover them for yourself.

Is Bible reading important? How can you say you believe if you do not know what it says?

There are pious people who claim that every little bit in the Bible con-tradicts with every other bit. The Old Testament reads '—they shall beat their swords into plow shares . . and in the new Testament . . . beat their plow shares into swords—. You have differences, contradictions. Yes, it's true. They were written by different people.

Exodus says: An eye for an eye, tooth for a tooth. Jesus says, 'if someone hits you on one cheek, turn the other cheek.'

Find out the truth and stand with Jesus Christ. Liberty in Christ! Be not bound with the doctrines of men. Observe liberty in Christ. Find out what it says by reading the Bible. 'Thy Word is a Lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.'

Man has always had an awarenes of the supernatural. Man knows there is something greater than the Sun. Greater than all the things that we see and handle. Man has always been haunted by it and known the reality of it. Man seeks the supernatural. God seeks Man and little by little man dis-

Hosea proclaims the Love of God. Jonah says God loves everybody. Jesus lived out the Truth in His life. He practiced what the Prophets preached and fulfilled the Truth.

What is the Word of God? It is the spirit of God in my life."

CANADA CUTS TAXES

Dominion federal taxes were cut in 1952 and again in 1953 in response to large budget surpluses, the American Peoples Encyclopedia 1953 Yearbook reports. Individual income tax was cut about 6 per cent in 1952 and will drop another 11 per cent this year.

BI-PARTISAN

When Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas campaigned for the election of Gen. Eisenhower last November, he became the first Democratic governor of that state to stump for a Republican presidential nominee in 100 years, the Yearbook for 1953 of the American Peoples Encyclopedia reports.

First Day

By George Brown

THE door banged hard behind Tommy Wilson as he ran out of the house. He turned around to see if his Mother was going to scold him for letting it slam, but when she didn't appear he turned again and ran toward a group of boys who were waiting in front of his house.

It was a beautiful day. A perfect day for a game of baseball. He noticed that the fellows had their mitts and block. Tommy threw his ball high up into the air and then caught it. He felt guilty about playing today, it wasn't exactly the day for it and the biggest thing that worried him-there wasn't much time.

Joey had his bat, - Minute | the only bat in the Fiction

"Hi Tommy," said Joey.
"Hi Joey, Hi gang," said Tom-

Hughie, Art, and Ronnie grunted a greeting and little Billie threw up his pudgy little hand and shouted.

"Hi-ya Tommy!" "What'll it be?" asked Hughie as they walked down the street.

Joey stepped to the make believe plate and promptly struck out.

"Ha," laughed Ronnie." "Ya mean we got a choice?"

"Cut the gloom," said Tommy. 'We always have time for base-"That's the way I feel, but what'll we play? We haven't got enough guys to play a game," Hughie said. "Hughie, Tommy and me'll stand Joey, Art and Billie," said "That'll be a game?" said Art.

"Yeah, Billie don't know how to play ball," Joey said. Billie drew up his face and walked up to Joey. "Yea, well I got a hit off you yes-sirday." Joey looked down at little Billie. "That slow roller was a hit?" "Sure it was," put in Tommy.

Joey looked across the street and the back of his neck turned red. "We can play in old man Shaf-fer's lot, we won't have so far to go then," said Hughie. "Swell, let's hurry," Tommy

"Do you know how to get there?" asked Art.
"No," admitted Billie.

"Well then stick with us or you'll never get there."

"You guys better take me, Mom said she'd fan me if I didn'tand I'll tell her if you don't."
"Don't worry Billie," Tommy said, "We'll get you there." "What'll we play?" asked Ronnie. "We'll just take turns batting the ball," said Tommy.

"First!" yelled Art. "It's my bat," said Joey holding the bat next to him. Ok, Joey 'll be first-" said Tommy.

"Then me," asked Ronnie. "Ok, then Art, Hughie, then Billie, and me. Let's run, times a-wastin," said Tommy. The six boys ran as fast as they could till at last they reached old man Shaffer's lot.

Joey stepped to the make believe plate and promptly struck out. Then one after another the boys stepped up to the plate.

Tommy felt disgusted, their hearts just weren't in it. He knew that it was no use. It would be best to go and get it over with. Tommy stepped to the plate and took a sharp cut at the ball and missed. He fell to the ground. "Great, now I got my new pants dirty-, Mom'll be mad," he said, brushing them off.

"Well, what do you think?" said "Me," said Art, "I don't care, that's · if you fellows don't." "Well, I don't want to," said Ronnie.

'We have to though," said Tom-

"Hey," broke in an old voice. The boys looked across the street at an old man who was setting on his front porch. "You fellows better get a move on ya-It's getting late." Tommy smacked his fist into his hand. "Yeah, come on you guys," he said, taking hold of little Billie's hand. "Might as well go and get it over with-." He looked back and was pleased to see the other boys following him. "We don't want to be late for the first day of school."

EVE ARDEN didn't return to school quite as soon as other school teachers throughout the land, but she is now back on CBS Radio Sundays at 6:30 PM, EST. As "Our Miss Boynton, the science teacher whom she regards romantically. This year he is played by Bob Rockwell, and many a real science teacher would be only too glad to swap places with him.

"THE MAN Behind the Badge," a new documentary anti-crime show, premieres this fall on CBS. TV (Sundays 9:30 PM, ET). It's a new series based on actual file cases from police, sheriff, district attorney and other law enforcement officers, enacted by casts of the finest stars of stage, TV and

WELFARE BOARD TO LICENSE HOMES FOR CHILDREN

In recent months several children in Maryland have died in boarding homes. SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS

The 1953 Christmas Seal Sale of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated county associations will begin on Monday, November 16, and continue until Christmas Day, it was announced today by Dr. Russell A. Nelson, president of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

In keeping with the policy of the National Tuberculosis Association, no county goals have been set by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association for this year's campaign, the 47th annual Christmas Seal Sale conducted in the United States to raise funds for tuberculosis control work.

However, according to Dr. Nelson, it is hoped that this year's Christmas Seal Sale will exceed that of 1952 when $413,428.45 was raised in Maryland. Of this total, $266,078.60 was raised by the county associations and $147,-349.85 by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association in Baltimore City.

Funds raised during the Christmas
Seal Sale are directed by the tuberculosis associations toward the pre-vention, detection, an dtreatment of tuberculosis through health education, medical research, rehabilitation and social services to tuberculosis patients and tuberculosis detection programs.
