HISTORICAL SOCIETY ANNUAL MEETING

Held in Westminster Methodist Church Social Hall

The Carroll County Council of Parents and Teachers held its first meeting of the 1953-54 season at the Westminster High School on Wednesday evening, Nov. 11. Prior to the regular meeting the Executive Committee met and accepted the resignation of the President, Mrs. Victor J. Ruby. Mrs. Ruby has been in ill health for the past several months. Horatio Fox of Sykesville, formerly Vice-President, was elected to succeed Mrs. Ruby. Paul Beckwith of Finksburg was elected to succeed Mr. Fox as Vice-President. Committee Chairmen for the following year are: Program, Mrs. Mildred Rice, Mt. Airy; Legislation, Paul Beckwith, of Finksburg; Library Extension, Mrs. Robert Cairnes, New Windsor; Publicity, Mrs. Stuart A. Widener, Westminster; Life Membership and Founders Day, Mrs. Randall Kilgore, Finksburg; Parent Education, Mrs. Albert Lawyer, Silver Run; Health and Safety, Dr. Wm. Ridington, of Westminster; Membership, Mrs. Evelyn Peterson, Taneytown.

Mrs. Kilgore and Miss Ruth Anne Kimmey and Messrs. Fox and Beckwith were chosen as delegates to represent the Council at the Convention of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers in Baltimore on Nov. 12 and 13.

The aim of the Council for the coming year will be the securing of adequate facilities for housing the ever-growing school population, and the attainment of salaries for teachers which will attract more young men and women to the teaching profession. The question is asked frequently why so many people leave the teaching profession; or why don't more people enter the profession. Mr. Jos. A. Hunter, President of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers points out in the Sept. 1953 issue of Maryland Parent-Teacher that part of the answer might be found in the fact that during the twenty year period ending June 1952 the per capita income of the American people rose 21% while average annual teachers' salaries increased only 128%. Mr. Hunter states also that "The question arises as to whether or not we can afford to raise teachers salaries". For an answer to this he quotes Mr. Edward M. Tuttle, Executive Secretary, National School Boards Association. Mr. Tuttle says, "In this country we are spending only about 2 1/2% of our fabulous income on our boys and girls in elementary and secondary schools. As a business man I know that no business or industry could prosper or even exist if it put back into its future only 2 1/2% of its income."

"SPICE 'N' EVERYTHING NICE"

(Your Chatty Column)

With all my heart, I wish you every morning a smile that shall last until the next day's dawning.

I wish you health—life's greatest wealth! I wish you always near so that I may help to cheer.

Each future day and in some way—help to bring you happiness!

The Azalea plants are all covered with baskets, Charlie, Beinda and Susie (my three wonderful ducks) are housed for the winter months and the five and dime Gardenia plant is thriving beautifully in the kitchen which was taken up from the garden before any frost bite would affect it!

My Boston Terrier "Buttons" is shivering from the cold as she is close by my side thinking of the winter just ahead with another possible snow storm on the way.

How very odd it was to see many of the Maple Trees still beautifully green holding the leaves upon the branches after the recent and first snow storm! Did you notice the great number of "Snow Men" on the lawns and so nicely attired by the kiddies!

Do you have a Geranium in the kitchen, Ladies? Gives that special room a "Lifter-Upper" and I think you know just what I mean with the colorful plant and bloom.

This time of the year always brings back the drive through Littlestown and Hanover. Such a nice clean little town that Littlestown! Hope to pass that way soon again!

Thanksgiving always brings to mind the family turkey in Philly when it was taken already for the Baker's Oven and the charge was 10 cents! Then the wonderful aroma carrying it home by one of the children in a few hours where the dining table was set, awaiting the big bird! (which was roasted to perfection).

In Philly, Folks one can secure a book of tickets from the Taxi Driver and then as you ride, you tear them out of the book for the fare! Many individuals give these as gifts at Christmas time.

Ladies, small round muffs are the fad again and the beaded hand bag is back again from Belgium and selling fast in all the stores.

Don't forget to plan to see "CIN-ERAMA". Go early in the morning to purchase your tickets and then go sightseeing in Philly until the hour of the show. There will be plenty of wonderful places to dine along Chestnut Street. What a thrill you will get in riding the "Roller Coaster"! You will really think of that Movie many days after and really think you have been abroad!

Now, Mother here is a letter to read to the Kiddies and I will follow it up each week until the week before Christmas. (Western Auto Letters) Cheerio, Little Friend! It won't be long till that magic night.

When I'll pack my sleigh for a very long flight.

My list is all ready of those who are good;

Who mind their parents and eat as they should.

My Reindeer are ready, you know them by name,

There's Dasher, there's Dancer, Prancer and Vixen,

There's Comet and Cupid, Dunder and Blitzen!

With a Sleigh full of toys—and me in it, too,

I'll be off on my trip before you say, "BOO!"

I travel so fast that before it is day, The very last present will be given away.

I'll fill up your stocking; put your toys by the tree

Then back to my sleigh and away out of sight;

Merry Christmas to you this coming big night!

Your Friend, Santa Claus.

Did you see Faye Emerson on Tuesday night with the U. S. Steel hour program on T.V.? The young actress who was in the cast almost stole the show!

Faye Emerson is stouter since last I interviewed her in New York when she was with Pepsi-Cola T.V.

Last week on Armistice Day it appears odd to have the Banks and a number of business houses closed in Memory but not the schools which should be all over these United States. Eh?

At this writing the death toll upon the Highways in Maryland has been 437 and in the State of Pennsylvania 531 and all mostly to SPEED, DRINK and TEEN AGERS! SO MUCH COULD BE AVOIDED, Folks. If you are in a hurry leave earlier to get there on time to your destination, drive slowly and enjoy it all and whatever you do, don't turn the wheel over to a youngster. You know, I have three sons and not once did I allow them to drive the car when they were Teen-Agers because I realized they got a big thrill out of speeding and laughing at the idea!

Have a grand Thanksgiving with your entire family and as you give the Blessing at the table—Thank God for all your many other blessings!

Until next week. D.V. Will be seeing you! I am,

Faithfully,
YOUR OBSERVER.

TEEN-AGE DANCE

LET'S GET THE LIVE ONES

Harry Dexter White is, as most of us know by now, quite dead. Ex-President Harry Truman is, we are thankful to say, ex-president. We doubt there is any practical way of visiting punishment on a ghost, and we have never heard of any procedure for impeaching an ex-president.

Maybe Mr. White was a spy, and maybe he wasn't. At least nobody ever proved it on him, and a Federal grand jury, before whom he appeared on espionage charges, failed to indict. And whatever we may think of Mr. Truman and his indulgent attitude toward "Good Old Joe," the time for concern over misfeasance or malfeasance in office expired with the office.

In other words, we think the Attorney General of the US and his associates would be rendering greater service to the American people, and be doing a better job of earning their pay, in going after the spies and saboteurs that are presently with us.

We shall profit more by the McCarthy, Jenner and Velde efforts at making history, than the Brownell recitations of it.—U. S. Press Association.

NEARLY $500 A PIECE

During the last fiscal year, the states collected $10,500,000,000 from their citizens—which works out to $68 for every man, woman and child in the country.

In the same year, the federal government collected $65,200,000,000 in taxes—or $410 for each and every American.

This comes to a total of $478.04 per capita, or close to $2,000 a year for a family of four—and it doesn't include local taxes, for which figures are not available.

The point is that taxes, direct and indirect, are the biggest single expense borne by a great many of our families—just as they are for a great many of our businesses. There is an endless amount of grumbling over the high cost of living. There should be an equal amount over the high cost of government.—Industrial News Review.

NO TIME FOR TAX INCREASES

Last May, the President recommended to Congress that the social security tax be frozen at its present rate of one and one-half per cent, and that legislation passed by the previous Congress which would increase the rate to two per cent next January be rescinded. No action was taken. Even so, it is not too late, for when Congress meets again it can, if it will, adopt the freeze policy and make it retroactive to January 1, 1954.

Some of the reasons why the tax should be frozen, in the direct interest of labor, the consumer and business, were recently summarized by the Limited Price Variety Stores Association. These include:

1. The increase will amount to about $1,300,000,000, half being paid by employees and half by employers. That means employee spendable incomes will be reduced by more than half a billion a year—and the prices consumers pay for goods will rise by a similar amount, inasmuch as business must include all expenses in the price charged for what it sells.

2. There is no need now for a larger social security fund. The reserve stands at more than $18,000,000,000, and is increasing by $1,000,000,000 a year, at current tax rate.

3. The economic welfare of this country depends on the sale of more consumer goods, not less. Production in almost all fields is on the increase. When we reduce consumer spending power, we weaken the production-distribution machine—at the ultimate expense of employment, living standards, and normal sources of taxation.

One more point also should be considered. The avowed objective of the government now is to cut taxes as soon as possible. In the light of this, it is difficult to see how this tax increase can be defended.—Industrial News Review.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

ADA, OKLA., TIMES-DEMO-CRAT: "If one is against price controls he should be against them always, no matter whom they may favor or harm. If one believes that the fairest and most efficient way to determine prices is through the free dealings of free men with one another, then he must oppose both price ceilings and price floors."

QUINCY, MASS., PATRIOT, LEDGER: "According to Sen. John J. Williams, the economy-minded Republican Senator from Delaware, 'an estimated 25,000 government employees are refusing to pay their income taxes' and yet are safe from prosecution. Government employees are just like the rest of us, except they have a rather special trust, the welfare of the American people. They are abusing that trust—when they take advantage of their positions to circumvent the law."

DAMARISCOTTA, ME., NEWS: "Senator Carlson, Chairman of the Postal Commission on Study of the Revision of Postal Rates said the users of second class mail, the newspapers and magazines are the purveyors of adult education and the U. S. spends much money to promote the education of children and the adults are equally deserving of consideration which they do get through the newspapers."

NUMBER OF PAPERS

U.S. daily newspapers now total 1,786—the largest number since 1942. Canada gained two evening papers during the past year bringing the total to 96 daily and 5 Sunday papers, it is reported in the 1953 American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook.

Exhaust Fans Give Top Comfort Models Are Available To Fill Every Need

The exhaust fan is familiar to many modern farmers for its usefulness in ventilating dairy barns and poultry houses. The same principle of exhaust ventilation can be applied to the farm home for heat relief through the use of the residential window fan.

Low in initial cost, the window fan is also economical to run. Its operating cost amounts to only a few cents a day. Despite its economy, the window fan is a highly efficient cooling appliance. It exhausts the hot, stale air that accumulates in the house, at the same time drawing in fresh, cooling outdoor breezes through the opened windows.

Exhaust fans like the one pictured above are being used in more and more farm homes through the country. They make for more comfortable living.

So long as the window fan is operating, the air in the house will be changed completely every 60 to 90 seconds. This quick, positive ventilation prevents an overheated muggy atmosphere from building up.

In general, it is best to locate a window fan at one end of the house, so that a long air pattern develops, and the maximum number of rooms is cooled. Properly located, a window fan will serve four or five rooms.

Window fans come in a large variety of models, sizes, and price ranges. Spacer panels on the sides makes it easy to adjust them to fit nearly any window, and because the window fan is easily secured in the window, the owner can move it from room to room as he wishes.

Basic Rules Outlined For Tractor Efficiency

When you step into the tub for a cooling cleanup after a hard day, remember your tractor or truck. Heat and dust can make them balky.

A few basic rules for humans, if applied to your equipment, can mean greater efficiency. The rules: drink plenty of liquids, stay clean, go on a light diet and don't work too hard.

Here's how they compare: Frequent drinks are needed by the radiator because heat hastens evaporation of water. If radiator water is muddled with rust, drain and flush system, then add rust inhibitor when you refill.

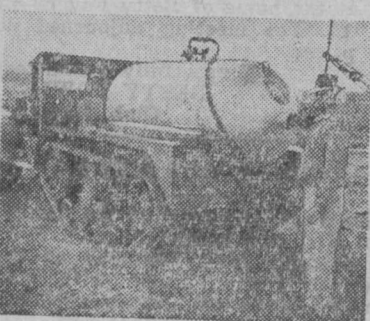

Cleanliness, inside and out, will make an engine run cooler and better. Keep the ignition system free of dust and grime. And don't forget air filters.

Light diet is comparable to a leaner carburetor mixture. You don't need rich food in hot weather, neither does your engine. A fat carburetor "diet" in hot weather can build up carbon and heat, not to mention wasting fuel.

Less exertion means cutting down on friction and watching your driving habits.

Six of the eight leading dairy states have removed prohibitions on consumer purchase of yellow margarine.

Refueling Tractors

To simplify re-fueling of gas-powered combines and tractors used in his rice field, Clarence Lilly, Loneke, Arkansas, mounted this 500-gallon tank on a former Army half truck. Lilly and his four sons farm 1700 acres of rice land and have another 600 acres in lakes for hunting and fishing.

FARMERS TO MEET IN BALTIMORE

Nearly 300 voting delegates from Maryland 23 county Farm Bureaus met in Baltimore this week (Nov. 20) to act on resolutions which will be forwarded to the December Convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The one-day session at the Lord Baltimore Hotel represented the Maryland climax to several months of active Policy Development of an agricultural program requested during the summer from the nation's farm organizations by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

Community and Countywide discussions have preceded the Statewide meeting. Hundreds of Maryland farmers have participated throughout the nation in each State Farm Bureau.

The resolutions adopted by Maryland represent only recommendations which will be considered with the proposals of 47 other State Farm Bureaus when the Chicago AFBF Convention is held, Dec. 13-17.

The program finally adopted at Chicago will be forwarded to Secretary Benson and the House-Senate Committees on Agriculture in the Congress.

STATEWIDE MEETING OF BANKERS TO BE HELD IN BALTIMORE

Mr. Naughton is a member of the faculty of the American Bankers Association's Graduate School of Banking and Mr. Alexander is a past-president of the Baltimore Conference of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers.

Speakers at the seminar, drawn from banks in Maryland as well as from neighboring states, will discuss every phase of modern banking practices and procedures.

Thomas E. McConnell, vice-president of the Maryland Trust Company, Baltimore, is president of the state bankers association.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Hot or Cold Meals Should Feature Food Which Is Filling

MANY people think of summer meals strictly in terms of salads, cold cuts and chilled desserts, while others insist on having one hot meal a day.

No matter which way you like it, you'll enjoy at least one of these recipes, and perhaps, even both for they're economical, nutritious and full of rib-sticking quality which is important, even though the main dish may be a cool one:

Tuna, Noodle and Lemon Mold
(Serves 6-8)
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces medium egg noodles
1 3-ounce package lemon-flavored gelatin
¾ cup hot water
¾ cup cold water
1 cup pineapple juice
3 tablespoons lime juice
2 7-ounce cans solid-pack tuna
1 cup cantaloupe balls
½ cup halved green grapes

Add salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook, uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Rinse with cold water, drain and chill. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add ¾ cup cold water, pineapple and lime juice; mix well. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Drain tuna and reserve some of oil to grease mold. Break tuna into large pieces with fork. Fold into thickened gelatin mixture with chilled noodles and remaining ingredients. Pour into 2-quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold and serve with crisp salad greens.

Spaghetti with Chicken Sauce
(Serves 4)
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces spaghetti
1 10½-ounce can tomato puree
¾ cup butter or substitute
½ teaspoon sugar
1 cup chopped, cooked chicken

Add tablespoon of salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so water continues to boil. Cook, uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. In a saucepan, combine puree, butter and sugar. Bring to a boil over medium heat. Add chicken and heat thoroughly. To serve, pour this sauce over spaghetti.

Streamline Rooms For Easy Living

How's your home when it comes to cleaning time? A job you dread, or one that's so easy it hardly taxes your energy?

With all the aids available for easier housekeeping, no woman need be a slave to the chores of cleaning. Then, add to this actual room planning, and you can cut down housework by a great deal.

Streamline Rooms
Rooms cluttered with a lot of knickknacks give a busy appearance and take away from the leisurely, relaxed atmosphere which is so comfortable and soothing. When it comes to cleaning time, they serve to make you dread tackling the room: there's so much to do!

Streamline the room by removing all sorts of odds and ends which do not add to the comfortable feeling in the room. Get rid of papers, magazines and books which aren't read. Then you won't have to shift them around each cleaning day.

The same applies to furniture. If it doesn't serve a really good purpose, either convert it to a useful piece, or a decoratively attractive one, or get rid of it.

With rooms cleared of much of the clutter, it will be much easier to tackle the things you do have to have!

Making Cleaning Easier
"Wax housekeeping" is one of the ways you can reduce cleaning chores. There are waxes for every purpose and several of the products serve several different uses. Many waxes clean as they polish so this eliminates an extra step. You'll find that waxed surfaces leave a hard, protective film which deters dust and dirt, and this is especially welcome for floors, table tops, Venetian blinds and other surfaces.

FEESERSBURG

Open house was held last week at the Elmer Wolff home in observance of National Education Week. On Tuesday afternoon the High school students gave a playlet titled "Beachhead for Freedom." The play opened with Miss Liberty and Uncle Sam talking. Miss Liberty was depressed and disturbed by what she thought a lack of appreciation of the true meaning of liberty on the part of the people who visited her statue. Uncle Sam tried to convince her that she was wrong in thinking this and to prove it unfolded before her three scenes taking place in school rooms all over America.

Miss Liberty was finally convinced that as long as the public schools flourished in the United States and the boys and girls were taught by liberal teachers with access to all knowledge, the ideal of true liberty would forever live in the hearts and minds of Americans and finally spread to all parts of the world. The play was very effective in bringing out the theme that our schools are "The Beachheads of Freedom." The cast is to be congratulated upon its fine performance and the director also for her work with the students. The following students made up the cast: Uncle Sam, William Eyer; Miss Liberty, Gretchen Reese; Kurt, Ned Eichman; Margie, Lois Bowman; Miss Ames, Janet Myerly; Arlon, Karl Albrecht; Hilda, Vivian Rowe; Helen, Nellie Scheu; Bill, Donald Glacken; Greta, Geneva Barnes; Miss Jones, Nancy Roelke; Mary, Kay Luttrell; John, Richard Eichman; Jimmy, Myron Wilhide; Ellen, Deanna Crouse; Bill, Carl Eyer; Mary, Mary Longnecker; Mr. Brown, Paul Johnson; Mrs. Brown, Eleanor Baker; Director, Mrs. Bowman; Stage crew, Carroll Utz, Pat Glacken, Elaine Myers, Glenn Yingling, Ernest Colwell.

On Monday evening the male members of the local PTA under the direction of Raymond Wright gave a hilarious program at the monthly meeting of the organization. The spotlight was on a mock wedding and an imitation of a well known television team. Usually the men balk at taking part in PTA programs but after Monday night's performance they won't be able to beg off.

Some more about women's skirt lengths: The Washington women are caught between loyalty and their own desires. Mamie continues to wear her skirts thirteen inches from the floor while the very chic Madame Bonnet, style leader in our Capital wears the sixteen inch hemline. Personally, I like our first lady's choice. All women look better in the longer skirts and I do mean ALL. Remember this is a woman's point-of-view. A man has a different one.

What does a girl need most? From birth to age 18, a girl needs an ambitious mother and a prosperous father. From 18 to 35 she needs a fair amount of looks and some brains though its wise to conceal the latter. From 35 to 55 she needs personality and a husband. After 55 she needs diamonds or money in the bank.

There are many topics one can write about these days but most of them leave one with a sense of frustration and unhappiness, so maybe a nice dull but comforting subject will do better. For instance the five-cent lead pencil. We use one every day and it still looks like the one we used thirty years ago. That's a nice comforting thought—something still the same after all those years! But the pencil industry hasn't exactly been playing Rip Van Winkle, for there happens to be some very glamorous pencils on the market. There are pencils that can write on the skin of a hospital patient, erase rust, touch up scratches on ones car, cut into stone and write on glass. Pencils can write in 72 colors and the annual output of pencils could pave a 20 foot highway from Baltimore to New York. Unlike the pen industry, the pencil industry has never gone in for high pressure advertisement such as promising the user better chances of a raise or help in changing a flat tire, on a snow covered highway. Best of all a pencil still costs a nickel, which must do for the nickel what a mink coat does for a woman.

If all the butter manufactured could taste like the butter our neighbor brings up so often, there would be no surplus in storage. The trouble with the city consumer is that he has never tasted butter made country style with that pure cream taste. Too bad isn't it that the manufacturers can't process butter the way our neighbor makes it?

The snow over the last week-end must have caught every one as barefooted as it did the weather forecasters. Here at Merry Knoll we were sort of lucky. We had just finished picking corn on Monday and had fuel oil on Thursday. But as usual the bread supply was down to the last heel. The road from Mt. Union Church to the main highway was drifted shut and the men had to take the milk out by tractor and across our neighbors field. The road stayed closed too, all day Saturday because the snow plow didn't come through. No doubt the road workers, like everyone else couldn't believe it had happened. The children enjoyed it and I think the farm land needed it. The grain and pasture fields look so much better.

Remember the annual oyster and chicken supper will be held in the Mt. Union parish house, Saturday, Nov. 21st, beginning at 4 p. m.

Returning to the weather for a minute. The Old Farmer's Almanac predicts a turbulent and erratic winter. Incidentally it predicted the snow we received over the week-end.

Wednesday, Nov 11 was Armistice Day. Remember how we use to celebrate with pride and a little glory? We can only bow our heads and ask forgiveness from those men whom we allowed to die, for what? They gave their lives to end war but we the living have perpetuated it. Don't you believe this is a good day to promise the dead that each of us will work for peace as earnestly as we supported the first world's war?

Little Boy Benson come blow your horn The sheep are out of pasture The cows are out of corn. Oh, where is Mr. Benson who looks after the farms? He's out in the press room spinning a new yarn. But what will the cows and the poor sheep eat. Until the Benson plan is fully complete? They'll go to the market and be made into hash. So the bankrupt farmer can have a little cash. But where in the world will all this lead? Back to the thirties and the land of Need. —Ruth Roelke.

WILDCAT HUNT

On Tuesday night, after hearing many reports of a Wildcat in the neighborhood, a hunting party was organized to get this strange animal. Members of the party were as follows: Clarence Sengt, Luther Sengt, Pat Gartrell, Chas. Hahn, Sonny Hahn, John Stambaugh, Kenneth Frock, Chas. Poole, Warren Stair, George Spangler, Junior Spangler and Chas. Ecker. Dogs included Mike, Brownie and Flagie.

Party assembled and dogs were released at 6:50 p. m. A scent was struck shortly thereafter, but animal went in other direction and dogs returned after 25 minutes. The dog handlers, Luther Sengt and Pat Gartrell, then started driving the woods towards the standers, with no results.

At 8:15 the party was ready to dismantle when strange animal was sighted by Kenneth Frock and Chas. Poole who claimed it crossed the road and went up a tall oak tree. Guns and lights were assembled and animal spotted, Clarence Sengt being first of many marksmen to fire. Although we could see its teeth, our lights were not strong enough to definitely identify the animal. After many shots were fired, Warren Stair, a professional tree climber, went up after what should by this time be dead. Animal dropped at 8:20 weighing approximately 20 pounds.

(The animal being a Ground Hog tied in top of the tree with baler twine.)

Anyone hearing or seeing Wildcats or strange animals, should leave word at Frock's store and feel perfectly safe thereafter.

In Memory of
JOHN R. SNIDER,
who passed away November 15, 1948.

When the evening shades are falling,
And I am sitting all alone,
In my heart there comes a longing,
If you only could come home.
Oft and oft my thoughts do wander
To your grave so far away,
Where I laid you, dearest husband,
Five years ago today.
By his loving wife, MARY.

In Loving Memory of my dear Father,
WILLIAM H. OTTO,
who passed away Nov. 19th, 1925.

God saw the road was getting rough,
And the hills were hard to climb,
So he gently closed his weary eyes,
And whispered, Peace be thine.

No one knows the silent heartaches,
Of those who have lost can tell,
Of the grief that borne in silence
For the one we loved so well.
Loving daughter, MAUDE STITLEY

OTTO—In loving memory of our dear father, WILLIAM A., who died 28 years ago, Nov. 19th, 1925.

We do not forget him, we loved him too dearly,
For his memory to fade from our lives like a dream,
Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely,
For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.
Loving daughter, CLARA and WILLIAM ABRA.

SHORT STORY

Perfect Job

By John Davis

MANNY KIMBLE'S furtive eyes bored through the rotting curtains and dust-clogged screen, staring with fierce annoyance at the tar paper expanse of the next roof. It was a dingy, hick town, and a very shabby hotel room. What a place for a top-notch trigger man to be stuck. He glared at the half empty bottle and small pile of change on the worn dresser cloth. Maybe a couple of bucks left; maybe not that much.

He flopped in the rickety chair by the window, watching evening settle over the sleepy village. Slowly, something in his brain clicked into place. Years ago, on his way up in the rackets, he had been a pretty fair burglar. And what was that, on the next roof—but a skylight? Just made to order!

Carefully, he clambered over the sill and walked softly across the tar paper. He crouched, listening,

Gun in hand, he paused around the first corner of the alley.

by the sky light and heard no sound.

Prowling on the thick carpeting, Manny rapidly located the glassed-in front office, right in back of the show window. Wrenching quietly at the unlocked knob, he froze in sudden terror as a voice cracked through the gloom.

"Hey—you!" It sounded authoritative, arbitrary. "What d'ya think you're doing?"

Manny had no desire to talk things over. He plunged on through the door, dropped to one knee behind the desk and pulled his flat, ugly gun—all in one practiced movement. The flat gun cracked, jumping in his hand, and a tongue of orange flame stabbed toward the motion. He heard an answering roar and his stomach went hollow, fear jolting through him as a splinter of wood split from the desk by his head. Manny wasn't used to shooting at people who fought back. Like a scared cat, he turned and darted for the big front window. There was a crash of shattered glass, and the gunman rolled across the sidewalk.

Spurred by fright, Manny took chances he wouldn't have believed himself capable of. Leaping across roof tops, swinging up and down emergency ladders and fire escapes, he fled across the top of town like an overgrown bat. The minute his feet hit the lawn, he broke into a trot, heading for the nearest breaks among the houses.

More calmly now, he surveyed the situation. Well, maybe he didn't get any money, but at least he was still free. Manny plodded awkwardly over the ploughed furrows until he saw the welcome sight of crumbling walls ahead. At least, it looked like a place to hide. He dragged toward the wall, and then around it—too tired to clamber over its ruin. Soon, he found the gate and the little shack beside it: both had been abandoned for years. Staring back into the empty estate, he could see the ruins of a decaying mansion.

Dawn greyed the sky as Manny limped through the gate and shoved the rotting door open. To his surprise, the little gatehouse was fairly clean, though the faint light showed no sign of occupants or furniture. There were only two rooms and the thug prowled through both cautiously. Bums, he guessed, used it as a hang-out. Too fatigued to worry, Manny relaxed in a corner.

Manny Kimble did more than sleep—he collapsed. The physical and emotional strain had numbed every faculty, and he flopped like a heap of limp rags. Even the cars on the road outside didn't disturb him; not even when they turned up the weed choked drive and parked around the abandoned yard. Uniformed drivers piled out good-naturedly, slapping each other on the back, laughing and talking. Many of them were helping the women in the cars unload heaping baskets of food.

The first four cars to park in the rapidly filling yard had great cloth banners fastened along the sides. "Sheriff's Annual Picnic," the signs read. "Old Lawndale Estate. Get your tickets at the gatehouse."

Manny slept in peaceful ignorance as the county sheriff and two of his deputies started for the small building. The sheriff was laughing and talking, a roll of cardboard tickets slapping carelessly against his holstered pistol as he walked.

Strawberry Virus Research Reported Virus-Free Plants to Be Offered Next Year

The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports a virus-free strawberry plant will be offered the nation's growers for the first time next year.

Most people haven't paid much attention to strawberry virus because there is nothing to see on the infected plant. However, virus cuts strawberry production by weakening the plants, cuts runner formation and holds down berry yield. The plants never recover.

Agriculture Department research has now produced virus-free plants of 34 varieties. The department estimates there should be 15 to 20 million plants by next spring ready for distribution. Varieties include Klondike, Klommore, Tennessee Beauty, Tennessee Shipper, Marshall, Blakemore, Howard 17, Massey, Sparkle, Tennessee and Catskill.

Virus test of a plant is made by grafting it to a virus-free plant. If the plant at left is infected it will be distinguished in the other plant within a few days.

Growers are cautioned to keep virus out of the new plants. It can be accomplished by setting new plants as far away from other berries as possible, and dusting new plants in the spring and fall with parathion.

Researchers believe this care will be a low price to pay for up to two or three times as many runner plants and bigger crops of better quality strawberries.

Roughage Is Called Cheapest Dairy Feed

According to the Dairy Herd Improvement Association of Nebraska, the cheapest feeds for dairy cows are roughages.

The association reported recently that its records show that roughages last year supplied about 70 to 75 per cent of the nutrients at 46 per cent of the total costs. The concentrates supplied about 25 to 30 per cent of the nutrients at 54 per cent of the feed cost.

The D. H. I. A. records also indicated that a balanced ration should be fed according to a cow's producing ability. The cows producing 3400 pounds of milk consumed $26 worth of grain feed. The cows producing 8092 pounds of milk consumed $75 worth of grain feed. The difference in the value of the product over the feed cost was $149. The cost of the roughage was the same in both cases.

The average production of all the cows was 9073 pounds of milk and 344 pounds of butterfat. The average feed cost per cow was $168 and the returns over feed cost averaged $231.

One cow producing 11,873 pounds of milk and 450 pounds of butterfat was more valuable from the standpoint of production than 3 cows producing one-half as much milk and butterfat.

Sweetpotato Storage

After sweetpotatoes have been cured, the storage house should be kept at a fairly constant temperature of around 50 to 55 degrees.

Cows take 50 to 70 bites per minute when on pasture.

Repair Time

House and barn repair time is at hand. Work done now will eliminate troubles this winter. It might be a good idea to check joints between siding and roofs on all farm buildings, including the farm home. Cracks should be sealed with paste roofing compound before fall painting. See to it now.

From the prisoner's tirade I could catch the word 'Taiwan'—'Formosa'—again and again. The prisoner began to sweat. The Chinese explainer looked embarrassed. . . . It didn't last long. . . . He (the Indian Chairman) carefully pointed to one door for repatriation and to another for nonrepatriation. The prisoner looked bewildered and asked which was for Taiwan. Then everyone left, and the youth stood alone in the middle of the tent while officers and reporters peered at him from the doorways. He turned and plunged through the door that meant nonrepatriation."

Sweet Corn Is Big Business

Tri-States' sweet corn pack is nation's fifth largest.

Maturing of sweet corn in the Tri-State area has long been the signal for skilled hands and ingenious food processing machines to begin speeding the vegetable from corn stalks into can while still at its peak of freshness, flavor and nutritive value, for year-round eating.

Tri-States were quick to set up "corn shops" once Maine-man Isaac Winslow touched off commercial sweet corn packing by selling 12 "canisters" of corn to Boston's Samuel S. Pierce in 1848. Before long this area was a major source of the commodity and has remained so despite growth of the Midwest industry.

Big Crop, Big Pack

Today the Tri-State area plants the sixth largest sweet corn acreage for processing in the United States. Its 47 corn processors traditionally supply more than 40 per cent of the nation's whole kernel style sweet corn and 9 to 10 per cent of the cream style, in what is the country's fifth biggest annual pack.

Farm value of the cannery crop was almost $2,000,000 last year in Delaware and Maryland alone, according to USDA statistics. Crop specialists agree that growers can realize a profitable yield practically every year with good management and by taking advantage of all the assistance available from the county agent and cannery fieldman.

For growers now in full harvest season, probably the most important reminder is to let nothing interfere with prompt delivery on schedule to the factory. Sweet corn picked and left at field temperature loses 60 per cent of its sugar within 24-36 hours. Nor is anything gained by delaying picking beyond maturity wanted by the processors.

Extra Values to Farm

Where sweet corn fodder is not needed as feed, it is a fine builder of humus and should be plowed under while still green. For ensiling, the stover should be allowed to mature a few days after ears are picked, for greater dryness and less acidity, the University of Maryland notes. It should be cut while still fairly green, however, for good packing in the silo. Sweet corn stover made into ensilage is worth nearly as much per ton as that of immature field corn that contains little grain, and about 70 per cent as much as well-eared corn silage.

Even late sweet corn cannery crops will be off the land in good time for growers to plant either a grain or winter cover crop, or to reseed pasture. The land should always be covered.

Entomologists add the warning that corn borer winters over in stubble or debris, which should be plowed under completely as a preventative measure.

Help The Hungry

Lesson for November 22, 1953

AS CHRISTIANS, we owe a great deal to our mother-religion, the religion of the ancient Hebrews. Two of the characteristic strong points of that religion are ours too: one is that religion has everything to do with our everyday life, and the other is that society (that is, the persons who make up society) has a sacred duty to care for the weak and friendless. Now in ancient times the most helpless people in the community were the widows, the orphans and the "sojourners," that is to say, migrants, people without land or family, uprooted and displaced persons. Widows had very little chance at a living except by almost slave-labor; orphans even less; and as for the sojourner, in most places in those days even his life was in danger. If anybody starved in an ancient city, it would be the sojourner first, then the widows and orphans.

Dr. Foreman

An Ancient "Poor-law"

The Hebrews were taught carefully, from Moses' time onward, that God loved these helpless persons, widows, orphans and sojourners; and the Hebrews were commanded to take care of them. Something can be learned from a study of the ancient laws protecting these poor persons, laws which the Hebrews believed, and so can we, that God himself inspired. They are not laws which we can copy unchanged, for conditions of life and work have changed. But the spirit of them is as fresh and as needed today as three thousand years ago. Consider this from Deuteronomy: "Love the sojourner therefore, for you were sojourners in the land of Egypt."

There is a certain rich man in America whom we may call Mr. X. He came to this country when a boy, an immigrant son of very poor parents. Had he stayed in the old country, he himself thinks he would have had to live and die at his father's ill-paid trade. In America's freedom, however, this boy rose to riches and honor, and is now a man who loves to talk of the "American dream" and of how he himself is an example of it.

But what does Mr. X think of encouraging others at this present time to come over and try the American dream for themselves? He is opposed to it. He wants no more immigrants. He is glad the door was open to himself; he gets re-elected to congress by several thousand other Americans who do not love the sojourner. "Love the sojourner" means have a concern for migrant workers, for displaced persons, for immigrants, for oppressed minorities. America can hardly call itself a Christian nation unless it takes such laws of God more seriously.

Helping Men To Help Themselves

Another and more particular law is found in Leviticus 19, where the farmer of those days is forbidden to harvest either his wheat-field or his grape-vineyards clean. He must always leave some wheat un-gathered, some vines untouched. We see how this worked in the case of Ruth who would have starved had she not had the chance to glean (pick up those stray sheaves) in the fields of Bethlehem.

This is not a law we can copy right on to our statute books; but we may well copy its spirit and intention. First there is a real concern for the man at the bottom of the ladder. Then there is given him an opportunity to work for his own living. Wheat and grapes are not delivered to his door; he has to get out and work for his food. But the point is that he is helped by being enabled to help himself.

Hunger Around The World

In the time of Moses, and of Jesus, indeed till most recent times, our neighbors, those whom we could help, were those whom we could see, within walking distance of our homes. No doubt there were famines in India, floods in Japan, while Jesus was living. But he never said a word about aid to India, because in the first place the Galileans themselves lived on the edge of starvation, and in the second place if they had had a million tons of surplus wheat they could never have reached India with a quart of it. In our day the world is smaller.

Quick Cookies for the Kiddies

KEEPING THE COOKIE JAR FULL to the brim can be quite a chore. The demand inevitably exceeds the supply. The best way to attack this mathematical problem is with quick and easy recipes. And these two, one for Magic "Six-Way" Cookies and the other for Molasses Drop Cookies just couldn't be quicker or easier. Both of them feature Eagle Brand sweetened condensed milk, a rich creamy combination of whole milk and sugar, which gives your energetic youngsters an extra nutritional dividend.

Can you imagine anything simpler than mixing a can of sweetened condensed milk, a half cup of peanut butter and two cups of Kellogg's Corn Flakes, then dropping the mixture by teaspoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet and baking for 12 minutes. The toothsome result will keep your kiddies in cookies indefinitely.

MAGIC "SIX-WAY" COOKIES

(Makes about 30 cookies)

- 1½ cups (15 oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
- ½ cup peanut butter*
- Any one of the six ingredients listed below:
- 2 cups raisins
- 2 cups corn flakes
- 3 cups shredded coconut
- 2 cups 40% bran flakes
- 1 cup chopped nut meats
- 2 cups chopped dates
- *Do not use crunchy peanut butter.

Mix sweetened condensed milk, peanut butter, and any one of the six ingredients listed above. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto well-greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) for 12 minutes or until brown. Remove from pan at once.

MOLASSES DROP COOKIES

(Makes about 40 cookies)

- 1½ cups (15 oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
- ½ cup molasses
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon ginger
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- 2½ cups corn flakes
- ½ cup chopped nut meats
- ½ cup seedless raisins, chopped

Put sweetened condensed milk, molasses and salt in top of double boiler. Cook over rapidly boiling water, stirring constantly, until thick (about 10 minutes). Cool. Add spices and blend well. Stir in corn flakes, nut meats and raisins. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet, about 2 inches apart. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 15 minutes. Remove from pan at once. (ANS)

Holiday Tea Punch For Simple Entertaining

TO make Christmas or New Year holiday entertaining easy on yourself and the family, keep the refreshments simple and dish-washing down to a minimum. How? An easy-to-concoct fruit punch consisting of lemon, orange, and cranberry juice with a strong tea base, plus a fruit cake which can be made days or weeks in advance, can make up your menu. The punch bowl can look very festive and gay with lemon slices topped with a red maraschino cherry. To create the Christmas color scheme, slice Persian limes, and knick the rind at ½ inch intervals. Place the lime slices in the bottom of each punch glass and top with another maraschino cherry, complete with stem for easy handling.

Holiday Fruit Punch

(Makes about 2 gallons)

- 2 quarts boiling water
- 4 tablespoons tea
- 2 cups lemon juice
- 4 cups orange juice
- 2 cups sugar
- 1½ quarts cranberry juice
- 2 quarts water
- 1 quart ginger ale
- 1 lemon, sliced
- 2 limes, sliced
- Maraschino cherries

Bring 2 quarts water to a full rolling boil. Immediately pour over tea. Brew five minutes. Strain. Set aside to cool at room temperature.

Combine with fruit juices and 1 quart of water. Chill. Just before serving, pour over large piece of ice or add ice circles or cubes and ginger ale.

Holiday Fruit Cake

(Makes a 9x4x3-inch loaf cake)

- 19-ounce package condensed mince meat
- ½ cup water
- 1 cup walnut meats, coarsely chopped
- ¾ cup candied cherries, coarsely chopped
- 1½ cups (15-oz. can) condensed milk
- 1 egg, beaten
- ¾ cup flour
- ½ teaspoon baking soda

Break mince meat into small pieces; place in 2-quart saucepan. Add water. Place over medium heat and stir until lumps are thoroughly broken. Boil briskly one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool. Add nuts, candied cherries, sweetened condensed milk, and egg; blend well. Stir in flour and baking soda, until just blended. Pour mixture into 9x4x3-inch loaf pan which has been greased, waxed paper lined, and greased again. Bake in a moderate oven 350° F. 1 hour and 30 minutes or until center springs back when lightly touched with finger and top is golden brown.

*If a pyrex baking dish is used, reduce oven heat to 325° F.
